MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS, MARCH 16, 1951

NUMBER 17

We note with satisfaction that there is a movement afoot in Congress to abolish the RFC. We hope it keeps moving, because at this time it seems to be the most proper ending to the shabby story disclosed by the current senate investigation . . . an ending that could be improved only by another provision which would banish forever from our government's employ every grafter and influence peddler who had a part in the sorry mess.

It's exasperating to think that American tax money has been poured down rat holes for no apparent reason than as a means to provide fat fees for those who manipulated the deals. Time after time testimony has shown that millions were advanced on poor investments . . . over the disapproval of board members . . . and political favorites harvested a neat commission or high salaried job or fur coat or something for their influence in securing the loan.

According to our understanding of the situation nothing much can be done about prosecuting the leeches involved in this scandal. It seems that peddling influence is regarded only as a profitable sideline for the administration guys and gals. And the mere fact that influence has resulted in a bad investment is nothing more than an unfortunate circumstance.

To this column's way of thinking, however, there should be grounds for criminal prosecution. The plain fact is that it is wrong to invest another's money on a bad risk. In effect those people were throwing away American taxpayers' money and they knew it. There is no excuse in conscience for such a thing and there should be no excuse in law. The RFC official and the fixers are jointly responsible for the swindle and by the simplest standards of justice they deserve to be held accountable.

By comparison with these RFC shenanigans many another crime prosecuted by the government is a mere trifle. Post office thieves have the books thrown at them for taking a few dollars. But these RFC schemers have a way of stealing thousands by throwing away millions. Does it seem right?

So much for the shabby characters in the RFC scandal. Normally we would be in favor of clearing out such undesirables and permit the organization to carry on the good work for which it was intended. But in this case we feel convinced that the organization also should be eliminated. The opinions of Herbert Hoover and Jesse Jones are good enough for us. Both of them think the RFC has outlived its usefulness and we cannot imagine any two persons better qualified to judge on the subject.

Back in the early depression days we were told that the RFC was intended as a sort of super bank to save American industry by handling deals that were beyond the scope of American bankers. Operating on a sound banking policy it did a good job and deserves credit for mighty assistance in pulling the country through the emergency.

But after the emergency passed we still had the RFC doing business that the strengthened banks were well able to take care of. We taxpayers were supporting an army of bureaucrats whose only useful (?) purpose was to invest our money in loans which the average cautious banker would not make. Because of red tape inefficiency, graft and what not, most people applied to the RFC only after they had failed at the banks. In other words the RFC has been preserved in order to use your money and mine on poor investments.

Well, this citizen for one does not want his tax money used that way. He believes that a deal not safe enough to merit a good bank's loan is also not safe enough for a loan of his

Red Cross Drive To Date Nets $309, $600 Goal in Sight

In what appears to be the half way mark in the current Red Cross drive the local committee has raised slightly more than half its quota. Reporting on progress to date Community Chairman E. S. Lawson said Tuesday that $309.25 has been deposited from collections that represent more than half of the rural area but less than half of the city.

Lawson feels confident of reaching the community's $600 quota if the drive continues at the same rate.

News of Sick And Injured

Harry Sicking appears to be well on the road to recovery from critical injuries received in an oil rig accident last week. Wednesday he was reported to be resting calm and comfortable. His head bandage has been removed, leaving only a small scar on his forehead. When he progresses farther he will have a small section of metal plate put in his forehead to replace the splintered bones removed on his arrival at the hospital.

Jesse Mitchell is recovering normally from surgery performed Tuesday at Gainesville sanitarium.

Mrs. Maggie Schumacher has been receiving medical treatment at St. Vincent's hospital in Sherman.

Mrs. Werner Becker received medical treatment at Gainesville sanitarium this week.

Gilbert Yosten left Gainesville sanitarium Friday and started back to classes at Muenster High on Tuesday. He says many thanks to all who remembered him with visits, cards and flowers during his illness. He had an operation for appendicitis on March 3.

Ralph Esker has been confined to his home since Tuesday because of ill effects following the extraction of infected teeth.

Floradell Endres is back at home since last Friday and back at classes at Sacred Heart High since this Thursday doing fine after an appendectomy at Gainesville sanitarium on March 4. Tony Trubenbach Jr. sustained an injury to his left foot Wednesday morning when he and his horse took a tumble. He received treatment at the local clinic.

HUMAN RESTORATION—Framed by a wheelchair occupied by another one-legged veteran of the Korean war, this GI entered a room of the Army's Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. Six hundred victims of the Korean fighting are undergoing rehabilitation at the hospital. In the process they are fitted with and taught to use artificial limbs. Before leaving the hospital, the GI's are equipped with knowledge and techniques to assist them in meeting the future.

Site is about 17 miles west of Paris and was personally selected by General Eisenhower, SHAPE's supreme commander. The tract takes in some 60 acres.

