

Conservatism in the United States lost a dedicated champion Sunday in the death of Fulton Lewis Jr. For three decades his radio commentary on "the top of the news" over the Mutual Broadcasting System urged the American public to stand by the traditional American way of life and to stand pat against the evils of creeping socialism and creeping communism. He warned against the folly of something for nothing, the economic risk in continued deficit spending, the political abuse inherent in bureaucracy and centralized government, the moral and political breakdown threatened by disregard of law and order.

Fulton Lewis Jr. was a man of deep conviction based on sincere belief in the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, an ardent champion of constitutional government, a patriot who gave his full energy in fighting the alien isms and misguided paternalisms that threaten the security and freedom of America.

He is respectfully remembered for his courageous and incessant attacks on communism and corruption, regardless of bigness or importance of people exposed by his fact-gathering crusades. When history sifts the chaff from the grain in the account of three past decades he will be listed as one who saw and followed the light.

If Fulton Lewis were still commenting you can bet he would have his say this week about officials of the United Auto Workers who have just announced their intention to try for wage increases of a dollar an hour. With the threat of runaway inflation getting stronger by the day, the request, to put it mildly, is grossly irresponsible. How can such demands be explained? Don't those people know what problems they invite for the nation and their members? Or don't they care? Do they think that the economy can be exploited endlessly without going to pieces?

The demands are understandable, of course, even though they are not excusable. Airline machinists just got theirs, so it ought to be possible for others to do likewise. And why fret about inflation if they can get the extra money for a while before the inevitable higher prices wipe out their gains?

The story of our past two decades tells us plainly that wage increases, unless justified by production increases, actually do more harm than good. The exception here refers to the wage increases that can be allowed without increasing the price of the product. All of us are pleased to note that there have been many such increases in our economy, and they are due much credit for our improving standard of living. However when a wage increase requires a price increase it is harmful rather than helpful.

This isn't just theory, it is indisputable fact attested by economic history. We have seen prices constantly raised by increased wages. Pay gains are soon absorbed by the higher cost of living and the worker's income buys no more than it did before. To that extent the worker is no better off than before. But meanwhile something else has happened to him. The value of his savings has decreased. His money in insurance, savings accounts, bonds, etc., has not grown proportionately so it buys less than before. All of us know, for instance, that government bonds maturing now buy less than at the date of investment. Unjustified raises through the years have actually hurt the persons who received them.

Meanwhile another group was hurt even more. Those were people on fixed incomes or pensions and those living on accumulated savings. Theirs was all loss with no compensating gain whatever.

It's hardly necessary to point out that the decreased buying power of such people, along with decreased buying power of workers' savings, have had a depressing effect on the nation's economy. In other words we'd have had more business — in volume of goods if not volume of dollars — more production, more employment, and a generally higher standard of living if wage raises had been allowed (Continued on page 10)

TWELVE OF THE THIRTEEN Swirczynski children were together Sunday for the sixtieth wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swirczynski. They are (seated) Richard, Mrs. Clarence Erpelting, Mrs. Townsend Miller, Mr. Swirczynski, Sister Helen, Mrs. Swirczynski, Mrs. Alex Knauf, Bernard; (standing) Edward, Arnold, Herman, Al, Robert and Ray. Not present was George.

Swirczynski Family Observes Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary

Memories through 60 years of married life were recalled Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. Joe Swirczynski observed their 60th wedding anniversary. The day began with attendance at 7:30 a.m. Mass in Sacred Heart Church where the couple pledged vows on Aug. 21, 1906. After Mass Father Benedict presided for a renewal of vows and gave the couple and family his blessing.

Anniversary dinner was in the Parish Hall attended by 123 family members. Other relatives joined them in the afternoon and someone counted 180 present. The group included the couple's daughter, his sister and six of their grandchildren in religious life. Twelve of their 13 children, along with their families were present. There are 53 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

The honor couple's table at the dinner held a handsome tiered cake topped with a cross and a 60. Mrs. Swirczynski wore a rose colored nylon dress — her third wedding dress as she called it. She wore navy blue for the golden anniversary celebration ten years ago.

The dress she wore in 1906 is still remarkably well preserved. It was on display and was a topic of conversation. It's a two piece cream colored dress of brilliantine with leg of mutton sleeves and hand made embroidery with a 24 inch waist. Mrs. Swirczynski good-naturedly recalled how thin she was when she was a girl. She is the former Maggie Yosten.

Only couple present who attended the wedding in 1906 were Mr. and Mrs. Nick Yosten. He is Mrs. Swirczynski's brother. They are the only two remaining of a family of six sons and four daughters of John and Catherine Yosten who moved to Muenster from Nebraska when Maggie was 12 years old.

Mr. Swirczynski, also a native of Nebraska, moved here in 1889 with his parents, Robert and Angela Swirczynski, when he was eight years old. The two families did not know each other in Nebraska.

