City Council Urges Clean-up and Spray As Polio Precaution

Those city council members were not just beating their gums Monday night when they discussed the urgency of doing something to prevent an outbreak of polio in Muenster. The number of cases now reported in Texas is alarming . . . by far the worst epidemic in this state's history. Lots of Muenster people are dead serious about this thing, and you can bet your boots that they will be doing things in the very near future.

As usual, there were few visitors at the council meeting and since the proposal will require the full cooperation of everybody it cannot be started on short notice. But the good word will get around, and when it does Muenster will respond. Con is confident that it won't be long until this town puts on the spick-and-span clean-up it has ever had.

While other places are being stricken every day we can't help wondering if and when the disease will hit us . . . and we can't help admitting that if there is anything we can do to prevent polio we should do it. Let's bear in mind that we are not living under a special charm. Polio can strike us. If we have failed to clean up we would never forgive ourselves. If we have cleaned up we will at least have a clear conscience.

By ordinary standards we think we have a fairly clean town. Most places are neat and well kept. We haven't much to be ashamed of. By sanitary standards, however, our town is in pitiful condition. We still have a shocking number of open toilets. We have scattered tin cans, old tires, garbage pails, junk heaps and weed patches where insects can multiply and thrive. In short, we grow lots of flies and we provide lots of filth for them to spread around.

Since leading medical men are agreed that the source of polio . . . and dysentery and typhoid and lots of other diseases . . . is the filth spread by flies, many a city has adopted spraying campaigns. City council members here propose the same precaution but they admit that they are licked before they start unless they can make the spray job effective.

Sanitary men say we are wasting our time with a spray machine if we do not first eliminate the insects' breeding and hiding places. Our first job is to clean up. We need to pick up every article that will hold stagnant water and spray every puddle. We need to cut weeds, cover garbage pails and keep the water out of trash barrels. Above all we need to get rid of every open toilet in town. If the people who now have them do not recognize their duty in that respect, the city officials will have to take over the duty.

Polio is an awful disease and the prevention of a single case is worth more than all the effort this city would require for a thorough clean-up. But that isn't all. Lesser ailments, especially dysentery, cost us heavily every year in discomfort, lost time, inefficiency and medical bills. Muenster could well afford to close up the town once every month for a clean-up to reduce, or perhaps eliminate, the prevalence of those diseases.

Let's not salve our conscience with the thought Muenster is as clean as most other towns. Instead let's adopt the attitude that any amount of filth, no matter how small, is too much for us.

That old saying about one man's gain being another man's loss somehow does not seem to apply in the case of Gerhart Eisler. Some dopy 'Poles may have the idea they got a wonderful guy but we here in the U. S. are dead certain that we are rid of a first class stinker.

While we're somewhat irked at the thought of this sleazy little snake putting the big pants on Uncle Sambo, we are nevertheless pleased to think that there is also a bright side to the affair. This way Eisler's exodus didn't cost us anything. We even made some money on the deal . . . through the forfeiture of his bond. The other way we would have paid heavily through court costs and the probable additional expense of deportation.

Of course we might have derived a certain satisfaction out of proving to the red rat that he can't pull a fast one on Uncle Sam and get away with it. Yours truly, for one, would have been pleased to see the book thrown at Eisler. But he's also pleased

Conscious of the current alarming increase in the number of polio cases in the rest of the state members of the city council Monday night issued an urgent request for an intensive and extensive clean-up to eliminate as much as possible the city's present sources of contamination.

The most desirable preventive measure, the council agreed is a DDT spray job . . . but since its effectiveness will depend on the removal of existing insect hiding and breeding places, a thorough clean-up was recommended as the first step in the program.

As long as the city has open toilets, weed patches, exposed garbage, tin cans and stagnant water it has little or no chance to control insects in the opinion of the council. To correct those conditions it issued a request for every property owner to clean-up his own premises. It also decided to call in a representative of the state health department for whatever assistance he can give.

The first and most important objective is the elimination of open toilets, Mayor Hoffman said. Every person who has one is asked to take early steps toward connecting with the sewer system or converting to an approved type of pit toilet.

"We regret any hardships that may be imposed by the change," Hoffman said, "and we hope people will understand that this measure is intended not as an imposition but as a precaution to protect the health of the community".

The next objective is to remove other insect hiding places, especially weed patches, and stagnant water containers. The intention is to remove tin cans, old tires, etc., and cover stagnant pools with a film of oil. The city will take care of oiling the pools.

Plans for a final spraying job are temporarily shelved to await the clean-up. When the time comes the council expects to lease a modern sprayer.