Kramer, formerly of Tennessee, was well known to a number of local people who also lived in Tennessee before moving to Muenster.

Late Cold Wave Is Rough on Crops

Muenster shivered this week in a nation wide cold wave which may prove to be the most damaging of the winter.

Following several weeks of mild weather which permitted crops, gardens, flowers and fruit blossoms to advance nicely the sub zero chill is known to have had a bad effect on many trees, vegetables and flowers and possibly will also kill much of the oats planted in recent weeks.

Damage to new oats cannot be fully determined until it has a chance to respond to good growing weather. Farmers will discover whether it is only slightly hurt, as some believe, or seriously hurt. General opinion is that early oats, which survived the fall and early winter drought, stood the freeze successfully.

In discomfort as well as damage the cold wave competed for the season record. A thermometer low of 27 rising to the thirties all day Monday was accompanied by a hard penetrating wind. The day was one of the most unpleasant of the winter. Tuesday was better with a low reading of 22 but less wind. More moderate temperature returned Wednesday.

Tompkins Joins Air Force; Temporary Agent Takes Over

Barney Taylor of Waxahachie is Muenster's new MK&T agent replacing Keith Tompkins who left the depot last Friday for a one week vacation prior to reporting for active duty in the Army Air Force at Grand Prairie on March 17.

At the present time Taylor is here as a temporary MK&T agent. He is also an applicant for the permanent job and expects to know within ten days whether he will get the appointment. If he remains he will be joined shortly afterward by his wife, now living in Waxahachie.

The cooperating classes will split the proceeds here as they did three weeks ago when local youngsters took their class play to Saint Jo. Admission prices will be 25 cents and 50 cents.

WITH THE MEN IN SERVICE

Pvt. Allan Hoffman is at Lackland AFB in San Antonio waiting for his assignment.

Pvt. Rupert Hoenig was here overnight Saturday and a short time Sunday for a visit with his parents, the Joe Hoenigs. Rupert's orders to go to Maryland have been cancelled, so he's still at Lackland AFB in San Antonio. Now he doesn't know when or where he is going or what he will train for.

Julian Walterscheid is taking it fairly easy at Chanute AFB these days waiting for his welding class to start. He says to tell everyone hello. His address is: Pvt. Julian A. Walterscheid, AF 18381307, 3353 RD Student Trng. Sq., Chanute AFB, Ill.

Pvts. Herbert Yosten, Alfons Koesler, Leo Hesse and Virgil Strog of Camp Chaffee, Ark., were here during the weekend for a visit with members of their families. They were accompanied by Pvt. Wm. Hermes who spent his time with his family at Lindsay.

Harold J. Luke, aviation electrician, second class, is serving aboard the seaplane tender USS Pine Island in the Far East. The tender is the flagship of the Commander, Fleet Air Wing Six while acting as a floating base for the squadrons of that fleet, which fly Martin Mariners. Harold is the son of the Ben Lukes.

Melvin added that Johnny has also enlisted in the Naval Reserve.

Arthur Felderhoff Is VFW Commander

At their annual election of officers Tuesday night members of the Muenster VFW Post elected Arthur Felderhoff to succeed Otto Walterscheid as post commander.

Match Thrown Into Gas Starts $12,000 Fire in Wilde Shop

A flaming match carelessly thrown into a pail of gasoline was given as the cause of $12,000 to $15,000 fire loss in the shop department of the J. B. Wilde motor company Tuesday afternoon.

Preparing for repairs on a car, gasoline was being drained out of its gas tank. A person standing nearby lit a cigarette and flipped the flaming match away not realizing that he threw it in the direction of the gasoline.

The intense fire quickly set the car afire and spread over the shop. Meanwhile a stiff breeze through open doors speeded the rapid spread.

When the fire department arrived a few minutes later flames had reached the roof beams and rafters. Starting their job in dense smoke the firemen worked about an hour to get the blaze under control.

By that time six cars were either partly or totally damaged, several units of shop equipment were ruined, the roof structure was about half burned out, windows were broken and the frames charred. The loss is only partly covered by insurance.

None of the fire passed the partition which separates the shop and office.

Early Wednesday Wilde and several workmen started making temporary repairs. Their intention is to add braces and supports to the weakened roof structure and to repair the roof. Wilde also intends to replace the ruined equipment as soon as possible. He hopes to restore service by the end of the week.

At this writing Wilde has not decided whether he will replace the building or repair it. The temporary repairs now under way will permit business to continue while he makes inquiries and decides on what course to follow.

Endres and Schilling To Be Candidates For School Trustee

Indications this week are that there will be a contest in the school trustee election on April 7. Paul Endres and Frank Schilling, who submitted their names last week end, became the third and fourth candidates for the two positions which are to be filled this year. Previous announcements were made earlier last week by B. J. Sicking and J. J. Wimmer.

