

MUENSTER ENTERPRISE

VOLUME X

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY NOVEMBER 22, 1946

NUMBER 52

Comparing the pre-game dope around here and Texarkana, we are inclined to believe that two young padres did a very successful job of pulling each other's leg before the Hornets and Eagles got together.

For some time before the event Father John was convinced that it would not amount to much more than good signal practice for his boys. According to his information the Eagles were a mere bunch of fledglings with very little weight, experience or reserve strength. Imagine his surprise then when Father Tommy's charges opened the game with a power drive, hogged almost all the first half and scored in the opening minutes of the second half.

From one of the Texarkana fans comes the statement that they had the game figured as in the bag. Some big hearted fellow over there had asked the coach not to humiliate our boys — to run in the lightweights as soon as the regulars had a safe lead. Imagine somebody else's surprise when the Hornets uncorked their three touchdown rampage.

Of course Con is ready to concede that circumstantial evidence of this sort doesn't necessarily prove a thing, but he invites your attention to the fact that one line of communication between here and Texarkana is definitely known to exist and no other is known to exist. So draw your own conclusion as to who told what to whom to create this over-confidence on both sides.

Reports up and down the street lately have left yours truly with the very pleasing opinion that the town is darn near racket proof. At least our business men are no longer suckers for the schemes that used to be promoted quite successfully.

The reference, in case you did not already know, is to that deal whereby local churches will get a few hundred cheap cardboard fans — for which local merchants pay through the nose. For 10 or 15 bucks the business gets its name printed on the fan, and there may be anywhere from 20 to 40 such ads on it. The promoter who puts the deal over has a gross of well over 200 dollars for a job that costs only a small fraction of that.

The same racket has been pulled here time and again on telephone directories. Ads in those things amount to lots of dollars and the job costs the promoter only a small part of his intake. What's more the ads have been placed by men who know from experience that directories are very seldom used here. In other words the ad space is worthless.

In all sincerity this column states that under prevailing circumstances here, such advertising is a waste of money. Believing that the writer would not consider promoting such a deal himself. However, to cooperate in cutting down the volume of waste, he would suggest that any one sold on the value of such advertising drop in for a chat before goofing off a lot of money.

If directors of the phone company ever decide we must use directories or if the church committees ever decide they want such fans, let's handle the deals locally and either keep the cost down or let a legitimate local organization have the velvet. We've got Boy Scouts, church societies, a civic league and other groups that might as well have the fat profit, if any. Better still, let a bona fide member of the organization concerned go the soliciting as part of his regular job and get the things for actual printing expense.

As publishers, we on this newspaper have two specific reasons for calling attention to such rackets. One is that it is our job to expose rackets. Another is that it is to our interests to show that we offer a better value in our advertising space.

Newspaper advertising is established as sound, legitimate business. It is the generally accepted method by which business concerns convey their business messages to the public, hence the most general advertising medium expected by the public.

Newspaper advertising has another feature that is well worth considering. To a great extent it is the means by which news is brought to the subscriber. Informed readers know that subscription income does not begin to cover the expense of publishing — it does not even pay for the paper, postage and handling. Hence they are aware that they are indebted to their advertisers.

For the same reason the informed advertiser also knows that

Factory Group Ready To Form Corporation

Developments on Muenster's lawn mower factory have proceeded to the point of plans for organization, incorporation and construction of a building.

L. A. Baumhardt, originator and principal promoter of the project, stated Wednesday that the money already pledged is sufficient to meet the requirement for incorporation and will finance construction of the building, installation of equipment and purchase of most of the materials. Additional pledges are still welcome, however, to assure a more adequate working capital.

Baumhardt has also started work on special jigs and dies to be used in making parts for the mowers. The equipment is being built at his machine shop in Sherman and is to be moved here along with other equipment after the building is completed.

To date 26 persons have pledged themselves to take a total of 202 shares of stock in the enterprise at $100 a share. They are scheduled to meet Saturday night at 7:30 in the public school to officially organize the company and elect a board of directors. Within a few days thereafter the directors are expected to submit the application for incorporation and decide on the location and type of the building.

If progress in the future continues as steadily as it has to date, Baumhardt said, there is a good chance of having the plant in production before the end of six months.

CLEAN-UP RELIEVES CITY OF FOUR TRUCK LOADS OF RUBBISH

Four truck loads of trash were hauled Saturday in the city clean-up, Mrs. Frank Kaiser, chairman of the sanitation committee of the Civic League and Garden Club, the sponsor group, announced Monday.

Through courtesy of the FMA a truck was provided to haul the junk to the dump grounds and five local youths assisted with the work.

