

800 Attend 1960 Catholic League State Convention

The Catholic State League, in its closing session of the 62nd state convention at Fredericksburg, strongly urged everyone to keep well informed on world conditions emphasizing that "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing."

Lively sessions, with enthusiastic delegates geared to handle the lengthy business on the agenda, and top notch speakers marked the three-day meeting, July 12-13-14.

And the Catholic Day program, traditionally the big event of the convention drew what is probably an all time high attendance with some 800 persons present. About 35 members of the clergy including a bishop and two monsignori attended.

In the annual election of officers, Nick Block of Lindsay was again favored for state president. He is entering his fourth term.

The convention took a direct and firm stand against the admission of Red China to United Nations membership, making its objection known to both the Democratic and Republican Conventions Resolutions and Platform Committees.

It also protested the discriminatory Federal Aid to Public Schools Bill recently passed by both Houses of Congress. These bills contain provisions for funds for general welfare purposes for children but exclude such benefits for students attending private schools.

And it went on record as being opposed to the "Equal Rights" Amendment to the Constitution and encouraged its members to a greater interest in the Christian Family Movement; urged women to more modesty in dress, and encouraged a continued study of the problems of the "family farm" so the present trend of swallowing up these farms by large commercial interests can be stopped before it is too late.

The convention recommended the passage of House Bills HR 7379 and HR 11516 which deal with obscene literature and told members to write to their representatives in Congress to support their passage.

The 373 delegates heard His Excellency, the Most Rev. John L. Morkovsky, Bishop of Amarillo, and Joseph Meisner, field secretary of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference of Des Moines, Iowa, speak on the farm problem. Among suggestions, parents were reminded to early planning so that the family farm may be passed on to the next generation of the family.

Bishop Morkovsky was celebrant of the solemn pontifical mass on Wednesday morning. Father Bertrin Roll of the religious order of the Capuchins spoke on "The Inside Story" dealing with the problems of the Christian home and the duties of the individual members of the family to one another.

Other officers to serve with Nick Block, who is also president of the Men's Section, are Mrs. Henriette Galle of San Antonio, retained as president of the Women's Section; Anthony Jung of Fredericksburg, new president of the Youth Section, A. B. Fiedler of Westphalia, new vice president; Ben Reninger, re-elected treasurer, and Claude Marty, re-elected secretary, both of San Antonio, and Mrs. Alois Swab of New Braunfels, treasurer of the Women's Section.

The Catholic Life Insurance Union re-elected officers: Grand President John P. Preiffer, Secretary Edward M. Dausin, and Treasurer Ernest Herrera Jr., all of San Antonio.

The annual awards to youngsters participating in the Rural Life contest went to students from White Deer, Westphalia, Moravia, Rowena, and Fredericksburg. Additional awards in a National Catholic Rural Life Conference contest were won by a Fredericksburg boy and a Stonewall girl. Jimmy Flusche of Lindsay received honorable mention on his essay. He was fifth among the boys.

Final meeting of the three-day convention followed a requiem high mass for deceased members for which the Rev. Joseph J. Hildebrand, spiritual director, was officiant.

Weimer was selected as the 1961 convention site.

NEWS OF THE SICK

John Fleitman is a patient at Gainesville Sanitarium for medical care and observation.

Mrs. J. A. Klement was dismissed from Gainesville Sanitarium Sunday evening to continue recovery at home from a thyroid operation performed last Thursday.

Clifford Sicking's checkup the past week brought good news for the nine-year-old boy. His arm operation was a success and he's regaining use of his fingers. A severe cut last May when he fell on glass severed main nerves and led to his right hand leaving his fingers useless. The arm is free of a cast and traction now but will need therapy for some time. Clifford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Sicking.

Henry Luke spent his July 21 birthday this year in the VA Hospital at McKinney but it was almost like a birthday present when his doctors told him he's doing so well he'll probably be home in 2 weeks. Until then he's in Ward 56.

Mrs. A. J. Huchton and son Billy and Mrs. Bernard Haverkamp were in Sherman Tuesday for Billy's checkup. He's doing all right but still needs medication and special care since an illness of spinal meningitis last December when he was six months old.

R. N. Fette is making satisfactory recovery from a gall stone operation performed July 15. Doctors haven't said when he will be permitted to leave the Nocona hospital.

Mrs. Anna Popp of Lindsay was admitted to Gainesville Sanitarium Monday.

Donnie Trubenbach spent Thursday night and Friday in Gainesville Sanitarium for treatment of a slight concussion, the result of bumping his head as he got in the family car. He has been a shut-in at the home of his parents, the Martin Trubenbachs, most of this week. Doctor said he can get back into circulation this weekend.

