Mr. Martin was a resident of the Hays community for almost 40 years. A native of Alabama, he was born near Lincoln, on June 20, 1877, and came to Texas at an early age, settling with his parents in Hamilton county.

In 1907 he moved to the Hays community where he farmed until about a year and a half ago when he retired from active work and moved to Dallas.

Survivors are his wife; four sons, Curtis Martin of Saint Jo; Joe and H.C. Martin of Carlsbad, N.M.; and Gene Martin of Mexia; six daughters, Mmes. Leon Wallace, Bonham; Henry Lyle, Jim Watkins and W.J. Sanders, all of Dallas; O.T. Calwell of Gainesville, and Bill Snow, College Station; 28 grandchildren; four brothers, H.C. Martin, Oklahoma City; Tom Martin, Los Angeles, Calif.; George Martin, Minneapolis; and Richard Martin, Grand Saline.

Notes On Soil Conservation

Because of the late planting season for buffalo grass this year, the local Soil Conservation service technicians recommend that the seed be treated. By using a hammer mill or bur mill to crack the outer bur, the moisture will cause the seed to germinate much sooner. J.W. Hess used this method successfully last spring and plans to do the same this year. He used a 1/4 inch screen on the hammer mill and ran the motor slow to keep from cracking the small seed in the bur. H.J. Fuhrman treated some seed similarly last week and he suggests that the 1/4 inch screen worked best and the belt should not run over half speed.

H.B. Armstrong met with the Meinrad Hesse conservation group at the Muenster City hall last Friday morning. The discussion included terrace construction and maintenance with farm machinery. Prepared outlets were agreed to be the first and most important part of the terrace system. Robert Mitchell, local Work Unit conservationist, discussed clovers and grasses with the group. Attending the meeting were Meinrad Hesse, Frank Klement, Tony Hesse, and Henry Wolf.

The W. H. Endres Conservation Group met at the home of Mr. Endres Tuesday evening to discuss terrace maintenance. H. B. Armstrong, local Soil Conservation technician, discussed the need for building a terrace system and maintaining it as a permanent fixture on the farm. The expense of terrace construction was compared to the small cost of keeping a system in working order. Attending the meeting were the following cooperators: Tony Fleitman, Werner Endres, Al Schmitt, Bernard Wolf, Lee Toothaker, Paul Endres and Mr. Armstrong.

The following attended the first group planning meeting at Myra Tuesday night, March 2: Jake C. Biffle, James Davidson, J. G. Biffle Sr., Roy Townsley, Parker Fears, B. C. Rosson, John Fleitman, J. T. Biffle Jr., Al Walter, Ray Vogel, Mims Lewis, Bill Hoover. Application was made by the group including 2125 acres.

Wielers has indicated his willingness to appear on the ticket for re-election but McNelley, who left last week to spend the next six months in Arizona, is not expected to be a candidate.

In announcing the election Mayor J.M. Weinzapfel pointed out that names to appear on the ticket must be submitted at least ten days before he election.

Mrs. Steve Moser was appointed election judge.

J.W. Fisher and his father, Joe Fisher, made a business trip to Dallas Tuesday.

That Weather Is Here Again

That weather is back again. Another mid-winter attack featured by sleet, snow and a temperature plunge to 16 returned Wednesday as a climax to the persistent mist and damp chill that prevailed ever since the rain of last Thursday night.

It was another extension of the disagreeable weather that started early in January and continued almost steadily to the present time. A few scattered pleasant days were welcome exceptions, but they did not last long enough to permit urgently needed attention to fields and gardens.

GARDEN CLUB JOINS STATEWIDE MOVEMENT IN AUDUBON PROGRAM

The principal project of Texas Garden Clubs for 1948 is promotion of a Nature Camp in Texas, it has been announced. Garden Clubs of the state are assisting the Natural Audubon Society in the establishment of a permanent nature camp in Texas to train teachers and other youth leaders in the enjoyment and wise use of the state's natural resources.

Those taking the course will in turn direct the children of Texas to appreciate and conserve. They will arouse public understanding of the value and the need of conservation of soil, water, plants and wildlife.

Five two-week summer sessions will be held this year at Schreiner Institute in Kerrville with William B. Davis, head of the department of wildlife management at Texas A & M College, directing the classes assisted by a staff of naturalists. The classes will start June 19 and end August 27.

Texas needs a Nature Study Camp, it is emphasized, and various means to raise funds for this purpose are being inaugurated by Garden Clubs. The Muenster club has some beautiful Audubon bird note paper to sell. This note paper is priced at a dollar a box and anyone interested in securing some is asked to contact Mrs. T.S. Myrick, club president, or any member of the local organization.

