FOREIGN AFFAIRS A GENERAL CONCERN
 The latest evidence indicates that the American public suddenly has a new concern, ranked in importance immediately behind inflation. That concern is foreign affairs. Within recent months a number of significant foreign developments have served to raise the public's level of consciousness. Perhaps the first issue to gain attention was the ceding of the Panama Canal to the Marxist government of that country. Then there was the extensive nation-wide debate over SALT II, the second Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty. Following that was the Iranian revolution, culminating recently in the seizure of our diplomatic personnel. Lately the Afghanistan invasion has caused serious reconsiderations of the course of recent U.S. foreign policy. The threat to our oil imports from the Middle East posed by the most recent developments has awakened authorities and the citizenry to the deplorable state of our defense forces. This in turn has brought calls for registration of our youth in preparation for a draft in case of need for rapid mobilization. All these things have brought foreign affairs to the forefront as a matter of concern to our people. And this is important! We needed to be brought to our senses. For far too long we have been following policies in the foreign affairs area which were foreign to our own best interests.

 For example, our foreign aid program has been unwisely implemented, seldom achieving the objectives for which it was intended, and more often than not resulting in ill will toward us rather than appreciation for our generosity. Additionally, this program has damaged our economy tremendously as we have borrowed to give money away. Possibly as much as one-third of our national debt would have been unnecessary with a wise foreign aid program.
 Another aspect of foreign affairs which has become a matter of great concern to many Americans has been the propensity of our government leaders to appease, even build and strengthen those nations which vow to destroy us, while at the same time hindering, boycotting, embargoing and otherwise harassing long-time friends, even to the point of delivering them into the hands of the enemy as was done with China 30 years ago, then with Cuba, Iran and finally Nicaragua.
 Thus, we observe there are ample reasons for our people to see foreign affairs as a problem of great concern to them. For over twenty years our people had become dangerously complacent with respect to foreign policy. Our enemies have counted on this. Cultural exchanges, promises of lucrative trade agreements, peaceful coexistence, disarmament, detente are all devices designed by our enemies for the purpose of lulling us into a false sense of security, of making us complacent, until we become vulnerable ourselves, and incapable of aiding our friends.
 For many years, as far as most of the American people were concerned, there was no problem in the foreign affairs area. A problem unrecognized appears to be no problem at all. Nevertheless, the problem was there. Solution cannot begin until the problem is recognized. Finally it appears that first step has been achieved, but we dare not stop there.

We furnish all the electricity you want...

the amount you use is an important part of how much you pay.

Providing dependable electric service at the lowest possible cost is Texas Power & Light Company's number one job. We build, operate and maintain generating plants, power lines and the other facilities necessary to produce and supply electricity and we install the meters which record the amount used by each customer. At that point, you are an important factor in the size of your electric bill. The electric appliances and equipment you have and the use you make of them determine, to a large degree, your cost for your electric service. If you'd like suggestions on how to get the most for your electric dollar, call us. We want to help.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Governor Bill Clements endorsed Ronald Reagan for president following Reagan's Texas primary victory over Texan George Bush, thus fueling speculation that Clements may get the tap for vice president this summer.
 A Reagan-Clements ticket would go a long way in bringing Bush's supporters to the polls in November. Clements has played the peacemaker between the Reagan and Bush factions in Texas.
 Illinois Sen. John Anderson, the man who might run for president as an Independent, sent his team to Texas last week to gather over 40,000 signatures needed to get his name on the Texas ballot.
 Anderson has not shown enough strength in the primaries to indicate he can actually win the presidency, and his candidacy is generally considered by voters as a politically healthy alternative to Reagan and Jimmy Carter. The big question is: will he siphon off more voters from President Carter or from Reagan? Can he muster enough support to throw the election into the U.S. House of Representatives?

