

There must be something to that old saying about moral victories. In their game with Laneri the Hornets came out with the short end of the score, but Con has yet to find a person who is disappointed over the outcome . . . that is, a Muenster fan. No doubt some of the Laneri boosters felt somewhat let down. One of them in particular could be quoted as saying he thought the Muenster boys were wonderful but Laneri's were pitiful.

As this column mentioned a few weeks ago, losses like that don't hurt our pride a bit. A good stand against heavy odds is just as pleasing to us as a win when the chances are even. The boys have grit and spirit and they're entitled to lots of appreciation and support.

Speaking of support, it is gratifying to note a steadily increasing attendance at the games. Those boys seem to be doing something for community interest and pride. And who knows, maybe this increasing number of fans is also doing something for the boys. Good support helps to make a good athletic program and a good athletic program helps to keep more boys in school.

A check-up of the Muenster students this year would show that a surprising number would not have returned if the school had no athletic program. The same applies to all schools. Some students begin losing interest in their academic work but they stay and finish school because they are interested in athletics.

There are cases, too, of boys who don't care for studies or athletics but would remain in school for a course of manual training or vocational agriculture. The important consideration however is that students, whatever their reason for staying in school, are better off. They'll get some good out of athletics, manual training, vocational agriculture or commercial courses and they'll also absorb a little more of the academic knowledge from sheer exposure.

For an idea of how many Muenster youngsters are quitting school compare the number of high school graduates any year with the grade school graduates of four years before. The record, though better than in many places, leaves little doubt that this community needs a few more school courses and activities to hold the interest of its boys and girls.

As far as most of us are concerned the election on Nov. 2 means nothing but choosing between Truman and Dewey. We take it for granted that all state and county officers are already decided and all we need is a little slip of paper big enough to list the candidates for president and vice president.

But that's not what the ballot will be like. No sir. It will be almost exactly the size of this paper when spread open. It has every one of the national, state, county and precinct offices listed separately in eight columns . . . seven for the parties and one without a heading, the one you'll use if you decide to vote for yourself for president. The parties, in case you did not know are Democratic, Republican, States Rights, Progressive, Prohibition, Socialist, and Independent.

The voting job, however, won't be comparable to the size of the ballot. If you vote a straight ticket you just draw lines through the other seven columns. If you vote a split ticket you pick your favorites under whatever party they are listed and be sure to cross off all opponents in the other columns.

Then you can vote on the eight amendments which appear at the bottom of the ballot and go home pleased with the thought that you have exercised your most sacred privilege and duty as an American citizen.

A sad example of what partisan politics can do to a person's logic is the lead editorial in last Thursday's Fort Worth Star Telegram.

Steamed up by his loyalty to Lyndon Johnson the writer attempts to put the squeeze on Texas voters by emphasizing the sacredness of the Democratic pledge. More correctly he should have explained that the pledge cannot possibly be binding because it restricts a citizen's voting right . . . and that does not happen to be in harmony with the American constitution.

To quote: "Mr. Stevenson and every other citizen of Texas who voted in either of the Democratic primaries this summer took a solemn pledge to support the party's nominees. Every ballot

Scrapping Hornets Drop 12-6 Contest To Laneri Hi Micks

In a bang-up performance against heavy odds the Muenster Hornets upset pre-game predictions here Friday night by holding the Laneri Hi Micks of Fort Worth to a 12-6 score.

Instead of an expected three or four touchdown margin, the Micks were lucky to get away with more than a tie. Their winning score was bitterly contested and barely won in a series of four power plunges that started at the 5 yard line and got over by only a few inches. Four times the scrapping little Hornets braced against their oversize opponents and almost succeeded in holding the game to 6 and 6.

Outclassed in size, speed and coordination, the Hornets offset most of their handicap by superior alertness and spirit. Reeves, Julian Walterscheid and Pels made a habit of breaking through the forward wall and smearing Laneri backs behind the line of scrimmage. Two of Pels' vicious tackles after a punt resulted in fumbles recovered by his team mates for generous yardage. Vogel, Flesman and Yosten likewise stood out as defensive backs but their offense bogged down under the weight of the Micks' defense.

