

VOLUME XII

By this time, no doubt, the good citizens of this community have explained to the younger members of their families that the amazing phenomenon of water falling from the sky, as wit-nessed here last Sunday, is known as rain.

It was a strange and beautiful sight, and if it fascinated the tiny tots half as much as the oldsters, it made Oct. 10, 1948, a memorable day indeed.

For the first time in three long months people hereabouts were unanimously pleased with the weather. Very much pleased, too but still not quite as enthusias tic as the inhabitants of Jerusalem were just two days later.

It was the feast of Yom Kippur when the soothing shower hit the Holy Land. True to their ancient traditions the Jews were observing their day of atonement with bowed heads in repentance for their sins. But the day of sorrow turned suddenly into a day of unrestrained rejoicing. The Jews whooped and hollered and danced in the rain. And why not! It was their first in more than a year.

All of which goes to show that we're quite lucky after all. To the people over there this devastating drought we've been complaining about was a mere lull between showers.

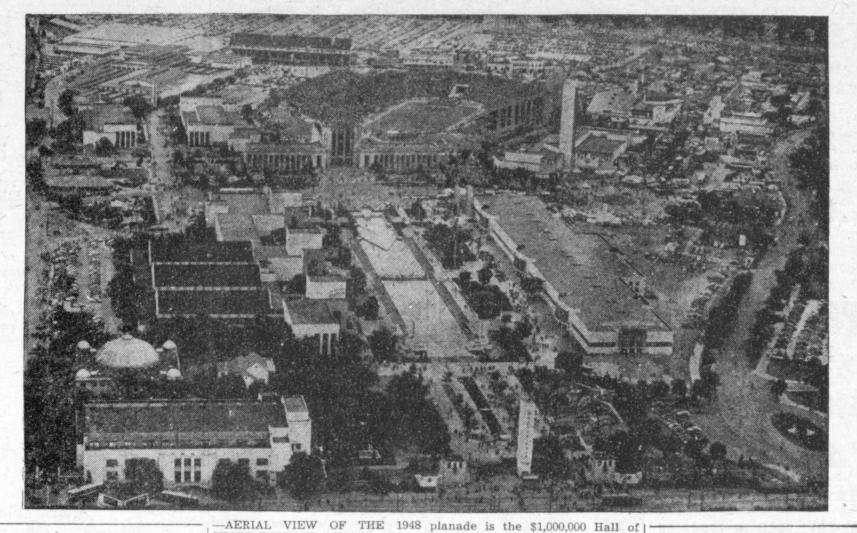

Senator Bridges, chairman of he congressional "watch-dog" the congressional committee on the Marshall plan, gave lots of Americans a rough jolt a few days ago when he demanded that the dismantling of industrial plants in Germany be halted. According to his state-ment the equipment from 916 Of Heart Ailment German plants is scheduled for shipment outside the country, some of it to Russia and her sattelites.

Now, how's that for a ridiculous predicament? America has taken over the job of putting Germany back on its feet. The conservative estimate is that we taxpayers are shelling out a billion dollars this year, in ad- C. M. Robert Hesse Dies After 4 Year Fight With Fatal Disease

A losing fight that began shortly after birth ended for little Robert Hesse, four and onehalf year old son of Joe Hesse, Saturday at 5:30 when he died at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henscheid, who cared for him since the death of his mother when he was five weeks old.

Rosary was recited at the Henscheid home Sunday night and funeral services with high mass of requiem were held Monday morning at 8:30 in Sacred Heart church with Rev. Herman Laux, pastor officiating. Burial was in the Muenster cemetery under direction of Nick Miller. Four young cousins of the deceased, Ervin and Virgil Henscheid and Paul and Tommy Hesse, were pallbearers.

Robert was born here on April 23, 1944, and the infection which finally caused his death became apparent only a few weeks later.

When he was five months old his left eye was removed in an effort to stop the infection. Last month specialists removed his right eye and additional infected tissue but had to leave some because of the danger of injuring a vital organ. An attempt to cure the remaining infection by X-Ray was unsuccessful.

Survivors in addition to the father include three brothers, Leo, Raymond and Bernard; four sisters, Irma, Edna, Caroline and Jane Dorothy all of this city.

Among out of town relatives at the funeral were Mrs. Ben Derichsweiler, her son, Eugene, and Mrs. Leonard Derichsweiler, all of Denison, and Arnold Henscheid of Muskogee, Okla.

and one of the most contemptible underhanded conspiracies going on anywhere in the world today. The mere mention of it makes us see red and wonder what kind of subversive political shenanigans are behind it.

Let the big boys say what they will about the complexities of international politics, let them ballyhoo their double talk until they are blue in the face, but they'll never convince us average Americans that there's the slightest bit of justice or wisdom or even expediency in permitting that gang of Kremlin cut-throats to go on and on making suckers of us. They'll never convince us either that this country doesn't have a way to put an end to it.

For the sake of domestic tranquility in this country a few more men of Cedric Foster's callber should take a trip into the Deep South. After spending a few days in Georgia Mr. Foster went on the air Tuesday with a message that calmly and dispassionately exposed the civil rights issue as nothing more than a case of meddling in other people's affairs.

