Mrs. F. Seyler, 80, City Pioneer, Dies Of Heart Attack

Mrs. Frank Seyler, 80, one of the few remaining early pioneers of the community, passed away at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Gainesville Sanitarium following a heart attack suffered Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. L. Anderson in Gainesville.

Death came four days after her birthday observance Saturday when children and grandchildren helped her celebrate, and she remarked that she was feeling unusually well. Mrs. Seyler had been afflicted with an allergy the past year and this ailment had her in and out of the hospital several times. She was recovered and had regained her strength and the fatal stroke came as a shock to her family and friends.

Funeral services were held here in Sacred Heart Church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock with Father Martin Fischer officiating at the requiem high mass and at graveside rites in Sacred Heart Cemetery. Nick Miller Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Bearers were grandsons: Pat Hennigan, Angus Anderson, Jimmy Lutkenhaus, Ronnie Hope, Tim and Tommy Mosman.

Four rosary services were held at the Miller Chapel Wednesday, the first at 3 o'clock with members of the Third Order of St. Francis, the next at 4 o'clock by Saint Anne's Society — Mrs. Seyler was a member of both organizations — at 7 p.m. by the Boy Scout troop in uniform and finally, the community rosary at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Seyler was born in Germany Dec. 12, 1879, and came to Cooke County with her parents when she was nine years old. As Miss Katie Neices she was married at Lindsay to Frank Seyler of Muenster on August 20, 1899. Mr. Seyler died Dec. 14, 1939. He is remembered as having dug the first water well in this community, and, in addition to farming and operating a garage, served as a deputy sheriff for the county for almost 18 years.

Soaking Showers Ideal as Area's Christmas Gift

Just what Muenster farmers wanted for Christmas... a fine soaking rain scattered over three days is putting land in excellent condition for growth of grain crops.

Following a trace of .06 inch last Thursday, the rain resumed Monday night and continued with slow intermittent drizzles through Tuesday and Wednesday for a total of 3.03 inches up to 6 p.m. Wednesday.

The moisture comes as welcome relief for a dry period that has seen only 1.50 inches of rain in more than two months. Heavy showers early in October brought 8.57 inches. An even inch for the rest of the month and .50 in November is all that fell until the .06 of December 11.

As of now the rainfall for the year is about normal. According to Steve Mosier's official record the total through November was 29.53 and the 3.36 since then brings the figure to 32.89.

Brief Illness of Mrs. B. Sandmann Ended by Death

Death after a week's illness claimed Mrs. Ben Sandmann, 67, a longtime resident of Lindsay. She died Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in a Fort Worth hospital, eleven days before her 68th birthday.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning in St. Peter's Church at Lindsay with the pastor, Rev. Alcuin Kubis officiating at the solemn requiem mass at 9 o'clock, assisted by Rev. Christopher Paladino of Muenster as master of ceremonies and Rev. Anthony Gajda of Valley View and Rev. William Lane of Gainesville as deacon and sub-deacon.

Students to Have Seven Holidays

Students of the two Muenster schools will have seven free days for the Christmas holidays, two during Christmas week and five the next week.

Superintendent L. B. Bruns disclosed that classes will be dismissed at 1:30 on Wednesday, the 23rd and will resume on Monday, January 4.

Workers Hustle For Early Opening Of Liquor Store

Workmen at Muenster's newest liquor store have been putting in extra time lately trying to get the place open for business this week, and still don't know whether or not they will succeed.

Wet weather is responsible for their trouble. Besides slowing down their working progress it is retarding the drying of paint. The business, to be owned and operated by Herbert Miller under the name of Miller Cut Rate Liquor, is located north of Highway 82 at the east city limit. Ray Wilde is putting up the building for eventual use as a used car office in connection with a Chevrolet Agency headquarters building on the adjoining lot. Until the larger building is finished it will be leased as a package store.

County Considers Contract with Cities for Fighting Rural Fires

Members of the Muenster City Council and the Muenster Fire Department were encouraged this week by apparent progress in their effort to get financial help from the county for fighting rural fires.

A similar request presented this week by the City of Gainesville received favorable consideration from the Commissioners Court and an assurance that the county is willing to hear a contract to be submitted soon by the City of Gainesville.

In its original request Gainesville asked for $50 pay for answering each rural fire call, and it is presumed that will be the amount specified in the contract. Another detail already settled orally and to be included in the contract is an agreement officially assigning the city's equipment to fire fighting duty in rural areas of the county. Both Gainesville and Muenster have been asking for such an arrangement in order to remove their present liability in case of accident. Under present conditions a driver, or even the members of the city council, could be held personally liable for damage caused by the city's equipment.

Mayor Herbert Meurer said Wednesday that this apparent agreement between the County and Gainesville is practically the same as Muenster has been seeking for months. The contract removing liability is exactly what Muenster wants and the rate of payment, though figured differently, would amount to about the same as Muenster asked. Meurer further stated that he hopes to see an early agreement with the Commissioner's Court... so that Muenster will not have to refuse service to rural areas. In a recent meeting the City Council decided it would permit no more rural runs after January 1 unless it receives adequate pay from the county and immunity against liability charges. That decision was prompted by the pumper truck's condition. It can still do a good job in the city, running short distances at slow speed on good streets. But it is not equal to the strain of long runs at high speed or over rough pasture terrain. The council decided that the truck needs either a thorough overhaul or a replacement before it is fit for rural service, and since the improvement would be primarily for rural benefit there should be a way of receiving rural help. Gainesville has a similar problem. Its truck is not adapted to fighting grass fires, and the city expects the county's help for changes that would be made for the special benefit of rural areas. Under present arrangements the county pays $12.50 for each rural fire run to both Muenster and Gainesville and the property owner is expected to pay $12.50 additional. Even when the full amount is collected it is inadequate, but property owners frequently do not pay their part.

