

Ferry's Afloat On Red River, Awaits Tugboat and Road

More stumbling blocks in the Korean cease fire negotiations cause us to wonder whether we will actually have an early end to hostilities over there, and if so, what price this country will have to pay for it. As things are going it is becoming more and more difficult to understand how some of our leaders got the idea that we have the upper hand in that fight. Communist obstinacy in the current dealings hardly indicate that they have been losing.

So it seems we are simply stuck with more of the same old conflict... assuming of course that our leaders will have the moral stamina to stick with principles and refuse to settle on weak kneed terms that will shame us before the whole world.

In a strict sense we are the losers even if we can get the reds to accept every one of our terms. We propose to regard the present battle line as the division line even though we realize that by the most elementary standards of justice it is far short of our rightful goal. Our job in Korea cannot be considered as properly finished until we chase the aggressors completely off the peninsula and give all of Korea a chance to establish its own legitimate government.

The request of the South Koreans for a United Korea is not out of line. Those people know that their country was originally split as a result of our diplomatic phengling with Russia. And they have every right to expect that we will use this opportunity to right the wrong we have done them.

In a way this opinion seems to be very much out of line with our country's traditional desire for peace. On the contrary, however, it is in perfect harmony with our professed desire for justice. And it is also in harmony with the well known Christian principle that anyone who does harm to another is bound in conscience to make an effort at restitution. If this means we must continue a bloody and costly war we can only say it is the price our country owes Korea for the original mistake, or betrayal, whichever it was.

Another unfinished job over there concerns China. Again, our diplomatic bungling or treachery deprived that nation of its independence and handed it over in slavery to Russia. America put China in its present mess and America therefore has a sacred duty to help clean up the mess. To make peace over there without exhausting every means to right every wrong would be just as shameful and dishonorable as our original betrayals.

Our big trouble is that too many men high in our government have abandoned principles for which American men have bled and died. Service men in the last war heard about the noble terms of the Atlantic Charter. Every nation no matter how small was to have its independence guaranteed. Their big brothers, the Allied powers, would protect them forever from aggressors like the Axis powers. But before the war was over we were making deals with the biggest aggressor of all time, betraying helpless countries for the sake of harmony with him.

Official stubbornness refuses to accept the blame but it fails to convince the American public. Right thinking people recognize the incidents for just what they are, the most disgraceful blot on all American history, a blot that will not be erased until we finally succeed in restoring every one of the victim nations to its rightful dignity.

Does this seem too much like a declaration of World War Three? Well, what if it does? Hasn't the Stalin clique declared long ago that it intends to dominate the world?

As a matter of cold fact communism has been engaged in World War Three for a long time. There is no secret about Stalin's aims. And it's high time that our country saw its

The Muenster ferry has been launched on Red River, and according to present plans will be ready for use by the time the approach to it is finished on the Oklahoma side of the river.

As soon as the barge was skidded into the water Wednesday morning workers started on the last lap of their construction job, which consists of putting on the floor and the approach ramps.

Also on Wednesday Commissioner Ben Roach of Love County, Oklahoma, said that he is ready to start grading approaches on his side of the river. The approach on this side was finished more than a week ago by Commissioner J. B. Klement's county road workers.

Meanwhile a delay has been encountered in finishing the motorboat which will be used as a tug. In Dallas Wednesday morning Ben Seyler learned that a propeller of the desired size and pitch will have to be ordered directly from the manufacturer in Wisconsin. It is expected here Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. Special bearings, brackets, packing and shafting for the job are now on hand. The hull of the boat was built of sheet metal by the Muenster Machine Shop. It will be powered by a Chrysler engine.

The 14x50 barge was built by Community Lumber Company with C. J. Fette in charge of the work. It was loaded Tuesday on a heavy oil field truck and hauled to the river Wednesday.

At the crossing, which is north of the Johnny West residence, the river is about 500 feet wide in normal times. On the Texas side it leads to the bank. On the Oklahoma side it leads to a sand bar which is about 500 feet from the bank.

A cable stretched across the river keeps the barge on its course and also serves as an anchor when it is docked. Short cables on either end of the barge lead to pulleys which travel along the main cable.

