VOLUME XIII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, SEPTEMBER 16, 1949

NUMBER 43

At the outset of the column this week yours truly is going to make a little promise. This definitely is the end of the junior sized travelogue based on our recent ramble to and from the west coast.

At first the intention was to give about two installments to the subject. But it soon became apparent that so many vivid impressions could not possibly be crowded into the space. In spite of condensing and by-passing many events and scenes that deserve lengthy mention, we've already used three weeks' space and are still far from home.

In a way, however, this hasty wind-up is a true reflection of the trip. When we left Los Angeles our intention was to see San Francisco and hurry home.

At Frisco again we enjoyed the advantage of expert guide service. As guests of the Frank Swans we made a whirlwind tour that started in mid-afternoon and extended into the wee hours. They live in Richmond which adjoins Oakland just across the bay from San Francisco.

Like the garden spots of Southern Cal, that group of cities is a delight to flower lovers. Trees, shrubs and flowers, everything that fits into a beautiful landscape, are abundant and bright. And the reason again is the same old California Chamber of Commerce talk... the mild climate... plus a bit of special Frisco talk... the fog. There's loyalty for you. They don't say much about the soggy dampness of the fog but claim it is an asset to their flowers.

The temperature, too, is said to be about the most pleasant and uniform in the country. Extremes of heat and cold are unknown. Coats are comfortable after dark in mid-summer and not much more is needed in mid-winter.

Folks there say that last winter was a bit rougher than usual. Because of three days of ice. And as we were driving around we understood how a bit of ice can cause a lot of grief in that town. The traffic problem must be terrific when those steep streets get slick. There are literally hundreds of blocks that require low gear when they are dry. With ice they must be impassable.

Another distinguishing feature of Frisco is its two magnificent suspension bridges. There's the Frisco-Oakland bridge, an enormous double deck job with six lanes of traffic above and railroad tracks below, all supported by two massive cables. It compares in size with the famous Golden Gate bridge but it has more supporting towers and a much shorter span between towers. That tremendous span on the Golden Gate bridge is what makes it famous, the longest suspension in the world. The supporting cables are over 30 inches in diameter. We wandered out on it afoot to get a better idea of its size and also to get a good look at Alcatraz which is out in the bay between the two bridges. Incidentally while exploring there we were chilled to the bone in spite of coats... in early August.

Among other interesting stops were the Cliff House, famous for its view of the ocean and the seals that lounge on rocks only a hundred yards or so away; the Top of the Mark, with its superb view of the whole city; and a tour of nite spots including the snazziest and the lousiest the city has to offer.

From Frisco our destination was home, with a short intermission at Denver to visit with Herb Fette at Lowry Air Force Base. The route we chose included Lake Tahoe and Salt Lake City. Lots of wonderful mountain driving especially around Tahoe and the Salt Lake to Denver stretch. Between Tahoe and Salt Lake it's mostly wide open country, the only unusual scene being the Bonneville salt flat, which was flatter than anything else along the way. We were told that it's the largest flat area on the globe. And it's all salt. (Continued on Page 10)

John P. Mosser and Wife Die Tuesday In Highway Crash

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Mosser of Gainesville lost their lives and two other persons received injuries in an automobile collision at 7:15 Tuesday night near Valley View.

Mrs. Mosser, 48, was dead upon arrival at M&S hospital and her husband, 55, died at 9:55 p.m. as the result of his injuries.

Allen King, 59, and Mrs. Ora Busby, both of Gainesville, who were in the other car, received painful but not serious injuries.

Bill Simmons, state highway patrolman, who investigated the wreck, said his information was that the Mossers were returning from Dallas. A tractor pulling a wagonload of cotton was going north to Valley View.

The Mosser car, according to the information, was attempting to pass the tractor and wagon and before it had time to get back to the right side of the highway, it collided almost headon with the car driven by King.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning in St. Mary's church at Gainesville with Rev. Peter Molloy officiating and burial will be in Lindsay cemetery.

The Mossers are survived by three children, Mrs. Eugene Krebs of Dallas whom they had visited on the day of the accident, Virgil of Gainesville and Gene who is in the army stationed in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Mosser was the daughter of Mrs. S. Geray of Gainesville. She has one brother, A. L. Geray of Lindsay, and three sisters, Miss Marie Geray, Gainesville, Mrs. J. E. Williams Jr. of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. W. P. York of Oklahoma City.

Mr. Mosser is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mike Fuhrmann of Lindsay and Sister Frances Helen of West; four brothers, Leo and Albert of Gainesville, Nick of Dallas and Joe of Durant, Okla.

The event took place in the Kemp Hotel in Wichita Falls and the company's division manager from the Fort Worth office made the presentation.

More than half of Mr. Gallaher's 30 years of service has been spent here in Muenster. He came here from Pampa 16 years ago to be pumper on the Joe Walterscheid lease and still holds the same job.