Voters Decide Saturday On County College Issue

Whether or not a County Junior College District will be created in Cooke County will be decided by its voters next Saturday.

The special election to be held in 25 voting boxes of the county will present two issues, on the creation of a college district and a tax to support it, and also a list of nominees for the board of regents to administer the college district. Every person qualified to vote in 1959, that is, with a 1958 poll tax receipt or exemption, may vote on creation of the college district and on the board of regents. To vote on the tax issue a person must be also a taxpayer, that is, he must have property rendered for tax on current county records.

The tax to be voted on is 20 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. The rate, if approved, is the maximum that can be applied. If the college operation does not require that much the rate can be proportionately lowered by the board of regents.

Both the district and the tax will have to be approved to make the proposed college district effective. If the district is approved but the tax disapproved the result would be a non-functioning district... since it would have no authorized means of support. If the tax is approved but the district disapproved the tax becomes meaningless.

The election is the final step in recent efforts to change the administration of Gainesville Junior College from the Gainesville Independent School District to a county-wide district. A public hearing on the issue was conducted at the college on October 23 by a committee representing the State Board of Education. The committee decided that the college is feasible and practical and meets requirements by the State Board, and submitted a favorable recommendation to the State Board. Following that recommendation the State on November 9 authorized bringing the issue to a vote. The election was ordered by the County Commissioners Court in its session of November 23.

Seven names are listed on the ballot as nominees for the board of seven regents who will administer the district. They are Herbert Meurer of Muenster; H. H. Gibson of Sivelles Bend; F. W. Fischer of Era; Ray Lynch of Callisburg; Dave Tupman, Fred Greenwood and Bob Claxton of Gainesville. Voters have the opportunity to approve any or all of them or to scratch names and write in their preference.

Muenster's balloting, under supervision of Joe Luke and Leo Henschel, will be in the public school from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

4,800,000 FACTORIES WITHOUT ROOFS

What is American farming? An impressive and unusual answer comes from Curry W. Stoup, president of the New Idea Division of Avco Corporation. He offered it at a recent meeting of the Ohio Commercial Swine Producers Association. In his words: "It is 4,800,000 factories — factories without roofs — factories with more horsepower than all the rest of industry combined. These factories with their equipment have combined assets of over $187 billion and an investment per worker 2½ times that of the average in all industry. Yes, farming . . . is 4,800,000 independent enterprises, 98 per cent of them family-owned and operated — 4,800,000 solid blocks in the very foundation of our free enterprise system." The strength of American farming lies in its productive efficiency. Crops in this country are produced at a work output of only 2 man days per acre, in contrast to the world-wide average of 200 man days per acre and a far eastern average of 400 man days. That fact caused Mr. Stoup to say that no single aspect of the American free enterprise system could have such impact on the rest of the world as our mechanized agriculture. He is convinced that not only knowledge but even a fractional part of the efficiency of the American farming system could do more to offset communist propaganda in the backward parts of the world than any other single force.

Mr. Stoup's position is solidly based. More and more, the cold war is becoming an economic war, a production war. And in that war, with all its worldwide repercussions, mechanized American farming can be one of the most potent of weapons.

Every now and then someone again points the finger of outrage at waste in government. This can scarcely be overdone, since waste is one of the conspicuous causes of high government costs and, by extension, of high taxes.

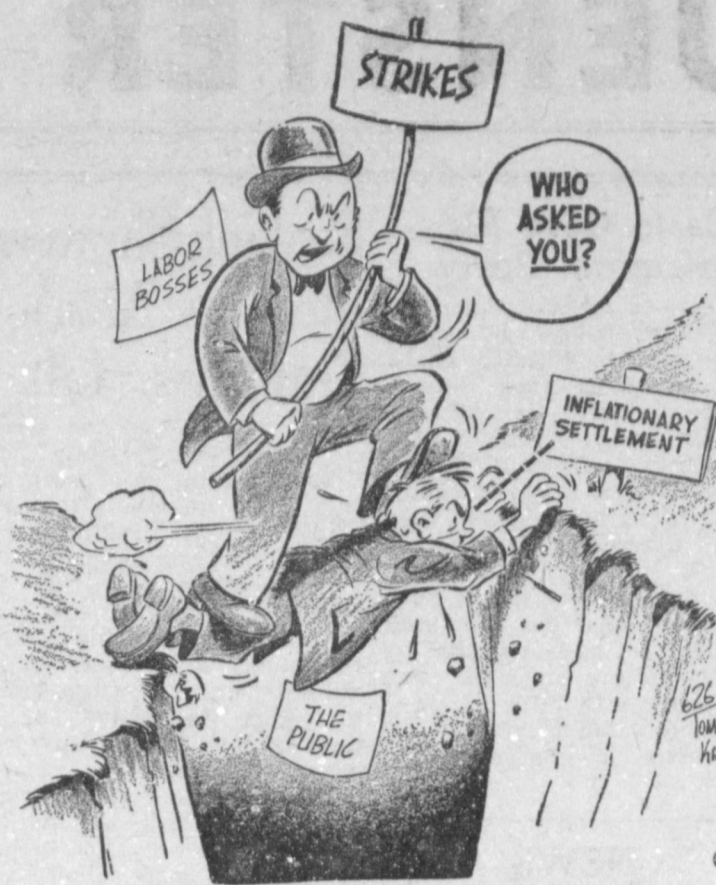

The latest finger-pointing has been done by Sen. Paul H. Douglas. At his request, the General Accounting Office prepared a report on the transfer of federal surplus property to various states. On the basis of this report, he charges that there is "scandalous" waste in Washington's procurement and surplus property disposal programs.

