

A problem that has long been begging for a solution comes prominently to the front again as steel companies and unions carry on their confabs about wage increases. How can the union bosses continue making such demands when the facts plainly show they are jeopardizing the jobs of their members?

Lately we've been hearing a great deal about pricing ourselves out of the market. Evidence of this is abundant in practically every segment of American business. Those labels revealing the foreign origin of textiles, toys, dinnerware, bicycles, watches, automobiles, tools, and hundreds of other items, tell a tragic story. They are imported because, in spite of tariff and shipping costs, they are selling far below the American made products. Hundreds of plants have closed. Hundreds more have curtailed production. Thousands of workers have lost their jobs because factories cannot pay their wage scale and meet foreign competition.

It's happening to the steel industry, too. For many years the United States exported much more steel than it imported. Lately exports have been declining and imports increasing until last December the U. S. for the first time became a "net importer." That month it brought in 24,000 tons more than it sent out and the net import figure has climbed every month since. In March it was 74,000 tons.

This means that the foreign steel industry with its wage-cost advantage has, in effect, taken away all of our foreign market and is taking away an ever increasing volume of our domestic market. It means that steel workers are having their jobs taken away by foreign workers who are willing to work for less.

In the face of such facts how can leaders of the steel workers' union pretend they are serving their members by new wage demands? If steel wages go up steel prices will do the same and the advantage enjoyed by the foreign steel industry will be even greater. More American steel workers will be priced out of their jobs.

Seeing this handwriting on the wall, the steel union leaders would show much greater judgment by calling off their demands and doing their part to stop the country's inflationary spiral. At least they should be willing to stabilize wages at their present level, because, by their own figures, they are receiving both the highest pay and the greatest benefits of any industry.

If after that the steel industry can continue its improvements in efficiency, there is a chance that production costs can be lowered and American firms can again compete with the foreign firms.

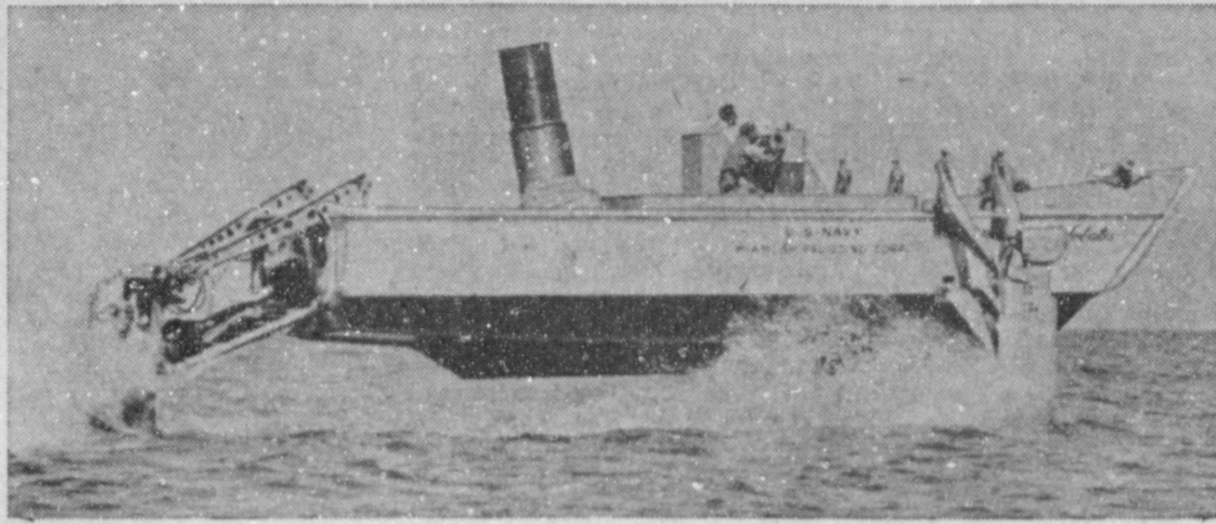

But even that is a lot to hope for. More likely foreign plants will also become more efficient, hence will not lose any of the bargaining advantages now resulting from their lower wages.

Whether labor big wheels admit it or not, the time has come for them to think about reducing rather than increasing wages. They are faced with a real test of their leadership. Are they willing to admit mistakes of the past and explain that the way to recover lost markets and lost jobs ... is to begin striving for an orderly reduction in wages?

Of course, we all understand that the mere mention of working for less is regarded as sacrilege in labor circles. After these many years the average worker has come to regard a periodic pay increase as a basic right. Union leaders have pounded incessantly on that thought but they have declined to offer any explanations on basic economic facts. It isn't surprising that so many now measure prosperity by the size of their pay checks and overlook the element of public buying power.

