MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS

AUGUST 14, 1959

NUMBER 38

Muenster Schools Set August 26 for 1959 Opening Date

For a bit of interesting history on the wet-dry issue in Cooke County, this column is grateful to Ralph Cole of the Gainesville Register. After digging through the county records he says that there have been nineteen elections on legalizing the sale of alcoholic beverages in the past 59 years and only three of those went in favor of the beverages. Two were county wide elections, the other was confined to Precinct 1.

According to his research, a brief history of alcoholic drinks on the county-wide basis reads something like this.

On May 24, 1902, the county voted wet. The author did not mention the status before that, so it might be assumed that this was the first such vote in the county's history, hence an unsuccessful attempt to change the condition which existed from the founding of the county.

The next attempt, on May 28, 1910, was more successful, and the county went dry by a vote of 2348 to 1954.

That condition prevailed until 1918 when national prohibition took the issue out of the county's hands. But promptly after repeal of prohibition, on April 28, 1934, the county went wet again, by a vote of 2154 to 1726.

Only two years later, on February 8, 1936, the county went dry by a narrow margin of 1673 to 1676. Not satisfied with the verdict wets tried for a change on August 19, 1939 but their efforts fell short by a count of 2002 to 1450.

Summarizing, we see that Cooke County has been wet slightly less than 10 years since 1902, and the current dry stretch is well into its 24th year.

Not mentioned in Cole's article are a few interesting related facts that are well known to old timers hereabouts. By the time national prohibition ended the public was thoroughly disgusted with it and the vote for 3.2 beer carried easily.

But people apparently did not know how to get along with their newly acquired freedom. Their only change was to bring rowdiness and lawlessness into the open. Cooke County reverted to the wide open status of the former century. Law enforcement was lax, far from a credit to the county. It was not surprising that dries succeeded in getting a change less than two years later.

That election of 1936 is remembered with regret by old timers of Muenster. Many here did not bother to vote, assuming that a wet majority was cinched anyway. Only to find that their neglect had betrayed the overwhelming preference of their community. The outcome showed how important a few votes can be. It also reminded the community, too late, of the importance of safeguarding its own interests. It neglected, while it had the opportunity, to hold the precinct election which could not have been changed by a county wide vote. Legal interpretation up to now allowed precinct local option elections only in wet counties, and this community fizzled away the chance to establish its preference while the county was wet.

After the 1936 vote law enforcement officials cracked down and eliminated much of the former disorder. So it was understandable that in 1939 the attempt to bring back alcoholic drinks was soundly defeated. Comparing the two short eras people simply favored the one that was more orderly. Wets of Cooke county made their mistake in failing to insist that the rowdy element be kept under control. It is a mistake that Muenster is determined not to allow after beer and liquor are legalized here on September 5.

That the election will pass with a comfortable majority is apparent from the large number of signatures on the election petition. To people here it is a matter of principle that every person has a right to his or her drink... that prohibition cannot justifiably be imposed on the many just because a few get out of line. The only correct solution, in their opinion, is to make the few accountable for their misdeeds but not to molest or prohibit people who behave. It's as simple as driving a car or singing out loud, which admittedly are all right as long as others are not endangered or disturbed.

While defending this principle we have no quarrel with those who sincerely believe that it is morally wrong to take a drink. We can understand the motives

D. W. Crawford, 77, Former Resident, Dies at Gainesville

Dwight W. Crawford, 77, of Gainesville, a resident of Muenster for several years in the early 1900s died in a Gainesville Hospital last Saturday after a long illness. He was a victim of diabetes.

As a young man Crawford lived here with his family and worked in a store owned by his brother, Dr. R. W. Crawford. He moved to Gainesville shortly before his marriage to Miss Bessie Bonner on December 15, 1909.

Funeral services for Mr. Crawford were held Monday at the Geo. J. Carroll & Son Chapel and burial was in Fairview Cemetery.

Pavement Job Due To Start August 20

Muenster's paving project is due to get under way about August 20.

City Manager Steve Moser disclosed early this week that the paving contractor, H. M. Scott and Sons of Denison, is now working on a project in another city and expects to finish there about the middle of next week, after which he will start here.

When the city engaged the firm Mr. Scott said that work here could probably begin after the city's hearing on August 3. Before then, however, it had an opportunity to start immediately on another job, hence the delay on Muenster's job.

Man Engaged for MHS Band Advises He Won't Be Here

With just two weeks to go before the opening of school Superintendent L. B. Bruns suddenly discovered that he still has to find a band instructor.

Tuesday he started calling the faculty members to notify them of a meeting on August 24 to prepare for school opening on the 26th. Jasper Huff, the man engaged early in June for band and library replied, "I've intended for two weeks to notify you. I've accepted another job."

During that time, Bruns said, he turned down several job applicants. Assuming his staff was complete he did not even bother to take names. Now he hopes he can find a teacher before school starts.