Members of the sponsor group this week express thanks to the FMA for the use of the truck and to all citizens for their cooperation by having the trash boxed and sacked for quick pickup.

Notes On Local Conservation Group Projects

J.W. Hess, chairman of the board of supervisors of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district has advised that there will be a meeting of all conservation leaders of the Muenster area next Tuesday night Nov. 26, in the bank at 8 o'clock. He stated that these leaders have been influential in getting their neighbors to apply conservation methods on their farms.

J.W. Fleitman of the Muenster group has a good stand of bur clover on 4 acres of pasture recently retired from cultivation. He also planted eight acres to hairy vetch which he plans to harvest for seed.

Meinrad Hesse of the West Muenster group has about 8 acres of hairy vetch and small grain up to a good stand.

O.G. Rennels of the Muenster group reports that his new terrace system of about five miles of channel type terraces worked very well during the last rain.

FIRST AID FEATURES SENIOR SCOUT MEET

A lesson in First Aid was featured at the Monday evening meeting of the Senior Scouts, Air Squadron No. 164, with Jos. A. Luke giving the lecture and demonstrating artificial respiration.

The next meeting will be held in the K of C Hall, next Monday evening at 7:30.

N. TEX. WATERWORKS OFFICERS ELECTED AT GAINESVILLE DINNER

New officers for the coming year were elected Wednesday evening, Nov. 13, at the annual banquet of the North Texas Waterworks and Sewerage association held at the Blue Room of the East-A-Bite Cafe in Gainville, M. O. Wilson of Gainville was elected president, U.N. Clary of Prosper vice president, and D.B. Bivin, Denison, group leader.

The banquet was attended by approximately 62 members and guests, the largest attendance at any meeting since the organization of the association in 1940.

An attraction of interest was a film, "The Ominous Arms Case", shown by B.M. Mason, executive secretary of the Master Plumbers' association of Houston. The film depicted an event dealing with faulty plumbing and its effects.

Other entertainment features included vocal and piano selections, a reading and tap dancing, and Jim Piper and his "bag of tricks" concluded the program. The turkey dinner was served to representatives from Muenster, Denton, Sherman, McKinney, Prosper and Gainville. Attending from this city were Mayor and Mrs. J.M. Weinzapfel, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Mosier, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Fisher, Ben Seyler and John Wieler.

Hornets Drop 26-18 Contest To Marietta Hi

The Hornets ran into tough competition Wednesday night at Marietta, Okla., and came through at the short end of a 26 to 18 score.

They started with a bang, receiving the kickoff and marching straight down the field for the first touchdown within the first three minutes of play. Sicking, outstanding player and most consistent ground gainer of the contest, crossed the line for the first counter. Swirczynski's kick for extra point was wide.

Marietta got its first score the same way. It took the kick and moved steadily to the goal line and added the extra point on a kick. The second and third Marietta touchdowns followed promptly and by the same way. Each time Muenster received and lost the ball on downs after which Marietta advanced all the way to a score. The half ended 19 to 6 for Marietta.

In the second frame Muenster staged a comeback but failed to close the gap in the count. Receiving the kickoff it lost the ball on downs, recovered again on an interception, then moved on to the second touchdown. Mages went over and an attempted pass for extra point was incomplete.

Marietta's final counter came like the first one — a steady march from the kickoff to the touchdown. A pass for the extra point was good.

In the final minutes the Hornets added their final six points after receiving the kickoff and moving up the field for a while they lost the ball on an interception and recovered again by holding for downs, then went on to the goal. Swirczynski carried it over and a pass for the extra point was incomplete.

Throughout the game the Hornets did well on their running plays but lost out on their aerial game — completing only one pass during the entire contest. Marietta fared better on passes and also made the most of its weight advantage on the ground plays.

Johny Furbach's Eyes Recover From Acid Burn

Johny Furbach, able to see as clearly as he ever did, returned to school Monday after losing three weeks because of a chemical accident that showered his face and eyes with sulphuric acid.

During the first few days after his accident there seemed to be a possibility that he would lose his sight completely, but after ten days in the hospital he was able to see dimly. Another ten days at home cleared his vision completely.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cook have returned from New York City where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Tagliavia, for the past three weeks. Mr. Cook left Wednesday for a visit with his sister in Guthrie, Okla., and Mrs. Cook went to Holdenville Thursday for a visit with a sister. Mr. Cook is having his annual 30-day vacation.

Hornets Nose Out Texarkana Eagles In 18-12 Thriller

In a game packed full of action the Sacred Heart Hi Hornets of Muenster outscored the Sacred Heart Hi Eagles of Texarkana by a count of 18 to 12 Sunday afternoon in Leeper Stadium at Gainville.