Notes On Soil Conservation

A ranch plan is being developed by W. P. Luse and his ranch manager J. T. Barnes on the Herefordvale ranch 8 miles South of Muenster. Tentative plans are to establish a starting stocking rate that will allow the native grasses to improve. One half of the pasture will be deferred from the first of June until frost to allow desirable grasses to reseed. This pasture will be grazed this winter and next spring to reduce competition and allow for germination of the seed that is produced. It will be deferred again June 1, 1950, to frost of that year to allow seedlings to become established. The grazing rotation will then be reversed to increase the stand of grass on the other half of the ranch. In short, one half of the grass will be grazed in the spring and the other half will be grazed in the summer. The pasture deferred during the summer will furnish forage during the winter.

Buddy Reiter has developed a conservation farm plan on his farm south of the city and will start it off by seeding the waterways to King Ranch Bluestem next spring. This grass may not develop sufficient cover for a waterway as soon as Buffalo or Bermuda grass would, but Buddy could not utilize a small pasture strip on this farm. He can use the meadow strip. A complete terrace system and growing a sweet clover crop on one third of the land each year will be the main conservation practices to be carried out.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Fleshman, Duane Fleshman and Jerry Fette were in Oklahoma City on June 1 to attend graduation exercises at Capitol Hill High school. Norman Fleshman was one of the graduates. He accompanied his parents home for a vacation visit.

Visiting the Lawrence Dankesreiter family Monday and Monday night were his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. August Zellner of Stuttgart, Ark. From here they went to Pilot Point and Fort Worth to visit relatives.

$35 WORTH OF WOLVES—Deputies at Polk City, Ia., hold seven baby wolves found by Harold Wicker, of Granger, Ia., while hunting for mushrooms. Wicker turned the animals in for the $5-a-head bounty offered for wolves. They will be destroyed.

COMMUNITY LUMBER COMPLETES MOVING STOCK TO MUENSTER

Effective this week the Community Lumber Company became a Muenster business firm. The job of moving merchandise from Saint Jo is complete and future sales will be transacted here.

The business, however is far from established. At this writing, on Wednesday, it is just here with merchandise, office equipment and all gathered together into the building which later will be used only as a warehouse. It now consists of slightly more than three walls and a roof; a portion of the east siding being left off while it serves also as a lumber shed and office.

When completed the company will have three buildings: the 24x120 warehouse, a 36x100 lumber shed and a 34x36 office building. It will have two gravel approaches from the highway, one east of Steve's Cafe and the other west of Jimmy's Station. It is situated a half block south of the highway, behind Steve's and Jimmy's.

The business was purchased last November by Jerome Pagel and Lawrence and Louis Roberg after it had been idle several months following the death of J. A. Wiley. Rody Klement is its manager.

Grandmother of Local Residents Dies June 7

Mrs. Cynthia M. Henry, 86, grandmother of J. A. Travis and Mrs. Jess Richey, died at Ringgold last week Tuesday and funeral services were held there Wednesday.

Attending the services were Messrs. and Mmes. J. A. Travis, Jess Richey and Cecil Cain and daughter. Another son of the deceased, Gus Travis of Hamlin, formerly of Muenster, was also there.

Cemetery Fund Increased

More contributions to the cemetery fund this week boosted the total from $240 reported last week to $265.49. Mrs. Nick Miller, chairman of the Garden Club's cemetery committee, announced Wednesday.

CUTTING BUMPER TEXAS CROP—Although daily thunderstorms throughout the Texas wheat belts delayed cutting this year's crop, harvesting has finally gotten underway. Above, two combines start cutting wheat yielding from 30 to 35 bushels per acre on the farm of Les Pennington at Guyer, Tex.

MYRA VOTERS APPROVE $75,000 SCHOOL BOND

Myra taxpaying voters Saturday approved a $75,000 bond issue for a new grammar school building, and a $1 maintenance and bond tax.

The vote on the bond issue was 87 to 23, and the vote on the tax for school purposes was 87 to 21. It was the heaviest vote cast there in years.

The new building will house the first eight grades.

Community Begins 1949 Grain Harvest; Yield Below Average

The 1949 grain harvest is under way at Muenster. Since the first part of the week farmers have been operating their combines in scattered early fields and, favored by ideal cutting weather, have been able to keep pace with the maturing progress of their crops.

The early bird of the season is Tony Trubenbach Jr. He delivered the community's first load to the Morrison elevator here last Thursday afternoon.

First reports on the area's wheat yields indicate that the crop will be little if any better than predicted after last winter's rough weather. Muenster definitely is not sharing in the bountiful harvest reported for other wheat belts of the nation.

According to Ed Rohmer, manager of the Morrison elevator, the test of early wheat is holding up fairly well. Most of it has been 59 or 60, and a small quantity fell as low as 56. The only report on yield to date was that from Tony Trubenbach Jr. His field of early wheat averaged 12 bushels per acre.

The general assumption, however is that early wheat is the best. Later cuttings are expected to be poorer both in test and yield per acre.