Baptist Revival at Myra Starts Friday

A three-day revival starts at Myra Baptist Church Friday and services will be held each night at 7:30 through Sunday.

A former Myra boy, the Rev. Pat Cummings, is back in his old hometown to conduct the revival and do the preaching. His brother, Gene Cummings of Gainesville, will be song leader.

Bruns Announces Staff Assignments At Public School

A list of teacher assignments at Muenster Public School, announced this week by Superintendent L. B. Bruns, reveals that 14 teachers will greet the students as they arrive on opening day, Wednesday, August 26. Two days before they will have their first faculty meeting.

Seven members of the staff are former local teachers, the other seven are new at the school. Heading the list is Superintendent L. B. Bruns with BS and MS degrees from NTSC. After 10 years of teaching Industrial Arts and Driver Education he is starting this year on the faculty's top position.

Assisting him will be Glenn Hellman as principal and social science teacher. Formerly the agriculture teacher he moved from the vocational department to accept the position of principal. He has a BS degree from ETSC, has taught 4 years, all at Muenster. He's a graduate of MHS.

Mrs. Bessie Miller continues as teacher in Grades 1 and 2. She has a BS degree from NTSC, and 23 years of experience, 3 of them in Muenster.

Mrs. Jane Weinzapfel, also a graduate of MHS, will teach grades 3 and 4. She has a BS degree from ETSC and three years of experience, the past year at Sacred Heart.

Hearings on Local School Taxes Draw Good Attendance

Tax increases in the Muenster School District are drawing good crowds to the equalization board hearings Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week.

In the first session about 50 persons appeared to protest the new assessment and about half of them heard explanations by the board, which is composed of Tony Walterscheid, Herbert Meurer and Dr. T. S. Myrick. Most of the others got their explanations from persons who had seen the board and the others just declined to wait for their turns.

According to the board members the average taxpayer became agreeable as soon as he realized the story behind the increase, and when he discovered that local taxes are still very low when compared with those of other districts.

It was explained that the aim here is to assess at 10 per cent of actual valuation and the rate is $1.00 per $100 of assessed valuation. This means that real estate worth $10,000 would be assessed at $1,000 and the school tax would be $10.

For comparison the board can name one school district with 50 per cent valuations and a rate of $1.65 per $100 for a tax of $82.50 on $10,000 worth of real estate.

When taking over the assessing and collecting of its own taxes the job was formerly done by the county tax office... the school board discovered many inconsistencies. To equalize the assessments they decided on two methods. Concerning city property they accepted the city's tax valuations as a basis. After several years of effort it was assumed that those assessments were better equalized than the county's. And since, on an average, the city's valuation was twice as high, the school district

Deadline Near for Claiming Refund on Farm-Used Gasoline

College Station—Farm operators have until September 30 to claim a refund of the federal gasoline tax on all gasoline used on the farm, according to Tom E. Prater, extension farm management specialist.

The refund applies to the three cents per gallon federal tax on gasoline which was purchased from July 1, 1958 through June 30, 1959. Those who filed a claim for refund in 1958 will receive form 2240 through the mail. Others who wish to make a claim should ask the Internal Revenue Service to send them one.

The claim should be sent to the Office of the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Austin or Dallas, Texas, depending on whether you live in the southern or northern part of Texas. Claims made after September 30 will not be paid and no more than one claim can be filed for the twelve months period, states the economist.

Farmers who file claims for refund should keep sufficient records to certify the accuracy of the refund claimed. The records should show the purchase dates, the gallons bought and the gallons used on the farm during the twelve months period. Also the gasoline used by custom operators doing custom work for a farmer should be recorded and can be included in the claim for refund, Prater notes.

Excise taxes paid on diesel fuel or special motor fuels for farm purposes can also be recovered. The farmer should ask the dealer to repay the taxes on the fuel bought. The dealer should be furnished a signed statement, showing the name and address of the purchaser, the date of purchase and gallons purchased, adds Prater.

Gulf Ends Series of Sales Classes Here

A series of district meetings for Gulf dealers and employees came to an end Monday night in the NTPA lounge.

Scattered over a period of about three months, the classes were intended to help the Gulf representatives in public relations, proper servicing of vehicles and also in the sale of gasoline, oil and accessories. Muenster was favored as the meeting place because it was most centrally located for all the persons attending.

Final Service for Rev. Jerome Pohle At Subiaco Monday

Funeral services were held in Subiaco, Ark., Monday morning for Father Jerome Pohle who lived in Muenster as a youth and entered the seminary from here. He was ordained in 1912.

Father Jerome died August 5, at Refugio where he had served as chaplain at Refugio Hospital for the past 15 years. He was 73. His death followed three weeks of illness from a heart ailment.