Ever since the war we have seen the vicious spiral of wages and prices going up and up. Even those who received higher pay were losers because, while higher pay was absorbed by higher prices, the value of their bonds, insurance, bank accounts and other forms of savings constantly lost their purchasing value. Meanwhile millions of other people, living on savings or fixed income, also lost their purchasing power. The millions of purchases they might have made were missed because goods were priced out of their reach. Millions of things that might have been

GOES LIKE A HALOBATES—You can't liken the strange craft, above, to anything else in the water. It's a "Halobates," a hydrofoil-equipped craft powered by a gas-turbine engine. "Smokestack" is the exhaust for the engine, more conventionally used to power certain types of aircraft. Hydrofoils are the equivalent of underwater wings. When adequate speed is reached, the boat rises above the water and zips along on the wing surfaces alone. Shown in action off Miami, Fla., the specially equipped landing craft, weighing 15 tons, has exceeded 30 knots during tests. Navy officials and a shipbuilding company are co-operating.

Lindsay Expects Big Attendance at First Homecoming

All signs point to a big day at Lindsay Sunday if the weather cooperates. It will be Lindsay's first annual homecoming celebration and members of St. Peter's Parish have been working for weeks to make it an outstanding event.

The parish picnic grounds, located north of the Gun Club Hall, will be put to use for the first time. The grounds have been cleaned and improved and Friday dozens of men and women will be busy putting up stands, erecting booths and arranging other attractions. At the same time a ferris wheel and other entertainment for the kiddies will be fitted into their respective places.

The day starts with dinner and this is the only event not taking place at the picnic site. Dinner will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Pastor Father Alcuin Kubis and members of the congregation extend a general welcome to everybody to attend. Among afternoon features will be an old timers' reunion. Lunches and refreshments will be available on the grounds at all hours.

Adult Homemaking Class Ends Monday; Another to Begin

Fifteen persons enrolled in an adult homemaking class under direction of Mrs. H. H. Homsley are working overtime nowadays to complete several projects in furniture renovation.

Seven days of classes scheduled to end next Monday are held daily from 2 to 4 but enthusiasm usually carries on for a few hours more. One of the sessions went to 6 o'clock.

Up to now three chairs have been reupholstered. Four more are under way and refinishing work is in progress on a dresser, a table and an antique rocker.

As the course ends Monday another will be starting. It is a two day class, Monday and Tuesday, on painting china and glassware. Anyone interested is invited to enroll.

German Craftsmen Open Woodcarving Shop at Lindsay

Two master craftsmen, woodcarvers from Germany, are at work at Lindsay. Not less interesting than their intricate handwork is the story of their lives.

Ludwig Kieninger and Gunther Goetz were born in Germany, migrated to Santiago, Chili, South America, five and a half years ago, and now with the help of friends are carving handsome pieces from wood in an improvised workshop at the J. C. Schmidtkofer home.

While the two men can turn out almost anything in wood, duplicating from models or pictures, they specialize in religious articles of their own design: crucifixes, stations of the cross, statues, plaques in relief, etc. They also carve knick-knacks on order.

Carver Kieninger got the Schmidtkofers' name from his cousin in Germany, who happens to be a relative of the Lindsay couple, but it was almost two years before they got together. Mrs. Schmidtkofer met Kieninger's mother in Passau last summer when she was on a tour

TP&L Service Man Moves to Muenster

New residents of Muenster are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Selby and daughter, formerly of Era. They moved in during the past weekend and are living in the Atterberry house on the corner of Oak and First Streets.

Mr. Selby, TP&L employee, will be service man and representative of his company here and will also work with the Gainesville service crew. Mrs. Selby will teach Grades 5 and 6 at the public school.

Hellman Succeeds Myrick on Board Of School Trustees

Several changes in the administration of the public school's business became effective at this month's meeting of the school board.

Dr. T. S. Myrick has resigned from the board of trustees and accepted appointment to the school district's tax equalization board, serving with Tony Walterscheid and Herbert Meurer.

To fill the vacancy left by Myrick, the remaining board members appointed Charley Hellman. To accept, Hellman had to resign his office of treasurer of the school district.

Instead of naming another treasurer the board returned to the system in effect here several years before, naming the Muenster State Bank as official depository for the district. That arrangement was not legal while an officer or director of the bank served on the school board but it is permitted again since Myrick's resignation. While the school had no depository it had to have a treasurer to accept responsibility for funds.

Trustees now serving the district are B. J. Sicking, president; Charley Hellman, vice-president; Jerome Pagel, secretary; Norbert Klement, Joe Wimmer, Ray Wilde and David Trachta.

Building And Improvement Notes

Heading the community's current building activity is the new home just begun by William J. Miller on West Seventh. It will be a 4-bedroom house with attached garage to accommodate two cars and a boat. Other details include air conditioning, lots of built-in, 2 baths and lots of space for kitchen, living room, den and utility.

At Forestburg work is well advanced for a 3-bedroom house with attached garage for A. A. Fanning.

A combination hay barn and feed shed is under construction at the Muenster Livestock Auction. Its hay storage area is 40 x 100 and the feed shed 14 x 100.