Richards' Assailant Under $5,000 Bond On Murder Charge

Robert Pence, Gainesville business man, is at liberty under $5,000 bond after being charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Ralph Richards in Gainesville Monday night, March 1.

Chester E. Bentley, stepson of the deceased filed the charge in the Gainesville justice court on Friday, March 5. A grand jury to investigate the episode was scheduled to convene on Wednesday March 10.

Richards' fatal injury followed his mistaken entry of the Pence home at 1208 Clements street. Earlier that day he had moved into the house at 1202 Clements.

Struck with three 22 caliber bullets as he left the house Richards went home and remained there until late the following morning when his physician moved him to a hospital. He died at 4 a.m. Wednesday March 3.

48 FARMERS ENTER WATERWAY — PASTURE IMPROVEMENT CONTEST

With the deadline for entry only a few days away, headquarters of the Muenster work unit of the Soil Conservation Service announced that 48 cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red district have entered the Waterway-Pasture Improvement contest sponsored jointly by the Muenster State Bank and local feed stores.

The conservation unit, which is conducting the contest for the sponsors, stated that at least two more entries are wanted before entries close on March 15.

Most of the applicants plan to turn under a green manure crop of vetch or small grain to get a clean seed bed by April. A green manure crop turned under before seeding or sodding a base grass of Bermuda or Buffalo grass counts up to 45 points in the contest.

Grass seed to be used in establishing pasture and terrace outlets are available free of charge to cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red district. The time to plant these seeds, according to work unit headquarters, is as soon as possible for Buffalo grass, and some time in April for Bermuda. Both should be planted on a clean, firm seed bed and Buffalo seed should be run through a hammermill or burr mill before planting.

Contest prizes, which will be distributed among seven winners consist of $200 in cash and 14 sacks of feed.

POSTMASTER ENDRES WARNS OF GROWING CHAIN LETTER CRAZE

Observing that the chain letter craze is again approaching the nuisance stage, Postmaster Arthur Endres this week issued a reminder that practically every chain letter violates postal regulations in at least one respect and many in two respects.

They are fraudulent in the fabulous returns they promise and many are also threatening in the dire consequences they predict for anyone who breaks the chain.

In keeping with the policy of the Post Office department Endres pointed out that chain letters are officially regarded as rackets. Every chain finds a few early birds collecting from the dozens of others who are left with a futile hope that other suckers will eventually remit.

That's the chain letter at its best. Another well known trick is to send out letters by the dozens, or hundreds, with one's own name at the top of each.

Mrs. Ben Voth who broke her right arm about three weeks ago continues improving. The bones are knitting normally.

Cecil Cain submitted to surgery Tuesday morning at Veterans Hospital in McKinney and was resting well that evening, according to his wife who spent the day with him.

ANDREW HELLMAN DIES TUESDAY IN ARIZONA

Andrew Hellman, about 50, of Phoenix, Arizona, passed away Tuesday, March 9, in a Phoenix hospital, according to a message received by his sister, Mrs. Callie Baumhardt, late Tuesday night. He died following an operation for a stomach ailment that had afflicted him for several months.

A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hellman of Scotland, the deceased is also related to the Hellman, Meurer and Weinzapfel families of Muenster.

Though it got off to a slow start this year, Muenster showed signs this week of making its usual commendable record in the Red Cross drive.

Mrs. Ben Luke, community chairman, disclosed Tuesday that a staff of 17 helpers have met with her and agreed upon the respective areas to be covered by each. Most of them will make their calls this weekend. One of the staff, Robert Mitchell, completed the campaign of his area Tuesday.

Those assisting Mrs. Luke in the drive are Mrs. Jim Cook, Miss Olivia Stock, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Moser, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoening, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Luke, Robert Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. G.H. Hellman, Harry Fisher, Mrs. A.E. Thompson, Mrs. Milner, E.S. Lawson, Charles Rosenberg and Mrs. R.L. Morris.

Muenster's quota for this year, as revealed by County Chairman Ancil Smoot, is $725. The county's quota is $12,500. Of that amount, Smoot said, the county will remit 39.5 per cent to the national headquarters, and retain the balance to finance the county chapter's activities which, especially since the war, have required a heavy financial outlay.

Records at the county Red Cross headquarters reveal that the chapter handled 5,025 cases during the past year, most of them being services to veterans. As during the war, service men still depend on Red Cross to take care of their problems. They use it as a medium to secure disability claims, admittance to veterans hospitals, widow's pensions and frequently also as a loan agency to tide them over until subsistence checks arrive. In addition the Red Cross continues its traditional job of verifying the need for emergency furloughs to men who are now in the service, and providing medicines for needy families of the county.

