MUENSTER ENTERPRISE

VOLUME XXIV

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS

JANUARY 1, 1960

NUMBER 6

In spite of the customary ridicule of New Year's resolutions this column suggests a community resolution in the fervent hope that it will be taken seriously. That is, to have a local hospital either under way or completed before the end of 1960.

For years most of us have agreed that first class medical facilities would be a wonderful asset to our town and its surrounding area. But we haven't had sufficient incentive to get the project moving. Our trouble is that the limited service we received through the efforts of one person was enough to keep us complacent. The doctor's attention and limited hospital facilities were available all along to meet our non-critical needs. Even the critical cases did not seem as serious as they do now because the doctor was here to give the patient early attention and to take charge of moving him to a better equipped hospital. We just haven't hurt enough or worried enough to be sufficiently concerned.

But suddenly all that is changed. With the death of our doctor we lost both his personal service and the clinical facilities which were under his direction. All we have now is the accommodation of a few hours a week of scheduled service arranged by a considerate visiting doctor. Which is fine as far as it goes, but altogether inadequate for emergencies or ailments not occurring during his local office hours.

Worst of all, we see little chance of correcting this predicament. Efforts at finding another resident doctor have been discouraging, and the signs now are that we aren't likely to get one unless we provide a hospital for him to work in.

We have to realize that big changes have been made in the medical profession during the past few decades. In the training of doctors nowadays the facilities and laboratories of hospitals are taken more for granted than they used to be. The result is that more are reluctant to practice without those facilities nearby. Nor can we blame them. We can understand that professional pride prompts them to serve where they can do a better job.

So, it seems more and more definite that this community will have to choose between two extremes. It will have either a more complete medical service than before or none at all. We will not have the opportunity to get by on the limited service we used to have.

Of course, it's unthinkable to go backward. The only solution is to provide the facilities which will induce a competent doctor... more likely two or three of them... to locate here.

And this idea of having more than one local doctor isn't a pipe dream. Considering the population of our town and its surrounding area we know that more than one can be kept well occupied. We also have reason to be confident that more than one will be favorably disposed when both the practice and facilities are here.

Attracting doctors isn't the only reason for having a hospital, however. All of us know that the institution itself would be a great community asset, probably more helpful toward our continued progress than any other kind of civic improvement. In fact, we possibly have already reached the stage at which our area's development is hampered by lack of adequate medical care. All will agree that our town would be more attractive to new industry or business if it had a good medical pro-

Election Thursday To Decide Fate of Clear Creek Dams

The fate of a flood control program for the Clear Creek Watershed depends on the verdict to be handed down Thursday by voters of the area.

The election will decide whether property owners of the watershed shall be charged a tax of 10 cents on $100 worth of county assessed valuation for the maintenance of flood control structures and other operating expenses.

As explained by J. M. Weinzapfel, president of the Clear Creek Watershed Association, 52 flood control reservoirs, estimated to cost $4.5 million, are dependent on the outcome of this election.

Soil Conservation Service will not begin construction of a detention reservoir until assured that the area concerned has made provision for maintenance. This means that the 52 projects now under plan are all dependent on a favorable vote Thursday.

Persons qualified to vote in the election are resident property owners of the Clear Creek watershed who have the poll tax receipt or exemption permitting them to vote this year. Eligibility to vote in '60 does not qualify one to vote in this election.

Weinzapfel said that a similar election may become necessary in the Elm Creek Watershed in order to complete its program. When SCS started building reservoirs there it made no requirement for a maintenance fund. After completing 27 dams SCS now requires that a fund must be provided before the remaining 10 still on plans can be completed. Even without the SCS ruling a maintenance fund is urgent on the Elm Creek Watershed, Weinzapfel said. That's because the dams already built will deteriorate unless they get proper care.

Six voting boxes have been designated for the Clear Creek election: at Rosston, Era Hardy, Dye Mound, Bolivar and Blue Mound.

Rain Measure for Year Is 33.36 in. Normal Is 32.18

With two days to go and poor prospects for immediate showers, it appeared Tuesday night that Muenster's moisture measure for the year is 33.36 inches. That is the total to date as shown on Steve Mosier's official US Weather Bureau record.

It is slightly above normal for the current ten year period, which shows a total of 321.79 for an average of 32.18. At the same time it is higher than the total recorded in seven of the other nine years, the only higher figures being the record breaking 51.80 of 1957 and the 43.53 of 1950.

For the first five months of this year, through normally rainy months, it appeared that the community was headed for exceptionally low rainfall. At the end of May the total was only 6.27. But more rainfall since then, especially October's and December's 10 year records of 8.57 and 3.83, brought the year's total to above normal.