The champions will represent Texas at the national truck "Rodeo" in Boston next month and will start an intensive training course at A&M to prepare them for the national championship event.

His wife and three children survive. They are Mrs. John Hellman of El Paso, Ervin Hamric, and Mrs. G. E. Garrett of Houston. There are five surviving grandchildren, one brother, Byrd Hamric of Wichita Falls, and one sister, Mrs. Ruby Pace of Oklahoma City.

Ervin Hamric attended the funeral services.

Hornets Run Wild In 18-0 Win Over Bells Hi Panthers

The Hornets opened their 1949 season and broke in their fancy new red and white uniforms in grand style last Friday night when they ran over the Bells High Panthers for an 18 to 0 victory.

Supported by gratifying strength from a line composed mostly of new men, the four veteran backs pounded their visitors for long and consistent gains. Nickie Yosten was the spark plug scoring two of the touchdowns in addition to many substantial gains in the field. Red Walterscheid was another steady gainer and Damien Hellman was strong on punt returns. Ronald Herr shared the backfield honors scoring one of the team's markers and heaving all of its passes.

Most outstanding in line work was the defensive performance of James Knabe and Neal Fisher at ends. Knabe accounted for most of the Panthers troubles and Fisher, playing his first game, held his position like a veteran.

Though they stood out from the start the Hornets did not mark their superiority on the scoreboard until the second half. Their gains in the first were offset by an interception, a fumble and two losses on downs. But they started marching with the second half kickoff and extended their gains to the pay zone.

Bells took the opening kickoff and promptly made its only first down of the first half. Muenster held there, Bells kicked from the 43, and Muenster returned to the 30.

On the first offensive play Yosten started the Hornet push with a 17 yard gain. Two more first downs reached the 24 before they lost on downs. The (Continued on Page 10)

169 Get Help From County Red Cross Chapter in August

During the month of August the Cooke County Red Cross Chapter spent $505.63 on 169 cases, according to a report by Doris Sutton, executive secretary, at a meeting in the chapter office last Thursday afternoon.

Included in the group were 55 active service men, 103 veterans and 11 civilians. The chapter also assisted several hundred veterans in completing their applications for GI insurance dividends.

Another report at the meeting was that concerning 150 party prizes sent to the McKinney veterans' hospital by Mrs. Paul Yarbrough, volunteer service chairman.

Other procedure of the meeting included the election of Ancil Smoot for a 3 year term on the board of directors and the approval of a tentative local budget of $6000.

News Of Sick And Injured

Miss Anselma Felderhoff, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Felderhoff, underwent an operation for the removal of her appendix at Gainesville last Thursday and is recovering normally.

Mrs. Tony Fuhrmann is a patient in M & S hospital in Gainesville since Labor Day. She has been quite ill with double pneumonia but is recovering nicely and will probably return home the latter part of this week.

August Walterscheid spent several days of last week in Gainesville sanitarium for treatment and on Saturday went to Veterans Hospital in McKinney for further treatment. His wife and their son, Norbert and wife, took him to McKinney, and Mrs. Walterscheid remained for an indefinite stay.

Rain and Autumn Chill Hit Muenster

Suddenly it's Fall. The drop of temperature from the 90s to the 50s was ushered in Monday night by a light drizzle and continued on through Wednesday.

Included in the change was a fine 2.12 inch soaker that fell in typical fall and winter fashion. No heavy showers, just a slow steady rain that soaked in as it settled.

Added to the 3.6 inch rain of last week, Wednesday's precipitation put community crop lands in excellent condition for fall grain sowing. Pasture lands are comparably improved and the better grazing is expected to show up in large milk receipts in the near future.

Hornets Prime to Mark up Boyd as Another Victory

Encouraged by a neat 18 to 0 victory as a season opener the Hornets are driving hard this week to brace up their weaknesses in preparation for their game with Boyd there Friday night at 8.

With no information beyond the fact that Boyd plays in a Class B interscholastic conference, Coach Hood is working on the assumption that the teams are evenly matched and his boys can chalk up another win through alertness and hard playing.

Damien Hellman and Bernard Luke will be co-captains for the game.

The addition of a few late comers raises the present squad membership to 41. Among them is George Mollenkopf, an end and a letterman on last year's team.

August J. Reiter, 47, Passes Tuesday; Funeral Friday at 9

August J. (Gussie) Reiter, 47, passed away in a Sherman hospital Tuesday at 4:45 p.m. after a month's illness and major surgery for a kidney ailment last Thursday.

Funeral services will be held in Sacred Heart church Friday morning at 9 o'clock with Rev. John Walbe officiating and burial will be in the Muenster cemetery with Leazer-Keel Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Rosary service was held at the funeral home chapel Wednesday night and will be held here at the Reiter home Thursday at 8 p.m.

Mr. Reiter was born in Muenster on July 12, 1902, and attended school here. He married Miss Hilda Knabe on April 24, 1930. Since February 1945 he worked as a lineman for the Cooke County Electric Cooperative Association.