All the scoring and almost all the snappy playing came in the second half after the visiting Eagles had soundly outplayed the Hornets in the first. At intermission they had chalked up 6 first downs against the Hornets' 3 and had maneuvered to scoring position three times against the Hornets' once.

Opening the second half the Eagles came back strong, intercepting a pass on the 20 within the first minute of play and crossing for the first marker 4 plays later. Forte, fleet footed back and outstanding player of the team, toted the ball over. The try for the extra point failed.

From that time until the closing minutes the Hornets ruled the field. Receiving the kick they advanced steadily up the field to the 40 where Gremminger flipped a long pass intended for Vogel. It developed into a freak play in which the ball, barely touched by one of the Eagles, bounced out of the hands of two more surprised Eagles then lobbed easily into Vogel's waiting hand. Swirczynski plunged for the remaining 5 yards on the next play.

Just as the third quarter ended Muenster recovered a fumble in midfield to start a second touchdown drive. Forte, attempting to pass waited too long & 4 Hornets swarmed on him. He lost the ball in the scramble and a Hornet recovered. In 6 plays the local boys carried the ball from that point to the goal. Mages romped across for the second mark.

As after the previous kick off the Eagles came back strong and lost their gains in a bad break. They stopped Swirczynski's low kick dead on the 40 and mixed line plays and short passes in a steady 20 yard advance. Then Howard heaved a pass that Gremminger intercepted on his 20 and ran back to his 30 to set off the final Hornet scoring march. A forward pass to Bayer flipped back to Swirczynski picked up 20 and line plays by Gremminger, Sicking and Mages advanced steadily to the 8 from where Mages scored on an end sweep.

Coming back again the Eagles toted the ball all the way. Runs and short passes carried the ball to the 30 from where Howard passed to Forte who received it on about the 20 and shook 4 Hornet tacklers in a beautiful field dash to the goal. The game ended as the try for extra point failed.

An outstanding feature of the game was the change over from tight defensive play in the first half to powerful offense in the second.

The Eagles opened the game with a steady march to the Hornets' 10 but were stopped there on 3 line plays and a pass across the line that the receiver managed to touch but couldn't hold. The following play Sicking ran the ball back to his 15 and lost it when tackled. Again the Eagles tried 3 line plays and a pass with no success. During the remainder of the half each team had one chance to score and each held successfully at the goal line.

In the second half neither team could be stopped. Neither team was held for downs but lost the ball only on interceptions and fumbles. First downs record for the second half is 5 for the Eagles and 10 for the Hornets, netting a game total of Eagles 11, Hornets 13.

CAR ACCIDENT SENDS GROOM TO WEDDING WITH PATCHED CHIN

Because of an automobile accident Sunday night on Highway 82 Robert Kupper had to wear a patch on his chin at his wedding here Wednesday. He sustained a long gash requiring several stitches but no other injuries.

At about 7:30 Sunday night, while driving west on the highway a short distance west of Mike Fuhrmann's, Kupper collided with the rear of a slow moving car without lights. Just before the crash his vision had been impaired by the glare of an oncoming car, and by the time he noticed the car ahead he did not have time to stop. A skid of more than 100 feet slowed him down considerably and reduced the force of the impact.

The front of Kupper's car and the rear of the other were both badly damaged.

BOWLING ALLEYS GET GENERAL OVERHAUL; LEAGUE PLAY PLANNED

A revival of the community's old time bowling enthusiasm became apparent again this year as the K of C hall alleys, neglected for more than five years, received a general overhaul and local kegglers started organizing a league.

Al Walterscheid who has undertaken the job of putting the alleys back in condition and organizing a playing schedule disclosed Tuesday that most of the work has already been done and league play will probably begin early next week.

Repairs consist of leveling and sanding the alleys and applying a double coat of shellac in addition to general repairs on racks and pit walls and replacing the badly chipped balls and pins. The second coat of shellac, to be put on Thursday night or Friday, is expected to be ready for use next Monday.

Late this week or early next week Walterscheid plans to meet with the bowlers interested in playing in the league. That meeting will decide on the number of teams and personnel of each team, the total number of matches to be played, the number of matches each week, entrance fees, policy on substitutions, etc.

Though nothing definite had been arranged up to Tuesday, Walterscheid stated that employees of several local business houses, several farmers and one group from Lindsay had already asked to be admitted.

Endres Buys Herr Building And Equipment

The Muenster Ford agency under its new management will continue to operate in its former location. That arrangement was completed last Saturday when Urban Endres purchased the building and equipment from Adolph Herr.

