County Group Sees Highway Officials On Road Extensions

In connection with a very important event coming up Saturday, this is an appropriate time to ponder that "bad public officials are elected by good people who don't vote."

Saturday is election day, the most significant day of the year to any free, self governing people. It's the day when we exercise the democratic God-given right to decide just what men will be entrusted with the handling of our public affairs... the day that makes ours a government of, by and for the people.

To get a better idea of what the day really means, let's compare it with the farce election of a totalitarian country. There the ticket shows only one candidate, the choice of the political bosses. The whole affair is determined long before the voter ever sees a ballot. But here an election has a real meaning. The voter has a free choice, and a sovereign right, to eliminate the undesirables. We the people are still the final bosses and we can still have good government if we will inform ourselves and vote conscientiously.

Of course we should also bear in mind that rights are attended by responsibilities. Voting is also a duty. Every citizen has a sacred obligation to cast his vote for the men who, in his opinion, are most likely to serve with dignity, integrity and sound judgment.

There's nothing new about this attitude toward an election. It originated with the founding fathers and it remains today the only firm basis on which American democracy can survive.

We worry about the red menace. We worry about the dangers of drifting into a socialized, state controlled economy, and all the while we have at our disposal the one sure means of preserving the cherished values that have made this country great and kept it free. If we will consider qualifications and vote conscientiously we can eliminate the red sympathizers, the something for nothing boys, the socialistic schemers and various other brands of political termites that gnaw at the foundations of our government.

A conservative guess places Muenster's total voting strength this year at about 750. As a matter of community pride let's try to get all of them to the polls Saturday and ring up a perfect record of citizenship.

Whether or not Harry Truman scores a point in political strategy remains to be seen. But one thing is certain, he won't lose the coming election for lack of effort. Just now we have a clear case of Truman the president trying to fix things for Truman the candidate.

With a platform that parallels his opponent's in several respects he calls a special session demanding that the Republican congress pass those measures immediately. Obviously he wants to claim credit for everything accomplished and to accuse the opposition for everything left undone.

He caught the GOPers off guard and they're not a bit happy about it. At the same time he caught Southern Democrats over a barrel, and they're downright furious.

In spite of the fact that Muenster hasn't one negro and the civil rights program would hardly affect us, this column is convinced that the entire scheme is an outrage and will do more toward wrecking civil rights than sustaining them.

The anti-lynching law is an undisguised slap in the face to the entire South. It implies that lynching is the common thing and condoned by Southern law and custom, so the federal government has to step in to correct the states' delinquency. The record proves that nothing is farther from the truth, and the implied accusation is an inexcusable insult.

The anti-poll tax measure is another farce. Under the pretence of giving the poor suppressed negro his rightful vote it eliminates one of the most reasonable and valid tax sources in the entire nation. There's nothing evil or underhanded about a personal tax and there's nothing unjust about withholding suffrage rights from people who do not carry their rightful share of the tax.

Anyone who knows about the workings of the poll tax law knows also that it does not draw a color line. It rules out the sub-marginal citizen regardless of race. Good citizens, regardless of race. (Continued on Page 10)

The groundwork for a better road system in the western part of Cooke County was laid Tuesday, July 20, in Austin when five county citizens presented their case before a hearing of the state highway department.

County Judge Carroll F. Sullivant, as principal spokesman for the group, pointed out that the west part of the county has contributed the greater part of the county's tax money but, to date, has received the small part of farm to market road appropriations. He especially stressed the situation here, requesting a five mile extension of the proposed road north of town to reach as far as the Valley Creek school.

Those who appeared at the hearing with Judge Sullivant were J. M. Weinzapfel, C. L. Maxwell and Jake Biffle of Myra and Joe Leonard of Gainesville. Leonard is vice president of the Texas Good Roads Association.

Regarding the north Muenster road the group requested a survey and deeds to be used by the commissioners court for purchase of necessary right of way. The department assured that its district engineer, J. M. Isbell of Wichita Falls, will be here within the next few weeks to make a survey of the proposed extension and assist the community on any of its other road plans.

Another proposed road is a spur from Highway 82 to Myra, which has been virtually isolated since the main road by-passed it several years ago. In asking for this project Sullivant requested that it be built as a state highway so that its mileage would not be taken from the county farm-to-market allotment. A third project was the extension of the Butterfield Trail from Era to the county line. Both Denton and Wise counties already have right of way for the road's extension to Decatur, Sullivant said, and Cooke county will secure its right of way as soon as the highway department makes a survey and draws up the deeds.