As regards disposal problems, farmers of Muenster appear to be somewhat more fortunate than those of some heavy producing Latest instructions from Morrison Milling Company to the local elevator authorize it to accept 100 per cent of the farmer's wheat for storage on government loan. The farmer does not have to sell any to receive storage facilities. The moisture test of all such wheat must be 12.5 or less.

The elevator also offers to assist farmers who wish to store grain at home on the government loan plan. It will test samples for storage, without charge and without obligation, to determine whether the moisture content is low enough for safe storage.

Under the home storage plan, Rohmer pointed out the farmer can secure a federal loan on the full support price but he must also accept responsibility for keeping the grain in proper condition.

EROSION IS TAKING ALARMING TOLL OF GOOD CROP LAND

Erosion is taking an increasingly alarming toll of good crop land in the United States. Estimates by the Department of Agriculture indicate that about 100 million acres of once good crop land have been ruined or nearly ruined for profitable cropping by erosion, another 100 million acres have been badly damaged and still another 100 million acres are eroding too fast.

There are now approximately 460 million acres of good crop land in the U.S., including acreage now in crops as well as about 100 million acres that need clearing, drainage, irrigation or other improvement. All but about 7 1/2 million acres of this 460 million acres are subject to erosion unless protective measures are adopted.

Inventions That Serve You

CHARLES F. KETTERING
Inventor of Self-starter

THANKS to Charles F. Kettering women are no longer dependent on male muscle to start the car when they wish to go motoring. It was Kettering who invented the self-starter. Before then it frequently happened that milady wrecked her careful grooming and her temper by trying to start the car herself. Kettering was the gallant knight who settled that problem for all women for all time. Today she merely presses her foot against a small pedal or presses a button with her finger.

DOCTORS DISCOVER CALENDAR OF SICKNESS

LONDON.—Doctors have discovered what they call a "calendar of sickness", which means they have found that people are more sensitive to certain ailments at particular times of the year. April and May, for examples are months when skin troubles are most apt to make themselves felt. In June come blood disorders. There is a brief gap in July and August. As fall approaches, ear and eye disorders pop up. Finally, the year rounds out with gastric troubles. The opening months of the year are notable for colds, influenza and respiratory diseases.

The Jack Biffles have moved back to Muenster and are occupying the Tony Felderhoff farm house they occupied before they moved to Gainesville about a year ago.

Mims Lewis recently bought the Mulligan farm north of Gus Sicking's place. The farm has been used principally for cattle grazing for the past several years and was not occupied.

Texans Regard Cancer As Most Dangerous Disease, But Few Know Symptoms

HOUSTON.—Although Texans rate cancer as one of the most dangerous diseases they know, more than half of them do not know any cancer symptoms, J. Louis Neff, executive director of the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society, said today, in discussing the 1949 educational and membership drive of the Society.

'Not only is the public to a large extent uninformed concerning cancer danger signals, but three out of ten people of the general American population give incorrect or misleading symptoms,' Mr. Neff added.

'This is a dangerous situation and one which makes the American Cancer Society's fight to control cancer in Texas much more difficult. We have found that those who most frequently give wrong symptoms for the disease heard those incorrect symptoms from equally uninformed persons. These Texans are playing directly into the hands of cancer quacks and are often delaying cancer treatment until it is too late for recovery.'

The executive director pointed out that Texans can learn accurate information from their family doctor, from cancer information centers now being set up about the state by county units of the American Cancer Society, and by news stories such as this, published by local newspapers in the interest of public health.

Mr. Neff listed the following as the only true and accurate early symptoms of cancer:

- (1) Any sore that does not heal, particularly about the tongue, mouth or lip.
- (2) A painless lump or thickening, especially on the breast, lip or tongue.
- (3) Irregular bleeding or discharge from any body opening.
- (4) A wart, mole, or birthmark that suddenly starts to grow or change color.
- (5) Persistent indigestion suddenly appearing in middle life.
- (6) Any change in the normal bowel habit, if persistent.
- (7) Persistent hoarseness, unexplained cough, or difficulty in swallowing.

SNAKES AREN'T AS BAD AS YOU THINK

AUSTIN.—Snakes aren't as bad as you think, says a University of Texas zoology professor.

An authority on Texas wildlife, Dr. W. Frank Blair explains there are only four poisonous snakes among the many that live in the state. For everyone of the poisonous coral, rattlesnakes, water moccasin and copperhead snakes, however, there are 10 non-poisonous snakes that help mankind by eating harmful insects, he points out.

His advice is: Learn to recognize the poisonous types and kill them, but let the others alone.

