

MUENSTER ENTERPRISE

VOLUME XIII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 1949

NUMBER 19

Present indications are that next Saturday's election of local school trustees will be one of the least eventful in the history of the community. Four candidates are on the ticket, but there isn't any race. Each one has offered to serve on the board but is making no special effort to be elected. The man who loses will feel more relieved than disappointed.

However, another part of the ballot deserves a lot more attention. Ben Seyler is a candidate for this precinct's representative on the county school board and he should have the support of every person who is interested in the welfare of this district.

Let's bear in mind that the Gilmer-Aikin proposals are causing a mighty stir in the state school system and the legislative hopper is due to grind some of them into law. As yet we do not know what changes are coming nor how they will affect this community. Neither do we know how they will affect the operation of our county school board. But one thing is certain. We have everything to win and nothing to lose by electing a Muenster man on the board. Let's see to it that this district is represented by someone who is familiar with our needs and wishes.

For that reason especially, Saturday's election is vitally important. If and when the state's big educational upheaval becomes effective we should by all means be prepared in every possible way to safeguard our interests. One way to do that is to place our representative in a position where he can do us the most good.

For the sake of your children and your community vote Saturday for a Muenster representative on the county board. Vote for Ben Seyler.

Usually a storm is anything but comfortable, but when the storm happens to be in the form of protest issued by the Moscow dynasty it can have a comfortable and soothing effect. When Russia complains it usually means that one or more of her cold war enemies have had a lucky break or scored a point in the game of international power politics. And if the intensity of current Kremlin bellyaching can be accepted as an indication, the Western powers must have accomplished something really big in the North Atlantic alliance.

The howling from Joe and his boys sort of confirms general opinion over here that the alliance is a mighty good deal. Over the past several years his charges of warmongering have become equivalent to admissions of a check on Russian aggression, so the bombastic and caustic comment simply adds up to so much good news.

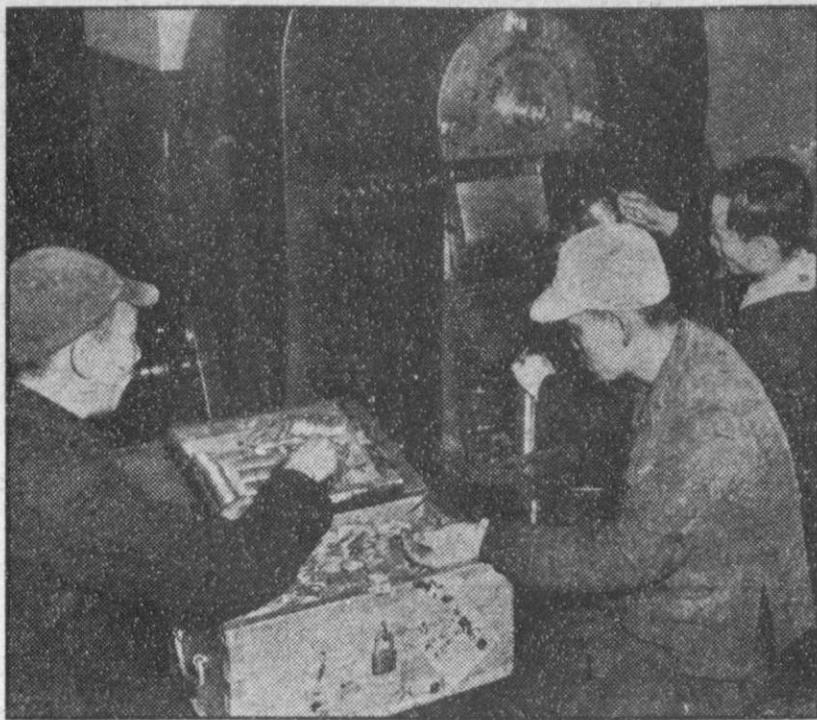

To our way of thinking the principal merit of the alliance is its straightforward warning that no more aggression will be tolerated. Its provisions that any hostile act against any member of the pact will be considered as hostile to all members and will be dealt with by all members if necessary by force of arms, leaves no doubt that the alliance means business. Though it doesn't mention Russia by name it does nevertheless order Russia to desist in the future or take the consequences.

The Western World has called the bluff of the big red bully, and it has done so with reasonable certainty that the bully won't do a thing about it because he's afraid to get into a fight.

A recent article in U.S. News and World Report sums up the situation by explaining that Russia has been leading from weakness all along. The big bluff was intended to conceal the fact that the Soviets actually are less prepared for war than we are. The magazine backed up that opinion by stating that Russian production is still below the 1940 level whereas American production is 54 per cent above. In the event of war Russia's gigantic war machine would soon bog down for lack of supplies whereas ours could keep pace with the needs of a global conflict.

