Street and Road Pavement Surface Now Being Applied

Several years ago when unions were just beginning to attain their present power we used to hear stories of heartless employers who sent out gangs of toughs as strike breakers. There were times when, whether a strike was called for justified reasons or not, the goon squads literally beat the workers into submission. It was a shabby way of handling a labor problem and it was largely responsible for the present attitude which recognizes a worker's right to strike peacefully if he so desires.

Among the most voiceiferous critics of the goon squad tactics were communists. They never tired of proclaiming that such bourgeois abuses are the product of a capitalistic system and would not be possible under a communistic regime, in which the tools of production are owned by the workers themselves.

It is amusing to recall the old red line of hooey in connection with the rail workers strike in Berlin. Communist Russia owns the rail systems there, in both east and west zones. Workers in the west zone objected to being paid in east-zone marks because those marks are worth only a fourth as much as the others and also because they cannot be spent in the west zone. You and I would say the workers have ample reason to strike. Furthermore we would say that, whether right or wrong, the workers are entitled to a reasonable and peaceful settlement. Well, let's see what happens when a working man, whose rights were so loudly proclaimed by communists, is an employee of the communist government of Russia.

You guessed it. His rights cease to exist when they come in conflict with the wishes of communists. In Berlin the reds did not offer to negotiate. They sent out goons by the thousands to beat the workers into submission. . . . official goons led by Soviet police and army officers. The strong arm method did not work however. Western sector police and thousands of other people pitched in to help defend the workers rights.

If anyone is inclined to doubt the dozens of stories about the treatment workers get behind the Iron Curtain, here is an incident which brings red technique plainly into the open. It shows exactly how much truth there is in the red rallyhoo in behalf of the working class. Let's hope it will open the eyes of some simple minded people in this country who still think that communism has something to offer.

It is a social and economic tragedy that so many people in this country and other parts of the world fall for that old line of getting something for nothing. Avarice makes fools out of people. The red spellbinder promises that when the worker's government takes over factories, farms, mines and everything else will belong to the people. His glib listener considers his own meager possessions and entertains grand delusions of how much more he will have under the red system.

The fallacy is most evident in the story of two automobile factory managers. The Russian explained that the entire factory belonged to the workers. The cars it produced? They were used by important people like party members and army officers. The American then explained that factories in his country are owned by the capitalists, but the cars they produce are used by the workers.

Another version of the something for nothing racket is having its ill effects in England. The government's 'free' medical service supported by taxes of course, was adopted because a large number of people believe they can get more out of the system than they have to pay in.

A report from Britain only a few days ago revealed that the system and the whole country is beginning to have trouble because too many are demanding service they don't need just because it is free. Hypochondriacs have taken over the country. They swarm into doctors' offices with trifling or imaginary ailments and the result is that absenteeism in factories is running higher than at any time in history.

While industry bogs down medical care also bogs down. Doctors lose so much time on cranks that they cannot give adequate attention to deserving cases. They have to brush off dozens of patients with a hasty diagnosis and prescription, and in their rush often pass up a patient who needs special care. The nation's (Continued on Page 10)

A 1.34 inch gully washer Wednesday night delayed progress on this community's road-street project at least two days and possibly until after the weekend. Rushing along the Main Street curb line the water cut out long strips of the newly completed gravel base after the primer coat of oil had been applied Wednesday afternoon. The center of the street held firm, however, and little if any repair work will be needed there.

Contractors stated Wednesday that before the topping can be applied all washed out spots will be filled in with a mixture of asphalt and crushed rock and all dirt will be removed from the street. That work will begin as soon as the base dries sufficiently, and final surface work may begin on Saturday.

Preparing the gravel base, which consisted of soaking, grading and packing, was completed Tuesday. Equipment for that phase of the job was moved out of town Wednesday. Reese and Riley of Abilene, sub-contractors under Cooper and Woodruff are applying the surface. Their job includes spreading the primer coat and the double coat of asphalt and crushed rock. The primer assures a better binding of base and surface material. It will be followed by an application of asphalt and a layer of crushed rock then another application of asphalt and crushed rock.

The Main Street pavement is part of a Farm-to-Market road project being built by the state highway department. It begins at Highway 82 and extends 5.2 miles to the north. Both the road and the street will be maintained by the highway department.

By special arrangement with the contractor the Farmers Marketing Association is getting a paved surface on the area used by milk trucks. All space between the highway and plant and all the road area west of the plant are included in the job.

