

MUENSTER ENTERPRISE

VOLUME XVIII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS,

JULY 9, 1954

NUMBER 33

Lots of us were pleased last week with the report that Muenster's population has increased by almost 200 since the last official U.S. census was taken in 1950. That figures to about 20 per cent, which incidentally, follows very closely the ratio of increase that has been maintained here for more than 20 years. Twenty per cent for four years figures to 5 per cent for one or 50 per cent for ten years. Well, the count was about 400 in 1930, 600 in 1940, 900 in 1950 and now almost 1100. At this rate the 1960 census should show about 1350.

The one fact most clearly shown by this consistent progress is that the town's development rests on a solid foundation. There's no boom-town growth about it, rather that good substantial increase that serves as a firm base for continued growth.

All of which is most gratifying. It offers every reason for confidence that Muenster will keep pushing ahead, developing into an increasingly better place to live and make a living.

At the same time the facts point out an increasingly greater responsibility of citizens here to plan and accomplish the improvements that are essential to continued development. The survey of suggestions for the town's needs revealed quite a number of good ideas. Some of them deserve prompt attention, not only as a means of providing what we should have now but also as an inducement for the growth we hope to see. Remember, too, it's possible that a bit of effort invested now will pay off in even more rapid growth than we have seen in the past.

About the end of the past school year the bank sponsored an essay contest among school children on the subject of encouraging youngsters to go to college and to apply their talent and knowledge to their home community. Some good ideas were presented in those essays. Such as creating a loan fund for the use of deserving students, and developing various opportunities for those who are starting their adult careers. Also mentioned were recreational facilities to make life more interesting here.

Unfortunately one thing not mentioned was greater emphasis on increased ability resulting from education. Too many of us still have not got over the habit of measuring the value of an education by comparing people. Mister A made a lot of money after quitting in the grades but Mr. B did not do so well in spite of going through college. This line of thought by passes the fact that the two are fundamentally far from equal in the first place, and that A would most likely have done much better with an education whereas B would have done much worse without it. But that isn't all that counts. A might have been worth more to his community. B might have been worth less. So the kids should try to remember, and the rest of us should help them remember, whatever natural talents they have they can make themselves better by advanced study. That's the whole fact in a nutshell and it's plenty of inducement to any youngster who aspires to a happy and useful life.

As regards inducements for young talent to settle at home, it's a good idea for oldsters to make feasible provisions here and (Continued on Page 10)

Lion Meeting Talks Up Swimming Pool

If enthusiasm at the Lions Club meeting Tuesday can be regarded as an indication, a swimming pool for Muenster is in sight. The attitude there was the pool is quite generally taken for granted and the only thing left to be decided is the plan and the method of financing.

Lions are also confident that a substantial part of the cost can be eliminated in building the pool. They feel that a local campaign for donations of labor and materials will be met with gratifying response, especially in view of the fact that the project has to be held down to a moderate figure to be feasible.

The general opinion is that the swimming pool will have to be built and supervised by the city, and the Lions are trying to find ways and means to help the city see its way through the project.

Post Office Closes At Noon Saturday Starting July 17

The post office here will be closed on Saturday afternoons, beginning July 17. Postmaster Arthur Endres disclosed this week.

Endres explained that the change is being made in conformity with present efforts of the Post Office Department to reduce operating expenses of post offices all over the nation. He also said that the local office at this time is out of line with most other offices. At a meeting of postmasters of Cooke, Montague, Denton and Wise counties in Gainesville last Thursday night Endres was one of only 4 postmasters who stated that they are keeping open on Saturday afternoons.

This means, he explained that there will be no window service after noon on Saturdays. No stamp or money order sales, no general delivery service and no parcel mailing except small packages that are previously stamped and can be slipped through one of the slots. However letters can be mailed and people can get their mail as usual from boxes.

The change will make no difference in dispatching mail. One of the post office personnel will see that mail reaches the train as usual.

Endres picked July 17 as effective date of the change in order to allow more than a week for the word to get around. On that day and Saturdays thereafter patrons who want window service are reminded to come before noon.

Few are expected to be inconvenienced by the close, because Saturday is the least active day of the week. Endres said that Saturday volume is usually about a third of that on other days.