Larry Hofbauer and Randy Bayer, local boy scouts, left Tuesday to attend scout camp at Camp Philmont, N. M., August 1 to 17. The boys left Dallas by bus in company of other scouts of the Circle Ten Council.

Making the trip possible for the local boys are Muenster business men and the VFW Post. The business men are sponsoring Larry and the Veterans are sponsoring Randy.

Ralph MacLaughlin went to Mineral Wells Thursday to attend a three-day conference for vocational agriculture teachers.

Pat Stelzer, Maynard Williams and W. L. Wylie left Tuesday morning for a vacation trip to Yellowstone National Park and a tour of the west coast. They plan to visit Arnold Stelzer in California and Vincent Stelzer and other relatives in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McDaniel spent the weekend at San Angelo with his brother, Bert McDaniel and family and were accompanied home by his mother who had been visiting there and in Roswell, N. M., with a grandson for the past six weeks.

Equalization Board Finds Tax Equalized

The city's tax equalization board meeting in its annual session Tuesday had an easy time checking through this year's rendition sheets. J. H. Otto, Charles Wimmer and Ray Wilde found that only a few adjustments were necessary to equalize the assessments.

Most of those cases apply to persons who rendered their property the same as last year and failed to mention newly acquired property or increased valuations resulting from improvements.

Other renditions required little adjustment. Valuations generally followed values established in a special survey two years ago.

All whose renditions have been changed have been notified by post card. Their protests if any, will be heard by the equalization board on Monday, August 13.

Water's Plentiful; Use All You Want

The city's water emergency is over. Water Superintendent Steve Moster said Tuesday that people can use all the water they want without danger of putting a strain on the supply.

On an average since the No. 2 well was overhauled last week pumps have been practically keeping pace with daytime consumption and little if any night pumping was needed to fill the reservoir and both tanks. Indications are that people will be able to water lawns as much as they wish from now on.

According to Moster's estimate the city almost doubled its supply by working over the No. 2 well and increasing its output from about 30 to more than 100 gallons a minute. Figuring in an average of 70 gallons a minute from the No. 1 well, the total volume has been increased from about 100 to more than 170.

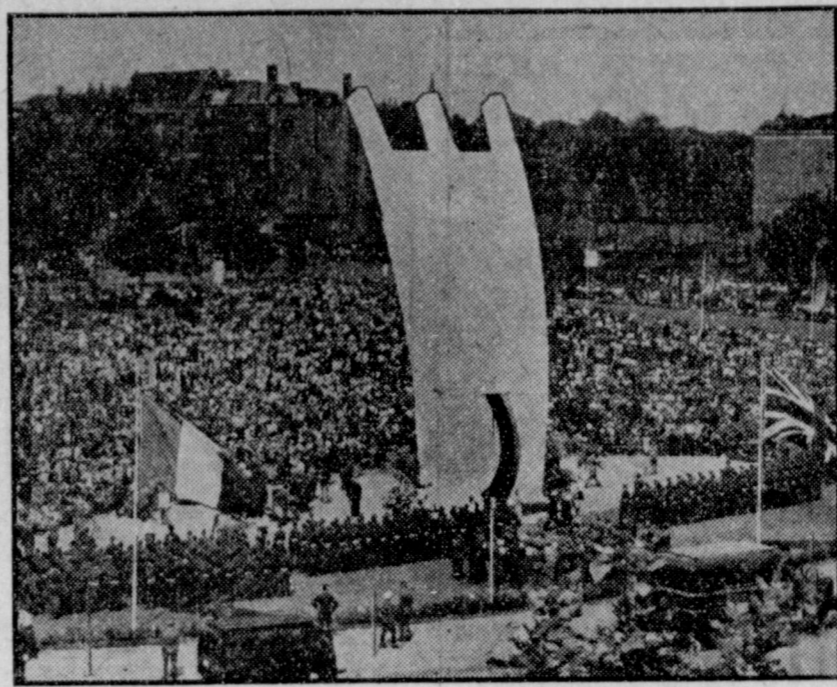

The job that got results was shooting the well. While the pump was idle for bearing repairs workmen arranged to perforate the casing at the Upper Trinity level with 2 inch holes allowing a greater supply of water to reach the pump. The casing's half inch perforations did not let enough water through.