The federal grand jury will reconvene in mid-June to avoid muddying the waters of the run-off election, and prosecutors expect then to win an indictment against Clayton, to the dismay of other legislators who fear it will prompt voters to "clean house" by voting out all incumbents.
 Thus, from the moment of his indictment, Clayton will become a political liability to all legislators, and he must act speedily to clear himself of any charges. Clayton, well aware of his predicament, told reporters last week he will step down if he isn't cleared by next September.

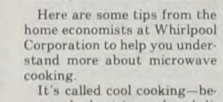

nominees for public office is not per se excepted by the Texas Open Records Act. Documents containing derogatory, largely unverified information are not required to be revealed.

Brown, Kubiak and Gasohol
 Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown took a plane-load of reporters to visit Rockdale Rep. Dan Kubiak and view his hometown alcohol fuel plant. Kubiak and former Green Bay Packer Lee Roy Caffey built the plant after Gov. Clements vetoed funds last session for an alcohol fuel pilot plant.
 Brown praised Kubiak for acquiring Texas' first two alcohol fuel plants in his legislative district (the other is in Marlin).
 Kubiak said he would like to see control over gasohol permits shifted to the agriculture commissioner's office. A leading proponent of gasohol, Kubiak promised reporters he would sell his interest in the Rockdale plant before the next session in order to avoid any conflict of interest. He built the plant to keep his promise to legislators who voted for gasohol, he said.

Brilab Footnote
 The man who allegedly gave Speaker Clayton $5,000 to secure an insurance contract has been sentenced to two years in prison for a $5.5 million swindle of union funds. Joseph Hauser pleaded guilty to the charges unrelated to Brilab. He was, however, the FBI's chief undercover informant in its Brilab investigation of politics and labor.

Common Sense Tips

MICROWAVE OVENS
 The microwave oven is truly a product made to fit today's busy lifestyles. This new concept in cooking has made it easier for the homemaker to prepare balanced meals for the family—and do it in far less time than previous cooking equipment.
 It's called cool cooking—because the heat is produced directly in the food as microwaves are absorbed. As a result, extra heat does not build up in the oven cavity nor is it generated into the kitchen area as in conventional cooking. However, some foods that are high in sugar or fat content can reach very high temperatures. This heat from the food may be transferred to the utensil, making it very hot to touch. So, it's wise to keep pot holders handy for use when removing dishes from the microwave oven.

Here are some tips from the home economists at Whirlpool Corporation to help you understand more about microwave cooking.

Texas Attorney General Mark White is expected to rule soon whether voters in the May primary are eligible to sign Anderson's petition. Both Secretary of State George W. Strake, a Republican, and Gary Mauro, executive director of the Texas Democratic Party, claim their primary voters are ineligible.

Another Speaker Candidate
 Goliad State Rep. Tim Von Dohlen held a press conference last week to say he is running for House speaker next January, if Bill Clayton has to step down because of his Brilab woes.
 Von Dohlen, a Clayton team member of high standing, promised he would not use his position as chairman of the redistricting committee to win votes in the speaker's race.
 Already in the race are Reps. Gib Lewis of Fort Worth, John Bryant of Dallas, Bill Caraway of Houston, Lynn Nabers of Brownwood, Bennie Bock of New Braunfels and Wayne Peveto of Orange.

Attorney General Opinions
 Mark White ruled last week the Texas Department of Health cannot buy supplies from a business owned by a member of the state board of health, which oversees the department.
 The issue was raised by purchases which the department's crippled children's division made from board member Bill Edwards, a Galveston pharmacist and medical supply company owner. Records show some $28,000 in purchases were made over the last three years.
 White also ruled that information gathered by the governor regarding potential

Clayton Still Hopeful
 Clayton told reporters he had anticipated the candidacies of his former team players, but that he expects to be cleared of the Brilab scandal and re-elected to a fourth term as speaker.
 Clayton is being investigated for allegedly accepting a bribe in connection with securing a state insurance contract.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
 U.S. SENATOR FOR TEXAS
 142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
 WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

More than 200 years ago, when our nation was fighting to be born, discouraged patriots found new resolve from the words of Thomas Paine:

These are the times that try men's souls. This summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country. But he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman.