None of the projects are to be included in the current program which expires July 1, 1949. The group's purpose at the hearing was to have them included in the two year farm to market road program which will begin in July 1949.

The 5 mile north Muenster road is included in the current program. The contract for it is due to be let in October.

CO-OP. ESTABLISHES RADIO COMMUNICATION RADIO SERVICE CREWS

The Cooke County Electric Co-operative Association officially went on the air Thursday morning July 22, at 8 o'clock. That was the hour at which the organization's permit from the Federal Communications Commission became effective.

The permit specifies a frequency of 158.13 megacycles and assigns the letters KGAX for the central station and KGAZ for mobile units.

Installation of the central set was completed Tuesday after arrival of the special conductor extending from the central house beneath the city water tower to the aerial at the top of the tower. Messages are received and transmitted through an extension in the Electric Co-op's office.

The purpose of the radio is to keep in constant communication with service crews in various parts of the extensive system. By reporting service interruptions immediately instead of waiting for crews to return the co-op expects to give better service besides saving time and mileage. Trucks, when not too far apart, can also communicate with each other.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Yosten are the parents of a son, Thomas Ferd, born at the local clinic on July 14. The infant was baptised Sunday evening by Father Herman assisted by Mrs. Lavel Kinley and Henry Yosten as sponsors, the latter serving as proxy for Ferd Yosten of Fort Worth. Mrs. Yosten is the former Miss Betty Magas.

VOTING STRENGTH IN TWO MUENSTER BOXES ESTIMATED OVER 750

A hundred per cent turn out at the two Muenster ballot boxes next Saturday would run up a total of more than 750 votes. Of that number 662 are accounted for in poll tax receipts and exemptions issued to persons reaching their 21st birthdays this year, and qualified voters past 65, who need no poll tax receipts nor exemptions, will add about 100 more votes. This figure is based on the conservative estimate of 15 over-age voters for every poll-tax payer.

According to figures released by the county tax assessor-collector's office North Muenster has 478 poll taxes and 20 exemptions. South Muenster has 162 poll taxes and 2 exemptions. The entire county's figure is 642 poll taxes and 206 exemptions.

A recent report from the office of State Comptroller George H. Sheppard places the state's total voting strength this year at 2,250,000. Official reports from the 254 county tax collectors show 1,722,333 poll taxes issued in Texas. Total exemptions are estimated at 528,000, of which 427,000, are believed to be past 65.

Election judges for Muenster are the precinct chairmen, Jos. A. Luke, north box, and Paul Fisher south box. The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Notes On Soil Conservation

Conservation plans have been made with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District on the following farms in the Muenster work unit area: C. C. White, Hood, R. A. and Don Cooke, Northeast Muenster. Mr. White has planned to establish waterways for terrace outlets and put some "thin land" into buffalo grass pasture. Don and Reeves Cooke plan to establish bermuda grass waterways and construct a diversion terrace to divert hill top water off bottomland field. Parker Fears and J. T. Biffle Jr., cooperators in Myra conservation group, mowed their pastures this week. This practice is highly recommended for buffalo and bermuda grass pastures because it prevents the weeds from shading and competing with short grasses for food and water. Newly seeded and sodded waterways should be mowed again to encourage the short grass to spread and make a sod.

A conservation plan was worked out with Roy Davis on his Leo farm recently. Last week the Muenster work unit of the Soil Conservation Service laid out approximately 3.5 miles of terraces for construction. Mr. Davis completed these terraces this week as the first job toward conserving soil and water on his farm. Bermuda grass pasture was used to outlet the water on to prevent washing gullies in the field. Mr. Davis plans to sow vetch and madrid sweet clover for soil building crops.

HERMAN AGE MAKES STATEMENT TO VOTERS OF PRECINCT NO. 3

H. H. (Herman) Agee candidate for commissioner of Precinct 3 this week issued the following formal statement to the voters of his precinct.

"I am 46 years old, a native of Cooke county, married, and the father of seven children, three still at home.

"I base my qualifications for commissioner on 23 years in the dirt moving business which consists of highway construction, dams, soil conservation work and, during the war, air fields and army base construction. For four years I have been a dirt contractor myself.

"I also feel that I have had sufficient business experience to qualify me for administration of the business affairs of the commissioners court.

"I pledge that if elected I will do the utmost to give an able administration and maintain the best possible road system."

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Baumhardt and children Janice and David, left Thursday morning on a vacation trip that will take them to El Paso to visit relatives and to Carlsbad, N. M. for sightseeing.