The visitors scored early in the first quarter after recovering Muenster's fumble on the 44. Two line bucks and an end sweep reached the 30, a pass reached the 12 and an end run from there was good for the score. Vogel broke through to block the kick for extra point.

Muenster's score came late in the second quarter after the ball had changed sides four times on kicks. A set up on the three yard line was a lucky break which more than compensated for a bad break on the previous play. A 35 yard gain on Flesman's pass to Yosten had reached the 10 but the ball was called back because of an offside ruling against both teams. Then Vogel kicked and the Laneri receiver's fumble was recovered on the 3. Herr went over on the second play and Vogel failed to get over on his attempted run for the point.

Two more of the Hornets' most substantial gains came in the third period as a result of hard and alert defensive playing. Held for 3 downs on the 10, Vogel kicked. Pels nailed the receiver and the Hornets recovered on the 43. Laneri held again, Vogel kicked again, and the Laneri receiver muffed again, the Hornets recovering on the Laneri 30. There Muenster fumbled and Laneri recovered.

The combined yardage gained in an exchange of kicks and two first downs set the visitors for their final score. A 17 yard end run placed the ball on the 5 and four line bucks from there added the winning touchdown. Reeves blocked the try for extra point.

The comparative count on first downs and passes leans heavily in favor of the Micks. They made 8 first downs to the Hornets' 3 and completed 3 out of 6 pass attempts while the Hornets completed one pass out of two tries. Fumbles were even at 3 each.

VOLLEY BALL AND BASKETBALL TEAMS LOSE AT CALLISBURG

Muenster bowed twice to Callisburg Friday afternoon when the basketball and volley ball teams of the local public school played their first games of this school year at Callisburg.

The volley ball girls dropped two of the three games by scores of 15-9, 5-15 and 15-11.

Competition was somewhat better in the basketball game. Ending with a 6-6 tie the teams went into an extra two minute period which netted an extra two points for the Callisburg boys.

The two Callisburg teams will be here next Friday, Oct. 22, for a return engagement.

The basketball players are Allen Hoffman, Douglas Robison, Teddy Cannon, John Aytes and Theodore Owen.

Mrs. E. P. Buckley and Betty Lue Buckley spent Wednesday at the Dallas Fair.

Proposed Law May Have Grave Effect On Muenster School

A state-wide shakeup in the Texas Public School system, according to recommendations of the Gilmer-Aikin committee, is likely and is due to have far reaching effects on the Muenster school system.

That was the substance of a message brought to the Muenster Community Council last Thursday night by Deputy State Superintendent Harry W. Rice of Fort Worth.

Mr. Rice said that the purpose of the Gilmer-Aikin committee, appointed by the state legislature, is to seek out inefficiency and inequality in the present school system and make recommendations to the state legislature.

One likely result of the investigation, he said, is a change providing that per capita allotments be based on actual public school enrollment rather than the scholastic census of the district. Under that arrangement the Muenster district would lose about four-fifths of its present per capita allowance. Other recommended changes would also affect this district but less drastically.

Hubert H. Moss, county school superintendent, was another visitor at the council meeting. He spoke on the urgent need of providing a good education based on sound moral and democratic principles to the end that today's children will enter adult life well equipped to cope with communism and the other false ideologies now threatening civilization.

4-H BOYS AND GIRLS ORGANIZE PROGRAMS AND ELECT OFFICERS

Miss Mildred Chapman, county home demonstration agent, met with the girls and gave a talk on the planting of shrubs and flowers. She mentioned the names of flowers and shrubs that should be planted at this time of the year and distributed leaflets on the subject.

Officers elected are Bonnie Nell Hammer, president; Mearle Tivis, vice president; Janice Reeves, secretary-treasurer; Emma Jo Eaves, reporter.

