More Rain Delays Urgent Field Work

Colonel Alvin Ousley on his weekly radio talk last Sunday offered a suggestion that ought to be considered seriously by every educator in the country. It was a two-fold suggestion. First, that every school child be given a thorough course in American history and the American way of life. Secondly, that every child receives another course exposing the inhuman nature and vicious methods of communism.

It is a sad fact that millions of well meaning people in this country have foggy notions of both Americanism and communism. They're confused when they see some of the sordid things they recognize as typically American and some of the idealistic things with which the reds manage to affiliate themselves. In good faith they are led to believe that the communism really has something to offer.

They do not realize that the evils they see in every day American life are only abuses caused by some individuals for their own selfish gains. Nor do they realize that the apparent virtues of communism are mere temporary tactics to serve the general red cause.

Specific cases are easy to point out. Back in the days when communism was first getting its start we had pompous plutocrats wallowing in luxury while their employes were skimping along with little comfort and sometimes a shortage of life's necessities. A change was needed and American leaders were making fine progress in that direction when communists put on a noble front and went to bat for the underprivileged masses.

Plenty of people were fooled by that maneuver. Too few realized that the red objection was less to help the common man than to use him in a devilish plot to wreck the American system. Too few stopped to think what conditions exist when commies take over completely. The constant fear, want and slavery in Russia is more degrading than the worst level of American poverty ever was.

The scheming red method is equally apparent in racial controversies. Preaching on the equality of all men, communists continuously agitate for the Negro's economic and social welfare. But their purpose is less to help the Negro than to use him in the over-all red strategy of causing disorder. And again the communists are inconsistent, because under their system, as seen anywhere behind the Iron Curtain, no individual is as happy and secure as the average American Negro was during his days of slavery.

America is very much in need of general, straightforward instruction that will identify principles and men by their real purpose. She needs it so that good honest citizens will no longer be tricked into serving the schemes of Moscow rather than their own and their country's welfare. She needs to convince her people that the American way is the way of Christ, and the communist way is the way of Anti-Christ.

Once the basic principles are firmly established in people's minds we can be certain of two things. We'll have a better America and we won't have to worry about the reds. The truth will make us free... free from the foggy thinking which reds have been exploiting to our discomfort and sorrow.

When that time comes there'll be no more suckers climbing the red band wagon. People will know that the right way to correct an evil is to restore the real American system rather than join in the clamor for a completely different system.

Our country's status at this time can very fittingly be compared to a mansion that has had a few windows knocked out. It has a few discomforts, but still its a mighty sturdy house with plenty of other comforts and

After two days of clear weather farmers of this community are wondering, hopefully, whether the long awaited break in this month's monsoon has finally arrived. Scattered rains for a total of 7.56 inches to date have kept farmers away from urgent field work almost all of this month.

Oats and hay harvesting and row crop cultivating are all past due. On some fields oats and hay cut and windrowed more than two weeks ago are still awaiting pick-up combines or balers. Much of it has been damaged by settling into the mud.

Rain during the past week amounted to 2.87 inches. Readings as listed on Steve Mosler's official rain record are as follows: June 14th .30; 15th .27; 16th 1.27; 18th .75; 19th .30.

Like last year the month so far seems to be tapering from dry to wet weather instead of vice versa. So far the total exceeds last June's 5.51 by more than 2 inches.

Marysville Enters Progress Contest

About 40 residents of the Marysville community gathered Monday night to initiate plans to enter the Rural Neighborhood Progress contest sponsored by the Farmer-Stockman magazine in cooperation with the state extension service.

B. T. Haws and Bernice Puckett, county agents, explained the rules and regulations of the 1951 contest.

Officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Buford Whitt, chairman; Herman Richey, first vice-chairman; Mrs. Jack Biffle, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Herman Richey, publicity chairman; Nellie Pearl Winchester, 4-H girl leader; Billy Whitt, 4-H boy leader.

A meeting was called for next Monday to continue plans. Marysville's entry in the contest brings the number of Cooke county entries in the 1951 contest to four. Other communities entered are Bulcher, Sivells Bend and Salem.

