VOLUME XIII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, JULY 8, 1940

NUMBER 33

A salesman in town a few days ago made a remark which, in Con's opinion, is a well deserved compliment for the entire community. He said that our overnight change of parking habits in order to pack the outer lanes of Main street pavement showed a lot of good sense and cooperation. This column feels the same way about it. The people around here rate a big compliment for their immediate and willing response to the highway engineer's suggestion. Now and then somebody forgot, but on the average the cooperation was most gratifying.

It doesn't take a great deal of thinking to understand that we who use the street are the real beneficiaries of our co-operation. Memories of the pitiful WPA pavement job still linger on. We remember the bumps and holes, and we're more than willing to do our part toward developing a street surface that will be a pleasure to use.

The process is simple enough. Traffic rolling over the street gradually presses the small crushed pebbles into the asphalt. As the asphalt works to the surface more rock is spread and pressed in. Each such application adds a little more thickness to the surface and eventually builds a good durable street that can stand the strain for years. If the center carries all the traffic it will get all the improvement. If the outer lanes carry some of the traffic they too will be improved. And that's the objective, a good sturdy street from curb to curb.

Do you remember the item this column carried several years ago on calculating temperature by the frequency of a cricket's chirps? The formula for that little trick is to count the chirps for 14 seconds and add 40. So if you hear little Jimminy Cricket giving 60 chirps in the specified period you'll know without looking at the thermometer that it should register 100 degrees.

That formula happens to be just one item among lots of interesting data on insects recently published in Natural History Magazine.

The cricket referred to is the ordinary black field cricket we see practically every day. He's correct when he chirps, but can't be depended on to chirp as regularly as the snowy tree cricket which sings so steadily that it is often called the temperature cricket. But he works by a different formula and you have to add 42 to his 14 second count to be correct. All of which brings on another complication. To figure the temperature exactly you have to know what kind of cricket you're hearing.

Regardless of what kind of cricket you're timing, however, you know there's something wrong if your calculation shows a heat of more than 106. So far as the naturalists know all noise producing insects are mute above that figure.

Lots of other insects have a definite way of reacting to heat. Katydid, for instance are fair thermometers in the 55 to 76 range. At 77 or over she sings a lusty "Katy did it" with emphasis on all 4 syllables. When three syllables are strong and the fourth weak, like "Katy didn't," it's 74 to 76. Three strong syllables indicate 70 to 73; two strong and a weak syllable indicate 67 to 69. Two strong means 64 to 66; one strong and a weak means 61 to 63. A lone strong syllable is 58 to 60 and a lone weak one is 55 to 57. Under 55 she shuts up.

Or take a grasshopper. Did you know that he can't hop until the temperature is at least 39? And can't fly under 47? And can't make a noise under 61 or 62? From there up to 85 his buzzing gets louder and more frequent.

Temperature likewise affects a bee's habits... and disposition. He's downright vicious in the lower 50s and still unfriendly in the upper 60s. His disposition improves with heat until at 85 he's easy to get along with. Also he's a busy fellow while the mercury is in the 80s but gets mighty sluggish at 103.

DIGGING INTO POTATO CROP—It's harvest time in the Kaw Valley of Kansas, the Sunflower State's potato belt. Above, a potato digger unearths the spuds on the farm of Emil Heck, near Lawrence, Kan. The potatoes are then taken to a modern cleaning and sorting plant before marketing.

Curb Parking on Main Street Will Be Resumed Friday

Beginning Friday curb parking will again become the rule on Main Street. Mayor John Hoffman made the announcement Wednesday after a state highway engineer recommended that traffic again be directed to the center of the street. The engineer also stated that a sweeper will move loose crushed rock from the curbs and spread it over the recently traveled area, on which the asphalt has worked through to the surface. After traffic has used the center for a while the engineer intends to have it moved back to the side for a few more weeks to complete the packing job.