Washington Newsletter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., June 3. — The recent Supreme Court decision in the Termino case and the recent untimely death of James Forrestal have brought into sharp focus the whole controversial question of freedom of speech. Termino was convicted under a Chicago ordinance for creating a disturbance by an allegedly vicious and rabble-rousing speech. The Supreme Court reversed the Illinois Courts and acquitted Mr. Termino and held that he had a right to say what he wished, even though his speech provoked anger, invited public dispute, and created unrest. A number of Justices dissented from this view. It is generally conceded in Washington that Mr. Forrestal's death was largely caused by vicious and unfair attacks upon him, principally by radio commentators. Mr. Earl Godwin, an old and reputable newspaper man of Washington and a radio commentator, said "One reason why James Forrestal ended his life was the pounding of vast cruelty inflicted on him by editors and commentators who had an axe to grind or an exclusive scandal to sell or spout — Also a flood of abusive letters reached him because of his stand on Middle East oil —".

Incidentally, Mr. Forrestal was the only member of the President's Cabinet who sought to keep the Administration from rushing to the defense of Israel and from precipitously recognizing the sovereignty of Israel.

A number of bills have been introduced in the Congress seeking to limit writers, commentators, newspapers, and radios, in their unsupported attacks upon individuals and organizations. This whole question of censorship of freedom of speech and expression, is coming in for serious and controversial debate. Public officials, in particular, have been considered open targets for abuse. Often great injury is done to the public service through unfair and libelous attacks on such officials. However, democracy itself must rest upon freedom of thought and expression. Censorship itself often abuses the rights of individuals in restraining freedom of expression. More than 200 years ago, the famous French philosopher, Voltaire, said to another famous Frenchman, Rousseau, "I wholly disagree with what you have to say, but will defend unto the death your right to say it." Granting the evils and abuses of a free press and a free radio, such evils and abuses are not so great as would be those of irresponsible censorship, or of severe restraints upon freedom of expression. Indignant as we may become because of unfair attacks upon people and issues, most of us will still agree with Mr. Voltaire.

The President on yesterday approved a bill passed by the House and Senate which seeks, through the Commodity Credit Cor., to supply additional grain storage. A number of us in conference with CCC officials have been frantically seeking more storage for grain now being harvested in our section of Texas. Plans are under way to use government warehouses on abandoned army posts—also to use hundreds of ships idle and anchored in the harbors of the country.

There are several hundred of such ships in Texas ports that it is hoped may be used. Unless adequate storage is found, Texas farmers will lose millions of dollars in the price obtained for wheat now being harvested. This year's wheat crop is expected to break all records. One of my Congressman friends from Kansas reports that his State alone will produce more than 260 million bushels.

A few days ago, I participated in an NBC television debate in New York City. Senator Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, and myself were on the affirmative while Professor Herbert Wechsler of Columbia University Law School and Mr. Basil Brewer, Editor of the Standard Times of New Bedford, Massachusetts, were on the negative. The question was "Should the Gossett-Lodge Amendment Abolishing the Electoral College be Adopted?" The debate was presided over by a Judge of the New York Supreme Court. Our opponents admitted the evils of the present system but expressed fears that if the Electoral College was abolished, the South would have too much voice in national politics.

and his recent election to Congress. Mr. Roosevelt was elected on the Liberal-Progressive ticket, defeating candidates who ran on the Democratic ticket and the Republican ticket. A good many members of Congress have been amused by the fact that Mr. Roosevelt took off for a visit to Palestine immediately after his election and has not yet reported in Washington to be sworn in as a Congressman. Some gossip has been occasioned by the report that his mother has said he would one day be President of the United States. That, of course, is a possibility pleasing or otherwise, depending on one's point of view.

You can not do a kindness too soon, because you never know when it will be too late.

The American Way

By George Peck

Governmental Tyranny

In a previous article I cited the case of George Washington, Father of our Country, declining to witness the starting off of John Fitch's steamboat. I asked the question that if wise George Washington and other brilliant delegates of the Constitutional Convention could not vision the far reaching consequences of Fitch's invention, how can we ever expect to find economic planners with such vision.

Throughout the history of America, there have been many, many other examples which serve to demonstrate that government among all the agencies that man has devised, is least competent to direct the genius of man. For instance, let us suppose that in the year 1900 the Economic Planners had been in control of this nation. What would have been their attitude toward the automobile and oil industries of that day? At that time there were about 8,000 motor-cars in the country, consuming about 80,000 barrels of gasoline a year. That amount of gasoline would operate the motor vehicles of today for an hour and a half.

One can imagine Henry Ford, with his vision of the automobile's future, appearing before a board of Economic Planners, to ask that in planning its program for the next two or three decades, it consider providing a few billion dollars of capital, along with the needed material and labor, for his industry.

The Planning Authorities would have considered Mr. Ford a wild lunatic. They would have asked him where he expected to get the gasoline to operate all the cars he hoped to make, pointing out that neither gasoline nor petroleum from which to make it was anywhere in sight. Can anyone doubt that Mr. Ford's demands would have been rejected? Mr. Ford would have been held up to ridicule by the Economic Planners—mistaking genius for insanity and inventive capacity for lunacy.