Mrs. Al Walterscheid returned to work at Pangel's Store Friday after a three-week vacation during which time she nursed a badly sprained left ankle, the result of a mis-step off the porch at her home.

It takes more than a broken arm to keep Mrs. Matt Stelzer of Post from coming to Muenster for a relative's marriage and she was enjoying the festivities of the Pels-Muller wedding with her right arm in a cast. She fractured two bones at the wrist last Tuesday in a fall at her home.

Johnny Hacker has been dismissed from the Hobbs, N. M., hospital to continue recovery at home from a head injury received in an oil field accident last week. But he'll be off from work for another week or ten days, according to family members who returned during the weekend after a visit with him and his family.

Notes on Building and Improvement

Building activity has been slow the past few weeks but one house will be added to the city with work on the foundation starting this week-end. It will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Gobble . . . a complete rebuilding of the former Scoggins house on a lease south of town. The house will be moved to Third Street on a site west of the Bob Reiter residence.

At Maurice Pangel's new home carpenters are working on cabinets and interior finishings.

A new country home is being built for Mr. and Mrs. Russ Linn east of their present home. It will be a three-bedroom house with attached garage.

The place occupied by the Henry Pels Jr. family has been re-roofed and one-room addition is in progress.

In other improvements, L. A. Bernauer has had cabinet work and an inside paint job on his house formerly occupied by the John Herts, Mrs. Joe Felderhoff's home has had inside and outside paint, and Cecil Rathburn has made kitchen improvements.

City Tax Board Sets July 28 as Date for Hearing

This year's tax equalization board for the city has finished the work of equalizing taxes after four long sessions and has set the hearing for July 28.

Meanwhile some 250 residents will be receiving cards notifying them of changes in renditions, either lowered or raised.

The city council served on the board, ending the year by year effort to equalize city taxes Monday night. Throughout, the board used a basis of 25-per cent of valuation of the property. Other changes were made to equalize discrepancies that were not noticed before and listing items that are either new or were previously overlooked.

There will be no notice cards for persons whose renditions are unchanged or whose taxes will be the same as last year's. The hearing on July 28 will be held in the City Hall at 8 p.m.

See Texas Sights And Kin on Trip

Seeing Texas sights and relatives took up annual vacation time this year for Mrs. Al Schad and daughters Margaret Mary and Clarice. Last visit was here Monday to Wednesday with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. J. S. Horn, who accompanied them to Mesquite to spend a few days.

The vacationing trio set out for San Antonio, stopping at New Braunfels on the way for a tour of the Mission Valley Cotton mills where they saw the process from cotton bale to finished product.

In San Antonio they visited the Schad sisters, Sisters Liboria, Alma Sophie, Vera and Helen Margaret and their aunt, Sister Fortunata at Our Lady of the Lake Convent, and went sight-seeing to places of interest.

Corpus Christi was next, visiting Father Sylvester Schad at Corpus Christi College-Academy and having him join them in seeing the sights and a boat excursion. They also dropped by to greet Father Patrick Hannon.

In Harlingen they were guests of Mrs. John Wilde and other relatives, paid a visit to San Juan Mission, and drove into Old Mexico.

Finally at Windthorst, they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Jake Horn and family, then came to Muenster.

Texas Is Tops for Fish on This Trip

Fishing at Bull Shoals, Ark., was a relaxing vacation according to Father Bruno Fuhrmann who returned with a wonderful tan — and fish. But he had to come back to Texas to make the biggest catch of his vacation — an eight pounder at Red River. With him on the fishing trip in Arkansas was Father Louis Deuster of Jonesboro.

Talking about vacations, Father Martin Fischer says his will come later this year, in November, when he goes to Binghamton, New York, to celebrate the silver wedding anniversary mass for his brother and sister-in-law.

Clara Fisher Is Interviewed for Newspaper Story

Readers of the Sunday Fort Worth Star Telegram found Muensterite Clara Fisher smiling at them from page 12, section one, and went on to read the accompanying paragraphs. Clara was one of the principals in a feature story on the pros and cons of night work.

While opinions differ, Nurse Clara Fisher says she never has been able to get accustomed to pre-dawn working hours. The capable and pretty nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fisher.

The story, authored by Marshall Lynam, is as follows: So efficient is Clara that two years ago, when she was only 20, she was made night supervisor on the hospital's 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift.

Even though she kept the job 18 months before giving it up to become head nurse in the emergency room on the 3 to 11 p.m. shift, Clara never got accustomed to pre-dawn working hours.

"I don't think I'd ever get used to it," she says. She had trouble going to sleep. And when she did drop off, the telephone usually rang or an encyclopedia salesman knocked on the door.