Rev. Francis Named Windthorst Pastor

After an absence of nine years, Father Francis Zimmerer, former assistant of Sacred Heart Church here, returns to Windthorst this week as pastor of Saint Mary's Church. He is trading places with Rt. Rev. Edward Burgert, who succeeded him as Windthorst pastor when he entered the Army Chaplain's Corps in 1942. Abbot Edward now succeeds Father Francis as pastor at New Blaine, Ark.

After serving with the Army in the Pacific Father Francis returned to Subiaco Abbey, Ark. Since then he has been a teacher at Subiaco and a pastor at New Blaine, Ark.

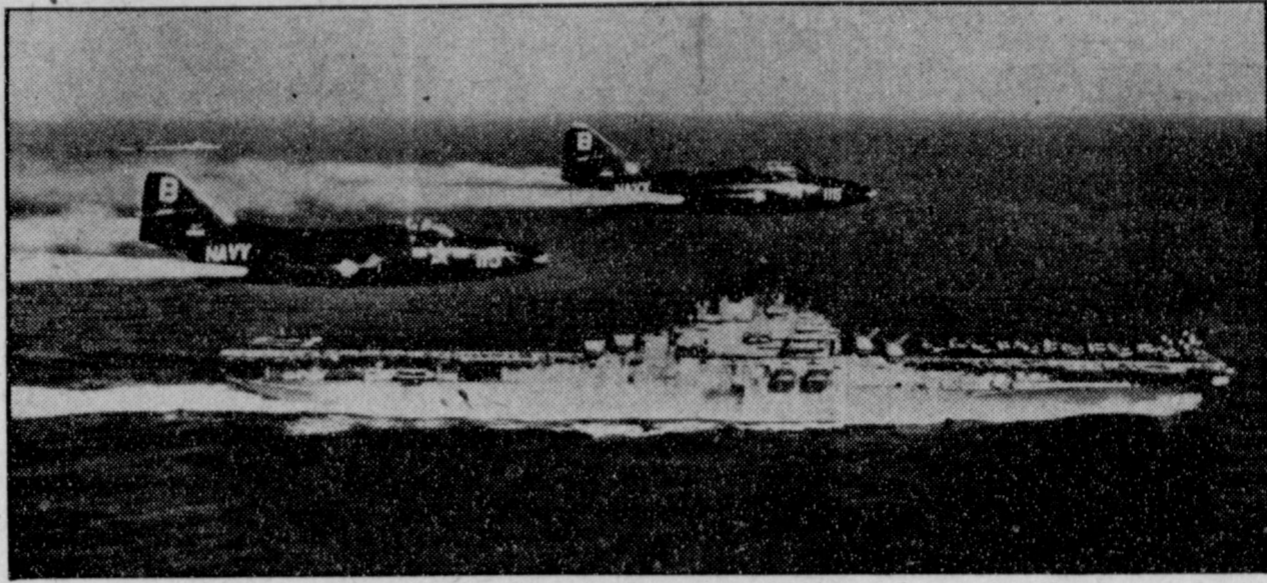

Father Francis served as assistant pastor in the Muenster parish for six years, leaving in August, 1940, to become pastor at the Windthorst church.

Building and Improvement Notes

On or about July 1 Francis Wiese will move his jewelry store two doors north of its present location to the small northeast corner room adjoining the city hall. A general interior overhaul now in progress will prepare the place for its new business.

Until lately the place was used as a storeroom for Fisher's Market, but the Fishers moved out when the Cooke County Electric Cooperative vacated the larger storeroom in the adjoining location west.

Another Main Street improvement is the beauty shop. The job there, now completed, consists of paint, wallpaper, drapes and upholstery.

Al Schmitt west of town has just finished a new quonset type combined dairy and hay barn.

New Church Fund Drive Under Way; Picnic Shaping Up

Members of the Knights of Columbus and the Catholic Daughters of America continue this week to shape up plans for the big parish bazaar on Sunday, July 1, for the benefit of the new Sacred Heart Church fund.