The report is peppered with examples, any one of which is enough to raise a taxpayer's hackles. Hammers, soldering irons, hacksaw frames — a bewildering array of articles have been disposed of at sacrifice prices even while other government agencies were paying much higher prices for the same articles.

This is preposterous. In government, as in anything else, the left hand ought to know what the right is doing. There is not the slightest sense in a system which permits the Army, say, to sell off "surplus" hammers at ridiculous prices while the Navy is busy purchasing the same kind of hammer.

Senator Douglas notes that the government will be disposing of some 60 billion dollars' worth of surplus property during the next three or four years. He asks that various government agencies, and particularly the Department of Defense, look over the "surplus" lists before going into the market for new supplies. That is sound advice which deserves the whole-hearted support of taxpayers.

The stern Puritans of New England, who frowned upon the celebration of Christmas as a pagan rite, went so far as to enact "blue laws" banning the making of mince pies. Mince pies are associated with Christmas because they were originally baked in the shape of a manger.

Trampling Rough Shod on the Public

A BIT OF RUSTED PIPE

Out in a scarred patch of Southwest Texas prairie stands a bit of rusted pipe. A passerby wouldn't give it a second glance. Yet it is an ironic monument to the colossal gambles men take in pursuit of oil and gas.

The bit of pipe marks the site of the deepest hole in the world. The well below it was sunk almost five miles. The cost was $3 million and two years time and toil. And what did the drillers find?

The answer is — Nothing. Neither gas nor oil was struck. All the money, time and toil had been spent in vain.

This is the most spectacular dry hole in history, because of the magnitude of the operation. But there was nothing unusual about the failure. As Robert W. Stock explains in Petroleum Today, a dry hole is the rule, rather than the exception. Eight out of nine wells drilled in search of new oil and gas deposits don't pay off. Last year, 21,000 of these wells were abandoned — and the cost was $330 million in the U. S. alone.

Yet men take the long risks — and the reason they do is as simple as it is fundamental. They do it in the hope of making a big strike and earning a profit. Without that hope, no one would accept the gamble — and the nation would lose the new oil resources it so sorely needs.

Thus, the bit of pipe symbolizes another thing. It mutely proves the need for incentives that lead men to take long chances — incentives such as the depletion allowance that helps to compensate for the fact that most wells are dry and that all wells ultimately wear out and must be replaced.

The Navajo tribe received nearly $35,000,000 from bonuses on oil leases in the fiscal year of 1957!

The Christian custom of reckoning time from the birth of Christ was introduced in the 500's by a monk named Dionysius Exiguus. But World Book Encyclopedia reports that the monk made a mistake of four to six years. Scholars now believe Christ was born in 4 B.C. or 6 B.C.

Spider webs are put to work in the cellars of the cognac region of France where the famous drink is produced. The spiders act as shock troops to prevent insects from reaching the oak casks in which the cognac brandy ages!

A Fixed Answer To Rigged Quizzes

By John P. Brennan, C.S.P., author of THE PSYCHOLOGY OF FREE WILL

RECENT investigations into TV quiz shows raise many questions not in the original script. Stories of dishonesty and kickbacks have upset many Americans. We believed our entertainment was on the level.

Much more shocking, however, were the number of witnesses who lied about the shows — even when they had taken an oath to tell the truth. One news report mentioned that perhaps fifty out of 150 witnesses had lied under oath when giving testimony before a grand jury.

WHAT HAS happened to the old American tradition of straight-from-the-shoulder honesty? Does "Honest John" — the name given to one of our missiles — no longer fit the average American?

In the past we took honesty and truth-telling for granted. Men were honest because God's law commands us to tell the truth. Lying under oath was a rare crime because an oath calls on God to witness that a statement is true.

scandals put a big question to us: Can a man lie and cheat whenever he wants to? Or simply because he has a good reason? Or are there permanent laws of conduct which we must obey?

When men rigged questions on TV, they forgot this unchanging answer from God: Deep in every man, He has fixed laws of conduct which no man has a right to disobey. One of these laws is to tell the truth. In other words, God created men to be honest.

GOD'S LAWS are not rigged, but they are fixed in us. Those laws are the blueprint on which God made us. When workers ignore the blueprints, their building collapses. When we ignore God's law, our lives collapse. In fact, we become less human because those laws of conduct are part of our human nature.

We want good entertainment on TV. But much more than that, we want happiness in our lives, honesty in our nation, peace in the world. Only by following God's laws can we have that happiness, honesty and peace.

WILL AMERICA wake up and recognize this? That's the real $34,000 question.

TODAY, HOWEVER, quiz-show

The hostesses served refreshments of punch, cake and nuts. Plate favors were double wedding rings fashioned of white Life Savers tied with green ribbon loveknots and with the names of the engaged couple inscribed in gold lettering attached.

Varied Activity Occupies CDA at December Meet

Activity at the December meeting of the local Catholic Daughters of America furnished a full night's program including a business session, a social hour and a special project of filling baskets to be delivered to shut-ins for Christmas cheer.