Until six weeks ago he never mentioned feeling ill. At that time he took his annual vacation and complained of not feeling up to par. Two weeks later he was a patient at a Gainesville hospital for treatment and on Sept. 1 entered a Sherman hospital. He came out of surgery satisfactorily and was making normal progress toward recovery until Saturday night when complications developed.

He is survived by his wife and nine children, Jerome Reiter of the Navy, now at home on leave, Bernice, David, Donald, Leonard, Dolores, Billy Joe, Allen and Roy all at home; his mother, Mrs. August Reiter of Muenster; four sisters, Mmes. W. W. Otto of Muenster, Horace Elmore of Krum, Charles Knaut of Bandera, and Henry Luttmner of Gainesville; seven brothers, Charles Reiter of Kerrville, Tony and Alois of Gainesville, Clem, Albert, Alphonse and Wilfred all of Muenster.

With 13 million cars and 2.4 million trucks in U.S. now over 10 years old, compared to 5 million cars and one million trucks beyond that age in 1941, body repair and paint shops report business has zoomed since the war.

One motor service publication estimates that complete new paint jobs totaled 1,621,000 last year, compared to 577,000 in 1945. Before the war, new paint jobs on motor vehicles were rare--for the average car was junked when slightly over 10 years old.

The same publication estimates there were 5,500,000 body repair jobs done in 1948, compared to 3,600,000 in 1945. — Automobile Facts

A Spider in the Paper

Many years ago Mark Twain was editor of a small-town newspaper. A reader wrote in saying that he had found a spider in his paper, and wanted to know if that was an omen of good or bad luck. Mark Twain answered:

"Finding a spider is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

The American Way AN AXE TO GRIND

By George Peck

Quite frequently letters reach my desk accusing me of being against most everything and inquiring rather facetiously just what I am trying to accomplish with this column. The writer of a particularly acrimonious letter, just received, failed to sign his or her name, leaving me no alternative but to answer via my column.

So here goes. It is true that I am against a lot of things. I'm bitterly averse to Communism, Nazism, Fascism, Socialism, New Dealism, Fair Dealism and every other kind of "Ism" which seeks to undermine or replace our Capitalistic System, often called the American System of Competitive Enterprise.

Further, I'm very much opposed to the squandering politicians who infest our nation's Capital; I deplore the obvious "soak-the-rich" taxes and the infinitely more diabolical, not-so-obvious "soak-the-poor" taxes. I'm "agin" government competition with private business; government restriction and persecution of legitimate industry; and the usurpation of States' Rights by the Federal Government.

Now, what am I trying to accomplish; what axe do I have to grind? I wish to see both of our major political parties nominate candidates in 1950 who can be trusted to put the brakes on the drive to plunge this nation into a socialistic economy.

Looking further forward to the election of 1952, I am hoping against hope that both parties will nominate a presidential candidate who can be depended upon, if elected, to get the U.S.A. back onto the course it is supposed to travel, and along which until recent years this nation pursued its way with such great success. In that happy event, we will be able to go to the polls in November 1952; cast our votes for the man we deem the better of the two; and have no great worry as to whether our choice wins or not.

Our next President, as far as I am concerned, can be either a Democrat or a Republican, if he is nedged to and carries out a program to make America secure for Americans.

My unidentified critic accuses me of being anti-labor. This charge I most emphatically and indignantly deny. I recognize the right of labor to organize and bargain collectively, but do demand that these things be done without dictation, coercion, force, domination or interference by government or Union Labor Leaders. I do deplore the fact that a small minority in Union Labor's leadership is made up of men who are communistic and who are using their Unions in an attempt to destroy "The American Way."

In conclusion, let me say that I wish to be able to continue to criticize the government, or any individuals connected therewith, whenever, in my humble opinion, they are falling down on the job of properly serving the interests of all of the American citizens.

In recent years there have been too many attempts to restrict free speech, to silence the voice of opposition; but thank God we still can express our opinions without fear of imprisonment or liquidation. It is to help avoid here in America the unhappy fate which has befallen the people behind the "Iron Curtain" that my associates and I, writing under the banner, "The American Way," have dedicated ourselves. That, my dear anonymous correspondent, is what we are trying to accomplish—that is the axe we have to grind.

A guy was cornered by his wife in a neighboring bar, where he was dreamily contemplating a good slug of rye. Being in a genial mood, he offered her a sip, she took it and sputtered, finally coming out with: "How can you ever drink that horrible stuff?" "See?" says the husband: "and all the while you thought I was out having a good time!"

THE LOWDOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Today I sound-off and take the side of the "selfish interests" that Uncle Harry is finding fault with the ones urging that the Govt. cut spending down to horse-sense dimensions. I figure I am one of the guys he is aiming at—I am for less squandering—so I reckon I am guilty. I would not mind so much but he also said that many of these people would like to have a depression. I resent that part. He is talking through his chapeau. Well, sisters and brothers, the free and fancy spending as it has been practiced by the Govt.—year in and year out—has either to be squelched or we will be the next to send out an SOS. And who is there with coin-of-the-realm to hear us, unless maybe Mars or Venus, and that is as close as we would come to getting help.