Father Martin Fischer attended the funeral services accompanying Lindsay's pastor, Rev. Alcuin Kubis. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoedebeck went with them. She remained for an extended visit with her son, Father Paul Hoedebeck.

Swim Pool Shows $80 Profit in July

Through its second month of this season the Muenster swimming pool operated at a profit.

According to a statement submitted to the city council by Pool Manager George Petrus, the operation in July netted $255.55, and expenses for chemical treatment of the water, which are paid by the city rather than from current revenue, are estimated at about $175. That leaves an actual profit of about $80.

An additional profit of $75 to $80 for the season is represented in the pool's stock of candies and change.

Attendance for July, based on daily receipts, is estimated at 2490. About 20 per cent of these, Petrus said, were adults, 13 years and over.

No Time Out For Break

A broken foot is making basic training uncomfortable and sometimes painful for Pat Hess but hasn't kept him from classes at Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio. He wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hess, that the accident happened during field training and he fell out only long enough to have it put in a cast.

Weekend Visitor

S.Sgt. Ernest Sicking returned to England AFB at Alexandria, La., Monday after spending a weekend pass here with his mother, Mrs. Ben Sicking and family.

Football Practice Begins Monday for Sacred Heart Team

Football practice for the Sacred Heart Tigers will begin next Monday night, according to an announcement made this week by Coach George Petrus.

On the program is the issue of equipment and probably also a short workout. Thereafter the boys will meet every night until school starts on Wednesday, the 26th. If possible a few morning sessions will also be held.

Expected to show up for the first meeting are 11 lettermen from last year's team. They are Len Haverkamp, Werner Becker, Joe Streng, Robert Vogel, Anthony Knabe, Charles Bayer, Tim Wimmer, Bobby Walterscheid, Herbie Cunningham, Jimmy Owen and Jerome Hennigan.

With them will be a good crowd of youngsters who have had experience as substitutes. With normal improvement by these boys and the returning lettermen Petrus expects to have a better team than last year.

And a better team will be needed, he said, to make a fair showing in the rough schedule ahead. The lineup of games is as follows.

- Sept. 4, Alvord, here.
- Sept. 11, Marietta, there.
- Sept. 19, Era, there.
- Sept. 25, Saint Jo, there.
- Oct. 2, Ladonia, there.
- Oct. 9, Windthorst, there.
- Oct. 17, Sherman B, here.
- Oct. 22, Gainesville B, here.
- Oct. 30, Laneri, here.
- Nov. 6, Greenhill, here.

In addition to the regular schedule the school has a game with Jesuit B dated for Nov. 13. In keeping with Interscholastic League regulations boys who have played 10 games will not get to participate in this event.

Mrs. H. R. Homsley was in San Antonio during the weekend attending sessions of a home economics teachers meeting.

September 5 Set For Local Option Vote in Muenster

Muenster's local option election on legalizing the sale of beer, wine and liquor will be held Saturday September 5.

It was ordered by the Cooke County commissioners court Monday in response to a petition submitted to the county clerk last week.

On the petition were the signatures of 197 Muenster citizens requesting an election on the full scope of alcoholic beverage sales permitted by the state of Texas, that is, for sale and consumption of beer on the premises and sale of beer, wine and liquor in package stores.

Appearing before the commissioners court to protest the petition were two Gainesville ministers and a Dallas minister who said they "wanted to make sure that things were correct with respect to the law and the petition." Checking signatures against a poll tax list of voters in the two Muenster boxes, they questioned whether all signers actually lived in the city or whether some lived out of town. An affidavit was produced to meet that objection. They also objected to the lack of street addresses with signatures but were told by the court that the signature only is sufficient if it is found on the poll tax list.

The number of signatures appearing on the petition was considerably in excess of the number actually needed to qualify. Law requires that it must show 25 per cent of the number voting for governor in the 1956 general election. That was 685, so the quota was 171 and could have been less if rural votes had been discounted. Actually the total of 197 represented about half of the city's voters.

Joe Luke was named presiding judge of the election and R. E. Hamric his assistant. A clerk will be named later.

Opening Date for Factory Advanced To Mid-September

Progress on establishing a clothing factory in Muenster is going faster than anticipated and the date opening is now estimated at about September 15.

Meeting with directors of the Muenster Industrial Foundation Wednesday night, Sam Raden stated that he is anxious to get organized for an early start on his fall production schedule. His choice for a location is the front part or showroom of the Tractor Sales building and he is ready to start on the necessary remodeling to make it suitable for his operation.

To accommodate the factory Tractor Sales will move its displays, office, parts bins, etc., into the other part of the building, which is presently being used only as a shop.

As soon as the building is ready, Raden said, equipment can be set up in a few days.

The firm intends to start with 25 to 30 employees and expand rapidly to 75 or 80 by the first of the year.

Before the opening the firm will announce a date on which it will accept applications for employment.