Twenty-four members came to the meeting bringing fruit and candy which were gaily packaged for the shut-ins.

Mission Report

The evening began with the business session conducted by Mrs. Steve Mosler, grand regent, and featured committee reports. Mission Chairman Mrs. Joe Swirczynski said she had packed and shipped about 2000 pounds of clothing since the Thanksgiving drive.

These packages went to home missions and recent shipments were tagged for Colored Missions in Phenix City, Ala., and Mobile, Ala., an Indian Mission in North Dakota and St. Vincent's Store in Fort Worth. Mrs. Swirczynski also said that six boxes of toys, collected in the toy drive, were delivered to Fort Worth.

Library Report

The library report listed recent contributions of books, magazines, shelving and carpentry, a year's gift subscription to the Reader's Digest and a present of printed stationery, the letterheads and envelopes coming from Father Thomas Weinzapfel.

A letter from State Regent Mrs. A. J. Rohan was a congratulatory message in recognition of the local court's 45 years of establishment. Among the 67 courts in Texas it is tenth in seniority.

A history of the court has been prepared and mailed to state headquarters to be on file at the state convention in Austin next May. Members also voted a love gift for Mrs. Rohan who will be retiring from office after this year.

Members were reminded to continue saying three Hail Marys every day for living and deceased members and were asked to add an extra prayer for Mrs. Ora Keating, daughter of the state treasurer, who is a patient in a TB hospital in Denver. The group signed a get-well card to be mailed to her.

Social Hour

Following business, Mrs. John Mosman, lecturer, was hostess for a holiday party. The refreshment table was covered with a Christmas cloth and was centered with a small twinkling tree. Members helped themselves to dainty sandwiches, Christmas cookies, mints, nuts and coffee which members prepared and brought.

Gift Packages

After the social hour a group of seven on the distribution committee — Mmes Henry Pick, John Fisher, Herbert Meurer, Nick Miller, John Mosman, Joe Hoenig and Steve Mosler — filled pretty, Christmas baskets for eight shut-ins and delivered the holiday packages the next day.

Sunday visitors with the John Richeys were her sisters, Mrs. Earl Cochran and husband of Gainesville, and Mrs. Fred Richey and son Larry and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert Richey and children of Sivells Bend. A weekend guest of the Richeys was their nephew, Mark Barnes of Gainesville.

Taxes CAN Be Increased

On December 19 the taxpayers of Cooke County have been asked to create a new taxing jurisdiction.

Taxes on both the state and local level are already at an all-time high. If the Gainesville Junior College is expanded taxes must be raised. Larger operations cost more money.

Why bring in students from surrounding counties, and even from Oklahoma, for the taxpayers of Cooke County to educate? Cooke County is within a few miles of two large state-supported four year colleges.

Regardless of what has been said, values can be raised above the county level. As an example, Odessa Junior College uses 250% of Ector County values. Kilgore Junior College uses 145.23% of Rush County values.

In some cases tax rates are not limited to 20 cents. Howard County Junior College used a 60 cent tax rate in 1959.

Below are 1959 tax figures, which can be verified at the respective tax offices, for some junior colleges of Texas.

	1959 values	1959 tax rates
Odessa Junior College	$341,000,000	0.155
Kilgore Junior College	$241,213,000	0.20
Howard County Junior College	$ 54,000,000	0.60

How can the Gainesville Junior College operate on a large scale with only $43,618,220 county tax values and a 20 cent tax rate? Junior Colleges are not legally required to use county valuations.

Joe Walter Given Triduum Medal as Reward for Work

An honor came to Joe Walter of Gainesville recently when Bishop Thomas K. Gorman presented him the Triduum Medal in recognition for his outstanding Catholic Action in his parish and the diocese.

Mr. Walter has long been a leader in Catholic affairs throughout the diocese as well as being active in civic affairs.

This marked the first presentation of the Triduum Medal to a member of St. Mary's parish. The presentation was made when St. Mary's convent was dedicated at Gainesville and followed the bishop's sermon for the occasion.

SH Teams Split At Windthorst Lose at Saint Jo

Sacred Heart's basketball teams divided honors at Windthorst and dropped a pair of thrillers at Saint Jo in action of the past week.

Last Thursday night the Tigerettes ran into a sizzling hot sextette at Windthorst and fell behind steadily for three periods, then took up some of the slack in the final quarter.

Scores by periods were 14-5, 30-16, 39-22 and 45-35. Schroeder made 25 for the host team, Joyce Hacker 16 and Dangl-mayr 10 for Sacred Heart.

The next game was even more one sided as the Tigers rolled on to a 51-20 win. Streng hit 18 and Haverkamp 16.

At Saint Jo Sacred Heart girls were nudged 35-34 and Sacred Heart boys 53-50.

Intermission score was 18-18 after the Tigerettes had led 9-8 the first period. Again in the third Sacred Heart pulled ahead 29-26 but Saint Jo's final rally paid off for the 35-34 decision. For the Tigerettes Joyce Hacker scored 15, Helen Hacker 10 and Dangl-mayr 9.

Sacred Heart boys also started strong for leads of 15-10 and 31-25 the first periods. In the third the Panthers started closing the gap and led 38-37 at the end of the period, then gained two more for the win of 53-50. Haverkamp and Wimmer hit 19 and 17 for the Tigers.

Still on the parochial schedule before Christmas are two games with Muenster High, in the Tiger gym Friday and the Hornet gym Tuesday.