Sure You Haven't A "Blind Spot"?

As I was driving down Main Street last Saturday, another car swung out right in front of me. It turned out to be Buck Blake. He wasn't going fast. It was just that he had something else on his mind at that particular moment.

Buck's really one of the nicest fellows I've ever known. But, sometimes he gets to day-dreaming on the road. He sort of gets a "blind spot" to what's going on about him!

Now, lots of normally considerate folks have their "blind spots."

It could be anything from day-dreaming while driving a car to humming out loud at the movies.

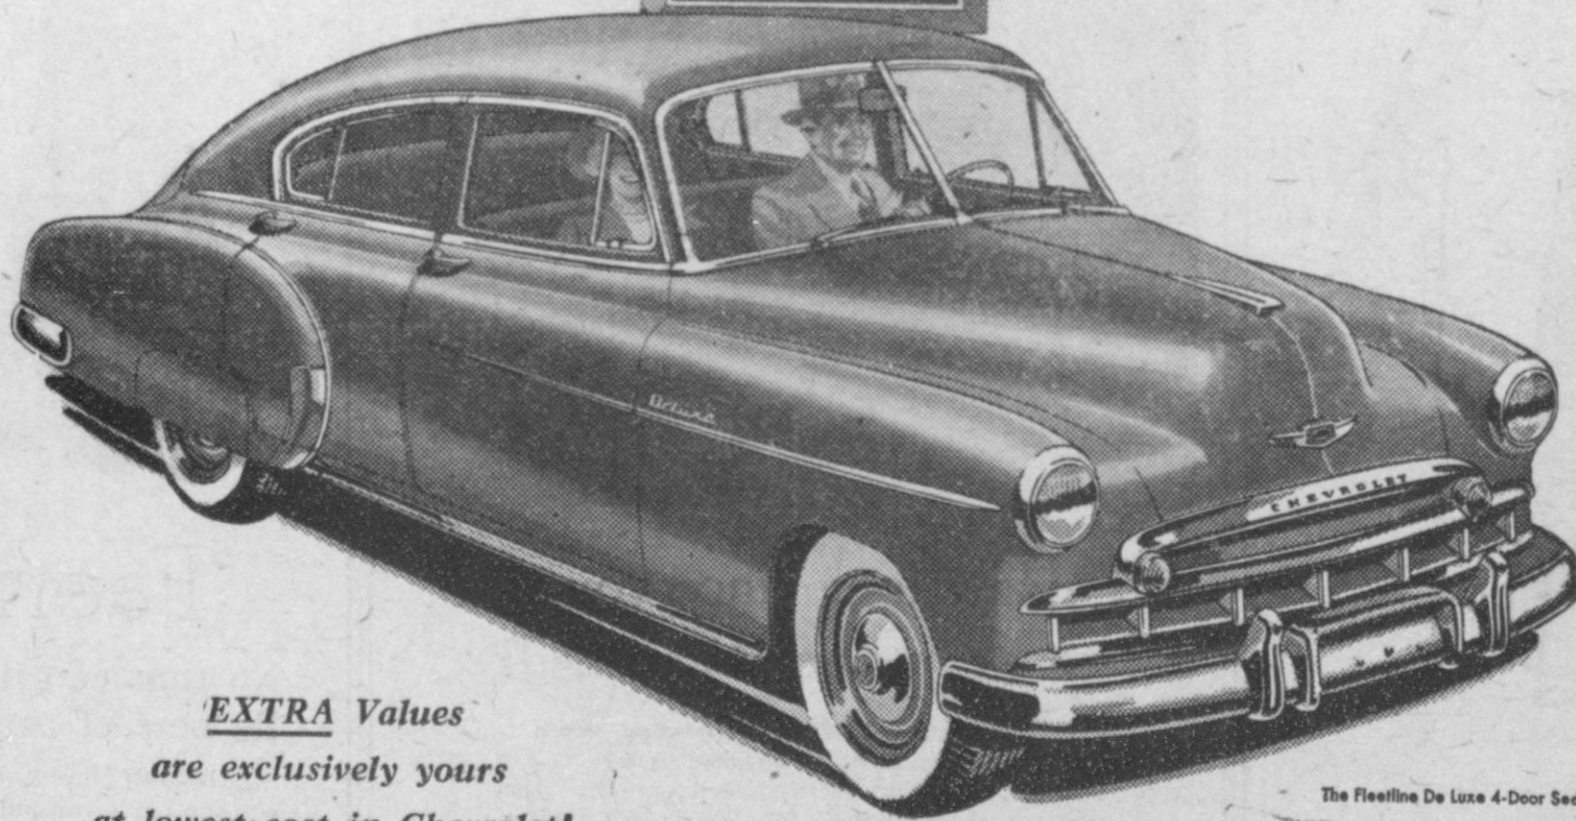

From where I sit, it's mighty important to be on guard against your own "blind spots." The other fellow has a right to his "share of the road," too—whether it's having a taste for a temperate glass of sparkling beer or a desire to listen to some classical music if he wants to.