Fortunately for all of us, there were no Economic Planners to head off Mr. Ford's folly. Without a single worry as to where his gasoline was to come from, he went ahead and presently was turning out a million cars a year. And also as there were no Economic Planners to interfere, the petroleum industry kept right in step, always meeting demands, always keeping ahead of the thirst of those multiplying millions of motor-cars.

Then there is the rather humorous episode in connection with the first telephone placed on the White House desk. This was when Ulysses Grant was President. After trial had convinced him that he could actually talk through it and hear the answering voice from the other end, he said: "Yes, it is all very remarkable; but who in the world would ever want to use one of them?"

Now, Mr. Grant was quite a man. He won a great war and was twice elected President. But this incident raises grave doubts about the vision of any Economic Planning Board, Grant would have appointed; and as President, according to the theories of our present-day Planners, he would have had to appoint just such a board.

But again, fortunately for all of us, the nation was not encumbered with Economic Planners. Now some 80 million Americans answer President Grant's question by making daily use of the telephone.

There are many more incidents that could be related to prove that we do not want a National Planning Board. Our Government must continue to safeguard the common man's right to be himself. It must continue to protect him against monopoly, tyranny, extortion and every infringement of human rights. In doing these things it serves its proper purpose, but it must go no further.

Man's need is for more, not less freedom to work out his own destiny, to convert his dreams into practical achievement from the menace of social, economic and governmental tyrannies. By far the worst of these is governmental and that tyranny will most certainly be our sad lot if we ever allow Economic Planners to assume control.

Kindness is catching, and if you go around with a thoroughly developed case, your neighbor will be sure to get it.

The Clarence Albers family moved Saturday to make their home in Dallas. He was an employee at the Endres Motor Co. for several years. The house they vacated in the north part of town is now the home of the Francis Wiese family.

M. Sgt. and Mrs. Alfred Walter left Thursday after a week's visit with his parents, the John Walters and family. They came from Portland Oregon and are on leave before he goes to Japan. His wife will join him there after he is settled. From here they went to Dallas and Fort Worth to visit relatives.

Specialty signed when actress Diana Lynn modeled this Imperial Chinchilla coat in Los Angeles—who wouldn't? But they gasped when they heard its price—and for good reason. The warm garment sells for a cool $70,000. Some 250 chinchillas made the supreme sacrifice to fashion what is described as "the world's costliest coat."

AT LAST! BLOOMS ON THE CENTURY PLANT

Remember that century plant at Clarence Wilson's? It's blooming. At least it's producing little growths of some kind, which, though they don't look like ordinary flowers, seem quite appealing to bees and flies. They smell sweet too.

The blooms are odd looking. Slim spindly things about three inches long and slightly thicker than a match stick. About half of that is yellowish green, the other half is yellow. Apparently the stem and bloom respectively. One of those little stem and flower combinations emerges from each bud in the cluster supported by branch from the main stem. The clusters are taking their turns blooming. Pedals are already withered on the lowest one, number 5 is fresh and bright, number 6 has a mere half dozen stems out of 50 or more buds. Buds in clusters above that are still small, tight and dark green. There are 14 clusters in all.

Meanwhile the main stalk's growth is gradually slowing down to a stop. Wednesday it measured 12 ft. 8 inches. Two weeks before it was 11 ft. 9 in.

MAGES-SCHMITZ WEDDING SET FOR THURSDAY, JUNE 23

Joe Mages has announced the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Clara to Harold Schmitz, son of Theo Schmitz of Lindsay. The young couple has set Thursday, June 23, for the date of the wedding. It will be solemnized in Sacred Heart church here at 8 a.m.

Remodeling and improving is in progress at two Muenster homes this week. Ed Pels is building an addition to his home. It consists of a garage and laundry. Mrs. Fred Herr Sr., is having a laundry and utility room built at her home.

These eight preventable causes account for most of the farm fire losses: sparks on combustible roofs, defective chimneys, spontaneous combustion, improper use of kerosene and gasoline, unsafe furnace and stove installations, misuse of electricity and appliances, carelessness with matches and inadequate lightning protection.

FIVE POLIO PRECAUTIONS ARE LISTED FOR PARENTS

Warning that the 1949 polio season is "just around the corner," the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today issued a list of precautionary measures to be observed by those in charge of children during the epidemic danger period which usually runs from May through October, reaching its peak during the hot, mid-summer months. The five easy-to-follow health rules for children are:

1. Avoid crowds and places where close contact with other persons is likely.
2. Avoid over-fatigue caused by too active play or exercise, or irregular hours.
3. Avoid swimming in polluted water. Use only beaches or public pools declared safe by local health authorities.
4. Avoid sudden chilling. Remove wet shoes and clothing at once and keep extra blankets and heavier clothing handy for sudden weather changes.
5. Observe the golden rule of personal cleanliness. Keep food tightly covered and safe from flies or other insects. Garbage should be tightly covered and, if other disposal facilities are lacking, it should be buried or burned.