"It got so that I wasn't sleeping days or nights either," she recalls. Clara, too, found she was eating only one proper meal a day — supper.

"I lost 20 pounds," she said. She has been on the 3 to 11 p.m. shift in the emergency room since December, and likes it fine. As a matter of fact, she prefers those hours because the emergency room is busiest then.

Pee Wees Change Name to Aces and Blank Whitesboro

Muenster Pee Wees, turned Aces by a change of their team name, lived up to their new moniker by blanking Whitesboro there Tuesday in their only game of the week.

It was the second no-hit, no-run affair in a row with Billy Reiter pitching all the way. He struck out 15 batters. The score 8-0.

Muenster got its eight on 8 hits, 1 walk and 7 errors. James Harris led with 2 singles, Allan Reiter and Ronnie Russell each turned in a double and Harold Flusche, Billy Reiter, Larry Gobble and Robert Walterscheid accounted for a single each.

They made 3 in the first, 2 in the second and 2 in the third and one in the seventh.

The boys were rained out of two games, with Hood last Friday and with Whitesboro Monday. The next game will be with Whitesboro here next Tuesday.

Statistics on Billy Reiter's pitching in nine games this season show a good record: on the mound for 67 1/3 innings for 17 hits and 133 strike-outs.

Vacation Brings Week of Visiting

Father Leo Koessler, here on a week's vacation between assignments in Denison and Cleburne, was the guest of his mother, Mrs. Alfons Koessler Sr., and together they visited all the rest of the family.

They spent the weekend in San Antonio seeing their sisters and daughters, Sister Mary Corrine and Sister Mary Lin, at Our Lady of the Lake Convent where they also enjoyed seeing other nuns they know including their cousins and nieces, Sister Catherine Henry and Sister Michael Marie, and former Muensterites Sister Claude Roberg and Sister Eleanor Pels.

They also stopped for a visit with Fred Mosman formerly of Lindsay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Laux. Mr. Mosman, 82, said he was doing fine and sent regards to all his friends.

Returning, the two spent Monday in Sherman with their sister and daughter, Mrs. J. D. Caplinger and family.

The rest of the week they visited Norbert Koessler at Gainesville Sanitarium and his family here, also the Tony and Alfons Koessler Jr. families, and went to Lindsay for a visit with the Tony Hermes family.

Father Leo leaves Friday morning to relieve the Cleburne pastor for a vacation. He came here from Denison after three weeks of parish work during the pastor's vacation.

Two Muenster groups, meeting in Carlsbad Caverns, were surprised to see each other. After visiting in Hobbs, N. M., with their son and brother, Johnny Hacker and his family, the Paul Hackers, his sister Mrs. J. Y. Brandon and their mother, Mrs. Andrew Hacker drove to Carlsbad for a tour of the Cave before returning home. There they met Mr. and Mrs. Albert Herr and daughters Paula and Marlene who picked the Caverns for one of their vacation sites.

Area Favored by Good Rain and Mild Temperature

Muenster has had rain. Good, soaking rain in three falls during a five day period for a total of 5.39 inches according to the city's gauge. Readings show 2.87 on July 15, .56 on the 18th and 1.96 on the 20th.

The total for July, as a result, stands at 5.66 and the total for the year is 18.48 inches.

Along with the rain came pleasant temperature, better than average for July. While a few farmers had hay ready to bale and were temporarily delayed, it was "a million dollar" rain to most farmers and ranchers. Lush grass is fattening cattle, feed is shooting up and corn is filling out.

The area lost little in runoff water. Most of it was absorbed.

Post Office Adds More Lock Boxes

Mexico Tour Dates Changed to August

The Texas Farm Bureau Goodwill Tour to Mexico has been postponed until August 4-14, according to an announcement by J. H. West, president of the state farm organization. The tour was originally scheduled for July 14-24.

The tour itinerary, which includes visits to places of agricultural interests as well as sight-seeing and stop-overs in fabulous resorts, has not been changed West added.

The tour is not limited to Farm Bureau members since transportation to and from Mexico City is via regular airline flights instead of a chartered plane. Persons desiring to go along can secure information on how to become a tour member by writing the Texas Farm Bureau, Box 489, Waco.

Catholic Heritage

Religion in politics has long been a controversial issue especially when it refers to a Catholic seeking high public office. With the nomination of Senator John Kennedy as the Democratic candidate for President the issue is likely to grow in intensity. In that connection it is appropriate here to present some Catholic views and facts taken from a recent article submitted by the local unit of the National Council of Catholic Women.