BIRTHDAY DINNER HAS TWO GUESTS OF HONOR

Mmes. Herman Pierce and Lyndal Dickerson entertained their husbands with a surprise fried chicken dinner Friday night in observance of their birthdays. Mr. Pierce's birthday is on Sept. 7 and Mr. Dickerson's on the 9th. The party was held in the Dickerson home.

After presenting the honorees with gifts and having dinner the guests enjoyed informal diversion.

A large birthday cake centered the table and places were laid for Messrs. and Mmes. A.T. and Lyndal Dickerson, Smyrel Owens, Herman Pierce and Miss Janne Pierce.

SEALNAPED — This month-old baby was sealnaped out of the water at Vancouver, B. C., by the crew of the tanker J. L. Hanna. When they turned "George" loose, out of the kindness of their hearts, he barked to be taken on board again. He was met in San Francisco by pretty Rosamund Wilfley with a bottle of warm milk. Now he'll "serve a stretch" in the Steinhart Aquarium there.

Soil Conservation Cash Will Benefit Small Farmers Most

For the first time since Texas passed a soil conservation districts law, the state now will be giving those districts financial support.

The $5,000,000 soil conservation appropriation will give the rapidly-expanding districts program some money to work with.

Under the bill, the money will be granted for the purchase of machinery and equipment by soil conservation districts.

Its allocation will be the task of the Senate Soil Conservation Board which must spread it out over 150 districts which now are organized. The funds still will have to be spread pretty thin.

The small farmers and ranchers of Texas will benefit most from the appropriation in the opinion of V. C. Marshall of Temple, executive director of the Texas State Soil Conservation Board.

They will be able to rent machinery from the elected supervisors of their individual soil districts—machinery which they couldn't afford to buy.

The usefulness of the appropriation is that the rentals the farmer and rancher pay will provide funds to purchase more equipment and replace equipment when worn out without the need of appropriating again for the same purpose.

Mr. Marshall corrects the impression that the money will be spent mainly for heavy equipment.

"A greater portion of this money, when made available to districts, will be spent more in the interest of the small to average size farm and ranch," he said.

"In making lighter equipment such as sodding machines, grass seed drills, seed separators, small combines, combination fertilizer and grain drills, and the like, available to groups of small farmers who cannot afford to own equipment outright, it will be extremely useful.

"One of the greatest stumbling blocks to the progress of this program is the lack of this kind of equipment in the field.

"In the first place, its use is comparatively new and many farmers have not used such equipment. It is only through demonstration that they realize its importance in connection with a proper farm management program.

"Much of this work must be sold on the basis of demonstration in the various farm communities."

Big Future Awaits New Wonder Metal

BUFFALO, N. Y.—A new wonder metal that may grow up to outrank aluminum and stainless steel is making its bow in this age of science miracles. It's titanium—still just a wobbling youngster in the family of useful metals.

The metal has researchers, military leaders and industrialists in a dither. It has few uses today. But tomorrow's planes for example—even dreamed-of space ships—may be built of this metal. Experts are confident of its future.

Tests show that titanium is practically unaffected by exposure to sea water or marine atmosphere.

Only a lower-cost method of mass production will make it possible for titanium metal—silvery-white and rust-resisting—to stand on its own feet in competition with other structural materials.

Titanium combines many of the best properties of aluminum and stainless steel. It weighs much less than stainless steel, yet it is just as strong. Slightly heavier than aluminum, it has a high-resistance to corrosion and to moderate heat. By adding other metals to titanium, metallurgists will be able to develop alloys with strength far beyond those of today.

FLYING FISH—Japan's "Flying Fish," Hironoshin Furuhashi, gets a rubdown after he won the 800-meter race in the 1949 Amateur Athletic Swimming and Diving championships held at Los Angeles. IT'S TIME TO BEGIN
THAT FALL GARDEN FOR IRISH SPUDS

COLLEGE STATION— It is time to begin the fall garden. Recent rains over most of the states should make it possible to get the garden off to a good start, and you'll want to include in the early planting, Irish potatoes. Before beginning the plowing job, clean off all weeds and grass for if turned under at this season, they'll heat and cause the soil to dry, says John E. Hutchison, associate extension horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College.

If well dried barnyard manure is available, spread it over the garden and plow it under five to six inches deep. It adds plant food and increases the water holding capacity of the soil. Three to five pounds of 5-10-5 fertilizer per 100 feet of row space will also help increase the yield.