So, the North Atlantic alliance seems to be just what it was intended for, a peace pact. Member countries do not want war, and by standing off the Soviet power-mad fanatic they can reduce world turmoil sufficiently to let peace loving people elsewhere work out their own political and economic stability. Russia can fuss and fret and continue to build a war machine, but it will not be ready to attack for a long time. Meanwhile there's

In support of the new economic reform program, China's Central Mint in Shanghai has begun making silver coins. The coins, bearing an impression of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen on one side and a Chinese junk on the other, will soon be rolling off this and four other minting machines at the rate of 300,000 daily.

Old Ailment Turns Critical, Claims Mrs. Albert Klement

Mrs. Albert Klement, 35, passed away in a Gainesville hospital at 11:50 a.m. Sunday, the victim of an ailment that afflicted her about two years ago and became serious about three weeks ago. She went to the hospital last Wednesday.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's church, Gainesville, and burial was in Sacred Heart cemetery here. Rev. Peter Molloy, pastor of St. Mary's, officiated at the requiem high mass and at services at the grave. Rosary was recited Monday at 8 p.m. in the George J. Carroll and Son funeral chapel.

Pallbearers were Rudy Hellman, Joe Walter, F. E. Schmitz, Frank Roberg, Ewald Berend and Paul Schad.

Mrs. Klement, the former Miss Gertrude Reiter, was born in Muenster on Nov. 4, 1913, and attended Sacred Heart school. She married Mr. Klement on June 10, 1933, and they moved 3 miles west of Gainesville where they made their home on a farm.

Survivors are her husband; four sons, Melvin, James, Paul and Richard, route 6, Gainesville; her mother, Mrs. August Reiter, Muenster, four sisters, Mmes. Charles Knaut, Bandera; Horace Elmore, Krum; Henry Luttmier, Gainesville; W. W. Otto, Muenster; eight brothers, Charles Reiter, Kerrville; Tony and Alois, Gainesville; Albert, Alphonse, Wilfred, Gussie and Clem, Muenster.

Jimmy, 4 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Sicking, broke his right arm Thursday when he fell from a ladder while he was climbing into a hay loft at the Sicking farm. The fall broke both bones at the wrist.

Arnold Schilling, who broke his left leg in a car accident on March 9, was dismissed from Baylor hospital last week and is getting around this week with the aid of crutches.

Old Church Cornerstone Yields Booklet, Coins and Ruined Scraps

Several hundred members of the Muenster Sacred Heart Parish and a few dozen visitors had a big let-down Sunday morning when they gathered for the removal of the old church cornerstone.

The contents, lying unprotected in a corroded and unsealed tin box, consisted of a German booklet published in Gainesville in 1896 on the natural resources of Cooke county, a half dozen European coins, a piece of obliterated parchment and a brown wad of substance which apparently had been a paper document of some sort when deposited in the box.

Bishop Danglmayr, for whom the breaking out party had been specially delayed for several weeks, shared the disappointment of the crowd. He was amazed that the community pioneers had neglected to make the container air and moisture proof and he was further amazed that they had failed to include a

SIX CROWD DEADLINE TO RATE MENTION ON CITY ELECTION TICKET

There will be a race after all in the city election. In fact there will be two races, one for the office of mayor, the other for the office of alderman on the city council.

Every one of the six candidates appearing on the ballot slipped in last Friday just before the deadline. In every case they had delayed their official announcement as long as possible in order to see before committing themselves, who else was on the ticket.

The final result is a ballot of two contests and two unopposed candidates. John Hoffman is opposing J. M. Weinzapfel's reelection as mayor and Joe Knabe is opposing Dick Cain's reelection as alderman. Rudy Hellman and Urban Endres are candidates for positions now held by John Fisher and Andy Hofbauer.

The election will be held next Tuesday, April 6, in the city hall with F. J. Hess as election judge.

News Of Sick And Injured

Mrs. Henry Huchton underwent minor surgery at Gainesville sanitarium Wednesday morning and was permitted to return home Thursday morning.

Mrs. David Trachta underwent dental surgery in Dallas Monday. She had two wisdom teeth extracted. Mmes. Dick Trachta and Walter Richter accompanied her to Dallas.

Mrs. Val Fuhrmann is recovering from painful burns received last week Wednesday when a double boiler exploded, spraying her face, neck and arms with boiling liquid. The worst burns are on her left arm.

and residents of the Muenster and Lindsay colonies. Among its few dozen ads are some by the pioneers of this community. It is a sort of chamber of commerce publication apparently intended to attract prospective settlers to the county.

Father Herman Laux said Sunday that he intends to have the Muenster section translated into English. When completed it will be published in the Enterprise.

Following the inspection Bishop Danglmayr blessed the new church site and stated that his blessing was a ceremony which followed the countless blessings already bestowed on the site by prayers during the past 51 years. He also urged the parish to rededicate the location by erecting an edifice which will be a glory to God and a credit to the community, one which will stand for fifty and many more additional years.

