MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS,

APRIL 10, 1953

NO. 20

Directors Elected At Annual Meeting Of Electric Co-op

It isn't often that a city has the opportunity to brag about more than a 90 per cent turnout of qualified voters for an election, and when the percentage gets up close to 95 it's really something.

Well, Muenster had the honor of crowding the perfect record last Tuesday. Out of an estimated voting strength of slightly over 350, the number of ballots cast added to exactly 350.

Counting several qualified voters who were out of town and had not cast absentee ballots along with others who did not appear at the polls, it appears that the town was short by 20 to 25 votes of reaching the perfect record. All of which indicates that previous guesses fell short and the city's voting strength this year is actually 370 to 375.

Estimating the voting strength in a town such as ours is mostly a matter of guesswork. County tax records reveal the names of those who have paid their poll tax and also the names of under-age exemptions. But there is no record of over-age exemptions. State law does not require older voters to get exemption certificates if they live in towns of less than 10,000 population. Hence they are not listed anywhere as qualified voters. The law quite reasonably makes that allowance because normally the voting judges in smaller places are personally acquainted with the people concerned and do not need to ask for identifying certificates.

However, there is one small loop hole in the system. A person must be known to be over 60 before he can be counted as a qualified voter. Suppose someone, estimated to be about 60, isn't on the poll tax list. Is he a qualified over-age voter or did he fail to pay his poll tax?

From this it is apparent, that the exact voting strength cannot be determined unless the exact ages of the "about 60" group are all known. For the same reason it seems possible to slip a few ineligible votes through an election. Election judges can't be expected to know the exact age of all "about 60" persons who claim the right to an over age vote.

Even allowing for such error in estimating the town's number of qualified voters, we come back to the same gratifying result. The total number of possible votes here isn't much over 350, so the turnout Tuesday was close to perfect, a fine example of democracy in action.

On the national and international level the big question nowadays is what's going to result from the new communist peace proposals. After the double crossings the UN has had in the past we have a right to wonder whether the reds are pulling another fast one or whether they sincerely wish to come to a fair and reasonable solution.

As far as our country is concerned there seems to be no humane alternative to considering an offer for the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners. We have a high personal regard for all prisoners in communist hands and we'll never fail to consider a proposal that might result in their return. The only trouble is that we don't know whether the reds have finally developed a bit of compassion for captives on both sides or whether they have another treacherous scheme.

The more likely answer is that they have more tricks up their sleeves and this is just another means by which they seek to attain their final goal of world domination. Perhaps this is intended as another intermission during which to bring more reserves and supplies to the Manchurian border. Perhaps they see rough going ahead and wish to arrange a peace while they still have the chance for a better settlement. . . . then hold their gains until they can strike again.

If we can get back our sick and wounded without compromising honor or allowing another military double cross that certainly seems like the thing to do. However we ought to make it clear that we will tolerate no more delay and that any more shenanigans will be regarded as ample provocation for an atomic attack on that reserve build-up in Manchuria. Our hearty okay

Don't Snarl Traffic Or Phone Service, Firemen Ask Again

Once again firemen of Muenster have occasion to ask for more consideration from the scores of local people who rush to fires. Quite a number of the boys lost precious time when they reported for the fire at Al Walterscheid's garage.

Only a few of them go to the fire on the fire trucks. Others go in their personal cars and frequently have to park as much as two blocks away. Spectators already have the near-by space.

After the original delay caused by parking troubles they find crowds to hamper their efficient operation. It all adds up to the loss of lots of precious time.

A related problem is the jam of telephone traffic. Operators report that the switchboard lights us like a Christmas tree as soon as the signal sounds. Dozens want to know where the fire is. While some of them are satisfying curiosity anxious firemen are waiting to be told where they should report. More precious time lost.

So the firemen are again making a few requests. Don't park in the way. Don't get in the way. Don't use the phone, at least for a few minutes. Cooperation in this regard will save property, and may save a life.

This group met Monday March 30 in the Chamber of Commerce in Sherman to make plans for the event which will be held in the Austin College Student Union building in Sherman.

B. A. Stufflebeme, President of the First National Bank of Grand Prairie, has been selected the speaker for the occasion. Mr. Stufflebeme has had considerable experience in soil building and soil conservation while serving as a member of the State Prison Board.