Charles Davidson has a new 24 x 34 building serving as a double garage and work shop.

A new 18 x 50 Grade A dairy barn has just been finished for Henry Yosten.

271 Kids Register For City's Fourth Swimming Course

By far the biggest crowd to report in the four years that swimming lessons were offered at Muenster's municipal pool registered Monday for the beginners' and intermediate classes. There are 271 in all, 32 being enrolled in the intermediate course and 239 in the beginners course, the latter being divided into seven classes.

Each class will receive five 1-hour instruction periods and the complete series of periods will continue through this week and next. As children registered Monday morning they were assigned to the 8 classes: at 8, 9, 10 and 11 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday; the others at the same hours on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Classes were organized according to Red Cross standards under supervision of Mrs. Paul Yarborough and Mrs. Marie Owenby of the Gainesville Red Cross office. They were assisted by Parker Yarborough.

Local people in charge of the classes are Ruth Endres and Jean Wieler, instructors, assisted by Juanita Wieler, Carolyn Swirczynski, Jane Endres, Karen Endres, Jo Ann Fisher, Dianne Hellman, Sharon Schumacher, Patsy Endres, George Petrus and Tim Hellman. Mrs. Dick Trachta keeps progress records and also stands by as nurse.

Children who complete the courses will receive Red Cross buttons and certificates.

Wettest Five-Day Period in a Year Yields 3.11 Inches

After lagging far behind normal for almost a full year the weather man at last appears to be getting on the job. Muenster has just had its wettest 5-day period in over a year, and the measure of 3.11 has been greater than for any month since last July.

Combined with earlier rains these recent soakers bring the month's total to date to 4.44 in.

Even that, it seems, is well below the average of North Texas. On Monday, while Fort Worth was flooded by 8 inches and Valley View by 7, Muenster's official gauge showed a mere .97. Apparently the city was on the fringe of a heavy rain streak that passed some 5 to 8 miles south of town on its way to Valley View. Over 4 inches were reported Monday along that area.

Up to now the year's rainfall total stands at only 10.71 inches, about half of the ten year average for the six months and a third of that in 1957, the community's wettest year on record. It is still not the driest, however. The first six months got only 9.63 inches in 1956, the driest year on record.

The community's rain record for the past 10 years is as follows.

Timely Showers Sustain Hopes for More Good Crops

Just in the nick of time Muenster farmers got another good rain raising their hopes for nice crops of corn, feed and pasture to go along with their bumper wheat crop.

In general corn is in excellent condition. Reports last week were that a few fields were starting to suffer for moisture but they have recovered since and seem to be headed for a good crop. With another soaker in a few weeks a good crop of corn would be cinched.

Prospects are equally good for other growing vegetation. Alfalfa and hay are on the way for nice cuttings and sorghums and sudan are going strong. Pastures are beginning to recover after months of little or no growth.

Despite the drought, this year seems to be a dandy for local farmers. Wheat yields were fine, although oats was well below normal. And now the other crops, favored by moderate temperature and timely if not abundant rains, are off to a good start. All is well so far, and all depends now on whether another nice rain will come at the right time to finish the job.

WITH THE MEN IN SERVICE

Get Acquainted By Phone

Getting acquainted with their new daughter-in-law by phone was a thrilling experience for Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hess Sunday when their son Marine Corporal Richard Hess and his bride telephoned Father's Day greetings from Honolulu and Helen Mae "met the family." Even the youngest Hess children joined in the conversation. Richard said he will be leaving Hawaii with his outfit August 10 to return to the states and that his wife will join him, coming by plane, about the time he reaches the west coast. They were married in Honolulu June 10.

Progress Noted in Plan to Establish Clothing Factory

Possibilities of establishing a ladies' ready-to-wear factory in Muenster seem to be progressing steadily. Encouraged by the big response to his call for applicants as well as by the interest of local business people, the prospective owner has set Friday night of this week for a meeting with a representative group of local people.

At this time the man still does not wish to have his identity revealed. Unless and until his plans begin taking definite shape he prefers not to disturb the routine of his present factory. He also wishes to avoid visits by promoters who are looking for industry for their own towns.

The number of applications sent in so far was described as very pleasing. They are still coming in daily and there have been over 80 to date.

At the same time local interest has been building up gradually. Only a few persons were present last Thursday when the man was here to outline his plans and problems. The following night those few met with a larger group, 26 persons in all, and were assured that an industrial fund can and will be raised here if it is needed.

Martha Rennels, 71, Myra Resident 50 Years, Dies Monday

Mrs. Martha Ann Rennels, 71, a resident of Myra for 50 years, died Monday morning about 10:30 in a Gainesville hospital. She was the widow of R. L. Rennels.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First Baptist Church at Myra with the Rev. Roy Cook of Saint Jo officiating assisted by Rev. H. C. Stump, Myra pastor. Burial in Reed Cemetery was directed by Vernie Keel Funeral Home.