According to Arthur Endres, general chairman, the party will begin about 11 o'clock, after the last mass. Boxed dinners consisting of chicken, french fries, bread and relish will be available at noon, and all members of the parish are being encouraged to have their meal there rather than at home. Ray Swirczynski and a group of Catholic Daughters have taken over the dinner detail.

Other events planned by the Catholic Daughters are an auction of white elephant items and a country store. Articles for both concessions are now being solicited.

The Knights also will have an array of concessions to entertain all age brackets. Special favorites are the kiddies, all of whom will receive favors as they arrive at the picnic.

A special feature for the evening is a square dance on the city park's concrete platform. Norbert Felderhoff, in charge of the dance, disclosed that the Denton Play Boys Square Dance Band will do the fiddling.

As a follow up the Knights will sponsor another dance in the K of C hall Wednesday night July 4.

Meanwhile some 30 solicitors are working the community seeking individual contributions. Scattered reports indicate that they are meeting with gratifying response.

Agricultural Clinic Sells Conservation To Texas Bankers

The bankers' committee of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District was well represented Monday at an Agricultural Clinic sponsored by the Texas Bank and Trust Co. of Dallas. J. M. Weinzapfel and Claude Jones both appeared on the all-day program which was presented for the purpose of creating greater conservation interest among the bankers of North Texas.

Weinzapfel and Jones spoke on the means by which banks can increase conservation interest and assist with conservation programs in their communities.

Others who appeared on the program were Paul Walsler, state conservationist of the US Soil Conservation Service in Texas; F. M. Shaw of the Texas Research Foundation of Renner; Bryan Blalock, dairy specialist of Marshall; J. C. Porter of the First National Bank of Wichita Falls; and John Surratt of the Kessler Plan Association of Dallas.

All addresses centered around the main theme of the program, that Texas bankers can best assure their own future welfare by helping preserve and develop agricultural resources.

Baptist Minister To Supervise New Church Building Job

After a slight delay in their building program Baptists of the Muenster congregation expect to start on their new church next Monday or Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. Hartwell and a daughter arrived here last week from Denison. They are living on the Robinson lease on the J. H. Otto farm north of town.

City Bans Parking In Front of Theatre

Like theatres in most other cities, the Relax theatre here will soon be kept clear of parked automobiles. Steve Mosler, fire marshal, said Wednesday that a no-parking space will be marked on the curb in front of the theatre entrance within the next few days, possibly before the end of the week.

The restricted space will not extend across the entire front. It will be 20 feet wide, opposite the front entrance.

The purpose of leaving the clear space is to allow more room for firemen in case of a fire.

The restriction will be a lucky break for bike riders, however. Bicycles will be allowed in the no-parking area.

Joseph Sieger, 81, Muenster Resident Since 1891, Dies

Joe Sieger, 81, a resident of Muenster for 60 years, died Friday afternoon at 3:15 at the home of his sister, Mrs. Joe Hacker. He had been in ill health for some time but his death came unexpectedly after he had been in town Friday afternoon.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at Sacred Heart church at 8:30 with Rev. Anthony Schroeder officiating at the requiem high mass and at the burial in the Muenster cemetery. Nick Miller was in charge of funeral arrangements.

A Gainesville fire truck answered the call about 10 o'clock but the minor blaze was practically out on arrival. Wood and two chairs caught fire and damage was light.

Conservation?

Along with the President's letter to the government manpower chiefs urging in fact ordering them to institute policies of rigid conservation that will be an "example" to the rest of the country, comes news that the White House will send to Congress shortly a proposal for Federal hospital benefits for all citizens past the age of 65, when the voluntary hospitalization plans generally expire.

If such a demand lines up in any shape, manner or form with the word "conservation", there's something wrong with our dictionary. You just don't open up another set of books for 150,000,000 accounts without manpower!

The church choir provided the music with the bride's mother singing the pre-nuptial solo, Schubert's Ave Maria. Miss Ann Gallagher was at the organ.

White gladioli and palms adorned the altar and baskets of white gladioli held vantage spots in the sanctuary.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding dress with a bodice of chantilly lace and a deep marquisette yoke accented with a wide lace ruffle in an off-shoulder effect. The sleeves extended in petal points over her hands, and the full gathered skirt consisted of layers of net over satin. Falling over a hooped skirt the net and satin extended into a formal train.