Moisture Condition Ideal after 1.75 Rain

Though not altogether suitable for Easter paraders, the weather here on Easter Sunday was ideal for farmers . . . as well as for Dallas residents who have been anxiously waiting for more water in Lake Dallas.

The best rain in about a year, measuring 1.75 on Steve Moster's official US weather gauge, put crop land in excellent condition and helped substantially in raising the Lake Dallas level by almost four feet. It was spread over most of Sunday afternoon alternating between slow drizzles and a few fairly heavy showers.

According to reports from soil conservationist Emmitt Yoder farmers of the area are delighted. Grain is regarded as made unless insects, rust or excessive rain sets in. It could go to maturity on the moisture it has now. Likewise pastures are thriving and hay has a good start toward a heavy first cutting. Row crops too are off to a fine start.

Total moisture for the year to date is 6.50 inches. Last month's total was 3.15.

County Agent Calls Special Meeting on Bees and Legumes

Bee men and legume growers of Cooke County are all invited to a special meeting in the office of County Agent Gerald York this Friday night at 8 o'clock for the purpose of discussing bee culture and possibilities of increasing legume seed yields by using bees as pollinators.

An important topic at the meeting is the proposal of a honey packing concern to manage bees on a profit sharing basis. If enough bee owners are interested the concern will arrange to handle hives for the owners. Another topic is the possibility of moving bees into the county during the legume blooming season. Growers who cooperate in that deal can increase their legume seed crops substantially.

Still another topic, for the benefit of men who prefer to handle their own bees, is helpful hints on bee management.

Burglars Get $300 At Herb's Bakery

In the early hours of Monday night, possibly before dark, Herb's Bakery was burglarized for about $300 in cash. The theft happened between 6:30 and 8 o'clock while the Herbs were attending the parish bazaar in the church basement.

Returning at 8 Herb discovered that the front door had been forced open and the cash register had been rifled, also that some cash had been taken out of a desk in the adjoining living quarters. He estimated that between $40 and $50 was taken from the cash drawer. The other amount he remembered as $254. Earlier in the day he had prepared to deposit that amount along with some checks but failed to get it to the bank. Just before closing he took the intended deposit out of his pocket and put it in the desk. The burglar, or burglars, left the checks and deposit slip lying on the floor.

Sheriff Whisnand investigated the burglary but found no fingerprints or other clues to help solve the case. Both he and Herb believe that the thief was nearby watching through a window when Herb put his money in the desk.

City's Biggest Vote Favors Endres in Contest for Mayor

In their biggest city election ever the voters of Muenster gave Urban Endres a comfortable majority of 216 to 132 over John Hoffman in the race for mayor and favored George Mollenkopf, Rudy Hellman and John Fisher for alderman positions.

George Mollenkopf and Joe Luke contending for the remaining year in the position left vacant by Ben Seyler's death, had the only close race in the election, the outcome favoring Mollenkopf 176 to 172.

Rudy Hellman, seeking re-election to Position 4, emerged with a comfortable majority of 207 to 143 over Albert Hess. John Fisher did almost as well, polling 197 to 152 over Ray Wilde to succeed Urban Endres as the Position 5 alderman.

Herbert Meurer was unopposed as candidate for re-election as the Position 3 alderman. John Wieler, the other member of the city council, still has a year to go as Position 2 alderman.

The voting started only a few minutes after 8 and continued slowly for a total of about 200 up to 5 o'clock, then picked up speed for an additional 150 votes in the last two hours.

By the time the polls closed all but a possible two dozen of the city's eligible voters had cast their ballots. The list included several sick and feeble people who had to be helped to the polls and a few more sick people who were unable to leave home. They voted absentee ballots before the deadline last Friday. There were 7 absentee votes and the number actually cast on election day was 343.

I. A. Schoech was election judge. Mmes. Frank Kaiser, Al Walterscheid and Ray Stewart were the clerks.

The new city officers will be sworn in during the regular meeting in May.

