Plan For Building Hospital Presented At Group Meeting

About 100 members of the Muenster Cooperative Hospital Association, meeting in the parish hall Tuesday night, October 28, expressed their confidence in the developments of the local hospital project by re-electing five of their seven directors to another term.

J. M. Weinzapfel, Herbert Meurer, J.W. Hess, Arthur Endres and R.N. Fette were retained on the board and Dr. T.S. Myrick and E.A. Felker were replaced by E.P. Buckley and Herbert Hundt. The group also voted in favor of adopting a set of by-laws essentially similar to those in effect in the other cooperative hospitals of the state.

Other activity at the meeting consisted of a review of progress already made by the association and a report on directors' plans for the earliest possible construction of a building.

President Weinzapfel disclosed that the state's participation in a federal aid plan for hospital construction opens a new possibility in this community's project and that the delays encountered to date may actually be a blessing in disguise.

Other hospitals that went ahead on their own initiative, he explained, are not able to qualify for the federal help now.

The help, if it can be secured, will go far toward relieving the community's financial strain in this venture. The federal grant will furnish one dollar for every two that is raised locally.

Weinzapfel also pointed out other advantages of participating in the federal aid plan. One is the availability of advice from the federal staff of hospital experts who are familiar with the latest improvements in hospital design and equipment. Another is the assurance of a very good building because the federal government will not assist any project that falls short of its rigid standards.

The general plan for financing the hospital is a drive for additional memberships and donations and a loan for the balance of the required amount. The drive is due to begin at once.

Regarding location, it was explained that the site purchased last year will be sold back in accordance with an agreement with the original owner. Beyond the city limits, it lacks water and sewer facilities and the lower insurance rates. A recommended spot is that now occupied by the public school — if a more spacious place can be secured for the public school.

Speaking briefly on the undertaking, Dr. Myrick emphasized that the hospital is community property under community supervision and not, as some have assumed, an institution set up for the convenience and control of doctors. Because of the mistaken impression Dr. Myrick declined to serve another term on the board of directors.

A brief discussion on the insurance plan to be adopted indicates preference for a system whereby doctors will practice on the regular fee basis, as favored by the American Medical Association, and members will have benefit of discounts on their regular medical and hospital bills.

Quartet Bags Limit Of South Dakota Pheasants

A party composed of Rudy Hellman of this city, Jake Benzner of Lindsay, and F. E. Schmitz and Houston Hilburn of Gainesville returned Saturday afternoon from a six-day pheasant hunting trip to Mitchell, S. D.

Each of the men killed his limit of three cocks daily during the time they were hunting and had the birds frozen for shipment home. The limit is 15 birds each for shipping.

Center of the party's operations was in Aurora county, 28 miles west of Mitchell, S. D. Joe Donahoe of Gainesville who is visiting relatives in Sioux Falls, S. D., during the hunting season, joined them the first day.

Werner Cler Represents Veterans' Class On The Air

Werner Cler, member of the Muenster GI agriculture class, will be on the air next Wednesday, over Station KGAF (1580) Gainesville, to tell Cooke county radio listeners about aims and methods of the GI Vocational Agriculture Course. Hugh Barnhart, instructor, will join him on the program. The time is one p.m.

This reckless driver and his companion were speeding crazily through a thickly populated residential area, endangering the lives of dozens of people. Fortunately their wild ride ended before they had involved anyone else. The car went out of control on a medium curve and slammed into a gasoline pump, hurling its occupants onto the pavement. The driver was killed; his passenger lived—after many months in the hospital. Speeding was a reported violation in one out of every four motor vehicle fatalities last year. Strict enforcement of speed laws, and aroused public opinion are needed to prevent accidents of this type.

HORNETS PRIMED FOR CLASH WITH ALUMNI SUNDAY NIGHT AT 8

If practice is a determining factor the Hornets have the edge when they meet the Ex-Hornets in an extra special football game under the lights here Sunday night.