Present board members whose terms expire this year are J. B. Klement and B. J. Sicking. Because of his full schedule of duties as precinct commissioner Klement has declined to seek reelection.

Special Schedule For Masses Sunday

An announcement by Father Anthony Schroeder this week reminds members of the Sacred Heart parish that the last Mass next Sunday will be a half hour later than usual.

The change was made because of additional time required for special Palm Sunday services at the 8 o'clock mass. Persons who await return of other family members from the 8 o'clock mass could not reach a 10 o'clock Mass on time.

Early Masses will be at 6 and 7 as usual.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By ED GOSSETT

Washington, D. C., Mar. 10—One of the most controversial pieces of legislation now pending in the Congress is called "The India Emergency Assistance Act of 1951." Under this bill we would give to India 2 million long tons of food grains. This is 112 ship loads. During the movement of this grain it would require 2500 box cars a month. India did not ask for this gift of grain but rather sought to purchase. Our State Department thinks we should give it to India as a good will gesture. The Pakistan League of America has filed a brief opposing this gift of grain. This League states that Pakistan has adequate supplies of food grains which India could buy. They claim India is trying to destroy Pakistan through economic boycotts. However, within the last few weeks India has negotiated a trade agreement with Pakistan through which India will receive 325,000 tons of rice and 25,000 tons of wheat in exchange for iron, coal and other material. Our proposed gift of grain to India will eventually cost us in the neighborhood of 200 million dollars. Opponents of the proposal point out that India produces manganese, mica, and many other critical materials which we need and for which we should trade or barter if we are to ship India grain. Incidentally, India's troubles seem to be of her own making. I am told that they have 180,000,000 sacred cows, millions of sacred monkeys, and millions of sacred beggars. It is considered a terrible sin to disturb or abuse sacred cows, monkeys, or beggars. If a sacred cow goes into your house you cannot drive her out. If she goes into any of the food stalls, as they frequently do, they can eat up the grain with impunity and must not be disturbed. Indian religion glorifies what, under our code of ethics, would be sexual immorality. Hence, her country has always been overpopulated. If India could reduce her death rate as low as ours and maintain her birth rate, this one country alone would overpopulate our earth six times within a hundred years. Starvation and disease seem to be accepted institutions. in that unhappy land. Would our gift of grain purchase their good will; would it serve any useful purpose; or would it simply take 200 million dollars out of our taxpayers pockets? This is the question.

Of course, India might well say, "Who are you to talk of morals?" Reports this week are that American gambling alone runs into 20 billions of dollars per year. Some authorities claim that we spend more money for liquor than we do for food. All of history, both sacred and profane, shows that at all times, among all peoples, spiritual and moral decay precedes political and economic decay. Our society will suffer to the exact extent and to the exact degree of moral and spiritual decadence.

Sometime ago, Mr. H.L. Hunt, of Dallas, published a most interesting booklet, entitled "Constructive." He suggests that "conservative" has developed an unfair connotation in the minds of the public; that many people regard the word "conservative" as meaning unprogressive and unsocial. The magazine section of our Sunday papers last week carried an article entitled "Capitalism". The writer is suggesting that a new word be substituted for "capitalism" because capitalism, he says, has accumulated unpleasant connotations and is regarded by many as being anti-social and a simile for greed and avarice. Thus, we appear to confuse labels. Words are used as propaganda slogans. Welfare state apostles, liberals, have done much to discredit the labels "conservative" and "capitalism". Thus some conservatives and capitalists seek to avoid the unfair aspersions cast upon them by adopting new labels.

These essays on "capitalism" and on "conservatism" remind me of a memory gem I learned when I was in the fourth grade. Such memory gem appears on page 85 of the New Century Spelling Book used by me in 1912. While not entirely apropos, we quote as follows:

"Keep a watch on your words, my darlings, For words are wonderful things; They are sweet like the bees' fresh honey, Like the bees, they have terrible stings. They can bless like the warm glad sunshine And brighten a lonely life; They can cut in the strife of anger Like an open two-edged knife."

You can always depend on a streetcar having seats vacant, when it's coming back from where you are going.

The American Way

Our Leaky Economy

The story is told of a worried individual who, during World War II, walked into an office of a Rent Control Administrator. He asked if anyone could tell him who his landlord was.

"Your landlord," a clerk informed him, "is the man you pay your rent to."

"I don't pay no rent," the man said. "You see, 'bout nine years ago I found me a empty house and moved in. I've been there ever since and ain't never paid no rent."

"Well, then," the clerk asked, "what's worrying you?"

"The roof leaks and if somebody don't fix it quick, I'm gonna move out!"

When I heard this story a few years ago it made me laugh. But the laughter was short-lived. Upon sober reflection, what as first blushed seemed to be just a harmless and highly amusing incident, struck me as being a deadly parallel to what has happened in recent years to all too many of the American people.