Health Department Offers Hints for New Resolutions

A brand new decade makes its debut tomorrow. If you're short of resolutions, here's a list designed especially to keep you around to see the 60's end.

Promise yourself you'll give your body at least a good care as you give your car. Let your family physician look you over thoroughly once a year whether you feel bad or not. Make it twice yearly if you're middle-aged. Periodic check-ups are the best way yet devised to detect bodily disorders while they can still be treated successfully.

Check in with your dentist once yearly, too. Dental trouble won't kill you but sometimes it can make you wish you were dead. And the dentist can help push back the time when you'll need dentures, which is a major accomplishment in itself.

If you're 40 and fat, resolve to start passing up the candied yams, boiled potatoes and the cream-filled toothsome tidbits which spell extra weight and an early grave.

Too much weight contributes to high blood pressure, and may be associated with hardening of the arteries and various forms of heart disease. It means impaired vigor, greater surgical risk, greater danger from otherwise minor illnesses.

Teenagers should be especially aware of the statistics linking smoking to cancer and heart disease which is piling up so fast it's getting tougher and tougher to rationalize the habit.

Resolve to drive as though every other car on the road is being manned by a maniac. And when you're afoot trust motorists only as far as you can see them. Motor vehicle deaths stand far above accidental deaths of all other types.

Make it a point to take full advantage of every advancement in medical science aimed at benefiting you and your family, but always on competent medical advice. Start by having the youngsters immunized against polio.

Promise to adhere to local and state laws pertaining to health protection. Example: If your town has a dog leash law, obey it. It's a public protective device, and you are the public.

Last and most important, give an occasional thought to such awesome problems as juvenile delinquency, water conservation, and the growing numbers of oldsters. Lend your support as a responsible citizen to community efforts to solve them.

Oil Rig Burglary Estimated at $500

Burglars made a big haul here Monday night as they broke into a tool house of the David Trachta Drilling Company. Deputy Sheriff Bill Pratt said that the loot, estimated at more than $500 in value, included a light plant for a drilling rig, an outboard motor, 3 fishing rods, 4 new tires and a socket wrench set.

Entrance was gained by breaking a lock on the door and the stolen items were hauled away in a truck or pickup.

Resurface Job On Highway 82 Planned for '60

A major improvement project on Highway 82 through Muenster is due to begin during the coming year and will be completed as soon thereafter as job conditions will permit, according to an announcement this week by L. B. Dean of Wichita Falls, district engineer for the Texas Highway Department.

The project, extending 19.2 miles from Gainesville's west city limits to the Montague County Line, specifies additional surfacing at an estimated cost of $156,000.

Dean pointed out that this work is part of a state wide program of highway safety and betterment. It is designed especially to protect the investment already made in the highway system and to provide the maximum amount of additional traffic safety for the money expended.

Social Security Features Shown In Bank Exhibit

Social Security will be featured the next two weeks at Muenster State Bank according to an announcement by J. M. Weinzapfel, bank president, and Charles J. Campbell, manager of the Sherman Social Security office.

On display will be a lighted aluminum exhibit recently developed by the Social Security Administration to aid in bringing information about the program to the public. Campbell explained that the exhibit can be used in libraries, hospitals, and other gathering places. Organizations wishing to display the exhibit may arrange to do so by contacting the Sherman office.

Mr. Weinzapfel invited all who are interested to stop at the bank during the period Dec. 29 through Jan. 13. He added that those visiting the exhibit will find free booklets explaining Social Security benefits.

Persons having questions concerning their rights and responsibilities under Social Security are invited to write the office at 300 E. Houston Street, Sherman, Texas.

Poor Attendance Given as Reason For Closing Relax

Muenster will start the new year with one less business firm in operation. The Relax Theatre suspended operation at the close of its show Monday night.

Otto Walterscheid, owner, said that the reason is poor patronage. Attendance has been slim for several months, frequently not enough to pay expenses. He kept open nevertheless in the hope that business would improve, but has finally decided to give it up.

The theatre discontinued its full time schedule long ago. Wednesday-Thursday shows were dropped because they were constant losers. Lately the Friday-Saturday shows have also suffered and Sunday-Monday shows have been far from good.

Walterscheid said he is considering a show for Sundays and Mondays but only on condition that he can book leading pictures while they are still fairly new. If he can arrange a satisfactory schedule he will reopen for the weekend shows. Otherwise he intends to leave it closed.

Respectful Use Of Guns Urged by Game Commission

AUSTIN — If there is a gun in your Christmas stocking this year, treat it with respect. This is a warning of Captain E. M. Sprott, director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

Game wardens this year already have checked more than a score of hunting deaths. Most of them were the result of careless gun handling. Some of the victims were killed by their best friends who shot at something that moved.