Drive to West Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Gus Lutkenhaus and children was made to visit with her aunt, Sister Constantia, who teaches there this term. She had been sick but was fully recovered to enjoy the visit. The Muensterites also saw Sister Michael Marie Fuhrmann, another teacher at West. Both sent best regards to all they know in Muenster and Lindsay.

"World Series of Rodeo" Dated for Dallas Dec. 26-30

Rodeo fans all over the nation are planning to converge on Dallas for the historic first National Finals Rodeo to be staged Dec. 26-30 in the new State Fair Livestock Coliseum. Ticket orders have been received from virtually every state in the U. S. including Alaska and Hawaii.

The first real "world series of rodeo" will also be the first rodeo in the history of the cowboy sport in which only the top 15 money-winners of the year in each rodeo event are qualified to compete, thus making the National Finals a genuine "tournament of champions." The contestants will come from 18 states and Canada.

The National Finals, which is being produced by the Rodeo Cowboys Association itself, is a longtime dream of the entire sport. Its main aim is to clarify and dramatize, by means of this one big rodeo, the method by which the rodeo cowboy champions emerge — by winning the most money at all the rodeos held throughout the year.

Money the contestants win at Dallas will be added to what they've earned earlier during the regular season. However, the Finals purse is purposely fat enough to shift the standings. Prize money total $57,500, the most ever offered for a five-day rodeo.

Thirteen former world champions are among those who have qualified for the National Finals, and the world championships in at least three of the five events will ride on the results and could be decided by the winnings in just one final championship playoff.

All of professional rodeo is cooperating in putting on the National Finals — the stock contractors and rodeo sponsoring groups over the whole country as well as the cowboys. The bucking stock has all been handpicked and collected from among the strings of more than two dozen R.C.A. stock contractors who supply stock for rodeos all over the nation.

There will be ten go-rounds or performances at 2 and 8 p.m. daily during the five days of the National Finals, with a complete section of competition in saddle bronc and bareback riding, bull riding, steer wrestling and calf roping at each go-round.

Tickets are still available and can be ordered by mail from National Finals Rodeo, P. O. Box 7755, Dallas 26. Prices are $4 for reserved seats and $6 for box seats at each performance.

The brothers are Ben, Clem, Joe, Julius and Tony Hermes of Lindsay. The sisters: Mrs. Joe Bengfort of Lindsay, Mrs. Ted Neu and Pete Neu of Gainesville and Sister Marcela of Alexandria, La.

Among out of county relatives at the funeral were Sister Marcella, the sons from Dallas, Ronald Klement from Oklahoma City, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Strategier, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Strategier Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cavanaugh, all of Norman, Okla.

MHS Boys Win Callisburg Meet Consolation Prize

Muenster High School's boys won the consolation trophy at the Callisburg invitation tournament last week and the girls missed it by a close score.

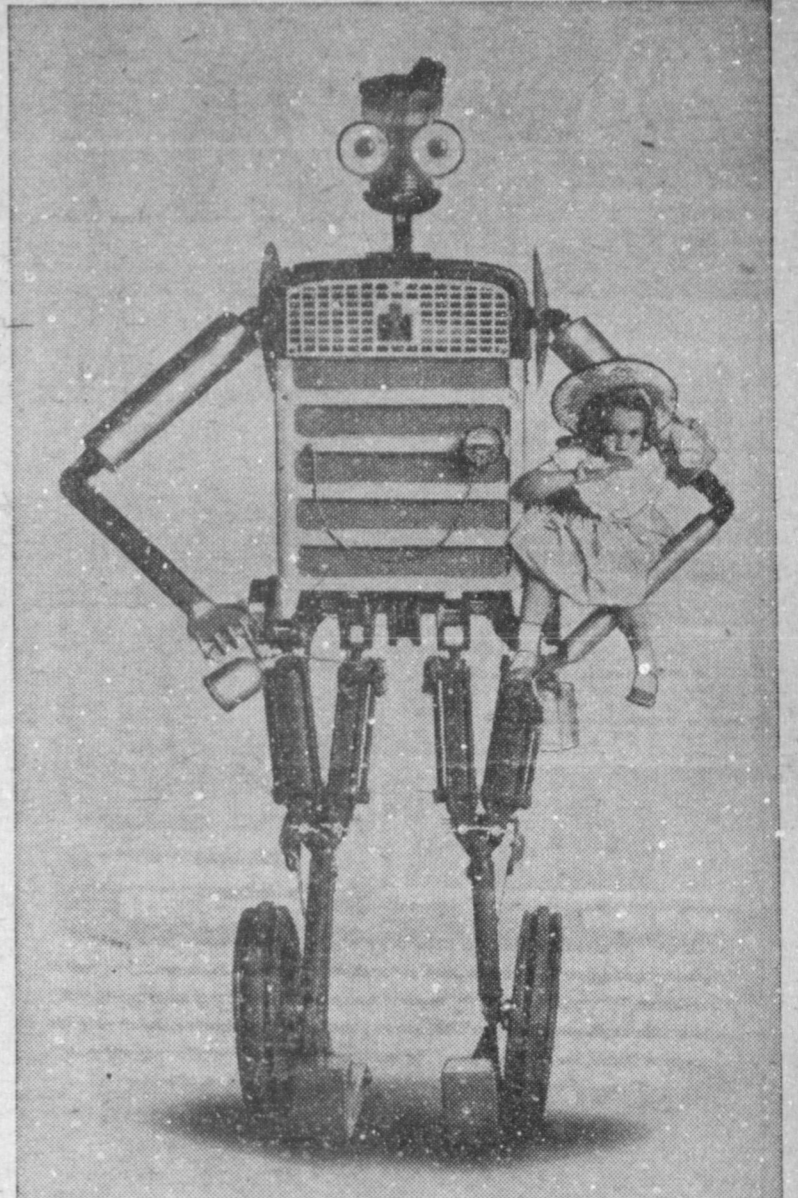

Playing Sanger in both contests the boys took their game 40-36 and the girls were nosed out 26-24 in the last quarter.