The Roman Catholic Church in the United States is three times the size of any other religious body in the country. It is the richest jewel in the world wide Church counting its income in the billions of dollars and its property in the tens of billions. Its members send more money to the Vatican for the support of the Church than do the Catholics in any other country. It spends one billion a year on its U. S. educational system alone, and almost as much in charity through a network of 1,661 hospitals and homes. The administration of this tremendous structure is a larger undertaking than the management of General Motors and of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company combined. For all its size and wealth, its stupendous historical, religious, charitable and educational accomplishments, the Roman Catholic Church remains a subject of controversy and criticism.

So great was the colonial anti-Catholic spirit that, from 1691 until after the Revolution, no colony permitted legal Catholic worship or allowed any Catholic to hold public office. Despite this, the few Catholics in the colonies made notable contributions to the rebellion. A Catholic signed the Declaration of Independence, two signed the Constitution. Thomas Fitz-Simons was General Washington's secretary, and John Barry was commander of the American Navy. Charles Carroll was so patriotic that he signed the Declaration of Independence with his address as well as his name, lest there be any doubt as to his identity; he the richest man in the colonies, had the most to lose.

In the West, the American back door was guarded against the British at Detroit by Father Pierre Gibault, a missionary who persuaded Catholic settlers in the Indiana Territory to join the Revolution. Three of the most distinguished Revolutionary heroes were Catholic: Casimir Pulaski, a cavalry leader, who died in battle; Thaddeus Kosciusco, a hero of Saratoga, and the Marquis de Lafayette, one of Washington's best friends. Catholics won freedom of worship in the Revolution, but not social acceptance.

Except for the New England states, the North Atlantic seaboard and Virginia, almost all of what is now the United States was first penetrated by Catholics. Their explorations broke the wilderness from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico; and from Florida to California. The first Catholic parish in what is now the United States was at St. Augustine, Florida, founded by the Spaniards in 1565. By 1640, the Franciscans had thirty missions in New Mexico. In the North, French priests were in Wisconsin by 1661, along the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers by 1673, and had made a permanent settlement in Iowa by 1783. The great Junipero Serra arrived in California in 1769. He found nine of the missions established by the Franciscans along the Pacific Coast and developed a herd of 250,000 cattle. Few perhaps recall a more permanent contribution; he kept the Russians from settling California, a feat that changed history.

There were hundreds of explorer-priests, dedicated to the task of christianizing the Indians, among them Marquette, Jagues, and Menard. Not so well known, but typical of these hardy churchmen, was Pierre de Smet, a Belgian Jesuit who died in 1873. He explored the entire area from Missouri to Oregon. His information was invaluable to later settlers, for he included the habits of rattlesnakes, pole cats, and mountain lions, knowledge of edible and poisonous fruits and tubers, and complete navigation charts of several rivers, including the Missouri and Columbia. Thousands of immigrants used copies of Father De Smet's writings as their only guide to the wilderness of Kansas, Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming, and the Rocky Mountains. He lived to hear Senator Thomas Hart Benton say of him in Congress, "Father De Smet has done more for Indian welfare and keeping them in peace and friendship with the United States than an army with banners.

Despite persecution, Catholics proved patriots in the Civil War just as they had in the Revolution. They volunteered in large numbers on both sides. Possibly half the adult male Irish population in America, and a somewhat smaller percentage of adult male Poles, were involved. The North had some fifty Catholic generals and several Irish brigades. The South was served by twenty Catholic generals and one admiral.

But astonishing, and lightening, to the Church's critics was the action of the nuns. For twenty-five years, the Protestant population had been saturated with books and pamphlets, almost universally believed, describing high living in convents and monasteries. The nuns descended on the battlefields as angels of mercy, and by their action disproved the vicious tales. At least 600 Sisters tended the wounded. After the Battle of Gettesburg, the 230 Sisters of Charity at nearby Emmitsburg went to the field in a body, set up a hospital in a Methodist church and saved the lives of hundreds of wounded. Soldiers who watched the nuns at work refused thereafter to believe evil of them. For the next generation, the Church enjoyed unprecedented freedom from criticism.

Father John Carroll of Maryland insisted that survival of the Catholic Church in this country was possible only if it was thoroughly Americanized. He envisioned a native born clergy and hierarchy with their own policies, Vatican approved, in which separation of Church and State would be recognized. Bishop Carroll's policy has been the Catholic Church's policy ever since. The historic contributions of Catholics to the growth of the nation are resented by some Protestants. Whether anyone can be simultaneously a loyal American and a loyal Catholic is the most persistent point of misunderstanding. The Protestant argument is that the Pope, being not only a spiritual leader but the ruler of a 108 acre principality know as Vatican City, can if he desires, tell Catholics what to do politically. Further, this argument runs, the Pope would do so if Catholics were a political majority under a Catholic President. Actually, under Church Law and tradition, the Pope cannot make utterances on such matters. Each American bishop rules his own diocese, subject only to supervision and ratification of his decisions by the Vatican. The Pope may speak for the Church only on matters of faith and morals, and then only to the entire Church, not to the American or any other segment. Catholic policies in Spain and South America, often deplored by Protestants, are not dictates of the Pope, but policies of the native hierarchy.