Personnel for the service and accounting departments are also completed, Endres disclosed. Clarence "Dutch" Albers, who worked with F.E. Schmitz for some time before and since his tour in the army and more recently with Muenster Motor Co., will have change of the shop. Mrs. M.H. King, formerly the accountant for Herr Motor Co., will continue her work under the new management.

Though the official opening of the new agency has been set for December 7, the business will begin to operate on almost a full scale next Monday when Albers and Mrs. King both take over their jobs. The sales department is already in operation. Of four new units received two were delivered this week — a pickup truck to the Electric Co-op and a club coupe to Jimmy Lehnertz.

Prior to the formal opening Endres intends to make a series of temporary improvements and decorations and add a few units of new equipment. The permanent improvement, which will be a new building, will wait until building conditions are more favorable.

LINDSAY TO OBSERVE THANKSGIVING SUNDAY AS FAVOR TO MUENSTER

Both Muenster and Lindsay will have their traditional Thanksgiving celebrations this year, but on different days. Originally planning their community party on Thursday, the 28th, the Lindsay Mothers Society recently announced it would move the event ahead to the preceding Sunday in order to avoid conflict with plans at Muenster.

The change was made in order to give members of both parishes an opportunity to attend the other parish party without passing up home activity.

Lindsay's event, to be held in the school basement, begins at 1 o'clock and is expected to last until about midnight. Muenster's will begin with a Thanksgiving dinner at noon and continue into the night.

Serving as pallbearers were W. H. Endres, W.M. Trubenbach, Barney Voht, Alfons Koesler, Tony Trubenbach, Sr., and Henry Wolf.

Mrs. Danglmayr died at noon Saturday following a year's illness. She entered the hospital on Nov. 16, 1945, and passed away on the same date this year. Her children were with her when she died.

The body lay in state at the Crane-Shelton-Longley funeral home in Dallas from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Sunday and was brought to this city in the late afternoon.

Mrs. Danglmayr was born Theresia Muck on October 8, 1871, in Austria, a daughter of the late John and Mary Voelkl Muck. As a young girl she came to the United States with a sister, Mary Muck, and spent several years in Dallas and Fort Worth. She came to Muenster in 1893, and three years later, on Oct. 27, 1896, she married Joseph Danglmayr. He died here September 4, 1945. During their entire married life they resided on the same place, a farm northwest of the city.

Survivors are four sons and three daughters: the Most Rev. Augustine Danglmayr, Dallas, Joe, Albert and Herbert Danglmayr, and Mrs. Tony Felderhoff and Mrs. Bruno Fleitman, all of Muenster, and 16 grandchildren.

Also surviving are a brother, Wenzel Muck of Gainesville; and two sisters, Mrs. William Jensen of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. E.J. Lutkenhaus of Muenster.

BLOW OF STICK ON BAREL RIM SHEARS WIELER'S FINGER TIP

John Wieler lost the tip of his right index finger in a freak accident Wednesday morning while unloading a drum of oil from a pickup truck at Joe Fisher's farm.

As he led the drum slide from the truck bed to the ground he steadied it in a diagonal position by holding the upper and lower rims, his right hand being at the bottom. The part of the rim opposite his hand came down first but landed on a heavy stick instead of the ground, and the opposite end of the stick came up and hit his finger. The force of the blow was so great that it clipped the finger tip completely off just behind the finger nail.

Sister Ernestine was a sister of the late Mrs. A.T. Hoehn and had been a nun and nurse for almost 60 years. Before entering the novitiate she was Catherine Donnelly and of that family of ten children only one sister survives. She lives in Illinois.

FLORENE ENDRES AND ROBERT KUPPER WED WEDNESDAY MORNING

Miss Florene Endres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Endres, became the bride of Robert Kupper, son of Joe Kupper of Lindsay, in a pretty ceremony here in Sacred Heart church Wednesday morning at 8:30. The Rev. John Walbe performed the double ring ceremony and officiated at the nuptial high mass.

Anthony Luke, organist, and cousin of the bride, played the traditional wedding processional as the bridal party entered the church and remained at the console to assist the choir in singing the mass.

Mr. Endres gave his daughter in marriage. She was a lovely picture in a gown of white slipper satin designed with long fitted torso buttoned down the back with tiny self covered buttons, and fitted sleeves that ended in petal points over the wrists. The yoke of marquisette featured a high, round neckline and was outlined with seed pearls and a ruffle of imported lace in sweetheart design. The extremely full skirt fell into a graceful cathedral length train. The bridal veil of silk illusion was floor length and was held in place with a band of seed pearls. The bride carried a white prayerbook, topped with a white orchid from which fell streamers of satin ribbon and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was "something old and borrowed", a ruby set lavalier which her mother wore at her wedding.

