Gossett Speaks at 4-H Award Dinner

Judging from comment and lack of comment, on the proposed amendments in next Tuesday's election, there seems to be little or no widespread objection to four of them. The other, however, has been given a rather rough going over by the critics.

That is the amendment concerning Old Age Assistance. For one thing it proposes an increase of 7 million dollars a year for the old age assistance fund. For another, it proposes to extend eligibility rolls to make the old age assistance benefits apply to any resident who has been in the state for 5 of the 9 years preceding the filing of an application including 1 year immediately preceding the filing of such application.

There seems to be little, if any, complaint about the extra $7 million. In view of increased living costs, people no doubt assume that payments to the aged should be higher. But there's plenty of complaint about the other provision which makes it possible for a vast number of aliens, who never qualified before, to get on the state's relief rolls. According to most estimates that increase in eligibility rolls will more than absorb the extra 7 million of relief money and result in smaller payments to all now receiving the benefits.

Of course, there are pros and cons on the subject. On the pro side is the question whether Texas can neglect persons who have lived and worked here, simply because they are not citizens. Can we discriminate against any needy person strictly on the grounds of citizenship? It doesn't seem the human thing to do.

On the other hand, should the state accept the responsibility for the welfare of people who have never accepted the responsibility of citizenship? Some of these folks have lived here for years, but never voted or served in the armed forces. Besides there's a possibility that many more of their kind will come to Texas and sweat out the necessary five years with relatives in order to qualify for the handout in their old age. It could become quite a racket.

So, the amendment offers a dilemma. One kind of vote is a kick in the face to lots of deserving aliens. The other kind of vote is an invitation to lots of undeserving, mooching aliens to claim free meal tickets at the expense of needy citizens whose relief checks would have to be reduced accordingly.

The people concerned, of course, are the Mexicans living mostly in South Texas. They've been here for a long time and we seem to be stuck with them.

But, will someone please explain why we're going through all this rigamarole when it would have been so much simpler to specify that the people concerned become citizens. Why not let the provision as it is and let it be known that a person must qualify as a citizen before he can expect other citizens to take care of him?

Another reminder this week that the County Red Cross Chapter is planning to have the bloodmobile come to Muenster for one of its county visits should serve as an inducement to local people to take new interest in the drive for blood donors. Here is another fine opportunity for the community to distinguish itself with a worthwhile public service.

It is hardly necessary to comment on the merits of the Red Cross drive for blood. Most people know that it is being collected for the armed forces in Korea. Most people know also that many a battle casualty would not be able to pull through if it were not for the life sustaining blood available in field hospitals. That blood is supplied by the Red Cross, which in turn depends on people like you and me for its supply.

All through the war, and during the years since, this community has been outstanding in its generous response to every effort in behalf of service men. We know that it intends to continue the fine record, and that a fine representation will volunteer to donate when the

Ed Gossett, general counsel for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, Dallas, and former congressman from the 13th Texas District, was the principal speaker at the annual Cooke County 4-H Achievements dinner Tuesday at 7 p. m. in the Community Center building.

The dinner honored outstanding 4-H club boys and girls who were special guests.

"The only success is to have contributed something to human life," Mr. Gossett said. Taking the 4-H club motto as a basis for his talk, he suggested that each "H" had a meaning above its literal one. "Head might be a symbol of the mind and the ability to reason and judge for oneself; heart may be a symbol of honesty, courage, faith and enthusiasm; hand, a symbol for work; and health as a reminder of one's obligation to preserve health," he said. In closing he added that the future depends on the young people and what he saw gathered there made him believe it was safe.

Clydene Roane, Valley View 4-H girl was mistress of ceremonies, Donald Bayer, Sacred Heart 4-H club boy, introduced special guests, and A. Morton Smith of the Gainesville Register, gave the invocation.

Special dinner music was presented by Sonny and Norma

Anna Grace Herr To Reign as Queen At Homecoming

Miss Anna Grace Herr, junior at Muenster High school, will reign as queen over the annual homecoming ceremonies here Friday night when the Muenster Hornets meet the Sanger Indians.

Miss Herr will be crowned in colorful ceremonies, scheduled for 7:30, on the 50 yard line, if the weather permits. If the weather is bad the ceremonies will be held in the school gymnasium. Co-captains Roger Wolf and Damian Hellman will escort Her Royal Highness and present her with her crown and scepter.

Attending Queen Anna Grace will be Princesses Jeanette Walter, Carol Hellman and Rita Cain, runners-up in the contest to select a queen, and duchesses from the grade school.

Sanger will provide a princess in the queen's court. The royal party will be honored during the game and again at the dance following the game. The Twilighters will play for the dance in the gym.

County Red Cross Nears Goal in Drive For Blood Donor Volunteers on Nov. 15

With 77 applicants still to be signed up, the Cooke County Red Cross Chapter is striving this week to reach its goal of 250 volunteers to donate blood when the Red Cross bloodmobile comes to Gainesville next Thursday, Nov. 15.

Mrs. Doris Sutton, County Red Cross secretary, revealed Wednesday that the list of volunteers now numbers 173, including 15 from Muenster.

The county's quota is 200 donors. Allowing for an average of about 20 per cent who are dismissed at the examination preceding a blood donation, the chapter is trying to complete a list of 250 volunteers.

Along with her report Mrs. Sutton pointed out also that plans are underway now to have the

Tigers, Mustangs Meet Thursday in Homecoming Tilt

The pageantry of homecoming and the traditional rivalry of the Muenster-Saint Mary's football contests promise a big evening for Thursday night when the Tigers and Mustangs clash on the local field.

Amid pomp and ceremony, Her Royal Highness Gladys Hoffman, attended by her royal court, will be crowned the 1951 Tiger football queen.

And the game, bringing together two determined and evenly matched teams, promises to all the excitement that has featured the former Mustang appearances here.