The younger generation of Catholic theologians argue that if Catholics will break from their self-imposed shell and take a more active part in all phases of American life, Protestants would soon realize that Catholics are not different from themselves — except in religious observance. There will always be differences of outlook and minor fractions, but Catholics at least would be accepted for what they are — the loyal Americans which, time and time again, they have proved themselves to be.

WHY DO IT, DR. DOOLEY?

By Richard B. Scheiber, Associate Editor of OUR SUNDAY VISITOR

Born in 1927 in St. Louis of a wealthy family, Tom Dooley never knew hardship. His schooling was the best. After finishing medical school in 1953, he received a commission in the Navy and volunteered to assist in the evacuation of refugees from Communist guerilla warfare in North Vietnam.

DOOLEY then became Medical Officer and interpreter for the Navy Preventive Medical Unit in Haiphong. For eight months, until Haiphong fell to the Reds, he organized, built and maintained the refugee camps which handled the evacuation of more than half-a-million Vietnamese.

Dooley

Returning to the United States, the young doctor was assigned to the Navy General Hospital, Bethesda, Maryland. While there he decided his place was with the underprivileged and Communist-threatened free people of Indo-China. He made plans to return and establish private medical stations in the villages of Laos. In 1956, with three of his former Navy medical corpsmen, Dooley went to Laos and founded a hospital and medical training station.

Once in Holyoke, Massachusetts, Dr. Dooley held a press conference for representatives of national and international wire services. Also present was a young boy, a reporter from a high school paper, who asked what the doctor considers one of the most penetrating questions ever posed to him.

AFTER EVERYONE had finished his questions on Dooley and his work, the boy asked: "Doctor, what do you get out of all this?"

The Doctor, after a moment's thought, answered simply: "Happiness!" He went on to say he found his happiness in a sense of fulfillment in doing what God meant him to do on this earth. "I'm a doctor," Dooley says, "a doctor's job is to cure sick people, and that's exactly what I'm doing."

"Other doctors get a sense of fulfillment too," Dooley says. "They cure sick people just as I do. But they know if they aren't there, someone else will take care of their sick. With me, it's different," he says. "If I'm not there to help my patients, nobody helps them. I'm the only doctor they know."

"BUT IT GOES deeper than that," he says. "When I'm working in my valley with my people, I'm serving men where they need me most. Wherever you find man, he is made to the image and likeness of God, and I feel by serving where I'm needed most, I'm serving God as best I can."

Tom Dooley is dying of cancer. He might die next year. He might die two years, or five years or fifty years from now. He says that doesn't concern him. He has too much to do, and too little time to do it, no matter how long he lives. There are millions of people in the world who need help and love. Tom Dooley is convinced that they are his personal responsibility.

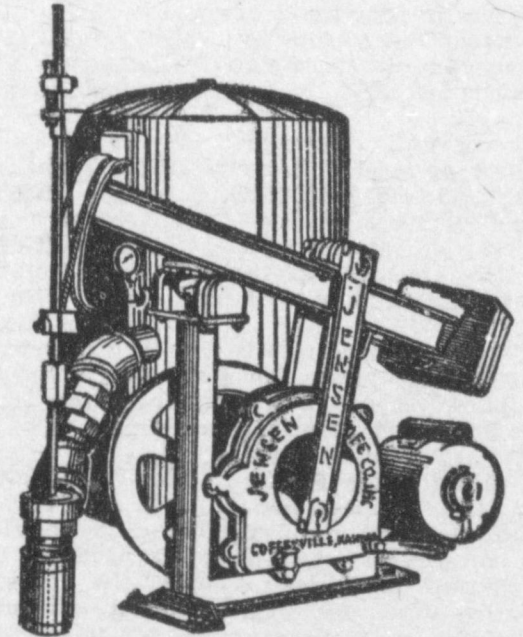

NO MATTER how long he lives, Doctor Tom Dooley will spend his time trying to convince everyone he sees that these people are their personal responsibility too.

Dr. Dooley's address is MEDICO, Box 2, Times Square, New York.

Through INDUSTRIALIZATION . . .