Others died because they thought the gun wasn't loaded, or they were too careless in removing the gun from their automobile.

The very first thing is to handle every gun as loaded. Many persons are killed with the so-called "empty."

A gun never should be pointed at anyone.

Loaded guns never should be carried in automobiles.

Be sure of your target and don't shoot at something just because it moves. Don't climb a fence with a loaded gun. He says these few simple rules can save many lives.

Lindsay Voters Decide Thursday On Incorporation

An election to be held at Lindsay on Thursday, December 31, will decide whether the town will be incorporated.

The area proposed for incorporation consists of 640 acres enclosed by a boundary beginning 600 feet north of Highway 82 at Walter Northman's east property line and extending one mile west, thence a mile south, thence a mile east, thence a mile north to the point of origin. That takes in the property at both sides of the highway for a mile west of the Gainesville Golf Course and the area included for a mile south of that portion of the highway.

Persons eligible to vote are those whose poll tax receipt or exemption qualifies them to vote this year and who live within the area concerned. The area has a population of 253, 53 more than the minimum legal requirement for incorporation.

If the election carries it will authorize Lindsay to proceed with the other legal details of incorporation. Besides applying for a charter from the State Secretary it will elect a town council and marshal. The person receiving the most votes in the council election will become mayor and will be so commissioned by the county judge.

After incorporation as a town Lindsay can, by action of its council and without another election, incorporate as a city.

The purpose of the election is to authorize establishment of a governing body empowered to function in behalf of the town's interest. It will be able to improve streets and other public facilities, and to call a tax election to provide revenue for support of the public program. Until such tax is authorized however, the council will have to call for cooperation of its citizens for public works rather than hiring the work done.

As a result of incorporation Lindsay would become a legal entity immune from annexation by some other city or town. It would also qualify to hold a local option election on legalizing the sale of alcoholic beverages, as provided in a decision last summer by the Texas Supreme Court.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Horn and daughters Pat and Dianne, Al Horn and their mother, Mrs. J. S. Horn, drove to Dallas Sunday for a family gathering in the home of Mrs. Al Schad and daughters. The Jake Horns of Windthorst missed the party because their son Jerry is sick. He was dismissed from Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls on Dec. 24 but is still a bed patient at home. He was treated for a kidney infection.

The J. W. Fletchers, alone for Christmas for what they believe was the first time in their married lives, drove to Denton to help their granddaughters Sara and Sue enjoy their presents in the home of Mr. and Jack Fletcher.

Why Coddle Commies?

It is just too bad about these American colleges and universities (12 of them at this writing and including Harvard and Yale) that have pulled away from Uncle Sam's new student loan program. It seems they are outraged over the requirement that a student borrowing Uncle's money must declare that he is not a Communist.

We might object to the loan program on the ground that this is none of Uncle's proper business and that in the land of the free and the home of the brave a young fellow, or girl, either, ought to have enough get-up and gumption to achieve an education without Government aid. But so long as we have it, the least we can do is to make sure this assistance goes to loyal young Americans and not to traitors.

Didn't these college people ever salute the flag when they went to school? "I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands..." Are those strange and fearsome words? Or do they think they are too corny for intellectuals? Or do they think the UN flag is prettier?

Certainly, if we were one of those well-heeled philanthropists (and there are lots of them) who go around endowing this and that at our institutions of higher learning, we would at least know a dozen of them to keep away from.

Anything Can Still Happen

Under the ebullient leadership of former President Harry Truman, the man who has nothing to lose, the noisier Democrats are crowding over the quantity of prospective Presidential candidates within the ranks — if not the quality.

Some while ago Mr. Truman announced that there were half a dozen Democrats who could beat the GOP's choice and enumerated Adlai Stevenson, Hubert Humphrey, John Kennedy, Stuart Symington, Pat Brown and Soapy Williams (though not perhaps in that order). Later, news-photos showed him in hilarious conclave with most of them at Eleanor Roosevelt's $100 a plate birthday party. Among those conspicuously absent from this Waldorf Whittington was Lyndon Johnson of Texas — who has emitted candidatorial noises from time to time. Nor, so far as we know, has Mr. Truman offered any public commentary on Ohio's Senator Frank J. Lausche, who is tending strictly to his knitting.

From the Republican camp the word is that Vice President Nixon is way out in front in the popularity polls — which, by now, should be regarded with appropriate suspicion. Also comes the angry rejection by Rockefeller's mentors of the hint of Republican National Chairman Thurston Morton that the New York Governor might be happy in second place on the ticket.