Visitors Gather 4,000 Strong For Rural Electrification Day

Measuring up in every respect to the most ambitious hopes of its sponsors, this community's first annual Rural Electrification Day was a gratifying success. It left no doubt that Muenster had extended a whole hearted welcome to the Cooke County Electric Cooperative members attending their annual meeting here Tuesday.

Everyone connected with the event was enthusiastic over the outcome. Electric Co-op directors were pleased with the attendance at their general meeting. Business men from Muenster, Gainesville and Nocona were pleased with the large number of people who visited their displays. Approximately 4,000 visitors were pleased with a fine program, elaborate exhibits and lots of opportunities to sign up for free prizes. And committee members were happy because every one else seemed to be pleased.

The number of visitors was estimated on figures given by members of the Gainesville Community Circus. They stated that the huge big top tent leased for the occasion normally seats 3,500 persons. Not all seats were here, but judging by the hundreds who stood through the main program and other hundreds who were absent then but present at other times the total attendance was set at 4,000. Another indication is the number of registrations for prizes. More than 40,000 slips accumulated in the boxes of 20 odd displays.

Outstanding features of the program were the appearances of A. C. Spencer, Mark Love and R. E. Jackson. Ed McKinney, Co-op manager, was master of ceremonies for the entire program.

Spencer, southwest representative of the Friends of the Land Society, followed the business session of the Co-op meeting with a plea for more extensive soil saving and soil building practices.

Love's program, sponsored by the Curtis Candy Company, is a blend of speaking and singing entitled "The Romance of Uncle Sam". Its theme is citizenship, encouraging a greater appreciation for American traditions and ideals while exposing the evils of communism.

Jackson's address was strictly entertaining in spite of its rather profound title of "Collaboration or Extermination". His message is to collaborate with your fellowman and be cheerful. In keeping with his advice he contributed to the good cheer of his audience by a steady stream of humorous experiences and anecdotes.

The official Co-op meeting opened at 2 o'clock with a drawing for a combination radio-phonograph. Mayor J. M. Weinzapfel then gave a short address of welcome and Director Jack Crownover responded. A tribute to Past President Bernard Voth, introductions and the manager's report were followed by the election of directors in which all former members were returned to the board. They are Al Wiesman of Muenster, president, Jack Crownover of Nocona, vice-president, J. A. Klement of Muenster, secretary-treasurer, and J. C. O'Brien of Gainesville, R. M. Felty of Hood, T. P. Skinner of Nocona and Joe Bengfort of Lindsay.

Electrical appliances predominated in the double row of exhibits down the center of the tent, however automotive supplies, groceries, ladies apparel, jewelry, dairy equipment and feed along with non-commercial exhibits of the VFW, Garden Club and Saddle Club were included. Outside exhibits consisted of implements and 4-H livestock.

Love and Spencer Urge Americanism And Conservation

Two eloquent pleas in behalf of the American way of life along with two warnings to avoid the conditions which encourage the spread of communism were the messages conveyed by A. C. Spencer and Mark Love in addresses which featured the annual meeting of the Cooke County Electric Co-operative Association here Tuesday.

As southwest representative of the Friends of the Land Society, A. C. Spencer urged soil conservation and improvement as the only means by which this country can maintain a high standard of living. Unless we do that, he warned, this country will be reduced to want and will become an easy prey to the radicalisms which have already caused havoc in other countries.

Mark Love, public relations representative of Curtis Candy Company, stressed the spiritual side of Americanism. Faith in God, initiative and hard work are the ingredients of this nation's greatness, he declared, and if we waver in any of these respects we encourage the loss of them all through the spread of communism.

Mr. Love, a former opera singer, presents his program as a combination of speech and song. After a while of eloquent praise of solid American virtues he drifts into a rich baritone rendition of a popular American song. The effect is both entertaining and inspiring.

The force of his message is further enhanced by a wealth of facts, quotations and observations. "If communism is such a wonderful system, why does Russia erect an iron curtain to keep the world from seeing it?" he demands. Another significant thought: "Scientists claim that from 1776 to 1939 there have been 235 truly great inventions, and 140 of them were invented in this country". He quotes Jefferson, Washington and Lincoln in support of his explanation that the entire system of Americanism is based on beliefs in the existence of God and the dignity of the individual.

After exposing communism as a godless, vicious ideology deserving of every thinking man's contempt, Love states that a mere policy of opposition is not enough. Save America by applying Americanism, he pleads, rather

Local Representative On County Board is Main Issue in School Election

When voters of the Muenster school district go to the ballot box in the trustee election this Saturday, April 2, their big concern is not in the selection of local board members but in placing a local representative on the county board. Interest in the election has increased enormously since last week when Ben Seyler announced his candidacy as Precinct 4 member on the county board.

Much of the interest is related to expected changes in the state school system as a result of Gilmer-Aikin recommendations. The object is to have local representation on the county board in case that body will be empowered to decide on the policy or administrative procedure of county schools. People here believe that a local man familiar with local needs and aims will be better qualified to serve local interests.