Because of a conflict with other scheduled community activities the date of the game has been postponed from Wednesday to Sunday.

To date the Alumni has had only one practice session while the Hornets are going ahead with daily workouts, which incidentally include special plays mapped out for the benefit of their most ardent critics. The school boys are taking the game as seriously as any other on their schedule — because of the personal satisfaction they hope to derive from stopping the boys who have been monotonously generous with free advice.

The graduates on the other hand are equally determined to prove they are not a crowd of has-beens. All the keen spirit of ancient school rivalries is in prospect as the teams line up for the battle.

Game time has been set for 8 o'clock.

The next regular contest on the Hornet schedule is the game at Sanger Friday night, Nov. 7.

Notes On Soil Conservation

V.W. Redman, district supervisor of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District, states, "I received excellent grazing from my vetch and rye last week as a result of getting a stand by the middle of September". Worm damage to vetch is apparently less, due to additional rain and cooler weather.

R.W. Trew, four miles south of Muenster, recently constructed over three miles of terraces with farm equipment.

Al Hess and Henry Henschel have completed a coordinated soil conservation plan for every acre on their farms. Planned acreages on cover crops, contour planting, crop residue management, seeding pasture, farm ponds, and weed control were established. Mr. Hess and Mr. Henschel have done an excellent job and plan to maintain these conservation practices each year. Mr. Hess has led the Muenster community in the use of fertilizers for soil improvement and increased production.

A tour of established waterways and pasture was conducted by soil conservation technicians for several conservation group leaders. Those attending were Felix Becker, Al Hess, and H.J. Fehrman. Good establishments of bermuda for terrace outlets were observed on farms which were seeded in May, of this year. Also good stands of buffalo grass, that were planted this year, were seen. In all cases the secret of good stands and growth of bermuda hinged on good, clean, firm seed beds, proper planting, and elimination of weed competition by frequent mowing and pasturing. Cooperators who plan to seed bermuda and buffalo, lovegrass, or bluestem should prepare now for a seed bed. Grass seeded in small grain is a failure.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilde and Mrs. J.B. Wilde were Dallas visitors Wednesday.

BUS DRIVERS ATTEND INSTRUCTION COURSE

Muenster's five school bus drivers were in Gainesville on Saturday, Oct. 18, to attend an all-day session of instructions for bus drivers.

Highway Patrolman H.P. Berkeley of Denton reviewed the new Texas highway traffic code and told the drivers what to expect on a bus inspection to be conducted by him later.

"Repair and Upkeep of Buses" was the subject which Paul Henley, head mechanic for F.E. Schmitz Motor company, related, and drivers were told of their relation and responsibilities to the students riding the school busses.

The meeting was marked by a 100 per cent attendance of Cooke county bus drivers, 37 being in attendance. H.H. Moss, county school superintendent, presided.

Muenster men present were Teddy Gremminger, Herbert Miller, Charlie Morris, Daniel Luke and J.J. Hoffman.

Health Officer Will Conduct Early Study On Hospital Project

Assurance by the State Health Department that "We will most certainly give your community every consideration and assistance possible" is the latest encouraging development in Muenster's hospital construction project. The good news was received Wednesday by J.M. Weinzapfel, from N. B. Roberts, director of the Hospital Survey and Construction division of the health department.

In his letter Mr. Roberts stated that members of his organization will come to Muenster in the very near future to study local needs in relation to eligibility for federal aid.

According to Mr. Weinzapfel the community has an excellent chance to move upward on the priority list as a result of such a survey because hospital facilities in this area are actually less adequate than shown by a previous survey.

In connection with this development Mr. Weinzapfel urges all interested persons to stop in at their earliest convenience and join the hospital association. Concrete evidence of widespread community interest and support, he said, is about the most effective recommendation the organization can offer in its own behalf.