Decision on Federal Help for Hospital Expected in 60 Days

In about 60 days members of the Muenster Mutual Hospital association should know whether they will qualify for federal aid in the construction and equipment of their proposed hospital building. That was the information received by J. M. Weinzapfel, president, when he called at the office of the State Health Department in Austin Tuesday.

According to the information he received, Weinzapfel said, the State Board of Health is due to meet in about 60 days to consider recommendations of the governor's advisory committee on federal aid to Texas hospitals.

A file on Muenster's project was submitted to the advisory committee about six weeks ago but no word has been received to date as to whether or not it was favorably considered.

After the association hears from the State Board of Health, Weinzapfel said, it will be in position to plan its next move. If federal aid for the project is approved the association will take steps to comply with the federal requirements. If it is not approved the association can either go on by itself or give up the project.

GAINESVILLE C OF C EXPECTS OVER 3,000 FOR OIL MEN'S PARTY

GAINESVILLE.— More than 3,000 persons are expected to attend a two-hour variety show to be staged exclusively for the oil industry workers of Cooke county and their families in Gainesville Thursday night, July 29, according to an announcement this week by Harry O. Kinne, president of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event.

Scheduled as a "gesture of appreciation for the oil workers who have made Cooke county the third-ranking oil producing county in North Texas," the show will feature professional talent from Oklahoma City and other points.

In addition to the show, which will start at 8:30 p.m. at the Gainesville Owls baseball park following a 30-minute band concert, free ice cream and soft drinks will be served.

Admission will be by ticket only, and a number of prizes will be awarded to holders of lucky tickets, Mr. Kinne said.

"Our committee on arrangements felt that the oil workers and their families would desire an outstanding variety show rather than a barbecue this year, so we have arranged a good two-hour show, with ice cream and drinks on the side," Mr. Kinne said.

GARDNER ANNOUNCES PLATFORM IN RACE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Authorization to present his formal announcement as a candidate for reelection as representative in the state legislature from Cooke county, has been given to the Enterprise by Cliff C. Gardner of Gainesville.

He submits his candidacy on his past record as a legislator, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election next Saturday.

Gardner is recognized as a staunch friend of school children of Texas and has voted consistently for every measure he believed worthy that would better conditions in the schools, and to increase the pay for school teachers. In the last session of the legislature he was chairman of the School Districts committee of the house of representatives and helped steer school legislation to a successful conclusion. He supported and worked for the rural aid bill which increased aid for rural schools.

Indicative of the high regard in which he is held by his fellow members, Gardner was appointed by the two past speakers of the house to serve on the powerful appropriations committee. Membership on this committee is recognized as a signal compliment to a man's business judgment, honesty and impartiality, as well (Continued on Page 8)

WEIMAR CONVENTION HEARS LOUIS BUDENZ EXPOSE RED MENACE

Highlighting the 3-day convention of the Catholic State League in Weimar, July 13-15, was an address by Louis F. Budenz, of New York City, former managing editor of the communist "Daily Worker", who held his audience spell-bound for an hour and thirty minutes while he told them of the dangers of communism in his address entitled "Shall World Crisis Become Catastrophe".

The 49th annual convention opened officially on Tuesday with the city of Weimar as host to a crowd of delegates and visitors said to be the largest ever assembled for such a conclave.

In addition to the menace of communism, subjects such as the problems of youth, displaced persons in Europe, Catholic Action, Christian family life, and the benefits of cooperation, were discussed.

During the final sessions officers for the coming year were elected. Mrs. Joe Luke of this city was reelected state treasurer.

Attending from Muenster were Mmes. Joe Luke, Ben Hellman and C. J. Wimmer, Rev. John Walbe, R. R. Endres, J. W. Hess, Arthur Endres and Henry Fuhrmann.

He was treated at the local clinic where stitches were taken to close the wound and is recovering nicely.

EARL TAYLOR ISSUES FORMAL STATEMENT IN COMMISSIONER RACE

J. E. "Earl" Taylor this week authorized the Enterprise to publish the following formal statement in behalf of his candidacy for commissioner of Precinct 3 Cooke County.

"To the voters of Precinct 3: During the past several months I have made the acquaintance of hundreds of voters in our precinct, however there are still many whom I was not able to see. So I am using this means to ask for your vote in Saturday's Democratic Primary.

"I am 43 years of age and have been a resident of the county all my life. With the exception of 11 years which I spent on road maintenance work in Precinct 3, I have spent all my adult life at farming.