The National Foundation also listed the following symptoms of infantile paralysis: headache, nausea or upset stomach, muscle soreness or stiffness, and unexplained fever. Should polio strike in your family, call a doctor immediately. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment by qualified medical personnel often prevent serious crippling, the National Foundation pointed out.

The organization emphasized that fear and anxiety should be held to a minimum. A calm, confident attitude is conducive to health and recovery. Parents, it said, should remember that of all those stricken, 50 per cent or more recover completely, while another 25 per cent are left with only slight after effects.

If polio is actually diagnosed, contact the chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis serving your community. The chapter will pay that part of the cost of care and treatment which patient or family cannot meet.

NEW USE FOR TELEVISION—Employed as a direct educational aid, television has taken its place in the operating room. Until recently, only about a half-dozen internes were able to view operations from a glass-enclosed gallery.

REFRESHMENT STAND OPENS ON HIGHWAY

A bit of variety in the thirst quenching line was added to the community this week when Ed Swirczynski set up a shaved ice drive-in on the highway just east of the Humble Station. Named the Snow Cone Stand and operated by Mrs. Milton Ramsey the business will serve shaved ice in some half dozen different flavors.

Ed Swirczynski and his wife of Fort Worth were here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to set up the stand and equipment.

The Ferd Yostens and children of Fort Worth were here for a weekend visit with relatives.

With Retreat and Hike Finished Scouts Work For Trip To Carlsbad

With their three-day retreat and a hike with outdoor tests behind them the local boy scouts are concentrating on their trip to Carlsbad Caverns. There are still some who have to qualify to be eligible for the trip. Scoutmaster Nick Miller said, and next Monday night is the last opportunity. He requests members of the Scout Committee to be present at the meeting to hear the boys' tests.

The troop and Assistant Scoutmaster Andy Hofbauer returned last Wednesday afternoon, June 1, from the three-day retreat conducted by Rev. R. A. Tynan of Dallas at Lake Texoma Scout Camp. Scoutmaster Miller spent a part of the time with his troop. Other troops at the retreat included a Dallas troop with Father Becker, and a Sherman troop with Father Tucek. Conferences centered on the Scout Oath and Scout Law.

Last Sunday 14 boys hiked to Joe Fisher's where they took outdoor tests. Scoutmaster Miller accompanied them.

The Virgil Hellmans and children of Los Angeles, Calif., are expected to arrive this weekend for a visit with relatives and friends.

Water leaks are expensive—far more expensive than most people realize. The cost of leaking faucets is shown by the illustration. Figures are based on a water rate of $2.50 for the first 1100 cubic feet for three months and $2.30 in excess of 1100 cubic feet for three months.

This is the cost of cold water. Leaking hot water faucets are even more expensive because of the cost of fuel used to heat the water. If there is iron or other mineral in the water, leaking faucets will stain and discolor plumbing fixtures.

Many leaking faucets can be repaired with a new faucet washer. Others may require a new seat. Many, however, are beyond repair. It has been estimated that 24,000,000 faucets in American homes are obsolete and outworn and should be replaced.

Miss Genie Walter and a friend, both of Fort Worth, spent the weekend with the former's parents, the John Walters and family.

Rheumatic Heart Disease Among Leading Killers of Persons Under 25 Years

AUSTIN.— The disabling and often fatal disease of children, rheumatic heart disease, is one of the leading causes of death among children and young adults in the age group 10 to 25 years.

Unfortunately, there has been developed for this disease no vaccine such as we have for small-pox, diphtheria and whooping cough, but by recognizing the early symptoms and obtaining a competent physician's diagnosis and treatment, some of the damaging results of rheumatic heart disease can be prevented or moderated.

The State Health Officer, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, says that "in general the early symptoms of rheumatic fever are pain and swelling in the joints of the knees, ankles, elbows or wrists. The pain is felt usually in one of these joints, and spreads frequently to the others. Often a doctor's examination of a child who becomes irritable and cross without apparent cause, cries easily, and develops nervous habits, will disclose the presence of rheumatic heart disease."

Predisposing cause to this serious illness include frequent chilling, living in damp, steamy quarters, poor diet, frequent colds and sometimes scarlet fever or other infections caused by certain streptococcus germs. All such conditions should be avoided if at all possible.

Protection for children against rheumatic heart disease, should include a thorough physical examination by a physician at least once a year; a well balanced and nourishing diet; sufficient rest and sleep, and dressing at all times in accordance with the temperature of the room or playground. Consult a physician at once if any symptom suggests that this disease may be present or in the process of developing.