We survived that first "American Crisis," and many more since then. Now, we are faced again with times to try our souls. And once more we must reach for all our strength and wisdom to overcome our problems.

As I talk to people, and read the mail that comes to my office, I find people are frightened. They don't understand what is happening to our economy—they just know that, hard as they might work, their paychecks don't go as far as they used to. That a band of renegade hoodlums can thwart our national might by taking over an embassy in Iran puzzles and angers my fellow citizens. Everywhere they turn, they seem to confront new problems and new crises.

I sympathize with these feelings. It angers me to see an Administration seemingly less willing to build our national defenses than before world events demonstrated the urgent need to do so. It makes me angry to confront an Administration without any demonstrated understanding of the real source of our economic problems—and therefore lacking an effective method of fighting them. And Congress has had a less-than-stellar record for providing effective answers.

But whatever our problems as a nation, we still have one resource capable of overcoming anything—our people.

More and more, I find people willing to get involved -- to vote, to write their representatives, to keep themselves informed about what is happening in their communities and their country. The heat of crisis is melting apathy. And that's just about the most encouraging sign I've seen for the future of our country.

It's been said that a citizenry gets the kind of government it demands. I have real hope that you, the people, will demand that your representatives at all levels truly serve your needs. I believe my fellow-citizens are tired of politicians trying to win popularity by avoiding tough decisions. You are ready to do whatever is necessary to recover the American dream and make it even brighter.

Patriotism again is taking the place in our national values that it deserves. Our problems have reminded us that we are Americans above all else, that we created a great nation, and we have the ability to keep that greatness. I am proud that Texans have never been ashamed of flying the flag, and delighted to see that spirit being renewed in the rest of the country.

I truly believe that we can work together to solve our problems.

Texans are not summer soldiers or sunshine patriots. They have never shrunk from the service of their country. They will stand for their country in these difficult days, and earn the love and thanks of future generations.

Mrs. Steven Gates Lev Photo by Hemmi Studio

Linda Fisher, Steven Gates Lev
 United in Ceremony in Dallas

The wedding of Linda Sue Fisher of Dallas and Steven Gates Lev of Boston was held in Dallas on May 10. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fisher of Muenster and he is the son of Mrs. Alice Duchin of Boston.

The double ring ceremony was officiated by Judge Barefoot Sanders and held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pastero, friends of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a designer gown by Frank Massandrea for Galina. Fashioned in Empress silhouette, the white, re-embroidered Alencon lace and chiffon gown had a fitted lace bodice with a high wedding band collar. A narrow pointed flounce of chiffon started at the waistline, widened across the shoulders and rippled down the back to form a deep V. Soft gathers at the center back of the chiffon skirt formed the chapel train of the slipper length gown. The bride wore an elegant chiffon picture hat, with chiffon cabbage roses and white silk orange blossoms at the back of the crown.

Traditionally, she wore a wedding band belonging to the groom's mother for "something old" and pearl earrings borrowed from Sandra Pastero.

Attendants

Sharon Holleman of Dallas, a friend of the bride was maid of honor, wearing a spearmint green jersey gown fashioned in flowing Grecian style, with tiny shoulder straps, and chiffon float shoulder covering. She wore a matching chiffon picture hat.

Ed Shevitz of New York City, a friend of the groom was best man.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pastero as they arrived. Terry Edmunds, niece of the bride, registered 85 guests. Harry Bullard acted as wedding coordinator.

When the couple returns from a wedding trip to Hawaii, they will be at home in Boston. The bride is a graduate of Muenster Public High School and Grayson County College. She is a registered nurse and a flight attendant for American Airlines. The groom attended the University of Arizona and is president of Gerard Manufacturing Co.

Rehearsal Dinner

Following the rehearsal, an outdoor barbecue was held at the home of Linda Fisher. A brunch was hosted by Alice Duchin and Phyllis Bernstein and a shower was given by Peggy Gobble and Queenie Walterscheid. Another shower was given by Debby Woodard, Becky Kinsala and Laurel Kaiser. On May 18, a champagne brunch will be held in Boston.

