MUENSTER, COOKE, COUNTY, TEXAS,

AUGUST 28, 1953

NO. 40

George Sokolsky in his syndicated column Monday presents the humiliating fact that Communist China has just defeated a combination of seventeen Western nations, including the United States and Great Britain.

We're not willing, of course, to accept that statement as a fact. In the first place we can claim that most of the UN participants furnished so little in manpower and material that they can hardly be classified as fighters. Besides we can call on the testimony of Generals MacArthur, Ridgway, Van Fleet and Clark to support a contention that the UN forces had plenty of opportunity to win but were prevented from doing so by political interference. In our own minds we are convinced that the resulting stalemate, while highly exasperating, was far from a defeat.

But that isn't what counts. The important point here is that we have left Red China in a position to brag that it has won the war, and we have done nothing to convince the vast millions of Asiatics that the reds are feeding them false propaganda.

For practical purposes we have to admit that we are the losers if the people of Asia think we are. It means that we have lost in prestige before the world. It means that the remaining people of Asia, with less confidence in the Western powers, will have less heart to resist the continued spread of communism.

From a military viewpoint we have done a magnificent job. Fighting under the most absurd set of handicaps ever imposed on any force, we attained the goal in our policy of containment. We stopped the aggressors pushed them back across the 38th parallel and held them there until they were ready to quit. But in the meantime we allowed them to increase their strength and spread their influence elsewhere in Asia. We allowed the red-infested UN to dictate policies which, in the end, give substance to the red claim of victory. Considering the over-all picture we have to admit that Red China is correct in its boast of having defeated 17 nations.

A very considerable phase of the communist victory is the split that has developed between the United States and England, and the much stronger pro-communist attitude that has developed in India. Both nations are supporting the red side in Asiatic politics. Both are scared stiff of what the reds will do to them if they decline to string along with Moscow, which is only another way of indicating that they are losing confidence in the Western powers, particularly the United States. And there is another absurdity. How can Britain and India entertain hopes of future welfare by supporting the reds in world politics? Haven't they learned yet that this is only feeding the monster that intends to devour them?

Henry Cabot Lodge is making a valiant effort to form a UN peace delegation that can be counted on to give the non-communist world a fair deal. If he succeeds, well and good. If he fails we hope he will have the support of our government to make a stand then and there in the interests of humanity and common sense. This farce can't be permitted to go on. It's time the molly coddling nations of the world who try to horse trade with the reds, were told to stand up and be counted. It's time to bust the communist appeasing UN wide open with the declaration of a self respecting policy and an appeal to all self respecting nations to join now in an unrelenting and determined crusade against the red scourge.

There's no point in kidding ourselves on this issue. The reds themselves served notice long ago that they intend to dominate the world, and they have made a great deal of progress toward their goal while the free nations piddled around. We've got to stop piddling soon, or it will be too late. Lots of countries know that and they can be counted on to get on the right side of the line... if our country has the courage to draw it.

G. C. Gallaher, 67, Former Resident Passes August 20

G. C. Gallaher, 67, former Muenster resident who made his home in Alvord for the past two years, died in a Gainesville hospital at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 20.

Gallaher was a pumper for Texas Company for 30 years and lived north of Muenster on the Jos. Walterscheid lease for several years. He was retired in July 1950, and moved to Alvord to live on his farm.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Mary Belle Gallaher; four sons, J. L. and Jack of Gainesville, E. J. of Panama Canal Zone, and L. D. of Los Angeles; one daughter, Mrs. S. C. Burglary Saturday Costs Ace Cafe $60

The Ace Cafe lost about $60 in a burglary early last Saturday. Emil Rohmer, owner, disclosed that according to his cash register record the cash drawer had been robbed of $29.95. The checker of a cigarette vending machine said it was short $24.75 in either cash or cigarettes, and a juke box checker estimated that, according to the rate the machine has earned in the past, it probably had about $5.00. As far as Rohmer was able to determine, on other items were stolen from the cafe.

The time of the burglary was set at 1:20 a.m. That was the time showing on an electric clock, which stopped when the main switch was pulled.

