NOTES FROM CITY LIBRARY

Mrs. Carrie Hudspeth of Cooke County Library paid a visit to the City Library Friday afternoon, made an exchange of books, and helped the local group with classifying volumes.

With Mrs. J. M. Weinzappel, librarian, for the meeting were Miss Judy Trubebach and Mmes Steve Moster, Tony Gremminger, and Charles Taylor library assistants.

A new book just put on the shelf at City Library is the Pink Dress by Anne Alexander. It is a story about a group of junior high school youngsters. Sue Stevens thinks life is complete when Dave Young, the top man of "the crowd" starts noticing her. His ID bracelet is the badge that admits her into the inner circle. But once a member of the group, Sue gets a tiny frightening suspicion that "the crowd" is more than an exclusive center for junior high social life.

The rest of the story deals with her evolution with the crowd and how she meets her responsibilities. Recommended for teen agers.

Another new book, Now We Are Enemies, by Thomas J. Fleming centers around the Revolutionary War and the battle of Bunker Hill in particular. It brings alive the personal stories of the men on both sides and dispels the myths and distortions which have long clouded this battle.

The October copy of Popular Mechanics gives a first look at 13 new 1961 cars including two brand new compact cars. This should be of special interest to new car buyers.

The Children's Digest, a big favorite with the young set during the summer, comes monthly and is placed on the shelf to be checked out for two weeks like any book.

During the rest of the school year regular library hours each Wednesday will be from 9:30 until 5.

SOIL CONSERVATION
DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

The Trubenbachs — Tony and his sons — have been working hard again toward completing soil conservation work on their farms around Muenster. During the summer they did a lot of terracing.

Another field got about a mile and half of terraces built so that they are parallel. This type of terracing eliminates point rows by leaving equal distance between the terraces from one end to the other. A field must have a fairly uniform slope before parallel terraces can be built economically. Mr. Trubenbach also put in another Bermuda grass waterway on this farm and looks forward to doing some more terracing on it next summer.

Martin Trubenbach built 2.7 miles of terraces on his place at Hood, making a total of 13.4 miles and completes the job on this place. All these terraces empty onto pasture or grassed waterways established for the purpose. Martin plans to build about 10,000 feet more on his home place this fall.

Oldie Trubenbach terraced on two of his places this summer adding 1.3 miles of terraces to empty on pasture and a King Ranch Bluestem waterway previously established for runoff water. He also built a diversion terrace during the spring to keep hill water off a bottom-land field.

The Trubenbachs are cooperators with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District and all do a good job also of applying other conservation measures to the land along with the terraces and waterways.

Shivers To Speak At Nixon Rally
Gainesville, Nov. 5

A political rally featuring a speech by former Governor Allan Shivers to be followed by a free barbecue will be held at Gainesville Saturday, November 5, in behalf of the candidacy of Nixon and Lodge. The event was announced by F. E. Case of Gainesville, chairman of the Cooke County unit of Texans for Nixon. It will be in the baseball park on the county fairgrounds beginning at 4 p.m. All eligible voters are invited to attend.

extra points was good, putting the visitors in a comfortable 14-2 lead.

On their next scrimmage play the Tigers tried a long pass only to have it stolen. Jesuit, back on its 33 again, lost 5 yards on a penalty and the Murphy to Evans combination again worked to perfection . . . this time for 72 yards and the last TD.

Still another tough break awaited the Tigers in the remaining few minutes. Following kickoff they advanced 32 yards to their 47, then lost the ball on a fumble.

The first half of the game was mostly the Tigers. They made a first down and fumbled on the next series. Jesuit made a first down and fell short in the next series.

Sacred Heart made 39 yards for three first downs and ended the next series with a kick.

For a while then neither team made any headway. Jesuit kicked on its first series. Sacred Heart made a first down and kicked on the next series. Jesuit made a first down and fumbled on its next series.