Among guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fisher, Miss Terry Edmunds, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gobble, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fisher, Mrs. Henry Pick, Mrs. Charles Fisher, Mrs. Charles Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kleiss, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Don Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. David Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Herbie Fisher and Dr. and Mrs. Steve Kralicke. Also friends from New York, Boston, Canada, Dallas, McAllen, Texas, Roanoke, San Francisco, and Las Vegas.

St. Michael's Catholic Church in Euless has received a hand carved wooden crucifix from Ed Sturges, above, which he designed and carved as a memorial to his late wife, the former Rosalie Muller. The crucifix measures five feet. It has been blessed, and placed above the main altar in the space especially planned for it. Sturges spent five months in its carving. It is also treasured by his wife's relatives here, who have viewed it while attending services at St. Michael's. Rosalie is a former Muenster resident and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Muller.

It's buckle-up time. All the time. Use those car seatbelts. Safety experts say that in a 30 mph crash, you can strike the dashboard with the force of a fall from a three story building... Think about it.

YOU CAN BANK ON IT!

Safety... is one of the things a bank is all about. Security, dependability, reliability and trust are all necessary ingredients of any successful banking operation. These ingredients all combine into one simple, but indispensable bank service... the safe deposit box.

Although a nominal cost item (even when all costs are important) the safe deposit box provides immeasurable peace of mind for the safe guarding of important documents and valuables. Among the most common items found in safe deposit boxes are: bonds, mortgages, copies of insurance policies, certificates of title, certificates of deposits, coin or stamp collections and valuable jewelry.

Only the individual renting the box can gain access to its contents. To open your safe deposit box you must be identified by signature before entering the vault where the boxes are kept. Your personal key and the bank's key are required to open the box. It's the safest place to keep your most valuable possessions... You can BANK on it!

Lindsay JC's Sponsor Bulcher Enduro

If you've never ridden in an enduro, now is the time to start, says Harold Owen of the Lindsay Jaycees who are sponsoring the Red River Enduro this Sunday, May 18, at Bulcher.

The race is billed as a "fun enduro" for Class C riders who are beginners.

There is also a somewhat tougher division for Class A and B riders.

The Class C beginners will ride a course about 35 miles long and the A and B riders will follow a course designed to be much more challenging, about 70 miles long, Owen said.

Average speed throughout the course will be about 15 miles per hour and there will be one gas stop.

There will be a rider's meeting at 8:00 a.m. the day of the race and starting time will be at 9:00. Six riders will be started in the first group and up to six more riders will be started each minute after 9:00.

Owen said that any friends who are in the enduro together will be allowed to start together if they wish to do so.

Owen reminds area riders that this is a fine time to start riding enduros if they never have before. "It will be just like a Sunday afternoon ride," he said.

Denison Jaycees Sponsor Run for Boy's Medical Bill

Six-year-old Bo Jay Cowan, the son of Jim and Dianne Cowan of Durant will be the beneficiary of a three mile run and a 10,000 meter run sponsored by the Denison Jaycees on May 24 in Loy Lake Park at 9:00 a.m.

Bo Jay is suffering from a rare intestinal disease and his hospital and medical expenses are said to total about $30,000.

The entry fee for each run is $6.00. Trophies will be awarded in both men's and women's divisions in the following age groups: 13 and under, 14-19, 20-29, 30-39, and 40 and over.

Registration for the run will be from 8:00 to 8:30 on the day of the run at Loy Lake Park. Runners can also register at the Denison Chamber of Commerce at 313 West Woodard.

Donations will also be accepted on the day of the run. For more information, call 465-5382.

Membership Drops In Little League

The Jaycees have decided to cut the number of teams for little league baseball this summer, due to a low turnout of participants.

Chuck Bartush said that in the junior division, the Tuggle team would be cut and the Bank team may be cut also. In the big league, the Endres team will be cut, Bartush said.

The proposed cuts would provide for about 12 kids per team.