Sheriff O. E. Whisnand and Carl Burchfield, fingerprint expert of Gainesville, investigated the burglary and took fingerprints. They also said that the intruder was a small person, because he had a very small space to crawl past a stack of soft drinks cases as he entered a window. The window, at the rear of the building, was forced open after a screen had been pried open.

Auctioneers Split Week End Contests

The Muenster Auctioneers divided honors again in their pair of games during the weekend, losing to Marysville 11-8 in an extra inning game Friday night and defeating a team of local old timers 8-7 in four extra innings Sunday afternoon.

In the first game the visitors scored 3 in the second and added 4 in the third on Hickman's homer with bases loaded. The Auctioneers got theirs 1 or 2 per inning until they tied the count in the seventh. In the extra inning Marysville pushed across 4 and Muenster got only 1. James Cole handled the visitors' pitching job. Mollenkopf, Walterscheid and Henscheid pitched for Muenster.

Windthorst was scheduled to oppose the Auctioneers in Sunday's game, but failed to appear, so a group of players from the stands substituted for the visitors. At the end of seven innings the Auctioneers led 7-6 but wanted to play 2 more innings. At the end of the ninth the score was tied 7-7. Breaking the tie required 4 more innings and the Auctioneers, as originally, won by a single point. Billy Zimmerman got the only homer of the game. Pitchers for Auctioneers were William, Boob, and Sylvan Walterscheid and Alvin Fleitman. The other pitchers were Alcuin Zimmerman and Norbert Mages.

For the last two games of their season the Auctioneers will take on the Gainesville Tigers, a colored team. They play here Sunday at 2:30 and at Gainesville Locke Field next Thursday night

Parochial School Elementary Pupils To Register Friday

More than 400 children will register for enrollment at Sacred Heart grade school this Friday, official registration day. Superintendent Father Louis announced the date at church services last Sunday. Classes will begin, Tuesday, Sept. 1.

According to Sister Carmelita, principal, enrollment this scholastic year will top that of the past term. This will be accounted for principally by the larger number of children who will register for the first time. Between 55 and 60 first graders are expected. The school enrolled 422 for the 1952-53 term and graduated 47 from the eighth grade in May.

Sister Grace will register beginners in Room I. Other students will report at the various class rooms which will be tagged with the names of the children expected in each class.

Buses will run in time for the children to attend the 8 o'clock Mass and will return them to their homes before noon.

Ted Neu Delivers First Cotton Bale

To Ted Neu of Lindsay goes the distinction of bringing in Cooke County's first bale of 1953 cotton. He brought it to the McWilliams Gin in Gainesville about 9 a.m. last Thursday.

The bale ginned out at 537 pounds of lint from a total weight of 2100 pounds of pulled cotton. It graded strictly low middling with 15/16 inch staple.

Picking on Neu's cotton started Monday of last week and the first bale could have been brought in 2 days earlier if rain had not delayed the picking. Pickings were thin, however, as bolls were just beginning to open, and about half the 20 acre field had to be covered to complete the bale.

Neu expects to average about a half bale per acre on his crop.

Public School Will Register Monday for '53-'54 School Year

As far as classwork is concerned the opening date for the scholastic year at the Muenster public school is still September 1, but there will be so much preliminary activity on the preceding day that it will be counted officially as a school day. Hence the opening date actually is August 31.

The schedule for that day's activity, as announced this week by Superintendent Cowan, is as follows.

The faculty will meet at 8 o'clock and buses will leave to pick up children at 9.

About 10:30 pupils assemble in the auditorium for briefing on the day's schedule after which they will report by grades to their respective classrooms for registration, assigning lockers and issuing textbooks. Elementary pupils will report to their teachers. High School students will see class sponsors each of whom will be assisted by one other teacher.

After lunch the normal day's schedule will be carried out in short periods. Those periods are to be taken up mostly by preparing a membership roll, giving assignments and covering textbooks.

Band Parents Will Have Concession at Cooke County Fair

Final details on operating a concession stand all next week at the Cooke County Fair were worked out Tuesday night in a meeting of the Muenster Band Parents Club. They will sell home made ice cream, cake and pie along with hamburgers, hot dogs and cold drinks to raise money for their band uniform fund.