Seyler's opponent on the ballot is "Doc" Monroe of Gainesville. The balance of the ticket consists of candidates for the local board. They are Arthur Hellman, B. J. Sicking, Jerome Pagel and Tony Walterscheid.

JOHNNY SICKING RECOVERING FROM TETANUS INFECTION

Johnny Sicking was improving Wednesday and was able to take liquid nourishment after several days of serious illness following a tetanus infection. The infection resulted from an injury to his right foot on March 14 when he lacerated his big toe in a planter accident. He is a patient at Gainesville sanitarium since last Friday.

Fix-up or Give-up Decision to be Made At Phone Meeting

One way or another the destiny of the Muenster Telephone Company will be decided in a stockholders meeting this Friday night at 7:30 in the parish hall.

The purpose of the meeting as announced after a special session of directors two weeks ago is to determine whether the company shall be relieved of its financial strain through additional sale of capital stock or turned over to its creditors.

If stockholders are interested in keeping their organization they will have to muster at least two thirds of their membership in support of that course when the vote is taken at the meeting. Directors themselves went on record as favoring the re-finance plan but stated they cannot go ahead without the two thirds membership approval.

A previous effort to take official action failed when less than the required representation appeared for the meeting. If this attempt does not get the desired response the directors will assume that members are not interested, and release the company to its creditors.

According to indications early this week the second meeting is not likely to be any better than the first. Secretary Joe Hoenig stated that very few proxies have been returned in spite of the request that every stockholder send his in regardless of whether he expects to attend. Directors had hoped that the special arrangement would assure the representation of persons who forget or decline to attend the meeting.

The only hope now, Hoenig said, is that a sufficient number will show enough interest to appear in person.

HARRISON TURNS IN CITY MARSHAL BADGE

Beginning Friday, April 1, Muenster will have no city marshal. Saturday of last week Andy Harrison submitted his resignation to Mayor Weinzapfel stating that he preferred not to be on the city payroll in view of recent remarks that an officer is not needed and the extra expense is not justified. He resigned, he said to relieve the city council of any feeling of obligation toward him. In the event the council decides that the critics are wrong and it wishes to retain his services, he is willing to continue his job.

For the benefit of youngsters who might think that the resignation is their cue to get boisterous, Harrison added that he has not resigned his office as constable of precinct 8. He is still qualified to do something about disturbances.

TEXAS DUE TO LOSE 798,746,000 TONS OF TOPSOIL THIS YEAR

AUSTIN.— During the next 12 months, 798,746,000 tons of topsoil will wash and blow off Texas.

It would cost a billion, 250 million dollars to ship this amount of soil from Temple to Galveston in 16,000 hundred-car freight trains.

A steamship line would charge 95 million dollars to move the soil from Galveston to Havana in 8,967 ships.

These figures were given by Representative J. A. Luedemann of Brenham, sponsor of legislation in the House that appropriates 10 million dollars as a capital fund for soil conservation work in Texas.

The money will be allocated by a five-man state soil conservation board to 175 soil conservation districts, there to be administered by district supervisors.

Supporting the appropriation measure is the Association of Texas Soil Conservation District Managers.

R. M. Boswell of Kenedy, representing the association in Austin, says that every penny of the 10 million dollars will go into actual work on the land, inasmuch as the state has already provided for payment of administrative costs.

Boswell emphasized that the money will be used as a revolving fund, to be kept intact as farmers pay for work done on their property.

"In other words," Boswell said, "the fund is of a permanent nature; it will not be necessary to ask the legislature for additional appropriations at every session."

The fund, Boswell asserted, is intended to round out the present soil conservation program by making equipment and supplies available at a reasonable cost to operators of small farms.

Farmers who have limited resources frequently cannot themselves buy the equipment and supplies needed to do the soil conservation work on their land;

Judith Coplon, above, 27-year-old former Justice Department analyst, has been ordered to stand trial in New York on April 1, and in Washington on April 25, on two separate indictments charging her with having taken secret security information and conspiring to commit espionage. Her attorney said she was merely "collecting material" for a book.

nor is it economical for private contractors to bring in heavy machinery for a small operation, Boswell said.

By grouping small farms, however, and working out mutual problems on a watershed basis in each soil conservation district, it is possible to carry out the program efficiently, the association's representative added.

He urged the necessity for speed in getting the work under way, pointing out that:

"This proposed legislation will expedite the soil conservation program in Texas to the extent that $10,000,000 made available to the districts now will be more effective than ten times the amount if delayed another ten years"

ALARMING SPREAD OF SMALLPOX NOTED BY HEALTH DEPARTMENT

AUSTIN.— With the appearance of an unusual number of smallpox cases during the past week, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer has issued a warning that this dangerous, disfiguring and often fatal disease can once again become a wide-spread health problem unless vaccination is used to protect the public against it.