Viola Kuhn, Bride Of Urban Rohmer in Wednesday Nuptial

Concerning Typographical Errors

The editor of a small town newspaper, when taken to task because of an error in his newspaper came up with this answer: "Yes, we know there were some errors in last week's newspaper. We will further agree that there were some errors in the issue of the week before. But before bawling us out too unmercifully about it, we want to call your attention to these facts . . . In an ordinary newspaper column there are 10,000 letters, and there are seven possible wrong positions for each letter, making 70,000 chances to make errors and several million chances for transposition. There are 48 columns in this newspaper, so you can readily see the chances for mistakes. Did you know that in the sentence, 'To be or not to be,' by transposition alone, 2,759,022 errors can be made? Now aren't you sorry you got mad about that little mistake last week?"

EISENHOWER'S "RIGHT ARM"

In the midst of my conversation with Sherman Adams in the White House, just across the executive offices foyer from the President's work-a-day office, a telephone at his elbow jingled. He excused himself, "I have a trans-Atlantic call working," he explained. The man came on—an American with business holdings in Europe. Adams told him that the President and several associates had been discussing him for a particular job for which he had outstanding qualifications.

Would he, asked Adams, consider coming to Washington and working with the Eisenhower team for a while? The President felt he was the best man available anywhere on earth to handle the assignment. The man's request for a few days to consider the appeal was readily granted by Adams, who is chief of the President's executive staff. Neither the nature of the job nor the salary was mentioned. The incident seemed to me to dramatically demonstrate the effort being made by the present administration to obtain the best know-how available for all important jobs. As I sat in other Cabinet-rank offices, I heard similar telephone conversations.

"Toughest Job"

Meeting Sherman Adams in the White House was an interesting experience. I had been told by friends in Washington that he has "the toughest job in the Eisenhower administration." He is, in every sense of the word, "assistant president." His office is within a few steps of the President's and a large portion of his work is of presidential calibre.

As the No. 1 executive assistant and confidant of the President, Adams handles duties and functions and interviews which ordinarily would be handled personally by Mr. Eisenhower. By placing reliance in him and giving him as much authority as he needs, the President is much freer to devote his time to the tremendous problems of national and international character.

The Ex-Lumberjack

Sherman Adams is slight in build but his vigor and endurance already are legendary. He has one of the squarest jaws I've ever seen, and his character seems to be built to match the jaw. He is courteous and has a lively sense of humor, but in his executive responsibilities in the White House he's all business. This is in character with his past business and political careers.

Born in Vermont and reared in Rhode Island, he early developed a liking for the out-of-doors, especially the mountain country. He moved to New Hampshire when he entered Dartmouth in 1916. After serving in the U. S. Marine Corps in World War I, he chose the timber industry as a career. Successively he was a lumberjack, scaler, surveyor, lumber foreman, plant manager, and operational manager for a big New England paper and lumber concern. The devastating hurricane that hit the Atlantic seaboard in the fall of 1938 left New Hampshire forests cluttered with fallen timber which was a serious fire hazard. Adams toured the state, as one of the leading timber men, speaking out with logic and passion for unified salvage work in the forests.

Liked Ike

His "cause" and the way he backed it made a hit with New Hampshire people. In 1940 he was elected Governor; and when candidate Eisenhower called him as his No. 1 aide in the presidential campaign following the Chicago convention, Governor Sherman Adams was serving the last few months of his second term and looking forward to retiring from public life. But like so many of the men now working with the new president in Washington, he was "smitten" with the ability, the political philosophy, and the crusading zeal of Dwight Eisenhower.

Governor Adams was with Eisenhower on every step of his 40,000 mile campaign back and forth across the country. And it was noted that the two worked in almost perfect harmony as a team. Adams emerged as perhaps

Author Cites Cure For Modern Frustration

BOREDOM is the result of spiritual stagnation. It can only be remedied by irrigating those areas of the soul which neglect has made parched and barren.

Modern man concentrates on the mind and body and forgets about his soul. He dooms to frustration his most vital capacities. His spiritual faculties, intellect and will, are not allowed to operate at capacity. The result is spiritual starvation. Life becomes a series of humdrum occurrences with which we are glad to be finished. There is no purpose, no joy or happiness in such a life.

YOUR AUTOMOBILE cannot function properly when it uses only two cylinders. Neither can you. The most fundamental part of your personality must be activated if you are to live a full and happy life.

This means that your soul must be allowed to reach out for the object which will satisfy its hunger, for the true, the good, and the beautiful. This means that you must know, love, and serve God.