Home gardeners may select seed potatoes from the spring crop, says Hutchison. Small potatoes may be planted whole. Larger potatoes should be cut into pieces about half the size of hen eggs. He recommends the Bliss Triumph. These reach maturity in about 70 days. Five to six pounds of seed potatoes will plant 100 feet of row.

Seed potatoes from the spring crop must have a rest period of six weeks from time of harvest to planting time. It is often a good idea to sprout the potatoes before planting and Hutchison says this can be done by spreading them on the ground in a cool shady place, covering them with straw, damp sand, sawdust or old sacks. Keep them moist for several days until sprouting begins, then plant immediately but not in dry soil. If necessary, irrigate a day or two before planting.

The rows should be three feet apart. Drop the seed potatoes about 14 inches apart and cover

Man and the Atom Show to Appear at Texas State Fair

The famed "Man and the Atom" show from the American Museum of Atomic energy at Oak Ridge, Tenn., has been acquired for the 1949 State Fair of Texas Oct. 8-23. W. H. Hitzelberger, vice president and general manager of the Fair, has announced.

This is the first display of this spectacular show anywhere in the South outside of Oak Ridge, cradle of the atom-bomb, Hitzelberger said.

The exhibit will demonstrate how nuclear science is providing new tools for atomic research, and how it may help unravel some of the greatest mysteries of science.

The comprehensive Oak Ridge show is expected to be supplemented by other important exhibits from manufacturers cooperating with the atomic program and from institutions which are among those participating in the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. The University of Texas, Rice Institute and the University of Oklahoma are Southwest sponsors of the Institute, which operates the Museum of Atomic Energy — first and most complete of its kind in the world.

Many of the exhibits are animated and presented in such a simple manner that grammar school children can understand the complex factors involved in the release of nuclear energy.

Among the graphic mock-ups and dioramas which will be shown at the Fair is a "Nuen" reactor model depicting the probable future of atomic energy and which looks 25 to 50 years into the world of tomorrow.

It reveals the principles of the Nuen plant around which industrial and other community life of that time will be centered. "Nuen" is a coined word combining the first syllables of nuclear and energy.

A model of a uranium pile will demonstrate how radioactive isotopes are produced for use in medical and industrial research. A display of Geiger counters will measure the radiation from luminous dial watches worn by Fair visitors. There will be an exhibit which shows several of the more important types of instruments used in detecting and measuring radioactivity. A cartoon representation of atomic fission will picture how "Dagwood Splits the Atom."

The Dr. Martland display will show the effects of radiation on the human body; and an animated exhibit demonstrates, on a greatly magnified scale, just what happens in the chain reaction which leads to an atom-bomb explosion.

More than 75,000 4-H and FFA Kids Expected at Fair

To help make Rural Youth Day Oct. 15 at the State Fair of Texas the biggest event of its kind in the nation's history, Texas railroads will offer special reduced round trip coach party fares to Dallas for the occasion, James W. Aston, chairman of the State Fair Rural Youth Committee, has announced.

More than 75,000 4-H Club members, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers, along with their leaders and parents, are expected to attend the Fair in the largest single gathering of its kind in the country.

W.W. Fair, general passenger agent for the Texas & Pacific Railway Company at Dallas, speaking for passenger traffic officers of all Texas railroads, declared:

"All of us fully appreciate just what these rural youth organizations and the State Fair mean to the development of our agricultural resources, and we are happy to join in making reduced round trip group rates and special trains available."

The farm youngsters are expected to flock to Dallas from every corner of Texas. They will be admitted free to the Fair and a picnic lunch will be served each and every one of them through the courtesy of Dallas business leaders and the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

"The State Fair regards its rural youth project as one of its most important educational projects," Aston said. "From a healthy start in 1946, when 30,000 boys and girls attended the Fair on Rural Youth Day, the event grew until it attracted more than 60,000 last year. This year upwards of 75,000 should attend. We think Texas has another 'first, best and biggest' here."

Ladies Auxiliary Helps Hospital Christmas Fund

In accordance with the program planned by the Department Hospital chairman, members of the local VFW Auxiliary, at their meeting Monday night voted to send the full quota requested for Christmas gifts for veterans.

In view of the district meeting next month three delegates were selected to represent the auxiliary, namely Mmes. Isabel Trachta, Geneva Pagel and Alta Swirczynski.

Members presented Mrs. George Mae Trachta with a pin in recognition of her leadership during the past term in office.

Reports from various committees closed the business session.

Mmes. Laveta Schmitz and Helen Owens served a cold plate lunch and iced drinks.

Homemakers and 4-H Club members of the state for 1949 will be held Oct. 14. Prizes will be awarded by the Fair to the county 4-H, Future Farmer and Future Homemaker delegations having the best attendance scores at the Fair on Rural Youth Day.

How much regular train fares are reduced depends on the number traveling in the group to which the fares apply. Fifteen is the smallest group which may take advantage of the special rates. The fares are available to anyone who wants to visit the Fair on Rural Youth Day.