Carved into three parts representing the airlift's three main routes, the monument bears the names of the 70 heroes.

Emmet Fette Family To Move to Arizona

Emmet Fette, linotype operator and shop foreman at the Enterprise for the past ten years, leaves Muenster this week to take over a commercial printing plant in Douglas, Arizona.

Early in July he made arrangements to lease the plant from the Douglas Dispatch which discontinued its commercial printing department a few years ago. Another printer leased the plant at that time but gave it up recently to enter another business.

Emmet's plan originally was to start his new work the first of this week but he remained here through Wednesday to help publish this week's edition of the Enterprise.

His successor is W. C. Hogan, a native Muenster man, who has been employed on the Marjetta, Okla., Monitor for the past three years. Hogan will start his work here next Monday.

Emmet joined the Enterprise staff in 1939 and took over as general manager early in 1942 when the publisher, R. N. Fette, entered the army. After the war he continued in charge of the mechanical department.

Emmet will go to Arizona alone and locate living quarters before his wife and children join him. They expect to move late this month.

They have sold their home to Arnold Hess.

Scouts Challenge Dads at Softball

Muenster Boy Scouts have chosen their dads as prospective victims in their weekly softball game Friday night. As a possible handicap to the dads each will be required to play the same position his son plays. The game will start at 8.

In last Friday's contest the Junior Scouts were nudged for a 7 to 8 loss by the Muenster Pee Wees. In a close match the Scouts managed to stay ahead until the 7th when the Pee Wees tied the score at 7 each. The Pee Wees pushed over the winning run in their half of the 8th.

ON THE LINE—Members of a 155 self-propelled gun crew in Korea relax near their piece while one of the boys hangs up his laundry. Although action on the front has diminished since the start of the Kaesong peace conferences, the GI's are prepared to meet any Red push that might follow a truce talk breakdown.

August Leads Off With .7 Inch Shower

August weather got off to a wonderful start Wednesday when a 30 minute shower in midafternoon brought .70 inch of badly needed moisture and a welcome drop in temperature.

July this year has been hot and dry and back to normal. Contrasting sharply with last year's pleasant temperature and a total rainfall of more than 10 inches, temperatures this year frequently passed the 100 mark and moisture added to 3.79.

Two rains accounted for all the moisture. The combined measure for July 1 and 2 was 2.19 and the rain on July 24 was 1.60.

My Kingdom For a Government Job

The owner of a small business establishment in Denver has met the Federal government in the field of competition and has lost. He's about ready to close up shop and "jine 'em". When you've read the account of his plight, as published in the Denver Lions Club bulletin, you can understand why he is wondering whether there's any future for private enterprise. (There is, of course, if the excessive growth of government can be halted.)

But to the Denver business man the outlook is gloomy. He seems almost to have good cause to wonder whether we shouldn't all lay down our cares and get on the Federal payroll. Here's why: A new Federal agency recently set up shop in Denver. It hired a lot of stenographers away from their regular jobs. "It took my secretary, Dorothy," reports the business man, "paying her $2,650 a year to start, and giving her 26 days' vacation and 15 days' sick leave. I, who happen to be in a highly competitive field, cannot afford to meet these terms, and couldn't even if I wanted to."

He's Whipped
 He couldn't, he points out, because the Federal government won't let him. The government has frozen the prices on his merchandise — so he can't make more money. "And then," he moans, "in order to keep down inflation, the government tells me I cannot pay the salary the government itself offered Dorothy." But the irony of the whole thing, the lick that really crumpled his last resistance, was the latest news from Washington, in which the Federal government was saying to him, in effect: "Because we're going to pay Dorothy more money than you could, we are going to have to increase your taxes again."