The girls' November meeting will be held on the first Thursday. It will feature cookie baking. The girls are reminded to bring their favorite recipes for the demonstration.

Hornets Romp Over Leopard Reserves For 21-0 Victory

A score of 21 to 0 was the measure of the Hornets' superiority over the Gainesville Leopards Reserves here Wednesday night. Starting early in the second quarter they uncorked a relentless drive that continued steadily through the rest of the game.

It was the ball totting of Emmet Walterscheid that dealt the visitors most of their grief. His drives were fast and hard and consistently good for substantial yardage. Yosten and Hellman helped the cause materially while Vogel and Flesman with their usual steady playing completed the Gainesville boys' distress.

The Hornets performance was equally good on defense. Julian Walterscheid, Reeves and Pels, the old standbys in the line, broke through regularly to smother the cub Leopards for a loss.

The game started with three exchanges on kicks after which Muenster advanced from their 46 to the Gainesville 26 before losing on downs. A bad pass from center was recovered by Muenster on the 11 but Gainesville held for downs then got caught in the end zone for a safety.

Gainesville's kick from the 20 was run back to the 40. Vogel made first down on a lateral on the 27 and Walterscheid plowed through, from there for a touchdown. Vogel added a point running through the line.

Opening the second half the Hornets held the Cubs for downs and marched on their own 47 to the second touchdown. Four line plays reached the 29, a pass Vogel to Pels gave another first down on the 17 and Flesman circled left end for the marker. Vogel's kick for extra point was not good.

Holding for downs the Hornets started another drive from midfield, lost on an interception and held again to take over on their 42. Steady gains from there reached pay dirt, Yosten crossing for the final score.

Gainesville came back strong to mark up its two first downs of the game, both on passes. The drive ended and the visitors' last chance to score vanished when Julian Walterscheid intercepted a pass.

Comparative statistics favor the Hornets all the way through. First downs were 13 to 2. Muenster had 3 completions and 1 interception out of 4 attempts, Gainesville had 3 completions and 1 interception out of 9 attempts. Muenster had no fumbles or penalties and Gainesville had one each.

MARRY AT LINDSAY

The marriage of Miss Beatrice Fuhrmann and Earl Koelzer was solemnized Tuesday morning at 8:30 in Saint Peter's church at Lindsay. Rev. Conrad Herda, pastor, officiated at the ring ceremony and at the nuptial high mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Fuhrmann of Lindsay, and Mr. Koelzer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Koelzer of Muentser.

Mrs. Wm. Fleitman played the wedding processional and recessional and remained at the organ to assist the church choir in singing the mass.

The bride wore a gown of white satin designed with a fitted bodice accented with a lace yoke, long, petal point sleeves, and a full skirt that swept into a long train. Her tiered veil was finger tip length, attached to a crown of starched lace. She carried her flowers, gardenias, on top of her white prayer book.

Miss Celine Koelzer, sister of the groom, was maid of honor wearing a light blue frock of marquisette over taffeta. It was made with short puffed sleeves, fitted waist and gathered skirt. Her headdress was fashioned of carnations and her flowers were a colonial bouquet of pink and

The bride's brother, Ewald Fuhrmann, was best man.

Mrs. Koelzer and Mrs. Fuhrmann, mothers of the couple, wore black suits with black accessories and corsages of white carnations.

After the church services the bridal party had breakfast at the home of the bride's parents and at noon immediate members of both families were guests for dinner.

The bride's table carried out the all-white theme and held a large decorated wedding cake.

At 5:30 an informal reception in the Lindsay hall honored the couple and more than 250 persons were guests for a buffet supper. A dance followed to conclude the day's festivities.