The members have arranged their schedule of duty hours and have asked that all ice cream, cakes and pies donated to the cause be left at Fisher's Market.

The concession will be housed in the new 14 x 7 concession stand built this summer by Ervin Hamric for the public school. It is equipped with a butane range, an electric hot plate, a sink and a neat arrangement of shelves and cabinets. Running water is provided by leading a hose to a near-by hydrant.

The stand is painted red and white and bears lettering reading "Muenster Public School, Home of the Hornets." It is built on skids for convenient moving.

The stand is intended primarily for concessions at home football games.

Endres Motor Co. Is Muenster Bus Depot

The station sells tickets to any destination, also sends and receives packages. For several years the city had only a bus stop. There was no authorized local agent to sell tickets or handle bus express.

7 Years Since Last Carload of Cattle

It's not at all unusual to see big trailer loads of cattle going out of this area but when a shipment leaves here by rail it's an event.

And that's what happened Monday. A carload of 46 choice butcher cattle was started on its way to Los Angeles, Calif. by the Muenster Livestock Auction. The animals were bought last Saturday at the local auction by a representative of a west coast packer.

According to R. P. Cain's guess this is the first carload of cattle shipped out of here in 7 years. The last rail shipment, sent by the livestock auction shortly after Dick Cain acquired it, went to Wisconsin.

Football Practice At Parochial High Will Start Tuesday

With six games on schedule and hopes of matching three more, Father Christopher Paladino will line up his Sacred Heart Tigers next Tuesday, September 1, for their first practice session of 1953.

His conference competition in the North Texas division of the Southwest Academic League will be delayed until October 23. Before that he has five dates, three of which still remain open.

Mainstays around whom he will develop his team are the seven returning lettermen, Albert and Gilbert Knabe, James Mollenkopf, Jerry Henscheid, William Walterscheid, Sylvan Walterscheid and Meinrad Yosten.

The boys will play in new suits in their first game. Pants and jerseys are both red with white trimmings.

The schedule to date is as follows: Sept. 17 Era, there Sept. 25 Open Oct. 2 Open Oct. 9 Open Oct. 16 Valley View, there Oct. 23 Boys Ranch, there Oct. 30 Buckner, here Nov. 6 Catholic Hi (Texarkana), there Nov. 13 Laneri, here Nov. 20 First game of Academic League playoff.

Progress Reported On Detention Dams For Elm Watershed

Prospects of developing a system of detention reservoirs for flood prevention in this area look better every day as technicians of the Soil Conservation Service report encouraging progress in securing easements for proposed sites.

Emmitt Yoder said Tuesday that of the 18 sites planned on Big Elm above the confluence of Brushy Elm 13 are cleared and some of the others will probably be cleared in a few days.

The aim of the SCS men is to clear easements and make application for construction funds as soon as possible. Since only limited funds are available for flood prevention on the Trinity watershed, their intention is to get their project under control soon in order to qualify for an appropriation before money starts running out.

In selling their plan to local landowners the SCS men emphasize that it is a program of flood prevention rather than flood control. By catching water at its source they propose to control it before rather than after a flood is started. Their method contrasts sharply with that of big dam projects which offer no protection to low-land along small streams. They quote official statistics to the effect that 75-85 per cent of flood damage to agricultural land occurs on tributaries rather than main streams, and their purpose is to protect those areas as well as the smaller percentage of land down stream. The system as being developed on the Big Elm watershed will (Continued on Page 2)

Nehib, Fisher, Knabe Lead DHIA In July

The Cooke County DHIA report for the month of July, released recently, shows Toney Nehib, Paul Fisher and John Knabe with herds in the three top spots, in the order named. Other high producing herds include those belonging to Paul Fetsch and J. W. Fleitman.

Twenty-three member herds were tested in July. There were 508 cows in milk and 160 dry. The number of cows producing 40 pounds of butter fat or over was 84. Average pounds of milk per cow was 580, and average B. F. content was 22. There are 668 cows in the association.

Nehib's 18 cows averaged 930 pounds of milk with an average B. F. content of 34. Four were in 40 or over bracket ranging from 44 to 74. The 74 pound producer was the association's individual champ for the month.