Meanwhile from less bombastic centers, both Democratic and Republican, have come further proposals for the Vice Presidency — notably of Lausche, or Arizona's Barry Goldwater and of Delaware's Senator John J. Williams. These suggestions, we think, make a good deal of sense, but not enough. We'd rather see all three of them contending for the top spot. Those now regarded as front-runners for the White House might, most any of them, be satisfactory Vice Presidents. In fact, in the case of Mr. Nixon, we have a splendid background of experience which should not be wasted.

As it looks from here, if Lausche, as a Democratic nominee were to be opposed by either Goldwater or Williams, we would be assured of an enthusiastic campaign, a record turnout of voters — and, in whomsoever won, a strong, conservative President with the conviction that two plus two equals four.

Holiday reunions, visiting and parties took place in scores of homes in Muenster for Christmas and the weekend, many of the events attended by out-of-town relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sanders joined a family reunion of their children and grandchildren in Fort Worth for the holidays.

The John Huchtons and children and the Henry Huchtons joined the Ray Tempels of Gainesville and other relatives from elsewhere at a holiday reunion in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Williams at Bonita.

C. J. Hellman at home on holiday leave from army camp in New Jersey had a chance to see almost all of his family at a reunion dinner Dec. 25 in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hellman. His sister and her husband, the C. J. Newmans and daughter were here from Wichita Falls, his grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Huchton and his uncles and aunts, the A. J. Huchtons, the Dick Trachtas and Cecilia Huchton were present and additional guests were Nancy Flowers and Joann Liedtke of Gainesville. When the Newmans returned home her sister, Peggy Hellman, accompanied them for a visit.

Mrs. M. J. Endres had five happy holidays with her grandchildren and their parents, the Leonard Endreses in Dallas. Dick, Nick and Jeanne came for their grandmother Tuesday and stayed overnight. Her son and Dick and Nick brought her back Sunday evening after driving to Sherman to visit Sister Irma. Dick Endres, a student at Ohio State in Columbus, is on vacation during the school recess. His brother Kenneth who has a job in Columbus was missing from the annual Christmas gathering for the first time. His days off from work did not permit time for the long trip.

Spending a week's vacation during he holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson were his sister and brother-in-law, the George Johnstons of Albuquerque. They returned home Sunday. Also stopping in during the holidays were Pat Zipper and two sons of Dallas.

Christmas was observed in the traditional manner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stelzer with a turkey dinner, gift exchange around a lighted tree and picture taking. Together for the day with the Bill Stelzers were her sister, Mrs. Henry Stelzer, and from Fort Worth Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luebbert and daughters, Mrs. Don Christian and Mr. Christian and Henriette Luebbert and a friend, Mrs. Henry Stelzer accompanied her daughter and family back to Fort Worth for a visit.

It's a nice custom to mark a child's birthday by planting a tree for him. As the two grow up together, the youngster has a very personal tie with another living, growing thing.
If the tree is a pecan, this custom is as practical as it is sentimental. There is a ready market for pecan nuts since demand far exceeds supply. Your child's birthday tree can be his "spending money" tree!
You can buy a young pecan tree from a neighborhood nursery or shelling plant. Ask your nurseryman for free instructions in planting and care. Pecan trees require little attention—even a child can handle the upkeep.
If there is a pecan shelling plant in your area, you have a handy market for your first crop of pecans. As his birthday tree grows, so will your child's bank account!

Pledge Vows Here

In a formal wedding Saturday afternoon Miss Gretchen Hellman became the bride of Second Lieut. Richard Syverson in Sacred Heart Church here.

The Rev. Christopher Paladino, pastor, was officiant for the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass at 4 o'clock. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Hellman of Muenster and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Syverson of Blue Earth, Minn.

Gretchen selected Dec. 26 for her marriage because that is her parents' wedding date. This year marked their thirtieth anniversary.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant wearing a frosty white imported hand-clipped Chantilly lace gown over layers of ruffled tulle and bridal satin. The Sabrina neckline was embroidered with sequins and pearls and the long sleeves came to petal points over her hands. The slim, fitted bodice extended below the waistline and dipped to a point in the back where graduated self-face roses emulated a modified bustle. The aisle-wide skirt had a chapel train.

The bridal veil of pure silk imported tulle was waist length falling in tiers from a queen's crown of sequins and pearls. Her flowers were an arrangement of white rose buds centered with a white orchid.

Adding bridal tradition she carried a dainty drawn work handkerchief handmade by her maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Frank Trubebach who carried it at her own wedding 53 years ago. And she had a penny in her shoe.

Bridal Attendants
Bride's attendants were Miss Juanita Wieler of Decatur, a classmate from the first grade through high school, maid of honor, and Colette Hellman, a cousin, and Mary Pick, both of Fort Worth, bridesmaids.

They wore identical dresses of green velvet with semi-full street length skirts, and bracelet length sleeves, and carried white fur muffs with red poinsettias. Their white fur headpieces matched their muffs and they completed their costumes with white gloves and dyed to match green satin slippers.

