

MUENSTER ENTERPRISE

VOLUME XII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 24, 1948

NUMBER 44

If you should happen to hear about a terrific train wreck when you're getting ready for a train ride, don't let it disturb you. Just go ahead with your plans. The odds are still heavily stacked in your favor.

By way of concrete assurance consider these statistics gleaned by some pencil pusher on the New York Times. Last year the railroad passenger service amounted to a 319 mile ride for every man, woman and child in this country, yet there were only 66 fatalities. From that he figures that you should be able to ride a train at 50 miles per hour, 24 hours a day, for 1,600,000 years before your turn for a fatal accident.

In widely circulated campaign literature last week the Republican party made its opening bid for Texas votes with a bit of logic that seems very nearly air tight. The November vote, they say, will elect either Dewey or Truman. The Dixiecrat ticket doesn't have a chance. Its best possibility is to win a few Southern states which can't roll up the required electoral count.

So . . . if a person wants to make his vote worth while he has to choose between the leading contenders.

From there on the GOPers strive to sell two prominent planks of their platform. One is restoration of historic states rights in the tidelands issue, a measure which, in Texas guarantees that school children will continue to receive about 2 million dollars a month from tidelands oil. The Democratic platform proposes to claim all tidelands as federal property.

Secondly, there's the highly controversial Taft-Hartley law. Republicans are proud of passing it . . . with the help of 97 out of 109 Southern Democrats. They say it's a good law and they intend to keep it. Democrats say it stinks and they intend to repeal it.

So far so good. On those two issues at least most Texans are willing to concede that the GOP has the better side. But if it really wishes to gather votes below the Mason-Dixon line it had better start modifying its stand on the civil rights question . . . such as extending the states rights policy to include problems on poll tax, segregation, anti-lynching and FEPC.

There's a lot of truth in the claim that a vote for the Dixiecrat ticket is wasted, but it's also true that the average Southern Democrat will need strong inducement to change his traditional voting habit . . . and the most attractive inducement to him is a better civil rights policy than his old party has.

As far as yours truly is concerned no political development could be more pleasing than that one. Since the GOP is the probable winner its civil rights policy is likely to be the one proposed. Naturally, we'll all be happier if it's the right kind of policy.

In addition there's a good chance that such a policy will swing this state into the Republican column and finally rescue us from the status of political stepchildren. Heretofore we've been ignored by Republicans and abused by Democrats simply because our votes have been in the bag anyway. Both parties will be more respectful in the future if they discover that Texans can vote two ways.

Appropos that picketing deal currently under way in Gainesville, here's a little story hot off the grapevine which might suggest a solution to the dilemma confronting quite a number of people who seem somewhat weary of being drawn into someone else's fuss.

The incident took place in another state. Theatre employes went on strike and picketed all shows in the town. Many people were genuinely sympathetic and respected the picket line. Some others especially merchants, became sympathetic later when they discovered that going to a show had a definite and depressing effect on their business. Regardless of personal convictions or convenience, they found it expedient to drive some 30 miles to the next town whenever they wished to see a show.

The strike went on and on. People got tired of being reminded that the nearest approved show was miles away. But finally a group of merchants, including all grocers in the town, decided they had their fill. Every one put a sign on his front door saying that if they had to drive 30 miles

Hornets Face Tough Test in Opener with St. Mary's Mustangs

Hard times are ahead for the Hornets Thursday night when they meet the Saint Mary's Mustangs of Gainesville in the opening encounter of their 1948 football schedule. The game will be played in Leeper Stadium beginning at 8 o'clock.

Unlike the two one-sided games with the Mustangs last year, this is going to be a real test, according to Coach Frank Hennigan. The Gainesville team has most of its '47 regulars back in the lineup whereas Muenster has mostly inexperienced light-weight youngsters with only five former lettermen to carry the brunt of the burden.

The strength of the Mustangs was apparent last week when they held Valley View Eagles to a 14 to 6 score.

Nevertheless Coach Hennigan is optimistic about his lad's chances. He is pleased with the hustle and interest they have shown through three weeks of practice sessions and believes they have the stuff to stop their more experienced opponents.

At the same time he is aware that the Mustangs are looking forward to this opportunity to retaliate for the 20-0 and 39-13 defeats of last year. His impression is that the odds lean slightly to Gainesville's side, but he isn't ready to concede a thing. The Hornets' next game will be with St. Xavier High of Denton Friday night, Oct. 1, on the Muenster field.