Fisher's 23 cows averaged 710 pounds of milk and 30 of B. F. with nine producing from 41 to 54 pounds of butter fat.

Knabe's 28 Jerseys averaged 700 pounds of milk and 30 of B. F. Seven were in the upper bracket ranging from 42 to 56 pounds of B. F.

Others on the list with 40 pounds of butter fat or over are three cows belonging to Fetsch, 40 to 53; J. W. Fleitman, nine, 40 to 49; Alfred Bayer, three, 41 to 54; Martin Bayes, one, 47; C. A. Fisher, one, 43; Joe Fisher, one, 40; Hoedebeck and Myers, six, 45 to 58; Albert Klement, one, 48; Peter Prescher, four, 42 to 57.

In June the three top herds were owned by Toney Nehib, Paul Fisher and H. F. Schneider-jan.

With The 45th Division in Korea

The unmistakable odor of garlic has once again saved an American patrol in Korea. When Corporal Carmelo J. Bruno, Co. F, 180th "Warrior" Regiment, sniffed the "kimchi spoor" a few yards from a red nest, he immediately warned patrol leader 2nd Lieutenant John B. Long. Lt. Long directed the flushing of the enemy position.

Cpl. Bruno's quote at the patrol's end was a Churchillian paraphrase: "Never have so many owed so much to so PHEW."

Magistrate: Come, now, you really don't think he meant to put your eye out?

Plaintiff: No, your Honor, I don't; but I do say he tried to put it further in.

work in the following manner. From the source near Saint Jo to the confluence of the Brushy near Myra there will be one reservoir near the creek's source and 17 other reservoirs on branches feeding the creek. In some cases a branch feeding a larger branch will have a reservoir.

As rain falls over the area each of those reservoirs will hold water and release it slowly into the main channel, at a rate that the main channel can handle easily without danger of flood. In case a reservoir is filled to capacity, up to the spillway level, it will require several days to drain down to the permanent water level. Without control all that water would gush down in a few hours, and flood lowlands along the way.

With 18 such points of control the water flow could be held within limits of the channel's capacity, except in an exceptionally heavy rain that would send large volumes over spillways all over the area. Even then there would be less of such floodwater causing less damage.

The average detention reservoir is built to hold 8 to 10 acres of permanent water and about twice as many acres of flood water when filled to the spillway level. A draw-down tube leading to the main channel allows excess water to drain gradually to the permanent level. If the landowner wishes he can drain out more water by means of a special valve. The water is his to use for recreation, for livestock, irrigation or to run away for greater flood control capacity.

All of the dam construction cost is paid by the SCS and after it is finished it become the land-job includes sodding, fertilizing and irrigating the dam and spillway in order to assure a permanent and substantial cover owner's property. The finished with a McCormick MF drill. Low, rubber-tired wheels make possible much smoother, faster travel in the field and on the highway.

You can do three different jobs at once with a McCormick MF drill

1. Seed grain, soybeans, and other crops with yield-boosting accuracy. The McCormick MF drill sows both large and small seeds in any desired quantity per acre. Furrow openers, built for your soil, place seed at uniform depth for even germination and uniform ripening of the crop.

2. Distribute commercial fertilizer in any quantity from 30 to 1,135 pounds per acre as you seed. The MF drill ordinarily places fertilizer in the row with the seed, but it can be equipped to distribute fertilizer separately. Big capacity fertilizer hopper lets you work longer between refills.

3. Seed grass, clover, or alfalfa at the same time you sow and fertilize the nurse crop. The grass seed attachment for the MF drill lets you vary the seeding rate as little as one quart per acre. Grass seed can be released through the grain tubes or sown broadcast.

We'll be glad to give you complete details on how this drill helps crops grow faster — how it makes fertilizer go farther by placing all plant food within easy reach of the plants. A wide range of sizes and equipment enables you to select a McCormick MF drill that's tailor-made for your needs. See us for more facts when you're in town.

HISTORY AND OIL

In retrospect, Destiny has a funny way of doing things.