That was on the Jesuit 42. Knabe almost got away but was stopped on the 20. The next four plays fell short by inches and the ball went over on downs on the 10. Two plays later an attempted pithout went wild and Jesuit was caught behind the line for a safety. Sacred Heart led 2-0.

The few remaining minutes of the half and all the third quarter were taken up mostly by defensive play. Jesuit got only one first down and Sacred Heart only two. But then came the big final period in which, it seemed, the visitors could do no wrong.

Tips From Your Hatchery
 Phone 63

The average American housewife is a person who throws up her hands in horror when eggs are priced at 75c a dozen . . . which is less than 50c a pound . . . then cheerfully pays 62c for a pound of bologna and prides herself on being a thrifty shopper. But they are a grand class of people.

Only wish more of them would try our Chicken Tamales. They are hand wrapped in corn shucks and have plenty of Muenster-grown chicken in each one. A can makes a main dish for 3, just the thing for the lazy — Oh, excuse me, I mean to say the BUSY housewife. You can get these tamales at the Hatchery and at some of the local stores.

Call us if your trees, shrubs or lawn look sick. Good idea to prepare them for their winter sleep.

PETERING OUT?

Now that the United States has hung a few satellites in the sky, the hubbub over the shortcomings in our educational system seems to be petering out.

In case you are one of those who today are less concerned than you were when the Russians beat us to the punch with their Sputnik I, here's something to mull over.

The Taxpayers Assn. of New Mexico has reported the results of an extensive analysis made by a major steel company among 3,500 of its management personnel (supposedly well-educated people). The findings are shocking:

1. Eighty-seven per cent had no clear idea what kind of government the U. S. Constitution sets up.
2. Seventy-five per cent

could not pick an outstanding Republican from among five men (four of whom were Democrats).

3. Seventy-nine per cent did not know that the Supreme Court is independent in our constitutional system.

4. Sixty-six per cent had no idea what is meant by separation of powers.

5. Fifty-five per cent did not know Federal laws are passed.

6. Forty-seven per cent think Capitol Hill is the location of the White House.

7. Thirty-two per cent think Sam Rayburn is a Republican.

Need we go on? If you're not appalled by now then there's something drastically wrong with you too.

When Sputnik provoked such a hue and cry for more and better engineers, mathematicians and scientists we applauded the eruption of concern. Certainly, a technological society needs plenty of well-trained technical people. At the same time, however, we were worried about an over-emphasis of physical science to the neglect of the humanities and social studies.

The survey reported above vividly demonstrates how we need to improve our education for citizenship just as badly as we need to increase the production of competent scientists. Perhaps, right now the need for the former is greater than the need for the latter. The National Civic Review commented on the steel company survey in its September issue. We think they state the problem brilliantly: "How can we ever expect to win the war of ideologies if we fail to mass produce enlightened citizens?" As the 1960-61 school year settles into its customary rut, this question deserves searching thought by educators and laymen alike.

—Waukegan, Ill., News-Sun

THE POLITICAL SCENE

Well, this is the week a guy can stomp a toe kicking the news around. Dick Nixon and Jackie the Kid were touring the sticks while Khrushchev, Castro and Company were staging an indignation meeting in Babylon-on-the-Hudson. But Monday night the curly-headed darling of the Donkey Brigade and the brown-eyed hope of the G.O.P. teamed up to chase every cowboy, gun-slinger and private eye out of every living room in America. They even emptied the movie theaters and the only ones left in the night clubs were the soggy individuals that had been there too long to look at TV anyway.

Their show wasn't a great debate as billed, but it will have to do till the ghosts of Clay, Calhoun and Webster walk and talk again. Dick won the decision on points. He seemed to know where he was going and how to get there. Sound logic and sincerity marked his brief address and his answers to the newsmen. The Golden Boy from Boston wandered around like Alice in Wonderland with glittering promises of riches for all and worries for none. The morning Jackie Boy was on the Garway early show and the subject was his statement that Ike should have apologized to Khrushchev, Jackie wriggled helplessly on the Hook. Despite his Harvard training, he certainly flunked in semantics that morning. Maybe he's been out with his pal, Frankie Sinatra, and had a hangover. I don't know.