4-H Tractor School Slated for Friday

Cooke county 4-H Club boys are invited to attend a Tractor Maintenance School at the Adolph Fuhrman farm at Lindsay this Friday, according to Gene Sears, assistant county agent.

The program will begin at 9 a.m. and should be over at noon. Tractor specialists will be on hand to discuss different fundamentals of tractor maintenance.

City Water Use Reaches New High; Plenty of It, Too!

Muenster hit a new record in water consumption Monday, pointing up the fact that a drought is here again. Water Superintendent Steve Moser said that the city used 242,000 gallons that day as compared with last year's peak of 232,000 gallons.

Figures also reflect the city's increase in population. Daily volumes leading up to the new record have been consistently about 10,000 gallons more than for the corresponding period last year.

Unlike last year, however, the load puts no strain whatever on the city's water system. With the new No. 4 well producing at a rate of 150 gallons a minute there is no problem in holding an adequate supply. Last year it was necessary to ration, people on the two sides of a street being asked to do their yard and garden watering on alternate nights.

Another improvement in the water system since last year is simultaneous use of the two pumps at the reservoir. Formerly one served as a stand-by. The effect has been to more than double the volume being pumped into the mains. That's something for an engineer to explain, but it is a fact that pumps which move 9,000 and 16,000 gallons respectively when working alone move a total of about 30,000 gallons when working together.

While all equipment is operating properly, Moser said, the city (Continued on page 10)

NEWS OF SICK AND INJURED

Mrs. Gene Hoedebeck underwent major surgery last Friday at 4 p.m. in Gainesville Sanitarium and is recovering satisfactorily from the operation and from mumps which developed the following day.

Frances Moser 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Moser, broke her right arm Friday when she fell from a fence at her home. The fracture is just above the wrist.

Mrs. John Koelzer of Hereford is reported improved but still quite ill at her home in Hereford following a heart attack Saturday, June 26. She is 86 years old and formerly lived here. Mr. and Mrs. Pete Koelzer and son Wilfred and Mrs. Joe Streng drove to Hereford last week to visit her.

Mary Trubenbach is on crutches since she sustained a severe left ankle sprain last Wednesday evening. She was busy with farm chores when the accident happened. Rounding up the cows for milking, she stepped on a rock and turned her ankle.

Frank Klement was dismissed from Gainesville Sanitarium Monday and is convalescing at his home where he is up and around a part of each day.

Mrs. Henry Sprengel has recovered from mumps.

J. F. Brown was back in Gainesville Sanitarium two days last week for a check-up and observation and since then is permitted to be up and around for longer periods each day, according to his daughter, Mrs. Herman Fette.

New Decentralized Post Office System Being Introduced

The new decentralized method of operation being put into effect by the Post Office Department was explained to 35 postal employees of Cooke, Montague, Denton and Wise Counties when they met in Gainesville last Thursday night with top men of the district office of Fort Worth.

Arthur Endres, one of those attending, said the change of system, intended to eliminate loss of time and expense due to previous red tape, takes practically all the administration out of Washington and places it under the direction of district managers. The new system is one of the results of recommendations submitted by the Hoover commission.

Under the arrangement the nation is divided into 15 regions, one being the Texas and Louisiana region with headquarters at Dallas, headed by Earl C. Wilkes as "little postmaster general". The region is divided into six districts.

Manager Homer Dennis and his assistant, Hugh Brown, of the Fort Worth district office are currently meeting with postal employees all over the district to explain the new methods of procedure.

Softballers Move Up to Third Place Tie in County Loop

An easy 9-2 win over the league trailing Sinclair team last Friday night enabled the Muenster VFW boys to edge up another notch for a third place tie in the Cooke County Softball League. Bezner continues to occupy top spot with a 9-1 record and Gainesville VFW is second with 9-2. TP&L and Muenster each have 7-3.

A strong first inning for 4 runs gave the Muenster men a comfortable early lead over the Oilers and from there they coasted through the rest of the game, cashing in nicely on five hits and plenty of walks and errors. Sinclair on the other hand led Muenster in hits, but they were scattered and walks and errors were few. Hartman pitched while his teammates gave him good solid backing.