CHARBRAY BREED OF BEEF CATTLE TO BE SEEN AT STATE FAIR

The Charbray breed of beef cattle, a cross between the French Charollais and the sacred cow of India, the Brahman, will be one of the most interesting crossbreeds at the 1948 State Fair of Texas Livestock Show, Oct. 9-24, Ray W. Wilson, manager of the livestock and agriculture department, has announced.

An outstanding herd of Charbray developed by Turner and Thomas, cattle breeders of Westlaco and Raymondville, Texas, will be seen at the Fair's Livestock Show together with display herds of the Charollais and Brahman from which the breed was developed.

Charbray cattle retain the important characteristics of both originating breeds. The rapid growth characteristics of the Charollais and the ruggedness of the Brahman are combined in the Charbray to produce a beef type animal that is an excellent grazer, a fast breeder and easy to handle. Grown cows weigh from 1700 to 2200 pounds, grown bulls from 2500 to 3200 pounds.

Born a light tan, Charbray cattle bleach out to a cream white color. The Brahman hump is bred out, but a slight hint of the Brahman dewlap remains. They dress out from 60 to 65 per cent high grade marbled beef which gives the meat a flavor hard to surpass, a characteristic of the parent Charollais breed which has long been a contributing factor in the distinction of French cooking.

The Charollais is said to be the most remarkable and important of French breeds. Mainly a beef type cattle, the breed originated in the French province of Charollais and was established and authenticated in 1887. Besides having admirable meat characteristics, the Charollais breed gives fine quality leather hides and an adequate milk supply for calving. The steers are often used as work animals in France.

The Brahman breed is one of the oldest and most numerous of all breeds. The rugged climatic conditions of their native India has fortified them with a ruggedness and adaptability for self preservation where other breeds have failed to survive.

Charbray is a crossbreed word—"Char" from Charollais and "bray" from Brahman.

CDA CHANGE DATE OF RECEPTION CEREMONY

The local court Catholic Daughters of America has set October 24 as the definite date for its reception ceremonies.

Previously the court announced October 10 as the date but postponed it to the 24th when State Grand Regent Mrs. A. J. LeBlanc advised that the later date is the only one for which she can be in Muenster.

Pretty Pam Camp, Miss Arkansas of 1947, relaxes on a cushion of Dixieland "white gold"—cotton, that is! The lovely Southern belle is looking forward to an exciting day October 1 at Blytheville, Ark., when the country's top cotton pickers will compete in the ninth annual National Cotton Picking Contest. King Cotton's fastest picker will win the title, "World Champion Cotton Picker," plus a $1,000 prize!

Building and Improvement Notes

A new home for the Bill Otto family will get under way as soon as workmen finish tearing down the old house. The job was started this week.

Frank Needham now occupying the former T. P. Frost residence is having living quarters built above his garage.

After several weeks of delay work is again going strong on Mrs. Katie Roberg's two room addition to the house adjoining her residence.

Other new homes and remodeling jobs which continued at a steady pace this week are those of Joe Luke, Roy Endres, Frank Bayer and John Beard.

The E. P. Buckley home has just received paint and paper and other interior touches and similar work is now under way at August Friske. At Smyrl Owens' home, repapering and interior remodeling is almost complete.

The only downtown improvement currently under way is a paint job for the building which includes Mrs. John Meurer's home the post office and Nick Miller's cleaning plant.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kathman and daughter, Miss Anselma, moved into their newly completed home during the weekend. Their former home has been sold to the local VFW Post for use as a club house.

And It Came To Pass

by Jimmy Arrington

And it came to pass that in the sixteenth year of the reign of the democrats that one called Harry, a Trumanite, who had ascended to the throne, counseled with himself to the end that his days on the throne should be prolonged.

Then came unto him J. Howard McGrath of the island of Rhode and keeper of the inner door and saith unto King Harry.

Lo, I bring sad tidings O mighty king. For it is a day of trouble and of treading down and of perplexity and there is much murmuring among thy people.

I have heard a rumor O mighty king that the Deweyites and the Wallaceites are sending treasures of silver and gold and gilded promises to the Ethiopians, seeking their favor to the end that thy days on the throne shall be short and unhappy.