Miss Dollie Endres, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, Mrs. Val Fuhrmann, another sister of the bride, was bride's matron, and Miss Rose Marie Endres, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore identically designed frocks, the maid of honor in aqua and the other two in fuchsia. The dresses were fashioned with fitted bodices of metallic cloth designed with a modified bustle, cap sleeves and sweetheart neckline, and bouffant net skirts. They wore long matching gloves, and braided metallic coronets and carried colonial bouquets of white mums.

Little Misses Ruth Endres, niece of the bride and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Endres, and Betty Rose Kupper, niece of the groom and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kupper of Lindsay, were flower girls. They wore floor-length dresses of white marquisette over satin, long white gloves, white flower headdresses, and carried miniature colonial bouquets of white mums.

Attending the groom were his brother, Ray Kupper, as best man, and Troy Kupper, his cousin from Corsicana, and Vincent Zimmerman, Gilbert Endres and Adolph Fuhrmann were ushers.

Men in the wedding party wore white carnation boutonnières, and the bride's mother was attired in a grey crepe costume with black accessories and a corsage of blue tinted carnations.

After the services, breakfast was served to the bridal party and the parents in the home of the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Fuhrmann in Gainesville.

At three o'clock in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Endres received relatives and friends in their home for an informal reception and a buffet supper was served to more than one hundred guests. Miss Elfreda Luke, cousin of the bride, secured the guests' signatures for the bride's book. The home was decorated with fall flowers and the bride's table was laid with a hand crocheted cloth, centered with a three-tiered decorated wedding cake, flanked with tall white tapers.

After the supper Mr. and Mrs. Kupper left on a wedding trip, not revealing their destination. When they return they will make their home here in the Ervin Hamric apartment. For traveling Mrs. Kupper wore a costume suit of black and aqua wool crepe with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a native of Muenster and a graduate of Sacred Heart High school, she attended Victory College in Fort Worth and for the past two years had been employed with Civil Service at Camp Howze and in Washington D.C. She has been an active member of the Young Ladies Sodality and of the local Youth Band.

BRIDE OF THIS WEEK HONORED WITH PARTIES

Miss Florene Endres, who became the bride of Robert Kupper Wednesday, was honored with two pre-nuptial parties, one on Friday evening and the other on Sunday morning.

The Sunday affair was a breakfast at 10 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Val Fuhrmann with Mrs. Fuhrmann and Mrs. A.J. Endres as hostesses.

The table was laid with white linen and accented the brides chosen colors of aqua and fuchsia in a bowl of chrysanthemums flanked with tapers.

Wedding bell place cards marked places for the honoree, her mother, Mrs. W.H. Endres, Mesdames Paul and Urban Endres, Ray Wilde, Steve Moser, and Misses Dollie Endres, Elfreda Luke, Rose Marie Endres, Anna Marie Klement, Celia Walterscheid, all of Muenster, and Mrs. Adolph Fuhrmann and Miss Edna Haverkamp of Gainesville.

The Friday evening party was a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Adolph Fuhrmann in her home at Gainesville for which relatives and friends from Gainesville and Muenster were guests. Progressive 42 series furnished diversion during the evening and prizes were won by Mrs. Paul Endres and Mrs. Val Fuhrmann who presented them to the honoree.

After the honor guest had unwrapped many lovely shower gifts the hostess served a refreshment course.

Why Bert Won First Prize

Folks weren't surprised when Bert Childers won first prize for his corn at the county fair.

Yet the judges admit it wasn't just because Bert had the finest ears of corn. He knew how to display them: neatly arranged, with the husks cleanly trimmed, and the both white and spotless.

"Trimmings" sure make a difference no matter what you're offering—as Andy Botkin, keeper of the Garden Tavern, well knows. Andy doesn't just sell good beer. He sells it in a place that's clean and attractive... in nice surroundings that belong with the enjoyment of a wholesome beverage of moderation.

And Andy, of course, is a wholehearted supporter of "Self Regulation." That's the system by which the Brewers and tavern keepers themselves make sure that taverns selling beer are clean and orderly.

From where I sit, people like Andy also rate a "First prize." Not just for the quality of the product—but for the "trimmings" too.

TAKING A BIG CHANCE

Let's imagine I've worked 20 years and saved $20,000.
What am I going to do with it?
I'm certainly not going to be crazy enough to start any new business with it.
I'd have to hire six lawyers and six tax experts and six accountants to keep me straight on government regulations, reports and taxes.
I know that the government would take most of my earnings in taxes.
I know that the 50 people I might hire could gang up on me and make wild demands for wages, etc. I'm not sure I could get materials on account of strikes in other industries.