Mrs. Rennels, the former Martha Ann Branch, was born Nov. 20, 1887, in Henderson County, a daughter of James E. and Mary Branch. When she was seven years old her family moved to Oklahoma Territory and she was married there to Mr. Rennels in 1904. They moved to Myra in 1908.

She was a member of the Missionary Landmark Baptist Church of Saint Jo. Her husband died in 1951.

Survivors are one son, Ollen G. (Shorty) Rennels of Myra; three grandsons, Royce Dean, Paul Ross and Roy Lee Rennels of Myra, three brothers, N. W., M. A. and F. L. Branch all of Gainesville; two sisters, Mrs. C. I. Watts of Plainview and Mrs. Myrtle Snow of Loving; a step-sister, Bessie Morrison of Kamay, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Auctioneers Cinch Tie for Champ Title In Softball League

With a tie for the title already cinched, Muenster's Auctioneers need only one win out of their next three tries to claim the championship of the Cooke County Softball League.

As the schedule came to its second 10-day intermission following Friday's game the standings were Muenster 9-3, PGAC 6-6, Tom Thumb 5-7, Lindsay 4-8. Resuming play on June 30 each team will meet each other team once. If Muenster loses all and PGAC wins all they tie for the title. Otherwise Muenster wins it.

By the law of averages the Auctioneers had no right to last Thursday's 1-0 win over Tom Thumb. Bill Carpenter, an import from Lewisville, had set them back without a hit, but his fine performance went for nothing as Dickie Cain scooted home on Cecil Cain's squeeze bunt. Dickie had taken first on an error and stolen second and third before being nudged in. Meanwhile the Grocers got four scattered hits off Cecil Cain but failed to convert any of them into runs.

Action in the loop resumes next Tuesday, the 30th, as Tom Thumb meets PGAC. Muenster's next game is with Lindsay on Wednesday, July 1, then with PGAC on the 2nd.

Here's one you can tell your lawyer friends:

The wife of the man on trial for burglary was a witness for the defense, and was being vigorously and sarcastically cross-examined by the prosecutor. She was losing her temper, but he didn't sense it until too late. So he asked:

"Madam, isn't it a fact that you knew your husband was a burglar before you married? Answer yes or no."

"I did."

"Then, may I ask, knowing that fact, how you came to marry him?"

"Because," she said icily, "you see, I was getting a bit old, and couldn't be choosy, and the only choice I had was between a burglar and a lawyer; so, naturally, I took the burglar."

THE RESEMBLANCE IS NOTED—James Cagney, left, who'll play the part of Adm. William F. Halsey Jr., right, in a forthcoming movie, talks over a scene with the retired admiral. Picture's locale and story will deal with Halsey's command on Guadalcanal in 1942. The men are shown in Hollywood.

"The simple fact that an evil in the world can't be corrected shouldn't keep you from trying . . . everybody but the Wright brothers knew man couldn't fly." Bleeding from a vein or an artery may be recognized by the dark color from the vein, the bright red spurting flow from an artery.

Hoening Reunion in Dallas Honors Dad

Picnic in the park was the way the Joe Hoening family celebrated Father's Day. Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hoening were hosts for the party honoring his dad, Joe Hoening. After the group got together at Rupert's home they went to Carrollton Park for the outing.

Sharing honors with his grandpa was Jimmy Pelzel of Ennis.

He was celebrating his birthday. Both received gifts.

Joining Mr. and Mrs. Hoening and the hosts and their sons were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hermes and three boys from Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pelzel and three children of Ennis, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hoening and daughter from here, Raymond Hoening of Fort Worth and Mrs. Hilda Self of Dallas. Only member of the Joe Hoening family missing was a daughter and her family, the Kenneth Cottles of Phoenix, Arizona.

Raymond Hoening came to Muenster after the party. He's here for an indefinite stay. The Carl Pelzel family is on vacation, spending the first part with his mother, Mrs. Joe Pelzel in Pilot Point, and will be here for a visit before returning to Ennis.

What's in Your Mailbox?

The vicious, cowardly, extensive — and profitable — attack on innocent American children through the US mails continues, despite the efforts of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, US postal inspectors, and postmasters, throughout the nation.

This is the $500 million a year traffic in obscenity and pornography that masquerades behind a facade of innocent appearing ads offering model airplanes or model autos for a dime or a quarter. A childish response to this lure brings, besides the model, says Mr. Summerfield, "un-ordered lewd material, as well as circulars soliciting the sale of even more objectionable pictures, slides, films and related filth."

Due to the sanctity of sealed mail, these criminal operators are safe — unless and until the recipient, or an elder — makes a complaint. Thus, this menace to American youth can not be curbed until every citizen makes his business to know what mail is being delivered into his mailbox and turns over obscene material and a formal complaint to the local postmaster.

If this sounds repetitious, it is a public service to repeat this warning and advice. The traffic still continues. Only concerted public action can stop it.