"Because of my experience at county road work I feel I am especially well qualified to serve as your commissioner. I am familiar with all the roads of the precinct as well as the equipment used on them. I will not be a "new and inexperienced man" when I take over as your commissioner.

"I will appreciate your vote and support in Saturday's election."

Public School Adds Another Teacher and Another Classroom

When the Muenster Independent School opens in September it will have one more teacher on its faculty and one more room on its building. Arrangements for the expansion were completed late last week when the school board engaged C. W. Cowan of Saint Jo to take over the 7th and 8th grades of the elementary department.

Work on the building began immediately after the new teacher was engaged. At this writing the foundation is complete and framework is under construction. It is a 20 x 24 foot addition at the northeast corner of the building.

As a result of the expansion Superintendent John Hoffman announced the following new assignments. Mr. Hoffman, Mrs. Jess Mitchell and Mrs. Effie Hembree will teach in the high school. Mr. Cowan will teach manual training along with the 7th and 8th grades. Mrs. Daisy Thompson will teach the 5th and 6th grades, Mrs. W. B. Wylie will teach the 3rd and 4th grades and Miss Elfreda Luke will teach the 1st and 2nd grades and home economics.

Mr. Cowan is now living in Saint Jo and owns a store which his wife will manage during the school term. For the past two years he taught in a Dallas public school.

EQUALIZATION BOARD UPS VALUATIONS ON CITY'S TAX RECORDS

Total property valuations in the city of Muenster took another jump this week when the city equalization board met to compare renditions for the current year. In some cases the figures were lowered but in most cases they were raised setting the city's taxable valuations at a higher mark than last year. The exact amount of increase has not been computed at this writing.

Notice cards have been sent to all property owners whose valuations have been changed and they will have an opportunity to meet with the equalization board to contest the change on Friday July 30 in the conference room of the bank.

Members of this year's equalization board are J. H. Otto, C.J. Wimmer and I. A. Schoech.

PHILADELPHIA STORY and COPPER

Philadelphia — the cradle of American Liberty — is where the first Continental Congress met in 1774, where the Declaration of Independence was written and proclaimed in 1776, where the Federal Constitution was framed in 1787 and where George Washington was elected the first President of the United States in 1789. Philadelphia was also the first capital of the nation.

When the Declaration of Independence was celebrated the famous bronze Liberty Bell in Independence Hall, illustrated above, was joined by the eight bronze bells of old Christ Church in ringing out peans of joy. This historic church, shown above, was completed in 1744 and numbered among its worshippers Washington, Franklin and Lafayette. Covering Christ Church is the oldest copper roof in America — a roof that was three decades old when the Declaration of Independence was proclaimed. This copper roof is in excellent condition today after two centuries of service.

This year, as in 1789, a President of the United States will be selected in Philadelphia. The major political parties are holding their national conventions in the huge Municipal Auditorium in the Quaker City. Of special interest is the fact that this vast amphitheatre is also protected with a copper roof. Over 100,000 pounds of sheet copper were used to re-roof the structure this Spring.

K. W. Tompkins, depot agent, spent the weekend in Dallas. Paul Luke replaced him at the depot.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Trubenbach, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gieb of Lindsay, spent last Sunday in Oklahoma City with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Tabb.

The American Way

By George Peck

MAN IS NOT A BEE

In a charming little valley in southeastern Iowa, an experiment in pure Communism was conducted over a period of 77 years. This was not the Godless Communism of Marx, Lenin and Stalin — it was practiced by a devout religious sect, the Community of True Inspiration.

At Amana, Iowa, in the midst of twenty-six thousand fertile acres, seven villages were built, the first in the year 1855 and the seventh in 1862. There Communism was not a dream; it was a fact — an established order of living, with a spiritual undergirding.

All citizens of these Amana villages shared alike. They ate in community dining rooms. No wages were paid. Inefficient and slothful workers received exactly the same benefits as did the efficient and industrious. Educational standards were low. All modern gadgets were frowned upon. There was not even electricity. There were a few automobiles but only for the leaders for use on official business.

Here was a perfect setting for an experiment in pure Communism. It could not possibly have had a fairer trial. The Amana leaders were honest, able and pious. They were not grafters or self-seekers. They put forth their best efforts for their followers, but in spite of their devotion to God and their constituents, the experiment failed — the Amana Society began to go into the red. It was even found necessary to hire two hundred outsiders to help get the work done. This was the first partial parting from Communism, as they became Capitalists by employing labor. In 1928-29, when American business was enjoying its greatest prosperity, the Amana Society did only $600,000 worth of business.