Groom's attendants were Norman Gioia of Elm Wood Park, Ill., a classmate from Marquette University, his brother Tom Syverson of Blue Earth, Minn., and the bride's brother, Dolphy Joe Hellman. Ushers were Damien Hellman, the bride's brother, and a cousin Glenn Hellman.

After mass the newlyweds went to the Blessed Virgin's shrine and she placed a bouquet of white carnations on the altar while the church choir sang "Mother at Your Feet." Anthony Luke was organist and also accompanied the choir in singing the mass. Acolytes were cousins of the bride, Kenny Stormer, Eddie Hellman, Donny Hellman and Tommy Hartman, and Danny Wilde.

Wedding Reception
The wedding reception was held in Muenster High School where a cocktail hour was followed by a smorgasboard for about 250 guests. Miss Clara Fisher of Fort Worth presided at the bride's book.
Dinner music was played on an electric organ by Mrs. Yancy Culp of Gainesville.

After dinner talk was made by H. H. Homsley who introduced couples observing wedding anniversaries.

Anniversary Couples
Six of the eight couples were present. They are Mr. and Mrs. Damien Hellman of Irving, fifth; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hellman, 28th; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pick, 26th; Mr. and Mrs. John Mosman, 22nd, parents of the bride, 30th; and Mr. and Mrs. Yancy Culp, 35th. Unable to attend and celebrate their 22nd anniversary were the P. W. Hellmans of Tulsa and for their 24th the John Chandlers of Dallas.

A decorated table held the tiered wedding cake and a heart-shaped anniversary cake. The bride and groom cut the wedding cake using a wedding gift, a silver knife engraved with their names and marriage date. The Damien Hellmans, youngest of the anniversary couples, cut the anniversary cake's first slice and then Mrs. Joe Lehnertz who catered the reception, finished cutting both cakes to be served to the guests. Afterwards Gretchen and Dick visited guests at each of the tables.

The gymnasium where the meal was served was decorated in a Winter Wonderland theme with countless snowflakes in graduated heights above the tables. Mrs. H. H. Homsley, Glenn Hellman and the senior class of Muenster High did the decorating.

Wedding Trip
When Lt. and Mrs. Syverson left on their honeymoon for New Orleans she was wearing a black wool suit with winter white accessories.

He reports back to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., on Jan. 4 and she resumes classes at Marquette University where she is a student in the college of nursing. He will be separated from the service on Feb. 9 and after that they'll make their home in Milwaukee.

Out of Town Guests
Among out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Syverson and sons Tom and Jimmy of Blue Earth, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gioia of Elm Wood Park, Ill., Ginger Wolf of Fort Worth, Mrs. L. W. Flusche and daughter Jo Ann of Decatur and Della Flusche of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. John Aytes of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Woodman of Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trubebach, Sue, Kirk and Sandy of Amarillo, Robert Meurer of Lubbock, Clifford Swirczynski of Dalhart, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neu of Valley View, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Metzler of Lindsay, Jimmy Jack Biffle of Myra, Roy Swirczynski of Denton, Donna Hofbauer, Wilma and Marilyn Trubebach, Mary Weinzapfel, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Harrington and children, Maura and Mike, Stan Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Soper, all of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Nieball, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stamps, Frank Trubebach Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schumacher and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Lehnertz, all of Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mages III and children of Farmers Branch were holiday visitors with her family, the Tony Walterscheids here, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mages Jr. at Gainesville.

In his few years of conquest, Alexander conquered most of the known world, led his army a distance equal to that between the South Pole and the North Pole.

With the Herbert Meurers for the holidays were their children, Robert of Texas Tech, Lubbock, and John David and Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Wiesman of Houston.

Visiting for Christmas with the C. F. Gobbles were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Cathey of Grants, N. M. They came by plane to Fort Worth where they were met by Mr. and Mrs. Gobble and Larry.

Betty Ann Hoenig was here from Wichita Falls to round out the family circle in the home of her parents, the Tony Hoenigs.

Mrs. Oscar Detten and children Billy and Marilyn of Amarillo are holiday houseguests with her father, Joe Lutkenhaus, and are seeing other relatives here.

Patsy and Helen Vogel of Fort Worth had holiday vacations to spend with their parents, the Theo Vogels. Both are nursing students. Patsy returned this week Wednesday and Helen will be here through next Sunday.

Family Reunions Bring Additional Joy to Holidays

Mr. and Mrs. Gene LaGesse and children of Houston joined other family members from here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Endres, for a Christmas reunion. And David Endres came from Fort Worth to spend the holidays. They were all here until Monday morning.