That did it. And it's enough to make all of us groan — for the new tax increase demanded by the President and the Federal Treasurer is for $10½ billion dollars and it would drastically boost the heavy tax load we're all already carrying. The Denver business man now wants a government job himself. "In my present condition," he says, (with his secretary hired away by the government, his earning capacity and future prosperity jeopardized by government restrictions, and with another heavy blow from the tax collector in the offing), "I could certainly use a government job."

Going Up

One reason why the Federal government is telling us that we must cheerfully accept a drastic hike in taxes, and thus a cut in our earning power, is given in the latest tabulation on government employment. For the 11th straight month, civilian employment in the Executive Branch has increased at the rate of more than 1,000 people a day.

That adds up to 335,000 new stenographers, clerks, bureau executives, chauffeurs, publicity men, etc., in less than a year. It also adds up to a total Federal civilian payroll of 2,443,076, as of June 1, 1951. And to get to the meat in the coconut, it adds up to more than $8 billion being paid out of our tax money each year for just the salaries and off-time for the huge and everlasting expanding army of civilian workers on the Federal payrolls!

Pay for Idleness

A second reason why we're being told we must make personal sacrifices and submit to a huge new tax assessment on our earnings is that the Federal government is paying out hundreds of millions of dollars annually for unnecessary, unjustified idleness. Counting "sick leave", vacation time (5 weeks) and holidays, most of the 2,443,076 civilians on the Federal payrolls get 10 weeks off every year at full pay — at least six weeks more than non-government workers.

This extra time off "gift" from the taxpayers — with the approval of Congress — is estimated to cost nearly $1,000,000,000 annually. Why must the Treasury, into which our hard-earned money goes, be saddled with this huge unnecessary expense? And what about the value of great numbers of the government workers while they're on duty? An ex-governor of Georgia, friend of the administration, quit his Washington job in disgust, saying that he "hadn't hit a lick of work" while sitting in an office drawing fat government checks. He also said similar conditions existed throughout the whole Federal bureaucracy, with people actually faking work at their desks!

If these unwholesome conditions are not corrected very soon the Federal payroll will begin to swallow up and smother American prosperity and progress. It is time now, while we still have government "by the people", to demand an end to such wholesale waste of our money and our energies.

There's Big Money In Home Gardening

COLLEGE STATION.— How much is your garden worth? Although home gardens are generally considered important money savers, few people stop to consider just how much a home garden is worth in dollars and cents.

J. E. Hutchison, Extension horticulturist, says some very impressive figures have recently appeared in the Congressional Record of the 82nd Congress and in some of the national magazines.

One government publication from Washington carried a report of 24 families living near Houston who had 24 acres in gardens in 1948. Food valued at $10,712 was produced on the 24 one-acre gardens. Total expenses amounted to $850, leaving a net value of $9,862.

The same publication reported that, of the eight winners in the national 4-H garden program for 1950, one girl is attending college on the profits from her garden demonstration, and another plans to make gardening a career in partnership with her father. One boy made a gross income of $11,670 in five years, and another made a $506.50 profit from two and three-fourths acres of corn produced on stony ground.

A study made by one of the national magazines showed that $5.25 invested in seeds, insecticides and plant food this spring paid off with $91.02 worth of vegetables. That is, because the gardener did a good job. The size of the garden in this study was 20 by 25 feet.

Farmer's Home Administration Records show that the average value of home gardens in Texas is $380 per acre. The national average is $340.

Hutchison figures the only losers in gardening are the persons who did not plant one.

Lots of folks have a good aim in life . . . but most of them don't know when to pull the trigger.

What the FORD NAME means to those who feed America!

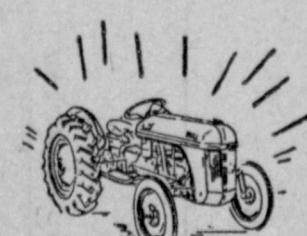

MODEL "T" FORD

LABORATORY RESEARCH

1917 FORDSON TRACTOR

TODAY'S FORD TRACTOR

From the beginning, the name "Ford" has identified a company that understands the needs and wants of farmers. To millions of farmers, the Ford name recalls the cars and trucks that could always "get through"—and Ford-built tractors that took away much of the drudgery of farming.