Notes On Soil Conservation

The harvesting of vetch seed got off to a running start last week in the Muenster Work Unit area. John Moss of Saint Jo harvested 4000 pounds of vetch seed from 16 acres. A hay press followed the combine and baled the straw. This is the third consecutive year that he has grown vetch on his cultivated land.

Howard Mays of Hardy is harvesting his vetch and rye mixture. The vetch produced 300 pounds of seed per acre on a 10 acre field that Mays had almost given up as a failure earlier. A 25 acre field was sprayed for the control of insects but harvesting is not completed and the yield has not been determined.

G. D. Wylie, of Hardy is harvesting 22 acres of vetch with a promise of a good yield of seed. He recently joined other farmers in the Hardy community in an agreement to co-operate with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District.

His soil conservation farm plan calls for planting alfalfa on the cultivated land that has been in vetch for several years. He will make future plantings of vetch on his pasture land. This will improve the pasture furnish some extra grazing and produce a seed crop with good management.

S. M. Steen of Hardy has overseded part of his Bermuda grass pasture with alfalfa. This was done on a trial basis and he thinks he has a good grazing combination. If the land will grow alfalfa alone it will grow alfalfa and Bermuda grass together with good grazing management.

Grass and legume seed of all kinds are in demand and prospects are good for production of sweet clover seed in the Muenster Work Unit area. Some soil conservation district co-operators who will harvest clover seed are Tony Walterscheid, Oscar Walter, Bill Jones, Paul Hutchinson, Tony Felderhoff and J. W. Hess of Muenster and V. W. Redman of Saint Jo.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jackson and children and Joe Weinzapfel of Fort Worth spent Saturday through Monday here with their parents, the J. M. Weinzapfels. Rev. Thomas Weinzapfel joined them Monday for an outing at Katy Lake.

Pastors Fathers Herman and Cyril, about 8 delegates from the parish societies and Mrs. Joe Luke state treasurer, are planning to leave next Monday and Tuesday to attend the golden jubilee convention of the Catholic State League of Texas in San Antonio on July 12-14.

The convention will open officially on Tuesday at 1:30 with an address by Mayor Jack White of the host city and by Rt. Rev. Peter J. Schnetzer, pastor of Saint Joseph's church. Sectional meetings will occupy the first afternoon. The evening program will feature a youth rally.

Fisher and Knabe Herds Lead County In Milk Production

Paul Fisher's herd of 17 Herefords and Guernseys was the top producing herd in the Cooke County Dairy Herd Improvement association for the month of June according to the association's monthly report released at the regular meeting Tuesday night. John Knabe's herd took second place honors.

Fisher's cows averaged 742 pounds of milk with a test of 4.6 and an average of 34.3 pounds of butterfat.

Fourteen member herds were tested; total number of cows in milk was 271 of which 44 produced 40 pounds of butterfat or over. Of these 44 cows Muenster dairymen own 28.

Muenster members, number of cows and butterfat content over 40 for the month are: John Knabe, 10 cows, 41 to 62; Charlie Fisher, 4 cows, 43 to 57; Paul Fisher, 6 cows, 42 to 61; Thomas Sicking, 7 cows, 41 to 52. J. W. Fleitman, one cow, 42.

Tony Nehib and Pete Prescher were in charge of Tuesday night's program held in Gainesville. Next month's meeting will be held in Muenster with Thomas Sicking and R. B. Durham in charge of the program.

Council Okays New Bridge on West 6th

The old dilapidated bridge across the branch on west Sixth street, which recently crashed under a heavy load will soon be replaced by a new and more sturdy structure.

It will be a double culvert affair with two 42 inch concrete drainage tiles placed side by side and covered by a heavy layer of gravel. The new bridge will be 16 feet wide.

Guests in the Fred Hoedebeck home last week were his sister, Mrs. John Stratman and her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Schumacher of Cincinnati, Ohio. Saturday the Hoedebecks and their guests spent the day in Denison with relatives. The Ohioans returned to their home Monday.