Col. Edwin L. Drake, for example, is generally credited with having drilled the world's first commercial oil well. His niche in history is secure. Yet, if it hadn't been for the curiosity of a New England doctor, the analytical skill of a college obstetrician, and the promotional enthusiasm of an ailing educator, the birth of the great American oil industry might have been delayed indefinitely, and the birthplace might have been most any place else than Titusville, Pa.

Curiosity led Dr. Francis B. Brewer to take a small bottle of "rock oil", which seeped from springs in northwestern Pennsylvania, to his uncle, Dr. Dixie Crosby, who was professor of surgery and obstetrics at Dartmouth College. After the first scientific examination in petroleum history, Dr. Crosby pronounced it a valuable substance, although he and a fellow professor held it could never become a commercial commodity since there was so little available. However, a chance visit by George H. Bissell, who had to give up teaching because of his health, started a chain of events which led to the formation of the world's first oil company, the hiring of Drake and his assignment to a place called Titusville for a date with destiny—a date which was to change the course of civilization.

This is the hundredth anniversary of Dr. Crosby's historic examination. In August, 1859, Drake brought in his well, so the industry celebrates its 94th anniversary this month, too. Today, this American oil industry has no peer anywhere in the world. It is a symbol of free, competitive enterprise at work—and it lubricates the lives of all of us at more points than we realize. It not only supplies us with an abundance of its varied products but spends $100,000,000 a year in research to find still more that Dr. Crosby never dreamed of. It fuels our armed forces on land and sea and in the air, and drives much of the machinery of internal security. Oil has proved itself a "good citizen", a faithful servant in every family circle.

BABY-KILLER AT LARGE

Most Americans, we believe, are convinced that they live in the safest country in the world. Not only our drugs, but our foods, our drinking water and even the air we breathe are the concern of various public bodies, local, state and Federal.

We insulate our electric wires and require protective devices on almost every machine that serves mankind, in the factory, the home, on the highways, the rails on the sea and in the air.

Yet, confident as we are that every poison that may find its way into our medicine cabinet bears the skull and cross-bones for those who can't read, and the red warning label "POISON" for those who can, boric acid, a baby-killer, remains at large and unrestricted. Boric acid, a deadly substance, for which there is no known antidote, masquerades as a benign and useful drug product. Borated powders and salves, specially recommended for babies, are in use in millions of homes at this moment! Too often deaths due to boric acid have been attributed to other causes, such as meningitis and pneumonia, where the symptoms are similar. And during the past several years, while doctors issued warnings against boric acid in medical journals which the public doesn't see, women's magazines unwittingly continued to advise anxious young mothers to apply liberal doses of boric acid or borated talcum to relieve the many irritations that beset young babies.

The situation is particularly pitiful since a useful and therapeutic drug, diaphene chloride, has been developed which is miraculously effective against the infant afflictions for which so many thousands of uninstructed mothers use the deadly borates.

Almost four years ago, Dr. Harold Abramson, of New York, writing in "Pediatrics", said: "It (boric acid) is a lethal agent and responsible for many unnecessary fatalities." Since that time the volume of similar professional testimony has steadily grown. How long, then, must we wait, how many helpless young citizens must die, how many anguished mothers must suffer the tortures of unwitting guilt before our Federal Food and Drug Administration labels this killer for what it is?

LOCUSTS WIPED OUT

A locust plague was effectively dispelled for the first time in the history of the Middle East recently. U. S. and British aircraft were used to spray insecticide over areas teeming with locusts in Iraq and Iran. The operation was completed in two weeks and damage to grazing and cultivated areas was held to a minimum.

Life is like that. You usually hear about the man who hit the jackpot, but the fellows who built up the pot are unknown.

A Marine staff sergeant, home on leave, was quite unexpectedly left in charge of his three month old niece for an afternoon. All went well at first; then a crisis arose and the sergeant put in a frantic call to his uncle, who took care of the problem in man to man fashion. "First," he said, Place the diaper in position of a baseball diamond with you at bat. Fold second base over home plate. Place baby on pitcher's mound. Then pin first and third base to home plate. It worked.

The Home Is Children's First Classroom

MOTHERS AND FATHERS are the world's most important educators. Yet most people leave parents out of the picture and think of education only in terms of schools, kindergarten, etc.