This ignorant, illiterate fellow reflects an attitude which is becoming too prevalent in America. Willing to squat on another man's property for nine years, relieved of the responsibility of paying rent for that long period of time, it was inevitable that he would come to believe it was incumbent upon his unknown, unpaid landlord to repair that roof. It would be contrary to human nature for this non-rent-paying tenant to develop the idea that he could do something for himself by repairing that roof himself.

Hadn't this squatter seen, hadn't he been told how a paternalistic Federal Government was doing for many American citizens the things which they formerly did for themselves, taking pride and joy in the doing thereof? When all around him many educated, enlightened folks had abandoned their independence to become government serfs, what more natural than that this squatter should fall into the same evil ways, casting aside what remained of his self-respect?

What is even more appalling is that the "do-gooders" now propose further legislation designed to appeal to the squatters who have become too indolent, because of other government patrimony, to repair their own leaky roofs. These bureaucrats are not actuated by a desire to help the "underdog," as they so loudly proclaim. Their proposals are designed solely for the selfish purposes of perpetuating themselves in office and increasing their power over the American people.

Surely at this time when the nation is being taxed to the hilt for the defense program, we cannot afford the luxury of further socializing our economy. The President has stated repeatedly that all non-defense expenditures are to be pared to the bone. Then, in the next breath he announces that he will continue his efforts to bludgeon his "Fair Deal" socialistic program through the Congress. Never in all our history has such double talk come from the lips of a President of the United States.

So, it's up to you and me to stop any further reckless waste of the taxpayer's money. I've gone on record with my Congressman and Senators that not one single penny which is essential to the defense program is to be spared, but that there must be no further appropriations for carrying this nation further down the road to socialism and eventual destruction.

Respectfully I suggest, in fact, I urge you to do the same — now — before it is too late. The late, but not lamented, Lenin predicted that Capitalistic America would spend itself to destruction. For some time we've been doing our best to make Lenin look like a wise prophet. It's time to start plugging up the holes in our leaky economy, lest history record Lenin as a true prognosticator.

Watch Out For The "Blind-Spots"

Stopped by Squint Miller's farm the other day and saw a vinegar bottle in his kitchen with an oversized cucumber inside it. The cucumber filled the whole bottle.

"What's a cucumber doing in there?" I asked him. "That's my 'blind-spot' reminder," says Squint. "My grandmother kept one in her kitchen to remind her to take stock of herself now and then."

"I slipped that bottle over the cucumber when it was just starting to grow on the vine," he went on. "And like certain viewpoints, not noticed, it just grew and grew — now it's there to stay."

From where I sit, we could take a cue from Squint and watch for our own "blind-spots" and prejudices before they grow too big to get rid of. We've got to respect our neighbor's right to his preferences... preferences for a certain make of car, a favorite movie star, or a temperate glass of beer after work. We won't be tripped by any blind spots if we keep our eyes—and minds—open!

Specifications and equipment subject to change without notice.

NEW engineering advancements make traditional Dodge dependability GREATER VALUE THAN EVER

THE DODGE reputation for dependability and long car life is a matter of record... a record of 37 years... a record no other car can match.

And with the many new advancements engineered into the great '51 Dodge, this famous dependability makes Dodge an even bigger value, an even bigger dollar buy.

For example, new Oriflow Shock Absorbers smooth out the bumpiest roads to give you a level, more comfortable ride... smother the jolts... reduce wear on vital chassis parts.

Cushions moving parts. Dodge Gyro-Matic, lowest priced automatic transmission, along with Fluid Drive makes handling easier and smoother for you. But equally important, Dodge Fluid Drive cushions the power thrusts from engine to rear wheels. Starts and stops are soft and smooth. Your car and your tires last longer.

Yes, everything about this great new Dodge—the way it looks, rides and handles—tells you that here's a car built to deliver years and miles of dependable, low-cost service.

5 minutes tells why. Give us just five minutes. Let us show you how you could pay up to $1,000 more and still not get all the extra room, handling ease and rugged dependability of this great new 1951 Dodge.

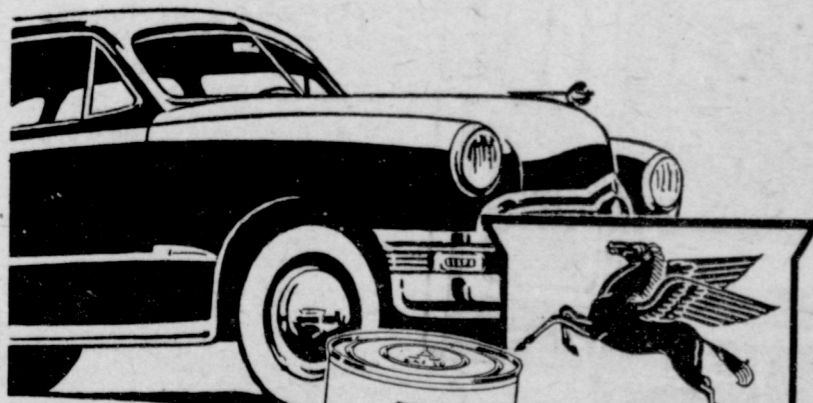

NEW ORIFLOW SHOCK ABSORBERS! With twice the shock absorbing capacity, you actually "float" over roads so bad they stop other cars. No bounce, pitch or side-sway—wheels stay on the ground for a smoother, safer ride.