Full information on the special fares has been sent to all vocational agriculture and homemaking teachers and county Extension agents by State Fair officials.

The recent rains have insured good growth of winter cover crops this year and cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District in the Muenster Work Unit area are making plans to get the seed into the moist soil as soon as possible.

Cooperators on the sandy loam soils sections of the Muenster area are preparing seedbeds and applying phosphate fertilizer in preparation for vetch seeding. Plans have been made on several farms for vetch seeding in the pasture. This practice will add badly needed nitrogen to the depleted soil, improve grazing and condition the soil for better growth of the desirable grasses.

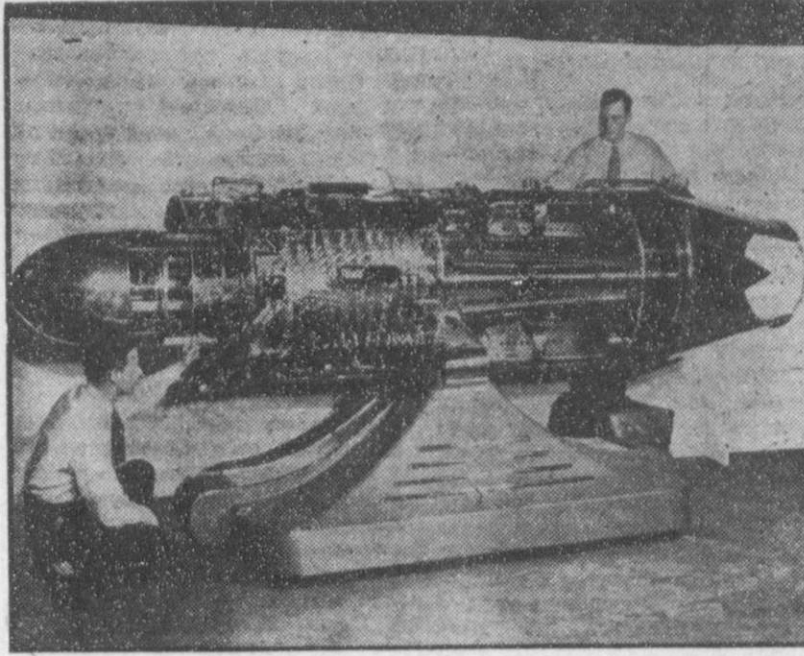

Farmers on the heavier, fine textured prairie soils who plan to plant corn next spring are preparing to plant Dixie wonder peas in three foot rows. This legume soil building crop makes its growth in about ninety days. Austrian winter peas are slower in growth and are used on land that will produce cotton next summer. Both these winter cover crops will reduce water run off, build up the land by adding nitrogen or organic matter to the soil, furnish some grazing and increase the yields of crops that follow.

Many of the cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District have witnessed the benefits of legume crops in the increased yields of following crops. Jake Seibold of the Clear Creek conservation groups says his corn crop following vetch produced 40% more corn than corn on similar soil that had not grown a legume. Joe Hoenig of Muenster obtained a 30% increase in yield of corn on a portion of his field that was in clover last year over the rest of the field.

Matt Muller is building two more terraces to outlet on the waterway he sodded last year.

A.W. Walterscheid has recently become a cooperator with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District and has made plans for a soil conservation program on his farm. His plans include diver-

E. R. EUDALY WILL SPEAK AT FARMERS' MEETING WEDNESDAY

Information on the latest developments in the scientific care and feeding of dairy and beef cattle will be available to the farmers of this community next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock when E. R. Eudaly, livestock specialist of Universal Mills, will address an open meeting at the Livestock Auction Barn.

The meeting, which is also scheduled as a regular Veterans' Vocational Agriculture class, is sponsored jointly by the auction barn and the Muenster Mill, local representative of Universal Mills.

Health Department Urges Measures to Check Malta Fever

AUSTIN, TEXAS—Undulant fever or Malta fever, a disease contracted from cattle, goats or sheep which are infected with contagious abortion, is being reported sporadically throughout Texas and the nation, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. This indicates malta fever to be a public health problem and the attendant need of more general recognition by the public to the disease.

Undulant fever is so called because of the wave-like variations in temperature. The symptoms include rise in temperature, loss of weight and strength, chills, sweats and joint pains. The disease has rather a low mortality rate, but important because symptoms may persist for a number of weeks and even months before normal health and strength are restored.

In Texas, the goat, horse and cows are the usual spreaders of this disease. The germs of undulant fever enter the body through the mouth or skin. Therefore, care should be used in handling animals known to be infected and dairy products from the same sources should be pasteurized, if used. More men acquire this disease than women and adults seem more likely to have it than children. More cases are found in the rural areas than in the cities.

The true prevention of undulant fever is based upon the detection of the disease in livestock and the elimination of infected stock from the herds. Dairy herds should be tested for Bacillus abortus. This is a task that cannot be accomplished in a short time. Pasteurization of milk will prevent the spread from this source.