But the education of children does not begin in school. It begins in the home. Search though you may, you will not find a teacher who has more influence on pupils than mothers and fathers have on their children.

Mothers and fathers fashion and mold the minds and hearts of their children, like artists working soft wax. In the formative years of early life, their first impressions sink the deepest and remain the longest. This is all in keeping with God's Holy Plan.

THE PURPOSE OF Christian Marriage is not only to bring children into the world, but also to rear and educate them. Therefore, it is not only the duty of parents to educate their children; it is also their high privilege. It can be said with truth that the home is God's first classroom. The home is the child's most important school.

The education of a child will be most effective and lasting if it is received in a well-ordered and disciplined Christian family. The two qualifications "well-ordered" and "disciplined" are worthy of being emphasized. If there is too much relaxation of discipline on the part of parents, there will be failure to check the growth of civil passions in the hearts of the children; and control, which is such an important factor in education, is lost or weakened.

A WELL-ORDERED family is careful to make good use of the authority that comes from God. Authority is not given to parents for their own advantages, but for the proper rearing of their children.

In such a home, youthful hearts and minds can develop and grow strong, even from the very first days of life. The mind of a little child is like a white sheet of paper that has nothing written on it. Then from hour to hour, and day to day, the eyes and ears and other senses act like windows through which will pass light and shadows which will mark or mar it.

EVERY IMPRESSION will have its own influence. During this stage, and through many later years, the most important factors are the parents. A wise man once said:

"The art of forming character in the child is far more excellent than the art of the sculptor. Christian parents by wise and consistent discipline are able to mold souls—masterpieces far above the most extravagant dreams of any artist."—(By Rev. Leo C. Byrne.)

Soil Conservation Notes

Cooperators of the Upper Elmered soil conservation district in the Muenster area continue to build terraces as one of their lines of defense against soil and water erosion.

Alfred Bayer is working on nearly 10,000 feet of channel type terraces on his farm northwest of Muenster. These terraces represent another step toward completion of a coordinated plan for conservation of soil and water on his farm. Like other conservation farm plans this plan is designed to use each acre within its capabilities and for treatment of each acre according to its needs for protection and improvement.

John and Joe Kleiss have completed 2,000 feet of plow built terraces on their farm west of town. They used farm equipment and the island method of terrace construction to build broad, easy-to-cross terraces that outlet onto Bermuda grass waterway that was sodded two years ago to afford a safe outlet for water.

At Hood, Joe Lewter is using a 3-disc plow to build 2,500 feet of field terraces. These outlet onto a grassed waterway put in two years ago to provide a safe terrace outlet area.

Tillage Tools
No. 9-A Tractor Disk Harrow

Tillage Tools must be plenty rugged to stand the tough job of preparing seed beds. They must also be soundly engineered to do the job right. You'll find both characteristics in McCormick Tillage Tools.

Take, for example, the rear gangs on the No. 9-A tractor disk harrow. Notice how they are "cross-draft" connected. That shows real engineering "know-how." The rear gangs can't skid in tough soils or when turning corners.

They're always in position to split the ridges ahead and give you a 100 per cent job of disking.

It's that way all through the entire line of McCormick Tillage Tools. You'll find weight where weight is needed—quality construction and sound engineering. You can depend upon every tool to do its job right.

Come in and see the long-lasting, good-working McCormick Tillage Tools we have on hand.

SHIPSHAPE—The prefabricated bow section of the S.S. Golden Mariner is seen above being lowered into place at San Francisco, Calif., shipyards. Once in position, it was shored up and welded to structure.

Playtex Boats

We never realized, even after reading some of those ads, that the business of making ladies girdles required such outstanding engineering. But the US Marine Corps decided back in 1951, evidently, that an organization that could keep thousands of women in good shape—whether they were dancing, cooking, shopping, sitting, standing or playing leapfrog—should be able to make a rubber boat that would stay in shape, too.