Next on schedule for the local men is the game with Bezner next Tuesday night . . . after postponing two contests to the end of the season. The game with National Guard Wednesday was postponed because the Guardsmen are at summer camp. The game with VFW next Sunday afternoon is postponed because of hot weather. The league decided to have no more afternoon games. All the leagues postponed games are to be made up during the two weeks between July 30 when the regular season ends and August 15 when playoffs begin.

Social life chairmen are Mary McGannon and Edna Swirczynski.

Parishes to be represented here at the meeting are Gainesville, Lindsay, Pilot Point, Sherman, Denison, Valley View and Whitesboro, Denton and Greenville.

Mrs. John Hoberer, 57 Year Resident Of Lindsay, Dies

Mrs. John Hoberer, 73, a resident of Lindsay for 57 years, passed away at her home there Sunday following a several weeks' illness.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning in St. Peter's Church with Rev. Conrad Herda officiating at the requiem high mass and at interment in St. Peter's cemetery. Vernie Keel Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements and rosary was recited at the funeral home chapel on Sunday and Monday nights.

Bearers were Julius Loerwald, William Schmitz, Johnny Kupper, Pete Block, Bill Schad and Pete Hellinger.

Mrs. Hoberer, the former Anna Margaret Hofer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hofer, was born in Fingal, N. D., and moved from there with her parents to Texas in 1896 when the family came to Cooke County, settling in Muenster. They remained one year, then moved to Lindsay and she had resided there ever since. She was married to John Hoberer in 1908 and the couple farmed until they retired from active work.

Survivors are her husband; two sons, John P. Hoberer of Gainesville and Richard F. Hoberer of Laverne, Iowa; three daughters, Mrs. Sam Bennett and Mrs. Leo Gordon of Dallas and Mrs. Ed Wiesman of Gainesville; a number of grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. W. J. Loerwald of Gainesville, Mrs. Peter Krebs of Nida, Okla., and Mrs. August Schad of Plainview, Minn.; and one brother, Joe Hofer of Houston.

1093 Declared as Official Count, City Changes Procedure

The official count on the recently completed city census and survey is 1093, the figure which was submitted as unofficial immediately after the count was completed last week.

After reviewing the census at its meeting Tuesday night the city council voted to declare it as Muenster's official population as of July 1, 1954.

Based on that declaration the city also passed a resolution to conduct future city business according to the regulations governing municipalities with a population of 1000 or more.

The survey on dental expenditures added to $17,767, and the figure is admitted to be low. Some people who did not have definite ideas about their annual bills declined to state a figure. Some others guessed but it is taken for granted that their combined estimates will be about correct. As regards the inducement for a dentist to locate here, the city's total expenditure represents less than half that of the community. Rural population in the Muenster trade area is considerably higher than that of the town and its combined dental bill is believed to be proportionately higher.

The summary of the survey on suggested improvements to the city has not been completed at this time. However, a glance at the record shows that a dentist is the most frequently mentioned need. Other recommendations frequently given are swimming pool, industry, recreational facilities, improvements to business district, hospital, lake project and clothing stores.

Flood Control Dam Construction Starts

Construction is under way on the first of the detention reservoirs for the Elm watershed. Workmen of the Bayou Construction Company of Houston arrived on the Alex Lutkenhaus place Tuesday with several pieces of equipment to use in moving dirt for the dam which will require about 112,000 cubic yards of dirt.

Tools already on the job, according to Lutkenhaus, are two bulldozers, a drag line, dump trucks, a sheep-foot packer, and a heavy grader.

He said the job is starting with stripping off surface soil and stock piling it for later use on the surface of the earthen dam. Subsoil will then be moved for building the dam, being soaked and packed as it is put in place.

Ola King is Bride Of Louis Roberg in Wednesday Nuptial

Saint Mary's Church in Gainesville was the setting Wednesday morning for a nuptial mass and single ring ceremony which united in marriage Mrs. Ola King of Gainesville, daughter of Mrs. H. K. Harper of Dallas and Louis Roberg of Muenster, son of Mrs. Katie Roberg of this city.

Rev. Herman Redder, pastor, officiated at the simple ceremonies attended by family members and close friends of the couple at 5 a.m. Pink gladioli and candles adorned the altar.

For her wedding the bride wore a steel grey dressmaker suit with navy blue accessories. She carried a white orchid on top of a white prayer book.