The bride's fingertip length veil was caught to a tiara of seed pearls and sequins and she carried a white orchid on a mo-

THE SUBSTANCE OF SECURITY

The problem of security has become more and more dominant in all discussions of human affairs. The term "social security" is today almost as much a part of our political-economic language as are the words "profits" and "wages" and "taxes." People have had dinner in their ears — by numerous office-seekers, office-holders and Socialists — the theory that government "social security" covering all citizens would be the final answer to the problem of security.

It hasn't worked out that way in any country where it's been tried. Most American families now are covered by some phase of the Federal Social Security program. Within a few years no doubt everybody will be covered. Yet no observant person could today be certain of future security while inflation continues to waste away the very substance of the government "security" program — which is money value. Nor could any person feel really secure about his property or his future welfare with our country at war with Communist hordes and with the atom bomb in the hands of the ruthless, anti-God war-makers of the Kremlin. Real security contains more than the money element; in it too are the spiritual bulwarks of faith and peace-of-mind which money cannot buy.

A Valuable Book

Dr. Henry C. Link, one of America's foremost psychologists has written a book entitled "The Way to Security" (Doubleday). It ought to be read by everybody. With the sureness of a master technician in human behavior, he explores the area of scrambled understanding on the subject of security and sets forth his factual findings in clear language. It is a book such as we desperately need today—since it focuses attention on the spiritual values in the midst of a world-wide movement toward materialism.

"Social security is what his family or society does for the individual," Dr. Link points out. "Personal security is the result of what the individual does for himself. The former comes from the individual, the latter comes from within. Social security consists largely of benefits and money given to the individual. Personal security comes from habits and benefits which the individual develops for himself and which make him self-reliant under almost any circumstances.

The Early Training

"Probably the chief weakness in our thinking about security is its emphasis on social security and its neglect of personal security. It is the emphasis on security from without rather than from within. It is the belief that our families, or our government, can give us security instead of the realization that the individual must win his own security."

Dr. Link emphasizes that an individual's personal security can be strengthened or weakened by the early training given in the family. "The common practice of giving children an automatic allowance," he writes, "prevents them from finding out what life really is. Instead of learning the truth about money, they learn that it is something to be had for nothing. They get the impression that a regular allowance is something they are entitled to by right." This, he says, is an unwholesome attitude and later may hinder the individual's effort to attain economic security.

In my work with boys at Camp Tahkodah, which I have operated in the Ozarks during the past seven summers, I've noticed a difference in the self-reliance and resourcefulness of boys who had formed the habit of earning their money by carrying papers or doing household or other chores, and those whom I knew to be on a "free" allowance. Invariably the manly characteristics and Christian humility which we seek to develop at the summer camp are more readily acquired by those boys whose parents have encouraged the habits of work and thrift.

The quest for security is motivated by an entirely normal human longing. But, as Dr. Link shows so clearly in his book, it cannot be satisfied with money alone; nor can it be guaranteed to the population by government. Just when economic security may seem within the grasp of a people, inflation or depression, national bankruptcy or war can utterly destroy it. And when this happens, the attribute of self-reliance, built on a foundation of Christian faith, is both the nation's and the individual's chance for survival and recovery.

ARMY ANNOUNCES NEW OFFICER CANDIDATE POLICY

Persons who enlisted in the army for the specific purpose of attending the Officer's Candidate School and who failed to pass either the leadership course or the officer candidate course will no longer be returned to civil life if they are liable for draft and are otherwise eligible for military service. Previously, individuals who enlisted for the purpose of attending Officer's Candidate School and who failed to meet the requirements were permitted to return to civil life. The new policy will become effective at once.

Russia Disappoints State Department

The State Department appears to be registering shock at the discovery that the Soviet Union is lying down on an agreement with the U. S., and not exactly pushing the distribution in Moscow of 50,000 copies per month of a deluxe Russian-language magazine which the State Department is publishing at who-knows-what cost to American taxpayers.