"I COME FROM KOKOMO"

By REV. JAMES KELLER

A few months ago while traveling through Indiana, giving talks in the smaller towns and cities of the state, one thing more than any other impressed itself on me. It was the quality of the people who made up the various audiences—farmers and factory workers, small businessmen and housewives—in short, the sound, solid folk who are the backbone of America.

If ever a description fitted a group of individuals, it was the phrase, "salt of the earth." And in one talk frankly I told them so.

"If we had people with your plain common sense teaching in our colleges, running our government, our trade unions, writing our newspapers, magazines, books, radio programs and movie scenarios," I said, "everything would be pretty much all right with our country—and the world."

After the talk one middle-aged gentleman came up to me. He seemed neither angry nor pleased with what I had just observed but, taking my hand, said simply, "This is my town, Kokomo—and everything's all right in Kokomo."

Though he failed to realize it, that one little remark sums up only too well what probably is the chief obstacle to peace in the world. Most GOOD people are taking care only of themselves while most EVIL people are taking care of everyone else. Most people with good ideas are thinking in small circles, in terms of a thousand separate "Kokomos" while the people who are out to wreck our civilization are planning and acting on a long-term, daring scale—in terms of centuries and over the span of the world!

To know that everything is all right in Kokomo, however, is encouraging—thank God for it. But for us, the refreshing hope in that knowledge is to release into the bloodstream of the whole country and the arteries of the world the confined goodness which makes Kokomo and communities like it what they are.

And tens upon tens of thousands of people of every age and in all walks of life are doing just that right now!

They are getting out of themselves and into the thick of things. They are exerting their tremendous influence for good and hastening the day when peace will once more come to all mankind.

And that word TREMENDOUS is not misused. Every one of us can be a bearer of goodness.

Early Treatment Often Cures TB

AUSTIN— "It has been well said that procrastination not only is the thief of time, but frequently the thief of health and life," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said today. "Indeed, medical records in physicians' offices and hospitals prove that many persons die because they do not receive early diagnosis and prompt treatment for their condition. An outstanding example of this fact is the great number of deaths from tuberculosis that could have been prevented."

"Tuberculosis is a powerful enemy, no matter what its stage but the fact remains that early discovery and adequate treatment offers the best opportunity for cure. If the patient upon being told that he has tuberculosis cooperates fully with the strict regimen and discipline outlined for him, the disease can usually be overcome."

Dr. Cox said that in line with some of the other major killers, tuberculosis is insidious in its approach. Acute pain and discomfort are absent usually, and the symptoms are so comparatively mild that the patient is thrown off guard and considers them of little importance. Herein lies the real slaying ability of tuberculosis.

"The symptoms which, singly, or in combination, demand an immediate checkup by the doctor are easy tiring, a persistent cough, and continued loss of weight."

"While it is true any of these symptoms can be present without the patient having tuberculosis, this is no reason to imagine that such is the case. Therefore, if one is suffering from any of these manifestations, the only sensible and safe thing to do is seek the advice of the family physician at once," Dr. Cox warned. "If such a course is pursued, and the condition turns out to be not serious, nothing has been lost. On the other hand, if tuberculosis is discovered, the patient by doing the wisest possible thing has probably saved his life."

Future Homemakers of the local chapter are planning a week-end trip to Denton. They will spend the night in dormitories Friday and will see the Redbud Coronation and attend the Area IV meeting Saturday. Both colleges are planning an afternoon of entertainment for the many Future Homemakers visiting Denton Saturday.

Person Need Not Be An Invalid Because Of Heart Disease

AUSTIN—Too prevalent today is the belief that heart disease is the spell of doom and that one must cease all work and activity. Modern medical knowledge easily disproves this notion, and thousands of case histories bear witness to its falsity.

Heart disease, medical science now knows, is not a single ailment. Many troubles can afflict the heart—some less serious than others. While some restrictions are necessary, it is now generally true that patients with any form of heart trouble should be active within the limits of their capacity.

Not all persons with heart ailments can continue working at their same pace. Obviously there are those who require bed rest and often a very strict limitation of physical and mental activity. But there are many who can continue working, performing some type of useful or productive activity, without fear that their hearts will suddenly give out.