After the service the couple went to the Blessed Virgin's altar where the bride placed the orchid at the feet of the statue and Father Redder led an act of consecration to Mary.

The couple was attended by his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roberg, whose young son, Billy Frank Roberg, served as acolyte.

Mrs. Roberg was matron of honor in a light grey dressmaker suit with navy accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

The groom's mother wore a navy blue linen dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Immediately after the services the bridal party, family members and guests had breakfast in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roberg. Daisies formed a center piece for the table and white glads adorned the home.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Roberg will make their home at 1423 Cherry Street in Gainesville.

The bride attended school in Gainesville and is employed there. Her husband attended school here and is a veteran of world war II. He served in the Navy aboard a mine sweeper with duty in both the Atlantic and Pacific theatres. He is in business here as a partner with his brother, Lawrence Roberg. They are co-owners of Muenster Machine Shop and Supply Company.

Among out of town guests at the wedding were Lloyd Kenneth King, son of the bride, who is in the army at Fort Knox, Ky., and Miss Joan Roberg, niece of the groom, of Fort Worth.

Doris Reiter and Cpl. Henry Grewing United Wednesday

Miss Doris Reiter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reiter, and Cpl. Henry Grewing, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grewing, exchanged marriage vows during nuptial ceremonies in Sacred Heart church here Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock. Rev. Louis Deuster, performed the double ring ceremony and officiated at the wedding mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a chapel length gown of white nylon tulle and Chantilly lace. The moulded bodice of lace was fashioned with a high neckline of tulle and was topped with a Peter Pan collar of lace. Long lace sleeves were pointed over her hands and the very bouffant pleated tulle skirt was styled with a lace peplum.

Her tiered veil was fingertip length attached to a bonnet of lace sprinkled with seed pearls and she carried a white orchid surrounded by white rose buds.

Mr. and Mrs. Alrich Zwinggi of Gainesville, brother-in-law and sister of the groom, attended the couple as best man and matron of honor. Mrs. Zwinggi wore an orchid lace floor length dress with fitted bodice, scalloped neckline and wide gathered skirt. She completed her costume with a matching bonnet and long net gloves and carried an arm bouquet of pink rose buds.

Glenn Hellman and Edward Grewing were ushers.

Mrs. Reiter attended her daughter's wedding in a beige lace and linen dress with brown accessories and Mrs. Grewing wore blue linen with navy and white accessories. Both had corsages of pink carnations.

Anthony Luke, organist, played the traditional wedding processional and recessional. White gladioli adorned the church.

After mass the couple went to the Marian shrine and the bride laid a bouquet a white gladioli on the altar.

Following the services Mr. and Mrs. Reiter were hosts for a reception and buffet supper in the public school lunch room for about 225 guests. Misses LaQuita Cain and Joan Klement presided at the bride's book.

The bride's table carried out

I. A. Schoech is the new post office messenger, hauling mail to and from the trains. He succeeds R. R. Endres, who retired on July 1 to start a new job as local sales representative for the Watkins Company.

Mrs. Annie Needham of Waco is here for a vacation visit with her son Frank Needham and family.

Mrs. Bill Searcy and daughter Tana were in Slidell Wednesday to attend funeral services for her grandfather, W. B. Bowen, who died Monday. The body was taken to Hereford for burial Thursday. Bowen had observed his 83rd birthday on July 4.

Another Field Experience Report...
From a Fordson Major Diesel operating between Hood and Lindsay, pulling a 5-disc mounted plow:

The owner reports that he is deep breaking his stubble at a fuel cost of less than 15c per acre.

What does it cost YOU to break an acre? How long would it take you to pay for a new Diesel Tractor on fuel savings alone?

We will be happy to take you out to see these Diesel tractors and talk to the owners at any time.

We have had to postpone temporarily our Diesel demonstrations since Jimmy Lehnertz came in and bought the umbrella off of it and old Braggin' Parker has got so spoiled to this Ford tractor farming that he just won't hardly get on one without a shade. I even had to put a fan on our Ford demonstrator for him.

We really do want to demonstrate either or both of these tractors... Fordson Major Diesel or the Ford tractor with its 4-disc plow.

We can use a few more of these old sore-footed CC Cases on Diesel trades, and we're giving about three times what they're worth to get started on the Fordson Diesels.