But I'm going to try to get a transcript of that broadcast so you can judge what he would do if Mr. K instead of Dave Garway was the guy on the other side of the table.

P.S.: You guys who are peeved about Landslide Lyndon running for two offices on the same ticket, cheer up. You'll get to vote against him twice in one election without violating the law, thanks to a pin-headed legislature that left you that loophole.

Tips on Guarding Against Fire Told By Safety Council

College Station — What would you and your family do in case of a fire? Do you have any emergency plan? The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council points out. Care should be taken in house planning and construction, in installation and use of electrical appliances, and in such everyday activities as trash disposal, use of flammable liquids, and power equipment operation.

A fellow wouldn't mind loaning his lawn mower if the borrower wouldn't take it out of the yard.

heavy losses. High-pressure orchard sprayers can also double as fire fighting equipment. Avoiding fire hazards is also a vital part of safeguarding your home from damage, the Council points out. Care should be taken in house planning and construction, in installation and use of electrical appliances, and in such everyday activities as trash disposal, use of flammable liquids, and power equipment operation.

The Councilmen urge families to work out a simple emergency plan that is understood, and rehearsed periodically, by all members of the family. Basically, the plan should involve calling the fire department, getting the family to safety and saving animals or farm livestock.

The more isolated your place is, the more important it is to have fire-fighting equipment on hand. Such common tools as rakes, axes, shovels, a ladder and garden hose are valuable for fighting small fires. It is also a good idea to have commercial fire extinguishers handy. Dry chemicals or carbon dioxide extinguishers should be available for use on flammable liquid or electric fires, the Council says.

Another valuable fire-fighting aid is the farm pond or irrigation canals. If pumps are available, water sources such as these could mean the difference between light or

THE HAPPINESS OF PARENTS

by Floyd Anderson, Managing editor of THE ADVOCATE

WE HEAR much these days of the troubles of parents, of their problems, their disadvantages. Maybe we don't hear enough of the happiness of parents, their joys, their glorious moments.

As the parents of seven children, we know there are problems—financial, emotional, psychological—in fact, almost every kind of problem you can imagine. But with God's help you manage to solve them.

HOW DO YOU define the happiness of parents? Sometimes it is an intangible thing—like a baby—clutching your finger, holding it with all trust and faith and love, just as we ought to put our hand in God's and walk His way, without fear or fright or terror.

We have so much to learn from our children. Faith is one of the biggest things. Children have so much faith in their parents that it is almost terrifying. To a small child, a parent can do anything—absolutely anything. This, too, is a terrible responsibility for parents. It is sad that often the child is "let down" by a parent who is careless or neglectful—or even disinterested.

BUT THE MAIN happiness of parents lies in this. They live several different lives. They live their own, but they live, too, in the joys of their children.

There are sorrows. There are troubles. There are problems. But they are all overshadowed by the happiness that comes to parents. Special events provide special happiness. But there is also a quiet, year-round happiness that pervades any home where there are children.

YOU SEE, for instance, Joey taking baby Stevie for a walk, holding his hand so he won't stumble in the road, playing with him on the grass. And you see Mary picking a flower for Stevie to give to his mother. And you see them all asking, "Can I help, Mom?" or "Do you want anything at the store, Mom?"

It brings a great swelling happiness to you as a parent, and with it, too, a great thankfulness to God for blessing you so abundantly.

IT MAKES YOU realize, too, that money isn't everything. There are a thousand people in our town who live in better houses, who drive better cars, who have newer television sets and radios, and better rugs and furniture. But these are things that pass with time.

In our seven children we have something for this world and for the world to come. For all eternity, God willing, they will not be taken away from us.