Bartush said players on the teams which were cut would be notified by coaches of other teams so that everyone who wants to play will be able to do so.

The Jaycees expect to start the season on May 28. Final rosters and schedules will be set up at the next Jaycee meeting.

Tarleton students Train for Careers in Horse Industry

STEPHENVILLE — Tarleton State University's efforts to train students for the multi-million-dollar horse business are paying off.

Tarleton State began its horse program in 1977 to train people for professions in horse production and management.

The program has now produced its first graduate, has some 80 students enrolled and is receiving inquiries from two dozen states, as well as France, Great Britain, Canada, Guatemala and Australia.

The operation — which offers a diploma in horse production and management — is still the only one of its kind in the Southwest, said Dr. Les Wayment, director of the program at Tarleton State, part of The Texas A&M University System.

The eyes of an owl cannot move in their sockets so the bird must turn its head from side to side to see.

Races of 50, 100, 200 and 400 meters were scheduled for the first and second grades. The same races, along with 400 and 800 meter relays were scheduled for grades three through six and ribbons were awarded in each of the races.

from the Texas Energy Extension Service

Our electric central heating system is a two-stage system. During normal cycling only one element operates. If the thermostat is raised more than two degrees, both elements operate. When I raise the thermostat in the morning after a night setback of six to eight degrees, should I raise it gradually so that only one element operates, or should I raise it to the desired temperature all at once so that both elements operate?

Also, are those new room air conditioners with the energy saver switch more efficient with the switch in the ON position (the fan cycles on and off with the thermostat) or in the OFF position (the fan runs continuously)? All three of our units have the energy saver switches. G. Z. Ganado.

Concerning the method of thermostat setback on a two-stage electric central heating system, our consulting mechanical engineer advises that there is no advantage to raising the thermostat gradually rather than all at once. You do not specify whether your electric heating consists of a heat pump or electric resistance heating. In the case of a heat pump, the system is not designed for thermostat setback, and you should not disrupt the system's normal operation with thermostat setback.

In the matter of energy saver switches on air conditioners, you should read your manual and follow the instructions for your particular model. In general, however, air conditioners are more energy efficient if the fan operates only when the compressor is on.

In addition to the home energy conservation fact sheets which you list in ENERGY ANSWERS, what other energy information materials are available from the Energy Extension Service? R. W. Summerville.

The Energy Extension Service office at Texas A&M University also has available information packets on solar energy, earth shelters, and wind energy.

If you have a question about energy conservation around the home, send it to ENERGY ANSWERS, Texas Energy Extension Service, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

Mother's Day Gatherings

Dr. and Mrs. A.A. Hellams and son of Oklahoma City were guests of Mrs. Bertha Hamric last week

Thursday and saw Mrs. Anna Shelton at St. Richard's Villa. Mmes. Hellams, Hamric and Shelton are sisters.

Mrs. H.C. (Emma Wieler) Billingsley of Ardmore and her son Leroy Billingsley of Dallas visited Saturday with her sister, Mrs. Bertha Hamric and sister-in-law, Mrs. Sue Wieler and joined Mrs. Hamric in going to St. Richard's Villa to visit Mrs. Anna (Wieler) Shelton, formerly of Denton, a new resident at the Villa.

Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Newman of Kansas City arrived Friday to attend the funeral of his grandmother in Iowa Park Saturday. They were houseguests of Mrs. Newman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hellman, and remained to join a family gathering in the Hellman home on Mother's Day.

A family gathering was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hellman on Mother's Day, Sunday, May 11. Weekend guests arriving early were Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Newman of Kansas City. Joining them on Sunday for a noon dinner and an afternoon of visiting were Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Hellman and family of Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hellman of Aubrey, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gobble and son of Muenster, Mrs. Clive Gobble, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wimmer and family of Muenster, Rayford Newman of Gainesville, Tim Hellman of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hellman of Garland.

Phone calls were received from Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vicari of Newark, N.J. and Dr. and Mrs. Monte Hellman of Dallas with Mother's Day greetings. Chris Hellman, son of the Monte Hellmans left Monday for Washington, D.C. where he will be employed in the Senate Office Building.