Radio Program To Honor Muenster "Pioneer Queen"

Some lady of this community who has distinguished herself by outstanding community service over a long period of years will be honored on a special radio program dedicated to Muenster on Friday Nov. 7, at 10:45 a.m. over Station KGAF (1580). She will be identified as the Pioneer Queen of Muenster.

The program is one of a series in "Back When — And Now", sponsored by Home Furniture company of Gainesville, to mention high spots in community history and to salute one particular lady for her part in community development.

At this writing the identity of the Pioneer Queen has not been decided.

Hornets Look Better In 20 to 0 Win Over St. Mary's Mustangs

An advantage in size and reserve power paid dividends last Thursday night at Leeper Stadium, Gainesville, as the Hornets won 20 to 0 over the Saint Mary's Mustangs. Other factors that helped were alertness, aggressiveness and confidence shown in greater measure than at any other contest this season.

The game crew of Saint Mary's lads, however, distinguished themselves by holding the score to three touchdowns. Four times they held in the scoring zone. Likewise on offense they marked up frequent long gains but unfortunately none of them showed up in the score.

The outcome of the game was indicated shortly after the kickoff when the Hornets pushed from their 34 to the Mustang 18 before losing on downs. On their third play the Mustangs fumbled and the Hornets took over on the 15 and got as far as the 8 before losing again on downs. Then the Mustang offense started clicking. A first down on line play and a pass moved the ball to mid-field where the Hornets held and received the kick on their 34 as the second quarter opened.

Line plays advanced to the 46. There Endres heaved to Pels who sprinted to the 10 before being brought down. Sicking romped over the next play. A pass for the extra point failed.

The second score came minutes later. Saint Mary's received the kick, failed to advance, and kicked to Muenster on the 41. Line plays gained 16 to the St. Mary's 43 where Sicking got loose for the second touchdown on a beautiful run that started as a forward pass from Gremminger to Reiter and a lateral to himself. A pass from Gremminger to Reiter added the extra point.

The following kickoff play was the most spectacular of the game and almost netted the Mustangs a touchdown. Schumacher received and was on the (Continued on Page 8)

FOR HALLOWE'EN KIDS NO JAILHOUSE PARTY

Hallowe'en pranksters who have been looking forward to topping their evening's escapade with a party in the city clinic are due for a disappointment, according to a statement this week by Mayor J. M. Weinzapfel. There will be no deputies nor immediate apprehensions. But there will be a group of citizens observing what goes on.

The purpose is to let the youngsters have their fun but at the same time to discourage vandalism. Those who choose to get out of line will have little chance of escaping detection or a future accounting of their misdeeds. What action the city takes later will be determined by the seriousness of the offense, and the city is prepared to employ whatever means necessary to cope with the situation, even to referring extreme cases to the county grand jury.

Youngsters are encouraged to have their clean Hallowe'en fun but they are cautioned against defacing or destroying property.

The plan of policing the city and nabbing offenders on the spot was abandoned because it presented more problems than the present method.

SCOUTS HEAR ADDRESS BY ERV'N HAMRIC MONDAY

Ervin Hamric, chairman of the local Boy Scout committee, addressed Scout Troop 164 at its regular meeting Monday night. He reviewed briefly what is expected of a Scout and emphasized courtesy and obedience to parents, teachers and superiors.

During the meeting plans were discussed for the overnight hike and field mass on November 8 and 9. The campsite is located northeast of Marysville. Present plans call for departure here on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, and return Sunday afternoon.

Funeral services for George Dankesreiter, 76, who died Thursday evening, Oct. 23, at the home of his son, Lawrence Dankesreiter, were held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in Sacred Heart church with Rev. Herman Laux, pastor, officiating at the requiem high mass and at the burial in the local cemetery.

Pallbearers were Fred Herr, Frank Bindel, John Rohmer, Frank Martin, John Klement, Sr., and W.H. Endres. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Mrs. Nick Miller.