So I'm going to put my imaginary $20,000 in a sock and live off of it, a few crackers at a time. Can you blame me?

The American Way

AMERICANISM THE BEST ISM

During the past few weeks we have heard political campaigners hurling the names "Fascist," "Communist," or some other "Ist" at anyone who has dared to differ even slightly in his views on any of the many problems that confront America today. Perhaps it would be well to define these terms which have been so recklessly bandied around. Here follow thumb-nail descriptions of the various "isms."

COMMUNISM is an organization of society on the basis of common ownership of the means of production and of the goods produced. Like Socialism and Anarchism it demands that production be for common use and not for private gain. It regiments all labor. It differs from Socialism in its theory of the State, in that it sets up a federation of communes or groups instead of a central administration. Communism had its most thorough tryout in Russia and that nation already has discarded most of it as impractical and unworkable.

FASCISM is, or rather was, a form of totalitarian dictatorship creating a high nationalistic state. It opposes political Communism because it recognizes private property and certain individual rights. However, its principal tenet is that society does not exist for the individual but that the individual exists for the State. While it leaves production and distribution of wealth, in some degree to individual enterprise, it practices a strict state discipline over business and labor organizations, banning strikes and lock-outs. Fascism had a thorough tryout in Italy and was a pitiable failure.

NAZISM is a political hash, the original ingredients of which were Socialism, Communism and Capitalism. In practice it evolved into a copy of Fascism, slightly altered to suit Germany or rather the Nazi ruling clique. It stands for an authoritarian corporate State, banning all political organizations opposed to the Nazi theory. It regiments the individual to complete subservience to the State. Nazism nurtures within its bosom the seeds of its own destruction and of any nation upon which it fastens its tentacles, as was recently demonstrated in Germany.

SOCIALISM is a philosophy rather than a political system, idealistic in concept and theory, but unworkable in practice. It opposes the holding of the sources of wealth, land, capital, etc., as private property. It does recognize that private property can only be abolished by an evolutionary change in the thinking of human beings. It aims, therefore, at "reforming" society and "equalizing" people, substituting collective for individual action. It seeks to set up communal ownership to replace private ownership of wealth and the means of production. Its shibboleth is: "Production for use and not for profit." Socialism has been tried many times in many places. Wherever it has been practiced it has become bureaucratic, has seized the main activities of a nation or municipality, administered them by government-appointed individuals or boards, and has leveled society so that the intelligent, industrious and thrifty people had less, while the lazy, the idle, the inefficient and the unintelligent got more — for a time. But this has always ended up in all having nothing.

AMERICANISM has many other names, among which are "Capitalism," "Free Enterprise," "The American Way" and "Profit and Loss System." Under Americanism the individual is supreme; the State exists for him and not he for the State. The intelligent, industrious and thrifty have more than the unintelligent, lazy and thriftless. There is equal opportunity for all but the rewards are unequal, depending entirely on the individual's contribution to society.

FUTURE PROSPECT OF DAIRY BUSINESS JUSTIFIES OPTIMISM

While dairy market conditions may prove unsettled in the next few months, there is every reason to be optimistic for the future of dairying in years to come, G.C. Pound, executive vice-president of the Kraft Foods Company, declared at a meeting in Chicago recently.

Speaking on a discussion panel at a food dealers convention, Pound declared his belief that per capita demand for practically all dairy products will rise to new high levels when supply and other factors have resumed a more normal trend.

Recent higher prices for milk and milk products was brought about by extremely heavy demand and short supplies, he said, pointing out that some market adjustments had already been recorded on butter and cheese. Dairy industry leaders with whom he has talked state their belief that further declines should be expected by the flush production period next spring, Pound said.

"Forecasts for world food needs for the not distant future show that America must produce 150 billion pounds of milk per year, beginning in a very few years," he declared. "Peak war production was 122 billion and expectations for 1947 are around 117 billion, with demand figured at 125 billion."

"This means that prices should be expected to hold at higher levels than in the pre-war period. Likewise, for the long range view we should expect milk prices to maintain proportionately good levels."

While farm reports show fewer cows being milked and fewer heifers being held for herd replacement, greater production per cow and per acre of land, through increased knowledge of efficient dairy farm operations, will help balance the lower cow numbers, Pound pointed out. Agriculture officials expect the cow number trend to be reversed in the next year or two.