New industries mean new payrolls, new jobs, new people, new growth for a community. Industrial development is a basic requirement for a balanced, prosperous economy in Texas.

Toward this end, Texas Power & Light Company maintains a staff of industrial specialists who assist industrial foundations, Chambers of Commerce and other local organizations in their industrial development activities. These industrial specialists have available the facts about markets, raw materials, industrial sites, water, labor and other factors concerning this area in which industries seeking new locations are interested. It is their business to assist local groups in bringing new industries to the "Texas Bright Spot."

This is another example of free enterprise at work. This Company, a business-managed, investor-owned, tax-paying electric utility company, pledges continued help and support in the industrial growth of the area it serves.

Smooths the Way . . .

Just as oil lubricates the machinery of business so does NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING smooth the way to greater sales by the local merchant; increase his profits; and enable him to point out to the people of his community not only where to buy but how to save.

Army Leave Gives Janickis Time for Tour of Europe

"It was great. It was wonderful." That's what Warrant Officer and Mrs. J. P. Janicki and their five daughters think of their European tour taken while he had a leave from army duty in Germany.

In detailing the trip to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Pagel, Mrs. Janicki writes in part:

"We stopped first in Innsbruck, Austria, seeing the sights, then drove into Italy. In Verona and Vincenza we visited interesting spots, then went to Venice which is beautiful. We saw everything there. Next we drove down the Adriatic Sea coast to the city of Rimini where we lived on the beach, then to Assisi, the home of St. Francis, and Pauda, the home of St. Anthony, reaching Rome that night.

"The next morning we went to the convent where we stayed with Franciscan Sisters for the next two days. Our friend, Father Clause, was waiting for us at 8:30 in the morning and after leaving the two babies in the nursery at the convent we started. The first day we saw the Vatican and St. Peter's Square which simply defy description at this time. We also saw St. Peter's Tomb in the Basilica, the Pope's vestments and jewels and then went to the top of the Dome to look over Rome from there. We also knelt at the Tomb of Pope Pius which is kept as fresh as the day of burial. Perpetual veneration is held and the crowds are tremendous.

"On the second day we again started early, at 7 a.m., seeing the other three main Basilicas. Then came our audience with the Pope, even our two littlest ones accompanying us.

"Seeing the Pope is really something to remember. He spoke to the group in Italian, English, French and Spanish. He is very handsome and gracious and welcomed all the people especially the American servicemen and their families referring to them as 'the best ambassadors on earth.'

"After that we visited the two other main Basilicas and then went to the Catacombs. We just went until our feet hurt so bad we couldn't walk any more. Father Clause had everything timed and we didn't waste a minute.

"On the return trip we drove to Leghorn, sight-seeing all the way, and spent the next day at Como, Switzerland, the next day it was Zurich and then through the Black Forest through Stuttgart and home. The things we saw we can never forget."

Theresa Mae Pels And Arnold Muller Say Nuptial Vows

In a double ring ceremony in Sacred Heart Church, Miss Theresa Mae Pels exchanged vows with Arnold Muller Saturday afternoon, Father Martin Fischer reading the service and celebrating the nuptial high mass at 4 o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Henry Pels Sr. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Matt Muller.

Theresa was a pretty bride in a formal wedding gown of white Chantilly lace and ruffled nylon tulle over taffeta. The fitted lace bodice had long petal point sleeves and sequins edged the Sabrina neckline. The bouffant skirt, fashioned of tiers of ruffled nylon tulle, was topped with a layer of lace divided at the center front. A pearl and rhinestone tiara held her waist-length veil and she carried white rose buds atop a white prayer book, a gift from the groom.

Her jewelry was "something borrowed," a pearl necklace and matching ear clips belonging to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Pels Jr., and "something blue" was a linen handkerchief, a gift from her aunt, Sister Eleanor, of Our Lady of the Lake convent.

Attendants for the couple were the groom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Muller, married three weeks ago. As matron of honor she wore a waltz length dress of turquoise blue with matching head piece and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Sacred Heart choir sang the Missa Terzia with Anthony Luke at the organ and after mass he accompanied Mrs. Norbert Walterscheid, soloist, as she presented "Mother at Your Feet" while the bride placed a bouquet of white gladioli and fern on the Blessed Virgin's altar.

Herbie Knabe and James Walterscheid, nephews of the couple were ushers. Sunburst arrangements of pink gladioli adorned the altar.

The wedding reception and buffet meal followed in the Parish Hall with Mrs. Joe Lehnertz catering and nieces of the bride, Misses Eunice Knauf and Paulette Walterscheid, registering some 175 guests. Afterwards there was a wedding dance in the VFW Hall.