During the late evening Mr. and Mrs. Koelzer left by car on a wedding trip, not revealing their destination. The bride's going away costume was a two-piece beige suit with black accessories. When they return they will make their home in Muenster where Mr. Koelzer engages in farming.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Koelzer are natives of Muenster and attended Sacred Heart school. The bride moved to Lindsay with her parents while she was in grade school and graduated from Lindsay high school. Mr. Koelzer is a veteran of the Navy and served about a year on Guam.

Among out of town relatives at the wedding were Joe and John Breckle, uncles of the bride, and their families, of Colorado; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cross of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Schilling and son and Arnold Schilling of Sherman; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Devers and two daughters of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pelzel and family of Pilot Point.

John Ben Shepperd, Gladewater attorney and former president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, has accepted the chairmanship of the recently organized Texas Committee for Redistricting. The committee, which is non-political, seeks to assure fair representation in the Texas Legislature for all counties by urging voters to support Amendment Two on the general election ballot November 2. Passage of Amendment Two will permit redistricting in Texas for the first time in 27 years, Shepperd pointed out.

STAND UP AND BE COUNTED! VOTE ELECTION NOV. 2 Express YOUR OWN convictions

The choosing of a president is important but many of us are prone to attach too much significance thereto. The really serious problem that faces us on November 2nd is to elect the right men and women to sit in the House of Representatives for the next two years.

Since 1933 there has been much legislation enacted at Washington with which millions of Americans thoroughly disapprove. Mistakenly, we have gotten into the habit of blaming the Administration, rather than to place the criticism where it rightfully belongs — upon the Congress.

Those of us who have seen the threat to the present and future welfare of this nation in the autocratic powers which the White House has taken unto itself in recent years, must bear in mind that such autocratic powers could not have been assumed without the consent of the Congress. The framers of the Constitution did not intend that such powers ever should be allocated to the Chief Executive.

In view of this, it is of paramount importance that we send the right men and women to Congress; legislators who can be trusted not to yield to the Chief Executive the constitutional powers intended solely for them.

During the past 16 years we should have learned that it is folly to place too much faith in any one individual. On March 2, 1930, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, then Governor of New York State, most aptly expressed the folly of such a procedure in an address over the radio, when he said in part:

"The doctrine of regulation by Master Minds, in whose judgment and will all the people may gladly and quietly acquiesce, has been too glaringly apparent at Washington during these last 10 years. Were it possible to find Master Minds so unselfish, so willing to decide unhesitatingly against their own personal interests or private prejudices; men almost God-like in their ability to hold the scales of justice with an even hand — such a government might be to the interests of our country, but there are none such on our political horizon, and we cannot expect a complete reversal of all the teachings of history."

Our insurance against bureaucratic Master Minds, such as described by Franklin D. Roosevelt, is to follow the lead of the insurance companies by distributing the risk. Every congressional candidate must be carefully catalogued and indexed, whether he or she be Democratic or Republican. We must elect men and women to Congress who profess faith in and fidelity to the historic principles and the concepts of our American form of government. Some of these after election may fall by the wayside, discard their campaign pledges, but in numbers there is safety. The majority can be trusted to keep their word and especially if, after election, we constantly remind them of their promises made in the heat of the campaign.

Let us never again make the fatal error of electing a Congress that a President can own, body and soul. Instead, let's have 435 men and women sitting in the driver's seat who will brook no interference by the executive branch with their constitutional right to safeguard the welfare of all of us. We have had enough of Master Minds.

WORTH WORKING FOR

America with only six percent of the world's population has 70 per cent of the world's automobiles, 50 per cent of its telephones, 45 per cent of its radios — America uses 56 per cent of the world's silk, 53 per cent of its coffee and 51 per cent of its rubber; — America produces 62 per cent of the world's oil, 53 per cent of its corn, 50 per cent of its cotton and 30 per cent of its iron — what's more, an even greater, richer America is within our grasp if we all work together for it!

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

I'm Glad We're "Different!"

There's a lot of difference of opinion in our county on the best kind of pasture. Some say alfalfa mixed with brome grass—others say mixed with oats or barley. But all agree that a mixture's better than a single crop.