Mr. Dankesreiter was born in Anglerberg, Germany, on February 5, 1871, and was married there in 1894 to Miss Annie Zellner. In 1905 he and his wife and their two children came to the United States, settling in Oklahoma, later moving to Terrell, Texas. The family moved to Muenster about 33 years ago. He engaged in farming.

Mrs. Dankesreiter died here in 1929, and he made his home with a son, Joe Dankesreiter, and they jointly farmed land northwest of the city. Since Joe's death in 1943, Mr. Dankesreiter had resided with his son, Lawrence.

Survivors are two sons, Lawrence of Muenster and Frank of Pilot Point; 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Out of town relatives at the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dankesreiter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Maier and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Maier, all of Pilot Point, and Miss Rita Dankesreiter of Sherman.

Timely 2.5 Inch Rain Pronounced Ideal as Grain Crop Starter

So far the weather is fine and farmers of this community are happy about a good start on their next year's grain crops. The rain last weekend was ideal in more ways than one.

A total of 2.51 inches scattered over a four-day period came slowly enough to soak in with a very minimum of off-flow, and the time permits several weeks of normal growth before severe weather is due. More rain along with a delayed freeze can still result in good winter grazing.

Very little if any of the community's grain remains unplanted at this time.

According to the city's official recordings the beginning of the rain, which fell early Friday morning measured .03 inches at 8 a.m. Respective measurements for the next three 24-hour periods were 1.22, .99 and .36 inches.

More rain, measuring about .25 inch fell Wednesday morning.

As usual in this community, pasture improvements rank along with crop land improvements in estimates of the rain's benefits. With only two small rains since early summer, grazing was poor and the deficiency was felt in decreased production and increased feed costs. The revived growth of grass is expected to become apparent shortly in greater milk receipts at the cheese factory.

Happy Jack, Ex-Crown Fatally Hurt in Accident On Bowie- Decatur Road

W. H. Morrall, popularly known as Happy Jack the Clown, was fatally injured on Wednesday night of last week in a road accident between Bowie and Decatur, according to word reaching here this week. Details of the accident are not known but it is reported that he was killed when he fell from a truck.

Happy Jack had made Saint Jo his headquarters for the past several years and had appeared here several times on special shows for school children.

A former big-time circus clown he entertained school assemblies and other groups throughout Texas and Oklahoma, but continued to call Saint Jo his home since the last big rodeo held there about 10 years ago.

Funeral arrangements were not learned but his former wife and children, a girl and three boys, were contacted for instructions on the final rites.

As far as the country's welfare is concerned, it's a shame that Food Conservation Propagandist Charlie Luckman wasn't the first to think of possibilities in a nation wide rat extermination campaign. Now it seems the idea will have to get around the slow way without benefit of the government's high powered publicity machine.

The way it looks to us, the commissioners' court of Tarrant county is due credit for the best food conservation idea yet. It has hired a rat killer.

According to estimates there are about 100 million rats in the country and each one eats and wastes about two bushels of grain. In all, this country feeds its rats about twice as much grain as we hope to save in the conservation program.

So it seems the best way to cooperate is to go after the rats. For every one killed a person can give himself credit for two bushels of grain toward a worthy cause. Considering present prices he can also mark up a saving of five or six bucks.

The idea is good enough to be introduced on a systematic, nation wide scale. Though there isn't a chance to wipe out the rat population completely, it is easily possible to save many million bushels of grain. Perhaps enough to pull Europe through its famine, perhaps enough to offset the losses from our own official blunders.

Luckman really ought to put some pressure on such a plan. He's the guy who decided on a poultryless day in spite of a big surplus of poultry now eating critical grain. But so far he hasn't shown much inclination to agree with anyone else's suggestions. He walks alone and criticizes the rest for being out of step.

The absurdities that can flow from the mouths of reds and pinks never cease to amaze us. The latest prize utterance is the reference by one witness to the current investigation of movie industry subversives as the American version of a concentration camp. Imagine, the man wishes to imply that a perfectly legal and fair trial is comparable to the barbaric methods of his own beloved communists.