The magazine, called "Amerika", describes American life to the Muscovite (or would if he could find one) at about $1.25 per copy. The official press of Russia (there is no official press) describes Amerika's articles as "fairy-tales" and points out that 75 percent of Americans are either starving or about to do so, while Soviet people "know no poverty, but only grandiose, peaceful construction."

It is fairly easy to understand the Soviet distaste for the truth, but it is not easy to understand either the childlike trust of our State Department for a Russian "agreement", or why the State Department should be in the magazine business.

Texas dairy producers in 1950 produced approximately four billion pounds of milk that was valued at $200 million.

Are Your Children 'Broadminded'?

by Rev. Michael Lies
 The child is sitting at table and the mother is teaching him to eat. She suggests that the child use the spoon but really she doesn't want to hamper his freedom.

If the child would rather clutch a handful of food and push it into its mouth, or curl a piece of paper and roll up the peas—well, the child's mind must be kept free.

It rather than tuck the napkin under its chin, the child prefers to sit on it, don't bother. The child means well. If it has an impulse to throw the meat to the floor, don't rebuke it. Stifle those impulses and you may develop a psychosis.

Build The Prisons
 Sorry to say, but many of the above words would not have to be changed to express those basic principles on which the religious training of many a child is founded. No decent mother would send her child into the world with such table manners, but on the training of the eternal soul, the only training that really matters—how many children are floated out on life with just such training.

Staff the courts and build prisons. We merely build receptacles to hold monstrosities of human nature, monstrosities formed by wavering, lazy hands.
 J. Edgar Hoover Says
 In the official report of the F. B. I. in 1950, J. Edgar Hoover wrote: "The teachings of God, if followed, will prevent criminality. The stabilizing force of religion is needed today more than ever before. A child who has been taught to respect the laws of God will have little difficulty respecting the laws of man."

 Yet they say: "Don't be narrow; be broadminded. Let men do and believe what they want."
 To say, for instance, that a shirt is white and have someone else call it blue would be embarrassing. Therefore, agree. As for the shirt, it won't make any difference.

Broadminded Christ
 The various strange opinions, however, that people have of God and eternity, these do make a difference, and the difference is often spelled out in great harm. The harm is not to God when the ideas are wrong, but to the poor man who has the wrong idea or no idea at all.

Thus we find many minds wandering about in a foggy mist. They swing just half way on every pitch. They like to say that if you don't repent as it were, and do penance to some extent, you shall, I dare say, lose your soul maybe. Yes, broadminded—as broad as a board and almost as sharp.

Is that the manner of defining the clear-cut line between heaven and hell? Is that the way Christ spoke—and who could be more broadminded than God! Christ said, "Unless you repent you will perish. . . Unless a man be born again of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God. . . Heaven and earth will pass away, but my word will not pass away."

It's sad for a girl to reach the age where men consider her charmless—but it's worse for a man to attain the age where the girls consider him harmless.

Parathion Must be Used With Caution

Recently a new insecticide highly poisonous not only for insects but also for man and animals has become available commercially said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. It is known under the trade name of "Parathion" and has proven quite effective for certain agricultural uses.

Because of its extremely high toxicity it would be desirable if its use could be restricted to a few individuals who could make a business of applying it, and educate and equip themselves so as to insure the maximum of safety in Texas and a number of other states, however, there are no laws making such restricted use possible. Therefore, a brief statement of warning is being offered.

"Parathion in the pure state is a brownish liquid with a high boiling point and a peculiar odor. It mixes but slightly with water, but is completely soluble in alcohol, acetone and certain other similar solvents. Under factory conditions it is usually mixed with a powder such as talc or bentonite as a carrier and appears on the market as a powder which has absorbed the parathion.

"Its toxic effect may result from breathing the dust, as a result of swallowing contaminated substances, or by absorption through the skin. The latter may be indirect absorption such as from contaminated clothing.

Safe use is dependent on the use of precautionary measures so as to prevent contact. The user should seriously study and observe these precautions. The user should also be alert for symptoms of poisoning so that a physician may be in attendance without delay should he be needed. Atropine, a potent medicine, has been mentioned as an antidote. It should be borne in mind this is another poison about as dangerous, if improperly used, as is parathion. It should only be used under competent medical direction.