MAN'S DIGNITY and greatness lie in the capacity to know and love God. It is the tragedy of modern life that so few men realize their nobility, that so few men exercise the capacities which raise them above the animals. Tennyson puts it this way:

For what are men better than sheep or goats
 That nourish a blind life within the brain

If, knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer
 Both for themselves and those who call them friend.

PRAYER IS the most effective way of bringing into play the depths of our personalities. It is the activity most befitting our dignity. Prayer puts us into contact with absolute goodness, truth, and beauty. Our spiritual hunger is satisfied. Our restlessness and frustration melt into fruition.

PRAYER revolutionizes our lives, giving them new meaning. Everything we do takes on new purpose. Our whole lives are orientated toward God. This is the source of great joy and peace. We know that we are fulfilling the reason of our existence, that we are bearing fruit in the only production line which will continue after death. (—by Ellwood Kieser.)

Chip Pulls a "Pip"

Chip Hanson is a clever commercial artist. Beside doing cartoons on our paper, he picks up "free lance" drawing jobs.

Right now he's whipping up posters for the Safety Campaign. They all have headlines like "PLAY IT SAFE!" ... or, "A LIVE WIRE CAN START A FIRE!"

Chip looked a bit sheepish yesterday. Didn't want to tell me why. Finally he blurted out, "I feel like a dope. Here I am on this safety program and the fire inspectors tell me my own studio's a fire trap. I've been storing paint there for years..."

From where I sit, what happened to Chip could happen to anyone. He was just too busy informing everyone else about safety — not realizing his safety was threatened. Like those who fret about their neighbors — whether they can afford a new house, whether they should have coffee or a glass of beer with lunch — Chip simply forgot to "draw" some obvious conclusions about himself!

He Took the Advice And Quit Driving

Here's the strange story of how one man stopped driving.

Francis E. Schwentler made a sharp turn in front of a truck back in 1934. The irate truck driver gave him a tongue lashing and advised Schwentler to stop driving. He did.

His new car was never driven. The story came out Saturday with the filing of an inheritance tax appraiser's report on Schwentler's estate in probate court. He died in 1951 at the age of 90.

The 1934 Ford was found jacked up in a garage behind his home. The speedometer showed a total of 58 miles.

15 People for Dinner

A farmer today has to feed himself and fifteen other people. Back in 1930 he had to supply food for 11 other people. By 1975, experts predict, for each farmer there may be 25 at the dinner table.

It would be nice if there were more land. But last year there was only 1% more land under cultivation than prewar.

What's more, there are fewer farmers. 17% fewer man-hours were spent in agriculture last year.

Yet the farmer in 1952, with less help and about the same acreage, managed to produce 40% more livestock, vegetables, cotton, grain, milk than before the war.

Who helps the American farmer in a spot like that?

Electricity for one thing, and of course, more tractors, trucks, farm machinery, pesticides, chemical fertilizers, and a lot more.

One big clue to productivity is his increased use of electricity. Farmers today use 500% more electric power than in 1940.

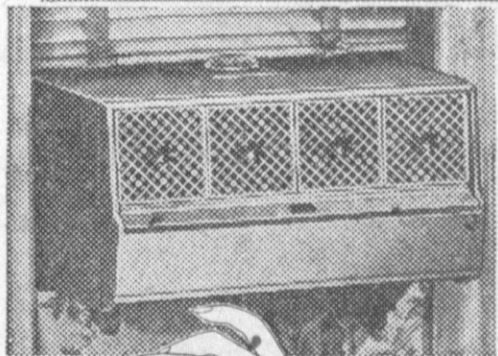

Electricity pumps water, dries hay, keeps chicks warm, grinds feed, milks cows. In fact, the "electrical hired man" can do more than 400 farm jobs.

But the important thing is that there need be no empty plates tonight, and that this was done in a typically American way.

Many people and many companies, General Electric among them, developed labor-saving ideas and products. The best were tried and chosen. They have helped to make the American farmer the most productive in the world.

Assisting with instructions were County Agent Virgil Dahlberg and 4-H Club members Walter Wolf and Michael Neu.

Several makes and models of tractors were used in the demonstration and Ulich also used model tractors in his discussions.

A free lunch was served at noon to all attending the school. Food was furnished by implement dealers and was prepared and served by members of the Home Demonstration council.

Soil Conservation Notes

There was no rationing of ammunition in the battle to halt soil erosion around Münster the past few weeks, according to technicians of the local work unit.

Cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red soil conservation district have wheeled up the big guns in the spring offensive of the battle to save their soil. In this battle to halt erosion of precious soil the chief weapons are cover crops, grasses, terraces and tanks, and farmers of the area are laying on heavy salvos of each in an effort to keep their soil at home.

Many acres of sweet clovers and alfalfa have been seeded this spring. These crops protect the soil with their heavy forage and break the impact of falling rain. They also improve the soil by building up the plow pans with their deep-growing roots.

Waterways, which are often needed before terraces can be safely built, are being sodded by many district cooperators. The waterways are usually along a natural drain in a cultivated field and serve as terrace outlets after they are grassed over.

Hubert Felderhoff and sons have sodded an eight acre waterway on the Etter farm northeast of Münster. This waterway is along a natural drain and was planted to Bermuda grass roots. The Felderhoffs also sodded a three acre waterway and five acres of pasture on the Biffle ranch at Myra.

Leroy Porter has planted grass roots on the two waterways on his farm at Myra. One waterway will carry outside water across the field, the other will safely remove terrace run-off from the fields. South of Myra and in the Hood area, Johnny Sicking put grass roots on a three acre waterway. Werner Becker sodded an eight acre waterway that will serve as pasture. Martin Trubenbach planted Bermuda grass sprigs on a three acre waterway on his farm at Hood, and Tom Ben Davis sodded a drain on the farm he operates for Jack Howeth.

Joe Fisher succeeded in getting about five acres of pasture planted before the rain and a 15-acre waterway was almost completed on the Charlie Hellman farm before the rains came.

In the tank building department, those sporting new tanks for livestock water are Frank Needham on the Andress Estate, J. W. Fleitman, George Bayer, J. M. Weinzapfel on the ranch operated by Joe Wimmer, and Herman Zimmerer.

Two miles of channel-type terraces have been constructed on the J. R. Winstead farm operated by J. H. Bayer. The terraces outlet on pasture grasses and protect some 50 acres from soil loss.

If the battle against soil erosion must be won there can be no truce, nor any time-out for truce talks. Landowners in the Münster area are taking steps to win the battle now. It's later than you think.

New Gas Rate OK'd By RR Commission

The Railroad Commission of Texas has approved Lone Star Gas Company's application to increase residential and commercial rates for natural gas service outside the corporate limits of Münster and in unincorporated towns and communities in the vicinity, according to an announcement by M. L. Bird of Dallas, operating manager for Lone Star's general division of distribution.

The Railroad Commission order authorizing the rate adjustment calls for an increase of 13 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas, Mr. Bird said. He pointed out that Lone Star has been granted similar rate adjustments by city councils in Münster and in more than 240 other incorporated cities and towns in Texas since last September.

Mr. Bird stated that residential and commercial rates charged by Lone Star had not been increased generally within the last twenty-five years, but, conversely, were reduced ten cents per thousand cubic feet in May, 1942. He said the new rate for the unincorporated areas is only three cents per thousand cubic feet higher than the rate charged by Lone Star prior to the 1942 reduction.

Patricia Kay, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Felderhoff, was baptised Sunday with Father Cletus officiating, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Whitaker of Fort Worth as sponsors. Mrs. Whitaker is Mrs. Felderhoff's sister. She and her husband were Easter guests in the Felderhoff home.

Upbraiding his teen-age daughter for her slovenly appearance a father started in on a tirade of the faults of modern-day children.

"Why, look at your hair," he snorted, "it looks like a mop." "What's a mop?" interrupted the girl.

Beginning April 9, I will bring fresh fish to Münster every Thursday.

Worth more... and why

There's an old saying that a thing is worth what someone is willing to pay for it. Well, if you could tour the wholesale and retail used car auctions around the country, if you could survey hundreds of used car lots you would discover that used Fords bring higher prices than any competitive make—and by substantial amounts.

THAT'S WHY we feel our '53 cars should not be compared with cars in the same price range. Not because our competitors don't do a good job—obviously they do—but because we feel Ford Cars have more in common with the highest priced automobiles. The similarities are far greater than the differences.

For example. Today, the most expensive cars in this country have V-type, 8-cylinder engines. Ford Cars have had this exact same type of engine for over 20 years.