Four cases of smallpox were reported from one county, and while that number may not seem great, it is nevertheless the same total as was reported for the whole State during the entire year of 1948.

"Smallpox vaccination, which affords complete immunity from this disease, is a painless, inexpensive procedure, which should be used to protect every individual in the State" Dr. Cox said. "When we grow lax about our vaccination and allow susceptible persons to be exposed to smallpox, it follows that the disease will spread throughout the unvaccinated population, bringing serious illness and possible deaths".

Dr. Cox urged all parents to see that their children have been properly vaccinated, and if there is doubt about the immunity still being in effect, they should be given another vaccination. If they are immune, the vaccination will not "take", but if it does take, then the immunity was low and the vaccination was needed for their protection. "This same thing applies to adults" Dr. Cox said. "Check and be sure that your own immunity is established, as well as that of your children," he advised parents.

Fire destruction in the United States broke all records in 1948, when more than $711 million of the nation's resources went up in flames. This was the greatest destruction by fire in a single year in the history of the nation, the National Board of Fire Underwriters says.

Washington Newsletter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., March 25.—This has been another hectic week in the Congress. The House yesterday by a vote of 208 to 207 recommitted the Rankin pension bill. Twenty Texans voted on this motion. All voted to recommit except Beckworth, Lyle and Patman. The motion to recommit was made by Congressman Olin (Tiger) Teague, of Bryan. Congressman Teague has a brilliant military record — he served three years as an enlisted man in the National Guard, volunteered for army service, was commissioned a second lieutenant in Officers Reserve Corps on finishing Texas A&M. He spent six years in the Army, from October 1940 to September 1946. Was in combat 6 months, wounded a number of times, decorated 11 times, and received the following awards — Silver Star with 2 clusters, Bronze Star, Purple Heart with 2 clusters, Combat Infantryman's Badge, Army Commendation Ribbon, French Croix de Guerre with Palm. No one can doubt the patriotism or the devotion to his country of Congressman Teague. He moved to recommit this bill because he thought it unworkable and impractical and that it should have further study. Under existing law, any veteran on attaining the age of 65 who has as much as 10% disability can secure a pension of not less than $60.00 per month. There are many conditions under which pensions can be secured at a much earlier age, with allowances for dependents. Congress will doubtless pass a pension act with improvements over existing law. In fact, Mr. Rankin has now declared his intention of bringing out a different and obviously better bill than the one which Congress has rejected.

The House Committee on Education, headed by Chairman John Lesinski of Michigan, has been busy reporting controversial bills. They have reported out the Ad-

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation that may appear in the columns of the Enterprise will be gladly and fully corrected upon being brought to the attention of the publisher.

ministration's bill to increase the minimum wage to 75c and to extend its coverage to practically every worker in the land. They have also reported out the Administration's bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley act. Then, Chairman Lesinski has introduced H. R. 3630 written by the American Federation of Labor to provide a billion dollars a year in federal aid for public schools to be used for educational purposes only.

The rent control bill is now being re-written by the House and Senate Conferees. We predict that rent control will be extended but that a local option amendment will appear in the law. Local communities will be given the authority to decontrol themselves if they so desire.

A great deal is now being said concerning the North Atlantic Pact. This Pact will soon be discussed and debated throughout the land. The Pact is a defensive alliance by the Western democracies for the avowed purpose of resisting aggression. It has been compared with the Monroe Doctrine. Such alliances are legal within the framework of the U.N. Charter. Of course, such a pact in effect goes back to the old balance of power idea. Apparently the world is fast being divided into two camps; the communist camp and the democratic camp. It cannot be denied that balances of power can be, and in some instances in the past, have been effective in preserving peace. If the world were divided into two camps both of near equal strength neither camp would likely attack the other. Just as no potential enemy would attack us if he knew in advance he would be defeated, it is reasonable to assume that no potential enemy will attack a member of the North Atlantic Alliance if he knows the same will provoke war and that he will in the end be defeated. We cannot afford another war even if we won it. We must do everything possible to make war improbable. Our best hope of survival is to build and maintain a nation spiritually and materially strong. This means patriotic peacetime devotion to civic righteousness. This means resistance to domestic termites that forever gnaw on our foundations.

Mr. Winston Churchill came to Washington this week. Next week Mr. Ernest Bevin will be here. Mr. Churchill is the leader of the Conservative Party in England, while Mr. Bevin is one of the leaders of the Labor Party in England. It is curious they would both come over at the same time and at the time the Senate is about to act on further Marshall Plan aid.

A letter from a friend in the District complains of the prices on furs. He thinks we should have higher duties on imported furs. He makes this observation; "Now, as one hunter to another sir, I don't think there is a darn place or nation on earth that can compare with the products of the good U.S.A., including skunks. And our skunks are far superior to any skunks Russia can produce, and there are a few there."

The American Way

LET'S QUIT FOOLING!