Church Fund Gets $8,500 Boost From July 3-4 Benefit

Muenster's new church fund got a boost of more than $8,500 at the two day parish benefit party held here last Sunday and Monday.

Father Herman Laux, pastor, said Wednesday that the exact amount of net proceeds was not known at that time because some of the bills on expense items still have not been received. He was confident, however, that the final figure will be over $8,500. Though it fell $1,500 short of its goal it was by far the most successful event in the history of the parish.

Along with his statement Father Herman expressed his gratitude to all who contributed in any way to the success of the party... those who came and especially those who worked.

Friday's the Day To Have Weeds Mowed

This is the weekend for mowing weeds in Muenster. Members of the city council announced Tuesday night that they have arranged to have mowing service available on Friday and Saturday. Paul Endres will do the work with a standard tractor-powered field mower. The charge is three dollars per hour.

Persons who wish to have their weed patches mowed are asked to leave word with either Paul or Urban Endres. Mowing will begin on Friday and continue as long as the work lasts.

News Of Sick And Injured

Harry Sicking underwent an emergency appendectomy last Thursday at M&S hospital and is making a satisfactory recovery at the home of his parents, the Henry Sicking. He was permitted to leave the hospital Tuesday.

Miss Rosalie Fuhrman, who underwent surgery at M&S hospital in Gainesville last Thursday, is recovering nicely at the home of her parents, the H. J. Fuhrmans. She returned home Monday.

Billy Ray Hellman, 6, broke his right arm Friday while he was playing in the barn at the home of his parents, the Charley Hellmans.

John Wieler was up and around Monday after being confined to bed during the weekend on account of illness.

Mrs. Henry Sicking was admitted to M&S hospital in Gainesville Tuesday for medical treatment.

GREASE JOB—Eighteen-year-old Stanley Wells gets a coating of grease in preparation for his attempted 45-mile swim from Southend, England, along the Thames River, to Westminster Bridge. Wells swallowed oily water after completing 10 miles of the distance, and was unable to continue.

Telephone Company Completes Recovery From Winter Damage

That the recapitalized and revitalized Muenster Telephone Company is making a steady comeback was apparent at a stockholders' meeting last Saturday.

Herman Younger, president of the reorganized company reported that many improvements have been made, some are in process now and others will follow soon.

Most of the work has consisted of line rebuilding. All rural lines have been restored to their pre-storm condition or better. In addition the main switchboard has been overhauled and 20 new phones have been added in the past 60 days.

Other improvements to be made in the near future are a new line replacing that to be removed from the South Muenster farm to market road and additional cables leading to the switchboard.

Improvements at Wilde Garage

Work is under way now on interior improvements at the J. E. Wilde garage. New parts bins are being installed to increase the repair stock space by a little more than 50 per cent. An office and two rest rooms are also being built in the north part of the building.

School Board Has 7 Teachers, Wants 2 More for Next Year

As far as the teaching staff is concerned plans for the next school year are coming along fine. According to Secretary Herbert Meurer seven teachers are already on the faculty and two more will be added soon.

The latest to join is Ralph Maglaughlin of Collin County, a graduate of A&M College, he will teach vocational agriculture and shop under the Smith-Hughes plan. His is a full year job including both teaching and technical assistance to the farmers of the district.

Others on the faculty are Superintendent Leo Neyer, Principal C. W. Cowan, Mrs. Jess Mitchell, Mrs. Effie Hembree, Miss Elfreda Luke and Miss Gladys Wilde.

Other developments are not running so smoothly, however. Complications brought on by the Gilmor-Aikin upheaval in the state educational system are leaving the trustees with problems. One of them is a possible change in the system of making per capita allotments. If the past system of basing pay on scholastic attendance is continued local prospects are good. But if payments are based on average daily attendance the board will have serious trouble.