Hornets Lose

made 12 but the next four were short by inches just short of midfield.

Muenster opened its offense with a 21 yard pass, Hellman to Harris, and also fell short by inches on the second series.

Era ended its series with a kick after which Wimmer went for 13 and Harris for 2 and Era took possession on a fumble.

Starting from its 30 then, Era made a nice 55 yard drive to Muenster's 15, where Muenster defense stood firm. Four plays later Era lost possession the 16.

Next it was Muenster's turn to move. Five plays advanced 43 yards and the push bogged down. Muenster kicked.

On the next series Era kicked. Muenster followed with a first down and lost the ball on an interception the next series.

Era gained a first down and lost by inches on the next series. As the half ended Muenster was in possession.

With the second half came Muenster's jinx. The kickoff was temporarily fumbled leaving Muenster to start back on its 14. Three plays gained only 6. Next play Mark Hellman had to scrounge for the pass from center and failed to get off his kick. The visitors had a set-up on the 10.

Three plays were all they needed... Wilson 5 and 2 yard gains, Southard the last 3. The try for extra points failed.

The next kickoff again put Muenster in a hole... again on the 14. But the recovery was better. Wiesman made 9 in two tries, the next play gained about 2 feet and Wimmer on fourth down crashed to the 28. The next series fouled and ended in a kick. So did Era's.

On the Muenster 44 then, Wimmer gained 1 and Wolf 8 before Wimmer broke through the line and zipped past the secondary for 47 big yards to the goal.

An attempted kick for point by Harris was blocked. The score, 6-6.

Era's sensational comeback came quickly. Starting from the 20 after kickoff Southard moved to the 39. Another play gained 1 and a 15 yard penalty moved the ball back to the 25. Then came the freak play that brought screams from the Era stand and groans... almost as loud... from the Muenster side. Wilson iced the game away with his 2-point pass to Southard.

Muenster lost no time showing that it was still in the game. After another diagonal kickoff by Era, which held them to a poor start for the third time, the Hornets launched their drive from the 18. Nine plays, including passes to Hark Hellman for 15 and 14, went to Era's 9. But Era's defense tightened there. Three tries lost 7 yards, and Joe Hellman, on a keeper play, got to the 3 before being nailed by Wilson.

Era made a first down to the 17 but had to kick on its next series. Muenster was in business again on the 40. Wimmer gained 1 and Joe Hellman 2, then Harris took Hellman's long pass and scooted the few remaining steps to the goal. Wiesman's run fell short for the two big points on which the game depended.

The touchdown pass was the first play following the officials' 4 minute signal, leaving about 3 minutes 45 seconds to play. Wilson then put his Era team in a stall, grinding out the remaining time in just over 7 plays... time ran out before the eighth was snapped.

Local Youngsters At Dallas Fair on Rural Youth Day

Two bus loads of about 60 Muenster 4-H clubbers were among the more than 10,000 boys and girls at Dallas Saturday as the State Fair of Texas celebrated Rural Youth Day. Children from almost all the state's 254 counties attended. Rev. Bruno Fuhrmann and Willard Hartman drove the local busses, and other adults with the youngsters were Mrs. Willard Hartman and Sister Pauline and Sister Frances. Free hotdogs and pop were provided and reports give the following figures on what the young folks put away: four and a half tons of frankfurters and buns, 190 gallons of mustard relish, 38,000 packages of potato chips and 7150 gallons of pop. The picnic lunch was a treat by Dallas businessmen and Fair officials.

Back in the United States, and visiting here in Muenster, after three years in Italy, near Venice, are S.Sgt. and Mrs. Patrick McCallion — she's the former Agnes Rohmer — and their children, Dianne, 5, and Neil, six months old. They are visiting her parents and family, the Leo Rohmers, on a two-week leave before reporting to Paine Air Force Base, Everett, Wash., for Sgt. McCallion's new assignment. It's the Rohmer family's get-acquainted visit with the baby who was born in Italy.