By special arrangement the Gainesville team will be bolstered by three of last year's graduates. Coach Rufus Bezner explained that because of early season losses in his lineup he has not been able to field a complete team without the help of his exes.

As far as the fans are concerned the presence of those men will add spice to the game. The revised team's record in the past few contests have been close to that of the Tigers. Indications are that the game will be evenly matched and will furnish the usual number of thrills for a Muenster-Saint Mary's tussle.

Donald Bayer Is 1951 Cooke County 4-H Gold Star Boy

Donald Bayer of Muenster has been named the Gold Star 4-H Club boy for Cooke county for 1951.

He has been a member of the Sacred Heart 4-H club for five years and has held the office of president for four years.

Donald has completed 14 projects in swine, field crops, Hereford heifer, beef steer, tractor maintenance, and soil conservation. He has shown animals in the local 4-H and FFA Fat Stock show, County Fair and Dairy Day.

He has attended the A&M 4-H Round-Up twice, in 1950 and 1951. In 1950 he was a member of the grass judging team which placed first in the state. He has also been on the beef cattle judging team which placed second in the district in 1950 and in 1951.

Donald is active in 4-H club, school and church work.

Cooke County Will Vote Tuesday On 1 Representative and 5 Amendments

Boyd High Forfeits Contest to Hornets

A forfeit by the Boyd High Yellowjackets last Friday gave the Hornets their third conference victory of the season and saved them the discomfort of making a long trip through bad weather.

Early Friday Superintendent Cowan was advised by the Boyd High authorities that they preferred to forfeit because of the illness on the team. Three players were unable to get into the game and a few others, though able to play, were not in proper physical condition, especially not in that day's severe weather.

North Ballot Box Location Changed, South Box May Be

The location of one Muenster ballot box will be changed for next Tuesday's election, and the other may be changed also, according to announcements by the election judges this week.

I. A. Schoech stated definitely that voting for the north box will be in the city hall instead of the public school. In view of the fact that ballots are short and the group of voters at any time is not likely to be large, he decided to move to the smaller place and not disturb classes at the school. Polls will be open from 8 to 7.

Paul Fisher, judge of the south box, said that the weather next Tuesday will determine whether the election will be in the elevator office south of the Katy tracks as usual or in his home. If the day is warm and clear the old voting box will be used. If cold and rainy the box will be moved. Fisher will post a sign at the old location if he has to make the change. He too, will keep the polls open from 8 to 7.

Tigers Lose 13-12 To Laneri Micks

The old Laneri jinx hung over the Sacred Heart Tigers again Friday night and the Micks returned to Fort Worth with a 13-12 victory.

In a few thrill-packed final minutes the Tigers threatened twice to push over the winning TD but a determined team of Micks stopped them once and time, along with the Micks, stopped the second attempt. Four times from the twelve fell short of yardage. Again moments later, two attempted passes from the 15 were smeared as the Micks rushed Herr before he could spot a receiver. And that's where the game ended.

Judging from developments as the game opened, the Tigers did a fine job of holding their opponents to a 13-12 decision. The first quarter was all Laneri's and though it failed to score, it marked up a big advantage in gains. One reason perhaps is that it did not have to contend with George Mollenkopf, normally a powerhouse both offensively and defensively on the Tiger lineup. An early injury kept him out of most of the game.

Starting from their 28 the Micks reached the Tiger 45 before the Tigers held and took a kick on the 17. Three attempts gained only 4 and the Tigers booted.

Launching another attack from their 48 the Micks gained 13 in two tries and then ran into trouble. A nice gain of 9 was followed by a 15 yard penalty, a 5 yard loss and an interception by Endres.

That was the break which gave the Tigers their start. Steady plunging, mostly by Herr advanced from the 44 to the 14 and a penalty on the Micks at that point gave the Tigers the ball on the 2 with four downs to go. The second attempt was good, Endres going over on a quarterback sneak. The kick for extra point was blocked.

For the rest of the half Laneri again took over but fell short

In a special election to be held next Tuesday, Nov. 13, voters of Cooke county will choose a representative to the state legislature and approve or disapprove five proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Candidates for representative, to fill the unexpired term of Austin Westbrook, are Richard S. Stark and Cliff Gardner, both of Gainesville.

Drawing most attention is the amendment to raise the ceiling on public welfare from $35,000,000 to $42,000,000.

That would mean a little more money in the checks for old age pensioners. The maximum payment would be increased from $50 to $60.

John H. Winters, director of the state department of public welfare, says the average check would be increased about $3 or $4. Checks will still be written in accordance with need and rationed in accordance with the total money available and number of recipients on the old age rolls, Winters said.

Should the amendment pass, the legislature would have to appropriate the money before it could go to the pensioners. Gov. (Continued on Page 12)

Muenster, Sanger Tangle Friday for Conference Lead

1951 District 12-B football history will be in the making here Friday night when the Hornets play their homecoming game against the Sanger High Indians.

At this time, Muenster, Sanger and Saint Jo are the three undefeated conference contenders and the winner of the Hornet-Indian tussle will advance comfortably close to the district title.

Saint Jo's chance to advance comes next week in its game with Sanger and the final conference game will be the Hornet-Panther contest here on Thanksgiving Day.

The season record indicates that Sanger has one of the powerhouse class B outfits of North Texas, and a comparison of scores against teams that were played by both the Hornets and the Indians shows that in each case the Indians ran up a much more decisive score. Sanger defeated Alvord 28-0, Muenster squeezed out a 12-6 victory. Likewise against Era and Valley View the Indians' margin of victory bested the Hornets' by three touchdowns. Another indication of the visiting team's strength is its 12-12 tie with the strong Lewisville Farmers.

According to the dopsters, Sanger is due to beat the Hornets by two or three touchdowns but Coach Hood and his youngsters have other ideas. They've been priming for this game as the crucial contest in their conference schedule and they're determined to put on their best performance of the season. If alertness and hustle will enable them to upset the Indians, they intend to make the game a treat for the homecoming crowd.