By Dr. Alfred P. Haake

President Truman has asked Congress to underwrite a program of a million Government-financed low-rent housing units to be built in seven years. He accuses the building industry of putting up too many high-priced houses. And he urges everybody to lower costs: that is, everybody except the people who CAN lower costs if they will. The president does not dare point his finger at them.

Politicians are notorious cowards when it comes to telling the public the truth, especially to those segments of the public which control large blocks of votes.

In Egypt they used to worship cats. In India it was cows. But in the United States we have developed a yen for curtailed production per man per hour. We talk about the "abundant life" and then see to it that it is kept from being abundant. We damn the old-fashioned monopolies that used to add a nickel or two here or there, and we stand in fearsome awe of the modern monopoly that can triple cost of building through its control of workers and the amount of work they do.

The plain reason many people cannot buy houses is that, particularly in the larger cities, the workers who make the materials and who build those houses get about 76% more wages, have curtailed their output about 38% since 1940, and so have lifted the costs about 180%.

Deliberate slowing down, insistence on antiquated methods, restraints on wholesaling of building materials, and building codes that hold open the buyer's pockets while sellers dig out extortionate rates, all contribute to the high prices of buildings.

No one begrudges men higher incomes to meet the increased cost of living and to raise that standard of living for his family. But when we raise the wages without increasing the output we simply make other workers pay more for that product in terms of their own work.

It is reported that in 1941 a bricklayer received $13.68 for an eight hour day and laid 1,000 bricks to earn that money. When I was a boy he received less money and laid 2,000 bricks a day. But, today, he gets $18.96 a day and lays only 540 bricks. He could lay a thousand bricks, or even two thousand, but he lays only 540 in order to "protect the job." At those rates he is charging 3.5 cents to lay a single brick. If he would lay only a thousand bricks, the cost of building would be reduced to 1.9 cents a brick. He has almost doubled his share of the cost of building.

Cement finishers are reported as doing 35% less work per day than before the recent war, plasterers 37% less, painters 40% less, electricians 41% less, carpenters 43% less, plumbers 44% less, and tile setters 50% less.

It is a mixed picture. In some of the smaller places men are doing better than that, but even there the builders have to use plain, old-fashioned work. Let's materials which are manufactured in high-cost areas. Where the unions have control, as in the larger cities, the prices of most products are higher because of the needlessly high cost of production per unit of output. The men could have the higher wages, and costs could still be reasonable, if they were permitted to do more work per hour for those higher wages per hour.

Why not tell the people the truth? The president could render a vast service if he would add his voice to those which are trying to correct the fallacious idea that we can have more without doing more work. If this is to be a fair deal, it ought to be a fair deal for everybody, and not merely for those who can bring pressure on the president to keep foolish promises made without regard for their consequences.

The way back to prosperity and world restoration is through

LIBERTY

"The world has never had a good definition of the word liberty, and the American people, just now, are much in want of one. We all declare for liberty, but in using the same word we do not all mean the same thing. With some the word liberty may mean for each man to do as he pleases with himself, and the product of his labor; while with others the same word may mean for some men to do as they please with other men, and the product of other men's labor. Here are two, not only different but incompatible things, called by the same name — liberty. And it follows that each of the things is, by the respective parties, called by two different and incompatible names — liberty and tyranny."

—Abraham Lincoln

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Remember How We Talked?

It went like this at the Hooper's the other night. Hap's eighteen-year-old daughter is talking about "a real gone guy—solid—out of this world, but def."

"Now what kind of language is that?" Hap barks. "Can't she speak English?"

"I'll translate it for you," Ma Hooper says, "in the language of the twenties, when you were about twenty years old. She simply means this fellow is the 'cat's whiskers.' Remember how we used to talk sometimes?" Hap went back to reading his newspaper.

From where I sit, it's easy to criticize the other person when we don't take a good long look at ourselves. Sure, there'll always be some differences. I'm fond of a temperate glass of beer and maybe you would prefer ginger ale—but let's just live and let live. Because when we go out of our way to find things to find fault with in others, chances are they can find a few in us, too.

NOW'S THE TIME TO PLAN ADEQUATE FEED CROPS SAYS A&M MAN

COLLEGE STATION.— Texas dairymen should be planning now for adequate pastures, hay and silage crops for their herds says, G. G. Gibson, extension dairy husbandman of Texas A&M College. Each cow needs at least two tons of hay and three tons of silage. Good pastures will reduce the cost of producing milk and the cow does the harvesting. Lower production costs are daily becoming more important, and the producer who can cut costs now will continue to find dairying profitable.

Now is the time to plan for storage space on the farm for the year's supply of hay, silage and grains. It is always good business to store these feeds when the supply is large and the quality good, says Gibson.

Hungry cows grazing on lush clover are subject to bloat; this can cause the loss of animals. Gibson says it is a good idea to feed the cows hay before turning them into the clover pastures. This practice will help prevent bloat.