A person with a mild heart disorder can in most instances perform any kind of job for which his skills qualify him.

No individual with a heart condition, it should be cautioned, should determine for himself whether he is able to work or not and how much work he can do.

Just as there are many who become cardiac invalids because of fear, there are those at the opposite extreme who ignore proper medical advice and subject their hearts to unnecessary strain and abuse by overactivity. Only a competent physician is qualified to say what are the limits of an impaired heart.

Special Calendars For Congressmen Cost $6000 a Year

WASHINGTON—For more than 40 years now Congress has been using small amounts of the taxpayers' money to have special calendars printed for the exclusive use of congressmen and senators.

The cost of this special little privilege is now nearly $6,000 a year. That uses up all the income taxes paid in a year by 27 family men (wife and two children) earning $4,000 a year.

Indiana's penny-conscious congresswoman, Cecil Harden thinks this is a luxury Congress can well afford to forego at this time when so many lawmakers are making big speeches about what they're going to whack out of President Truman's $71.6 billion budget.

The lawmakers, she feels, can get along very well with the free calendars they get by the dozen each year from business firms—most of which end up in the waste basket.

"When Congress starts cutting government expenditures, it should look to its own house-keeping," said congresswoman Harden, citing the special calendars as an example.

The calendars are printed by the Government Printing Office annually—10,600 calendars for the 435 members of the House and 5,600 calendars for the 96 senators.

store. Mrs. Catherine Huchtons buys Helpy-Selfy laundry. The Bernard Sickings and Andy and Walter Yosten have returned from a visit in Mount Hope, Kansas. Lt. Jane Hoehn of California is here for a visit. Almost 80 per cent of Red Cross quota is reached this week as $760 is collected.

"Most congressmen, acting on the theory that as long as the calendars are printed they may as well be used, distribute their allotment of 10 to 20 calendars among friends or acquaintances in order that some use may be made of them," she said.

SOCIALIST PSALM

The Government is my shepherd, I need not work. It allows me to lie down on good jobs; it leadeth me beside still factories. It destroyeth my initiatives; it leadeth me in the paths of the parasite for politics sake. Yea, tho I walk through the valley of laziness and deficit spending, I will fear no evil for the Government is with me! Its doles and its vote getters, they comfort me. It prepareth an economic Utopia for me by appropriating the earnings of my grandchildren. It filleth my head with bologna. My inefficiency runneth over. Surely, the Government shall care for me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in a fool's paradise forever. Amen.

Cattlemen's Association Was Formed To Meet Challenge of Cattle Thieves

Nobody ever had a good word for cattle rustlers, but seventy-four years ago wide roving bands of these ornery crooks were responsible for the formation of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, which many cattlemen today say is the best thing that ever happened to the industry.

The 1951 convention of the association in Dallas, March 12-14, has set many a cattle raiser to recalling events in the early history of the organization. Old-timers say the stories are as interesting as ever came out of the old west.

Faced with a growing wave of rustling in the Reconstruction period after the Civil War, a small band of determined cattle raisers met under a large oak tree in the frontier town of Graham, Texas.

It was February 15, 1877, and on that day a basic creed was written which has never been altered:

"The members of this association shall work together for the good and common interests of all stock raisers — and to do all within their power for the promotion of the stock interests."

The association was formed during the era of the open range, and many of its early activities centered around the organization of round-ups, trail drives and protection against theft. Later came problems growing out of fencing, the closing of the open range and the cattle trails, and a shift to owned or leased ranges and marketing by rail or truck.

First president of the association was Col. C. L. (Kit) Carter who settled on the wild Texas frontier in 1855, in Palo Pinto County.

The virgin valley which Carter chose for his ranch was 30 miles from the nearest neighbor, and mail was picked up in Waco once or twice a year. Indian warfare nettled his operations, but by 1883, when the Indian troubles were over, he was running 8,000 head of cattle. At one time he had 15,000.