Fact and Opinion

Business and financial analyst Sylvia Porter writes: "Let's say that back in 1950 you received a cool $10,000 and had this lovely lump sum free to invest as you saw fit. If you had put the whole $10,000 in a 'typical' one-family house, your investment now would be worth around $15,000. If you had put it in the U. S. Treasury's 2 1/2 per cent bonds due 1967 (the marketable bonds sold by the government in the war loan drive of 1942) your $10,000 now would be worth only around $8,800. If you had put it in 'typical' farm land, your nest-egg's value would have grown to $16,139 by early this year. If you had put it in stocks — the across-the-board list of stocks in Standard and Poor's stock average — your $10,000 would be up to more than $25,100. . . ."

Horse Sense . . . and Tractors

The farm equipment companies of this country put safety high on their list of objectives. The machines are designed to reduce hazards of operations to a minimum. Yet an appalling number of accidents, many of a most serious nature, continue to occur each year.

The prime reason why this is so is simple: Individual carelessness, ignorance, and indifference.

As an example, modern tractors have power take-offs. The revolving shaft presents a major hazard if left bare, so shields are provided. But to keep the shield properly in place is apparently an inconvenience to some farmers. So, it has been found, the shields are often removed — and injuries and fatalities follow.

A few years ago, at the Iowa State Fair, a little survey was made on the farm equipment accident question. Of some 600 people who filled out cards, only one thought the machines were at fault. All the others placed the blame on human frailty of one kind or another. They also made various suggestions like these: Slow down. Don't get too tired. Be alert. Follow manufacturers' instructions. Use the shields provided. Stop machines before adjusting or servicing. Use safety lights and reflectors when on public roads at night. Buy good machinery and maintain it properly. Keep children away from the machines.

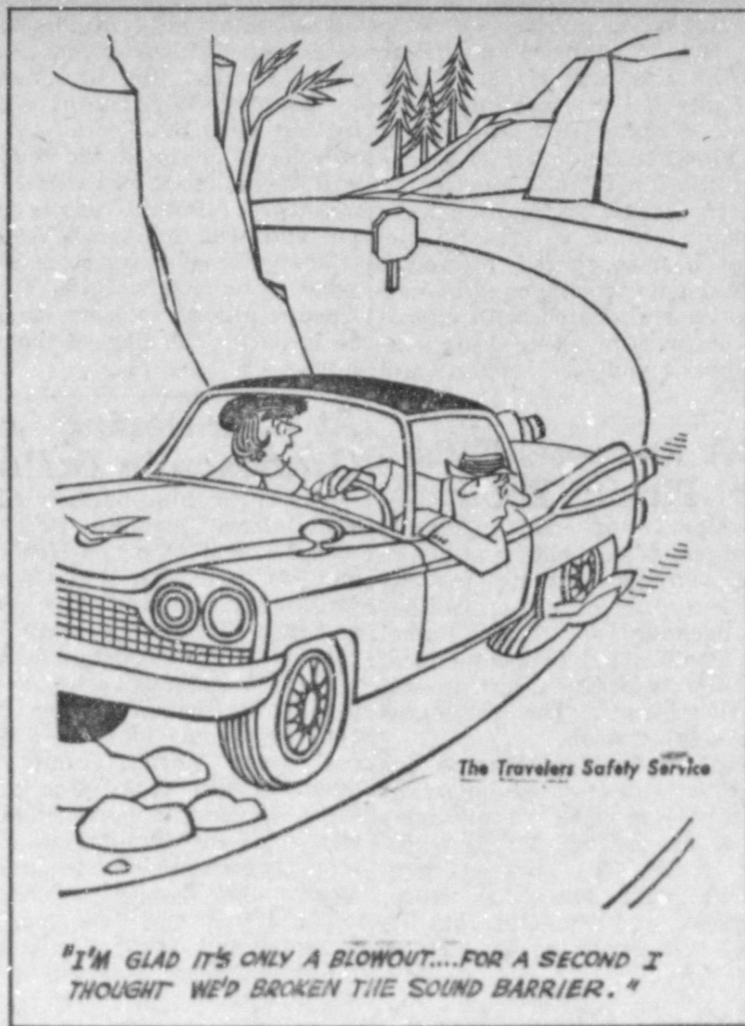

Advice couldn't be simpler — or sounder. Safety, so far as modern farm equipment is concerned, is just a matter of down to earth horse sense.

People Will Read

We are encouraged to believe that the printed word is here to stay — despite radio, TV, the movies or sky-writing. In addition to the fact that the nation's newspapers have more circulation than ever before, a new book, "Of Lasting Interest", provides further confirmation.

In this volume, James Playsted Wood, newspaperman and college professor, tells the story of De Witt Wallace and Lila Acheson Wallace and the most fabulous

The Luckless Legion by Irwin Caplan

Speed caused more than a third of the deaths and injuries in 1958.

publishing operation of our time, The Reader's Digest. Mr. Wood relates how, in the course of 35 years, this brain-child of the Wallaces has gathered unto itself the remarkable devoted attention of more than 12 million American subscribers, has proliferated into 30 editions in 13 languages with a total of 21 million global subscribers and an estimated 70 million readers.