I sometimes think people are the same way—and the strength of America is its mixture of so many different strains—some from one country, some from another—right down to little differences: like folks who have a taste for beer and those who prefer cider.

From where I sit, so long as we never become intolerant of one another's different tastes—so long as we live together with our differences, and even supplement them the way brome grass does alfalfa, then we're a mighty good crop!

So neighbor—enjoy your cider while I enjoy my beer! Vote for your candidate—I'll stand by mine! But never let our differences divide us!

Old Bossy in Robot Land—

A California dairy has teamed twelve automatic milking machines with an electric conveyor system to slash milking time to less than a minute per cow and at the same time give Old Bossy quite a whirl in matters scientific in farm electrification.

When Bossy enters the conveyor she is washed while a trolley-suspended milking machine is attached. During the milking process she glides down the line with the electric milker, munching from a private feed trough. Once the process is completed and the robot milker removed, she is released by a gate that opens automatically. Another automatic device empties the milker and it returns to the front of the line.

The system requires only four men and can milk 218 cows in 2 1/2 hours, or an average of about 42 seconds per cow.

Battery 'Says': 'Add Water'—

One of the neatest tricks in auto gadgetry is a transparent battery vent cap that displays the words, "add water," when the supply is too low.

One electrical manufacturing company reports it is dependent for supplies on 20,000 companies in 2,300 cities in 48 states.

'Stick-On' Yule Tree Lights—

A novel electric set that simplifies Christmas tree lighting, making possible any decorative pattern desired, is announced. It features eight lights, equipped with two-piece sockets, and a 12-foot cord. The socket pieces can be screwed together at any place on the cord to produce a light. Tiny prongs in the socket pierce the insulation, providing electrical contact. A standard set includes eight sockets, but it is pointed out that as many as 25 lights can be strung on the 12-foot cord.

Millionth-of-a-Second Events—

An all-electric camera, developed for Navy scientists, will be used in studies of phenomena that take place in one or a few millionths of a second. The camera is described as 25,000 times faster than the speediest motion picture camera. Its shutter has been operated so fast that light, which travels a billion feet a second, moves but ten feet during one exposure.

Bean Slicing Goes Automatic—

Announced for the restaurant—or the home, if you desire—is an electric bean slicer that can also slice a lot of time corners. It's geared to slice a bushel of green or wax beans for French or julienne servings in 12 to 15 minutes. The long slender slices have been found to make possible a further time saving by shortening the cooking period 25 per cent.

Just So You'll Take It Easy—

A new-type reading lamp now available can be clipped to the binding or pages of any book, to direct light on the book area only. A six-ounce plastic affair, equipped with an eight-foot cord, it also is said to make for greater ease in the turning of pages.

STOCK FEED OUTLOOK IS BEST EVER KNOWN

WASHINGTON.— The Agriculture Department said Thursday the livestock feed situation for the current season is about the best in history.

The department is counting on this to encourage farmers to expand production of meat animals, poultry products and milk. Such an expansion in turn would bring about lower consumer prices, officials said.

Record corn production this year was said to be primarily responsible for the large supply of concentrated feed, which is over one-fifth larger than last season.

The supply was put at 166,000,000 tons, the largest on record in relation to the number of livestock expected to be fed.

The department said the generally high level of livestock prices of the past year or so is expected to continue at least through most of the feeding season ending next Oct. 1.

The department said the grain supply is so favorable that the country should have a carry-over reserve next Oct. 1 exceeding 500,000,000 bushels for the first time since 1941.

The department said with large supplies of other feeds, less wheat probably will be fed than in any year since 1940-41.

The agency said feed prices will be much lower this season than last, especially during the fall and winter.

JUST GOOD JUDGMENT

Clyde Warwick of the Canyon News says old age must be creeping upon him because he has passed the point of thinking it is absolutely necessary to rush to the fire and get in the way of the boys who are trying to put out the blaze

NEW PROCESS CUTS NEWSPAPER EXPENSE

Typewriters that will "justify" each line — spacing between words to set each line the same length — have made it possible to slash the cost of starting and publishing a weekly newspaper.