First thing the Marines asked the Playtex people to do was to build them a collapsible, rigid, pneumatic four man boat that would carry over half a ton of supplies, equipment and personnel. When the new vessel, USMC Playtex I, was launched, tested, deflated, folded up, unfolded, blown up, relaunched, reloaded, and retested a few times, the leather-necks said, "Fine, now make us one for nine men that will carry 2450 pounds of whatever".

And among the features of "Brass Week" at the Marine Base at Quantico, Va., when an even hundred civilian and military defense heads, including Secretary

Charles E. Wilson, (and for a day the President himself) went down there for a course in getting acquainted, was the nine-man USMC Playtex II.

And while this military offspring of mama's girdle, baby's leak-proof pants and other unlikely ancestors, went through its paces, was rowed and rocked and motor-propelled, the news-reel men got a chance at action stuff instead of portraiture.

The vessel, we must report, was as good a movie actress as any of the company's other customers, and Playtex II kept her shape just as nonchalantly.

Famin Horrors

 Commissioner Texas
 Dept. of Agriculture

There is nothing new under the sun. History can be rightly called "a study of parallels" and particularly in regard to the present record-breaking drouth.

Bad as the prolonged dry spell has been, we can take refuge in the fact that disasters, either local or national, bring out the humanitarian instincts of the more fortunate. As a result, tragedy is averted through gifts, loans and other economic means.

But this was not always so. Recent studies show that man has sometimes had to resort to cannibalism in order to live through the famines following great drouths.

In a story released by the Associated Press recently, Arthur Edson reports on a study of age-old drouths made by Julius Allen of the Library of Congress. Edson quotes Allen as saying famines also have been the cause of wars, migrations, revolutions and Communists.

"India and China, near starvation level even when things are at their best, have been hardest hit," Edson writes. "The University of Nanking figures that China has had 1,829 famines in the past 2,000 years.

"Famines have been no respecter of geography. Some 650 famines have been recorded in Europe. In 936, in Scotland, 'people began to devour one another'. During that same time, the Irish sold their children for food."

There is this description of the Egyptian famine of 1064-1072, according to Edson.

"The wretched restored to cannibalism, and organized bands kidnaped the unwary passenger in the desolate streets, principally by means of ropes furnished with hooks and let down from the latticed windows."

"Even the mere statistics are awesome: five million dead in the India famine of 1876-78, 9 1/2 million dead in North China in the same period, and 12 million dead of starvation during the Russian Revolution.

"The first written account of a drouth remains one of the best. Two thousand years before the time of Abraham, a drouth struck Egypt. The king, Tosorthrus, left his report on it, and any Texas or Oklahoma farmer will know how he felt.

"I am mourning on my high throne for the vast misfortune because the Nile flood has not come for seven years. Light is the grain; there is lack of crops and of all kinds of food.

"Each man has become a thief to his neighbor. They desire to hasten and cannot walk. The child cries, and the youth creeps along, and the old man; their souls are bowed down . . ."

Edson ends his story with Tosorthrus' note of almost complete desperation: "Torn open are the chests of provisions, but instead of contents there is air. Everything is exhausted."

SCOUTS HAVE OUTING

Muenster Boy Scouts held their annual outing Sunday at Forest Park in Fort Worth. It was an all-day affair with swimming, food, and a visit to the zoo. Rev. Louis Deuster, Scoutmaster Nick Miller and six fathers, George Mollenkopf, Ed Pels, Frank Bayer, Oscar Walter, Andy Schoech and Paul Endres, and Herbie Miller, bus driver, accompanied the 18 boys.

Local News BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yosten and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Moster spent Sunday in Tours where they visited Mrs. Yosten's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Filer. Mr. Filer had been ill but is recovering nicely and is up and around. In the afternoon the Muensterites saw all their Tours relatives at a church social which they attended.

ADMIRAL CHEST TYPE FREEZER

Far more miles per gallon on the trips YOU take!

On long trips, short trips, all trips, you get far greater gas mileage out of a '53 Chevrolet. It offers important savings in everyday driving over everyday roads!

Out to the golf course. Off for a week-end of fishing. Half across the country on a full-scale vacation. Wherever you go—however you drive—you're going to get there on a lot less gasoline in a fine new Chevrolet.

The truth is, this year's Chevrolet owners are enjoying the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. Plus more power. Faster acceleration. More "steam" for the steep hills.