Notes On Soil Conservation

Approximately seventy water ways were seeded or sodded in the Muenster Work Unit Area of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District this spring. The farmers have done an excellent job of getting the grass in the ground and it is an important step toward preparing land for pasture or to receive terrace run off water. However, another step needs to be taken. The grass has started to grow in most cases but so have the weeds and annual grasses. Weeds and annual grasses offer stiff competition to bermuda and buffalo grass and should be removed. Waterways should be fenced so that they may be grazed or mowed at frequent intervals.

Gary Hess has fenced his waterway with an electric fence and is grazing off the Johnson grass. His grass is making good growth and some of the terraces can be built this summer.

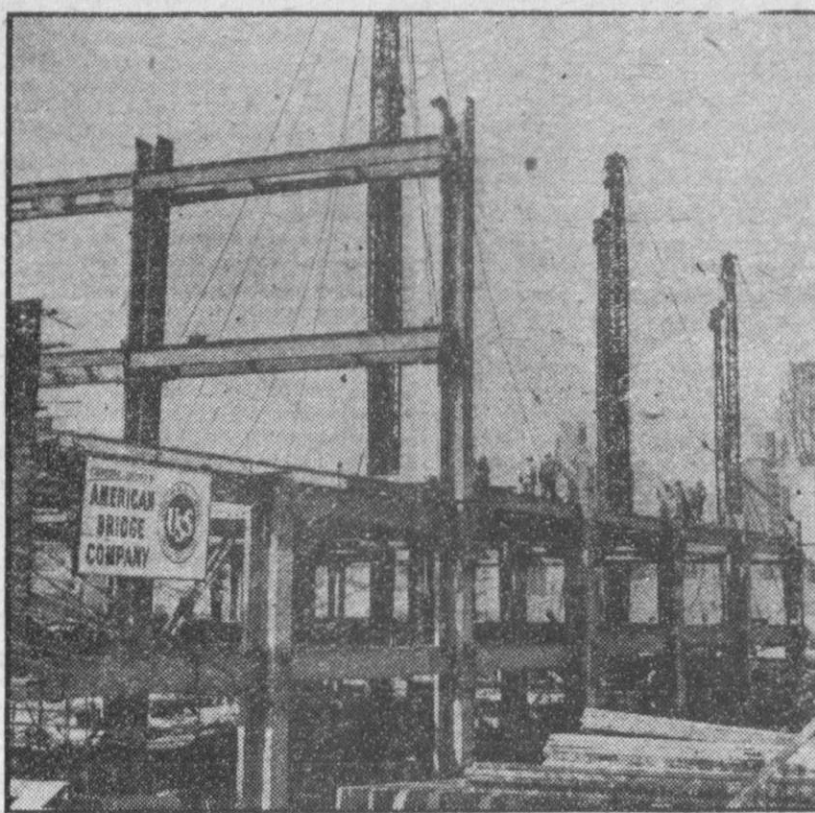

Felix Becker is planning to fence his waterway for grazing. Werner Becker planted part of a field in sweet clover two years ago and got a good stand and growth. Last year the field was in oats and the clover land yielded off with a yield of oats double that to the rest of the field. The field is in wheat this year and the clover plot is easy to find with better looking wheat.

Mrs. Tony Noggler, operator of the Joe H. Otto farm at Hood, says that wheat and oats were more winter hardy when they were planted on land that had been previously fertilized with phosphate and seeded to clover.

Al Walter, operator of the Trubenbach and Hellman farm, says that small grain did much better this spring on land that had been fertilized with phosphate and seeded to sweet clover.

Farm soil conservation plans were recently completed by John Haverkamp and Ben Fleitman, and Andy Fleitman is working on his farm plan. These farmers plan to establish sodded waterways next spring and will use a soil building crop rotation. They will cooperate with 275 other farmers in the Muenster Work Unit Area in a program of controlling soil erosion and improving soil productivity.

Several diversion terraces constructed last fall are paying off now, keeping hill water from flooding out bottom fields of alfalfa and small grain.

Huge derricks pull girders into position for the 39-story Secretariat Building, first and tallest building under construction at the new United Nations Headquarters site in New York. More than a thousand tons of steel have been erected on the project so far.

IT GROWS AND GROWS AND BUDS AND BUDS BUT DOESN'T BLOOM

As yet there are no flowers on the Clarence Wilson Century Plant but when they appear there will be 14 clusters of them. With four clusters of buds topping the 11 foot 9 inch stalk and no apparent sign of any more to come, it was evident Wednesday that the plant has completed its budding process.