News of Sick And Injured

Mrs. Sidney Huchton spent Monday through Thursday at Gainesville Sanitarium for treatment and observation.

Word this week from Father Anthony, former Sacred Heart pastor, reveals that he is back in Altus, Ark., recovering his strength and convalescing from recent surgery performed in Morrilton, Ark. He says many thanks to all who remembered him with get-well wishes and other kindnesses while he was hospitalized.

Mrs. L. A. Bernauer will return home this week end after a week's stay in Fort Worth where she underwent treatment for an arm ailment. Her husband and her brother, Frank Kaiser, took her to Fort Worth last Friday, returning the same day. Mrs. Bernauer stayed with her niece, Mrs. C. A. Stelzer and husband and went to the hospital from there for the treatments.

Eleanora Hoenic,
Arnold Fuhrmann
United Wednesday

A double ring ceremony at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday united Miss Eleanora Hoenic of Muenster and Arnold Fuhrmann of Lindsay.

The couple exchanged vows in Sacred Heart church with Rev. Louis Deuster, pastor, directing, and officiating at the nuptial high Mass that followed. Gladiolas and greenery adorned the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoenic of Muenster and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Fuhrmann of Lindsay.

Lovely Bride

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a bridal gown of traditional white slipper satin with fitted V bodice and full gathered skirt. A lace yoke outlined with scallops topped the bodice and tiny covered buttons extended down the front. The bride's two-tiered fingertip length veil of illusion fell from a satin Juliet cap edged with lilies of the valley. Her flowers were white carnations arranged in a colonial bouquet.

For "something new" she carried a sterling silver rosary, a gift from the groom; "something old" was an antique gold necklace which her late grandmother, Mrs. Henry Fleitman, wore at her wedding, 50 years ago; for "something borrowed and blue" the bride wore a pair of earrings belonging to Miss Ethel Bayer.

Sister Is Attendant

Miss Rita Hoenic attended her sister as maid of honor. Her dress of peacock blue satin was fashioned identical to the bride's and her Juliet cap and mitts matched her gown. She carried a bouquet of bronze pom-pom mums.

Erwin Fuhrmann was best man for his brother. Another brother, Val Fuhrmann, and the bride's uncle, Alfonso Hoenic, were ushers. Men in the wedding party wore white carnation boutonnières.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hoenic wore a light brown suit with dark brown accessories and a corsage of bronze pom-pom mums. The groom's mother wore a black ensemble with black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Pre-nuptial music was presented by Anthony Luke, organist, and Miss Mary Ann Felderhoff, cousin of the bride, vocalist, who sang "On This Day." Mr. Luke played the traditional wedding marches and remained at the organ to assist the church choir in singing the two-voiced Mass, Missa Tertia. For a post-nuptial selection the choir sang a hymn to the Blessed Virgin.

Wedding Day Festivities

After the church services, breakfast was served in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Val Fuhrmann for members of the bridal party and parents of the couple. At noon the bride's parents had a lunch in their home for immediate members of the families of the couple.

A reception began in the parish hall at 3 o'clock and dinner followed. Decorations stressed the bride's colors of blue and white and the bride's table was covered with a hand woven pure linen cloth belonging to the bride's mother. The table held the three-tiered decorated cake flanked by candles.

After the newlyweds cut the cake, Miss Anita Fuhrmann, niece of the groom, served it to the guests. Miss Betty Jean Fleitman, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book.

Among out of town guests at the wedding were the groom's uncle and aunt, the Joe Mossers of Durant, Okla., and Mmes. J. M. Finley and Marie Rinke of Little Rock, Ark.

A dance in the Lindsay hall at night concluded the day's festivities.

When Mr. and Mrs. Fuhrmann left on their wedding trip the bride was wearing a red and black pin-check suit with black accessories and a mum corsage. When they return they will make their home near Lindsay where he farms.

The bride graduated from Sacred Heart High school with the class of 1949. The groom attended St. Peter's school in Lindsay.

Guests of the Hugh Jacksons Tuesday were the Joe Parkers of Fort Worth and Mrs. Maude Waldman of Hartford, Conn. Mmes. Parker and Waldman are Hugh's sisters.

The Joe Linns had a letter this week from J. A. Sanders of Woodboro, formerly of Muenster telling about his wife, Thelma, being on the Zephyr that was wrecked between Houston and Dallas. She was enroute to California to visit a sick brother at the time. She was hospitalized for X-rays and examination but was fortunate in having no broken bones. She is convalescing at home from bruises and shock.

Organic Gardening Is Program Topic At Garden Meeting

Mrs. Lee Toothaker, speaking on Organic Gardening and Earth Worms, gave an instructive and entertaining talk at the regular meeting of the Civic League and Garden Club Thursday night, Nov. 1.

She began her address with a quotation from Norman Vincent Peale—"God meant no waste, so he put earth worms in the soil as tenders of the good ground."

Mrs. Toothaker, who has had actual experience with earth worms in her garden plots and blower beds, explained that organic material from grass, tree leaves and such, is eaten by the worms and mixed by them with the mineral soil. They move and enrich many tons of soil to the acre each year. The purpose of the earth worms, she pointed out, is to increase decomposition, return all waste to the soil as fertilizer. Their constant tumbling in the soil keeps the ground pliable and provides drainage after rains. The worms also give to the soil nitrogen, phosphate and potash.

Well nourished earth worms, she said, do much better work than poorly nourished worms. To help the cause along she urged that members bury their egg shells, fruit hulls, vegetable peels, dead leaves, etc.

The meeting was held in the home of Miss Olivia Stock and Mrs. Steve Moster, president, was in charge of the business session.

Committee chairmen gave their reports and members made tentative plans for their annual Christmas party that will feature a book review.