A Mother's Day family gathering in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Miller Sunday was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller and Julie and Melissa; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Miller and Shawn and Chad of the Colony; Mr. and Mrs. Alan Miller and Eric; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Flusche and Greg; and Mark Miller of the home. They were all together for the traditional reunion and noon dinner.

Recent weekend guests of Mrs. and Mrs. Leonard Yosten were their daughters Susan and Debby of Austin, Mr. and Mrs. David Bullion and Lesley and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Bradford.

A special treat for Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Klement on Mother's Day was visiting their first great-grandchild, Stacie Nicole Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Davis of Marietta. Mrs. Davis is the former Tami Cain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Cain of Ardmore.

Stacie Nicole was born on Thursday, May 8 at 7 p.m. in the Marietta Hospital, weighing 6 lb. 7 oz.

The Norbert Klements were joined by a daughter, Mrs. James Otto and her daughters, Lisa and Lori of Garland and all were guests of the Cains in Ardmore on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Klement, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bindel and family spent Mother's Day in Fort Worth as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Schleicher and family. Joining them there were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Schleicher of Dallas and C.B. Sealy, a friend, of Fort Worth.

Mother's Day was observed by the John Kupper relationship, with the family's annual covered dish meal at the picnic site on the farm of Billy and Jimmy Kupper near Valley View. As hosts, they prepared the barbecue; everyone else brought bountiful accompanying foods; several were busy with homemade ice cream; there were games and happy reminiscing and birthday wishes for DeAnn Walterscheid. About 29 relatives were together for the annual event. Special guests were Father Anthony Gajda of Valley View and Mrs. John Kuntz and son, Mark of Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gore of Hawkins were weekend guests of her sisters, Mrs. Catherine Hermes and Mrs. Margaret Kupper and their families. Saturday the visitors and her two sisters spent the afternoon with their mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Neu at St. Richard's Villa.

The group visited together again on Sunday morning and the visitors from Hawkins then returned home, and the John Kuppers and their family members attended Open House at The Villa.

Mother's Day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Haverkamp was a gala party, with honors for five generations of his family and four generations of her family.

Thirty two guests attended. The very special guest was 97 year old Mrs. Jennie Schilling. In her five-generation group were her daughter Mrs. Bill Haverkamp, followed by son Dan Haverkamp, his daughter Mrs. Chuck Fisher and her daughter, Sally Ann Fisher.

In the four-generation group were Mrs. W.E. Watson of Whitesboro, her daughter Mrs. David Haverkamp of Muenster, daughter Mrs. Cindy Thompson and infant daughter, Mandy of Saint Jo.

The noon dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. David Haverkamp. His mother, Mrs. Bill Haverkamp was also a special guest. She delayed entry into Gainesville Memorial Hospital until Monday, and underwent successful cataract surgery on Tuesday. Family members say she is doing beautifully.

Mrs. Jodie French and Mrs. Ruth Needham spent the Mother's Day weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Billy Frank Richter and children Gina Marie, Tracey and William Carl in Odessa. There were special gifts and a special Mother's Day dinner and reunion. Only thing to mar a delightful visit was a broken ankle suffered by 13 year old Gina Marie Friday evening during a demonstration of gymnastics.

Roadside Litter Costs $7.3 Million

Texas spent some $9.2 million of their tax dollars last year to rid the roadsides of litter. Over $100 thousand was spent in the nine-county area of District Three.

District Engineer Jim Stacks, of Wichita Falls, thinks the money spent on picking up litter could be better spent elsewhere... for maintenance of the highways, for instance.

Stacks is the first to agree that litter is a problem despite the "cleanup" efforts of the department. "It seems," he says, "that we are fighting a losing battle."

Litter pickup in District Three is usually conducted on days when the weather is bad... but sometimes, litter crews have to stop work on projects to clean up litter where someone has simply pulled off the road and dumped garbage or unwanted household items such as furniture or appliances.