But when the buds will break into bloom and what height the plant will finally reach is anybody's guess. During the past week it has added 11 inches to its stature and the last four clusters of buds.

The height and flower growth on the main stem to date has taken place in slightly more than one month. The stem was first discovered pushing its way through the spear-like leaves on April 21.

James Bayer, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bayer, is reported doing satisfactorily at Gainesville sanitarium where he is a patient since breaking his left leg early Monday morning. The accident occurred when he and other employees of the Cooke County Electric Co-op were loading electric line poles on a truck. A pole rolled off the truck, knocked him down and pinned him to the ground. A Geo. J. Carroll and Son ambulance took him to the sanitarium. The fracture is in the thigh and the leg is in traction. He will be hospitalized several weeks.

Alvin Fuhrmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Fuhrmann, sustained a broken left leg, at the knee, when he fell from a telephone pole last week. He entered Gainesville sanitarium Thursday afternoon where the injury was x-rayed and placed in a cast by a bone specialist from Dallas. He was still a patient at the hospital Wednesday but expected to be able to return home in a day or two. He is an employee of the Muenster Telephone company. The accident occurred about 5 miles northeast of the city.

Mrs. J. P. Fisch, 88, is quite ill since Tuesday and suffered several sinking spells since that time. She has been confined to bed at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. J. Endres, most of the time since she broke her hip in a fall last October.

Double Service To Be Held Sunday For Muenster War Dead

Memorial services conducted jointly by the Sacred Heart parish and the local VFW Post will honor Muenster's war dead Sunday afternoon.

During the program the bronze plaque at the entrance of the city square, and the live oak trees planted as living memorials to those who gave their lives in World War II will be dedicated. The Civic League and Garden Club planted the trees and secured the plaque which lists the names of the deceased veterans.

According to a schedule given this week by Father Herman Laux and the VFW Post the services will begin at 2:30 with recitation of the rosary in the parish church.

Immediately thereafter the congregation will march to the cemetery for the special memorial services at the graves of the honored dead. The marching order will be as follows: Color guard, color bearers, firing squad, cross bearer and attendants, school children having part in the program, service men in uniform, relatives of the deceased, choir, priests, and balance of those attending.

The program at the cemetery will begin with a short recitation before the crucifixion group and placing a bouquet at the foot of the cross. Next before the service men's graves the hoisting of the flag, singing of the Star Spangled Banner by the choir, the lowering of the national colors to half mast, then a Memorial recitation, a song by the choir, and the decoration of the graves by school children.

The final tribute will be a military salute consisting of three volleys and eight shots followed by the sounding of taps.

Returning from the cemetery to church the congregation will recite the rosary and immediately thereafter will proceed to the site of the plaque dedication. VFW road guards will direct the procession and traffic.

Ushers will place Gold Star parents in places of honor during the opening number, a military march by the Muenster Band. VFW Chaplain Joe Hess will lead the invocation and Mayor John Hoffman will give an address.

Rev. Herman Laux will bless the plaque and FVW Commander Walter Becker will speak. Mrs. J. M. Weinzapfel, mother of Muenster's first casualty during World War II, will place a wreath on the plaque. The program will end with the band playing the Star Spangled Banner.

Money Doesn't Last? Here's Another Reason

Now even the Government admits that your money doesn't last as long as it should.

Experts say the special paper used for folding money should be allowed to age three months before engraving and another three months before it's issued. This aging, they say, makes the money wear better.

Government stocks of paper dwindled so low recently that the Treasury had to print a lot of bills without letting the paper age properly. So, it isn't high taxes alone that keeps your money from lasting as long as it used to!

Washington Newsletter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., May 20.—The House is today debating the Armed Services Pay Adjustment bill. Like most bills, it has both good and bad features. Of course, there are differences of opinion as to what is good and what is bad. The bill seeks to minimize the alleged retirement racket in the armed services. Proponents say that many officers have been retired on full pay for minor disabilities or for disabilities that were not permanent and that such officers should be re-examined from time to time to justify such retirement. Under existing law, if an officer of the armed services is retired for disability, the action is permanent and he draws his retirement forever thereafter. Under the proposed bill, such officer would not be examined by physicians of his own organization but would submit to the medical authorities in the Veterans Administration for periodic checkups. Proponents of the bill point out that officers in the higher ranks have not had a pay increase since World War I. Opponents of this bill point out that such officers are reasonably well paid, even now; that living costs are going down, that pay increases are not necessary to keep the officer ranks full, because many who now seek to re-enlist as officers are not needed. It is further pointed out that this bill would add 360 million dollars per year to the costs of government and that if we are to hold the line on government spending we must stop somewhere. Opponents further point out that if this legislation is passed, we will then have to pass pending bills to increase the pay of all federal employees, adding at least another billion dollars to the federal budget.