Thus king Harry heard the words spoken unto him by J. Howard McGrath.

Then the king said unto J. Howard McGrath, I am afraid of the Deweyites and the Wallaceites lest they deliver me back to the land called Missouri and mock me.

But J. Howard McGrath said, They shall not deliver you back to the land from whence thou came. I beseech thee to speak that which I tell you, so it shall be well unto thee and that thy friends shall continue to fatten themselves in thy household.

And it came to pass that king Harry spake the words given unto him by J. Howard McGrath saying: Harken unto me my people; and give ear unto me, O my nation, for a law shall proceed from me. A law which shall be called the civil rights program.

Throughout the kingdom I command that all men, the white, the black, the red and the yellow and the beast of the earth, and the cattle and everything that creepeth shall no longer follow after their kind.

The goat shall lie down with the sheep, the ox with the hare. Yea, even the ass with the elephant, they shall be together. Thus spake king Harry the Trumanite.

And it came to pass that the Trumanites marveled at the wisdom of their king, and there was wailing and weeping and gnashing of teeth among the Deweyites and Wallaceites.

But it came to pass within a while after that there were those in the southern part of the kingdom that were not of the tribe of the Deweyites, Wallaceites nor Trumanites but were called Statesrights, and when the words of king Harry were brought unto them they did earnestly protest, saying, What manner of king is this that would in the twinkling of the eye change that which has been since the memory of man and is foreign to the covenants handed down to us by our fathers.

And it came to pass that king Harry closed his ears to their protests and the people rose up and smote him down. And the days which Harry reigned numbered one thousand and 388, and he took his place beside Herb Hoover.

STATE LEAGUE PLANS DISTRICT CONVENTION AT LINDSAY OCT. 17

Saint Peter's parish, Lindsay, will welcome members of the North Texas District of the Catholic State League for the Fall district meeting on Sunday, October 17.

R. R. Endres, district president, announced Monday that officers arranged a program and completed plans for the event at a special meeting Sunday night.

Members of the Lindsay parish will sponsor a community picnic after the convention adjourns.

P-TA FIRST SESSION PLANS PROGRAM FOR COMING SCHOOL YEAR

Discussion of plans for achievement this year and a review of past activity constituted the principal business at the first meeting of the Sacred Heart Parent-Teachers association for the current term. Members met Thursday night in the school auditorium. Mrs. Rudy Hellman, president, presided.

Rev. John Walbe discussed the school's athletic program and reported on work in progress at the football field. He asked for volunteers to assist in erecting the grandstand.

Mrs. Hellman introduced this year's teachers to the assemblage and Mrs. Tony Gremminger, secretary, called the roll. Members decided to continue the attendance contest for the third consecutive year pointing out that it increases interest in the meetings and that the prize money provides beneficial equipment for the school.

The association welcomed several new members and room mothers advised they would announce their assistants at the next meeting.

Mrs. Hellman stated that future meetings will feature guest speakers and that H. H. Moss, county school superintendent, will address the association in October.

NEW TRAIN SCHEDULE BECOMES EFFECTIVE

Since last Sunday a new train schedule has been in effect in Muenster. According to K. W. Tompkins, local Katy agent, the correct arrival time for the morning west bound train now is 8:20 a.m. and the time for the evening east bound train is 6:24 p.m. The changes were made to conform with schedules of north-south trains through Denison.

The change has also resulted in a change of mail service at Muenster. Postmaster Arthur Endres stated this week that mail from the evening train is dispatched immediately after arrival instead of being held over until the next morning. As before, mail from the morning train is dispatched immediately.

Parish Starts Drive For New Church and Other Improvements

The Sacred Heart parish annual church drive is under way again. It started last Sunday with a special meeting in which thirteen members of the parish met with Father Herman Laux to organize their program for canvassing the community.

Four groups of two solicitors each will make contacts in the rural area of the parish and two groups of two will make contacts within the city. J. M. Weinzappel as secretary and treasurer will have charge of records and deposits submitted by the other workers.

Collections in this drive, Father Herman said, are intended primarily to cover expenditures this year on the rectory and parish hall remodeling jobs. His purpose is to get those two projects completely cleared before going on with the new church fund.