"We really try hard", said one maintenance employee, "to keep the roadsides clean, but sometimes you're out there picking up trash and some motorist will throw out a sack of garbage at you and never even slow down."

Hospital Notes

The following patients were dismissed from Muenster Memorial Hospital during the past week.

Tuesday, May 6: Jeff Balthrop, Martin Klement, and Albert Schilling, Muenster; Ruth Havins and Katie Lawson, Saint Jo; Phillip Kassen, Valley View; Mrs. David McClure, Wichita Falls; Mrs. G.B. Wester, Chico.

Mild and Dry

With exception of a few drizzles, the drought continues. Three readings on Steve Moster's gauge during the past week add to a mere .17 inch and the total for May to date is only .63. Through April the total was 5.57 inches, so the year's total presently is 6.20 inches.

Temperature is gradually creeping up. Low and high readings for the past week were recorded as follows by Steve Moster. May 8, 52 and 72; May 9, 44 and 77; May 10, 60 and 92; May 11, 70 and 92; May 12, 74 and 94; May 13, 64 and 81; May 14, 56 and 85.

LIGHT AT THE END OF THE TUNNEL DEPARTMENT: Here's a pot shot. Driving requires a constant use of your peripheral vision... unless, of course, you don't care about what's going on beside you on the freeway. Now doctors have discovered that mild "tunnel vision," a slight narrowing of your field of view, is one of the side effects of marijuana smoking... so watch out!

Forestburg News by Myrt Denham

Mrs. H.E. (Imogene) Brewer tells me that she and Elmo have been finding Rattle Snakes around their part of Dewey. These are ground rattlers - small but very poisonous. Imogene says they had been seeing one once in awhile for a couple of years now - but killed 3 in one night last week close to their house. So let us all be on our guard.

Mrs. Alice Shears, President of the Hardy Cemetery Association, has asked that I report that the Hardy Cemetery has been mowed and cleaned once again. Alice says this costs more and more every year. Therefore, anyone wishing to contribute to the upkeep of the Cemetery to please send their contribution to her.

In the school year of 1978-79 Mrs. Joann Sicking, HE teachers at the Forestburg School, and her FHA girls started a secret Grannie program. Each girl picked a lady in the community to be her Secret-grandmother for that year - sending her cards and gifts through the year. The program was continued this school year of 1979-80 and ended Tues nite May 6, at school with the FHA girl putting on a style show and revealing their secret-grandmother - also serving them delicious refreshments and one last gift. These young ladies have made many an older lady in the Forestburg-Montague community happy these past two years and given them wonderful memories to cherish. Different Secret-grandmothers are chosen each year - so "you" may be one next year.

The Forestburg United Methodist women met Wed. May 7 at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Decie Ellzey. Mrs. Alice Shears, president, was in charge of the program for the day with Mrs. Dorothy Thompson giving the day's devotionals. Following the program a business session was held which was followed by a fellowship period while those present enjoyed delicious refreshments served by the hostess. Others present were: Mmes. Lucille Littell, Esther Shears, Laura Belle Jackson, Cleo Lanier, Vera Mae McGee, Marion Sockwell and Myrt Denham.

Bennett Reynolds returned home Thurs p.m. May 8 from several days stay in the Muenster Hospital. He is feeling very well.

Rain has once again been very spotted in the area - some folks receiving much more than others. The H.A. Dunns over Dyemound way have had a total of 3 1/2 inches in all while here in Dewey we may have had a bare inch over a period of days.

Mrs. Alice Shears of the Burg and her sister Mrs. Frankie Neely of Gainesville visited their aunt Mrs. Linn Wheelers in Flow Hospital Denton on Fri. May 9.

Economics and Convenience of Home Food Preservation

Freezing and canning are the most popular methods of food preservation for home gardeners. "Consumers should consider the cost of the method they select before planning on measurable savings," said Marilyn A. Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Freezing is simple and will keep food tasting more like fresh-picked than any other method of preserving, but the cost of buying and operating a freezer may make freezing uneconomical.