Additionally, as the author points out, there is the non-profit September-through-May Educational Edition for high school students. There are Braille editions for the blind in English, Japanese, Swedish, Spanish and German and then there are transcriptions of each issue — paid for by the gifts of Digest readers and employees. Unsold newsstand copies are distributed to prisons, veterans' and service hospitals, youth centers and homes for the aged and needy.

The facts require that a story that began in a basement under a Greenwich Village night club, moved to the suburban garage and pony-shed of a New York public relations man, thence out-grew the rentable, eatable, parkable facilities of the town of Pleasantville, N. Y., and established its own many-times expanded plant on an 80 acre tract in the countryside beyond, must be somewhat in the Horatio Alger tradition.

But that fillip of denouement that every work of art, fact or fiction, must have, is here, too. From 1922 until 1953, its devotees and critics alike were convinced that the sensational success of Reader's Digest was largely based on its emancipation from advertising. But when the momentous decision to accept advertising was made, the publishers were not only swamped with far more orders than they could fill, but still more readers bought more copies — and at a higher price.

"The simple fact seems to be," observes Mr. Wood, "that most Americans like advertising. . . . They read it as news. They are conscious of advertising and look

Let Sunday Humanize Your Life

By Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston

In recent months we have become aware of a concerted effort to create the impression that "business as usual on Sunday" should be a permanent policy in our social life. Such a policy is contrary to the spirit and the sanctity of the Lord's Day. It would have a harmful effect upon a longstanding custom, which has provided for the great majority a day of wholesome relaxation and respite from the ordinary burdens of their lives.

SUNDAY has been traditionally a day of rest, as well as a day of religious observance. If it becomes just another civil holiday, it will lose not only its religious character, so essential for the sustaining of our spiritual life, but also the sacred associations within which we have safeguarded our bodily strength against the exhausting demands of continued labor.

We have little hope of our being able to keep Sunday sacred by legislative measures. Existing laws requiring the observance of Sunday have fallen more and more into disuse and are often disdainfully referred to as "blue laws."

WHAT is really needed to reverse the tendency to profane the Lord's Day is not legislation but rather a change in the attitude of those who believe in what the Lord's Day represents. It is on this front that we must attack the problem. For this reason I am appealing to our people to bring their thinking about Sunday into closer conformity with their religious beliefs. I fear that many of us may have to make considerable effort in this direction.

LET us think of Sunday not merely as a day on which we must worship God at church, but as a day which we must keep sacred in its entirety to honor the Lord. Let us not think of Sunday as destined primarily for our own enjoyment and only incidentally for the worship of God.

We are not advocating a return to the former practice of forbidding on Sunday every form of non-religious activity, even those which would be thoroughly compatible with our religious duties; I am urging merely that we all work together to curb the growing tendency to profane Sunday by unnecessary commercial activity.

LET us buy on Sunday only what we actually need; let us confine all other purchases to the remainder of the week. If we all follow this simple rule, we shall have gone a long way towards restoring Sunday to its rightful function as a humanizing and sanctifying influence in our lives.

There will be no "business as usual on Sunday" if there are none who are willing to do business on Sunday.

SUNDAY is the Lord's Day.
 † Faithful Feature Service, Washington 17, D. C.

to it for excitement and novelty. . . . Often the advertising provides as much information and entertainment as some of the editorial matter, and always it is an accurate running commentary on day-to-day life."

Learning The Hard Way

We are passing into a new era of labor problems. For a period of a few decades wage demands were reconciled by increased purchasing power, but it looks as though this course has about gone its limit. There is much evidence of labor pricing itself out of the market. Foreign imports are making noticeable inroads on American production and into American export markets by offering goods produced more cheaply. We see it in automobiles, electrical goods, steel, machine tools, office equipment and many other articles.

More and more U. S. firms are building factories in other parts of the world in order to compete in world trade as well as to supply U. S. demands.

When wages are shoved up arbitrarily regardless of the effect on productivity and cost, the market seeks goods elsewhere. This is just an old time rule of economics and the biggest labor monopoly can't change it. Apparently many labor leaders must still learn this lesson the hard way because no law or decree is going to change the pattern.

TECHNOLOGICAL ADVANCES HAVE KEPT ELECTRIC RATES LOW

You don't have to be a real "old-timer" to recall the days when electric power was generated by a small steam engine. Every time the belt slipped the lights would dim all over town. Today's huge, steam-electric, central generating stations supply metropolitan-type service through networks of transmission lines.

The first transmission line in Texas . . . from Waco to Waxahachie and to Dallas and Fort Worth . . . was constructed by TP&L in 1913. That line provided many communities along the way their first electric service. Year by year the Company has grown and now serves 348,000 customers from some 20,000 miles of line. Through these years the Company has carried on a program of research and development relative to the various phases of its business.