Rx. Rail to Rubber

John M. Redding, former Assistant Postmaster General, who in 1951 initiated the present limited use of trucks as prime-haulers of mail, says we should now shift mail from the rails to the highways for distances up to 300 miles. Where the present truck program is saving six million dollars a year, he says this extended truck operation will chop eighty five millions or more off of the Postal deficit. In terms of your own pocket, this means that the present $660,000,000 deficit, which costs you $4.00 a year (as an average taxpayer) will be reduced to $3.50.

Also, says Mr. Redding, who has produced a 48 page report on the subject for the Independent Advisory Committee of the trucking industry, you'll get better, faster mail service this way, as well as reduced costs.

While railroad mail must ultimately be carried from the station to the post office by truck, all-truck service connects post offices door-to-door. Besides eliminating this extra handling at both ends, use of trucks would often cut down transfers en route. Further, says Mr. Redding, there will be less damage to mail, since damage complaints have been greatly reduced in areas where trucks have taken over the mails from the railroads.

We are assured by the Committee that "Trucks don't want any business the rails can do better". Nor would we think that the railroads would want any business the trucks can do better. As a particular case in point, we would not think any railroad would want to spend four days moving mail those 189 miles from Central Falls, R. I. to New York City especially when the stagecoach could do it in two-and-a-half days a hundred years ago.

What the rest of us want, and what we think we are entitled to (as our Congressman must know) is fast, dependable, economical mail service that improves as the nation's transportation facilities improve . . . mail service that makes the fullest possible use of whatever are the best implements for each postal job.

The mail has GOT to go through. If trucks will help, we're all for 'em. And if they cut that deficit, too—so much the better.

At a gas station, a hefty Arkansas traveler finally caught up with another driver who had called him a hog for blocking the road some miles back. Arkansas flexed his muscles and said to the hog-caller, "I was just a little fellow 'Called me a hog didn't you?'"

"Yes-s-s," said the small one. "But I didn't know you were such a BIG hog."

Grewing-Zwinggi Vows Exchanged During Nuptial Mass

Miss Joyce Grewing and Alrich Zwinggi were married in Sacred Heart church here Tuesday morning, June 29, with Rev. Louis Deuster officiating at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grewing of Muenster and Leo Zwinggi of Lindsay.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta designed with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. Scallops accented the neckline and lower edge of the skirt. Her tiered veil of illusion fell from a Juliet cap sprinkled with rhinestones and she carried an arm bouquet of red roses.

Miss Doris Reiter was maid of honor wearing a powder blue dress of lace and net over taffeta. The strapless bodice was topped with a lace jacket and her matching headdress was dotted with rhinestones. Her flowers were red roses.

Cpl. Henry Grewing of Fort Bliss, brother of the bride, was best man.

A wedding breakfast in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. John Fleitman, followed the church services and at noon a dinner in the home of the bride's parents honored the couple.

At 5 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Grewing were hosts in the parish hall for a reception and buffet supper. Miss LaQuita Cain, presiding at the bride's book, registered 175 guests. A dance in the VFW Hall concluded the wedding day festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Zwinggi are making their home in Gainesville where both are employed.

REDS THRIVE ON APATHY OF OTHERS

How do pro-communist and gangster elements get control of major labor unions—including unions whose members work in some of the most sensitive defense industries? The answer is found in the apathy of the vast majority of the rank and file members.

That is the startling point made by Victor Riesel in an article appearing in the June 28th issue of The Freeman. Mr. Riesel is a nationally known writer on labor matters, and authors a widely syndicated newspaper column. He writes, "A union having, say, 20,000 members on its books may be run by the mere half-hundred men who are interested enough to turn out for meetings. It is estimated that of this country's 16,000,000 union members, only about 750,000 vote or monitor their officers' financial, industrial and political policies. As a result of this apathy, some unions have become captives of the criminal underworld or Communists."

Mr. Riesel cites some striking examples. He describes a "notorious pro-Soviet" union whose 70,000 members mine such vital metals as copper, nickel and uranium. In an election held last November, no one even opposed the pro-Soviet clique's candidate for president of the organization and less than a third of the membership voted. Moreover, a secretary-treasurer was reelected who had refused to answer this question at a Senate hearing: "Do you feel that you are innocent of any part in a conspiracy to undertake to overthrow the government by force and violence?"