HERE'S PROOF that your gasoline mileage depends on your driving as much as on your car. Thirty-one members of the Pittsburgh Section, Society of Automotive Engineers (indicated by numbers at left of diagram), recently drove the same automobile over the same course. Their results (shown by position of autos above) ranged from a low of 10.32 miles per gallon to an average of 13.50, to a high of 17.28. High scorer got 70% more mileage than the low. Gulf Oil laboratories, which supervised test, call it evidence that any driver can get at least 10% more miles per gallon by observing economy driving.

Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Fuller M/Sgt. Ernest R. Kouma Capt. James Jabara

Although only a year old, the Korean War has already produced its own "Machine Gun" Kellys, "Blood and Guts" Pattons and "Nuts" McAuliffes. Above are six of the men who will long be remembered for their exploits or exclamations. Gen. William Dean, missing since last July, won the Medal of Honor for attacking enemy tanks and assisting wounded in Taejon. Known among his men as the "hottest combat officer" in Korea, John Michaelis was made a Brigadier General for his regiment's stubborn defense of a Pusan perimeter approach. Virtually unknown before the surprise dismissal of Gen. MacArthur, Gen. Matthew Ridgway is assured a place in history as the new commander of UN forces. Marine Brig. Gen. Lewis Fuller crashed headlines when he urged American servicemen to get rid of candy and ice cream and "get down to fighting." The first GI to win a Medal of Honor for action in Korea and live is M/Sgt. Ernest Kouma who singlehandedly slew 250 enemy soldiers. Capt. James Jabara became the nation's first jet ace after his F-86 kayoed six Russian-built jets in Yalu River dogfights.

Mrs. M. J. Endres joined her nephew, Arthur Fisch and family Sunday to accompany them to Guthrie, Okla., for a visit and will also visit in Okmulgee with her brother, John Fisch. Arthur and family had been visiting in Fort Worth and stopped here enroute home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Lehnertz and daughters returned Saturday from a 10-day vacation trip to South Texas. In Houston they visited his brothers, Gene, David and Floyd, and in Orange Grove they were guests of her sister Mrs. Richard Gregorcyk and family.

Livestock that is forced to fight off flies during the summer months cannot be expected to make the greatest possible gains and monetary returns for their owners. These insect pests can be successfully controlled and doing so will mean money to the producer.

Bromfield Believes We Poison Our Food

Chemical and organic poisons used by farmers, fruit growers and stockmen "literally by the ton", may explain the mysterious new Virus X, and the increase in other diseases, such as heart ailments, cancer and leukemia, according to the testimony of Louis Bromfield, noted novelist and much-publicized farmer.

"It is safe to say, he told the special House Committee investigating the use of chemicals in food products, that there is scarcely an article of food which average citizens consume which has not at some time been treated with some poisonous spray or dust."

He pointed out that while very little is known of the long-range effects of such poisons as rotenone or pyrethrum, and such compounds as DDT, chlordane, etc., many authorities are alarmed over what their cumulative effect on humans may be.

"Put in the simplest terms, what is poisonous to the organic structure of an insect, must also be poisonous in sufficient immediate quantities, or in sufficient accumulated quantities to other life as well."

As an alternative to the use of these high-powered insecticides, pesticides and disinfectants, Bromfield names properly treated and enriched soil. In fact he has for many years headed a group of farmers who have demonstrated that properly healthy plants not only withstand insect attack, but are less likely to be attacked. These experiments have indicated that great reduction at least can be made in the need for pest control poisons.

The Carroll Sullivants of Gainesville joined children and grandchildren of Mrs. Henry Sicking at her home Thursday evening for a fried chicken supper.

Recent Progress Of State Dairymen Praised by Dr. Cox

AUSTIN.— Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, endorsing the observance of June as National Dairy month today released a statement congratulating Texas dairymen on the remarkable progress they have made in the past few years.

The use of clean safe milk is a health measure. Milk is our most nearly perfect food as it is rich in proteins, vitamins A and G and the minerals calcium and phosphate. Improved methods of producing wholesome milk has been a great help in the saving of infant lives.