200 BILLION BARRELS OF RESERVE OIL

Dr. Gustav Egloff, who is one of the world's leading authorities on petroleum, recently said that this country should stop worrying about an oil shortage in the future. For oil, he went on, is running out of our ears.

The facts, as presented by Dr. Egloff, are dramatic. In the 100 years since oil was discovered in Pennsylvania, we have used only $5,000,000,000 barrels. We have explored only one per cent of the total sedimentary areas in this country for oil. Estimates say there is a reserve of 100,000,000,000 barrels underground, and at least as much off-shore.

Recent experience provides a striking example. Last year, we produced an unprecedented volume of oil — 2,000,000,000 barrels in those 12 months. Yet new methods added an equal amount to our reserves. In Dr. Egloff's words, "We discovered 4,000,000,000 barrels of oil in one year."

What it all amounts to is that we have immense quantities of crude oil — and we have a producing and distributing industry whose efficiency and vision are beyond question. Technological process is being made at a dizzy rate. We get more and more usable products out of each barrel of crude, and better products.

Bill and Harold Luke of Lubbock spent Thursday through Sunday here with homefolks. This week they began a six-weeks' summer course at Texas Tech.

Extension of community health programs to make dental care available to all children is being urged by the American Dental Association.

Dental diseases, particularly tooth decay, are afflicting more than nine of each ten children. Yet, leading dental authorities estimate, only about one-third of the nation's children are receiving proper dental attention.

Dentists are agreed that the only effective method of combating dental diseases is to start with children; to control and prevent dental defects before they become serious problems later in life.

For that reason, the American Dental Association is opposing establishment of a national system of compulsory health insurance in this country. Children would get less attention.

Association officials point to the present compulsory health insurance system in Great Britain. There, a sound system for providing dental care for school children is falling to pieces because the government program concentrates major attention on a repair program for adults. The same would be true here, dentists say, pointing out that any system which destroys the emphasis on the prevention and control of dental disease in children is not a good system.

WALTER FAMILIES HAVE REUNION WEDNESDAY NIGHT

A lawn party and family reunion honored M. Sgt. and Mrs. Alfred Walter Wednesday night at the Andy Hofbauer home. The party brought together Mr. and Mrs. John Walter and nine of their ten children, along with their families. Only member missing was Miss Genie Walter of Fort Worth who visited here during the weekend and was unable to return for the party. The Joe Walters of Gainesville were present from out of town.

Sgt. Walter and his wife left Thursday after a week's leave here with relatives. They came here from Portland, Oregon.

Pfc. Leonard Walterscheid is here since Wednesday to spend a 10-day leave with his parents, the August Waltersheids and family. He is stationed at El Paso.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT ISSUES COLORFUL NEW ROAD MAP OF TEXAS

Austin, June 3 — The 1949 Texas Highway Map comes off the presses today ready for free distribution by the Texas Highway Department. Showing 31,000 miles of completed Texas highways, over 30,000 miles paved, the map is illustrated with drawings and 30 full color pictures. A panel is devoted this year to travel attractions in Mexico on the Pan-American Highway, with particular attention given to prehistoric ruins. This highway, which dissects Texas, north to south, now runs to Tuxtla, almost in Central America. Texas will be the gateway state in future travel on this international road. Complete mileage tables of comparative distances between Texas cities and between state capitals outside of Texas to border points in Texas are given. Mileages from Laredo south to points on the Pan American Highway are included. A United States road map, showing major national highways, is on the back of the Texas map.

Governor Beauford Jester's message to Texas travelers prefaces the edition.

Your 1949 automobile is the ultimate of 56 years from the first American-made gasoline motor car. During that time 800,000 patents have preceded its construction. Over that bridge of years the automobile has lost all semblance of the original Duryea model of 1893, (above right). The buggy top turned to steel turret; one cylinder motor grew to eight or more cylinders. Steel tires turned to pliant, silent rubber.

The parasitic disease coccidiosis — which has been killing about 10% of the U.S. poultry flocks every year — can be made a minor hazard to chicken farmers, according to an Eastern industrial chemical company.

The disease, said to have cost poultry raisers $75 million per year through 1948, can be wiped out by a new member of the sulfamide family of drugs, the company says.

The new drug, sulfaquinolaxaline, is mixed into chicken mash. The treatment costs about $5 per ton of feed.

Babson Has Good Word For Small Newspapers

Roger W. Babson, noted economist, pointed out in a recent signed article that the high reading interest of small city newspapers more than compensated for the cost of advertising space based on circulation. Here is an interesting excerpt:

"The small papers are read more thoroughly. The average large city newspaper has so many pages that the reader goes through them hurriedly and does not give sufficient consideration to the advertisements. Advertising and newspapers have performed wonderful feats, but they have not increased by one small second the available time each day which newspaper readers have.