Expenses incurred by all activities last year amounted to more than the county's total collection. At the close of the drive the county chapter submitted $1500 to national headquarters and before the year ended it had to call on national headquarters for funds to carry on its local work.

The county's experience is reflected on a much larger scale in the state of Texas. Funds spent at the Texas City disaster by the national Red Cross headquarters were greater than the entire state submitted to national headquarters.

MOWER PLANT BEARS DOWN ON PRODUCTION OF POWER MOWERS

The shipment of ten gasoline powered lawn mowers to Houston last Friday marked Muenster Manufacturing Company's official entry in the power mower business. Fifteen additional units now being built at the plant will be shipped late this week or early next week, according to Manager L.H. Baumhardt.

Unless shortages interfere with present plans the power mower will have priority on the balance of this season's production. Baumhardt said. He has just received word from the motor manufacturers that 100 motors are to be shipped on March 15 and 400 on or about April 1. Work on the mowers is in progress now and the motors will be mounted as soon as possible after arrival.

The machine is a standard reel type mower with a cutter width of 22 inches. It is powered by a 1.5 H.P. 4 cycle Clinton motor with specially built in reduction gears to eliminate the need of reduction pulleys and belts.

Baumhardt also stated that castings for the company's new model streamlined push type mower are beginning to arrive and production on it should be under way within the next 30 days. It will have balloon tires, bright wheel caps, streamlined end castings and pastel shades of paint.

OUR BIG JOB TODAY!

Our big job today is keeping electric power flowing to you... our customers. It's not an easy job, because we are working under the handicap of shortages in generating facilities brought about by conditions during wartime.

Growth and accelerated industrial activity during the war and postwar years about used up the reserve of electric power that Texas Power & Light Company had built up... and used it up during a period when further expansion of electric generating facilities was practically impossible.

During the war, all the big turbo-generators manufactured were necessarily diverted to the all-out war program... they were needed for warships and for shipment to the war zone. Following the war, the few manufacturers who make these big generators were plagued with shortages and delays... and, at the same time, were deluged with orders from power companies throughout the nation for urgently needed generating equipment. Among those orders is one for a turbo-generator of 84,000 horsepower capacity for Texas Power & Light Company... but we must wait until late 1949 for delivery. But, also, we have placed orders for smaller generating units which can be delivered sooner... 3,000 horsepower to be installed for use this year (1948) and 16,000 horsepower for use next year (1949).

The new generators are coming... five of them, totaling 108,000 horsepower... to supplement our present 294,000 horsepower of electric power resources. But between now and the time all this new capacity can be delivered and installed there may be occasions when it will be a tight squeeze to make existing power supply go around.

So, as we progress with the installation of this new generating capacity, we want to assure you that we are also working hard to fulfill our hopes that electric power may continue to flow to you in whatever quantities you may need.

We are in the midst of the most extensive expansion program in our history, at the completion of which there will again be an abundance of reserve electric power for future growth and development.

The American Way

A BILLION DOLLARS

By DeWitt Emery

Aside from being a whale of a lot of money, just how much is a billion dollars?

Is there any way to measure or illustrate it so we everyday folks can have even a slight conception of what one billion dollars amounts to?

I think there is, and here it is: If you had one billion one dollar bills and you started counting them on January 1 and you counted just as fast as you could eight hours a day, five days a week, fifty weeks a year — on this kind of a job you'd sure need two weeks' vacation — you would finish your job of counting that one billion one dollar bills on December 31 one hundred fifteen years later — that's right, one hundred fifteen years later.