Davis, president of Humble, said the building will enable the company to bring its 3300 home office employees together in one central location. Present plans call for a building with approximately a million square feet of usable space. Initially, Humble expects to use more than half of the building for its offices and to sub-let the remaining space to other tenants.

"The budget is for $77 billion. That's a lot of cash. Just what a billion dollars is can be illustrated best by comparisons. If it cost $4,000 for a college education, one billion dollars would pay for 200,000 students for the entire four years. In a washer or other household machines costing $200, one billion dollars would buy 5,000,000 of 'em. But Uncle Sam isn't going to buy that many machines. It's for other spending."

Visiting Sunday with their parents, the John Rohmers, were Mr. and Mrs. Morton Wright and three children of Irving and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Spaeth and family of Wichita Falls. Rohmer of Fort Worth spent several days with her parents and family.

Mrs. Johnny Moster and children came over from Gainesville to spend Sunday with her mother and sister and in the evening took Sister Florentine to Gainesville where she caught a bus for Dallas. The Herbs saw her off on the train at Dallas the next day.

Being entertained by their four grandchildren here Sunday made the afternoon interesting for Mr. and Mrs. Leo Henscheid. Visiting in the Henscheid home were the Jerry Herscheids and Jeffrey of Dallas and the Damien Hellmans and Kevin, Linda and Donald of Irving. Jerry and his family were here for the weekend coming to attend the Henscheid wedding and divided their time between his parents and his wife's family, the Ray Owens. The Damien Hellmans came Sunday and spent the morning with his parents, the Rudy Hellmans.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lawson and children Margaret Ann and Jimmy and Mrs. Lawson's mother, Mrs. C. M. Walterscheid, and her grandson Chris Walterscheid, drove to Munday to spend the weekend with the Earl Walterscheids and Chris remained at his home after a vacation visit in Muenster.

First showing of the Rudy Hellmans' colored slides and movies of their European trip was made Thursday night when the couple and their daughter Gretchen were guests of the L. W. Flusches and their daughters Della and Joanne at Decatur. The after dinner picture party reviewed most of the Hellmans' travels abroad. Gretchen Hellman, on vacation until August 24, and Della Flusche, on vacation through this month, will both return to Marquette University. Gretchen is a senior nursing student and Della who has been attending summer school there will return as a teacher in the history department.

Shreveport, La., and Hot Springs, Ark., were vacation sites this year for Mrs. Mathilda Wimmer. She made the trip with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Mages and children Shirley, Barbara and David of Dallas. At Shreveport they were guests of Mrs. Wimmer's sister, Mrs. Bernardine Nohse and the William Nohses and joined them for boating and fishing at the Lake. Hot Springs was for sight-seeing and they spent most of their time at the National Park. Most fun for the children were an elevator ride to the top of the 165-foot steel observation tower and a long visit at the I. Q. Zoo where the antics of the scientifically trained animals furnished entertainment. The famous Spa and Our Lady of Grace Shrine dedicated in 1956, were among tops in sight-seeing. While their parents were away the two youngest Mages children, Nancy Jane and Rose Mary, stayed here with their aunt and family, the Felix Yostens.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fletcher and daughters Sara and Sue drove over from Denton to spend Sunday here with his parents, the J. W. Fletchers.

Mrs. Gilbert Endres and Lou Ann, Mrs. H. J. Fuhrman and Mrs. Al Horn were Fort Worth visitors Friday, guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fuhrman.

Larry Walterscheid of McKinney was here Friday for a visit and dinner with his folks.

Messrs. and Mmes. John and Joe Fisher spent Sunday in Dallas attending the Grocers Convention in the Adolphus Hotel.

Burt Hamric of Dallas spent the weekend with his family, the Ervin Hamrics, and on Sunday was joined by Dallas friends Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cox and three children who spent the day.

Three groups of Muensterites, in Hereford during the weekend, picked the Frank Walterscheids for Sunday visiting and with that couple's children made 24 for dinner. The Al Walterscheids and Mary were in Hereford Thursday night through Sunday, the Lawrence Wimmers and Timmy spent the weekend and Monday, and Carl Walterscheid, Pat Hamilton, David Endres and Eileen Fuhrmann were there Sunday and Monday. The Wimmers were on vacation—Lawrence from the NTPA plant and Irene from the Charm Shop. Mary Walterscheid also went to Nazareth for a visit with her fiancé Walter Acker and his family, the Val Ackers.

West Texas towns were visited for sight-seeing and stops with relatives when Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fetsch and family took a five-day vacation trip. For the five Fetsch children Palo Duro Canyon at Amarillo was the most fun. The Fetsches visited Paul's brothers and sisters in Hereford, Pep and Leland, his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Fetsch at Rhineland and attended a cousin's wedding there and visited relatives in Wichita Falls on the way home Sunday.