Many other controversial bills are soon to come before the House for debate, including the DP bill, the Public Housing bill, Federal Aid to Education bill, Compulsory Health Insurance bill, the Wage and Hour bill, a new bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act, legislation to extend social security, a new farm program bill, etc.

In addition to these a lot of bills about which there should be little controversy are ready for congressional action. My Sub-committee of the House Judiciary Committee this morning held hearings on H.R. 10 by Congressman Hobbs, of Alabama. This bill would authorize the Department of Justice to provide for detention in camps or prisons all persons ordered deported. Under existing law, there are now 3,278 orders of deportation outstanding which are not enforceable. This means that we have ordered the deportation of 3,278 persons but we cannot deport them because the countries to which they must be deported will not take them back. Many of these people are dangerous, but we have been helpless to protect ourselves against them. They are free to roam the country, at will, just as anyone else. The case of Gerhart Eisler is in point. Under existing law, there was no way to lock him up. However it appears ridiculous that we should now go to such complicated ends to get him back in order to eventually order his deportation. In my judgment we should simply have said "good riddance" and have let him go, after forfeiting his outstanding bonds.

Many letters are reaching me in strong opposition to the public housing bill. Bear in mind, public housing means for the government to build, own, and operate the housing. This is considerably different from FHA, where the government simply guarantees the financing, or from the HOLC (Home Owners' Loan Corporation) which was simply supported by government money. One letter called my attention to a public housing project in the City of Dallas which the government built at a cost of 3 million 750 thousand dollars and which the government recently sold for $750,000. Opponents of public housing contend, with much logic that the results will be less housing at greater costs.

Representative Mills, of Arkansas, a member of the Ways and Means Committee, has proposed that corporations, estates, trusts, and known resident aliens pay all of their taxes within six months after the end of their

The American Way

THE PEOPLE APPROVE

By Dr. Alfred P. Haake

Having been re-elected Mayor of Park Ridge recently, after one of the hardest campaigns ever waged against a Mayor in our city, I am wondering what happened to give me more than double the majority by which I was first elected four years ago.

You see, I am not a politician. The wiles of position and compromise of principles have never appealed to me, in private life or public. I hold the idea that the same principles which guide us in our private lives should hold no less in public life. The old-timers laughed at what they called my naive efforts to give the city honest and efficient administration, to make appointments for office and with no regard for political considerations. Those who had found the city a source of generous income before and were now cut off poked fun at the idealist in the City Hall.

I am not a New Dealer, locally or in national affairs, and made no secret of my opposition to the stamina-destroying social security program. I believe in local, not federal responsibility for what happens to our people. And in my judgment a modern liberal is really a reactionary who brings back the days of government control over private life. For me the true liberal is he who insists on conserving and developing in-taxable year instead of 12 months later as at the present. Mr. Mills says that individuals have to pay their taxes on a current basis, whereas the corporations pay theirs a year later. He further contends that his proposal would balance the budget for the time being at least. However, it is doubtful that Mr. Mills proposal will receive serious consideration at the present.

dividual freedom and initiative against governmental encroachments.

There were many people who did not agree with my position on social security or federal aid to education, but who voted for me just the same. They gave me a mandate for honest and efficient government without the aid or direction of federal subsidies in one form or another.

They approved of my effort to harness the brains and energy of the community without financial compensation for the men and women who so serve the community.

They apparently endorse what I call The Park Ridge Development Commission, a body of 36 men and women who represent the four taxing bodies and other functional organizations, a true cross-section of the leadership in our community.

This commission is in reality a Board of Directors, a policy forming body for our community. There is no power to carry out the programs the commission conceives, no authority over citizens or other organizations. The commission studies the situations, needs and problems of the people and recommends policies and programs to meet those situations.

The programs recommended are then referred, together with the reports brought in to the commission by its sub-committees to the proper existing organization to carry out. Thus, if the matter be one of commercial development, it is given to the Chamber of Commerce, if it deals with religious matters it goes to the Ministerial Association.

Right now the commission is studying local taxes and seeking a way to hold them down. Four separate and independent taxing bodies appropriate for their budgets without any present effort to ease the burden on the taxpayer. The commission will ask each of the bodies to submit its budget for mutual study and comparison, all four bodies being represented on the commission. It is believed that ways and means can be found to get the services we need without hiking up the taxes.