What's more astounding, the current Strato-Star V-8 sells for hundreds of dollars less than several other makers charge for a six-cylinder car. Now there's nothing wrong with a Six but they do cost less to make. Ford makes a Six—the most modern overhead valve Six in the industry. And if it's a six-cylinder car you want, Ford has it and for less money than the V-8, which is as it should be.

What about ride? Here's another Ford similarity with high-priced cars . . . Riding Comfort. One of the misconceptions for many years has been that weight—sheer weight—is what it takes to make a car ride well. Ford has found that you can make a 3000-pound car ride softer and hold the road better by far than many cars that weigh a full 1000 pounds more. In the '53 Ford, for example, front end road shock has been reduced up to 80%. We say it compares most favorably with the heaviest cars sold today.

What about automatic transmissions? It would take the fingers of both hands to count the various kinds of automatic and semi-automatic transmissions on the market today. The one we offer is called Fordomatic. It is the most versatile on the market, it represents the most profound consideration of engine-to-wheel power transfer—and that it does the best job for our engines isn't even open to question. It "shifts" better than you could shift by hand.

What you can see is also important. Here again Ford Cars lead not only in their price field but in the medium and upper brackets as well. Ford visibility is Full-Circle Visibility. This means huge, curved unobstructed glass area, front and rear, plus side windows that allow all passengers what the hotels call "room with a view."

Appearance? A higher price, of course, does not make a car more beautiful. Conversely, beauty in a Ford comes "for free." Ford has found that it costs no more to develop a beautiful car than one that is less pleasing in appearance. You can drive up to the most exclusive doorways in the world and feel perfectly at home in your Ford. Fords "belong" . . . in exactly the same social category as the finest, one-of-kind creations. After all, a Ford is a custom creation multiplied.

What about running costs? Here's one place that Ford's advantages are obvious. For oil and gas economy Ford has the big cars whipped. Ford parts cost less. Ford service charges are less. Ford tire mileage is thousands of miles greater. And, Ford depreciation is the lowest of any car on the market—bar none.

What are Fords made of? Some people have the idea that the costliest cars are made of "better stuff." It's true that some high-priced cars have costlier upholstery and fittings. What Ford has is so good, both in durability and appearance, that you probably could not tell the difference. You might even prefer it, because of its better design and more pleasing appearance.

Then there's the question of sheet metal. If you were to measure and analyze the sheet metal structure in the most expensive car, you most likely would find it identical in thickness to the corresponding panels in Ford.

After all, then, what is the difference between a Ford and the costliest cars?

In our opinion, the difference is largely a matter of dimensions, weight (and the power required to move it) plus the distinction of owning a car that not so many other people own. The desire for these things is understandable . . . and probably justified for people who are willing to pay the price to satisfy it.

As to comparing Ford with other cars in its price range, by all means do so if you wish. But, as we said before, you'll get a better picture of Ford value by comparing with cars that are most like Fords—those that are priced up to twice as much. In fact, we think you'll quickly begin comparing the other cars with Ford—because the 1953 Ford has really established the New Standard of the American Road.

Doc Says Smoking Can Cause Cancer

A doctor from New Orleans who is nationally known for his studies on lung cancer forecast a 10 percent increase in lung cancer within the next 20 years and laid the blame on smoking.

Dr. Alton Ochsner, chairman of the surgery department of Tulane Medical School and director and general surgeon of the famous Ochsner Clinic and Foundation Hospital, said he expects nearly one out of every five persons who have cancer in the next score of years to have lung cancer. Not at all adverse to citing alarming figures about the rapid increase in the malignant disease, Dr. Ochsner readily admits that "I'm really worried about this problem."

During 1952, he said, cigaret smokers used enough cigarets to average 3,000 a year for every man, woman and babe in arms.

As an alternative to stop smoking he says every man (lung-cancer incidence is much higher in men than women) should be X-rayed every six months, preferably every three, so that cancer can be detected early.

Tidelands Issue

By Congressman Frank Ikard

Restoring title of the States to the submerged lands within their historic boundaries moved a step closer to realization when House passed the so-called tidelands bill by a vote of 285 to 108. The effect of this bill is to confirm and establish the title of the States to the submerged lands within their historic boundaries which, in the case of Texas, is ten and one-half miles. The Senate will immediately begin consideration of a similar bill, and I feel certain that the action there will also be favorable.