Just ahead of the "Model T's" radiator cap were new and better farm markets—a practical way to carry farm youth to a better education—new vistas and opportunities for the entire farm family.

The Ford name means the millions of dollars that went into research for crops convertible into industrial products and for ways of converting them. The Ford Motor Company's soybean oil extractor, that opened a huge market for this great cash crop, is a notable example of the results of such research.

Such were some of the major Ford contributions to the betterment of agriculture and the entire nation. But many farmers regard the tractor, prime source of farm power, as a still larger Ford service to agriculture.

For the Fordson tractor that came on the market in 1917 was the world's first mass-produced, really low-priced tractor. Fordsons went to the farms one-half million strong, powerful proof that they met basic needs.

Today's Ford Tractor

The name "Ford" on a tractor today means engineering experience, manufacturing skill, and volume production resources that few machines in any field command. These factors provide the Ford Tractor's high quality, low price.

Outstanding performance is another reason for Ford Tractor popularity. That helps assure its high resale value, as does the certainty that parts can always be had.

To the nation's farmers, getting ready for more efficient and abundant production, Ford Farming means better work, more production!

Cancer Not Caused
By Fluoride Water
Says Health Office

AUSTIN.— Cancer does not develop any earlier in areas where the water contains a high proportion of fluorides than it does in fluorine free areas, morbidity statistics compiled by the Texas State Department of Health and the M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research in Houston show.

State Health Officer George W. Cox, in a statement flatly refuting claims by a University of Texas biochemist that fluoride in municipal drinking water might speed up the development of breast cancer, said the M. D. Anderson cancer research center, an adjunct of the University of Texas, completely supported the State Health Department's contention that fluoride additions to city water supplies does not accelerate the trend toward mammary cancer.

The state health agency has for the past two years recommended that municipalities add fluoride in the amount of one part fluoride to one million parts of water as a deterrent to tooth decay among children.

Also in support of the health department's position is the word of Dr. H. Trendly Dean, director of dental research, National Institute of Health.

Dr. Dean says he and "Dr. Howard B. Andervont (unidentified) have carefully evaluated the data in respect to the alleged relation of fluoride water to an accelerated rate in the development of mammary tumors, and are of the opinion that the evidence . . . does not warrant modification in the policy of recommending fluoridation of public drinking water supplies."

Dr. F. A. Bull, director of dental health in Wisconsin, in a letter to Dr. Cox, wrote that the Wisconsin health department has been accused of contributing to the cancer incidence for the past six years.

"We're going ahead, despite these deterrents, with fluoridation," Dr. Bull said.

Dr. Cox said the same bone of contention came up years ago when chlorine, now a common addition to drinking water, was first used to disinfect water supplies.

"Further postponement of fluorides in water would penalize children unnecessarily," the health officer said. "They deserve its cavity-preventing properties, and the State Department of Health will continue to recommend its use by any and all cities in the proper proportion."

DEARBORN, Mich.— The first moving assembly line in the automobile industry was put into operation at Ford Motor Company's Highland Park, Mich., plant in the spring of 1914. The principle of the moving line for entire assembly of automobiles developed from a small magnet assembly line started in the Highland Park plant in 1913.

Defying The Machine

This is a story, told by the Associated Press, about a mother bird that wouldn't frighten easily. It was a killdeer nesting in an area of Lakewood Park, Calif., where a $100,000,000 housing project is under way. When giant, 30-ton graders, rollers and other earth-moving machines nudged near her nest ten days ago, the killdeer calmly sat her ground, and continued on the nest.

Seeing the bird a second before it would have been too late, the brawny guy at the lever of the bulldozer held up. He consulted with the boss, who in turn checked with the contractors. As a result, the bird was by-passed by the whole churning cavalcade. Last Saturday the killdeer hatched her eggs, spent the week end feeding the little birds, and Monday they scattered, to make their way in the world.

This defiance of progress cost the contractors a pretty penny. A bunch of softies? Maybe. But somehow the circumstances give a person more hope for this race of mankind.

Black patches of soil are showing up around Muenster as farmers stir the soil in preparation for fall plantings of grains, alfalfa, vetch and peas. Along with plowing the land goes the construction of terraces, one of man's best tools for controlling soil erosion.