The man has the colossal nerve to insinuate his rights are being violated. While doing his level best to help Russian communists wreck this country he dares to presume that he can demand from this country complete immunity in the pursuit of his campaign of treason.

The attitude is about as ridiculous as that of a thug taking pot shots at a policeman and then raving because the cop took his gun. To our way of thinking the thug ought to consider himself lucky for not being shot down, and these Hollywood traitors should likewise consider themselves lucky for not being permanently disposed of in the big house or death chamber, or worse still, dealt with according to the methods of Russia.

The congressional investigation and the announcement of an intensified anti-communist propaganda campaign all over the world make up one of the most gratifying developments of the year. Too long our nation's official attitude has been to bend over backwards in order to maintain friendly relations with Russia. Our leaders have finally admitted that fairness and consideration are wasted on reprobates. They intend to publicize the shabby principles and methods of the Kremlin. They intend to show Europe who is doing just what in the matters of relief and plunder, protection and suppression. Russia won't like that. The course invites open hostility but that's infinitely better than docile submission to the Kremlin's program of underhand hostility while pretending to be friendly.

If the publicity campaign abroad will be accompanied by an intensified exposure of communism here at home lots of gratifying results will show up soon. American civilization has the advantage in a comparison with Russian barbarism.

An announcement last Sunday reminds us that the time for another cemetery collection is at hand, and a knowledge of the cemetery fund's present low balance is an inducement to strain ourselves a little more than usual. It's hardly necessary to explain here that the cost of cemetery maintenance has been going up in recent years. Donations that used to be generous are hardly adequate now. We have no choice if we wish to continue being proud of the cemetery.

Fort Worth Veteran Gets First Model of Electric One Handed Typewriter

WASHINGTON—The first one-handed electric typewriter manufactured for the Veterans Administration has been given to a Georgetown University law student whose left side was paralyzed from a battle wound.

The student-veteran is Albin Ulrickson, 34, of Fort Worth, Texas. After trying out the new machine, he said he thought that with a little practice he would be able to type almost as well as a person with two hands.

The one-handed machine has the letter keys in the right half of the four banks, and the figures and punctuation marks on the left.

IF YOU DRIVE, CARRY YOUR DRIVER'S LICENSE

Did you know that if you drive your car you must always have your driver's license along with you? The Greenville Herald warns as follows:

"Persons who drive motor vehicles any place in the State of Texas are required to carry a driver's license at all times. The law has been in effect for many years. It was tightened by the last State Legislature. Fines range from $5 to $15.70 and even more in some cases. Every motorist knows that the first question that will be asked him by any peace officer, on the highway or in case of any kind of accident, will be 'Let me see your driver's license.' If you don't have it you are two-thirds guilty to start with. And so it is a good idea to glance at your driver's license now and then and see when it expires. Then send along the application for a new one before it does expire.

It costs only 50c and may save you a fine.

Never in our lifetime has freedom been in such peril. That it will survive the writer has no doubt, but its survival depends upon our serious thought, our wise action, and our deep faith.