More than 40 family members gathered for a Christmas supper party to make it an all-family reunion in the home of Mrs. Bob Yosten. Children and grandchildren from here were joined by the Paul and Stan Yostens and their children from Fort Worth, the Curtis Hollands and their three boys, Ben with them from Cleburne, Don at home from A&M and Johnny on leave from Fort Hood, the Bill

Terrys and Tony Wiesmans of Gainesville and the Don Wiesmans of Fort Worth.

A full house made the holidays fun for the Frank Herrs. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Herr and children of Wichita Falls, the Ronnie Herrs and children of Gainesville and Charlie Herr of Lubbock joined the children and grandchildren from here.

An all-family group of 16 was together in Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Walterscheid's home on Christmas Eve for a buffet supper, gift exchange and moving pictures.

The holidays brought most of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoenig's children and grandchildren to the family home for a reunion all day on the 25th. Present were the Rupert Hoenigs and sons of Dallas, the Carl Pelzels and children of Ennis, Raymond Hoenig of Arlington, the Richard Hermeses and sons of Lindsay and the Jerry Hoenigs and children. Only Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cottle and family of Ballinger were missing.

With both their soldier sons on holiday leaves and their daughter Patsy and family home from Haslet, the Clarence Hudspeths had a complete holiday reunion. Dink Hudspeth, stationed at Fort Hood, is on leave through Jan. 1. Butch, based in San Antonio, returns to camp Sunday. He has overseas orders and will be getting ready to leave for Germany on Jan. 22. Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Barthold and three children visited from Haslet, but this week are getting settled in a new location at Gainesville where he has gone into the filling station business. Peggy and her family, the James Hammers, completed the reunion group.

Chicken pox almost ruined the holidays for Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kathman who had planned a reunion for their children and grandchildren and had to call it off when three of the Stan Wylies' youngsters went to bed with the chicken pox. Instead of having company the Kathmans went visiting. They drove to Lewisville to visit the Wylies and then stopped at Gainesville for a visit with their other daughter and family, the W. E. Inseles.

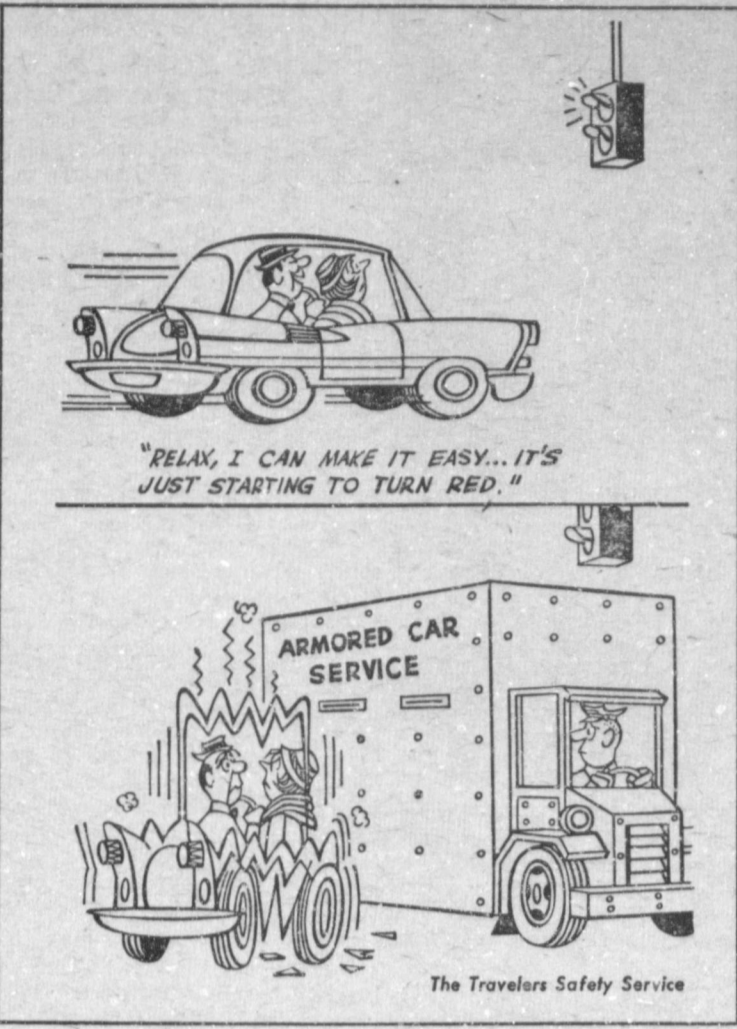

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Knauf and three children of Colorado Springs, Colo., are here for a ten day holiday vacation, headquartering with her parents, the Joe Swirczynskis and seeing other relatives and friends. Another daughter, Mrs. Townsend Miller and three children of Austin arrived Tuesday to spend the rest of the week here after visiting relatives in Fort Worth, and several other family members will come to Muenster for a New Year's Day reunion of the Swirczynski families.