The younger people of Amana demanded a change and prevailed. In 1932, the society became a privately owned corporation and Communism was entirely abandoned. Workers are now being paid wages, each according to his worth. Property is now privately owned and the people eat in their own homes. Since the change-over from Communism to private Capitalism, the workers are taking more pride than ever in their work and are doing infinitely better work, with the net result that in 1946, the agricultural and manufactured products of Amana were in excess of $6,000,000.

Why did this experiment in Communism fail? Noble in concept, carried on for 77 years under the most ideal conditions and surroundings, honestly managed, if Communism as a way of life can be happy and successful, this should have been Exhibit A to prove it. For over half a century the community did to a certain degree enjoy material prosperity, being one of the very few Communistic societies to show steady and continuous increase in membership and in property.

But as has been the case with all Communistic societies, old man "Human Nature" finally caught up with Amana. Individuals finally rebel against sharing equally with those who, through either inability or laziness, make a lesser contribution to the general welfare.

That's what happened at Amana, despite the claim of some of its leaders that railroads, telephones and newspapers brought about a change in the attitude of the people of Amana toward life. The real reason was given by a younger member of the Amana Society who said: "What Communists never seem to realize is that man isn't a bee."

THAT'S TELLING 'EM

(The following letter is reprinted, without expurgation, from the "West Coast Sailor" — official organ of the Sailors Union of the Pacific, a division of the AFL's Seafarers International Union.)
 William Z. Foster, Chairman
 Communist Party, U. S. A.
 35 East 12th Street
 New York 3, N. Y.

We are in receipt of your communication dated May 7, 1948, and also a copy of a letter to William Green from the Communist Party.

In these letters you appeal to us and to William Green, as head of the American Federation of Labor, to help the Communist Party in its fight for legal existence and constitutional rights which the Mundt Bill (H. R. 5852) supposedly would destroy, according to you.

We think you have a hell of a nerve appealing to a bona fide American trade union for help in view of the scabby disruptive tactics employed by your so-called Political Party against the American trade union movement and against the United States as a whole.

All through your letter you refer to fascism, stating that your party is anti-fascist. Who are you kidding? There are no bigger fascists than the Communists. The only difference between Stalin and Hitler is that Stalin went Hitler one better.

You state in your letter that when the Communist Party was outlawed in Nazi Germany, the trade unions and other organizations of the people were soon smashed. Who the hell do you think you are kidding again? It was the Communists Party that joined hands with the Nazis to break up the Socialist Party and the trade union movement in Germany. These are facts that any bona fide trade union member knows. Don't try to propagandize people who know the score.

As a matter of fact, our organization classes the Communist Party as an enemy of the working class. As far as we are concerned, they can take the whole scabby, stinking Communist Party and kick it in the middle of Siberia and let it have a taste of Uncle Stalin's slave camps.

At the present time there are 15 million innocent trade unionists and political prisoners in Siberia being starved and beaten to death by Joe Stalin's Cossacks.

is our considerate opinion that this is a fit place for the American Communist Party, its stooges, its fellow travelers — long haired ones, short haired ones — and what have you.

And P. S.: Do not send any of your phony propaganda to our union because it will go the same way as all of it has gone before: Filed and flushed out! HARRY LUNDEBERG, Sec.-Treas. Sailors' Union of the Pacific.

In a recession you tighten up your belt, in a depression you have no belt to tighten up; and when you have no pants to hold up, that's a panic.

Before an audience of 283 4-H Club boys of District 4, together with seventeen county agents and twenty-five adult leaders, Murray Cox, Farm Radio Director of Station WFAA, Dallas, made his regular broadcast from the grounds of the Texas Power and Light Company's generating plant at Trinidad, Friday, July 9.

The occasion was the annual encampment for representatives from 4-H Clubs of the seventeen counties of north central Texas which compose District 4. District Agent W.I. Glass opened the broadcast by explaining that the boys in the camp were selected from 6,000 members of the district for doing outstanding club work and were there "because they did a good job at home."

Mr. Glass explained that the boys had all worked hard on their projects at their farms and for this reason the county agents felt the camp should emphasize recreation and entertainment. However, in addition to boxing, baseball and other games, the boys participated in the rifle shooting contest under the direction of a Remington-Rand expert who awarded a rifle to the winner, and were taken on a conducted tour of the Texas Power & Light Company generating station.

"Trinidad is an ideal place for such encampments," Mr. Glass stated. "This year the Texas Power & Light Company set up a tent city on the grounds, making it possible for us to bring to camp more boys whose work made them eligible for the trip. This consideration is deeply appreciated by the boys and their leaders. Everything possible has been done to make our stay pleasant and comfortable."