He tells of another case where a strike vote was held in a plant making jet motors. One of the unions involved had some 1100 members in the plant. Only 114 showed up to vote, and 85 of these favored the walkout. "Thus," he observes, "eight per cent of the

Living for God Lends Happiness To Life

By Loretta Young

OFTEN THE WORDS, "dedication" and "service" are joined with that of "woman." We know that these words do not explain everything about a woman. It is a woman's nature also to love.

If a woman marries, her yearning for love is largely satisfied by the love of her husband and her children. But this cannot be the whole sum of her loving.

HUSBANDS DIE and children go off and marry. There needs to be something deeper, if a wife and mother is not to live in fear and frustration.

She must believe that her dedication to husband and family is her vocation, her manner of serving God.

Our earthly Loretta Young loves, of course, can be directed towards others than a husband and one's children. There are our mothers and fathers, our brothers and sisters, our other relatives and our friends.

BUT NO EARTHLY LOVE can ever be completely satisfying. Accompanying this love we need the understanding that what we do is part of a large pattern of life. We must know that the teachings of Christ have shaped this plan. We try to fill our role in the scheme of life by loving God and loving our neighbor.

With this ideal before her, the girl who settles down to a career and the girl who becomes a wife and mother are able to fulfill that natural womanly yearning to go all-out for something—to be "total" in dedication of self. Why? Because they look at their life and their work as the right way to live and to work because God wants it that way.

THE SUBSTRATUM of life is the same for everybody. Happiness depends on doing what we are doing because God wants us to do it. This is the way to live according to the Christian pattern.

True Christians are like strains of music which to the remote listener sound quite different. But the close listener, the one who listens with his heart rather than with his ears, perceives that these strains are really variations of one profound and universal theme.

WHAT IS THE THEME? The underlying thought and belief that all life comes from God and must be lived for Him. The variations are many, but the melody is one.

In need of cash, Napoleon Bonaparte sold us the Louisiana Territory for $15,000,000!

This windfall for America included what are now the states of Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Montana, most of Minnesota, and parts of Wyoming and Colorado.

When we bought that immense piece of land in 1803 it was thought it might take a century to settle it. As it turned out, however, by 1848 the tide of westward migration had rolled beyond this vast area to the Pacific.

The money paid for the Louisiana Purchase was raised by Treasury securities sold to Americans who had no hesitation about subscribing to this loan. With interest accruals, the total cost came to $27,267,622, or four cents an acre—without question one of the greatest buys of all time.

Through the hard work and enterprise of the original settlers of the Louisiana Purchase and the men and women who followed them, the states carved out of the territory have attained

Similar data on the Garza-Little Elm reservoir, which receives the drainage from this area, has been computed as follows by the Soil Conservation Service. The expected life years of the reservoir under present conditions is 27 years. The reservoir's capacity is 53,500 acre feet and its drainage area is 1,588 square miles. Under present conditions sediment deposits at the rate of 1,985 acre feet a year.

Clinton Harbers Gets Amazing Results Using New Methods on Worn-out Farm

Clinton Harbers, a broke farm boy in 1946 fresh from the fighting in the South Pacific, in eight years has converted a neglected old Central Texas farm into a capital investment of approximately $100,000 and is producing an income from farming in excess of $20,000 a year.

The story of Harber's amazing success in agriculture was told when the 32-year-old farmer was presented the Hoblitzelle Award for the Advancement of Texas Rural Life. The presentation of the $5,000 cash award and gold medal was made at the tenth anniversary open house and field day of Texas Research Foundation at Renner. The Hoblitzelle Award recognizes Harbers as having made the most outstanding contribution to Texas agriculture of any farmer or rancher during the past three years.

Today Harbers farms 400 acres at West Point, Texas, near La Grange where his grandfather pioneered and where his father was a share cropper. When he bought land on a 100 percent FSA government loan in 1946, it was non-productive and sick. He built a good drainage system. He sodded his waterways. He developed a program of soil improvement, fertilization, proper land preparation and cultivation, insect control and harvesting operations into a continuous job of rebuilding the soil for economic production.