The legend is told that in the days of ancient Rome an officer, called away to the wars, locked his beautiful young wife in armor and gave the key to his best friend, with the admonition: "If I don't return in six months, use this key. To you, my dear friend, I entrust it."

He then galloped off to the wars.

Ten miles away from home, he saw a cloud of dust approaching, and waited.

His friend, on horseback, galloped up, saying: "You gave me the wrong key."

HORNETS BEAT BELLS

Panthers bogged down and kicked and the Hornets started again from their 49. A first down reached the 37 but the next 4 tries failed and the Hornets again lost on downs, on their 29.

After 3 kicks, by Bells, Muenster and again by Bells, Muenster advanced to the 29 and lost on a fumble. Holding again and receiving another punt they started again and lost the ball on an interception just as the half ended.

The second half started with a bang as Walterscheid took the kickoff on his 30 and ran to the Bells 33. Bucks by Nick and Red reached the 21 and Nick crossed the line the next play but was called back for an offside penalty. Two plays later they lost the ball on a fumble.

After holding and taking the kick they started again from the 47. Yosten reached the 15 and Walterscheid reached the 4 after which 3 line bucks netted the first score.

Following the kickoff Bells made its second first down of the game on a beautiful 38 yard sprint. That was followed by another 3 kick series and Muenster again got going from its 45. Yosten romped for a first down on the 21. Three tries reached the 13, from where Yosten went over for the second touchdown.

The final march followed a kick by Bells, a loss on downs by Muenster and another kick by Bells. Starting from their 22 the Hornets advanced to the 3 in three first downs and Herr plunged over from there.

In game statistics the Hornets were outstanding in every respect, bad as well as good. They led in first downs 13 to 2, however they also lost on downs 3 times, lost on fumbles twice and lost on an interception once. Likewise in penalties they drew 5 for a total of 25 yards while the Panthers drew 2 for 10 yards. Both sides were weak on passes. Muenster completing 5 out of 13 and Bells completing none out of 3.

Salt Lake City's claim to fame of course is the Mormons' Temple Square. Among the things that distinguish it are wonderful landscaping, a monument to seagulls, the magnificent temple and the amazing tabernacle with its enormous pipe organ.

The seagull monument has an interesting story behind it. Shortly after the Mormons settled a plague of crickets moved in on them. Crops appeared to be doomed but then an enormous flock of gulls moved in, devoured the crickets and saved enough of the crop for the pioneers to make another year.

Mormons regard the event as a miracle. They claim that only an act of God could have brought the sea birds so far inland and at such an opportune time. So they commemorate it with the tall shaft topped by a seagull.

In this connection it is interesting to observe that a similar incident took place in Canada last week. The only difference in circumstances is that the Canadian pests were grasshoppers. Nevertheless gulls got 'em just in the nick of time. A commentator explaining it stated however that the birds are not the regular ocean birds but an inland variety of gulls, and that the gulls of Mormon fame belonged to the same species. Just the same, even if the birds came from near-by, their timely help was quite wonderful and we can't blame the Mormons for regarding it as miraculous.

The temple is enormous and beautiful, as seen from the outside. But that's the only impression we can mention. It happens to be closed to tourists, so that services can be held any time without interruption.

At the tabernacle, however, people can look and listen to their hearts' content. By a stroke of good luck we arrived a few moments before the evening recital and are qualified to vouch that the famous organ has tone as well as size. The guide who conducted a tour afterward said it is regarded as one of the best in the world. It has 10,000 pipes, some of which are the originals made from native logs about 75 years ago, and five manual keyboards besides the pedals. Really an amazing instrument, but no more amazing than the building which contains it.

The tabernacle is a huge building, much larger than its low construction with arched roof indicates from the outside. But the guide tells you it measures 250x150 and has seating space for more than 8000. As many as 10,000 have crowded into it. And here are some of its remarkable features. In spite of its size it has no supporting pillars. The entire 150 foot span is bridged by beams which are joined by pegs and dovetailing. While it was built rawhide was used to hold the beams in place. All that bridge-work is in the 10 foot gap between the roof and the ceiling.

Another unusual feature is the balcony independently supported on pillars. It does not join the wall, and the 2 foot gap between it and the wall is said to be one of the reasons for the building's marvelous acoustical qualities. We were there and heard when a guide dropped a pin some 200 feet away. We also heard the swish as he brushed his shirt sleeve.

From Salt Lake City to Denver our schedule called for nothing but a long day of steady driving. There were plenty of interesting places to stop but we were running out of time, so kept rolling.

At Denver we were joined by Herb Fette for a day of loafing, visiting and touring around town. Our only disappointment was being unable to see the mint. It was closed for Sunday. The following day was taken up with leisurely driving, with a several hour pause at the Garden of the Gods and Manitou, and the next was the home stretch from Raton, N. M., to Muenster.