Three-week vacation from St. Joseph's Nursing School in Fort Worth is being spent here by Suzanne Hesse, Patsy Vogel and Patsy Bayer. They're visiting their parents Messrs. and Mmes. Meinrad Hesse, T. Vogel and Martin Bayer.

Vacation took Mr. and Mrs. Nick Dieter and son Jeff to West Texas to visit relatives. In Amarillo they stopped with the Bernard Zimmerers, at Hereford they visited the Charlie and Ewald Berends, the Gilbert Yostens and Tommy Allbrights. In Tahoka they were guests of Nick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dieter who leave Lindsay for that area before the cotton ginning season each year and stay there until the crop is harvested. The Harold Dieters and family are also at Tahoka. Not Law, But Love

It was as touching a story as I have ever heard — of a little, old lady appearing with her broken English in a courtroom for having tried to give away her two grandchildren "without going through legal channels." She and her elderly husband had been brought to America by their daughter and son-in-law, and then the daughter and son-in-law had died in an accident. Unable to find work, the grandfather, also, had disappeared and was presumed dead. In the desperation of her love for the children, the lonely grandmother advertised to have them adopted. After that, she planned to end her own life.

The judge did not hold her guilty as charged, but committed her to a psychiatrist. There the story ended, and I have to protest.

For a case like this is not for either law or psychiatry. It dramatizes, rather, the desperate need for recovery of something we are losing in America.

The real need was for good, old-fashioned neighborliness, the helping hand from person to person, the Christian charity of individuals who felt responsibility for needs like this in the days before impersonal government took them over.

No provision of government and no professionalized psychiatry can be a substitute for the sincere and simple ministrations of people who care. The Welfare State can never take the place of loving one's neighbor!

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

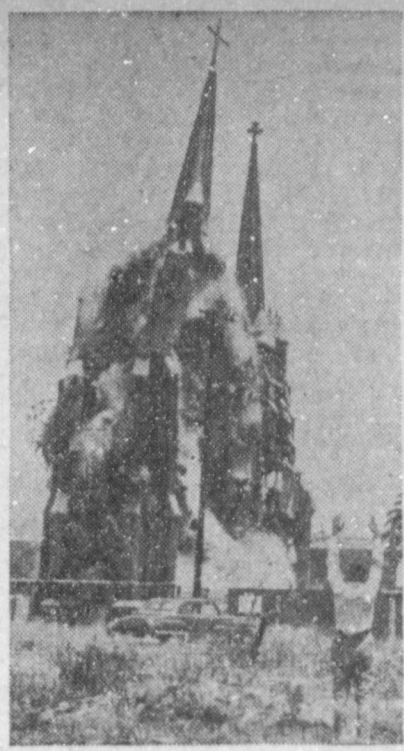

All of the sloping cultivated fields around Muenster need terracing to help prevent loss of precious topsoil. Terraces make farming operations more difficult, but the loss of topsoil makes farming impossible.

Terraces on cropland give several benefits. They break long slopes into short slopes. Terraces move runoff waters slowly across the slope thus allowing more of it to soak into the soil for crop production. Terraces carry water to a safe disposal area such as a pasture or waterway strip where the concentration of water can be safely handled.

Because terraces are so important in soil and water conservation, cost-share payment for terrace construction is provided to landowners through the County ASC Offices and technical assistance is provided by the Soil Conservation Service assisting the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District program.

Dangelmayr Brothers have completed almost two miles of terraces on their farm operated by Dude Rosson south of Muenster. These terraces empty onto wide bermuda grass strips which they planted along natural drains across their cultivated fields to provide safe outlets for their terrace water.

half miles of new terraces on the farm of his Dad's which he operates 8 miles northeast of Muenster and also one and one half miles on the Frank Trubenbach farm which he operates. King Ranch Bluestem waterways and native pasture land provide safe outlets for these terraces.

Eddie Schmitt is having over two miles of terraces built on the farm of Tony Trubenbach which he farms. Eddie also has a wide bermuda grass strip to provide a safe place to outlet these terraces.

Robert Bayer is constructing a farm pond on his farm north of Muenster. This pond will enable him to better manage his grazing program. A pipe was placed through the base of the dam during construction. A small tank with a control float will be placed behind the dam. This will allow him to fence the pond to keep livestock from getting into it. This method will provide much cleaner and cooler water for his cattle.

WHAT'S IN THE HUMP?

The protrusion atop the withers of Brahma cattle has given rise to some speculation by people unfamiliar with the breed. It is not, however, a deformity, rupture or water compartment as some have thought. The hump of the Brahma - aside from being a distinguishing trademark - is edible meat, well marbled with fat. There is no bone in the hump. It makes a delicious pot roast and is considered a favorite delicacy in many countries.

Humps vary in size and shape according to the sex and condition of the individual animal.