Paul Fetsch and Al Wiesman are the proud owners of new large channel type terraces. About a mile of these terraces have recently been completed on each of their farms northeast of Muenster. These channel type terraces are built entirely from the channel side and have such a wide sloping ridge that all farm machinery or the modern low, step-down-into cars can cross easily.

Clover harvest has progressed with Rudy Zipper and Henry Pick combining Biennial white clover and Paul Fisher, Edward Pick and Co. getting 3400 pounds of Huban sweet clover seed in the hopper.

J. W. Hess has combined seed from his King Ranch Bluestem plot and reports a take of around 50 pounds of seed per acre. The three year old plot is being grazed now, but will be deferred later in order to produce another seed crop this fall.

It was one of those restaurants where they have a pretty girl in the window making grid-dle cakes. A ragged little boy stood outside the window with his nose pressed intently against the glass.

A kindly gentleman, touched by the sight, asked the boy, "Hungry, little fellow?"

"Heck, naw!" was the snappy reply. "Cripes! Can't a fellow take a gander at a swell dame no more widout drawin' no crowd?"

Margaret Fleitman And Curtis Reeves United Saturday

Miss Margaret Fleitman and Curtis Reeves exchanged marriage vows Saturday morning at 8:30 in St. Peter's church in Lindsay with Rev. Conrad Herda officiating at the double ring ceremony and the nuptial high mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fleitman of Lindsay and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Reeves of Jacksboro.

For her wedding the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. The dress featured a high rounded neckline with a Peter Pan collar, petal point sleeves, fitted bodice and full gathered waltz-length skirt. Applied rosettes on the skirt matched the crown of Chantilly rosettes that held the fingertip length veil of illusion.

For something old the bride wore a diamond lavalier belonging to her mother, and for something blue she carried her father's rosary. She wore a penny in her shoe for luck.

The bride carried a white prayer book topped with a bouquet of white carnations showered with white satin streamers tied in lovers' knots.

Miss Mildred Fleitman, twin sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. She wore a frock of blue appliqued organ-dy over blue satin. A fitted bodice and full skirt with a wide sash giving a bustle effect in the back, a wide bertha collar and banded puffed sleeves were features of the dress. She wore a halo of fresh carnations in her hair and carried an arm bouquet of carnations.

Leonard Hermes of Lindsay was best man.

Pete and Nick Block, uncles of the bride, were ushers, and Henry Fleitman, brother of the bride, Eugene Block, her cousin, and Robert Fuhrmann and Alfred and Mark Hermes were acolytes for the mass.

As the couple entered the church, Miss Virginia Fleitman, sister of the bride, and Mmes. Ben Hermes and Nick Block sang "On This Day". The church choir with Mrs. W. J. Schmitz, organist, sang the wedding mass.

The bride's parents were hosts in their home for a dinner at noon and for a reception in the afternoon. The bride's table held the three-tier wedding cake. Miss Clara Bell Fleitman, another sister of the bride, of Dallas, presided at the guest book.

When the newlyweds left on a wedding trip, the bride was wearing a pink linen dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

They will make their home in Mineral Wells where he is employed by the Southland Ice Co. The bride is a graduate of Lindsay High school and a past president of the Young Ladies Sodality. Until her marriage she was employed in Gainesville.

Mr. Reeves attended school in Jacksboro. He was a member of the U. S. armed forces seeing duty in both the army and navy.

The Wilfred Bindels and daughter spent Sunday in Pilot Point with relatives.

The J. P. Flusches and children spent Sunday in Decatur visiting relatives.

duty and announced its own aims in the light of that duty. Our sacred obligation to God and humanity leaves us no other choice.

If we lack the integrity to act on principle we should at least have the good judgment to act as a matter of self preservation. Common sense tells us that if we permit Stalin to go on gobbling countries we'll eventually be a victim.

We might as well be realistic about the proposed Korean truce. We should agree on no settlement whatever unless it fits in with a plan to stop the communist expansion and restore the independence of every country we have betrayed to communism.