His results speak of his success. He averages 738 pounds of lint cotton on land that produced 116 pounds ten years ago. Last year he made a net profit of $211.76 per acre on cotton after deducting expenses, including the complete cost of the preceding legume crop, depreciation on equipment and all other costs. Where 20 and 25 bushels of corn were considered a good crop, he is producing 75 and 80 bushels to the acre. Where 800 pounds of maize was being grown, he is now harvesting 5,000 and 6,000 pounds to the acre.

He has shortened his cotton growing season from 170-180 days to 112-115 days. His cotton matures uniformly and by adjusting planting rate to fertility it can be defoliated, mechanically picked and delivered at the gin for less than $5 a bale.

Harber's amazing job on the land has been accomplished in the face of considerable hardship. The year he purchased the farm, his father died, leaving to him the complete responsibility for his mother, two sisters and three brothers. He sent one sister and three brothers to college—a fact which attests to how well he fulfilled his responsibility. In the meantime, he has paid off the debt on his farm and established a sound credit rating at the bank.

As a successful farmer, he has done much missionary work himself in relating his methods and his experiences to boys in Vocational Agriculture and 4-H Club groups, by appearing before farm and ranch clubs and chambers of commerce. During the past six months, 3,000 farmers from all sections of Texas have come to see his methods in practice. Because of his generous cooperation with all, his is coming to be the best known farming operation in Central Texas.

Harbers was chosen for the Hoblitzelle Award for the Advancement of Texas Rural Life from more than 60 nominees for the award from every section of the state.

The steel industry, without whose production most of the nation's factories would grind to a halt, has been spending $1,300 a minute for the last 7 years to expand its capacity even further. It has invested $5,000,000,000 since the end of World War 2 on new facilities.

Odd, too, that they are given so little of those luxuries and conveniences which are common in our benighted nation—the movies, radio, telegraphy, lawnmowers—for example."

THE WORKS—BUT NO KEY

A good many Americans are rather upset over the fact that this country has signed the Universal Copyright Convention, and the Administration is pressing the Senate for its confirmation. They see in this free-world patent-swapping arrangement a set-up that leaves the Reds free to conceal their own inventions and steal ours.

But perhaps we should not be too disturbed about this, since the Russians have already invented practically everything. W. Alton Jones, chairman of the board of Cities Service Company, writing in the magazine "Service", tells us the Russians have now published a complete list of their conquests of mind over matter. He recites that their man, Ivanoff, invented 3-D movies in 1841, Ladyguine gave the world the incandescent bulb in 1873. Kourikine, not Fulton, invented the paddle-wheel boat in 1804, and the telegraph is the brain-child of Slonimsky, not Morse.

"The list is impressive," says Mr. Jones, "and to the western world downright humiliating." It

Benson Explains U S Dairy Problem

by Ezra Taft Benson
Secretary of Agriculture

Presently the dairy industry is confronted with production and marketing problems that stem from increasing output, declining exports and a reduction in per capita consumption.

The government now has more than 1,320,000,000 pounds of dairy products in storage. These surpluses were acquired by supporting dairy prices at 90 percent of parity.

The solution lies not with government or its officials but with millions of Americans who can and should drink an extra glass or two of milk each week and eat a few additional pieces of butter.

I am required by law to fix dairy supports at a point between 75 and 90 percent of parity and at the same time, assure an adequate supply. In view of the large surpluses and a production rate exceeding consumption, the Solicitor of the Department of Agriculture ruled I would have to set the supports for the coming year at 75 percent.

There has been some complaint that under the President's new farm program, the reduction in dairy supports should have been gradual. Actually the President proposed gradual changes in moving basic commodities from rigid to flexible supports and from old to modernized parity. There was no such recommendation on dairy products, which were already on a flexible basis. The basic commodities are storable and subject to production control. Dairy products are perishable and are the only such commodity with mandatory supports on which there are no production controls.

It appears that dairy supports were cut 15 points. The actual cut is 12 and 9 points. Because of wider marketing margins last year, 90 percent supports reflected 87 percent of parity to the farmer on butterfat and only 84 percent on manufactured milk. As I understand the law, the full 75 percent of parity must now be passed on to the farmer. I will see that this is done.