"Statistics show that the readers of small papers have more time and give more consideration to the advertisements I will not say that weekly newspapers are seven times as valuable as daily newspapers of the same circulation, but surely they have some advantages. No one reads a daily

The Waco lawyer has announced that he will open his campaign headquarters in Waco and hit the campaign trail in early June and stay on the road until the election, 1950. March's platform calls for the redistribution of the tax burden in Texas from the small home owner and farmer to certain natural resources; $50 a month old age pensions, rural roads, aid to institutions for the mentally sick, veterans bonus, assumption by the State of the local bond indebtedness of school districts and the preservation of local self government in Texas.

Rita Block of Lindsay Receives Awards For School Achievements

Rita Block, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Block of Lindsay, won several distinctions for her school work during the past several years.

As valedictorian of this year's graduating class at Lindsay, she received a one-year scholarship to Our Lady of the Lake College in San Antonio and a year's subscription to the Reader's Digest.

For perfect attendance and punctuality during her four years of high school she received a certificate, and she received a medal for loyalty and achievement. She scored the greatest speed in the typing class and received a membership certificate in the Senior Order of Artistic Typists.

In addition, she is Cooke county's 4-H Gold Star girl for 1948 and receives an expense paid trip to A&M College. She will leave Sunday for the three day Roundup at A&M.

NEW YORK—A simplified and painless new method for detecting cancer has been perfected by Dr. S. A. Gladstone, Department of Pathology, Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital here, which may be performed in the physician's office without surgical biopsy. The cancer test consists of rubbing a section of Geifoam, a protein sponge, over the suspected area. Where cancer is present, the protein material picks up cancer cells. Clinically tested for more than a year, the new method did not fail once in more than 700 cases, and actually proved the presence of cancer in some cases where standard surgical biopsy procedure had failed to reveal it. Dr. Gladstone has just been awarded a New York Medical Society "scientific award" for his contribution to medical science.

SAM BASS FILM TELLS OF EXPLOITS KNOWN TO COUNTY PIONEERS

Old timers of Cooke County whose memories go back three quarters of a century, or who recall their parents' wild and woolly tales about pioneer North Texas history are due to recognize a few familiar names and incidents when they see "Calamity Jane and Sam Bass" at the State Theatre Sunday through Tuesday of the coming week.

A great deal of the picture is based on the outlaw's experiences at Denon and north to the Red River, where he operated his thriving cattle rustling business.

The legend of Sam Bass is clearly remembered in the southern part of Cooke County. Claude Fears of Era recalls that his father once swapped horses with the desperado and that the Bass headquarters for a time was Coe Hollow, between Era and Leo.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Cooper of Corsicana spent the weekend with her parents, the J. J. Haverkamp. On Sunday all members of the family gathered at the Haverkamp home for dinner and a social afternoon. Present from out of town were Mr and Mrs. Ray Kupper of Lindsay.

Bunker Hill Monument is 221 feet high.

Mrs. Ludwig Zimmerer and daughter of Houston are guests of her sister, Mrs. John Schilling. They are also visiting relatives at Lindsay, Gainesville and Montague during their two weeks' vacation.

Confetti---

with the results as they are. We're rid of the guy. That's what we wanted most. So let's be happy about it.

Another circumstance in the Eisler incident is both provoking and gratifying. That's the attitude of the British government. As most of us recall John Bull decided that the red stowaway could not be extradited because his offense could not properly be classed as perjury under British law.

Our first reaction is that it seems like mighty shabby co-operation when our good friend the Briton questions the validity of our law to shield an enemy of our country. Eisler was guilty of falsehood under oath before a House investigating committee. We call it perjury over here. England claims it was just a plain lie if it did not happen in court. In England's opinion he is not guilty as charged, hence is not subject to extradition.

And that's where the gratifying angle comes in. Eisler after all cannot claim credit for his successful escape from America. He was in custody, and he was released only because of the scrupulous justice of Western law. He is free today because England and America respect the rights of even the most contemptible characters. His triumph is empty indeed.

Getting back to that English reversal of our perjury verdict... we might be inclined to regard it as arbitrary and high handed, but on second thought we must acknowledge that it involves a principle which we ourselves regard as sacred and do not hesitate to apply when the occasion arises.

Political refugees come to this country under charges of treason for criticizing their own country. Russia demands their deportation, but U. S. offers sanctuary on the grounds that criticizing one's government is not a crime over here. By accepting the British decision without question our country was only abiding by its own principle... and substantiating its right to abide by it.

Because we insisted on applying that principle we have been able to keep quite a few very worthy men in this country. By acknowledging another nation's right to apply it we now lose a very unworthy scoundrel. It looks like we haven't got a thing to kick about.