In the dining hall the bride's table was decorated to carry out the double wedding ring theme with pink and white glads as the floral complement. These flowers and fern circled the handsome all-white three-tier wedding cake and miniature white wedding bells completed the decor.

When the couple left on a honeymoon not revealing their destination, she was wearing a blue nylon outfit with white accessories. They will make their home here. He is employed as a driver for a local trucking company.

Among out of town relatives at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Don Muller of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Stelzer and Mr. and Mrs. Matt Stelzer of Post, Mrs. Eva Gottlob of Azle, Mrs. Joe Schnitker and

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schnitker Jr. and son Bobby of Denison, the Stan and Paul Yostens of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Herr of Midwest City, Okla., Mrs. Ben Bengfort and Hugo Bengfort of Lindsay, the Maurice Stelzers, the Randy Bayers, Mrs. John Corcoran and Linda and Tommy Corcoran of Gainesville and Mrs. Corcoran's daughter, Mrs. A. C. DeRossett and son Ronnie of Palatka, Fla.

Off-To-School Fete Has Four Honorees

Supper Sunday night at the Paul Fetsch home honored four members of the Flusche kinship who will be leaving soon to attend school away from home.

The honorees were Charles Flusche of Decatur who will enter St. John's Seminary in San Antonio, Robert Fetsch who will return to Subiaco, Ark., and Evelyn Fetsch and Patsy Zimmerer who will enter the juniorate at Jonesboro, Ark. The group of 33 guests for the supper included all the sisters of Mrs. Fetsch and their families from here and Lindsay and the Al Flusches of Decatur.

Because the Andy Flusches were unable to attend the farewell gathering, Mr. and Mrs. Fetsch and family drove to Dallas Tuesday to spend the day with them.

Robisons Return From Texas Trip

Sight-seeing in Texas furnished a week's vacation for Mrs. Earl Robison and son Jimmy this year when they accompanied her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Davidson and daughter Glanda Kay to Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, Austin and Huntsville.

In Houston they saw the shipping yards, San Jacinto Monument, and Battleship Texas. Swimming in the Gulf, a boat ride, and sight-seeing took up their time in Galveston.

First stop in San Antonio was a visit to the Alamo and then a tour of old missions. . . . Immaculate Conception, San Juan Capistrano, San Francisco de Espada and Mission San Jose. The latter called "Queen of Missions" was of particular interest with its Rose Window and 23-step spiral stairway without a nail in its construction.

The State Capitol and Governor's Mansion were of special interest in Austin and at Huntsville they saw the State Prison.

In Fort Worth the group visited their brothers, Bernice and Raymond Davidson, all getting together in the latter's home for supper followed by home movies of the hosts' vacation trip to New Mexico and Old Mexico and their nephew's Ray and Dan's trip through Colorado, Arizona and Canada.

Party Is Surprise For J. D. Fleitman

A surprise party greeted John Dave Fleitman Thursday night to observe his birthday and 30 classmates and friends helped him celebrate with gifts, games, birthday cake and other refreshments.

The celebration was especially surprising because it came almost a week before John Dave's 16th birthday which was July 20.

Sharing hostess duties at the family home were John Dave's mother, Mrs. Bruno Fleitman, and his sister Sarah Ann, assisted by Charlotte Schilling.

Others present were Frank Schilling Jr., Bobby Pels, Ronnie Endres, Clarence Bayer, Anthony and Charles Knabe, Truman Wolf, Claude Bayer, Billy and Paul Dangelmayr, Donnie and Bobby Hess, Dickie Hesse, Conrad Walterscheid, Jerry Fleitman.

Carol Hess, and her guest Doris Berend of Hereford, Betty Ann Dangelmayr, Carol Wimmer, Alice and Judy Walter, Sandra Walter, Annette Knauf, Lucille Dankesreiter, Loretta Schmitt, Patsy Endres, Frances Walterscheid, Joyce Hacker, and Blondie and Janie Fleitman.

Supper Party for NTPA Employees

NTPA employees treated themselves to their semi-annual supper party Thursday night with their wives, husbands, or dates as guests.

The fried chicken plus menu was catered by Mrs. Joe Lehnertz for a group of about 70. After the meal, they played cards and dominoes. The social was held at the plant.

A husband brought his dog to the veterinarian and asked that the dog's tail be cut to the very last hair.

"Sorry, I can't do that," the vet said. "Why do you want to do that to the innocent dog?"

"My mother-in-law will be visiting us next week," he answered. "And I want to eliminate any possible sign of welcome."

New arrivals: Diann for the Joe Horns and Kenneth for the L. J. Yostens.