"Dairy departments in food stores large and small will be increasingly important in years to come," he declared. "More people want more butter, more cheese, more milk and more of every other product. Knowledge of the vital need for these highly important food products in our daily diet has been increased during the war years. New consumers and higher levels of national income compared to prewar can be expected to move per capita consumption figures to values never reached, when conditions within the industry return to normal production and distribution levels."

BEER IS INTIMATELY LINKED WITH EARLY AMERICAN HISTORY

Beer, the beverage of moderation, is as American as turkey for Thanksgiving.

It was beer — or rather the shortage of it — that brought the Pilgrims to Plymouth Rock. When the "Mayflower" set sail, she was bound for Virginia, not Massachusetts. But when Cape Cod landfall was made, a chronicler of the voyage states the Pilgrims decided to land:

"For we could not now take time for further search or consideration; our victuals being much spent, especially our beer."

The first advertisement to appear in London for "Help Wanted" in the strange New World called for brewers to serve in Virginia. The document preserved in the Royal Archives in London reports that two Frenchmen, Jacques de Lachles and Pierre Quesnee, responded and became "respected and useful citizens of the Virginia settlement."

Samuel Adams, Declaration of Independence signer and to many the "Father of the American Revolution," listed brewing as his occupation. The brewery was located on Purchase Street in Boston.

On November 4, 1775, the Continental Congress established a daily ration containing one quart of beer for the American soldier of the Revolutionary War. The army supplies in those days were too often short the beer rations, as they were of other items. And as late as August, 1777, General Washington writing from Germantown to the board of War included beer as one of the items in short supply, and asked if a person could be designated to procure it for the Army.

Birthplace of the United States Marines was Tun's Tavern in Philadelphia. One of the first officers of the Corps, Captain Robert Mullan, began recruiting for the famed service on November 10, 1775. Tun's Tavern was Marine Corps headquarters while the American fleet lay at Philadelphia.

The original "Star Spangled Banner," the one that inspired Francis Scott Key's song that now is our National Anthem, was hand sewn on the floor of a Baltimore brewery in 1814. Needing a spacious surface on which to assemble the Stars and Stripes of the 30 by 42 foot flag, its marker, Mrs. Mary Young Pickersgill, sought and obtained use of the floor of a brewery formerly owned by her friend, Mayor Edward Johnson. Shortly thereafter the flag was hoisted at Fort M'Henry.

Beer, the beverage of moderation, is as American as football in the fall.

TEXAS ONCE HAD 20 GERMAN NEWSPAPERS, HAS ONLY THREE NOW

Austin, Tex. — Copies of the Texas Free Press (Freie Presse fur Texas) from 1866 through 1945 have been acquired by the University of Texas newspaper collection, E.W. Winkler, bibliographer for the library, reports. The newspaper served Texas' German population and descendants in San Antonio, and although a weekly at the time of its suspension, at one time it was a daily, and was a tri-weekly from 1866 to 1875.

At one time Texas had 20 newspapers published in the German language, but only three are still published. They are weeklies published at Fredericksburg, Giddings, and New Braunfels.

NAVY OFFERS COLLEGE COURSE, COMMISSION IN COMPETITIVE EXAM

New Orleans. — High schools, colleges and Naval Officer Procurement offices in the Eighth Naval District are issuing application blank for competitive examinations in the first annual nation-wide selection of students for the Navy's college training programs.

More than six thousand students from 17 to 21 years of age who stand highest in the national examinations will be offered full college scholarships under either the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) or the Naval Aviation College Program (NACP). Cdr. F.M. Sloss, USNR, director of the New Orleans officer procurement office, said.

Completed applications must be in prior to Dec. 17 and examinations will be held on Jan. 18, Cdr. Sloss announced.

The NROTC program, designed to provide a steady supply of well-educated officers for the line and staff corps of the regular Navy and to build up the ranks of trained reserves, will give graduates opportunities equal to those of U.S. Naval Academy graduates.

Tuition, fees, textbooks, uniforms and retainer pay of $600 a year will be provided for a normal four-year course leading to baccalaureate or higher degree.

"Last Roundup" Before Thanksgiving

There are minimum requirements in mathematics, physics and English, and 24 hours of Naval Science must be completed.

NROTC students may choose any of 52 colleges having NROTC units if they satisfy entrance requirements. Two summer cruises and a summer period of aviation indoctrination will be required and upon graduation students must accept commissions as Ensign, USN, or 2nd Lieutenant, USMC, if offered. After from 15 months to two years of active duty they can choose between a continued regular Navy career or return to inactive duty in a reserve status.