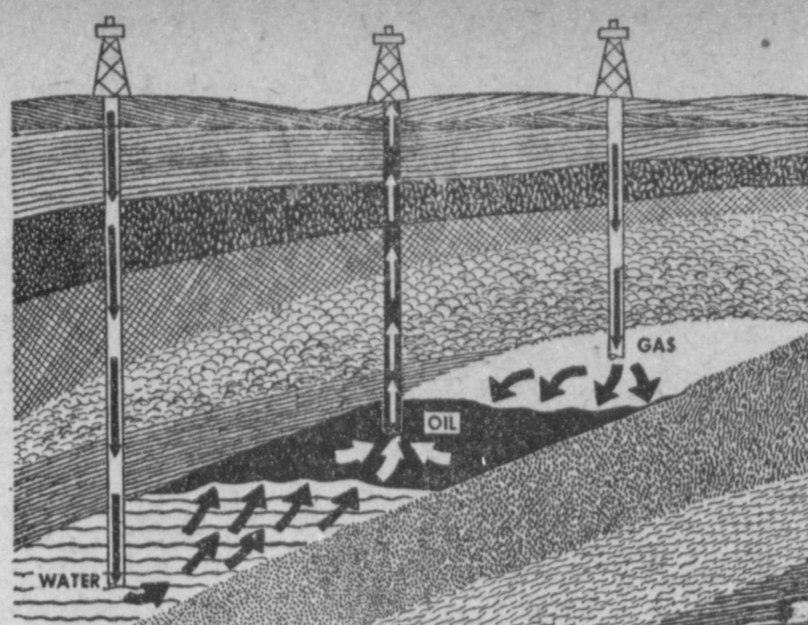

I can just hear you say, "That guy's nuts. It couldn't possibly take anyway near that long to count one billion one dollar bills." Maybe it couldn't, so let's break it down to see if we can find out for sure.

Forty hours a week, fifty weeks to the year is 2,000 hours of working time per year or 230,000 hours of working time in one hundred fifteen years. Dividing two hundred thirty thousand into one billion gives forty-three hundred forty-eight as the number of one dollar bills to be counted each hour.

Now, before you start telling me that you can count more than that many per hour you should take into consideration that when you've counted all the dollar bills you could stack up on your table, you'd have to take them away and get another batch. Also, you would have to stop now and again to get a drink of water, wash your hands or light a cigarette. So in all probability, you wouldn't actually be counting much more than half the time. Also, remember that the rate of 4,348 per hour has to be maintained for eight hours each day, forty hours each week.

But even if my calculation were ten years off and it took only one hundred and five years to count one billion one dollar bills, that's still a mighty long time and it's a terrific amount of money. President Truman says he must have forty of these things — 40 billion dollars — to run his part of our federal government for one year starting next July first.

I think he's the one who's way off the beam and I sure hope your representatives in Congress and mine have sense enough to cut him down at least ten billion — they will if we put the heat on them.

At thirty billion for one year, Mr. Truman would still have more than three times as much as the largest pre-war peace time budget. Even though salaries are up and everything costs more, three times as much as pre-war should be more than ample.

How about it? Will you join me in building a fire under Congress thereby saving yourself quite a few dollars or maybe quite a few hundred dollars? It's your money, you know, that is being thrown away.

The Fruit of Freedom

The fact that under free institutions the people of the United States have achieved the highest standard of living found anywhere in the world seems to have confused many in this country into the belief that freedom is a means to reach the goal of ease and comfort. But the fruit of freedom is not primarily a full stomach or more radios, automobiles, nylon stockings, refrigerators, fur coats, and labor-saving devices. The fruit of freedom is a lifting of the human spirit above the creature comforts of life to a point where they become minor items in the journey of man through this world.

Ben's Bride Gets Chickenhearted

Ben Ryder was mighty proud of his young bride when she offered to care for his new flock of baby chicks. "Just like a mother with her brood," he boasts.

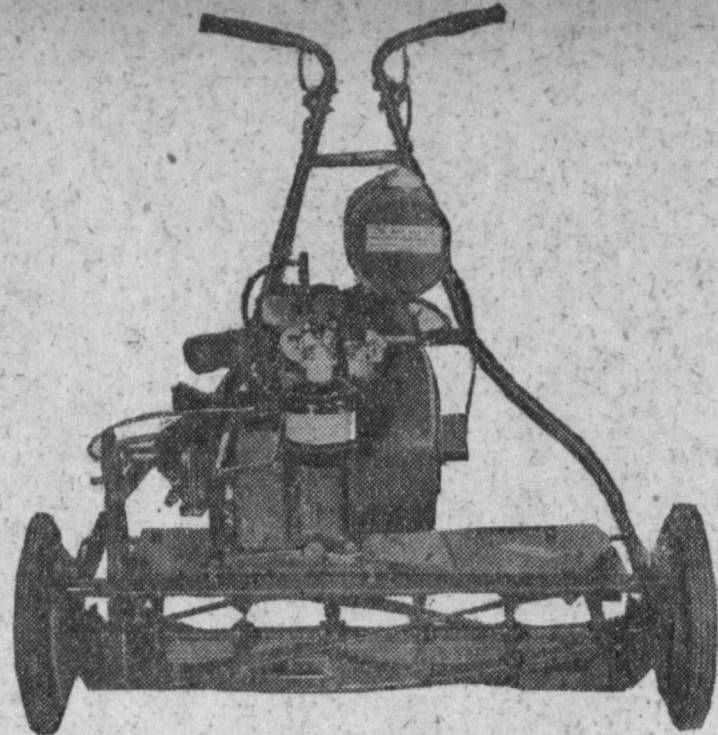

Then came market time for fryers—and the crisis! Sue simply wouldn't let Ben near her chickens with an axe. She'd raised them as babes... she'd named them... they were her very own!