It was a happy holiday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walterscheid — the first all-family reunion in over four years. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harris and two daughters are on vacation until Jan. 4. This week they visited in Dallas with friends one day and in Fort Worth with the Charlie Stelzers one day and came back to be here until they return to Oklahoma City.

Mr. and Mrs. John Huchton entertained with a pre-Christmas dinner in their home Wednesday for Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Bugg and son Larry and Mr. and Mrs. George Bugg and son Joe of Gainesville. A red net Christmas tree with silver snow was the table centerpiece and the group ate by candle light. Afterwards they had a gift exchange.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hess for Christmas and the holiday season are their daughter and her husband, the Leo Schmitt and children Elaine, Peggy, Patsy, Bobby and Mike of Mabton, Wash. Also present from out of town were a son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hess and their children of Ardmore. The Schmitt family also visited his sisters and brothers and there were additional reunions among the Hess and the Schmitt relationship.

Miss Lu Vogel, visiting here from Houston, was present for two holiday reunions. On Christmas the Ray Vogels entertained with a dinner party in their home. Other guests were Mrs. Emil Vogel, Miss Lena Kleiss, Al Vogel and the Lawrence Vogel family. Sunday the Lawrence Vogel home was the party scene with the same group present plus the Failure to grant right-of-way caused 610,000 casualties in 1958.

Andy Trubenbachs and children. They attended a Christmas gathering at the home of his mother, Mrs. W. M. Trubenbach, on the 25th.

W. T. Richter's family gathered at his home for a Christmas reunion while out of town daughters were here for the holidays. Misses Clara and Kathleen Richter were here from Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Plumlee came from Wichita Falls.

The Charlie Pagels were hosts for a two-family Christmas day reunion in their home. Guests were his mother, Mrs. Carra Pagel and his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schniederjan and children all of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Otto and Billy and Charlene. The Dallas visitors were here for the 24th and through the 25th.

It was a real holiday get-together for the John Fisher family with all their children and grandchildren gathered at their home for a Christmas reunion. Their daughter Ruthie and her husband, Lt. Max Rumelhart and their baby Matt of Corpus Christi are on leave until after Jan. 1. S.Sgt. and Mrs. Joe Galloway and daughters Joann and Mary Ellen of Wichita Fall and Johnny Fisher of Houston were here through Sunday and Francis Fisher of Texas Tech is spending the school holidays here. Rosemary Fisher and the Clyde Fishers and children completed the family group.

An after-Christmas reunion and gift exchange was just as much fun for the John Herr family as though it had happened on the 25th. They were all together for a turkey dinner Saturday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bengfort at Lindsay. With the parents and hosts were the Q. D. Pettigrews and children of Kaufman, the Earl Shephards and children of Dallas and the Don Wilsons. The out of town visitors remained in Muenster through Sunday.

Among those who didn't get home for the holidays but had telephone visits with their families were Naval Airman and Mrs. Leo Hess of Chula Vista, Calif., with their parents the Joe Vogels and the Albert Hesses, the Bill Tilgers, Matt and Katie of Long Beach, Calif., with her mother, Mrs. Kate Reynolds, and Mike Driever of Salinas, Calif., with his mother and aunt.

Mrs. Tony Gremminger had her children and grandchildren together for a Christmas gathering. The Robert Mayers came from Pilot Point and the Bobby Howells from Fort Worth. The Maurice Pagels made two reunion parties, the one in Mrs. Gremminger's home and one with his parents, the Jake Pagels. Major and Mrs. Hal Falck of Augusta, Ga., were holidaying with her parents. Nicest Christmas present for both families was the recovery of the Maurice Pagels' twin babies, Marlene and Sharlene, from a severe illness of virus permitting them to be present at the gatherings.

All of Mrs. C. M. Walterscheid's family was at home for a reunion and supper on Dec. 25. Included in the group of 29 were the Earl Walterscheids. Earl was permitted to leave the hospital in Wichita Falls for the holiday gathering but had to return the next day for more treatment and observation. Meanwhile, his wife and children remained here with homefolks.

At the Joe Linn home holiday guests through Sunday were his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parker of Dallas. Additional guests Sunday were nephews, Joe Williamson of Oregon and Albert Williamson of Oklahoma City. They also visited the Russ Linn's, then went to Saint Jo to see their uncle and family, the Sam Williamsons. Other visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Russ Linn were their children and families, the Ray Smiths of Dallas, the Jim Mintos of Lawton, the Tommy Linn's of Gainesville and Jack Linn.