Each taxing body is being asked to live on its present income. Such a request coming from a body of petitioners might not have much effect. Coming from so representative a body as the Development Commission, the request is bound to be honored. And the answer will be found.

In a word, we have demonstrated in our city that a government can be organized and run to do a good job of administration on the basis of sound principles, without compromise. I believe that no less could be done in Washington, if ever we had a breed of candidates who would risk political loss in the interest of honest devotion to American principles.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Two Heads Are Better Than One (Or None)

I get a kick out of buying stuff down at the hardware store. And I always ask for a little advice from one of the two brothers who run it, because I know beforehand exactly what the answer will be.

Like when I needed a new garden hose. "Henry," I says, "how about this new plastic hose—is it really as good as rubber?" "Well," he says, "I'm inclined to think it is—but you'd better ask Tom."

I found Tom in back and asks him the same question. "Well," says Tom, "in my opinion it is—but you'd better ask Henry." "I already have," I says, "and when you two cautious old codgers agree I'd bet my life on the decision."

From where I sit, your own opinion is worth a lot—but so's the other fellow's. That's why I keep saying, over and over, let's be tolerant of the other person's point of view—whether it's on politics or farming—or whether you like milk shakes and he prefers a temperate glass of beer.

TRUDY RAUSCHUBER,
VINCENT FELDERHOFF
MARRY WEDNESDAY

Miss Trudy Rauschuber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rauschuber of Valley View, became the bride of Vincent Felderhoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Felderhoff of Muenster, Wednesday morning, May 18, at 8:30 in Saint John's church in Valley View.

Rev. Thomas Weinapfel, pastor, officiated at the nuptial high mass and performed the ring ceremony. Miss Elizabeth Kuntz, organist, played the wedding marches and accompanied the choir.

The bride wore a dress of white marquisette fashioned with fitted bodice, long, petal point sleeves and a full skirt that extended into a long train. Her finger tip veil of imported French illusion was edged with lace and was attached to a tiara of white flowers. She carried a white rosary. Her arm bouquet was white iris and carnations with one carnation tinted blue.

Miss Celine Felderhoff, sister of the groom, was maid of honor.

She wore a blue marquisette dress with an off-the-shoulder neckline, fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. She wore a blue net picture hat and matching gauntlets and carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Marvin Rauschuber, brother of the bride, was best man. Alvin Rauschuber and Frank Felderhoff were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a royal blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a navy blue dress with navy accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Immediately after the services the parents of the bride entertained with a wedding breakfast for the bridal party, and served dinner at noon to immediate members of both families. An informal reception began at 3 o'clock. About 125 guests attended. A buffet supper was served at 6. At 9 o'clock a dance began in the Lindsay Hall.

The Rauschuber home carried out the bride's colors in decorations and floral arrangements. Mrs. Joe Hess, sister of the bride, presided at the bride's book. A three-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table.