Members set future meeting dates for the second Monday of the month, so as not to conflict with other activities on the schedule for the first Thursday.

An interesting talk during the program hour was Mrs. Joe Luke's report on Garden Club Day at the State Fair and attendance at lectures and flower arranging demonstrations given by Gregory Conway, world famous floral arranger.

Mrs. Frank Yosten brought an arrangement of chrysanthemums and snapdragons for the meeting. Other flower arrangements in the home were chrysanthemums

VFW Ladies Plan Program of Events

A program of coming events was planned when members of the local VFW Auxiliary held a regular business meeting Monday night.

Armistice Day Service Next Sunday the ladies will conduct an Armistice Day service at the local cemetery following the 10 o'clock Mass. Everyone is invited to attend.

Benefit Party Nov. 18 On Sunday evening, Nov. 18, the organization will sponsor a "Goose and Down" party in the parish hall. Everybody is invited to attend this benefit affair at which a goose and an electric blanket will be given away. Members are making plans for various carnival attractions for entertainment. Mrs. Maurice Pagel is general chairman.

Christmas Party Other coming events for which tentative plans were outlined are the annual Christmas parties for members and for their children. The ladies drew names for a gift exchange and appointed a committee to be in charge of arrangements. Complete details are to be announced at the next meeting on Dec. 3.

President, Mrs. Maurice Pagel, presided for the business, and was co-hostess with Mrs. Steve Moster for the social hour. They served homemade pie and coffee. Mrs. Ray Wilde won the attendance prize.

Saint Anne Study Club Is Organized

The organization of a discussion club was the principal business of the Saint Anne's Society at a regular meeting Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Tony Gremminger, who has had experience as a study club leader, accepted chairmanship of the club and will lead the members in their study of the textbook, "We Discuss the Creed," by Joseph B. Collins, S. S., D. D., Ph. D.

The women will meet on Sunday afternoons at 3:30 in the church basement, with the exception of the second Sunday

Independence at Stake in Indiana

Let us suppose that in an imaginary town called Lotus most of the people beyond age 65 had been thrifty enough to lay up a "nest egg" for old age; or they had relatives who assisted them in obtaining their basic requirements. Yet, a few were needy, their circumstances requiring charity.

The population of Lotus voted to place a tax on all earners in the community to give systematic charity aid to these needy persons. Later someone suggested that the populations of the surrounding communities ought to chip in on the charity fund. Hardly anyone agreed. The general feeling was that it was the sole responsibility of Lotus to assist its needy persons. And besides, it was pointed out, the other towns had their own needy to look after.

Enter Uncle Sam

Then one day Uncle Sam came to Lotus. He said the gifts to the needy should be increased and that other aged persons ought to be added to the assistance list. To help Lotus citizens take care of their entire local welfare problem, Uncle Sam proposed to make donations. Many Lotus citizens balked at this. They said it was the same thing as asking the neighboring communities to chip in, for Uncle Sam's money came from taxes on all communities. But there was no organized resistance against Uncle Sam's offer. It was accepted.

The welfare rolls grew. Both local contributions and Uncle Sam's "gifts" were increased. To handle his end of it, Uncle Sam had to continually increase tax rates. Finally his tax on Lotus for his welfare fund added up to 30 per cent more than Lotus was getting back from him. Instead of a help, Uncle Sam had become a burden. Moreover, it became obvious that deadbeats and chislers had wormed their way onto Lotus welfare rolls. The citizens started action to cut them off. But Uncle Sam warned that they were breaking rules he'd laid down and that if they didn't stop he'd halt his donations. Lotus citizens realized they'd got themselves into a costly situation. They had to obey Uncle Sam's orders or lose his donations. And in either case his heavy welfare tax on Lotus citizens would continue.

It's Indiana

If you now substitute the word "Indiana" for "Lotus" the foregoing becomes a true story. The issue in Indiana is independence. The people are finding that they can't have independence and be dependent on the Federal government too. The lesson is proving extremely costly. In Indiana a great deal of money is involved. Also involved is one of the truly important issues in our American life today: Whether local responsibilities shall be shouldered locally or passed along to a paternalistic and powerful central government. The Indiana Legislature passed a state law this year permitting inspection of welfare rolls. Uncle Sam, who had been sending $20 million a year to the Indiana welfare fund, announced he wouldn't send another penny.

Job for All the States

So Indiana people were confronted with this situation: Either they could bow to control by the Federal government, or pay the full welfare load themselves. There was a strong inclination to bow to control and get the $20 million—because, out of the 1950 earnings of Indiana people, $973,000,000 went to Washington in Federal taxes. Approximately $30 million of this went into the Federal welfare fund. And yet, Indiana got back only $20 million of its welfare money, and only another $30 million or so in Federal aid in all categories.

How, indeed, can the local people anywhere adequately meet their local needs when Federal taxes are taking so much of their earnings and rapidly drying up the incentive to increase the production of wealth? No matter how noble and self-sacrificing her people might be, only 20 per cent and should then levy just half the same amount to foot her entire $43 million an-

by Rev. Edmond Benard

Because we are what we are—human beings—the search for Faith is not a simple matter of reading books, or listening to talks, or weighing arguments pro and con. It is this, yes, but vastly more.

The Church has always maintained, calmly and confidently, that the claims of Christ to teach the truth of God, and the claim of the Church to speak with Christ's living voice, can be proved from history and reason.

She has always maintained that from one who searches with an open mind, the city seated on the mountain cannot be hid.

Price Is High

But the Church has always recognized also that the Faith does not bludgeon us into bowing before it. If a man does not want to believe, he can always find excuses for not believing.

You see—let us face it frankly—it costs a man something to accept the Faith. To believe in Christ means to follow Christ's teaching; and His teachings sometimes interfere with what a man considers pleasure, or his comfort, or his pride.