Typewritten copy is used to make an engraving which replaces type ordinarily cast by a linotype machine. The new process would more than halve the capital needed to start a weekly.

The process was worked out by Chicago newspapers unable to get typesetters during the past 10 months. However, engraving is not yet entirely satisfactory for dailies, where speed is essential.

You can keep peaches or other light colored fruits from turning dark when preparing them for canning by dropping the peeled fruit into a salt and vinegar water solution. The proportions are two tablespoons of vinegar and two tablespoons of salt to each gallon of water used.

YANK BUSINESS MEN GIVEN A SAMPLE OF ENGLISH SOCIALISM

Americans who proposed to invest $150 to $170 million in Europe by invitation of the Economic Cooperation Administration are getting a taste of what it would be like to do business under a Socialist regime.

For instance, Americans have been informed that the British Labor Government will decide where they may locate plants, how much of their production they may export and how much they must sell on the home market, how much to charge, what labor to hire, and what raw materials they may have.

It Pays to Mechanize

The mechanical age is paying dividends on the farm as well as in industry. A century ago 64 man-hours of labor were required to produce an acre of wheat, now less than 10 hours are needed. One hundred fifty years ago the labor of 19 farm workers was necessary to produce the food consumed by one person living in the city, now one worker can produce for four people living in the cities.

1 1/2 Billion Dollar Road Block!

RAILROADS MUST OPERATE around the clock every day and night of the year.

Although they know this, leaders of 16 railroad unions are demanding a five-day, Monday through Friday, week for one million railroad employees.

They want 48 hours pay for 40 hours work — in itself a 20% wage increase.

They also demand a minimum of 12 hours pay for any work performed on Saturdays, and 16 hours pay for any work performed on Sundays and holidays.

On top of all this they want an additional increase of 25c an hour for every employe!

You'd Pay the Bill!

Summing up these demands, they mean that these union leaders seek to force the railroads to give one million employes an annual raise which would average $1500 per employe!

The total cost of this would be no less than 1 1/2 billion dollars per year, which is more than twice the expected net income of the railroads this year.

You'd pay the bill, because if these increased costs are forced on the railroads, they must have still further rate and fare increases.

Demands Unreasonable

These employees have had substantial raises during and since the war. Their average weekly earnings are higher than the average weekly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries. They have more job security than the average worker in American industry. They also enjoy paid vacations, a retirement system and other advantages more generous than the average worker receives.

In contrast with the demands of these 16 unions, which add up to the equivalent of 48c an hour, the Conductors and Trainmen recently settled their wage request for an increase of 10c an hour.

Railroads Run for Everybody— Not Employes Alone

The railroad industry must serve not one but many groups—producers, businessmen, shippers, passengers and the general public—night and day, every day of the year. These unions are proceeding in utter disregard of this important difference between railroads and other industries. Industrial plants can be shut down over weekends and holidays, but freight, mail, express and passengers must continue to move. Everybody who enters railroad employment knows this.

Strike Threat

On September 18, 1948, the leaders of these 16 unions began taking a strike vote. But the threat of a strike will not alter the opposition of the railroads to such unreasonable demands!

PASTURE RENOVATION PAYS BIG DIVIDENDS FOR YEARS TO COME

COLLEGE STATION.— Renovation means to repair, make over, rebuild or restore to freshness. So when renovation is tied in with pastures, it means rebuilding your pastures to new freshness — giving them a new start.

The renovation of old bermuda grass pastures this fall will make more lush grazing and more milk for years to come, says R. R. Lancaster, extension pasture specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

Pastures contribute more than one-third of all feed eaten by livestock generally, and more than one-third of the feed furnished by farm pastures is used by dairy cattle. The yield and carrying capacity of poor and weedy pastures can be built up by disking or plowing, fertilizing and re-seeding either in the fall or spring, or both times.