The solicitors are Joe Vogel, Meinrad Hesse, Tony Trubenbach Jr., Andy Schoech, J. H. Bayer, Al Wiesman, Al Hess, Albert Danglmayr, Urban Endres, Ben Seyler, R. R. Endres and J. W. Fisher.

FOOTBALL TROPHIES WILL BE GIVEN TO 2 OUTSTANDING HORNETS

Personal awards in the form of trophies will be given at the end of this football season to the outstanding back and the outstanding lineman on the Hornet squad.

The two trophies, to be presented by the Charm Shop, are now on display in that store's show window. In offering them Mrs. Ray Evans stated that Coach Frank Hennigan and Manager Father John Walbe will decide which boys will be favored.

In deciding who is outstanding the two judges will consider several factors including all phases of football activity not just the performance in competition. That provision is intended to extend eligibility to all players.

Points to be considered are sportsmanship, regularity, promptness, application and effort in practice sessions, training habits, performance in competition, and scholastic standing.

Awards will be made at the annual football banquet at the end of the season.

SEA SERPENT YARN IS GETTING BETTER

Latest and perhaps best documented sea serpent yarn comes from the American cargo-passenger liner Santa Clara. Despite the $500 fine for false entries in the ship's log, complete details of the astounding creature were officially recorded for doubting Thomases. With a head measuring five feet in length, a one and one-half foot neck, and a three foot hump on the rump, this particular monster was seen recently in the Caribbean. Not only is it in the log, but it is recounted in red ink, as prescribed for disasters and other unusual events, for the Santa Clara actually struck the monster. The trail of blood was visible for some time, the story goes. Whether the blow was a mortal one was never ascertained.

Worry is like a rocking chair. It will give you something to do — but it won't get you anywhere.

The PIONEERING SPIRIT Still Prevails!

LIKE a gleaming thread woven into the pattern of Texas history is the pioneering spirit of the first trail blazers. Homesteaders... the stage coach... the first Texas cattlemen... carrying their hopes and dreams on to new frontiers!

This same pioneering spirit was evidenced by the group of men who, back in 1913, built the state's first high-voltage electric power transmission line, bringing with it a new era of development for farm, business and industry. This high-voltage transmission line was the forerunner of the network of power lines of Texas Power & Light Company destined to cover a 52-county area in North, Central and East Texas. Through the years, this company has continued to pioneer... in rural electrification, in agricultural development and in industrial development.

In the beginning, Texas Power & Light Company served 13 cities and towns. Today, 466 cities, towns and communities in the richest and most populous section of the state are joined together by TP&L's high-voltage transmission lines. More than 235,000 Texans, of whom 68,000 live on farms and in rural areas, enjoy more comfortable, prosperous living through TP&L's low-cost, dependable electric service.

Because of this widespread distribution of electric power, manufacturing plants may locate in the section best suited to their industrial needs... and thus take advantage of the wide diversity of Texas' raw materials and natural resources, labor, transportation facilities and the many other advantages found in the state.

Contributing more to a higher standard of living and the furtherance of community prosperity than any other single factor... TP&L electric service is vital to the growth and development of the area it serves.

With the foresight and vision of careful business management, this company is constantly planning and preparing for the future needs of the farms, homes, businesses and industries that are making Texas the great state it is today!

The American Way WHOSE RED HERRING?

by DeWitt Emery
 An attempt is being made to get the American people to believe that the investigations being made by the Un-American Activities Committee into communists on the payroll of our Federal Government was started as a partisan activity to provide Republican fodder for the Presidential and Congressional campaigns now under way. This is far from the truth and in the interest of keeping the record straight, let's look at the facts.

The investigations into the "Red menace" were started more than ten years ago by the original Un-American Activities Committee of which Rep. Martin Dies, a Texas Democrat, was chairman. As far back as 1940 the National Small Business Men's Association, in an issue of its bulletin to members, published a list of more than 500 communists or fellow travelers, who were then on the payroll of the Federal Government. This list showing the name and address of the individual, the department in which he or she was employed and the amount of the annual salary of everyone on the list.

Originally the Dies Committee was a special committee and did not have certain rights and powers which a regular standing committee has. This was changed at the first session of the 79th Congress. The House in this Congress had 242 Democrats and 190 Republicans. On January 3, 1945, Rep. John E. Rankin, Democrat from Mississippi, offered a resolution to give the Un-American Activities Committee the status of a regular standing House committee. The vote on this resolution was 208 for and 186 against. Mr. Rankin is still in the forefront of the fight to expose the Reds.