Offices of Naval Officer Procurement in the district, from which application blanks may be obtained for examinations, are at the Naval Air Station, Building 11, Dallas 2, Texas, and in Room 915 Federal Building, New Orleans 12, La.

A flea and elephant walked side by side over a little bridge. Said the flea to the elephant, after they had crossed it: "Boy, we sure did shake that thing."

He (storming): "Why the first time I buttoned this coat it split down the back."
Tailor — calmly: "That shows how well we sew the buttons on."

The young son of a professor spent the week-end on a dairy farm. Returning home he looked up one of his friends and related his experiences. "If you ever go to a farm, Jimmie," he cautioned, "and you see a big cow off to herself, in a stall with bars, and she has a ring in her nose and don't have any faucets, she's a bull and you'd better avoid her."

WHAT'S NEW
In the AUTOMOTIVE FIELD

By DAN GOLDENBERG
Auto Editor

Now that the war is over, the country's top flight engineers are back thinking of peace time helps to the many workers of the automotive field. Midst labor problems and lack of new automobiles, a heavy work load is the lot of the automobile mechanic.

Among the newest aids is a creeper that not only embodies strength and comfort in a contoured all-steel bed but features an adjustable lighting unit as an inherent part of the creeper. Thus two old bug-a-boos — body fatigue and eye strain no longer impair the efficiency of the overworked auto mechanic.

The new Hycoc electric creeper also includes such extras as an air foam rubber head rest for cushioned comfort and a detachable tool and parts tray which permits bench loading and unloading. It weighs slightly more than 18 pounds and rolls on four heavy duty ball bearing swivel casters.

REDS' 5 YEAR PLAN PUNY BY COMPARISON WITH OUR STANDARDS

Under the five-year plan that Russia is just starting, the aim is an increase of 25 to 100 per cent in production.

But although this may appear to be shooting high, the out put would rate far below U.S. standards, according to the United States News, which comments:

"For example, the average Russian now hopes to buy a pair of shoes every two years at best. The most he can hope for by 1950 under the new plan is a pair a year. He now has something less than a pair of socks or stockings every year. Under the new plan, he may get three pairs a year by 1950."

Such things as radios, refrigerators, washing machines, and automobiles are too remote in prospect to be considered by the average Russian, the publication points out.

Put a pint of TUNE-O-LENE in your Gas Tank every week. . . . It keeps the valves, piston heads, and carburetor clean!

BUT—Keep TUNE-O-LENE in the Crank Case all the time. . . . Don't wait for the man at the station to mention it. He might forget and that costs you, you see. . . .

IT—Yes, it means a lot more to you, Mr. and Mrs. Car Owner, than it does to the man who sells it. . . . It saves more than half of the wear on your Motor! It frees rings of carbon, cuts out all gum and sludge, and makes starting easy, which saves your battery!

OLD PEAR PEELINGS TO FEED LIVESTOCK

Because a microscopic organism dots on pears, the cattle, hogs and poultry America eats may become fatter, according to a development reported from a West Coast manufacturer.

The organism known as torula yeast thrives on the waste products of pears—the cores, peelings and juice. It multiplies to produce a protein-rich yeast, high in Vitamin B content, that can be used to enrich livestock feeds.

Success of the development, now being undertaken in a pilot plant in Olympia, Wash., would vastly benefit Pacific Coast canners as well as the nation's farmers. Some 35 to 40 per cent of the 225,000 tons of pears processed annually by them is lost in the form of waste.

HOLIDAY SPARKLE

For festive occasions during the holidays, choose a punch bowl of sparkling Lucite with matching cups and ladle to heighten the appeal of colorful fruit drinks. Right out of the research laboratory has come this virtually unbreakable and light-weight transparent acrylic resin set.

The honorees, Clarence, who served with the Navy in the Pacific, Leroy who was on duty with the army at Korea, and Gerald, who saw action in Japan, are now at home with discharges and their return brought the family together for the first time in four years.

Confetti---

A part of his advertising expenditure constitutes an accommodation to his customers—a gesture of appreciation for past patronage as well as an appeal for future patronage.

As a medium for dishing out the local news, we feel that the Enterprise is fairly good—we have a right to think so after all our effort to present what we do—but almost every week we discover some good interesting happenings that we missed, and we know there are always things we never hear about.

We also know that lots of people would be willing to tip us off on lots of things, but too often they aren't sure whether the information they have rates as news. For their benefit we quote from the Newcastle Register—hoping of course that our news columns will benefit from it:

"If anyone elopes, dies, gets married, has guests, has a party or a fire, has an operation, suffers an accident, receives a promotion, builds a house, makes a speech, holds a meeting or bites a dog—that's news and we want to publish it."