"Home-frozen food, even under the best conditions, costs about 19 cents per pound more than food purchased and eaten fresh," she said.

Operating costs of a conventional freezer average about $50 per year, while frostless freezers average about $75 per year. Inefficient use of freezer space or materials, poorly operating freezers and high electric rates add to costs, Haggard emphasized.

Annual energy use of freezers also varies according to size and capacity. Operation cost decreases as capacity increases, the specialist explained. "For example, an 18-cubic-foot freezer holds three times as much food as a 6-foot food freezer but costs less than twice as much to operate. Cost of freezing one pound of food decreases as the turnover rate and freezer capacity increases," Haggard said.

Consumers should consider that freezer bags and ties cost one or two cents and reusable plastic cartons about 38 cents each. These expenses -- plus cost of water and fuel for washing, blanching and cooking foods -- amount to about what one would pay for inexpensive vegetables at the market, she pointed out.

Compared to other methods, Haggard said canning is probably the most economical and practical. Food, equipment, energy, water and ingredient prices determine total cost of home canning.

"The most costly item for home canning is a pressure canner, which costs from $20 to $75, depending on quality and capacity. This cost can be divided by a canner's 15 to 20 year life expectancy. It is used to process low-acid vegetables like green beans, corn, peas and greens," said Haggard.

If consumers plan to can only high-acid fruits and vegetables like tomatoes, jellies, jams, pickles and relishes, then a water-bath canner is needed. These canners cost less than $10 and can be improvised by using a large kettle with a tight-fitting lid and rack in the bottom, said the specialist.

Glass jars are another investment that should be spread over an average 10-year life span. Quart jars range in price from $2.29 to $3.49 per dozen. Rings which come with jars also have an expected life of 10 years. Replacement lids, used only once, cost about 3 cents per lid.

Energy costs for processing quart jars run about 1 cent per jar or less, and water used for washing produce and steam blanching costs about 1/2 cent per quart.

"Thus, costs of canning a quart of tomatoes can be as little as 4.5 cents per jar if the tomatoes and jars are free, to almost 51 cents if jars and tomatoes are purchased," Haggard said.

Drying is becoming a more popular means of preserving food. In certain areas of Texas, food can be dried cheaply in the sun. Inexpensive drying racks can be easily built to fit home ovens for small-scale drying.

Before investing $100 to $200 in a food dehydrator, consumers should dry a few products in the sun or oven. Dried fruits, onions, peppers and herbs can easily be used in family meals, but the versatility of dried vegetables is limited and should be considered before large food amounts are dried, Haggard suggested.

For the person who's building a business and raising a family.

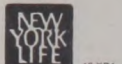

Not many people are as fortunate as you. Few could leave their families a going business if they should die, as you can.

There's one problem, however, Uncle Sam will probably insist on a big tax bite if you die. And unless your family can raise the cash, they might have to give up the business.

The answer? New York Life insurance can make sure your family has all the cash they need the moment they need it.

Call me-I'll be happy to give you full details.

Confetti...

This is the real tragedy of inflation. It stole the value out of previous saving. Whereas the current economic stream allowed rising expense to be matched by rising income, inflation constantly gnawed at value previously earned. It was a matter of taking possessions away from people. Regardless of their economic convictions the politicians had to understand what they were doing to savings...and therefore that the theory could not be justified.

The principle of restitution tells us that all this money taken from people ought to be paid back, which would be possible in a controlled decline of prices, wages, public spending etc. But that would impose hardship on another element of people, those who have obligations that were created on the basis of high outgo and high income.

Old timers remember learning that thrift is a virtue, and that they were penalized because of it. The younger set has learned from experience that the smart thing is to buy now and pay later with cheaper money. But even they are wondering where this thing will stop. How long until the bubble bursts?

To our way of thinking government is still failing when it assures us that the inflation rate has decreased. The point is that we are still going the wrong way. Slower, perhaps, but still in the direction of disaster...unless this happens to be approaching zero increase and stabilization of the economy.