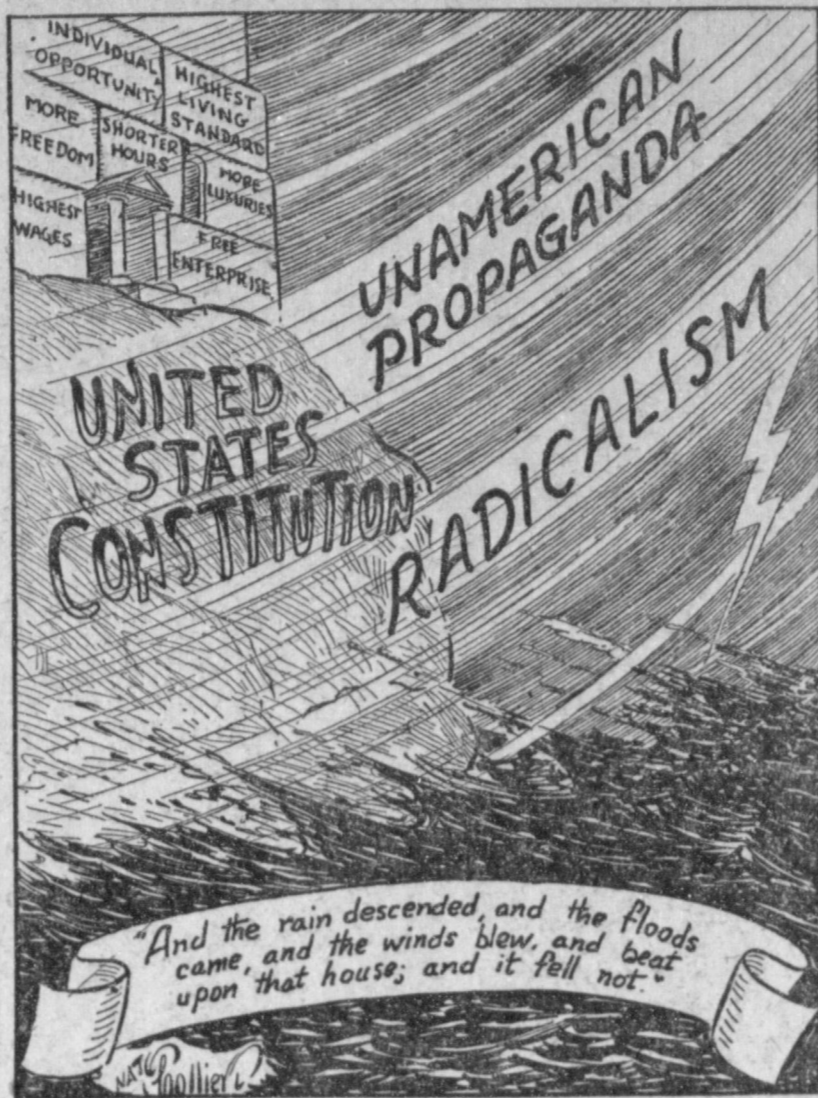

An Irish patriot, John Phillip Kern, who is accounted by some as the greatest political advocate since Cicero, back in 1790 made the following tremendous assertion: "The condition under which God has given liberty to man is eternal vigilance; which condition, if you break, servitude is at once the consequence of your crime and the punishment of your guilt."

This statement, which has been shortened to the assertion that "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," means that liberty is given to man by God, but that if man is not everlastingly and eternally vigilant it will be lost, the result of which is servitude. The issue today, therefore, is whether we remain free men or enter into a state of servitude. It is not an academic question, for daily we read in our papers that new groups of people have changed their status from freedom to servitude. One of the most famous books of our time has been written under the title, "The Road to Serfdom." Are we on that road? Freedom is in peril!

How, then, can we rescue freedom from the perilous state in which it now finds itself? First, we can change our thinking regarding our country. Once upon a time Americans were proud of their institutions, but some people have tried to make us believe that it is no longer in good style to be proud of our country. They imply that everything is wrong with the United States. To hear them talk, only one country, Russia, is always right. They tell us that our economic, social and political system is hopelessly antiquated, and they have tried to convince us that we should become "enlightened" and adopt the system of this so-called "Utopia" across the seas. They have tried to make us ashamed of our "reactionary" institutions. This thing has penetrated even to the minds of some of our business leaders.

But this type of thinking is false. Where does the world come today for its money, for its machinery, its food and its skills? America is more than ever the trustee of free civilization. Think America, think it with pride and faith!

A second peril to freedom is the decay of morals, which is proceeding at an alarming rate. Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, perhaps our greatest authority in this field, says that the only hope is a return to religious thought and action in the home and among American parents. "My hope for the future of this nation," he declares, "is predicated upon the faith in God which is nurtured in the home."