Ben poured himself a glass of beer, to think things over sensibly. He hated to lose the price on fryers... but he figured Sue had put up with his peculiarities, he guessed he could put up with her fondness for the chickens.

So now Ben has the nicest brood of laying hens in town, and from where I sit, one of the most successful marriages, too. All because he "lived-and-let-live"—literally. And whenever he wants fried chicken, he takes his bride over to Andy's Garden Tavern for a crisp wing and a glass of beer.

HIGH COST OF DYING

In the midst of our concern and discussion over the high cost of living, few of us realize the effect of inheritance tax laws on the high cost of dying. Many well-to-do and wealthy East Texans are waking up to the fact that the estates they have worked so hard to provide for their loved ones may be partially or wholly dissipated at death by our Federal and State Taxes and forced sales to pay taxes. This concerns everybody who is worth sixty thousand dollars, directly, and all of us indirectly. If Congress can tax estates at the death of the owner, from seventeen percent up to as much as seventy-six percent, on a scale that has increased estates taxes ten thousand percent in the last twenty years, what is to prevent future Congresses from lowering the exemption and raising the rate. This type of taxation destroys the incentive to thrift and enterprise and is part and parcel of the Socialistic Philosophy that would take away from him who hath and give to him who hath not.

There is the case of the Texas landowner who left an estate valued at two million dollars, whose widow was bankrupted by Federal and State taxes and expenses of settling the estate. Taxes and expenses amounted to nearly a million dollars which had to be paid in cash. This brought about the forced sale of the land at about half its true value.

The recent decision of the United States Supreme Court taking away our Texas community property rights in inheritance tax matters means in effect that an estate is taxed twice on the whole amount if husband and wife die more than five years apart.

Many wealthy Texans are finding ways of leaving part of their estates to worthy local causes and thereby effect great savings in taxes as well as doing everlasting good. Most any wealthy Texan would rather see a part of his estate go to help build Texas institutions than to see it go to Washington for Federal bureaucrats to squander.

Certainly "you can't take it with you" and you can't even leave it behind you without danger of confiscation by the government. — Hubert Harrison in East Texas Magazine.

JACK'S BEANSTALK HAS A MODERN RIVAL

Del Mar, Calif. — Moses Kauffman, local farmer, says he now is growing beanstalks that reach 12 feet in height and produce 8,000 pounds of beans to the acre.

Kauffman, a native of Russia, came to the United States in 1905 and to California in 1926. He went to Palestine 44 years ago to study the new agricultural development of the Jewish colonies and was impressed by the new bean plant there.

He brought the seeds back to this country and has developed them so that one plant will feed 10 person from 10 to 12 years. He gets two crops a year from plantings on his Del Mar farm.

Showed Him Up

A confirmed do-gooder of the worst order was giving the unfortunate inmates of an insane asylum the benefit of a visit. "Tell me," she said, looking through the bars at a rather pompous little man, "how do you happen to be here?" "Modern science," he replied. "When they asked me if I was Napoleon and I said 'No,' they put a lie detector on me."

Even the Sharks

Visitor: "Look at that man swimming out there. Isn't he afraid of sharks?"
Native: "Naw. He's got 'Texas' is the best state' tatooed on his chest, and even the sharks won't swallow that."

2 YEAR STUDY ENDS
 WITH OLEO & BUTTER IN ABOUT EVEN TERMS

Chicago — Three doctors have completed a two-year study of butter and margarine in the diet showing that there is no difference in the effects of these fats on growth and health. The doctors studied the effects on 217 children divided into two groups. The investigators say that blood studies showed that there was no significant differences between the margarine and butter groups. But, the doctors say, the children in the margarine group had a high degree of good health during the study and their health appears to have been much better than the children who used butter in their diets.

A pious lady who lived by herself was quite put out because her neighbors had not invited her to go with them on a picnic. On the morning of the outing, however, the picnicers relented and asked her to join them. "It's too late," she snapped. "I've already prayed for rain."

Don't Fuss about March 15;
 That's the Date to Claim
 Your Income Tax Refund

Washington — The March 15 income tax deadline may be less painful for you than it seems.

The Treasury expects to refund more than $40 on the average to over half of the 55,000,000 taxpayers.

It already has shelled out $237,000,000 to 5,400,000 early birds who sent in their final 1947 returns in a hurry, officials said Saturday.

The Treasury hopes to clean up the refund job, except for some complicated cases, by July 1, turning back $1,400,000,000 to more than 30,000,000 persons who overpaid their taxes.