That's the beauty of Chevrolet's two great high-compression engines—the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine in Powerglide* models, and the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine in gearshift models. They squeeze much more out of regular gasoline—more miles, more pleasure.

Along with this greater gas mileage, you get lower over-all upkeep costs. And Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in its field. Drop in and let us show you how you'll be better off in every way with a 1953 Chevrolet!

*Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

The Real Price Of Farm Machinery

To say that machinery is a "must" in present-day farming is to say the obvious. Efficient equipment is the key to greater production, better production and land use, and production at minimum expense.

Moreover, the cost of that machinery, measured in terms of the market value of basic farm products, is less than it was before the last world war.

That fact is brought out by Dr. Earl L. Butz of Purdue University. During the first six months of this year, he says, the farmer could buy a typical two-plow tractor for the money received from the sale of 51 hogs, while before World War II it would have taken 84 hogs. And the equipment was cheaper also in terms of milk, corn and wheat, even though these commodities were down in price at the time the comparison was made.

Dr. Butz stresses another highly important fact. In the first six months of 1953 wage rates for farm labor were 423 per cent of the 1935-39 level. Prices received by farmers were at 246 per cent of that level—and the price of new farm machinery at 203 per cent. As he says, "These data again serve to illustrate that it is good economy to substitute machinery for expensive labor."

The machine started an agricultural revolution a little more than a century ago. That revolution continues.

Confetti - - -

World situation is the revelation this week in a report by the Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee to the effect that a ring of clever communists have been operating in top levels of our government since the 1930s, carrying on a continuous campaign to damage our country's internal economy and to shape American foreign policy so as to aid the spread of communism abroad.

In the committee's words "They used each other's names on applications for federal employment. They hired each other. They promoted each other. They raised each other's salaries. They transferred each other from bureau to bureau, from department to department, from congressional committee to congressional committee. They assigned each other to international missions."

They engineered the plague of labor troubles that infested our country in the 30s. They originated the AAA monstrosities of the early 30s such as plowing under and livestock killing. They planned the wreckage of German industry along with Russia's confiscation of that industry. They formulated the foreign policy which led to the division of Korea and the defeat of Nationalist China. They influenced the workings of war time agencies. They decided which countries should receive UNRRA help after the war. They gave vital secrets to Russia. They used their influence to get reds on our country's UN staff. In short, they were guilty of treason in dozens of separate ways and thousands of separate acts.

Since investigations have been in progress three of the ring-leaders have been convicted and there is substantial evidence to prove that 36 more are communists.

Information such as that causes a person to wonder whether we should be more concerned with reds at home or abroad. It makes us wonder also whether we have a chance to stand up against world communism unless we first clean up at home.

As regards the cleaning up process we likewise wonder whether such rats deserve a better fate than the Rosenbergs. In their way they have done as much harm to the country and caused as much spilling of innocent blood. They are traitors, revolutionaries and murderers. They are entitled to no less than the just punishment for each of these crimes.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Miss Theresa Hesse was greeted with a surprise birthday party at her home Sunday afternoon. Her sisters and nieces, 14 of them, arrived in a body with a gift for the honoree and birthday cake, ice cream and cold drinks for refreshments.

RELAX

RELAX PATRONS NOTICE!

This is not an apology. It is both a statement of policy and an explanation. When I bought the Relax, it was generally thought that Congress would repeal the 20 per cent Federal tax on theatre admissions. They did this last month, but President Eisenhower saw fit to veto this bill.

In view of this, and the continually rising cost of film, supplies and equipment, it will be necessary to increase admission prices if we are to continue to give you the finest entertainment at the lowest prices consistent with good business practices.

We have consistently bought newer and better pictures, improved the equipment, both sound and projection, and increased the number of show days per week from five to seven.

We are not going to install 3-D equipment, but in the next few months we will offer you the new Cinemascope or wide-screen process and a little later, Stereophonic Sound.

We're sure you'll understand why we must increase admissions and that, even at twice the price, movies are still your best entertainment value.

Our prices, effective August 30, will be 14c for children and 44c for adults.

Thank you,
George Letson