Among many interesting experiences and sight-seeing the McCallions during their three years abroad was twice visiting his parents and family at Loch Lomen, Scotland.

Another out-of-town member of the Rohmer family, Miss Martha Rohmer, spent her vacation here, leaving Sunday to return to Los Angeles, Calif. Additional visitors with the group Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pettit and four children of Sherman.

Halloween Costume Contest Among Top Carnival Features

Roommothers of Sacred Heart School, in announcing features of the annual Halloween Carnival, point out that it isn't too early to start getting outfits ready for the costume parade which will be one of the top features for the youngsters including pre-school kiddies and upper classmen.

There will be four divisions for four age groups this year with the prize winners receiving a brand new dollar bill in each classification.

The divisions will be for spooks and goblins, for nursery rhyme characters, for story book personalities, and for gay nineties fashions.

In each of the four divisions the classification for entrants will be according to pre-school, primary, middle and upper grades.

Contestants will have a parade on the stage in the Parish Hall.

Among other attractions being planned by the sponsors are spook houses and fortune telling, fish pond, a number of games for children and adults, and a number of refreshment booths for eats and drinks and a homemade candy sale.

This annual event is a grade school benefit. It will be held on Sunday, Oct. 30, at the Parish Hall with the costume parade timed for 4 o'clock.

Kin Get Together For Sisters' Visit

A happy gathering was held in Scotland at the Community Center building Sunday with dinner at noon honoring two nuns from Jonesboro, Ark., who were there for the one-day visit. They were Sister James Piorot and Sister Lutgardis Felderhoff.

The get-together was planned by Sister James' family on the spur of the moment when they learned that the two would be there Sunday and there wasn't much time to get the word around. Mrs. Ben Sicking heard about it — Sister Lutgardis is her sister — and she and her son Paul Sicking joined in the party.

Mrs. John Felderhoff was there too. She was spending the weekend in Wichita Falls with her daughter, Mrs. Rita Jennings, and Mrs. Jennings and her family took her mother to Scotland.

Sister Lutgardis and Sister James had been in Dallas for a three-day course for X-ray technicians and had Sunday off before leaving that night to return to Jonesboro. Sister Lutgardis sent best regards to all her relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Felderhoff drove to Dallas Friday for a visit with his sister and also saw their son Charles Felderhoff and visited Mrs. Felderhoff's brother, the Most Rev. Augustine Danglmayr.

mands that we stand by the people who stand on freedom's first line of defense. Self interest tells us that we'll be the victims eventually unless we help to stop communism now. Likewise, indications are that the Nixon-Lodge team can be depended on for more firmness in dealing with the cold war. Both have stood up before the Soviet bullies. They have proved themselves in that respect whereas Kennedy must be regarded as doubtful . . . even soft, if his Matsu-Quemoy statement is an indication. Then there's the matter of dealing with the red menace in our own country. Nixon showed his attitude long ago when he exposed Alger Hiss as a traitor. But Kennedy has no record to show equal determination or effectiveness. There is a possibility also that his own good intentions might be softened by party pressure. Remember, the reds got their start during the long stretch of Democratic administration. FDR and his pink advisers thought the reds could be used to serve the party, and the party still does not like exposures revealing how it was used by the reds. We can't overlook the fact that some of the big wheels way back then are still influential in the party. On this very important issue of dealing with reds at home and abroad Nixon clearly seems to be the better choice. And there are other issues, too, which call for lots of clear thinking.

Fort Worth Has the Time

Texans have a big time. They also have a big time-piece. Fact of the matter is, it's the world's largest. It's the clock that's atop the 30-story Continental Bank Building in Fort Worth. Time is controlled by a microwave radio from the U. S. Observatory in Washington, D. C. The clock itself is five stories high. It weighs 77 tons and the numerals are so large - 25 feet high and nine feet wide - that the clock can be read from a distance of five miles.