It is an old truth that needs to be restated over and over again that when a nation forgets God it loses the sheet anchor of its freedoms. Also, when a nation begins to decay morally, freedom decays with equal rapidity.

Humiliation is "an emotion caused by suddenly shrinking to our normal proportions."

 From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Sam's a Matrimony Expert
 Sam Abernathy never intended to be a matrimony expert, but he hit the nail on the head the other day when he said:
 "What marriage really needs is more open minds and a lot fewer open mouths."
 Sam may not think much of his missus' choice of hats or her habit of serving watercress and cream cheese salad. But he keeps his mouth shut (I mean, he just uses it to eat the salad). And the missus never criticizes Sam's affection for that worn-out chair before the fire, and his mellow glass of beer and pipe at the end of a long day.
 From where I sit, that prescription would apply to most human relationships. Criticism rarely rouses anything but resentment. But an open mind—whether it's applied to a woman's choice of hats, or a husband's preference for a pipe and a moderate glass of beer or two—leads to the conclusion that there's right on both sides.

School Kids Laugh Last As Teachers Flunk Quiz

Denver, Colorado — Colorado school kids had the last laugh Oct. 24. — their teachers averaged a failing 67 on a test in American history.

The quiz wasn't particularly rough. There were little matters such as which side did the Tories favor in the American Revolution? Who assassinated Lincoln? And what do we call the first 10 amendments to the U.S. Constitution?

Approximately 100 teachers were picked for the quiz at random from some 6,000 in town for the Colorado Education Association convention, and assured their identities would be kept a deep, dark secret.

The 25 questions were lifted from a standard text used by Denver public schools, and tossed every day at pupils.

But grades ranged as low as 20 out of a possible 100, or only five correct answers. And boners were pulled that would make a lad sitting under a dunce cap burst with pride at his own knowledge.

George Washington was given credit for drafting the Declaration of Independence, single-handed. One teacher guessed Robert E. Lee was president of the Confederate States, although the majority frankly didn't know who held that Civil War office.

Other misinformation supplied by the instructors included: Aaron Burr assassinated Lincoln.

The Monroe Doctrine "guaranteed equal rights to all." Pocahontas married John Smith. The U.S. acquired the western states from Spain in the Spanish-American War.

The Civil War lasted 10 years. And about half of those tested by Rocky Mountain News reporters replied that "free education for all" was guaranteed in the Bill of Rights, which didn't even mention education.

"Don't you enjoy listening to the honk of a wild goose?" "Not when he's driving an automobile."

When a person is polite enough to ask you how you are feeling, you should be polite enough not to bore him by telling him.

RETURN FROM 2000 MILE TRIP THROUGH 9 STATES

Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Haverkamp and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kupper of Lindsay, returned Tuesday from a ten-day motor trip of 2000 miles through nine states. The tour took them through Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. Relatives and friends were visited.

In Louisville, Ky., they visited Frank, Emil and John Tobbe, Joe Bischoff and Ollie Frederick and their families, who sent best regards home with them to all their relatives and friends here. They have visited here on several occasions. While in Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. Haverkamp celebrated their 26th wedding anniversary by attending a big dance.

They mentioned that they drove through quite a lot of rain and encountered considerable cold weather in the northern states. Acres and acres of growing tobacco, sweet potatoes and Irish potatoes were seen on the trip.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT ISSUES WARNING AT SCARLET FEVER TIME

Austin. — The State Department of Health has issued a warning in regard to scarlet fever, since the number of cases usually increases during the fall months. The majority of deaths from this disease occur during the months from October through February.

Scarlet fever is a very contagious and serious disease. Grown people may contract it, but children under 15 years are especially apt to have it, if exposed. It is especially dangerous for children under 5 years, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox State Health Officer, warns mothers to "not let your children take any chances with scarlet fever. Call the doctor as soon as any suspicious symptoms appear."