Gainesville College Will Open Sept. 14 In New Building

September 14, 1959-Monday-will be a significant date in the history of Gainesville College as classes begin for the thirty-sixth fall session in the new college administration building.

This thirty room, single-level building, modern in design and materials, is advantageously located on its more than 40-acre grounds. Looking to the southeast from the front, one may see Gainesville in panorama below.

Passing through the glass enclosed foyer, to his left the visitor sees the office unit; in front, the student lounge and the snack bar; and to the right along the corridor, science and business laboratories, lecture rooms, offices for four faculty members, storerooms, and rest rooms.

The administration office unit consists of registration and secretary's offices with storage vault and powderroom to one side and bookroom to the other, behind and to the east in front of the building are the offices of the president and the dean of the college.

Continuing from the office area, the visitor finds more classrooms along the left corridor. Across the hall are more faculty offices, engine room, one classroom, and the library and reading room.

Almost in the center of the building, opening off the library, main hall and lounge, is an open patio.

Beyond all this to the northwest is the auditorium-gymnasium, equipped with stage and dressingrooms to combine facilities for sports and assemblies.

This building has been planned with the purpose in mind of accommodating to the fullest a capacity enrollment of 225 full-time students, and furnishing to the community which the college serves as many advantages of higher education as those facilities will allow.

Parking and landscaping areas are well begun.

Bewildered, a guest stared at the young son of the house, who was driving nails into the dining room table.

Turning to his host he said, "It's none of my business, but don't you find it expensive letting him play like that?" The host smiled proudly. "Not at all," he said, "I get the nails wholesale."

In Sacred Heart Church here Saturday afternoon La Verna Hess pledged wedding vows with Angelo Nasche of Fort Worth. He is the son of Mrs. Carmella Nasche and the late Mr. Nasche of Fort Worth and La Verna's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hess.

Father Christopher Paladino was celebrant of the 4:30 nuptial high mass and performed the double ring ceremony. Anthony Luke, organist, and the church choir sang the mass and Mrs. Alfons Koelsler Jr. was vocalist for a post-nuptial solo when the bride placed a bouquet of white gladioli on the Blessed Virgin's altar.

For her wedding La Verna wore an aisle-wide floor length dress of white nylon organza and lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice had a lace yoke and long petal point sleeves and the skirt was designed with back interest simulating a bustle effect. Her tiered veil of illusion was elbow length attached to a cap of bridal jewels and she carried a purple throated white orchid atop a white prayer book. Her father gave her in marriage.

Bride's attendants were her two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Gerald Hess, matron of honor, and Mrs. James Hess, bride's matron. They wore identical street length princess dresses with circle skirts and short sleeves and matching mitts. Their headpieces were of bronze velvet ribbon and they carried bronze mums.

The groom's brother John Anthony Nasche of Fort Hood was best man and a friend Elmer Shutter of Fort Worth was groomsman. Two other brothers, Joe and Salvadore Nasche, ushered.

Yellow gladioli, greenery and candles adorned the altar before which the couple exchanged their vows.

The wedding reception and buffet dinner, catered by Mrs. Joe Lehnertz, was held in the Parish Hall and a dance concluded festivities. About 300 guests were present. Mrs. Harold Neu of Lindsay and Mrs. Jerry Henscheid of Dallas presided at the bride's book.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hess wore a blue sheer dress with a matching glitter hat and other accessories in white. Mrs. Nasche, mother of the groom, wore a black and white sheer dress with matching accessories. Both had white carnation corsages.

The couple took a short wedding trip and this week are getting settled at their home in Fort Worth. He works for Convair and she is employed at Fort Worth National Bank.

Among out of town wedding guests were the groom's mother and members of his family, including a sister from Our Lady of the Lake Convent, Sister Mary Teresita. Another sister who is a nun was unable to attend.

Relatives and friends were present from Dallas, Fort Worth, Temple, Wichita Falls, Windthorst, Pilot Point, Gainesville and Lindsay in addition to those from Muenster.

Registrations in the guest book included Messrs. and Mmes. Salvadore Nasche and John A. Nasche and four children of Temple, Jerry Henscheid and son of Dallas, Joe Schroeder and Richard Schroeder and daughter of Windthorst, Frank Evans and family of Pilot Point and Mrs. Lena Wiesman of Wichita Falls.

Messrs. and Mmes. Wendell Arnold, John J. Muth Jr. and four children, Elmer Shutter, K. E. Rothman, M. C. Shutter, Fred Koirdy Chester Beaird and R. C. Shutter, Patsy Moore, Joe Nasche, Alice Anderson, Kenneth Rothman, Pat Petraski, Jean Garrett, Jackie Zoak, James Dixon, Shirley Dich, Gordon Hoffman, and Frieda Koenig, all of Fort Worth.

Outing is Treat For Koelzer Crew

An outing at City Park with a chicken barbecue was a treat arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Victor Koelzer for members of the Koelzer Well Service and their wives Wednesday evening.