The Dies Committee operated on a non-partisan basis and the same thing was true of the present Un-American Activities Committee until President Truman denounced the espionage investigations of this Committee as a "Red Herring" which automatically injected these investigations and the sensational disclosures which have been made into the Presidential campaign. In making this denunciation, Mr. Truman lined up alongside Henry Wallace and his motley crew of commies and fellow travelers.

This Committee is trying to protect the American people by exposing and smashing a Russian spy ring and is therefore entitled to the wholehearted support of every true American, including the President and all his aides.

It is difficult for me and I imagine it is for a great many people, to understand why Mr. Truman refused to turn over to the Committee the employment records and the loyalty check reports of the present and former employees of the Government who have been named as dues-paying communists, agents of the Russian government, or fellow travelers, at the Committee hearings. The logical conclusion is that Mr. Truman is in favor of the spy ring and wants subversive persons on the payroll of the Government. But that definitely is not true, and since it isn't, the only other conclusion possible is that he is doing what he believes will help him most in his campaign for re-election.

It certainly is a sad commentary on our ability to govern ourselves when a high public official has reason to believe that he can get more voters to support him by going along — temporarily at least — with a movement designed to overthrow our republican form of government.

The Wastrel

Many stories are told about the thriftiness of New Englanders. A visitor noticed that permanent residents in a certain New England village kept themselves aloof from one particular townsman. Though he appeared to be refined and prosperous, they spoke to the man coldly and abruptly. The visitor found the shunned individual to be a charming conversationalist, and one day made inquiry of a staunch local citizen:

"Why is it, Sir, that everyone in this village avoids having anything to do with Caleb?"

"Mr. Smithers," the staunch citizen replied stiffly, "Caleb is living up his principal."

Unforeseen Results

Did you give your wife a lecture on economy?" asked the friend of the brand-new bridegroom.

"I did," was the grim reply. "What results?"

"I gave up weekend golf and started a vegetable garden."

REMEDY FOR THE MEAT SITUATION

The meat situation has been the subject of more loose and uninformed talk than practically anything else, ranging from unfounded charges that big profits are the cause of high prices, to political demands for a reimposition of price controls, which would discourage production and channel most of the available meat supply into black markets.

In the light of that, a statement recently issued by the American Meat Institute deserves wide reading. "The real remedy for the meat situation," it said, "is the production, as promptly as nature and other conditions will permit, of adequate numbers of meat animals." It then went on to make a series of specific suggestions for achieving this goal.

First, farmers should be encouraged to breed sows for late fall and early winter farrowing. Second, producers should be urged to use the new corn crop to feed spring pigs to reasonably heavy weights. Third, breeding herds should be rebuilt with younger stocks, and older, poorer producing cows should be marketed. Fourth, the slaughter of calves should be reduced. Fifth, producers must be assured of a continued relative strong demand for meat. Sixth, livestock conservation should be pushed.

This is a long range program, and it is based upon the sound principle that the country must have more meat — and that high meat prices are in large part the result of heavy demand in the face of a limited supply. Rationing and other government controls, as any school child can understand, would not increase the supply of meat by a single pound. Whenever the government interferes with the basic laws of economics, scarcity, not abundance, results.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Nicest Compliment I've Had

One of the nicest comments I've received about this column was from an editor in the Middle West I called on. And while I don't like to give myself orchids, I think it illustrates a point.

"Joe," he said, "it so happens I don't agree with everything you say, but I always like to run your column. Because it gets down to earth and talks about the right to disagree. And it only asks for tolerance towards the other person's point of view."

He went on to explain, by way of illustration, that he never had happened to have a taste for ale or beer. But that when I spoke of the right to enjoy a moderate beverage like beer, well, he was right there with me!

And from where I sit, that's the important thing: not whether you share another person's tastes or point of view—but whether you recognize his right to exercise a free choice in a free land.

 "Well, I reckon I leave ma behin' when I enter dar," was old mammy's response.