A Texan heard that a factory in Ohio was interested in buying bull-frog skins. He wired that he could supply any quantity up to 100,000 on demand. Needing the skins badly, the factory wired him to send the entire 100,000.

About ten days later a single dried frog skin arrived through the mail, with this notice: "Gents: I'm sorry about this, but here's all the frog skins there were. The noise sure fooled me."

A young man took his girl friend to the baseball game. Using her feminine prerogative, she was late in getting ready and they did not arrive until the seventh inning. Turning to another fan sitting beside her, the sweet young thing inquired the score.

"Nothing to nothing," came the answer.

"Oh goody," she beamed at her escort, "we haven't missed a thing."

Fair Will Feature 100th Anniversary Of Texas Schools

A high point in the observance of the 100th anniversary of the founding of Texas public schools will come on Oct. 13 at the State Fair of Texas.

That day has been designated as Public Schools Centennial Day at the fair, General Manager James H. Stewart has announced.

Free gate admittance tickets have been offered to pupils and teachers in public schools throughout the state and school children are expected to attend from all over Texas, Mr. Stewart said.

The program for the day includes elaborate historical and educational exhibits commemorating the centennial, as well as many other colorful activities designed to appeal to all ages.

Exhibits in the monumental Texas Hall of State will be built around the centennial observance and will trace the history of public schools in Texas. Other fairgrounds museums, including the Museum of Fine Arts, also will have special exhibits for the occasion.

The State Fair is cooperating with the Texas Education Agency and the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers in the observance.

Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America, New Farmers and New Homemakers, will have exhibits devoted to the centennial.

Leading Texas educators will participate in a special program.

More than 45 high schools will send bands, orchestras and choruses to Dallas to take part in a spectacular free pageant and fireworks display in the Cotton Bowl, which will be sponsored by the Texas Music Educators Association and presented as a tribute to the centennial theme.

Mr. Stewart emphasized that gate passes are available for the students and teachers of any public schools or school districts in the state on request.

A six-year-old girl submitted the following composition on "people" to her teacher: "People are composed of girls and boys, also men and women. Boys are no good at all until they grow up and get married. Men who don't get married are no good either. Boys are an awful bother. They want everything they see except soap. My ma is a woman, and my pa is a man. A woman is a grown up girl with children. My pa is such a nice man that I think he must have been a girl when he was a boy."

See your Red Chain dealer now. Worm your birds with Red Chain Medicated Feed. Start your M-Day right away and make it a "must" for each month.

there, but it's even more advisable for the youngsters themselves to create opportunities wherever they can. We talk about encouraging industry to move into town so as to make more jobs available. Why not talk also about the opportunity for local initiative to originate a few new business ventures? Along that same line, more ambitious local youngsters might do well to reflect that the town's future prospect holds out a better than average inducement for them to invest talent and capital.

The one respect in which Muenster lags is in its recreational facilities. And there again the youngsters could well afford to take a prominent part. After all, the improvement will be used mostly by them and their children, and they will be in line to profit most from the various community benefits traceable to better recreation. If they will decide first of all to use what facilities are here and then take a lead in promoting other facilities they'll soon be rating Muenster as their favorite spot for a good time. Active participation in developing a project intensifies interest and pride.

BUT WHAT TIME IS IT?—It could be almost any time at all, if you had this clock, and the knowledge necessary to interpret its indications. Displayed in Paris, France, by inventor F. J. Senac, the instrument is set to give, for 100 years, the following information: Day, date, month and year; occurrence of Easter; phases of the moon, sidereal and mean solar time; predictions of approaching lunar and solar eclipses.

to put enough water in the mains for the peak load (between 7 and 11 p.m.) and a breakdown at the North Main well, which seems to be running on borrowed time, could cause a shortage of water production.

Next improvements in sight are a more dependable submerged type pump, like that at No. 4, for the North Main well and a larger booster to replace the small pump at the reservoir, then moving the smaller pump to the tank on North Main.

In the present system water from that tank flows to the reservoir by gravity and is pumped into the mains from there. In an emergency it can be diverted to a gravity flow into the mains. The pump in that location would serve as a standby to help maintain pressure in case of an emergency.

The improvements are not urgent at this time, Moster said, but they will be urgent if the city continues to grow. Also in sight are a few changes to larger mains as the water demand grows in certain areas of town.