Many cows are lost each year because they get wire, nails, bolts and nuts mixed in with their feed. Watch for this hardware and be sure that none of it gets into the feed bins. You'll save more cows if you do.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Substation ran some tests recently on sweet sudangrass and common sudangrass. At the conclusion of the experiment, they decided that one is as good as another in sudangrass pastures. Common sudangrass yielded more total forage during the dry years and was drought resistant. On the other hand, sweet sudangrass is resistant to the common bacterial foliage diseases, and holds its lush greenness and palatability better as it approaches maturity with cattle grazing both the leaves and the stalks, says Gibson.

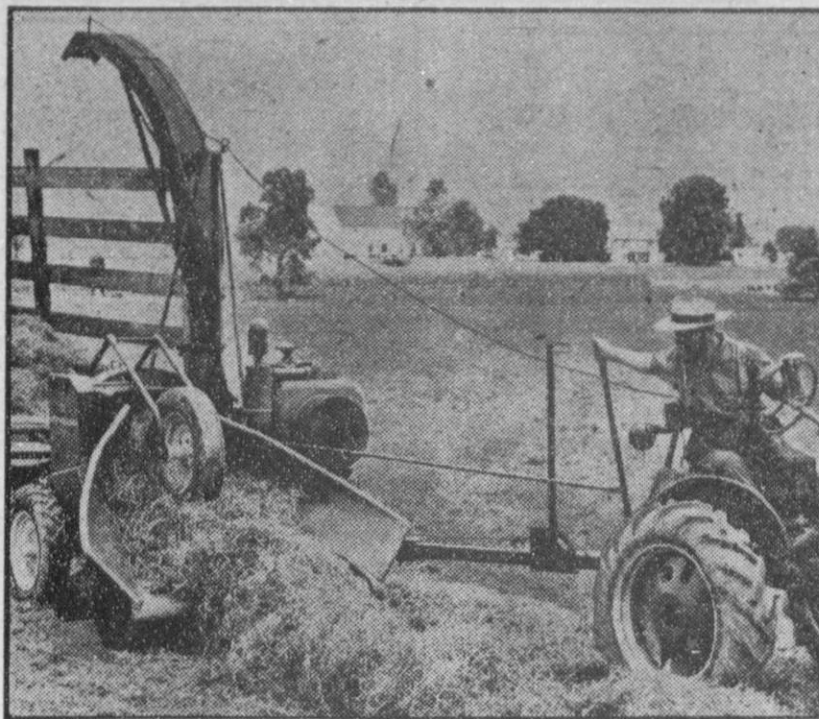

A regular check on the dairy, will keep the dairyman in profitable production, the specialist concluded.

POINT OF NO RETURN

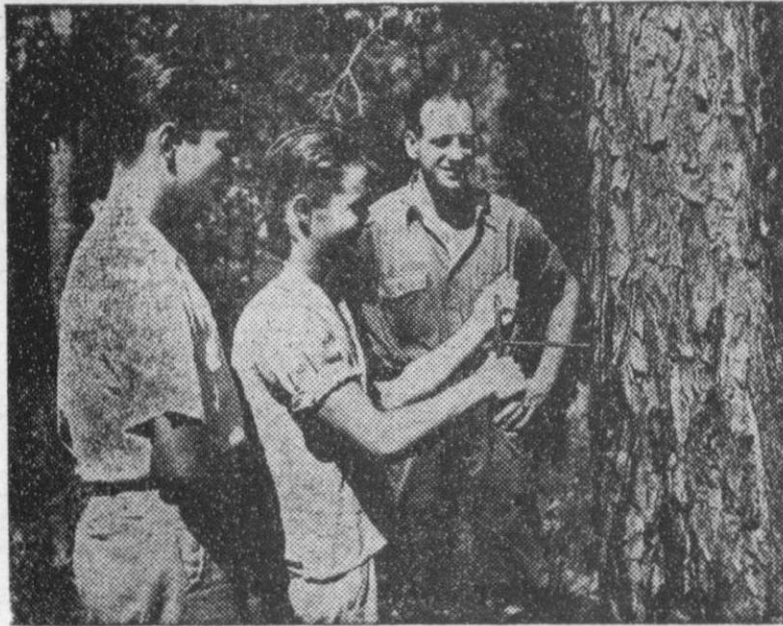

The Farm Journal, which has a very large circulation among rural families throughout the United States, recently ran an exceptional editorial, which deserves the widest possible circulation. Here is what the Journal said:

"Never has a nation recovered itself, once the leaders have lured the people far into the grip of socialistic power. You can call the roll as far back as history reaches. Countries go on down to catastrophe as Germany and Italy have gone, as Rome went, and as Russia will go.

"Americans for a century and

Bringing the farm a step closer to complete mechanization, this new field forage harvester automatically picks up hay from the windrow, chops and blows it into a trailing wagon. A quick change can be made to convert the device to a harvester for cutting and chopping corn.