2 + 2 = 4

Most men will admit that two plus two equals four. It costs them nothing to admit it. But to see in Christ the Way, the Truth, and the Life means often that a man must change the semi-pagan life to which he has become accustomed.

Our human nature being what it is, if a man had to change his way of life in order to admit that two plus two equals four, I am afraid that almost as many men would deny it as deny that Christ is God. The mind is, in one respect, like water; it seeks its own level.

That is why a right state of heart, which means a right conscience and certain sound moral inclinations, is the first necessity for the search for Faith.

2nd Necessity
 The second requirement is strength of will. Strength of will is needed, not precisely so that a man may see the truth, but so that he can overcome the obstacles, in his own life, in his own surroundings, perhaps in his own education, that prevent him from looking clearly at the truth.

Finally, there is need for love, the love of truth and the love of God. No one who does not love the truth and God will ever find the truth or God.

A right state of heart and strength of will, together with a love of truth and God, will light the way to Faith. And the Faith is a pledge of peace of mind here on earth and eternal happiness hereafter.

nual welfare cost while at the same time contributing $30 million to the Federal welfare fund and nearly a billion dollars altogether in Federal taxes. If she could cut her Federal tax bill Indiana could ill afford for long locally, $100 million additional of her own money would be available to her for welfare needs, improvement of public education, highways, etc. But Indiana alone cannot swing America back to local self-government and local responsibility. It's a job for 48 states, a desperately needed job!

LET'S STICK TO MOSES!

When they were preparing to produce the motion picture "The Ten Commandments," the director and the author of the story consulted a professor who had been recommended as an authority on the Law of Moses. They expected a scholarly explanation, but when the professor had finished, there was little left of the Ten Commandments—and no story.

After the interview, when they were alone again, the disgusted director remarked: "We'll stick to Moses."

Yes, let's stick to Moses! There may be those who would abolish the Ten Commandments, but let's stick to the Commandments as God gave them to us through Moses.

And there is no better way of doing so, than by sticking to Jesus Christ, Who gave us the Commandments of love—the love of God and the love of our neighbor. All other Commandments are contained in these two.

"Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God. . . The observance of Christ's first Commandment will establish in us a strong, dignified personal relationship to God. If we love the true God, we will give Him the honor that is His due. . . we will respectfully use His Holy Name. . . we will not think it too much to spend one day of the week in His company.

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," said the Savior. Who should hold first place among our neighbors, if not our parents. . . or our own children?

And it should be obvious that if we love our neighbor, we will not take his life, or damage his health. Decent human love surely excludes the burlesque of love called adultery and the fierce attack which this lust makes upon the innocent and unprotected.

We would never steal from the ones we love; nor would we rob them of their good name. Certainly we would not lift a covetous hand to deprive them of the things intended to make their lives full and contented.

Let's stick to Moses, whose Commandments forbade human beings to break the bonds and destroy the relationships that preserve human dignity, develop character and guarantee human safety.

Let's stick to Christ, Who, in a more spiritual way, pointed out that if we love rightly and well, we will obey the law of God. . . protect all the relationships that guarantee our own happiness and make life safe and happy for the people who are our neighbors.

The Ten Commandments are God's design for human living. Are you familiar with them? Do you understand how important they are in your daily life? Write today for our free pamphlet on this subject. Ask for Pamphlet No. 12-KC.

"Talks Turkey" — Long Distance

Some people chuckled when Sonny Fisher rented a home recording machine to record the noise his flock of turkeys make.

"I sent the recording to a buyer for a super-market chain," Sonny said. "I told them 'My turkeys speak for themselves—listen to this record!' They not only took my birds, but bought the record!"

"Why did they want the record?" I asked him. "Very simple," he says. "They're going to play it over the loud speakers in their stores—and then an announcer on another record reminds the customers that turkeys are plentiful and a good buy."

From where I sit, it's not always smart to make fun of someone just because he does things a little differently. I think a glass of beer is the most refreshing beverage there is. You—or Sonny—may prefer something else. But who's to decide one's right and the other's wrong? Let's stay "on record" that everyone's entitled to his own tastes and opinion.

McCORMICK Spreaders Place Manure Accurately

Does your soil have "dry pockets"—spots where crop-producing manure has not been placed?

You can correct this with the accurate, even spreading of a McCormick Manure Spreader. This is especially true with the No. 200-F Tractor Spreader, since it carries all the fluid manure onto the fields with no waste of the valuable liquid portion.

Yes, all five models in the McCormick Spreader line give you full value from your manure, because of their fine shredding and even flow of material to the beater. Sizes from 40 to 75 bu. capacity. Ask for details on the model that fits your farm.

No. 200-F Tractor Spreader, built for rugged use, also has larger capacity and is easier to load.

A Message of Importance

★ ★ ★ To Every Automobile Driver ★ ★ ★
In The State of Texas

HERE'S WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE NEW TEXAS "SAFETY RESPONSIBILITY LAW"

- 1 Enforcement Begins January 1, 1952. On this date, the new Safety Responsibility Law, as passed by the Legislature, goes into effect. This law was designed to protect you against financially irresponsible drivers and owners of motor vehicles involved in accidents. It affects all drivers and motor vehicle owners (except Federal, State, County and City-owned cars).
- 2 What Must You Do After An Accident? Under existing laws, you must file a written report to the Department of Public Safety if your car is involved in an accident where there is a death, an injury or property damage in excess of $25. Under the new law, a written report must be filed within ten days if your car is in an accident resulting in death, injury or property damage in excess of $100.
- 3 You Don't Have to Carry Liability Insurance, But . . . If you are not insured against bodily injury and property damage liability, you must be able to deposit with the Department of Public Safety security equal to the estimated damage, not exceeding $15,000.00, to cover all claims growing out of an accident anywhere in Texas in which you or your motor vehicle were involved. If you cannot establish financial responsibility for the future, your driver's license and your motor vehicle license plates are automatically suspended.
- 4 It's Easy to Establish Financial Responsibility with a motor vehicle liability insurance policy. If you do not now have such a policy, call your local insurance agent today. He is a qualified insurance counselor who will be happy to advise you concerning your needs.
- 5 What is the Minimum of Your Liability? The law permits each driver to establish the following minimum limits of liability: up to $5,000.00 for injuries sustained by one person; up to $10,000.00 for all personal injuries resulting from one accident, and up to $5,000.00 for property damage. You do not have to establish such liability but it is the easiest way.