The debate on the bill in the House reflected the fact that probably no issue to come before Congress in recent times has been so widely misunderstood. Many have seen fit to beat the drums of prejudice and charge that this bill was nothing but a gigantic give-away. This has done much to spread the widely held misconception that the so-called tidelands matter was purely a sectional issue that affected only three or four States and that the other States and the vast majority of the people would have everything to gain and nothing to lose by the taking of the tidelands by the Federal Government. Of course, this is not true for the tidelands issue is not a sectional one. Rather, it is a question that involves the fundamental concept of State and private ownership of property, and as such, is a matter in which every man, woman, and child in the United States has a vital stake. It exemplifies the familiar spectacle of the Federal Government usurping more and more power from the States, and it strikes at the very heart of the historic organization of our government.

The real question to be decided was one of principle which was whether individuals and States that make up this Union have rights and property that are sacred and deserve protection or whether all of our ownership is subject to the whims of an all-powerful Federal Government that might divest us under the ill conceived theory of "paramount rights" as pronounced by the Supreme Court.

Stock Bruises Cost $19 Million a year

A staggering $19 million is the approximate figure lost by farmers and ranchmen annually on cattle and hogs sent to market with bad bruises.

According to data compiled by livestock commissions, some 9.8% of all hogs marketed have meat damaging bruises, and 6.9% of all cattle marketed are bruised. This extremely high rate of loss does not include bruise damage to our sheep and calves.

It would be an error to figure that the packer is the one who takes the loss on the bruised animal he buys. Experience has taught him the ratio of damage he can expect on his purchases and he makes his offers accordingly. He knows that on each hog his loss will amount to around $1.59, and on each steer about $5.88. This is deducted from the price paid to you, the farmer and stockman.

Where do these damages occur? Most of them occur on the farm in various ways. A shortage of feed troughs and hay racks have the same affect as crowding animals for lack of barn space. The construction of these racks also has a lot to do with the ease with which these animals bruise themselves. Horned animals need a lot of room.

We know that because of the nature of the animals, a lot of bruises will occur even under ideal conditions of equipment and housing. Still we could profit by doing the best we can toward limiting these injuries.

The overall cost of all levels of government in the United States today is 50 times what it was in 1913 — about $100,000,000,000 a year compared with $2,000,000,000 — according to Dr. Harley L. Lutz, professor emeritus of public finance, Princeton University.

to sincere dealings, but a terrible retaliation for any treachery.

Meanwhile, we shouldn't consider ending the war over there . . . for two very important reasons. First of all our country is mostly responsible for allowing communism to enslave millions of people in Asia. Before civilized mankind and before Almighty God we have a duty to restore those people's freedom if we possibly can. Since that is our job, doesn't it seem absurd now to quit when the enemy is showing signs of weakness? Rather than oblige him by slowing down, this is the time to follow our advantage and continue aiding the free Asiatics in an all out struggle for their homes and freedom.

The next point to consider is that there is no such thing as a permanent peace with the Kremlin mob. Their one goal is world domination and the only peace they seek is the temporary kind which allows them time to prepare for the next conquest. We've got to realize that this is a struggle to the bitter end between communism and human dignity, and we can't hope for eventual victory if we keep letting the enemy decide when and where the fighting will be done. It's high time that we take the initiative and follow up every advantage instead of obliging the reds every time they want a rest? If thing go on their way there'll never be an end until all the world is in chains.

MHS Boys Practice For Regional Meet

Baseball is slipping at Muenster High lately, because some of the team's regulars have quit the team to start practice for the regional interscholastic league track meet. Boys who are practicing for track are Joe Nogler, Wendell Richey, John Aytes, Donald Reiter, Gene Luke and Burt Hamric.

At the same time Bill Phillips is relieving Troy Stewart as baseball coach and Stewart is coaching track.

Though handicapped the ball team will continue its schedule, more in a spirit of play than serious competition for district honors.

Tuesday the boys lost 2-1 to Valley View. In earlier games they beat Era and lost to Krum.

Miss Rose Marie Stoffels of Dallas spent Sunday here with family members.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hess and Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Koesler returned Tuesday night from a visit in Subiaco, Ark., with relatives and friends after taking Richard Hess and Jerry Fuhrman back to Subiaco Academy following the Easter holidays.