47 YEAR OLD TERRAPIN
 (from Trenton Tribune)

Walter Holcomb brought to the Tribune office Saturday a terrapin which he picked up in the pasture of his father, the late M. D. Holcomb, southwest of Trenton, with the initials of his brother, Malley Holcomb, carved with a knife on the bottom of the terrapin Aug. 11, 1901.
 After Malley inscribed his initials on the terrapin, he turned it loose in the pasture where it has remained all these years. Walter found the terrapin eight or ten years ago and said it was as large then as it is now.
 We do not know what the average life of a terrapin is, but this one Walter showed us has lived to a ripe old age of more than 47 years.

BUT WHY THE DELAY? WE COULD USE THAT GADGET RIGHT NOW

SAVANNAH, Ga.—G. O. Griffin doesn't claim to have any magic formula. But he says he is saving money on his gasoline bill through a simple chemical innovation.

Griffin has worked out a device which, when attached to his car, mixes water with gasoline vapor before the vapor is drawn into the cylinders. He says it has saved him up to 50 percent on gasoline bills, makes his motor run smoother, almost eliminates the formation of carbon deposits, and increases the all-around efficiency of his motor.

Griffin patented the invention in 1936. He hopes to have it on the market some day. He is 73 years old.

Safety Specialists Report Finding Rolling Deathtrap

What is probably the prize example of a rolling deathtrap was noted today by safety experts of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies in their continuing campaign for motor vehicle safety. It was a 1935 sedan which police of San Diego, Calif., ruled off the road as "unsafe."

The old sedan was without brakes, headlights, stoplights, horn, front floorboards, windshield wiper, and left front wheel bearings. In addition, the rear license plate was wired to the gas cap cover, all four fenders were loose and both bumpers were insecurely fastened on.

"Any one of these obvious and dangerous defects could be the cause of a fatal traffic accident," declared the safety experts. They said the battered auto was rolling proof of the need for compulsory periodic motor vehicle inspection laws in every state to keep perilous deathtraps off the roads.

"I can't marry him, mother. He's an atheist and doesn't believe there is a h-l."

"Marry him, my dear, and between us we'll convince him he's wrong."

Mr. and Mrs. William Schmitz and family have moved from Howzeville to Lindsay and are occupying the house vacated by the Charles Tates who moved east of Gainesville.

Junior Kuhn sustained a head injury last week when a tool fell from a windmill at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuhn, while repairs were being made to the windmill. He was standing on the ground.

GUN CLUB SPONSORS SHOOTING CONTEST AS NEW CHURCH BENEFIT

Next Sunday's weekly trap-shooting contest at the Muenster Airport sponsored by the Muenster Gun Club will be a parish benefit affair open to both members and non members.

Oscar Miller, secretary of the club, announced this week that each event will have a prize and all proceeds will be donated to the new church fund.

First Fisherman: 'It's getting late and we haven't caught a single fish.'

Second Fisherman: 'Well, let's let a couple more big ones get away and then go home.'

Husband: 'As I contemplate the wonders of nature, I realize the insignificance of man.'

Wife: 'Any woman knows that without contemplation.'

to see a show others could drive that far to buy their groceries. In just three days people were again buying groceries . . . and theatre tickets . . . at home!

Another example of trying to get something for nothing: the demand of the 16 non-operating railroad unions specifies a 5 day, 40 hour week with 48 hours' pay and an additional wage increase of 25 cents an hour. It also asks for pay at one and one half times the daily rate for any work on Saturdays and double pay on Sundays and holidays with a minimum of 8 hours' pay on these days regardless of the time worked.

Just look that over again and note that every point, except the one about a 25 cent raise, is a demand to get credit for more time than actually spent on the job. Every one constitutes an effort to get something for nothing. It is also significant that in spite of the demand for an enormous increase in time credit there is not one single offer to get more work done.

That's what's wrong with labor nowadays. It just doesn't want to labor . . . to put out the extra effort which is the only just and reasonable exchange for higher pay.

Nobody can blame a working man for wanting more money. He has a perfect right to improve his living standard as much as possible. But he's silly and unfair when he demands an increase in compensation without giving a corresponding increase in service. Such a raise only increases unit costs which eventually come back to wipe out the very gain he made.

There's only one correct way to get more money. If a man works 40 hours at $1.00 per hour he should offer to work 45 hours at the same rate. He finishes the week with more money but he does not increase unit costs. He does not increase the cost of living and his gain has a real value.