SELECT AN ESTABLISHED INSURANCE AGENT. The agents listed below know the insurance business and represent well-known dependable capital stock insurance companies only. These agents are not of the kind that are here today and gone tomorrow. A telephone call will find them ready to serve you—not only NOW—but YEARS from now.

Motorists Urged to Ask for Leaflet on Responsibility Law

Austin, November 8—Texas motorists were urged today by Public Safety Director Homer Garrison Jr., to apply to any gasoline service station for a copy of the state's official leaflet about the new Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Law, which becomes effective on January 1. "This leaflet was prepared," Director Garrison said, "to give automobile owners and operators the information they should have about this law before it goes into effect. It can be read in five minutes. I hope, of course, that all motorists will study the facts that are set forth in the leaflet and will keep it in their car for future reference in case they have an accident and are confused about what to do.

"It does not attempt to cover all of the provisions of the law and carefully avoids legal language, so that any layman may understand it easily. It was written to help the great majority of motorists—private passenger car owners and operators and small business firms operating one or two delivery cars. The larger owners of motor vehicles, of course, will want to study the entire law in greater detail. "The leaflet is free and provides important information about the following subjects: what is the law, who it affects, what to do after an accident, the circumstances that require suspension of both operating license and registration plates, and the several means the law provides for avoiding this penalty.

"Any motorist can obtain one or several merely for the asking. It may save them a lot of trouble, expense and inconvenience."

Stalin's Railroads

Here's a pretty fair comparison of Russia's railroads and those of the U. S. A. Russia has 60,000 miles of mainline railroad, we have more than 200,000 miles of main line. And Russia has even longer distances than have we. Uncle Joe, during this Korean affair—which he pretends he knows nothing about—has to use the Trans-Siberian Railway, extending 6,000 miles across Russia to the Pacific. Over this line move the supplies for China and the Communist armies fighting our forces over there. That Trans-Seberian line has a maximum freight capacity of 40,000 gross tons a day. Just one of the various railroads that operate to our Western Coast can move 72,000 gross tons of freight a day. The Trans-Siberian must carry the full load to the front. Pushing it hard it can carry a million tons a month—enough to equip 15 armored divisions. One of our Western railroads, based on its 1945 wartime performance, could deliver twice that amount.

Rats are Menace to Health and Economy

Austin, Texas.—Because of the economic losses they cause to industry and commerce and the annoyance they create in homes, rats have been considered a serious menace to mankind since long before their role as vectors of disease was understood. Today at least six diseases which are transmitted to man from the rat are known to medical science, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. These diseases include the dread plague, typhus, trichinosis, a form of jaundice, tapeworm, and food poisoning. The whole history of the role rats play in the transmission of disease remains as yet unknown.

"It is necessary to public health," Dr. Cox said, "that a continuous rat control program be maintained in every urban and rural area throughout Texas. This is of especial importance on farms where rats may flourish by feeding on grain and other farm products."

The doctor pointed out that rats like other living things, require food and shelter if they are to propagate and increase in number. Destroying their shelter and breeding places includes the employing of ratproof design in buildings, the use of ratproof materials in construction, employing ratproof methods of construction and installation, and providing for periodic inspection of buildings to insure permanent safety. This program will force the rat out into the open where its destruction may be accomplished.

Ray Wilde is in Detroit where on Monday he entered the post-graduate school of Modern Merchandising and Management.

World famous as the "West Point of Industry", the school was founded in 1938 primarily to help train qualified Chevrolet dealer sons in dealer management. It has graduated almost 1000 men.

Subjects studied during the six-week course include history, growth, and importance of the automobile industry, market analysis, the Chevrolet product, sales promotion, service and mechanical, parts and accessories, business management, advertising, public speaking and budget.

Visits to the company's manufacturing plants give students direct personal training on the product and its service requirements. More than 90 specialists are on the faculty.

control measures 's the elimination of all food supplies. This consists of storing all food in ratproof buildings or in ratproof containers, the proper storage and disposal of garbage, and careful feeding of stock to prevent waste feed from being picked up by the rats.

By observing these control measures, the community will benefit not only in the eradication of a nuisance and economic menace but in improved health conditions and the prevention of rat-borne diseases.

Vote for STARK

Richard S. Stark

for State Representative

Tuesday, Nov. 13, 1951

SPECIAL ELECTION DAY

Cooke County's House Seat at Stake

Next Tuesday, November 13, is Special Election Day in Texas. Texas voters will decide on five amendments to the State Constitution and fill vacant legislative posts.

The election next Tuesday has much greater significance to Cooke County citizens. We are not merely electing a State Representative to fill out an unexpired term, but we will be deciding whether Cooke County will continue to be represented in Austin.

The Fifty-second Legislature re-districted Cooke county, taking away its single representative. Beginning next summer Cooke county, population 22,146, will share its representative with Grayson county, population 70,467.

Cooke county must be prepared to fight for its seat in the Legislature. Cooke county must back its native son with united and undivided support if we are to maintain our rightful representation.

Richard S. Stark is a loyal, lifetime resident of Cooke county. He has had substantial legal training and is in every respect qualified to serve in the House of Representatives. Stark is active and alert, dependable and trustworthy.

Let's field an incumbent-candidate next summer that will wage an aggressive battle to keep Cooke county represented. Let's elect Richard S. Stark, State Representative, next Tuesday, November 13th.