The Hornets started their game with a 12-4 lead the first quarter and gained 2 the next period for an 18-8 half-time lead. In the third period Sanger came to life and cut the Hornet lead to 27-25 and Muenster extended its lead by 2 in the last frame. Doug Hellman was the hot shot of the game with 20. Dolphy Hellman hit 9 and Harris 8.

Muenster girls also took an early lead and held it through three periods for counts of 8-6, 15-10, and 20-18 but Sanger forged ahead 26-24 in the last quarter. Theresa Fisher scored 14 and Dianne Hellman 6.

In the tournament semi-finals the Muenster teams eliminated Lindsay, 21-16 in the girls' game and 40-25 in the Fort Worth, — Texas motorists who have operated their automobiles in an accident free and lawful manner during the past three years will be rewarded to the extent of $20 million, Dr. Robert W. Strain, Member of the State Board of Insurance told a meeting of the Independent Insurance Agents Association here Monday noon.

Actually, the plan will be a shifting of financial burden from the careful driver to the shoulders of those who have been involved in accidents or who have compiled a record of moving traffic violations. "This is not an increase in automobile rates — it is a shifting of costs," Dr. Strain emphasized.

Breaking down an intensive survey of driving records of 40,365 Texas motorists, into more understandable statistics, Dr. Strain revealed that out of 23 insured family automobiles, 13 will receive a discount of 20% of their premium rates and 4 will receive the same rate they have been paying before. Thus, 17 of 23 will either receive a reduction or no change in the rate they now pay. The remaining 6 will pay higher rates. Of these, 3 will pay only 20% increase, one will pay a 40% increase, the remaining 2 will pay from 60% to 100% increase in rate.

The Safe Driving Insurance Plan is a result of the public demand to reward safe drivers and force those who have had accidents or records of moving traffic violations to share a more proportionate cost.

"In addition, we very definitely feel that this plan will provide an incentive to reduce the traffic toll on our highways that may not have been present heretofore," he said.

The State Board Member went on to point out that the plan is set up on a point system which provides 4 points for driving while intoxicated, hit-and-run, or negligent homicide with a motor vehicle, 2 points for accidents not falling under exemptions involving clear-cut blame for operator of the other vehicle involved; and 1 point for moving traffic violations.

"The National Safety Council reveals that 1,265,000 persons have died in this century in motor vehicle accidents in this country.

"By comparison, 604,773 Americans have been killed in battle or died of wounds in all this nation's principal wars, from the Revolutionary War through the Korean conflict.

"War is a grim thing — but we live with something even grimmer, day after day on our highways and byways."

Of A County Junior College

There is growing conviction that the opportunity to obtain education beyond high school must be offered to all who possess the ability to grasp it. "I firmly believe that more extensive education than that obtained in high schools must be brought to every community and every locality in such a way that every person, regardless of his means or lack of means can go to school for a minimum of two additional years." —DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, President of the United States.

The President's Committee on Education Beyond the High School indicates the need for long range planning.

"... Our Colleges and Universities are expected by the American public to perform something close to a miracle in the next 10 to 15 years. They are called upon to provide education of a continually improving quality to a far larger number of students — at least six million by 1970, compared to three million now. The sharp rise in births which began in the 1940's and which has already overcrowded the schools will shortly begin to strike the colleges. Meantime, with the college age group in our population at its lowest point in 25 years, enrollments in higher education are at the highest level in history because a steadily increasing proportion of young people are going to college.

"This great expansion of a capable young people seeking education beyond high school represents an enormous opportunity and challenge for our society. But our institutions of higher learning, despite their remarkable achievements in the past, are in no shape today to meet the challenge. Their resources are strained, their quality standards are even now in jeopardy, and their projected plans fall far short of the indicated need..."

Most colleges and universities are alive to the crisis. This awareness is true of the two-year colleges of the country, which together constitute the fastest-growing branch of higher education. With their broad, flexible programs, the two-year colleges are giving accredited education in the arts and sciences and technical skills to the youth and the adult, to the full-time and part-time student. In fact, many thoughtful persons see in these colleges a practical solution to some of the most pressing problems in higher education.

SOME QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

- Q: When is the election?
A: December 19, 1959.
- Q: What issues will be voted on?
A: (1) Creation of a County Junior College District.
(2) Election of seven trustees.
(3) Maintenance tax based on county values not to exceed 20c on the $100 valuation.
- Q: What assets of the college would be transferred to the new district?
A: The 43-acre campus, building and equipment, worth $335,000.00, the Mary J. Cox Estate worth $200,000.00, plus $40,000.00 surplus.
- Q: What is the remaining indebtedness on the new college plant?
A: Approximately $290,000.00.
- Q: Who will make the payments on the existing building when the new district is created?
A: The County District will make the remaining payments on the new building out of the 20c maintenance tax.
- Q: How are junior colleges of the state financed?
A: There is no federal aid to junior colleges. The state pays $275 for each full time student up to 350 students enrolled, a lesser amount for each student over 350. The law requires that each student pay at least $100 tuition per year. The state money can be spent only on instructional salaries and supplies. The cost of buildings, administration, and maintenance must come out of tuition and local funds. In order to be eligible to receive the state appropriation, the college must meet certain standards, have adequate physical facilities, and adequate local financial support.
- Q: Would the 20c tax be needed?
A: The board would not need to levy the full 20c tax for maintenance if the college enrollment did not increase as predicted.
- Q: Who would collect the tax and would valuations be changed?
A: All other county junior colleges allow the county assessor-collector to collect the tax based on county valuations. County valuations would not be changed.