To keep good pastures at a high production level, says Lancaster, fence off one-fourth or one-fifth each year for renovating. Take an old bermudagrass pasture, for instance. You can restore it to new freshness pretty easily. It might be limed and well torn up by disking or plowing. The next step is to fertilize with 400 pounds of 0-14-7 or 4-12-8.

CATTLE PARASITES COST A LOT OF MONEY SAYS A&M BUGOLOGIST

COLLEGE STATION.—Most of the stockmen know there hasn't been much grass in the pastures and on the range this year. There hasn't been enough to feed the cattle, so there sure isn't enough to feed the cattle parasites too. But lots of farmers and ranchmen are feeding them, and it's costing an awful lot of money to do so, says C. A. King, associate extension entomologist of Texas A. & M. College.

Cattle that are free of parasites have a better appearance, are healthier and more productive than cattle that have to keep switching flies off, or rubbing against the fencepost to scratch the ticks. Cattle lice and four kinds of ticks are the parasites that bother cattle most in the winter time.

Cattle are bothered by lice more in the winter and early spring when the hair is long, so the best time to treat cattle for lice is the fall of the year. Both rotenone and DDT are good for the control of lousy cattle. If you use rotenone, two treatments two weeks apart will give a good lice control. Here's the recipe: one pound of 5 percent rotenone and 10 pounds of wettable sulphur for each 100 gallons of water. Or you can use 50 percent DDT wettable powder to each 100 gallons of water.

Four ticks common to Texas cattle are the Lone Star tick, the spinose ear tick, the Gulf Coast ear tick and the winter tick. All are blood suckers and cause the cattle to lose weight if there are enough ticks.

The Lone Star tick can be controlled by dipping every two weeks, beginning when the first ticks are found and stopping when they are gone. Eight pounds of 50 percent wettable DDT in 100 gallons of water used as a spray or dip is recommended for tick control. The spinose ear tick is a common cattle para-

STATES' RIGHTS HEADS IN TEXAS CAMPAIGN

GOV. J. STROM THURMOND of South Carolina

GOV. FIELDING L. WRIGHT of Mississippi

Houston, Texas, Oct. 20.—The States' Rights candidates for president and vice-president will join in the whirlwind campaign now under way throughout the State, during the week preceding the November election, it was announced here today by Robert W. Milner, States' Rights campaign director.

Governor Thurmond will open his Texas campaign in Texarkana Oct. 27. Thursday, Oct. 28, he is scheduled for speeches and appearances in Clarksville, Paris, Bonham, Sherman, Gainesville, Denton, and Fort Worth. His schedule on the following day is Cleburne, Hillsboro, Waco, Temple, Georgetown and Austin. Both Governor Thurmond and Wright will broadcast each night during their Texas engagements.

said that state headquarters in Houston had received thousands of requests for information on voting the split ticket in the general election.

According to Wheelock most of the requests came from Democrats and states' righters who wish to vote for Mr. Porter but also support some candidate on their own ticket.

Wheelock said he had conferred with Steve Pinckney of Houston, prominent Texas attorney, who is active in Porter's campaign, and that Mr. Pinckney gave him the following information: "It is possible for any citizen of Texas who is qualified to vote in the general election to cast that vote for the candidate of his choice, regardless of party affiliation. Article 2981 of the civil statutes of Texas, which was enacted in 1905, specifically provides for the voting of a split ticket in a general election. To vote for Jack Porter, or any candidate of your choice, it is only necessary to scratch the names of every other candidate on the ballot except those you wish to vote for."

Pinckney went on to say, "The so-called loyalty pledge does not apply to the election which will be held on November 2. This election is a general election which is held all over the United States on the same day. It is not a state or party primary. Our courts and the Attorney General's department of Texas have held this to be so for many years past."

site throughout most of Texas, and can be controlled by treating the ears of livestock with Stock 1029, using a small paint brush. Also it's important to treat all salt, mineral and feed troughs with equal parts of kerosene and lubricating oil.