Stark's Six-Point Platform

As your Representative I will favor:

1. Keeping state spending to a minimum, yet not to the extent of curtailing the operation of efficient government, but eliminate waste and extravagant spending and abolition of unnecessary state agencies.

2. Keeping state taxes to a minimum. Present taxation is such an oppressive burden that any new taxes will work an undue hardship on individual initiative and free enterprise. I feel that the entire tax structure of Texas should be studied and revised at an early date in order that we may have a more equitable tax program.

3. Support of soil conservation programs in order that a more comprehensive program may be worked out to help the farmer and rancher save their fast depleting top soil.

4. Continuation of the Rural Road Program in order that our present state policy of more farm-to-market roads may be carried out. I shall oppose any change that would curtail the building of such roads or that would take away from the Highway Department their program of building such roads.

5. Support for reasonable Veterans programs. I will continue to support such worthwhile legislation as the Veterans Land Program.

6. Appropriations for the Old Age Assistance Program in the manner approved by the people of Texas when they voted on this issue on November 13. I shall be guided by the actions of the people on this matter.

If elected your Representative I shall serve and work vigorously and energetically at all times for the benefit of the citizens of Cooke County and Texas. I earnestly solicit the vote and support of the people of Cooke County in the special election November 13.

Let's elect Richard S. Stark for State Representative

Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District News

DISTRICT SUPERVISORS

J. W. Hess, Münster Henry Reynolds, Nocona
John Rice, Collinsville Ed Blackmon, Bowie
Willard Kempln, Valley View

Conservation farming doesn't cost—it pays. It pays off in preventing loss of valuable topsoil. It pays off by getting more water into the soil where it can be used to grow better crops. It pays off in preventing down-stream flow and silt damage, and it pays off in increased crop yields that mean a more prosperous farm and a better community and nation.

The farm of Henry Henseid near Myra is a good example of how farming the Conservation Way can increase production on farmlands. Several years ago before Henseid began applying soil conservation practices to his land his average yield of oats was only 15 bushel per acre.

Henry was one of the first to become a cooperator with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District in the Münster area and was quick to start working out a complete conservation farm plan on his farm. He terraced all the sloping fields to protect them from erosion and to allow more water to get into the ground. He included Madrid sweet clover and alfalfa in his crop rotations to add nitrogen and organic matter to the soil and break up any plow pans that had developed under grain farming. Henry practices contour farming and leaves all crop residue on the soil surface as a protective mulch.

Mr. Henseid has been farming the conservation way for a number of years and is thoroughly sold on these new fangled methods or as he puts it, "since I started farming with conservation methods the farm produces twice what it used to." As an example of this higher production, he points to the land that used to produce the 15 bushels of oats per acre. This same soil produced 30 bushels of oats per acre last season. At current prices this means that his income from each acre has been increased from $18.75 to $37.50 by better farming methods and this increase occurred in a year that will make history as a bad crop year in this area. Another example where conservation farming is paying its way in increased farm incomes.

Favorable fall moisture has sprouted over a thousand acres of alfalfa on fields in the Münster area and the alfalfa is up to a good stand. Austrian winter peas and vetch and rye plantings are also turning the fields green with their foliage. These winter crops are grown to protect the soil from beating rains during the winter and early spring, to increase the water intake capacity of the soil and to increase the fertility and production of the land.

Münster farmers believe in using each acre of their farms for the crop that it will grow best. Some of those acres are used for a pond site to supply stock water. This week those acres were given another job producing fish for the family dinner table and recreation for hard working farm families. The State fish hatchery truck visited Münster on Thursday and delivered fish to stock the tanks. Those receiving fish to stock tanks or for restocking old tanks include Joe Starke, John Kreitz, Paul Fisher, Norbert Felderhoff, W. H. Endres, Urban Endres, Paul Endres, John and Joe Kleiss, Bruno Fleitman, Al Wiesman, Henry Pick and Dude Rosson.

Carl Strauss in the Mount Pleasant Conservation Group three miles south of Gainesville has just harvested six acres of King Ranch bluestem, using a grain combine on which some adjustments and alterations had been made. Something over 100 pounds of high class seed was obtained in addition to several hundred pounds of "tailings" which will be run through a hammer mill so that it can be used for re-seeding of retired cultivated land to pasture. At the present price of $2.00 per pound for K. R. bluestem the sale of the clean seed would gross about $35.00 per acre in addition to the value of the "tailings" which according to Gregg Gentry, Soil Conservation Service technician who assisted Strauss in combining, is probably worth as much as the clean seed for re-seeding purposes.

The area from which Strauss combined his seed in addition to serving as a source of seed for re-seeding of pasture is also a waterway for receiving terrace runoff water from an adjoining cultivated field. The bluestem was seeded in the spring of 1950 and two cuttings of Johnsongrass hay has been harvested each year so as to allow the bluestem to overcome the Johnsongrass competition.

Fish Odors Can Be Removed With Salt

College Station—Fish sometimes loses its popularity in the American home because the odor remains in the kitchen long after it has been eaten. Frances Reasonover, food and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has these tips for conquering that fishy odor.

Rinse hands in cold water before touching the fish. Afterwards, wash hands with hot water and salt. Soap won't do the job, the specialist warns.

Fishy odors can be removed from frying pans and dishes by soaking them in hot water and salt. Apply no soap until the salt has had a chance to do its work.

When fish is stored in the refrigerator, be sure that it is wrapped in a plastic bag or other air-tight material, so that the fish odor will not penetrate other foods.

seed source to seed several hundred acres of cultivated land to permanent pasture in the next few years. None of the seed I have now will be sold and I plan to top dress my old planting of King Ranch bluestem next spring with 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate in an effort to get more seed for my use," Strauss said.

of a score. It gained two first downs and kicked when the third series failed. Sacred Heart bogged down and kicked. Laneri made another first down and ran out of time on the second series. The second half opened with the Tigers receiving and failing to gain on 3 tries. On fourth Herr, attempting to kick was delayed by a bad pass and decided to run when Laneri blockers came rushing in. He gained 18 and a first down, but a fumble 3 plays later ended the drive. Laneri then launched its own offensive, a steady 44 yard push to the goal. Harris went over on an 8 yard plunge. The kick was good for an extra point and the visitors led 7-6.