There is one seeming hitch: Lack of congressional authority to pay over the amount that the Treasury thinks it will take to square accounts.

Congress so far has authorized $1,231,000,000 for tax refunds during the 12-month fiscal period ending next June 30.

President Truman has twice told Congress it would take another $800,000,000 to cover tax refunds since corporations have some coming as well as individuals, and the total will be $2,049,000,000.

Removing The Sting

One time John N. Garner, then Vice President of the United States, lost a ten dollar bet on a local baseball game in Uvalde. When he offered a bank note in payment, the winner asked him to please autograph the bill. "I'm giving it to my son as a souvenir, and with your autograph on it, he will keep it always," said the gentleman.

"You mean he won't ever spend it?"
 "He certainly never will," said the winner.

"In that case," said the canny Garner, "let me give you a check."

EQUIPMENT SHORTAGE
RETARDS EFFORTS TO MEET POWER DEMAND

Commenting on the electric power supply in this area, John W. Carpenter, president of Texas Power & Light Company, said this week that the rapid development which has taken place in Texas during the past few years has come at a time when the electric power companies have been unable to add generating facilities needed to enable them to maintain their usual reserve of power.

"All the big turbo-generators manufactured during the war were needed for battleships, aircraft carriers, cruisers and for shipment to war-torn Europe," he said. "Such generators could not be purchased during the war years by power companies to care for their year-by-year increases in load. Only a few manufacturers make these big turbo-generators and, following the war, they found themselves swamped with orders for generating equipment badly needed by power companies throughout the nation."

"Among those orders is a turbo-generator of 84,000 horsepower capacity for Texas Power & Light Company, accepted more than a year ago, but which cannot be delivered before late 1949. It takes a long time to build these massive generators even during ordinary times and these are not ordinary times."

In the meantime, he continued, Texas Power & Light Company has ordered four additional units of smaller size, sizes that can be delivered more quickly — 8,000 horsepower to be placed in service this year and 16,000 next year. These, plus the big 84,000-horsepower unit, make a total of 108,000 horsepower of new generating capacity to supplement the company's present 294,000 horsepower of electric power resources.

"Meanwhile, as we push our present generating facilities to the limit, the demand for electric power increases daily," he declared. "There may be periods between now and completion of these installations on which we are now engaged when the demand for electricity will approach or even temporarily exceed our capacity. In such an event, we would ask the cooperation and indulgence of electric power users until the emergency was past."

In preparation for this and for future increases in generating capacity, Texas Power & Light Company has been busy constructing additional transmission, distribution and rural lines, building new substations while enlarging others, Mr. Carpenter pointed out. Approximately 230 miles of 132,000-volt transmission lines were completed during the past year.

OIL DEVELOPMENT IN '47 ADDS TO NATION'S CRUDE OIL RESERVE

St. Louis, Missouri — New crude reserves proven by operations during 1947 were "substantial" it was stated by Merle Becker, President of IPAA and Executive Vice President of W. C. McBride, Inc., St. Louis.

In commenting on committee reports of American Petroleum Institute, which shows U.S. crude oil reserves up 614,000,000 barrels at the end of last year, Becker pointed out that this increase was made in the face of record demands and heavy withdrawals from reserves accumulated in previous years. "The nation now enjoys a backlog of approximately 21½ billion barrels of crude oil reserves," Becker pointed out.

"Despite the large volume of new oil added to our crude reserves last year," Becker commented, "even more new oil would have been found if the industry had had sufficient steel to drill more wells. The progress the industry made last year — the first full year without Government control — is substantial."

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Today I am delving into corporations trying to unearth how come folks will listen or believe some guy when he is up there on the platform saying how he will put the corporations in their place, as he fights and bleeds for the taxpayer. But so far in my delving, too few corporations take time out from their work to tell us folks how they operate and what they are doing for the country — or deny they are a horse-thief or a no-count in the community.

This U.S.A. would not look much like it is today if thrifty folks had not joined together and put their dinero in a joint account — formed a company — and built our railroads, and factories, and refineries, and insurance concerns. No one person ever had enough cash.

The people in England are a good sample of what happens when people listen to 2 by 4 windy individuals advocating putting a quietus on corporations and turning business over to the Govt. — and them. In a couple of years after taking over the coal mines, overseas airways, European airways etc., the deficits from operations are now up to the Britishers' chins — and still rising. A nice kettle of fish versus Utopia, peace and plenty. And the folks in England choosing to get away, must wait their turn — boats are loaded to the gunwales. England is unhappy.

Yours with the low down,
Jo Serra

Magistrate — What started the trouble between you and the plaintiff?