"The Life of the Party" by Bennett Cerf is among new books at City Library. Bennett Cerf, author, publisher, columnist, and public speaker is well known to all who are viewers of the television show "What's My Line?"

In this book he has collected the choicest chuckles from all over the world. Chapters of the book read like this: "Tension, dealing with the Army and the Navy; Business As Usual, about bosses, department stores, insurance, real estate and salesmen; The Cream of the Guests, on house guests, hotels, restaurants, and resorts; The High and the Flighty, about society, clubs, drinkers and beggars; Where There's An Ill, with doctors, dentists and analysts. There are 26 chapters in all, each entitled appropriately.

This is a book to enjoy, especially for those who are pressed for time for reading. One can skim through, reading here and there, without losing the plot of a story. But the reader will probably go back to it day after day until the two-week time loan is up. It's that interesting.

July 23-30 Set as Farm Safety Week By Texas Governor

Governor Price Daniel by proclamation has designated the week of July 24-30 as Farm Safety Week in Texas. This same period has also been designated as National Farm Safety Week by the President of the United States.

In his proclamation, Governor Daniel said: "The Nation's economy is dependent upon the continued well-being and progress of our State's agricultural population. Accidents from farm work cause needless suffering, distress and loss of life each year among our rural families.

"By directing the attention of our rural residents to safety education, such worthwhile programs now being conducted can greatly reduce accidents. I urge all Texas farm families to increase their vigilance against needless accidents and further encourage interested organizations and individuals to participate in this program."

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council points out that purpose of the special week is to focus attention on the year-round need for reducing the number of farm accidents, and to cause those who can do something about the problem, to act. The farmer and his family, says the Council, must carry safety into their everyday lives. Nationally, they add, farm accidents cost one and a quarter billion dollars annually, a sizeable sum any way you take it.

The ever-tightening cost-price squeeze faced by agriculturists makes accident prevention even more important, says the Council, because a single costly accident can just about squeeze out the profits from most farm enterprises.

The Council joins Governor Daniel in urging rural residents and organizations to make safety their number one project for the months ahead.

Texas traffic collisions have injured more than 119,000 persons each year for the past five years.

Ewes that have twins will often neglect the first lamb and give all their attention to the one born last. You can use an aerosol-type can of air freshener to remedy this situation. Spray the neglected lamb and rub some of the spray on the ewe's nose. The spray destroys the lambs' individual odors, making them smell the same, and the ewe will probably adopt them both. This same trick will also work to get a ewe to adopt a lamb that doesn't belong to her.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting — "at least twenty-three miles to the gallon with an automatic transmission . . . and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby sitter.

Twenty years of growth is the record claimed for the national 4-H clothing award program which today involves nearly three-quarters of a million girls between 10 and 21 years of age. SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Soil conservationists like the theme of Farm Safety Week this year — "Enjoy Farm Life... Practice Safety."

While the special week has been designated for July 24-30, smart farmers and ranchers practice safety a full 52 weeks a year.

Special efforts in behalf of farm safety mean a great deal to all Soil Conservation Service personnel because in this area they are closely tied in with the construction of farm ponds.

Records show that about three-fourth of the nation's farm families are accident-free every year. The serious and time-loss injuries being suffered by only one-fourth. During the decade of the 1950s, farm families reduced their accident death rate from 63.3 to 54.3 per 100,000 farm residents. If this trend can be held during the 1960s by practicing safety on the farm the reward will be greater enjoyment of life for thousands of farm families.

There are a lot of ways to get hurt, even to lose life on a farm. The death rates associated with machinery, drownings, firearms, electrical current and handling animals are increasing. It's important therefore that all work and spend time on farms stay alert to the dangers that affect their lives.

The marvelous career of Hugh Hammond Bennett is over. The renowned soil conservationist and first Chief of the Soil Conservation Service died July 7 in Burlington, N. C. He was 79.

In his lifetime, Bennett wore the mantle of greatness. He combined knowledge and vision with remarkable feats of persuasion. He was responsible, as nearly as one man can be, for changing the attitude of the nation from indifference to active concern for its soil. He added "topsoil" to the layman's vocabulary. He called it a priceless, irreplaceable heritage and made it stick.

Bennett launched the modern soil conservation program which is changing the landscape of the nation. He built and inspired a far-flung organization of conservation technician-salesmen.

In his surveys he came to the conclusion that sheet erosion was the most dangerous of all types of land destruction because it was so extensive and because farmers rarely saw it take place.

In 1930 he was appointed Chief of the Soil Conservation Service when it was set up in the Department of Agriculture. He built the SCS from the ground up to work with farmers and ranchers on their land. He was a forceful champion of Districts.