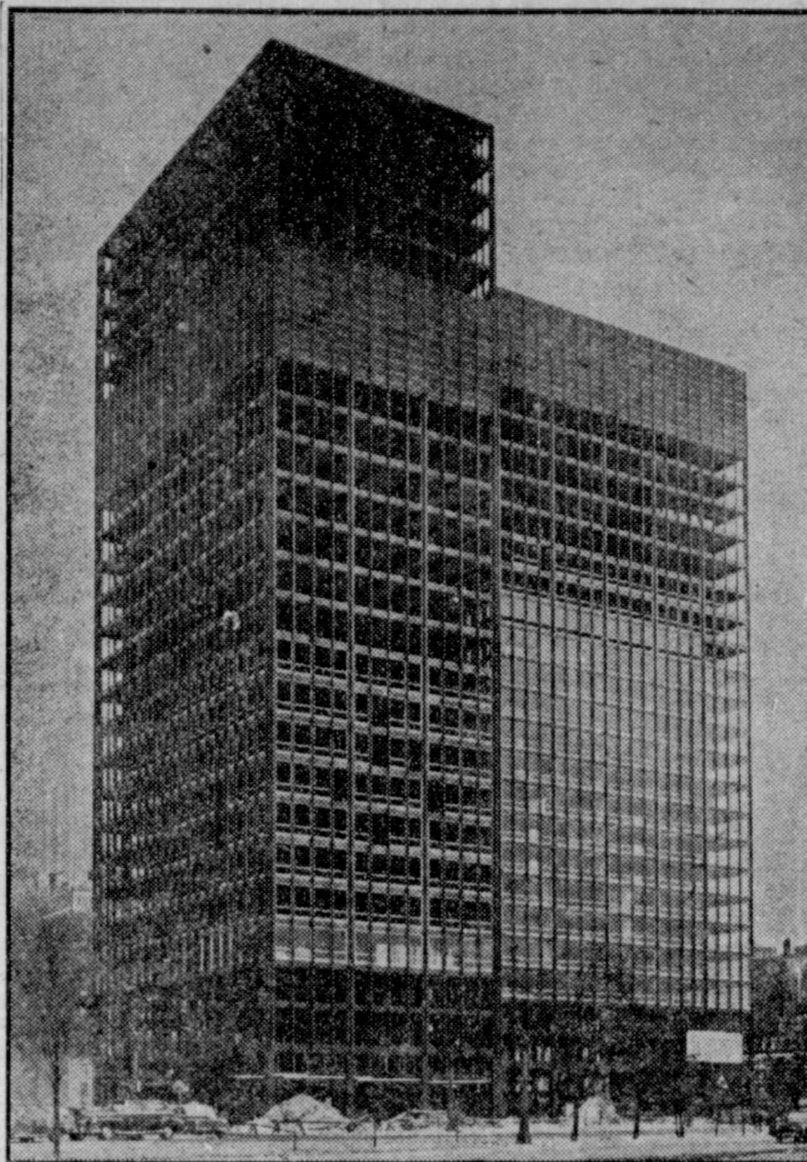

With the Indians no longer troublesome, a new scourge in the form of cattle rustlers — the original western "bad man" — showed up. Col. Carter and two other prominent ranchmen, J. C. Loving and Col. C. C. Slaughter, decided to fight it out with the rustlers.

In 1883 the first full time inspectors were hired. The inspectors were stationed at trail centers and followed round-up crews. Later they were assigned to markets and important range centers.

By 1893 livestock producers from all sections of Texas had joined. Today membership totals more than 9,000 from 16 states, representing ownership of more than three and a half million cattle.

Although methods of present-day rustlers are far different from those used during early days, the threat is no less serious. Modern transportation enables a thief to load stolen cattle and be many miles away in a short time, making him definitely harder to apprehend.

Field inspectors in Texas carry commissions in the Texas Rangers, and wage relentless war on thieves. Since the first

From experience comes knowledge, whether it be a simple operation or a very complex one. It often saves much time, effort and money to study the experience and follow the recommendations suggested by those that have had some degree of success in a similar operation.

The successful sodding of waterways to bermuda grass is not as simple as it may first appear. There are plenty of waterways where a stand of grass was not obtained after roots were planted. The planting of bermuda grass roots is something new to most farmers and the average farmer probably will never have occasion to plant them more than once in his lifetime. To increase the chances of the successful planting of bermuda grass the recommendation of those who have planted the grass on their waterways and obtained a good stand should be a valuable guide to save much time and effort.

Last year the Muenster State Bank sponsored a waterway contest. At that time the judges decided that out of the 69 participants, Paul Fisher, H. N. Fuhrman and Gary Hess had the best cared for and the most completely covered waterways.

How did they do it and what recommendations would they pass on to those who wish to establish a bermuda grass waterway on their land?

Fisher, Fuhrman and Hess all admit that they made mistakes that could be corrected if they had the job to do again. Here are the steps that they consider necessary to the successful establishment of a bermuda grass waterway and pasture.

1. Prepare a seedbed good enough for corn. Deep plow and harrow the land in the fall or leave it listed and harrow down in the spring. This gets the land in shape and pulverizes the soil so that the grass roots will be covered evenly without leaving air pockets that dry the roots. It also assures better moisture conditions.

2. Harvest good bermuda grass roots and keep them damp until planted.

3. Plant sprigs 12 to 18 inches apart in three foot rows. Plan the dropping of sprigs so that they will be covered as soon as possible in the furrows. The high winds and sunshine dry the roots quickly if they are left exposed for long periods.

4. If the soil is fairly dry the rows of planted grass should be packed by running over them with rubber tired tractor wheels.

5. Fence and graze as soon as possible after seeding and mow or spray as needed for weed control. This eliminates competition and shading by taller growing Johnson grass and weeds and enables the bermuda to make runners and spread.