MIDDLETOWN, CONN. — Science takes another step forward from the old manual lamplighter by automatically controlling individual street lights. Sunswitch, engineered by the Ripley company here, is another industrial application of the "electric eye" and contributes in its own mysterious fashion to the prevention of crime and accidents by better lighting at lowered installation and operating costs. Unaffected by weather or temperature, Sunswitch turns "on" and "off" highway lights at exactly the right time according to foot candle value of daylight.

Workman: "I miss the old cuspidor since it's gone."
Foreman: "You missed it before, that's why it's gone."

Once, when a committee called on John Jacob Astor for a subscription for a worthy charity, Astor gave $50. One of the committee members remarked, "But Mr. Astor, your son William gave us $100!"
"Yes," said the old man, "but you must remember that William has a rich father."

The construction crew test for good whiskey: Pass an electric current through a quart of the stuff. If the current causes a precipitation of lye, tin, arsenate, iron slag and alum, the whiskey is just fair. If, however, the liquor chases the current back to the generator — you've got good whiskey!

LANKY LASS LASSOED

Dallas — A tall 38-year-old woman, dressed in a fancy cow-girl outfit, bought a fur coat in downtown Dallas and paid for it with a $500 check.

The check bounced. Several hours later, standing before the police bogus check desk, the woman shouted: "Why I've got $7,000 in the bank. Just look at this passbook."

The officer smiled. He handed her a slip of paper.

It read: "Subject, age 38; height 5 feet 11 inches; wanted for bogus check writing in Oklahoma City and Fort Worth. Shows for identification a deposit slip for $7,000. May be coming to Dallas."

"Anything else?" the officer asked.

"No," the woman said curtly, and went to jail.

WOMEN RETURN FROM VALLEY GARDEN MEET

Mrs. J.M. Weinzapfel, Mrs. J.C. Trachta, Mrs. J.B. Wilde and Mrs. Joe Luke returned Monday morning from Harlingen where on Thursday and Friday they attended the 20th annual convention of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. More than 600 garden club women of the state were in attendance.

Interesting discussions and a wonderful program, including a trip into old Mexico, were arranged for the enjoyment of the women.

While in the Valley the local group drove to Raymondville for a visit with the John Wildes, and Mrs. Weinzapfel's niece, Mrs. J.C. Myers and family, and enroute home they stopped to spend Saturday night and Sunday in San Antonio where they visited with Miss Juanita Weinzapfel and Miss Dorothy Wilde of Raymondville at Our Lady of the Lake College and also enjoyed brief visits with Sisters Ann Theodore Wiesman and Romana Bezner. At Saint John's Seminary in that city they visited Joe Weinzapfel, Bernard Swirczynski and Bill Fuhrmann, and Mrs. Luke was the guest of her niece, Mrs. Charles Denny and husband.

THANK YOU, BUNNY! On behalf of the thousands of crippled children of Texas, 11-year-old Joann Frost of Dallas expresses her appreciation to the Easter Bunny for being the symbol of aid for handicapped youngsters through the Texas Society for Crippled Children. Joann urges every Texan to share his Easter joys by supporting the Society's Easter Seal Sale, March 8-28.

IT TOOK A WOMAN TO BREAK UP THIS GANG

Midland, Texas — Young burglars got away with at least fifty prowlings until a woman gave chase.

Mrs. Howard H. Hollowell discovered a youth in her home and chased him out and down the street. He outdistanced her and police were called. Acting on Mrs. Hollowell's tip, police finally arrested the youth on a highway. That led to arrest of two more Midland youths.

Police now say they have cleared up at least thirty Midland thefts ant about twenty in Odessa.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to all our friends for their kindness and sympathy during our recent sorrow and for the lovely floral offerings.

Early Phone No Good; It Spoke the Wrong Language

Milwaukee — Old Milwaukeeans still recall the time in 1877 when the late Valentine Blatz, beer magnate, finally consented to have a telephone installed in his office.

When the phone rang a few minutes later, Blatz answered it and talked for a while. Then he turned to the telephone man.

"Very interesting," he said. "But it really is no help to me. Most of my friends and business associates speak German. And this thing speaks English."

TERRIER BLOCKS ROAD AND PREVENTS CRASH

Adrian, Mich. — Driving on a side road near here, Julius Stange, a truant officer, was forced to stop his car when a fox terrier refused to budge from the center of the road.

Stange discovered that a swollen stream had washed out the road behind the dog to a depth of two feet.

The dog was still at its post as Stange left.

He knows His Bars

The policeman's son was learning music:
"How many beats are there to the bar in this piece of music, Dad?"

"Fancy asking a policeman a question like that," said the boy's mother. "If you asked your Dad how many bars there were to the beat, he might have been able to tell you."