What Will It Cost?

The following examples are taken from county tax rolls and constitute an average:

Tax payer (A) owns a house rendered at $1,250. His County College tax, based on 20c per $100 would be $2.50 per year. If he sends one student to the County Junior College for one year... the money he saves will pay his County College tax for the next 400 years.

Tax payer (B) owns 200 acres of land which is carried on the county tax roll at $2,000.00. His County College tax based on 20c per $100 would be $4.00 per year. If he sends one student to the County College... the money he saves will pay his County College tax for the next 250 years.

FUNCTIONS OF A COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE

Today the two-year college is mature, confident, competent — recognized as an integral part of American higher education. Here are some of its functions:

1. Education and training for the student who wishes to complete his formal schooling in the two-year college.
2. General education to prepare youth for effective personal and community living.
3. Orientation and guidance to help the student discover his best talents, finding a direction in life, and prepare successfully for a vocation.
4. Courses equivalent to lower-division work in senior colleges, leading to satisfactory accomplishment in upper-division studies in liberal arts, education, science and engineering.
5. Adult and continuing education.
6. Specialized short courses of many kinds to up-grade employed persons.
7. Opportunity to remove matriculation deficiencies.
8. Masterful classroom instruction by men and women whose primary purpose is teaching.

HERE ARE SOME OF ITS ADVANTAGES

1. College is brought to the home, serving a county instead of a state, the college is geared to community needs. Records also show, when a junior college exists in a community, a larger per cent of high school graduates go to college. Busses would make the college accessible to all in the county.
2. Tax payers save because most junior colleges operate without dormitories and with less expensive buildings and equipment. It costs the state from $600 to $800 to educate a student in senior colleges whereas it costs the state $275 per student in junior colleges.
3. Students save the most because 5/6 of the total cost of a student's education away from home is due to living expenses. Based on national averages a student living at home can attend college with a savings of $1000 per year.
4. Junior college teachers are master teachers whose primary task is teaching. They are not primarily concerned with research or doing graduate work. C. C. Colvert of the University of Texas states that junior college students transferring to the university do as well as their students — and often better.
5. There are also advantages in starting one's college career in a home environment. If problems should arise the parent, student, and teacher are accessible for conferences.
6. Qualities of leadership are developed in the freshman and sophomore year because the student does not have to compete with upper classmen for positions of responsibility in student activities.
7. For students not interested in a college degree most junior colleges, offer job training too. Secretarial and business training, drafting and mechanics, are just a few examples.
8. Junior colleges are leaders in the field of adult or evening school education. About one-third of junior college students are adults, and are getting a general education which they never had a chance to acquire in their youth.
9. Aside from being an educational and cultural asset in a county, a junior college is an industrial asset. Most junior colleges co-operate with business and industry in providing special programs to benefit their personnel.
10. The county would be benefitted economically. A county junior college would bring back into the county roughly $100,000 of state tax money. (State Aid). Students would spend locally at least $50,000 in tuition and fees. Parents would save the most because the students could live at home and attend college. Based on a saving of $1000 per student, 400 students living at home would save the people of Cooke County $400,000 per year. It is estimated that if we raise the educational level of a community by two grades, the per capita income of the community is raised $100 annually.
11. College enrollments are expected to double within the next 10 years. The junior college of the city of Gainesville cannot take care of these coming large enrollments and eventually they might be forced to limit enrollment to students in the tax-supporting district. Membership in the district would guarantee admission to the college.

100 Enjoy Program At PTA Sponsored Open House Party

Open house at Muenster public School Tuesday night drew about one hundred visitors in spite of almost constant rain. The program was sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association and took the place of the December business session.
Everywhere in the school visitors admired Christmas decorations, most of them made by the students. Grades one through four had especially attractive displays including clip boards the children made for their mothers as Christmas gifts. In the main lobby a large decorated tree twinkled welcome as the guests arrived.
An entertainment program in the auditorium began with welcome messages by PTA President Mrs. Paul Fisher and Superintendent L. B. Bruns, then selections by the High School Band directed by Pedro Rodriguez, a talkie travelogue shown by Weldon Holland and finally group singing of Christmas carols by the assemblage.

An announcement by School Principal Glenn Hellman brought a round of congratulations for Edgar Dyer, vocational ag teacher, who had just become a father for the first time with the arrival of a son.
After the tour of classrooms and visiting the group was invited to the homemaking department where PTA ladies assisted Mrs. Homsley in serving. The refreshment table with its white cover held an attractive holiday centerpiece, and at either end the coffee service and crystal punch bowl.

Mrs. Homsley poured coffee and Mrs. Dick Cain poured punch. A group of PTA hostesses served Christmas cookies, mints and salted nuts. Earl Fisher won the door prize, a pound of fresh country butter.

Tripoli Club Has Husbands Guests At Dinner Party

For their December meeting Tripoli Club members had a Christmas dinner party with their husbands as guests. The group got together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Herr, the ladies bringing covered dishes for the buffet meal.