J. W. Fisher Named District Deputy for KC Sixth District

Joe W. Fisher is the new district deputy of the Sixth Texas District of the Knights of Columbus. His appointment, which became effective on July 1, was announced in a letter dated June 28 from the state deputy, M. J. Babin, Jr., of Port Arthur.

In his new office Fisher will have jurisdiction over five North Texas councils, Muenster, Gainesville, Sherman, Denison and Pilot Point. He succeeds Joe Koriath of Sherman and is the second Muenster man to hold the office. Herbert Meurer served as district deputy for 4 years prior to his 4 years as state treasurer of the order.

Fisher has been a member of the Muenster council for 26 years and has held office for more than half of that time. He has served as grand knight, financial secretary and trustee and is now serving as treasurer of the council.

City Seeks Gadget To Detect Million Gallon Water Leak

Hoping to reduce its tremendous loss of water the city council Tuesday night decided to have all main lines checked by a leak detector. The city of Dallas has such an instrument, and the council will inquire into the possibility of leasing it immediately.

The machine operates above the ground and indicates each leak in the water line below it. If permitted to use it, the city intends to mark all leaks and repair them immediately.

According to a report by Water Superintendent Steve Moser the total consumption according to customers meters is 1,200,000 gallons less than the volume produced at the pumps, a loss of 41 per cent, and a very substantial extra cost to the water department.

Visiting the Needhams, Aldridges and Mrs. Ida Gardner last Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gardner of Kansas City, Mo. He is Mrs. Ida Gardner's grandson.

Jimmy Lehnertz And Highway Cops Break Swindling Racket

A smooth operating swindling syndicate met its Waterloo Tuesday when Jimmy Lehnertz decided to do something about the fast deal it had just pulled on him. As a result of his alertness and the co-operation of highway patrol officers two persons were in the Cooke County jail Wednesday awaiting further developments.

It happened Tuesday afternoon. First a man came through selling "baseball cards", which are somewhat similar to punch boards. Jimmy took one and left it lying on the counter. About two hours later a car with one man, two women and two children stopped. One of the women saw the card and started playing. After losing for a while she spotted a $10 bill on the 20 to 1 shot and picked the winner, then left in a hurry.

Jimmy noted the car make and license number and notified the sheriff's department. A filling station east of Gainesville had already reported a similar experience but failed to supply information as accurate as Jimmy's. A few minutes later Patrolman Lester Robertson and other officers arrived in Muenster.

Since the swindlers had headed east from the station officers suspected they had doubled back and gone west. Their hunch was correct. The car was parked at a Texaco station in Saint Jo and the woman was inside playing another card. As the patrol car stopped she dashed to her car and left but the patrolmen overtook it in less than two blocks. Jimmy Lehnertz had accompanied the officers from here and identified the car and its occupants.

The car a Buick, carried Iowa license plates. Hidden inside the officers found six other sets of license plates. The first member of the ring, the man who sold and marked the cards, was still at large Wednesday. He is believed to be the husband of the woman who plays the cards.

Washington Newsletter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., July 1 — The big fight in the House this week was over the Public Housing Bill, H. R. 4009. The fight on this bill was not over slum clearance, or over federal loans in financing of home building. I have always supported FHA, i. e., Federal guarantee of loans to promote home building. The big fight on this bill was over public housing. This bill as finally passed, obligates the government to build 810,000 homes. These 810,000 homes will be owned and maintained at government expense and rented to so-called low-income families. The minimum cost of these government owned houses will be 10 million dollars. Some have estimated it will cost nearer 20 billion dollars. It is generally conceded that it would be much cheaper to build these homes and give them outright to said low-income individuals than it will be for the government to maintain and operate them as now provided.

This public housing feature sets a most dangerous precedent. It will be followed in years to come by other bills for more homes for more people.