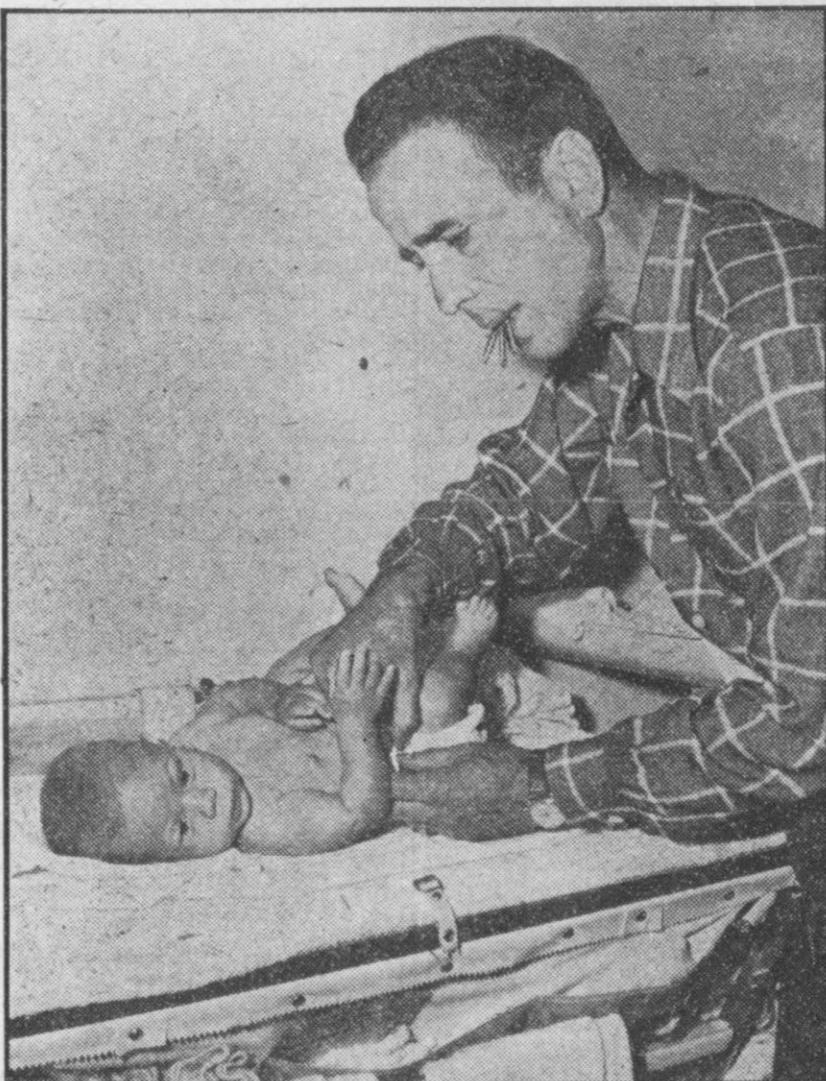

During the dance Mr. and Mrs. Felderhoff left on a wedding trip, the bride wearing a beige ensemble with green accessories and white carnation corsage.

When they return they will make their home in Muenster, occupying the new house recently built by Joe Trachta. Mr. Felderhoff is employed with Voth Bros. Drilling Company.

The bride is a graduate of the Valley View High school with the class of 1946. The groom attended Sacred Heart school here and served with the army during World War II with active duty in the European theatre.

Blizzards Prove That Cattle Can Take It

CHEYENNE, Wyo.— The terrific blizzards in Wyoming proved at least one thing — cattle take a lot before they go down for the final count. One young calf was found alive after spending 28 days in a snow-drift-locked hole on a ranch near Cheyenne without food or water. The snow-formed trap was scarcely big enough for the animal to turn around in.

Other stories of remarkable survivals were reported, but thousands of cattle and sheep were less fortunate. They perished on the cold, snowcovered ranges, many of them with frozen eyes and feet, many dying standing up.

Boy Scout Troop Has Full Program—Retreat, Hike and Carlsbad Trip

A trip to Carlsbad, N.M., headlines the local boy scouts' program for July, according to Scoutmaster Nick Miller. Plans are to leave on July 2 and to spend about three days at Carlsbad for recreational and educational purposes.

Scoutmaster Miller stated Wednesday that boys wishing to make the trip will have to meet necessary requirements of the scout program to be eligible to attend.

There will be plenty of opportunities for the boys to qualify, Scoutmaster Miller added. However, the last chance for the out door requirements will be on June 5 when the troop goes on a hike.

The final deadline for other requirements is at the scout meeting on June 13. Boys may qualify before that time at any weekly meeting.

In addition to discussing the Carlsbad trip, other business at Monday night's meeting consisted of making final plans for attendance at the retreat May 30-June 1. The troop will meet at the post office at 10 a.m. next Monday for the trip to the scout camp at Lake Texoma where the retreat will be held.

Nearing completion five miles from San Juan, capital of Puerto Rico, is one of the world's largest private housing developments, Puerto Nuevo. Above are some of 3500 concrete, five-room dwellings built in slightly more than a year's time, with 1500 others soon to be completed. They sell for an average of $4000 and were constructed by a South Carolina builder in co-operation with the PHA and Puerto Rico government to alleviate the island's acute housing shortage.

Scoutmaster Miller announced that Larry Hofbauer's application for Star Scout was approved by national headquarters on May 23. He is the first local scout to receive the honor.

An official boy scout shield, given by Ervin Hamric and painted by Burt Hamric, was on display. It will be formally presented to the troop at the next court of honor.

HOO KWORM DISEASE THRIVES IN AREAS OF POOR SANITATION

Austin. — Hookworm disease is found frequently in those communities where sanitary toilet facilities are inadequate, and where infected human excreta is permitted to contaminate the soil. Persons who come in contact with that soil, either by going barefooted or by handling the dirt, contact hookworm disease when the hookworms from such soil bore through their skin and make their way to the human intestine. "The main characteristics of hookworm disease", says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, "are listlessness and apparent laziness, and many a child and adult has been called lazy, when in reality he was suffering from hookworm disease. Sometimes there is abdominal pain, nausea, and diarrhea, but this is unusual."