But the lead did not last long. On the first scrimmage play after the kickoff Herr broke into the clean and raced 77 yards for the Tigers' second TD. A plunge for the extra point fell short by inches. The next kickoff was followed by an exchange of kicks before Laneri started another march. Starting from their 32 they marked up four first downs in a steady drive that paid off with another touchdown by Harris. The kick failed and the visitors led 13-12.

Again the Tigers came back strong. After a kickoff return to the 39, Herr added 10 and passed 3 plays later to Gilbert Knabe for a 38 yard gain. Then the Laneri defense braced and held the next four downs to a total gain of only 7, the Micks claiming the ball on their 5.

Two plays later Sacred Heart recovered a fumble on the 15. Time was running out and Herr tried two passes but on both he was smeared for a loss before he could spot a receiver. The game ended as the second attempt failed.

FFA Boys Await Project Results on Experimental Plot

Boys of the Muenster FFA chapter are watching and waiting nowadays for the results of their experiment on their 8 acre experiment field adjoining the north side of the public school. Early in September the chapter rented the land from R. M. Zipper to use as an experiment and demonstration farm and divided the land into eight equal plots. Then they planned an experiment for each plot.

Three acres were devoted to a grass-legume experiment consisting of a mixture of 5 pounds each of orchard grass, Alta Fescue, brome grass and re-seeding crimson clover. One acre was fertilized with 400 pounds of superphosphate, another acre was fertilized with 200 pounds of superphosphate and the third acre received no fertilizer.

By observing their plots the boys expect to learn the value of wintergrass-legume mixtures and also the benefits of adding phosphate to grasses and legumes. Each of the remaining 5 acres has been planted to a legume crop, half the plot being fertilized with 200 pounds of superphosphate and the other half being left without phosphate. The crops planted are re-seeding crimson clover, hairy vetch, Austrian winter peas, Singletary peas and Dixie Wonder peas. From those plots the boys expect to observe which legumes are best adapted to this area and what benefits result from the phosphate treatment.

At the present time all crops are coming up but are not far enough along to show a good stand. FFA members are making signs to show the crop and amount of fertilizer on each plot.

The land was plowed by the boys with equipment furnished by the local Ford tractor agency. It was seeded and packed with equipment furnished by the Upper Elm-Red soil conservation district.

Mrs. T. S. Myrick spent Monday in Weatherford with her mother, Mrs. Pauline Bradshaw, who observed her 78th birthday on Nov. 5.

LINDSAY HIGH ENJOYS HALLOWE'EN FROLIC

Pupils of Lindsay High school held their annual Halloween party in the parish hall this year with more than 40 boys and girls in attendance for a night of fun and frolic, a costume contest, a record dance, and refreshments.

Winning prizes were Rudy Dieter, Marcella Hermes, Clara Mae Haverkamp and Gilbert Kubis.

Rev. Fathers Louis and Cletus of Muenster and Rev. Father Conrad of Lindsay, attended a deanery meeting for priests of the Sherman deanery in Sherman Wednesday afternoon.

But, there's one point to start thinking about now: the bloodmobile will not be here unless there are enough advance registrations to assure that the visit will be worth while. Muenster will have to speak up if it wishes to have the distinction of making a really fine contribution to this worthy cause.

Meanwhile we can bear in mind that visits of the bloodmobile to Gainesville offer other opportunities to help. Volunteers are still wanted for next Thursday. Anyone who can manage for an hour of spare time and feels inclined to help save the life of some service man in Korea can still make arrangements by filling out and mailing the form found elsewhere in this paper.

Mrs. J. S. Horn joined her son and daughter-in-law, the Al Horns, on a drive to Lindsay Sunday afternoon to visit her sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Voth in the home of the John Zimmerers. It was Mrs. Horn's first visit to Lindsay since she broke her hip last May a year ago. She gets around fairly well with the help of crutches but had not left her home to go visiting since her accident.

Stringer of Texas Power and Light company, Joseph Fox, 4-H leader from Callisburg, Mrs. Rad McDaniel, 4-H chairman of the county council, Claude Jones, vice-president of the First State Bank, and LeRoy Robinson of the Gainesville National Bank.

County to Vote ---

Shivers has indicated he will call a special meeting early next year if the amendment is adopted.

The American Legion is campaigning for another amendment that would add $75,000,000 in bonds to the state veterans land program to finance long-term, low-interest loans for farms and ranches for Korean and world war II veterans. A $29,000,000 program voted several years ago for world war II veterans has long been used. Hundreds of unfilled applications are on file and more are expected if the voters approve the amendment.

University of Texas officials are urging passage of the amendment to permit up to 50 per cent of the University's $120,000,000 permanent fund to be invested in common stocks.

They say the common stock investment would provide more income, more diversification and more protection from inflation than is possible under present regulations.

Another amendment would authorize counties to set up pension retirement funds—for their employees. It would be permissive rather than mandatory.

The other amendment involves fire prevention in rural areas. It would raise the maximum tax a rural fire prevention district may levy to 50 cents on the $100 valuation. Proponents say it is not possible to provide adequate fire protection under the present tax ceiling of three cents on the $100.

A London stenographer, with a year's experience, receives about $15 a week.

The Robert Linns and daughter, Sharon, have returned to Norwalk, Calif., after a visit with his parents, the Joe Linns. They also went to Dallas to see his grandmother and to Joshua to visit her parents and other relatives. It was Sharon's first visit in Texas.