Miss Elfreda Luke returned Sunday from Denton where she attended summer school and finished her classes at the close of the semester.

PILOT JUST WHISTLES AND NEW INVENTION LIGHTS UP AIRPORT

A pilot, flying the inky blackness of a night thunderstorm near Midland, picked up his microphone and shrilly whistled. In the distance, runway lights stabbed the dark as if by magic.

Sounds fantastic, but a young Dallas engineer's invention has made it a practical operation.

Vernon L. Mallory, former WFAA radio engineer who lives at 2323 Colony Court, made a forced landing in 1937 on a small field, equipped with lights but unattended after sundown.

"It seemed terrible to me to find runway lights down there after we'd almost cracked up landing," Mallory said. "But these small airports can't afford 24-hour service. That started me thinking how fine it would be if the pilot could turn the lights on from the air."

Two years later, Mallory was issued a patent on his "pucker gadget" which American Airlines has successfully tested at Midland.

It works like this: A receiver is installed on the unattended field. The pilot, using either a dime store whistle or an automatic electronic whistle, blows a high note into his microphone. The high sound enters the receiver, causes an electrical contact and the lights come on.

The lights stay on for a certain length of time, then turn off automatically. This allows the pilot to turn the lights on from the air, land and walk away. No one need bother about the lights.

Mallory's invention is not bothered by static or lightning or radio transmission. It will turn the lights on only with that high pitched whistle.

Pilots' sectional maps show all auxiliary fields. Coming in for an emergency night landing at any of these fields will be simple with Mallory's gadget, because it can be used as much as thirty miles from the field.

Thus, if the pilot knows that a field is in the vicinity, he can blow his whistle and locate it by the runway lights.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration is studying the invention now; American Airlines has been testing it two weeks and reports excellent results under variable conditions.

Continental Electronics Company in Dallas, for whom Mallory works, will manufacture the equipment.

VETERANS REMINDED JULY 31 IS DEADLINE TO RENEW INSURANCE

"Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr., has reminded veterans that July 31, 1948 is the last day for reinstatement of lapsed National Service Life Insurance on a 'Comparative Health' basis.

Before August 1, 1948, an eligible veteran may reinstate any amount of term insurance — from $1,000 to $10,000 in multiples of $500 — regardless of the length of time it has been lapsed, and usually without a physical examination. He need only fill out a simple application form in which he certifies that his health is as good as when the policy lapsed, and pay premiums for two months.

The privilege of reinstating on this basis will be available after July 31, only to veterans whose policies have been lapsed for less than three months. Where the period of lapse is three months or longer, the veteran will be required to take a physical examination and qualify as an insurable risk, VA said.

Veterans should contact their nearest VA office, County Service Officer, Red Cross Chapter, or write the VA in Dallas for further information and assistance."

To the Voters of Cooke County

"Before announcing my candidacy for the office of district clerk of Cooke county I considered carefully the duties and responsibilities thereof. Knowing that the office of district clerk is a responsible one requiring a knowledge of bookkeeping and routine clerical work I feel that I am asking the voters of Cooke county to elect me to an office which I am fully qualified to assume.

"Since the county auditor set up and recommended the system of accounting that the clerk's office now has and it has proven most satisfactory during the seven years that the present clerk has been in office, I feel, that if elected, I would continue the system of accounting the office has in effect.

"If elected, I promise the people of Cooke county that the affairs of the office will be conducted honestly, efficiently, and with the closest attention to the smallest detail.

"I was born and reared on a farm near Dexter in the Northeast part of the county. My parents still reside there. I attended the public schools of the county and Gainesville High school, and later attended a nine-month course in radio communication and stenography while serving in the U. S. Navy. Just prior to the war I worked as a clerk in the Immigration Service at Del Rio, Texas, almost two years.

"As a veteran, I did not make much money during the war and with the high cost of living, I have been compelled to work to make a living for my family during this campaign season. For this reason I have worked long hours trying to see as many of the voters as possible.

"If I failed to see you, or speak with you, please accept this as my personal solicitation for your vote and influence in the election next Saturday."

SCOUTS WIN TO TIE GIRLS AT TWO EACH IN SOFTBALL SERIES

The Boy Scouts evened the series with the Muenster girls Tuesday night in a hotly contested game in which the girls crowded their opponents all the way and claimed the lead for one inning. The final score was 7 to 5 setting the series standing at 2 each.