Inability to perform efficient work, and general weakness of the patient make this disease not only a public health but an economic problem, and it can be eliminated only by carefully following two steps: first, providing sanitary disposal of human wastes, and by treating until cured, all infected persons. When the infected persons are cured, and can no longer transmit the worms to others, and when safe sewage disposal is at the command of all homes and communities, then hookworm disease need no longer cost the people of Texas the tremendous sum that it now does, annually, both in money and sickness.

Dr. Cox stated that the treatment of hookworm disease should be done by a competent physician, and not by self-medication. Full information for building sanitary privies may be had upon request, from the Texas State Department of Health, Austin.

SHARING HIS RICHES

Andrew Carnegie was once visited by a Socialist who ranted against possession of great wealth, and advocated equal distribution.

Mr. Carnegie cut the speaker short by asking his secretary for a statement of his holdings, at the same time looking up the figures on world population.

When the statistics were ready, the millionaire figured for a moment. Then he said to his secretary:

"Give this gentleman 16 cents. That's his share of my wealth."

CARE Introduces $5.50 Thrift Size Food Package For Delivery to Europe

NEW YORK. — Reductions in wholesale food prices have enabled CARE to offer a new $5.50 Thrift food package for delivery in 11 European countries, Paul Comly French, Executive Director of the non-profit agency announced today.

CARE will continue to carry its big 22½ pound $10 food parcel, which was recently increased in content value. Mr. French stressed. The $5.50 package, he explained, was devised for Americans who want to continue to help still needed by the people overseas but do not feel they can afford $10, as well as to provide an additional variety for regular CARE donors.

Orders for the new food package can be placed immediately through CARE headquarters, 20 Broad Street, New York 5, or any CARE outlet throughout the country. Delivery is guaranteed in Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, the Western zones of German and all Berlin, the Netherlands and Norway.

The $5.50 assortment features a two-pound pre-cooked ham, skinless and boneless so that there is no waste, and seven ounces of assorted spices, a rarity in Europe since the war. Complete contents are: Two-pound ham; one pound each of rice, cheese, peanut butter and coffee (a half-pound tea will be substituted for the British Isles); 14 ounces of condensed milk; a half-pound of chocolate; one ounce each of pepper and nutmeg; one and a quarter ounces each of cinnamon, ginger, mustard, and paprika; two cakes (six ounces) soap.

DDT is OK

Says Official Government Report

The following statements are taken from an official release issued by the following federal agencies:

Food and Drug Administration of the Public Health Service; Surgeon General's Office of the Army; Naval Bureau of Medicine and Surgery; Bureau of Animal Industry, Dairy Industry, Entomology and Plant Quarantine, and Insecticide Division of the Department of Agriculture; Pan-American Sanitary Bureau.

"There is no justification for public alarm as to the safety of the milk supply from the standpoint of DDT contamination."

"The Food and Drug Administration has not prohibited the use of DDT in spraying dairy cattle and barns . . . Studies by the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine have shown that DDT when used on dairy cattle or when present on fodder fed to dairy cattle may appear in the milk. They also say that DDT in small quantities can be detected sometimes in milk following ordinary use of the insecticide for fly control in barns. Because of the vital importance of milk . . . it is essential that proper precautions be taken to protect the milk supply. Modification of the recommendation made by the Department of Agriculture on the use of DDT on dairy cattle was made merely as a precautionary measure."

"There is no evidence that the use of DDT in accordance with recommendations of the various federal agencies has ever caused human sickness due to DDT itself . . . However, minor toxic symptoms may be produced by kerosene and various solvents used in DDT and practically all other insecticidal mixtures."

"Statements that DDT is responsible for causing the so called virus X Disease of man and X disease of cattle are totally without foundation."

In short, Uncle Sam says it's OK to use DDT on your dairy cows.

Recent rains have tried out some erosion control structures constructed in the Rosston conservation group last fall and winter. A large erosion control dam constructed by Dub Chism is affording protection to his farm and another downstream farm. It is holding back tons of soil and water off a 500 acre drainage area. Lon Berry and Walter Berry are completing similar structures that will afford protection to their bottom land fields.

Officials predict that Gen. Mark Clark, above, wartime commander of the Fifth Army in Italy, will be the next American Military Commander in Germany, succeeding Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who has expressed his wish to retire. Clark now commands the Sixth Army, with headquarters in San Francisco.