As a result, TP&L's customers have always enjoyed dependable electric service at low cost. For example, since 1936, the cost of living has gone up 108% while the average unit cost of TP&L residential electricity has gone down 43%.

TP&L Company is a business-managed, investor-owned public utility company . . . a typical example of American free enterprise. Its expansion requires none of your tax dollars, as is the case of government sponsored power projects, which consume rather than pay taxes. Instead, TP&L — a good tax-paying citizen wherever it serves — pays taxes amounting to more than 25 cents of each dollar of revenue to help pay for our national defense, to help support schools, fire and police protection and to finance government services generally.

Many Garbage Cans Are Too Well Fed

College Station, March — Is your garbage can a heavy eater? How much does it cost to feed it for a year?

The average American feeds 225 pounds of food a year to the garbage can, according to estimates by extension foods specialists. That's two-thirds of a pound a day. For a family of five that would add up to 3½ pounds a day or 1,125 pounds a year. At the low rate of 25 cents a pound, this means a family pays $281 for groceries they do not eat.

Specialists point to four common causes of food waste in the home: lack of good planning and buying, which results in over-buying, poor preparation and serving of food, poor use of leftovers, and improper practices of preservation and storage.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

SOIL IMPROVING LEGUMES

Do soil improving legumes pay? "Yes," says B. C. Redman of Saint Jo. "On eleven acres of wheat following alfalfa I harvested thirty bushels per acre. On the same type land with the same method of planting the yield was only twenty bushels per acre, on land that had no legumes.

With wheat selling at $1.78 per bushel Mr. Redman had an actual increase in production worth $17.80 per acre, simply by growing soil improving legumes. This is in addition to hay and grazing that the alfalfa furnished.

On five acres of wheat following Madrid Sweet Clover Mr. Redman also showed an increase of ten bushels per acre compared with wheat following a non-legume crop.

In addition to improving and conditioning the land, soil improving crops, such as alfalfa, sweet clover, vetch, peas and guar add dollars to the farmer's bank account.

Urban Rohmer of Muenster follows a regular system of rotating his grain crops with a soil improving legume crop. Urban says, "My grain yields have definitely increased five bushels per acre as a result of growing sweet clover." Urban grows a soil improving legume on all his crop land every three years.

Not only do the soil improving crops increase yields of following crops, but they are valuable for hay and grazing. They also improve the condition of the soil by adding organic matter. Water intake is increased as much as three times. Moisture holding capacity is improved by growing legumes, and the land is conditioned so as to make cultivation easier.

In addition to the above benefits, soil improving legumes add as much as seventy-five pounds of nitrogen per acre to the soil. This is equivalent to 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate which has a cash value of $8.00 of fertilizer per acre.

Seventeenth century courtiers wore boots with pointed toes so long they had to be attached to the knee.

When the Snows returned home they took her young nephew, Mike Davidson along for a week's vacation. Another weekend visitor in the Davidson home was Lum Davidson of Valley View.

Marysville rain gauges measured .6 inch Monday morning and .6 inch Tuesday morning for a total of 1.2 inches of rain.

There's more ways than one to kill a rattlesnake, as Bill Moon can verify. He saw a big rattler crawl in a dry weather crack near the gate of the Raymond Davidson ranch north of Marysville, went home and got a steel trap, set it at the crack. The next morning the snake was in the trap.

Chevy Gives You Smarter Style Today...

Don't take it from us—take it from independent experts and from facts and figures that are now a matter of record. POPULAR SCIENCE sums up Chevy's unmistakably modern style this way: "The fact is, in its price class Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." This is one more reason your new Chevrolet will bring a higher allowance at trade-in time, as Chevy has over the years. A look at last year's used car prices* shows Chevrolet averaged up to $128 more than comparable models of the other leading low-priced two.

*Guide Book figures of the National Automobile Dealers Assn.

PLUS 5 MORE BIG BESTS OVER ANY OTHER CAR IN CHEVROLET'S FIELD!

Best Brakes. Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in repeated highway speed stopping tests conducted by NASCAR.* No wonder. Chevy's brakes, built for up to two-thirds longer lining life, are the biggest in its field.

*National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research.

Best Engine. Every motor magazine has given Chevy's passenger car and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

Best Economy. No doubt about this: a pair of Chevrolet sixes came in first and second in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—getting the best mileage of any full-size car.

Best Room. Dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make it clear. Chevy's front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

Best Ride. No doubt about this. MOTOR TREND magazine sums it up this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

NO WONDER MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS IN '59 THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

See your local authorized Chevrolet dealer for the best buy on the best seller!

Back in the 50-caliber machine-gun era, a fighter plane could fire on an enemy at small cost. Now, says Newsweek, the missiles with which our new fighters are equipped cost $7,000 each — and with an atomic warhead, $243,000.