Present were Messrs. and Mmes. A. J. Huchton, Carl Schilling, Johnny and Paul Hacker, Muenster; Herbert Schmidkofer and Lawrence Neusch and David Lutkenhaus and Clarence Neusch, Lindsay, and Calvin Evins of Gainesville.

Joe Hoenigs Have All-Family Reunion

An all-family reunion with a picnic dinner in City Park Sunday brought together the Joe Hoenigs and their children and 14 grandchildren. It was the first time they were all together in several years.

Inspiration for the event were Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cottle and children Dianne, Kevin and Jeannine of Ballinger who moved back to Texas recently after living in Phoenix, Ariz. They spent the weekend with her parents.

Joining them for the reunion were the Carl Pelzels and children of Ennis, the Rupert Hoenigs and sons of Dallas, the Richard Hermes and sons of Lindsay, the Jerry Hoenigs and daughter and Raymond Hoenig of Muenster.

WASTE AT STATE LEVEL

We've been howling about waste in Washington—and we got a howl coming. But the small fry up at Austin are just as bad in their small way. Time we looked that gang over and weeded a few out—even if we have to elect a few devilish and depraved Republicans just to keep an eye on the capitol doings.

This morning the mail brought me a big 10" x 13" kraft envelope sealed with a metal clasp. The things cost wholesale about $30 a thousand, unprinted. It had a 6-cent meter stamp on it, and was imprinted "Governor's Committee, White House Conference on Children and Youth." What was inside? A "news release" telling folks to go to a drug store and fill out a ballot telling the Governor what to do about problems of youth, so the Governor can pass your opinion on to the White House. It was on a single sheet of paper that could have been sent in an envelope that cost $3.75 a thousand, unprinted, and traveled first class for 4 cents. It's a little thing, of course, but something that would get a fellow fired if he was working for private industry. When they go to Austin and are careless with small change they are likely to be even more wasteful with big money—because they know big money only as figures on a sheet of paper. They are about like the dog that was chasing the freight train. If he caught it he wouldn't know what 't'ell to do with it.

"State Penalty for Private Use" was stamped on the big envelope. Firing should be the penalty for using it as it was used.

A MARK OF RESPONSIBILITY

Just recently Soviet Premier Khrushchev said: "Capitalists are going to be kept in archives like old newspapers or newsreels. We will look at them as today we look at the remains of prehistoric monsters and say: 'Look, that was a capitalist.'" This is nothing more than a threat to every American's future.

When Tupolev, the Russian aircraft designer, visited our aircraft plants it wasn't the planes that astounded him; it was the crowded parking lots at the factories. He found it hard to believe that thousands of workmen owned a car and a home.

Maybe Russia will learn someday that capitalism is a mark of personal responsibility. Until then, every American should keep in mind Russia is bent on taking away from him the privilege of being a capitalist.

"No man on earth knows how to make an automobile"

The finest mechanic in the world could not take iron ore, latex and sand, and make an automobile (and even if he could, only a few of the richest millionaires could afford it).

But men and machines can make automobiles so well and so low-priced that even in a poor year millions of cars are made, providing three-quarters of a million jobs plus millions of other jobs in parts plants and maintenance.

Almost every job in America depends in that same way on machines. And the better the worker uses his machine, the lower the price of what he makes can be, and the more people who can buy it.

It's a true partnership between management (providing the machine) and worker (using it well). Anyone—anyone who stirs up trouble between those two is the enemy of both.

SAFE-DRIVING TIPS FOR TEENAGERS

MARRIAGE IS FOR LIFE

by Rev. Donald F. Miller, associate editor of "The Liguorian"

If all who are planning to marry would deeply ponder the following considerations, there would be fewer failures in marriage.

FIRST of all, marriage is designed by God for the bringing forth and rearing of children. Marriage is clearly meant to be indissoluble because children need two parents working together to rear them properly; they need a mother and father who have dedicated their whole lives to prepare them for adulthood.

Miller

Then, too, even apart from the needs of children, men and women are so fashioned by God that only in monogamous marriage (that is, one wife with one husband till death separates them), can they find that security of affection and security of their future that they yearn for.

THIS need for security in love and security for their home is expressed in words by all civilized and most of the uncivilized peoples of the world when they enter marriage. They solemnly swear to "take each other for better for worse, in sickness and in health, till death parts them."

It is an axiom that a sound society can be built only on the secure homes of its members, homes that respect as absolutely sacred the bond of marriage.

DOES not our experience back up this axiom? The presence of confused, unhappy and delinquent children in America, the drifting about of thousands of unhappy divorced husbands and wives, and the countless problems faced by courts and welfare agencies because of broken homes—all proclaim the law of God: "Marriage is for life. Divorce is contrary to nature and the law of God."