Meeting the Saint Jo girls the preceding Thursday, the girls had better luck, winning 9 to 2.

Muenster's boys took two beatings for the week, losing 5 to 2 to Jacques Power Saw of Denton and 24 to 5 at Nocona. The Jacques game, after a weak first inning allowing the visitors 3 runs, was closely contested for the remaining 6 innings.

Playing regulation baseball at Nocona Sunday afternoon the boys did well for the first five innings then went completely to pieces and allowed the Nocona players to make a racetrack around the bases.

TEXAS IS HARD HIT BY CURRENT DECLINE IN MILK PRODUCTION

Reduction of dairy cows on farms has reached the point where the country's milk supply is seriously endangered, J. C. Davison, Jr. of Texas Dairy Products Association, Fort Worth, Texas, said today. And Texas is harder hit than most states. A great deal of milk will have to be shipped into Texas by next fall.

"Milk cow numbers are down for the fourth successive year," he said. "There are several reasons for this, among them the grain shortages of recent years due to great export demand by the government, and the price that cull cows have brought in the beef market. But I believe that forward looking dairymen, in reviewing the trend of our rapid population increases with resulting higher potential milk demand, will expand their herds to take advantage of expanding markets and the security in farm operations that have always resulted from dairying."

Milk cow numbers have dropped from over 27,000,000 in 1945 to 25,165,000 now, he said, and the decline has come while demand for milk and dairy products has grown at the most rapid rate in the country's history. Not only are cow numbers down, but heifers kept for replacement are down proportionately with cows.

"Here in Texas the number of milk cows on farms at the start of this year was 1,200,000 compared with 1,400,000 at the start of 1947. In only six states are the numbers of cows greater than a year ago and in no case is the increase in production sufficient to meet the need for milk on the basis of population increases. Butter production is off 43 per cent and cheese production is off 46 per cent as compared with the same period last year in Texas.

"For instance, during February of this year the per capita production per day of milk in the country was 1.83 pounds, the lowest figure since 1933. That is not enough milk to meet nutritional needs of our people."

HEALTH DEPARTMENT NAMES HEART DISEASE AS NUMBER 1 KILLER

AUSTIN, TEXAS.— Heart disease continued in the top spot as the number one killer of Texans, according to figures released by the Texas State Department of Health.

Mortality rate figures show an increase of 255 deaths from the April, 1946 figure of 1,099, as compared to the April, 1948 total of 1,354. This represents an increase of more than 18.5% for the comparative period.

"So-called functional heart disease is usually traceable to nervousness, infections from other parts of the body such as teeth and tonsils, a disturbed function of the thyroid gland, and to influenza," Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, said. "And the excessive use of tobacco, coffee, tea, or other heavy stimulant is often a contributing cause."

Malfunction of the heart is a correctable condition, the health officer said, insofar as the sources of infection may be located and eliminated, as in the case of bad teeth or tonsils. Incurable organic heart ailments exist only too frequent.

Strict adherence to competent medical advice will eliminate much worry about either functional or organic heart conditions, Dr. Cox said. He added that such adherence would unquestionably reduce deaths from heart disease materially.

GARDNER . . .

as his desire to hold legislative appropriations within reasonable bounds.

Highway betterment and safety legislation were other subjects that were furthered by Mr. Gardner. He supported a constitutional amendment to be voted on this year which, if adopted by voters, will give Cooke county approximately $60,000 a year for farm to market roads. He worked and voted for legislation that will provide 200 additional highway patrolmen to maintain safety on Texas highways. As a result, a new patrol office has been opened in Gainesville with two patrolmen on regular duty in the county at all times.

He opposed efforts to legislate and increase gasoline taxes on the motorists, convinced that there will be dual benefits. First, by keeping gasoline taxes at a minimum, more tourists will be attracted to Texas, bringing thousands of dollars to all kinds of business each year, and secondly as roads are improved they will be used more by the motorists of Texas, who in turn will use more gasoline and thereby increase the highway department's revenues from the present taxes. Higher taxes, he reasons, would tend to reduce the miles driven by Texans and tourists in the state and could actually reduce the revenues.

Last, but not least, Mr. Gardner is highly in favor of lifting the 35 million dollar ceiling on public welfare aid consisting of such categories as old age assistance, aid to the needy blind, and aid to dependent and crippled children.

The high regard in which he is held by his fellow members and state officials generally, plus his past experience, fit him admirably to continue serving the people of Cooke county in the office to which he seeks reelection.

Mr. Gardner solicits the friendly support and influence of the voters of the county, and pledges, if reelected, a continuation of the best services he is competent to render.