Shop and east of the cafe will lead to and from the lumber yard. While the moving and rebuilding program is in progress the business is offering bargains in building materials to eliminate as much handling and storing as possible. Merchandise on hand after the tearing down at St. Jo is completed will be stored in Ben Seyler's tin building behind his garage. Rody Klement will continue as manager of the business and the other partners will continue their machine shop work. The partners bought the business last November after it had been inactive for several months following the death of the owner, J. A. Wiley.

COMING: The Accused, Mexican Hayride, One Sunday Afternoon, South of St. Louis, Whispering Smith, Little Women.

Scenes like this are commonplace throughout Northern Ontario and Quebec, Canada, as lumberjacks herd their annual log drives down flooded streams to feed the pulp and paper mills which play an important part in the Canadian economy. These men are driving a winter's harvest of logs down Tamacine River, north of Ottawa.

GRADUATION

A busy school year, and a still busier end of the school year, has come and gone.

Commencement exercises were held Sunday night, May 22, in St. Peter's church. Rev. Conrad Herda, pastor, presented the diplomas to the high school and eighth grade graduates and addressed the graduates in a few well chosen words giving them advice from the Book of Tobias, and admonishing them to make the Bible their constant reference for life.

Rev. Cyril Lange of Muenster delivered the principal address using as his text By This Rule I Shall Live. Sacramental Benediction and the Te Deum closed the program.

The graduation service began in the morning with group attendance at mass and reception of the Eucharist.

CLASS DAY PROGRAM

The class day program preceded the Junior-Senior banquet on Thursday, May 16. Joan Arendt, salutatorian, extended welcome; Frieda Mae Neu paid tribute to the parents; Juliana Fuhrmann explained the class colors and Marjorie Sandmann explained the class motto: Beyond the Sunrise Lies the Dawn.

Gaynell Lae Medlock read the class prophecy, Julius Metzler gave the class history, and Joan Geray brought a message on the class flower. Elizabeth Kubis presented the seniors and Joan Geray gave the response. The last will and testament of the 49'ers was opened and read by Gaynell Lae Medlock, and the finale, the valedictory, was brought by Rita Block. The program closed with a lively 49'er song.

THE PROM

The Junior-Senior prom was held in the K of C hall in Gainesville on May 19. Decorations stressed the senior class colors, Nile green and shell pink. Bill Tanner's orchestra played. The freshman treat preceded the dance.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Echoing the voice of the public, "All on Account of Polly," was a grand play and a huge success. After the play, County Superintendent H. H. Moss presented awards of merit to the students. Fourteen boys and girls received the diploma for perfect attendance. And all the juniors and seniors received typewriting diplomas, for speed as well as accuracy.

RECEIVE REPORT CARDS

On Monday, May 23, students returned to school to receive their report cards and to bid farewell to teachers and classmates at the end of the 1948-49 term.

Pamphlets on Bats, Rats, Cats--On Taxpayer's Money

Curious to find out how the tax-payers' money is being spent today, Senator Styles Bridges recently asked all the agencies of the government to send him one copy of each of their current books, booklets and pamphlets. To his amazement he received more than 83,000.

Among the subjects considered in the booklets were: Bats in belfries, how to trap cats, recipes for frying muskrats in wine, the latest news on Cuban frog-leg industry, the status of North America's fleas, and other topics equally relevant to national defense and social reform.

health standard is deteriorating instead of improving.

And that isn't all. Political manipulation has brought various articles like spectacles and wigs under the plan. Like the demand for service, the demand for such items sky rocketed when they became free, so the government has discovered that it cannot support the program on the original appropriation. Taxes have to be raised and the "free" service is getting mighty expensive. In spite of socialized medicine's obvious failure in England, we have a group of people who still insist on starting it over here. What's the reason? Don't they recognize a fizzle when they see one? Or are they just determined to have more bureaucracy at any cost?

If a person could trust that

Kremlin crowd there'd be reason to rejoice over a few recent developments . . . such as lifting the Berlin blockade, agreeing to a four power confab and suggesting the withdrawal of all occupation forces from conquered countries.

The matter of withdrawing forces is especially tricky. Russia's apparently generous offer could be just a cleverly baited hook thrown out for Western powers to bite on. The catch is that Russia does not intend to withdraw its forces. It has already set up a state police system to keep satellite countries under Moscow control just as the red army did.

Stripped of its deceit the suggestion amounts to a proposal that America, British and French soldiers move out and give communists a chance to take over Western Germany. As regards Eastern Germany the reds are already in control. To borrow a line from that old story about the Trojan horse, "you can't trust the Kremlin boys, even bearing gifts."