6. Overseed bermuda grass to a legume after the first growing season. The legume adds nitrogen to the soil and aids the growth of the grass.

These are the steps that these men recommend for getting that grass cover on that waterway with minimum effort and time. There are other methods that may be used. Bermuda grass sprigs may be put in rows and corn or cotton planted on top of them. Then the grass is cultivated with the crop and inside cultivators are removed as the grass grows toward the middles. For the best results in any method of sodding, an application of a complete fertilizer is highly desirable. Bermuda grass, like other plants, is greatly aided in its growth by the application of a fertilizer containing nitrogen.

The district sprigging machine has taken some of the time consuming toil out of planting sprigs, but land preparation and care after planting remains unchanged.

The sprig planting machine has been running under a full head of steam lately. Tony Walterscheid and Herman Zimmerer each sodded two waterways on the Danglmayr farm 10 miles northeast of Muenster. Eddie Schmitt used the machine to sod a waterway on his farm. Andy Wimmer has just completed the sodding of a wide lane with the machine. The lane will connect his pasture and also serve as a terrace outlet area.

These waterways will serve dual purposes as terrace outlets areas and to furnish additional pasture. As H. N. Fuhrman says "It is surprising how much grass can be produced on land that was practically useless before it was sodded for a waterway."

Powerful Turbojet Engine Developed

Engineers employed by American industry have completed ground qualification tests of a turbojet engine believed to be the most powerful in the world to qualify for quantity production.

The new jet, known as the J40, uses less fuel per pound of thrust than its predecessor, the J34, which powers some of the nation's fastest planes. The J40's thrust is equivalent to 14,000 horsepower at modern flight speeds, and is expected to be almost twice that when an afterburner is added to reheat exhaust gases before they emerge as a jet stream.

"I have a dog that growls, a parrot that swears, a fireplace that smokes, and a cat that stays out all night. Why should I want a husband?" the spinster says.

Cattle Prices Are Slightly Better

Though not back to its previous level, the market has improved somewhat since last week.

This looks like a good time to sell, especially since the market is higher than justified by retail meat prices.

Regardless of what the market does, your take-home pay is a little higher when you sell here.

Robert Fuhrman Is One of 7 Winners In 4-H Cotton Contest

COLLEGE STATION.—Robert Fuhrman, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Fuhrman, Gainesville, Route 2, is one of the seven 4-H cotton producers in the state to receive an Anderson-Clayton Cotton Scholarship for 1950. The list of winners was released by the state 4-H club leaders of Texas A & M College.

Each winner will receive a $200 college scholarship provided he studies agriculture in college. The awards are furnished by the Anderson, Clayton Company of Houston and the 4-H cotton improvement program is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Robert is a member of the Lindsay 4-H Club and attends the Lindsay High School. He has completed two years of 4-H work and his demonstrations include dairy and beef cattle, swine and field crops. Last fall he won 13 ribbons on his exhibits at the Cooke County Fair. He is active in school and church affairs and now serves his local club as junior leader.

Here is what he reports in the narrative that was submitted with his 1950 cotton production record book.

"My two acres had been planted to vetch the year before and in the summer it was plowed deep and left until fall. Then it was one-wayed and 200 lbs. of superphosphate per acre was applied and winter peas were planted. The peas were plowed under at planting time.

"I used Acala cotton and treated the seed before they were planted. When the cotton plants reached the three leaf stage, I started my early season insect control program. One pint of toxaphene to 10 gallons of water was applied to each acre as a spray and I did this at the same time I cultivated the crop. Ten days after the first application another was made and one quart of toxaphene to 10 gallons of water was used. After the third spraying and cultivation, I noticed that my crop was developing much faster and looked better than my father's crop which had been planted on unfertilized land.

"My brothers and I harvested my crop. I got one 500 pound bale from my two acres while my father got one bale from his 10 acres. It was a poor year for cotton—too much rain during the growing season. But despite the weather, I was repaid for all my efforts. This demonstration taught me that it certainly pays well to take care of your soil and to control the insects if you expect good returns from your labor tax money. On the other hand he believes that any legitimate banking deal should be made by the banks and not by the federal government.

So, any way you figure it the RFC simply doesn't belong any more. It does not deserve to exist as a socialistic agency competing with private enterprise nor as a squandering agency to make unsound loans. We hope congress will be able to get rid of it.

One thing is certain, however. Terrific effort will be applied to keep the agency going. It is an integral part of the administration's complex and involved political machine. It supports a vast number of political droves and leeches who have been useful in delivering votes. It will not give up without a struggle. All we can hope for is that the congress and the American public have a sufficiently strong whiff of RFC stench to do things in spite of the opposition. We'd like to be rid of that element of public corruption. We'd like to eliminate some useless payrolls. We'd like to stop the poor investments.