The lips of Christ Himself made this law as forceful as even God could. After declaring that a man and woman in marriage are no longer two, but one flesh, He solemnly added, "What God has joined let not man put asunder."

Some people fail to remember His promise to give all the help anyone will ever need to remain faithful to His commands, if only they will ask for it in persevering prayer.

OTHERS, in turn, ask why an innocent person should be punished throughout life for the sins committed by a partner in marriage, who turned out to be impossible to live with.

They forget that an abandoned wife or husband is only being asked to be faithful to a vow they freely and knowingly made before God, that they would be faithful to their spouse until death. The share of loneliness and suffering that this may mean should be looked upon as part of the price they must pay for the never-ending happiness of heaven.

OBVIOUSLY the conclusion for young people is not to rush into marriage nor to think that love and mere physical attraction will make their marriage last. Since marriage is for life, prepare for it with seriousness proportionate to the unbreakable bond you will assume.

track drivers, the trucker. Here are some of them:

1. Don't show off or clown behind the wheel.
2. Have guts enough behind the wheel to chicken out when common sense tells you it's time to give in. Never mind who's right—Be smart—stay alive!
3. The public highways are for sharing, not competing.
4. The squeal of tires and roar of the exhaust may sound like hot stuff to a driver who needs it to build up his ego. But it tags him as strictly an amateur to the real pro.
5. The pro gives in to bad weather, bad roads, and traffic jams, and slows down.
6. Would your coach send in a player who has been drinking? Well, it goes double for driving. Remember—a half-loaded driver is more dangerous than a loaded gun.

Teenagers are involved in twice as many fatal accidents for the number of miles they drive as drivers over 25. This tragic and needless picture will change in a hurry if the young drivers will follow sound and simple tips like these.

Simple Jig-Saw Solution

"In 1952, the Army spent $200 million to buy canvas duck and webbing. The Army still has $185 million worth of this material which it hasn't used. And that's a lot of canvas, enough to cover 16,447 acres of land. And it costs $800,000 in tax money each year just to store this canvas. . . . Here is just one example of the efficiency of our government in getting rid of our tax dollars. It makes one wonder just how much of our 'defense money' goes into waste holes such as this."

smoothest ride!

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going—and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is just one of seven big bests—all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* show that Chevrolet sedans offer more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars—more front seat hip room (by up to 5.9 inches) than the "other two" of the leading low-priced three.

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and, just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR† Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY—A pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES—Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by NASCAR, Chevy out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN—Any N.A.D.A.‡ Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?

School Taxes - - -

valuation was set at half of the city's.

In the rural area the board had no guide for taxation, so it assessed on the estimated value of the farms. Still aiming for 10 per cent of actual valuation they valued farms from $1 to $25 per acre . . . amounting to a tax of 10 cents to 25 cents per acre.

After equalization efforts the board discovered that it gained slightly over $2,000 in revenue, which was still short of the school's needs. So valuations on all personal property and real estate were raised one third.

A fact not known to many local property owners is that they paid considerably less than half of the local school tax. According to last year's assessment local property was taxed $21,136, oil property $22,953 and utilities $3,459.

The one third increase applies only to local property. Figuring the former amount plus the gain after equalization and the one third raise that figure now stands at about $31,000.

Valuations on all property are based on estimates made by Richard and Abbott, an evaluation engineering firm of Fort Worth, which makes an annual report for Cooke County. Values are based on production, which ran somewhat higher in this area last year because of water flooding. So the school's tax revenue from that source will be higher this year.

Combined tax revenue for the district, as stated in the school's budget hearing on August 6, is expected to be $60,320, as compared with last year's $47,550.

Other revenue expected by the district is $51,084 state per capita allotment and $3,700 Smith-Hughes allotment for vocational education, bringing the total expected revenue to $116,004.

Expenses for the year are budgeted at $111,193 of which $20,313 is for interest and principal on the school debt and $90,880 is for operation expense. A breakdown of the latter figure shows $54,000 for teachers salaries and the remainder for all other expenses.

The balance of about $5,000 expected at the end of the year is intended to serve as a beginning for teacher pay increases which the school hopes to put in effect next year.

As no one could figure out how to work the gadget, it never was of any use to the Navy.

which prompted a few well meaning dries to question the validity of our petition and seek means of preventing our election. We believe they are sincere in their claim of trying to keep us from sin.

However, we can't give them much credit for their intolerant attitude. They know, or at least they should know after the many years this subject has been kicked around, that we are as sincere in our view as they are in theirs, and that their effort to block our election was nothing less than an attempt to impose their standard on us. We might also say that such a dogmatic attitude seems inconsistent with the principle of private interpretation.

Doubtless they must be aware also that their attitude was not quite complimentary to us or the commissioners court. Saying they wanted to make sure that things were correct with respect to the law was equivalent to questioning our honesty in preparing the petition and the court's integrity in judging its validity.