If you have leftover roast beef and want the second appearance to be a hot service, cut the roast into thick slices, mix dry mustard with melted butter and Worcestershire sauce, spread over the slices and broil.

DOUGHNUT DUNKING IS OKAY IF IT'S NEAT

New York — Emily Post approved doughnut-dunking today. In a letter to the National Dunking Association she explained how to be socially correct about dunking. Said Miss Post:

"The doughnut should be broken in half and neatly dipped into coffee or some other beverage."

New Effect

As the two men left the movie, one was visibly more impressed with what they had just seen than the other.

"It's really wonderful," said the first, "what great progress the films have made within a few years, don't you think?"

"It certainly is," said the second, "first they moved, then they talked and this one smells."

Count It, Of Course

One night the announcer for the Pot o' Gold program telephoned a woman to report that she had won the $1900 prize. Since she was not at home, a boarder who answered the phone was asked the first thing the landlady would do with the money.

"Count it," was the very prompt reply.

What looks like mountains ahead of you, lots of times turn out to be just a mess of clouds.

PARISH COLLECTION FOR EUROPEAN WAR RELIEF NETS $811.76

Muenster's generosity to the war victims of Europe was apparent again last Sunday when a special collection in the Sacred Heart Church netted a total of $811.76. Though the figure fell almost $100 short of last year's spring collection Father Herman Laux described it as gratifying and a credit to the community. Parish records indicate that the several collections made last year for war victims yielded $1833.21 plus 710 pounds of food and 640 pounds of clothing.

TP&L REMINDS KITE FLYERS TO OBSERVE SAFETY PRECAUTIONS

With the coming of Spring, youngsters are again answering the urge to fly kites.

"Kite-flying is lots of fun, but it's important for kite-flyers to observe the rules of safety," according to C.B. Stringer, district manager of Texas Power & Light Company.

Chief among these rules is to use cotton string — never metal or wire — in kite string and kite, since metal is a conductor of electricity.

Another precaution is to fly kites in open spaces where there are no electric power lines or other obstacles.

Flying kites in the rain is also considered hazardous, since a wet kite string is also a conductor of electricity.

As a fourth precaution, it is urged that kite-flyers not attempt to disentangle any kite that should fall in an electric line, but call the electric service company, which will send a trained man out to remove the kite.

NEW YORK—(Soundphoto)—Meat, lard, flour and butter prices dropped sharply in retail food chain stores in N.Y. Metropolitan area. Porterhouse, sirloin steaks down as much as 13¢ a pound, as housewives jubilantly hailed expansion of their budgets. Economists warned drop might be temporary. Here, Mrs. Ellen Boles, customer, looks on happily as Gottfried Zose, meat department manager, changes price tags on steaks from 79¢ to 66¢.

Scouts Spend Sunday On Hike And Camp Supper

Scoutmaster Nick Miller and patrol leaders and officers of Troop 164 spent Sunday on a hike to the church timbers northwest of the city. Scoutmaster Miller gave a demonstration on tent setting, showing three ways to erect a tent, with or without a pole, and the boys cooked their meal of steak and potatoes scout fashion over hot coals.

Those participating were John Myrick, Randy Bayer, Larry Hofbauer, Bert Hamric, Jerry Fuhrmann and Freddie Joe Hennigan. These leaders will instruct the rest of the members on tent setting.

Monday night's regular meeting of the troop was an open-air meeting held on the same site, to which the boys hiked.

They plan to take part in the centennial celebration in Gainesville on April 20.

implications of the decision he can't help thinking that the judges must have got mixed up somewhere along their line of reasoning. It just doesn't seem possible to be logical and American and still reach the conclusion that anti-religious teaching is all right in public schools and religious teaching is not.

What probably happened is that the court, in leaning over backward to please a certain faction, made the mistake of accepting that faction's interpretation on separation of church and state... "that the state must have nothing whatever to do with any religion." A radical opinion like that, if accepted as the premise, can't lead to anything but a radical conclusion.

But it's hard to believe that the founding fathers of this country had such a narrow opinion of separation when they drew up the First Amendment. A more tolerant interpretation, one that is more in harmony with American spirit and tradition, is that "no religion will be adopted as an official state religion but all religions will be recognized and respected by the state". Starting with that as a premise the court could hardly have decided as it did.

As far as we citizens are concerned it isn't important to point out just where the court left the line of logic. Our big complaint is that we don't like the decision simply because something inside us says it's fundamentally wrong.

man, county gold star boy, was presented with his gold star pin. Mr. Haws also awarded medals to William Hermes for having a good meat animal at last year's county show, and to Walter Her-