Milk is perishable and especially during hot weather. To insure milk of good quality requires cleanliness, sterile utensils, protection against flies, careful bottling and maintenance at low temperature. The presence in fresh milk of large numbers of bacteria, due to insanitary methods of production is a health hazard.

Dr. Cox added, "Among the diseases which may be transmitted through milk are tuberculosis, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, septic sore throat, undulant fever, diarrhea and enteritis. Numerous milk-borne outbreaks of disease occur every year in this country from the use of milk that might have been safe with proper care.

"We should firmly insist that the milk we drink be carefully produced, so that we will have the maximum practicable protection along the line from the cow to the consumer."

"WHEN DO I DIE?" — After being wounded and captured by U. S. Marines on the east-central front in Korea, this Chinese Communist soldier asks a Leatherneck interrogator when he will be executed. He was much relieved when he learned that he would be hospitalized for treatment of his wound.

Flies Retard Cattle Growth 10 Per Cent

COLLEGE STATION.— Flies affecting livestock cause tremendous loss to the farmer each year. Therefore, it is to the livestock man's advantage to provide the best possible control of these pests.

R. O. Dunkle, Young county agricultural agent, reports that many ranchmen in Young county are spraying their herds for hornfly control. Dunkle estimates that if one-half of the cattle in the county were sprayed regularly through the fly season, beef production would be increased over half a million pounds.

Charlie Cave, Kaufman county cattle breeder, said recently that the cattle in his herd, which were sprayed last year, were at least 10 percent better than unsprayed animals.

It is usually necessary to apply specific control measures for each species of fly, says James A. Deer, assistant entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Deer points out also that different control measures are required for different types of livestock. Dairy cattle should not be sprayed with insecticides that may contaminate the cows' milk.

He suggests that livestock men contact their county agricultural agents for the latest recommendations on controlling hornflies, stable flies, horse flies and houseflies. Hornflies alone may cost the livestock producer 50 pounds or more of beef per animal a year.

It is getting to be a proven fact that in order to have a well established and well maintained sod grass on waterways or pastures, fencing and grazing is a must. A dense growth of competition in bermuda sod causes the bermuda to grow erect and stay spindly where otherwise it will spread and peg down at each of the joints. Bruno Fleitman, Herman Zimmerer, Andy Wimmer, W.H. Endres and Frank Bayer have fenced and are grazing their waterways and pastures that were sprigged to bermuda this year.

Harry Fisher says he can tell a distinct line across his corn field showing exactly how far his Chinese Red Peas were seeded last summer. Where the peas were the corn is taller and has a much better color.

Besides adding an abundance of nitrogen to the soil the peas can also be used as a cash crop by harvesting the seed. After harvest the leaves and stems are left in the ground to serve as a mulch and protection to the soil, against wind and water erosion.

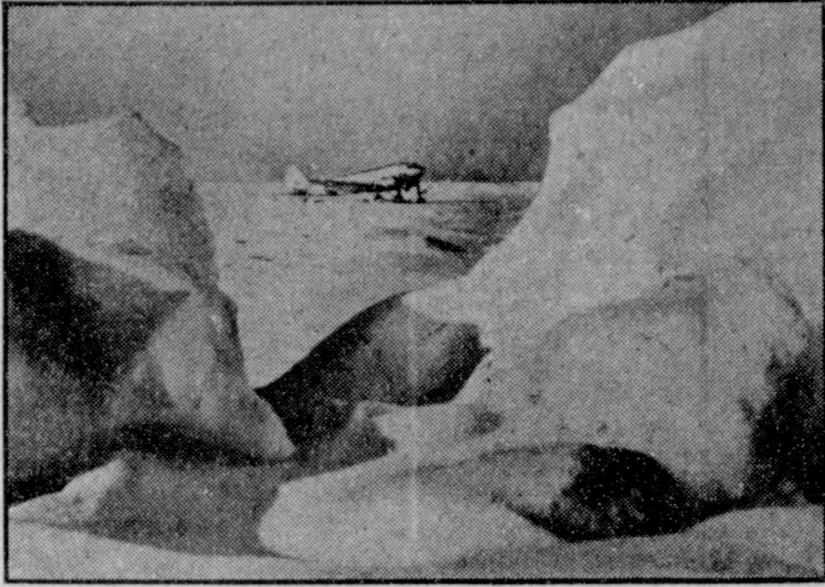

W.H. Endres has seeded about ten acres to Chinese Red Peas. Inoculant and fertilizer will greatly increase the amount of nitrogen the legume can produce. When inoculating legume seeds do not mix up more than can be used in about one hour's time say technicians of the local soil office.