Farm young people everywhere are taking increased interest in forest management. These two youths are receiving a lesson in the use of the increment corer, an instrument used to determine growth rate of trees. Professional forester, right, instructs.

For the second straight year local farm boys and girls have a chance to compete for state and national awards in a 4-H club forestry project. Three hundred dollar college scholarships plus all-expense paid trips to the 1949 4-H Club Congress in Chicago will go to four national winners in the forestry contest.

Four-H Club members interested in forestry are eligible to compete. In addition to the four top awards, to be distributed on a regional basis, each of the state winners will receive a gold medal.

The 4-H forestry project emphasizes youth's stake in the woodlands of this state. Farmer owned woodlands today constitute a major portion of the Nation's commercial forest area. They represent also a steady source of wealth to their owners that in many cases is virtually untapped.

American Forest Products Industries, a national, non-profit association of wood-dependent industries, is sponsor of the 4-H forestry awards. Last year 18 states participated in the national forestry competition. College scholarships went to club members representing Idaho, Georgia, New York and Wisconsin.

"Opportunities for farmers, who manage their woodlands for continuing forest crops, are greater today than ever before," Charles A. Gillett, managing director of American Forest Products Industries, declared in announcing his organization's sponsorship of the 1949 award. "The importance of good forest management practice on the Nation's farms cannot be over emphasized."

Detailed information about the 4-H forestry project may be obtained from the county extension agent.

a half supported their government, kept it well out of their affairs, and so became the earth's richest people. Now more and more we ask the government to support us.

"Government offers more 'help' for agriculture, housing, education, health and other things. Everybody is encouraged to ask for something. Every government aid means more taxes and more regulation. Each new experiment fastens onto the people a new load, and the load remains."

"When a flier risks stormy weather over the ocean, he approaches what airmen call 'point of no return'. Beyond that he cannot Liberty has never come from the government. Liberty has always come from the subjects of it. The history of liberty is a history of resistance. The history of liberty is a history of limitations of governmental power, not the increase of it.

Holidays observed in Texas alone are Texas Independence Day, March 2, and San Jacinto Day, April 21.

LOVE AND SPENCER ---

than by fighting communism. Don't waste effort working against a bad system but accomplish something really worth while by working with a system which we know to be infinitely better.

Spencer opened his speech with an explanation that scientific and mechanical progress and soil are the elements of our prosperity, then pointed out that the first two continue to increase whereas the latter is steadily decreasing. We are headed for a condition of want, he warned, and that can lead to communism. "When people are hungry and cold they fall easy prey to the suggestion of confiscating and redistributing all goods."

He then quoted some alarming figures to show that the country today is rushing madly toward disaster. We need 2½ acres to support one person and actually have three at this time. However we are losing our life-sustaining topsoil at the rate of a half million acres a year. At the same time our population is increasing at a rate to double itself in 70 years. On the basis of those two figures Spencer states that we will be two million acres short of our needs in 20 years unless we do something to save and improve the soil we have left.

He gave his fellow Texans a terrific jolt when he said that this state in spite of its high total production is actually one of the lowest unit producers in the country. It ranks 16th in the yield of cotton per acre, 44th in the yield of corn and 43rd in production per cow.

He then continued that land can be saved and it can be improved with most desirable results. Actual results have proved that production can be increased as much as 35 per cent in three years. Applying that rate to Cooke county he estimated an increased income of three to four million dollars a year.

With a vacancy in Congress left by the death of New York's Rep. Sol Bloom, 35-year-old Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., has agreed to become a candidate for the post in a special election to be held at an as yet undetermined date. He is expected to be supported by both Democratic and Liberal parties of New York's 20th district.

always a chance that the anti communist element will rise and wipe out the present dictatorial clique

At the present stage such a development, though easily possible, is better described as wishful thinking. However, if it should come to pass, historians of the future will very likely refer to our recent non-stop globe-girdling flight as the turning point in modern history.

Several significant things have happened since that event a few weeks ago. There was a reshuffling of politburo top brass. Red leaders in a half dozen countries asserted simultaneously that in case of war they would support Russia and oppose their own countries. And nations that have had threatening "invitations" to join Stalin's pact came forth bluntly to join the North Atlantic pact.

That flight, preceded just a few days by the 9,600 mile flight of a B 36, made the world sit up and take notice. Now everybody knows that Stalin's domain is within bombing range. And Stalin knows that everybody knows. That's the reason for exposing what he considers to be a very potent weapon of his own, the subversive organization he controls in other countries. It was a desperate effort to scare the prospective pact signers but it seems the countries are more impressed by real power than subversive power.

An interesting sidelight on the world flight is a report that it was considered a year ago but abandoned on the advice of the State Department on the grounds that it would annoy Russia and hamper the amicable settlement of disagreements with her. Under the circumstances we may assume that this country either has lost hope of making amicable settlements or it feels big enough to disregard the Kremlin reaction.