An amendment was offered to the bill to strike out the public housing feature. Time for debate on the amendment was limited, and those of us speaking had only 2 1/2 minutes to present our views. My speech in support of the amendment to strike public housing from the bill was as follows:

"Mr. Chairman, I rise in support of the amendment. The gigantic public housing feature of this bill is in my judgment, a two-edged sword, one edge of which cuts the heart out of the American economy, and the other the heart out of American character.

The distinguished majority leader addressed himself to human values, the human equation. That, too, gives me greatest concern because all other values are relative. You do no one a favor if you fill his stomach and empty his backbone in the same operation. When we build gigantic public housing projects and subsidize the tenants who live in them, we tend to destroy thrift, initiative, ambition, and many other worthwhile attributes of character and citizenship. Think what would have happened to you as a boy if you had been told when you became a man if through circumstances or otherwise you were unable to build a home, that the Government would furnish it to you. I submit that this public housing feature of this bill pushes us many miles farther down the road into national socialism. The chips are down on this, gentleman. You will have to choose whether or not you want American democracy or choose to embrace some sort of statism. This is simply the first installment on the matter of subsidizing low-income families in the matter of housing. If you subsidize John Doe this year and not Richard Roe the next year, you will make Bolsheviks out of both of them. The time has come when we must call a halt on unrestrained public expenditures, or else we will be called upon in the next session of Congress to raise taxes, and ultimately to devalue the dollar, perhaps to repudiate debts. If carried to its logical conclusion the public housing provisions of this bill mean economic and social chaos."

This amendment was adopted by a vote of 163 to 165. It was then stricken out by a vote of 209 to 204.

On this vote, 13 of us Texas members voted "yea" with only 6 Texas members voting "nay". It is significant that Thomas of Houston, Wilson of Dallas, and Lucas of Fort Worth, all voted against public housing. Kilday of San Antonio, who is in the hospital with a broken leg, if present would have also voted against public housing.

The American Way

NATIONS, TOO, CAN DIE

By George Peck

The "goings-on" at Washington the past sixteen years call to mind the story of the farmer who conducted an experiment with his horses. He had come to the conclusion that it was costing him too much to feed the animals and so one day he cut down on their quantity of food. This seemingly did not affect their efficiency, so he made a further curtailment, still with no apparently harmful results.

The farmer failed to take into account that his horses were borrowing strength from reserves built up by years of proper and adequate feeding. He kept cutting down on their food, until finally, he quit feeding them entirely. To a friend who inquired how his experiment was making out, the farmer replied, "Oh, it was working out just fine, but darn it, the horses died and I was not able to finish the experiment."

Here in America we witness Government conducting an experiment — with humans, instead of horses — trying to see how little can be fed to stockholders in dividends, before all incentive to risk savings in new enterprises and in the expansion of old ones, will be completely undermined.

There are three elements that participate in the earnings of industry and business: Labor, Government, and Stockholders. Let's see how these three participants have fared in recent years.

Labor has been given an ever-increasing share, due in large degree to its ability to enforce its demands for an ever-mounting "take".

Government has taken an ever-increasing share through taxation. (The administration now plots to have Uncle Sam take an even greater share.)

The almost "Forgotten Man" of the trio is the Stockholder. He has been getting an ever-dwindling return on the savings he has invested, due to the shrinking purchasing power of the dollar and increased taxes.

Both Labor and Government overlook the important fact that unless people continue to invest their savings, it is inevitable that gradually there will be less for taxes and wages, and finally nothing at all. The end result of starving Stockholders, therefore, if carried on for too long a time, will be starvation for Labor and Government as well.

the farmer replied, "Oh, it was working out just fine, but darn it, the horses died and I was not able to finish the experiment."

Here in America we witness Government conducting an experiment — with humans, instead of horses — trying to see how little can be fed to stockholders in dividends, before all incentive to risk savings in new enterprises and in the expansion of old ones, will be completely undermined.