Dr. Cox said that the first signs you may notice are that the child seems tired, restless and out of sorts. Usually, there is a sore throat, chills, vomiting, or in some cases convulsions and fever. The skin is dry and hot, the tongue is furred, and, under this furry covering, it is red and swollen. In ordinary cases, these early signs are followed in a day or two by a rash. Little flat red points, close together, appear first on the neck and chest and soon the rash, very red in color, spreads over most of the body.

The doctor is required by law to report the case to the local health officer. It is important that the family follow carefully the quarantine instructions which the health officer issues, since a severe or fatal case of scarlet fever may develop from contact with some one who has only a light attack. Children who have had scarlet fever, or who have been exposed, must not return to school until permission is given by the health officer and physician.

Ted Neu Combines Bluestem

Ted Neu, a cooperator of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District in the Mount Pleasant group, has completed combining eight acres of Little Bluestem grass on the Frank Daugherty farm about two miles west of Valley View, which is managed by W.H. Hunter. Hunter is also a district cooperator, member of the Daugherty Conservation Group, of which the Daugherty farm is a part.

The land from which the seed was combined was seeded to Little Bluestem in the spring of 1942 and was cut for hay the third year after seeding. This year a hay crop was harvested in early July after which the seed was produced. Mr. Neu harvested the seed on a fifty-fifty basis and plans to use his share to seed a meadow strip on his farm which will be utilized for hay and as an outlet for terrace water. Hunter plans to use his share to "seed in" open spots in another field that was planted to Bluestem four years ago.

HORNETS vs. ST. MARY'S

Verge of being brought down when he threw a 40 yard lateral pass to Carnett who streaked down the sideline for 50 yards before being caught on the 25. There the Hornets held and took over as the half ended.

The Hornets took the kickoff as the second half opened and promptly moved to their third touchdown. Hellman received on the 30 and returned to the Mustang 45. Two short gains and 11 more yards by Hellman put the ball on the 31. Five and ten yard gains by Vogel reached the 16 from where a pass, Andres to Fels, added the final touchdown. Gremminger passed to Reiter for the extra point.

The balance of the period was taken up with a brief see-saw near mid-field followed by Muenster's advance to the 20.

As the final quarter opened Coach Frank Hennigar sent in his reserves who lost on downs on the 15. They recovered the ball on an intercepted pass and lost it the same way a few plays later. The Mustangs failed to advance and kicked to the Hornets on the 42. A 15 yard penalty plus a 16 yard sprint by Lehnertz reached the 11 where the Mustangs braced again and regained the ball on downs.

From there the Mustangs advanced to mid-field and lost the ball again as Yosten intercepted a long pass on his 34. The Hornets kicked and the Mustangs were again playing at mid-field as the game ended.

The Mustangs with only three reserves on hand made a gallant stand against heavy odds holding four times in the scoring zone and completing seven first downs on the offense. Carnett was outstanding in spite of injuries carried over from a previous game and Schumacher and Walter distinguished themselves by consistently good playing.

Each team completed 3 out of 14 pass attempts and Muenster completed 12 first downs.

MR. AND MRS. JIM COOK LEAVE ON VACATION TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cook are leaving this Friday afternoon for a three-week vacation trip that will take them to New York City for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Anthony Tagliavia and husband, and Mr. Cook's uncle a retired army major, whom he has not seen since he was a young lad.

From there they will go to Washington, D.C., to Niagara Falls and into Canada, and on their return will stop in Chicago to visit Mr. Cook's two sisters. They will be back here on Nov. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Wimmer and Ray Otto were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Wimmer.

The other is an estimate on the value of service rendered. How much time would we have to spend as individuals to keep the cemetery in its present condition? — or just in a semi-improved condition?

Deep down in his heart everybody of the community knows that his own saving in time and trouble and his personal pride in a well kept cemetery justifies a generous donation.

A little thought along those lines by all of us will insure a very pleasing total amount.