Very correctly he says that the racial problem is important only in the South and that Northerners in imposing their rights theories would impose a hardship that would be felt only in the South. That consideration, along with the fact that Southern states are making very real progress in solving their problem, leads Foster to agree that the South is entirely reasonable and justified in demanding that the race problem be left to the individual states. If a few more people like him will take up the good work the country may still be spared the misfortune of this misguided "improvement".

Facts as well as logic support the South's cause. The records

The American Milking Shorthorn Society has recently set up its own independent registry office for Milking Shorthorn cattle. This was done upon the unanimous vote of the member breeders and, according to Secretary W. J Hardy, because this branch of the Shorthorn breed had made such rapid growth in the past decade that it was felt to be in the best interests of the members to record and promote their cattle under independent direction.

This branch of the Shorthorn breed should not be confused with the Beef Type Shorthorn, although formerly all the registration work had been handled by the American Shorthorn Breeders' association. The new organization makes it debut with 8,000 member breeders who are highly enthused and full of plans for the future promotion of their chosen breed.

Now, it was my turn to be dramatic. Assuming my best theatrical pose I shot his question back at him. "Do you see me?" He replied that he did, whereupon I said, "You are looking upon the real government of the United States. I and one hundred forty million others like me are the uncrowned rulers of this, land, and our authority is derived not from the President but from God. We created the President. We are not his servants or the servants of his infinite bureaus. We are the rulers of this land. We are the government of the United States. Don't you or any of your fellowbureaucrats ever forget that." Yes, that is the thing that

Super-government smiles patronizingly from its assumed superiority, but the people can be trusted to know what is good for them, and thanks be to God, most Americans have not yet been corrupted in their thoughts to the false, undemocratic, reactionary idea that Big Government is a pan-acea for the ills of the world; they still believe that free men

Russia's Cost of Living Compared with America's

When it was time to drink a toast to the "bride and groom," out came the final touch: ice cold beer in cans. And come the Millers' 15th anniversary (Glass) I expect we'll be toasting them with sparkling beer in bottles!

The "Dutch" Millers celebrated missus have got along together ---their Tin Wedding Anniversary in their policy of live-and-let-live, with never a criticism of each other's differences in taste.

From where I sit, it's due to twothings: Temperance-as that moderate preference for beer suggests, and Tolerance-for their own differences of opinion-and for the tastes of others, whether applied to beer, to politics, or how to celebrate an anniversary.

THIS HOSTESS GUEST AT OWN PARTY - Modern farm, rural and urban homemakers alike can be guests at their own tables these days with a modern electric roaster to do the cooking. One of the most versatile appliances in the kitchen, this compact, portable "chef" broils, bakes, stews, grills, roasts ... everything from soup to dessert! ... and cooks an entire meal at one operation. Texas Power & Light Company introduced such appliances as the electric roaster in this area, just as it pioneered in the development of rural electrification in Texas, building lines to serve farm and rural areas as early as 1915. Today, of the 239,000 customers served by the company, more than 68,000 live on farms in rural communities.

Notes On Soil Conservation

J. A. Klement is building 3 miles of terraces on his farm, west of Hays. Terraces will outlet onto buffalo grass pasture. He is building channel type terraces with a large tractor and grader.

Terrace outlet areas have been staked off on Dr. L.B. Holland's farm west of Hays. A 7 acre strip will be sodded to bermuda grass as soon as the grass becomes dormant this fall. The outlet area is a 200 foot wide strip along a natural drain and will receive the run off water from 3 miles of terraces. Terraces cannot be built until the grass has become well established.

John and Joe Kleiss plan to widen a pasture lane to an average 100 foot width and sod it to grass. This lane will serve as terrace outlet and will connect with an old field that is to be established to pasture. After the grass is well established the ter-

Continuation of different courses proved more pleasant than most of us had anticipated. We organized different clubs, prominent among them, Our Lady's Sodality and the Editorial Staff for the school news. The latter consists of the following students: Chief Editor, Gaynell Lea Medlock; Associate Editor, Julius Metzler; Reporter for the Sophomores and Freshmen, Joan Arendt; Reporter for Grammar Grades, Marjorie Sandmann. The most unusual thing that happened was the "Oil Fire" which started Monday noon when some of us were still busy in the cafeteria with the second or third helping. The papers have done full justice to the episode, therefore all we need to mention is our unexpected half-holiday, which prevented some potential assignments for the next day.

The chemistry class gleaned various useful information from the destruction of the freight train's thirteen oil tanks; which was fully explained during the arrived Friday morning and the librarians did more than just check out books; they treated us to a very modern "talkie" which everybody enjoyed. The lid to the first full week sessions was furnished by a sec-ond visit of Mr. H. H. Moss, county school superintendent. One serious flaw of these business 'pop" calls is that they pop too quickly he is gone before we can enjoy his visits.

in 1940. More and more Negroes are exercising their right as citizens. Social progress is moving right along ... and without benefit of the idealistic schemes of professional do-gooders who shed their big crocodile tears over the plight of the poor mistreated colored man.

The point is that Negroes, like any other people, pay their poll tax and vote when they learn to appreciate the value of a vote. What's more they are more inclined to vote wisely according to their own convictions . . when they think enough of their voting right to sustain it by a personal sacrifice. Until they reach that status we don't par-