There are three elements that participate in the earnings of industry and business: Labor, Government, and Stockholders. Let's see how these three participants have fared in recent years.

Labor has been given an ever-increasing share, due in large degree to its ability to enforce its demands for an ever-mounting "take".

Government has taken an ever-increasing share through taxation. (The administration now plots to have Uncle Sam take an even greater share.)

The almost "Forgotten Man" of the trio is the Stockholder. He has been getting an ever-dwindling return on the savings he has invested, due to the shrinking purchasing power of the dollar and increased taxes.

Both Labor and Government overlook the important fact that unless people continue to invest their savings, it is inevitable that gradually there will be less for taxes and wages, and finally nothing at all. The end result of starving Stockholders, therefore, if carried on for too long a time, will be starvation for Labor and Government as well.

In recent years this nation has been borrowing strength from reserves built up when the economic climate was absolutely free and when Government was not levying exorbitant taxes. The 81st Congress is making a heroic attempt to stop this assault on Stockholders. It must succeed in that effort if our system of competitive free enterprise is to be saved from destruction.

Investors must be encouraged, not discouraged. There are many millions of Americans who directly own stocks or bonds; while many more millions indirectly own stocks and bonds through equities in life insurance policies and deposits in savings banks. These investors constitute not a minority but a majority of the citizenry of this country. Common sense should dictate that their interest be protected, especially so, because in safeguarding investors, Labor and Government likewise are protected.

But, to get back to the story of the foolish farmer and the experiment with his horses. There is a sad sequel to it. The farmer and all of the members of his family subsequently died of starvation. You see, the horses were a vital necessity. Without them the farmer could not get his plowing done and could raise no food.

The moral to be learned from this story is that nations, too, can die. If those who do the plowing are starved to death.

The tongue, being in a wet place, is likely to slip when going fast.

GIVES ROBINS THE BIRD—Every year Arthur Axx of Lake-wood, O., has been plagued by birds, mostly robins, which nested in his cherry tree and pecked holes in his fruit crop. But this year Axx foiled the feathered creatures by bandaging the whole tree in tobacco cloth. Now, while the birds stare wistfully from nearby telephone wires, the Axx family is enjoying a cherry pie.

New Motor Oil Cleans With Detergent Action

Oil company scientists have applied the principles used in the making of fine detergent washing powders to the manufacture of the new Humble Esso Extra Motor Oil. Adding a specially manufactured detergent to the oil enables it to pick up, break up and hold in suspension soot, dirt, sludge and varnish which damage automobile engines. New Humble Esso Extra Motor Oil, say scientists, keeps an engine clean as a hound's tooth. Humble station salesmen are urging customers to drain dirty, diluted oil and refill with new Esso Extra Motor Oil for extra protection. Adv.

"Bloomer Girl" is Next Production on Operetta Calendar

Broadway's most scintillating musical comedy star, the beautiful and effervescent Nanette Fabray, will make her Dallas debut on Monday evening, July 11, when the Starlight Operetta begins a week's engagement of "Bloomer Girl" in the State Fair Casino.

Miss Fabray comes to Dallas directly after her success in "Love Life" on Broadway all this past season. For her performance in this show she was awarded the Broadway equivalent of an Oscar, the Antoinette Perry Award, for the best performance of the season by an actress in a musical.

"Bloomer Girl" was the outstanding hit of the 1948 summer season in Dallas. More than 12,000 persons were unable to obtain tickets and each night saw hundreds of standees at the Casino. Its repetition this summer will mark the first instance in the Starlight's eight-year history that a show has been repeated the following summer. The usual policy is to allow a lapse of 2 or three seasons before reviving a musical.

Rev. Bonaventure Koelzer will be here Sunday for a visit with relatives. He recently returned from Rome and has a series of moving pictures that he will show in the K of C hall Sunday night. The showing will be especially for relatives but anyone else interested in seeing the pictures is invited to attend.