Some years ago, the Governor of New Hampshire was being introduced at a political rally in one of the western states. "I had heard so much about the illustrious Governor," said the local politician, "that I expected him to be a much larger man. But, as you see, he's not so big after all."

When the Yankee governor stepped to the speaker's stand, he said with a twinkle, "I'm so sorry to hear that your chairman is disappointed in my seeming lack of stature, but I believe this is because of the way you measure a man." He paused and smiled at his audience's confusion, then added: "Back home we measure a man from his chin up, but apparently you folks measure him from the chin down."

Muenster, Lindsay Boys Spend Week At Camp Subiaco

Twenty-two boys from Muenster and six from Lindsay are giving their folks interesting reports on a week spent at Subiaco, Ark. — a week at camp in connection with Vocation Week at the Seminary.

The county group was on a bus carrying 43 boys, the others from Windthorst and Scotland. Father Bruno Fuhrmann, Brother Thomas Moser and Seminarian Gerald Pels accompanied the youths. While Brother Thomas was away, Mike Kleiss took over as sacristan at Sacred Heart Church.

The group from Muenster: Tommy Bayer, Clinton Endres, John Paul Endres, Rickey Endres, Donald Fisher, James Fleitman, Tommy Fuhrman, Donnie Heilman, David and Dennis Hess, Quintin Hess.

Pat Klement, Jerry Mosman, Jimmy Otto, Frank Schilling Jr., Dickie Schoech, Tommy Swirczynski, Wayne Trachta, Robert Walterscheid, Hal Wiese, Denny Wilde and Cyril Yosten.

From Lindsay: Robert Fleitman, Ronnie Fuhrmann, Pat Hermes, Kenny Laux, Leroy Sandmann and Ronnie Zimmerer.

Family Gathering Fetes Californians

Mrs. George Spaeth and her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were together Sunday for a reunion in Leonard Park at Gainesville.

The gathering honored Mr. and Mrs. Walt Barry Jr. and son James, visiting here from Riverside, Calif.

Everyone brought covered dishes for a picnic dinner at noon. Joining family members from Muenster, Lindsay and Gainesville were Miss Frances Spaeth of Denison, the Walter Haverkamps and children of Electra, the David Fergers and daughters and the Travis Wickliffes of Dallas.

The Californians left Tuesday stopping enroute home in Crockett to visit her sister and family, the Mark Kutas.

Dad's Day Reunion Observes Birthday Of Frank Mages, 88

A family reunion Sunday observed Father's Day and the 88th birthday of Frank Mages Sr. at his home in Lindsay. Children and grandchildren and their families brought covered dishes for the noon meal which was served picnic style under the trees on the lawn. The group also remembered Mr. Mages with a shower of gifts. The presence of four generations marked the gathering.

When the party was over Mr. Mages accompanied his daughter, Mrs. Ewald Berend and his granddaughter, Doris Ray Berend, to Hereford where he plans to spend about a month visiting. Mrs. Berend and daughter were weekend visitors with family members and also took Mrs. Mary Berend of Gainesville back home with them for a visit.

Before leaving he was honored at a breakfast given by Grayson County State Bank and Fant Milling Company of Sherman. Next he and the other 3 delegates were luncheon guests at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Dallas before leaving by airliner for Washington. Lonnie has been active in state 4-H leadership for several years and has developed one of the state's best 4-H sheep demonstrations. He is the grandson of Mrs. Otto Schmitt of Lindsay.

Bezner Home Scene Of Reunion Sunday

Viola Bezner of Arlington was home for the weekend, Lambert and James Bezner and their families came over from Gainesville and Weldon and Wilfred Bezner and their families joined the group. Sister Ramona was "with the family" by phone, calling from Austin where she's attending summer school. Earlier in the week Sister Anna Rose visited with her parents overnight enroute to San Antonio from Vinita, Okla.

made were left unmade because labor had priced itself out of the market.

Suppose that process were reversed. Suppose the wage-price spiral were turned downward, thereby gradually restoring the lost buying power of savings and fixed income . . . and still permitting the current pay check, though reduced, to buy as much as it used to. It can be done if labor and industrial leaders will face the issue honestly, and try earnestly to correct it. It must be done if the nation is to avoid economic chaos.

Nothing could be more obvious than these simple facts, but still the labor leaders persist with their old theories. Like those at a recent Puerto Rico convention who claimed that the prescription for more jobs is higher wages, shorter hours and more government spending . . . a prescription which can result only in pricing more of labor's products out of the market.

After all these years of sad experience haven't they discovered yet that theirs is the formula of inflation, of decreased purchasing power, of decline in their market? Apparently they still are not wised up to the fact that prosperity and human welfare are not measured by the amount of money in circulation but rather by the volume of goods people are able to buy.

The traffic officer ordered the motorist to pull up to the curb and produce his driver's license.

"I don't understand this officer," the motorist protested, "I haven't done anything wrong."

"No, you haven't," the officer replied. "But you were driving so carefully, I thought you might not have your driver's license."