The Gulf Coast ear ticks are found in a 100 mile area from the coastline along the Gulf of Mexico. A good treatment inside the ear and out with Stock 1037 kills any ticks present and holds them off from three to six weeks. The winter tick is found down around San Antonio. A spray or wash with eight-tenths percent DDT will get rid of these winter ticks.

Farmers and stockmen will notice better and bigger gains on their livestock if they keep the lice, ticks and mites away, especially during the winter months says King.

We Can!

Article 2981 of the Laws of Texas (Enacted 1905) specifically provides for the voting of a split ticket in a GENERAL ELECTION.

Scratch all candidates for U. S. Senator except the name of JACK PORTER. Your vote will be counted, and your choice for Senator, JACK PORTER, will be seated.

The so-called loyalty pledge does not apply to the election on November 2. It is a GENERAL ELECTION all over the United States. It is NOT a state primary.

This has been so held by our courts and by the Texas Attorney General's Department for years past.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING COSTS $55 MILLIONS

Some people say the government doesn't run its own affairs according to the best business principles, but it's perfectly willing to tell citizens how to operate a filling station, a grocery store, a laundry, or a beauty shop. Advice on all these subjects is included among 41,000 publications put out by the Government Printing Office during the fiscal year ending June 30.

The printing cost $55 million. Sen. Styles Bridges, chairman, Senate Appropriations Committee, is investigating whether such expenses were necessary.

If you have trouble with the fruit product rising to the top when you're canning, there's a reason for it. Fruit may float because the pack is too loose or the syrup is too heavy. Another reason may be that all the air in the fruit tissues may not have been cooked out.

Confetti---

used in the July and August elections carried this caption: 'I am a Democrat and pledge myself to support the nominees of this primary.'

Now let's see how that pledge works out. And let's not even bother to use a hypothetical case. This senatorial contest brings out the absurdity of the pledge clearly enough.

Suppose a man is interested primarily in the caliber of the candidate. He's not concerned with the party. Suppose also he likes Stevenson and votes for him in the primary. But Johnson wins. Still interested in the man more than the party, he picks Porter as his next choice. Now, is he obligated to vote against his own judgment because of that pledge?

Let's consider another voter. Suppose he's a Republican, but like most of us he's aware that his party's candidate doesn't normally have a chance in the general election. Assuming that the Democratic primary is practically an election, he votes, intending at least to help select his preference in that party. All the while, however, he prefers his own candidate and actually supports him in the general election. Is there anything morally or logically wrong with his method?

Consider the complications, then try to figure out what possible right that pledge has to appear on a ballot. And if you should decide the pledge doesn't belong there, just pretend that it wasn't there in the first place. It isn't reasonable, it isn't constitutional, it isn't moral and it isn't valid. It isn't binding on you regardless of the sanctimonious quotations by politicians who try to corral your vote.

In the last analysis you probably did not take a pledge anyway. Like the vast majority of voters, you simply voted. Chances are you did not even notice the pledge, and if so you did not promise yourself or anybody else that you intended to abide by it. So, do you really feel in conscience that you took a pledge?

Another case of going overboard on loyalty, contained in the same editorial, is the remark that "Mr. Stevenson claims, but he has offered no legal proof, that there were some irregularities in the August primary."

If that statement were completed it would continue something like this . . . "because his efforts to secure proof were blocked by a restraining order from the Supreme Court, that order having been secured by Lyndon Johnson and his legal staff."

When an accused man takes steps to prevent an investigation he lays himself open to suspicion. In this case we suspect that Johnson either knew or was afraid that an investigation would produce "legal proof of irregularities."

Yes, political loyalty does strange things to a person's logic. This time it caused the editorial writer to completely overlook one factor which seems to have a very vital bearing on the case.