After serving themselves they ate at quartet tables, where they later played games. The members had a Tripoli series, and the men had their own card game. Each of the five tables was centered with a Christmas motif and a large illuminated tree cast a glow over the party scene. On the porch at the Herr home a Nativity scene was lighted.

Present were Messrs. and Mmes. Gene Hoedebeck, Ray Voth, Emmet Fette, Andy, Johnny and Paul Arendt Jr. and Vincent Zimmerer, members and their husbands, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arendt Sr., guests. The club's next meeting will be on Jan. 22 with Mrs. Hoedebeck as hostess.

3rd Order Meets

Members of the Third Order of St. Francis held their December prayer service in church Sunday afternoon and followed it with a business meeting in the Parish Hall. After a short address by Prefect J. W. Hess and routine announcements Mrs. Edd McGannon gave a spiritual reading pertaining to membership and attendance at meetings. One of the points stressed that absence from three consecutive meetings without valid reason makes a member liable for suspension from the order. About 35 members were present.

Energy from petroleum can be as much as 1,000 times cheaper than energy from human musclepower. A strong laborer turning a winch for 8 hours a day for 250 days in the year could provide equivalent to about 100 kilowatt hours of electricity. If one-fifth of the world's population worked this way, they would produce power equivalent to 20 kilowatt hours per person per year for everyone in the world — the amount of energy that can be obtained from not quite two quarts of fuel oil!

45 Years of CDA
In Muenster Show
Enviably Record

A history recalling 45 years of organization has just been written on the local court Catholic Daughters of America to be on display at the state convention in Austin next May.

The concise report compiled by Grand Regent Mary Moster expresses much in a few paragraphs. It reveals that the Muenster court is among the pioneers of Texas in this national organization and shows how closely its activity is connected with parish life and community events.

This month marks the court's 45th birthday. It was established on Dec. 6 — the date of the charter — and early records show that the first meeting was held on Dec. 14.

There were 29 charter members of which six still hold membership. Present membership totals 61. Many grand regents have headed the court since Mrs. G. H. Hellman was the first leader. Currently, Mrs. Steve Moster is serving her first term.

During the years numerous projects were undertaken covering nearly every phase of activity leading to the court's present major enterprise, the city library.

The women have raised money by sponsoring bake sales, card parties, quilting bees, ice cream socials, chili and pie suppers, dances and ball games and have conducted booths at parish picnics.

Because, on the whole, the undertakings were successful, the court contributed a generous amount to the new church, provided church linens and vestments and sanctuary supplies. And contributes each month toward the cost of communion bread for the parish.

Other charitable work, headed by mission activity, includes collection of eye glasses and old nylon hose for rehabilitation purposes, contribution of religious articles to girls of the State Training School, collecting for the needy, adopting Korean families, sending Care packages, aiding displaced priests and donating to drives for TB and polio, Red Cross, and similar campaigns.

Through the course of the past 20 years mission work has been a major activity, ably supervised during the past 15 years by Mrs. Joe Swirczynski, chairman.

She has tended to the shipment of tons of clothing and bedding including hundreds of quilts and blankets and comforts to missions in almost every state of the union and to the Holy Father's storerooms. When flood, fire or tornadoes strike, Mrs. Swirczynski is quick to dispatch clothing, regardless of distance, color or creed.

Along with monthly meetings the court holds socials for its members, usually following the business sessions.

Charter members still in the organization are Mmes. L. A. Bernauer, M. J. Endres, Ben Hellman, J. S. Horn and Misses Anna Hellman and Theresa Luke.

Behind every successful man stands a woman — and the Internal Revenue Service. (One to take the credit and the other the cash.)

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Henscheid and Janie, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Metzler and sons Mark and Jerry of Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley and Jeff and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Darilek and Cathy of Fort Worth and Johnny's sister, Janet.

would finance almost as much expansion . . . making some allowance for increasing costs. Despite obvious needs of the institution it is clear that wise administration can hold the budget within the revenue provided.

Opponents of the proposition, however, are not convinced that we can depend on conservative administration. Ambitious regents, they say, could go on a spending spree and, on their own authority, set up their separate tax office and increase valuations to any level they like. Though not empowered to raise rates they could raise actual taxes as much as they please.

Theoretically this is true, but many of us wonder whether a group of regents could succeed in such a scheme. First of all they aren't likely to make radical changes despite the inevitable storm of public protest. Secondly such regents would have little chance of remaining in office. Actually, instead of wondering how we would cope with such an emergency, we might be more correct in assuming that the regents will have more regard for the confidence placed in them . . . that they will confine themselves to the provisions approved by voters.

Opponents have complained also that the Gainesville District started this college program to please itself and is now seeking a way to dispose of its burden. It is true that the rest of the county had nothing to say so far, but it is also true that the deal now offered the county is quite reasonable. Assets of the college, including the plant, the scholarship fund and its accumulated surplus, amount to about $575,000, and liabilities amount to about $290,000. So, regardless of resentments over past ways and means, there's nothing wrong with the deal offered now.

Summing up, we could say that a county college offers opportunities for education that many would otherwise miss. Besides, it has very definite financial values to the families who use it and the county as a whole. For the help it can give to themselves, their children, or close friends or relatives, it will, in time, be appreciated by practically every person of the county.

The only question is, are these benefits worth what they will cost? . . . a tax of slightly over $5.00 a year to the average taxpayer.