WHY LABOR BOSSES ENDORSE THE OPPONENT OF . . . JUDGE JOHN A. RAWLINS

Candidate for Associate Justice
Supreme Court of Texas

JUDGE JOHN A. RAWLINS

★ It is recorded May 9, 1945, in 188 S.W. Reporter 2d series, page 276, that James P. Hart, opponent of Judge Rawlins, was one of the attorneys for the labor unions in their unsuccessful and ill-advised attempt to enjoin the State Officials from enforcing the Texas law regulating labor unions, which was passed with the view of protecting public interest.

★ The Appellate Court, in upholding the law forbidding the unions from collecting work permit fees from non-union employees, reorganized the policy expressed by the legislature in the preamble to the Act: "The right to work is the right to live."

★ Judge John Rawlins is under no obligation to either labor or capital. He is now completing 20 years of service as a State Trial Judge. He is a family man, a World War veteran, and a church worker. He has the endorsement of the Dallas Bar Association and is interested only in administering the law fairly and impartially in the interest of the public at large. He is a graduate of Texas University and Texas Christian University.

When it comes to handling bulls, every week is National Farm Safety Week at the Curtiss Candy Company farms in northern Illinois.

While all good safety practices are encouraged during National Farm Safety Week from July 25 to 31, special emphasis is placed upon the careful handling of bulls which still represent one of the greatest hazards in farm operations. For years therefore, the Curtiss farms have worked to develop standard practices which have now completely eliminated the danger of casualties often experienced from those animals.

All outdoor bull pens on the Curtiss farms are constructed to allow a 2-foot open space between the fencing or railing and the ground. As shown in the top picture, this feature enables a man to roll out of the pen almost instantaneously should he be attacked. Too many farms still build solid fences which prevent escape from an enraged animal. The bull in the background behind the rolling man is Curtiss Candy Levity Heir, undefeated two-year-old Guernsey bull at 1946 shows.

The left bottom picture shows a special chain attachment hooked onto the ring in the bull's nose, passing up his face and thrown around his horns. Even though an individual is knocked down and the bull's head lowered for a charge, a man can readily grab the chain and gain immediate control of the animal from a prone position on the ground. The bull wearing the chain is Curtiss Candy Signal Ned, grand champion Brown Swiss bull wherever shown in 1947.

Another important safety feature is the self-opening door on the bull barn shown in the lower right picture, with Signal Ned making his exit. By means of this door, which is pivoted above the center and protected below with metal sheathing, the bull can enter and leave his quarters without the necessity of having his keeper operate the door for him. Besides this obvious safety feature of eliminating the possibility of contact between the animal and a person, it also saves the farmer the necessity of letting the bull in or out of his barn when the time might be entirely inconvenient for him owing to other duties elsewhere.

So the blunt truth is that the anti-poll tax scheme is a way of extending ballot box influence to a large number of people who actually contribute nothing to the state's support. One group of people are to provide the state's funds but another group of people, who contributed nothing, are to be given a voice in spending those funds. Does that seem fair?

Back in 1776 the colonists put up a terrific fight over the principle of taxation without representation. Southerners are equally justified today in kicking about representation without taxation.

If the principle is not enough perhaps we can take a clue from the fact that reds and pinks give their full support to the anti-poll tax measure. They realize, though some of our idealistic politicians don't seem to, that it would play directly into their hands. Socialism and communism get a mighty boost when sub-marginal citizens, meaning the guys who contribute nothing in tax, receive an equal voice in running the country.

FEPC is another misnamed farce. It's supposed to insure fair employment practices by requiring that no person shall be barred from a job because of race or color. That means that if a white and a negro both apply for a job the negro has an ax over the employer. If he's rejected he can send the man to court on a charge of discrimination. Whether the charge is true or false the man is subjected to loss of time and money and a possible fine.

The white applicant, however, has no recourse. He cannot charge discrimination. Unless the employer has lots of principle and grit he'll pick the negro regardless of preference, just to avoid trouble. Instead of preventing discrimination the measure only forces discrimination against whites besides causing unjust prosecution against thousands of fair minded men.

Again, here's a scheme that fits the red plan perfectly. Imagine what will happen in the South when negroes get a legal weapon to back up demands for all the best jobs. Nothing could be more effective in promoting the class conflicts so ardently desired by Communists.

There's no question that the civil rights bill has some merit behind it. Minorities should have fair treatment. But the corrections proposed will not solve the problem. They will only cause more strife and confusion.