Wilfred Reiter used the district sprigging machine in putting out about fifteen acres of bermuda for pasture.

Recent rains are adding to the woes of farmers in the Muenster area. Grain harvest is being delayed and row crops are badly in need of cultivation. Among other things that are suffering from the continued wet spell are the waterways that were sodded or seeded to grass this spring. In the unfenced and ungrazed waterways the taller growing Johnson grass and weeds are offering stiff competition to the young and not too well established grasses. Electric and other temporary fences are being used to fence waterway areas so that they may be properly grazed to control the taller growing grass during periods when mowing is impossible because of wet ground or the press of other work.

Some of the cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District who sodded bermuda grass waterways this spring and are grazing them to keep down the Johnson grass include Ray and Alfred Sicking, Herman Zimmerer, Joe Mages, Emmet Sicking, Ben Perryman, Pryor McGee, Bruno Fleitman and W. H. Endres.

These farmers know that in order to make bermuda and buffalo grass act as they should, make them lay down and put out a network of runners with roots at every joint, they must keep out taller growing grasses and weeds that shade the short grass. This can only be done by grazing with an occasional mowing or by frequent mowings.

Good management can hasten the establishment of a waterway and it does not pay to build terraces to protect soil until the waterway outlet is safely covered with a permanent grass.

Many farmers around Muenster plan to improve production on their grain land by growing a summer legume on the land between grain harvest and grain planting time. Cowpeas and mungbeans, when properly inoculated and phosphated greatly improve the soil by adding nitrogen thru their root bacteria and by producing tons of green forage that can be disked into the soil before grain planting time.

 THE STATE OF TEXAS
 TO: Allene Willison and husband, Ralph Willison, Defendants, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable District Court of Cooke County at the Court House thereof, in Gainesville, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 16th day of July A. D. 1951, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 28th day of February A. D. 1951, in this cause, numbered 15867 on the docket of said court and styled Pearl Culp Allen et vir, Plaintiffs, vs. Opal Frances Clark et al, Defendants in which the following persons are Plaintiffs: Pearl Culp Allen and husband, H. H. Allen, and the following persons are Defendants: Opal Frances Clark, William Andrew Clark, Anita Harris, Cecil Harris, Allene Willison, Ralph Willison, Thelma Beyer and Ray F. Beyer.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit: This is an action in trespass to try title brought by the plaintiffs, Pearl Culp Allen and husband H. H. Allen, against the defendants to establish that they own in fee simple Lot No. 11 in Block 3 of Sevier and Gribble Addition to the City of Gainesville in Cooke County, Texas, and in which the plaintiffs affirmatively plead the statutes of limitations of three, five and ten years; and in the alternative that they, the plaintiffs, and the defendants Opal Frances Clark, Anita Harris, Allene Willison and Thelma Beyer own jointly and are the sole owners of said property, the plaintiffs owning at 4-5 interest therein having a charge and lien of $2,000.00 against all of said property for permanent and valuable improvements made and placed thereon in good faith, and that said four defendants own a 1-5 interest therein subject to said charge and lien of plaintiffs, and that a fair and equitable division and partition of said property cannot be made, and that it is necessary that a receiver be appointed to sell said real estate, and the proceeds of such sale returned into court and divided among the plaintiffs and said four defendants according to their respective interests, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs. Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said Court at office in Gainesville, Texas this 29th day of May A. D. 1951. (SEAL) Attest: Woodrow U. Clegg, Clerk, District Court, Cooke County, Texas (29-29-30-31)