About 70 family members were together for a Christmas reunion in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Felderhoff, including the couple's children and grandchildren and all members of the Danglmayr families. His Excellency Bishop Augustine Danglmayr was present from Dallas, so were Joe and Charles Felderhoff, Billy Joe Danglmayr of A&M and Sarah Fleitman of Loretta Heights College in Denver were among guests. The A. J. Felderhoff family came from Gainesville and the Joe Spaeth family was present from Gainesville. Father Christopher and Father Martin were additional guests for the five o'clock supper party.

Christmas reunion was taken to Mrs. Joe Otto's bedside at M&S Hospital in Gainesville and the good news was that Mrs. Otto was on the road to recovery and barring something unforeseen would be dismissed this week.

Rev. Thomas Weinzapfel of Dallas, Mary Weinzapfel also of Dallas, and Rev. Joseph Weinzapfel of Fort Worth were here holidaying with their parents, the J. M. Weinzapfels. And the Henry Weinzapfel family joined them for a family gathering.

For that matter, we might think of a hospital as a new industry. It's staff of doctors, nurses and lay employees would be as valuable to the local economy as so many workers in any other line.

Most important of all is the matter of benefits derived by our local people. In emergencies nearness can be a factor in saving a life, or in treating an ailment or injury before it becomes critical. Another advantage is that nearness and early treatment bring earlier relief from agonizing pain. Many a person in this community doubtless can recall times when minutes were important in a ride to the hospital.

Another item many a person can recall is the time and expense required to visit a family member or friend in the hospital. Trips count up, representing a great deal of money and time that could be saved if the patient were nearer home.

We have been aware of these factors for many years. Most of the time we have been convinced that they easily add up to sufficient reason for putting up our local hospital. But we just haven't had the initiative to do something about it. Now we have still another good reason . . . its need as a means of attracting local doctors. Now it's really high time to start doing something.

Aware of that need and its urgency this community could make no better resolution than to launch its hospital project immediately.

This column does not presume to recommend the size or cost, or location or method of financing. But it does state emphatically that the hospital is essential in several ways to community welfare. If we're worried about the cost of having it we should be more worried about the cost of not having it.

Bill Frerichs of Temple were groomsmen. Gene Hartman, a brother, ushered.

Mass music was furnished by the church choir and Miss Helen Bartek, organist, with Ray Kosel, the bride's brother as soloist.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kosel wore a peacock blue pure silk dress, a white satin hat and other accessories in black. Mrs. Hartman, mother of the groom, wore navy blue crepe with black accessories. Both had pink orchid corsages.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding reception and dinner were held in Flag Hall with the bride's parents as hosts and about 300 relatives and friends as guests. Christmas colors were used in decorations and the bride's table held the tiered wedding cake.

Included in the house party were Mes. Alvin Hartman, Walter Wolf, Keith Tompkins, Ray Kosel, Harold Kosel and Teddy Gremminger and Miss Roaine Parcus.

For traveling on a honeymoon trip to South Texas Mrs. Hartman wore a caramel silk suit with brown lizard accessories and the orchid from her bride's bouquet.

When they return they will make their home in Muenster on East Sixth Street. She will be graduated from North Texas State College in Denton in January. He owns and operates Hartman's Shoe Store here since he was graduated from NTSC in January 1959.

Among relatives and friends at the wedding in addition to the groom's parents were Patsy Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klement, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Klement, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Klement, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bayer and sons Leonard and Danny, Mrs. Norbert Klement, Mrs. Joe Bayer, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hartman and Sarah Fleitman from here.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wolf and Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wolf Sr., of Gainesville, Gene Hartman of Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Tompkins and children Sharon, Judy and Jim of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Gremminger and children Wayne, Mary and Robert of Garland, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Schleicher of Fort Worth.

Family Reunions

Clem Reiters, while her sister and family, the Adolph Knabes of Hereford were visitors. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Luttmer and daughters of Valley View.

At the Henry Henscheid home nearly all the family gathered for a Christmas day reunion and the J. C. Darlieks and Cathy remained through Sunday. When they returned to Fort Worth Janie Henscheid accompanied them for a few day's visit. Others at the get-together were the Rufus Henscheids and children and the Gerald Metzlers and sons of Gainesville. And Ted Henscheid joined them for a visit by long distance telephone from Rapid City, S. D. The John Kelleys of Fort Worth missed the traditional get-together because their baby son was sick.

Even with a still painful arm, Andy O'Connor enjoyed a holiday reunion with his children and grandchildren. Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor were their daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs.

English bowmen, some 600 years ago, could have the third arrow in flight before the first one struck the target. Mrs. Fry is a crack shot and frequently takes top honors on family hunting trips. Many people regarded these arrows as more dangerous than bullets.