Stockmen Hear Research Man on Improved Grasses

A pasture program that features both a longer grazing period and better quality of grazing was explained Tuesday by S. H. Whitehurst of the Texas Research Foundation of Renner. He spoke to a group of local farmers and ranchers at Colonial Acres Coliseum.

He lectured and displayed colored slides on two grasses that have been developed at the foundation to supplement bermuda in the grazing and hay program. Ermello is an early grass for use ahead of Bermuda and Desoto is a late variety for use after Bermuda.

By growing with proper fertilizers these new grasses and Bermuda will provide a better quality of grass over a long period of time.

Another point in management for quality control is haying at the proper time to prevent formation of coarse stems. The speaker also proposed a project pasture in this area under direction of the research foundation. About fifty such projects are established in various parts of the state. He offered to come back later to tell more about the research foundation's developments and the method of conducting a project here. The foundation is supported entirely by contributions from individuals and industry.

Rev. Alcuin Kubis On Two Months Trip to Europe

Father Alcuin Kubis is on a two months trip to Europe and possibly also to Africa. During that time he is being replaced as pastor of Sacred Heart Parish by Father Bonaventure Maechler of Subiaco Abbey, Arkansas, who is remembered here as a substitute assistant pastor during the illness of Father Martin Fisher about four years ago. Father Bonaventure arrived Tuesday night.

Father Alcuin is going to Europe in the company of Abbot Michael Lensing of Subiaco and Abbot Alfred Hoenig of Corpus Christi. Their principal mission is to attend a world conference of abbots with the Holy Father in Rome. The three left separately by jet Tuesday afternoon from Dallas, Little Rock and Corpus Christi and met in New York. From there they went together to Rome.

Father Alcuin indicated that he expects to be gone about two months during which his headquarters will be Rome and Cologne and Berlin. In the two German cities he will be the guest of relatives with whom he is "slightly acquainted by mail."

Also planned is a visit at the Benedictine mission in Nigeria staffed by priests and brothers from Subiaco. That trip remains indefinite at this time, depending on the outcome of present civil disturbances there. Father Alcuin and his companions do not wish to come between warring tribesmen.

1.83 in. Rain Sets August Record

Farmland of the Muenster area is being ideally conditioned for the approaching fall planting, and pastures too are getting a boost. Rains this week measuring 1.83 brought the month's total to 5.89, topping the previous 10 year record for August. The previous high was last year's 5.29. Total moisture for the year to date is 30.71 inches. Monthly records for the past ten years are as follows.

100 Children Get Certificates for Summer Reading

Muenster Public Library concluded its three-month summer reading program with a children's party Thursday and presented one hundred reading certificates.

The vacation reading program is sponsored by the local library in cooperation with Texas State Library which issues the certificates. To earn a certificate at least 12 books was required reading.

At the top of the list is a second grade boy, Timmy Sicking, who read 276 books. A second grade girl, Mary Hoedebeck was runner-up with 209 books in that category. Janice Fisher, sixth grader, read 253 books. Honors also go to Phyllis Dittfurth, eighth grader, who read 100 especially thick volumes. Several other children read between 80 and 100 books.

Library staffers checked out 6,114 books during this period. Helping were five school girls who put in 358 volunteer working hours. Mrs. Joe Luke, librarian, and her six assistants lost track of their working hours. Library hours were on Tuesday and Thursday each week 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The winter schedule will go into effect September 1 with hours 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Thursday only. In addition, the library will be open two hours at night each Thursday, 7 to 9 p.m., beginning Sept. 8. These are the first night time hours for the library.

Punch and cookies were served at the party when certificates were presented. Children who failed to report at that time may call for their certificate until Sept. 1 when the local library reports to the state library.

Library staffers assisting Mrs. Luke through the summer reading program were Mrs. Steve Mosier, Lee Toothaker, Albert Schilling, Tony Gremminger and Dick Dittfurth and Miss Elizabeth Herr.

Student helpers were Misses Dianne and Peggy Sicking, Terry Hoedebeck, Susan Yosten and Cynthia Bindel.

Don Morris Quits Local Deputy Job

Don Morris has resigned as Cooke County's deputy sheriff stationed at Muenster. Sheriff Bill Pratt announced his resignation Monday, effective on that date and also said that he will begin immediately to look for a replacement.

Morris was located here under an arrangement that has been in effect for several years. The deputy spends his time here, except when called to duty elsewhere in the county. For that service the city of Muenster pays half of the deputy's salary.

Morris has been on the job here for about four months.

3 Men Receive Degrees at NTSU

Three young men from Muenster received degrees in summer commencement exercises Wednesday night at North Texas State University in Denton.

Douglas A. Hellman was among 444 graduate students receiving a master of science degree in psychology. He recently fulfilled internship requirements at the Fort Worth Neuropsychiatric Hospital. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hellman, a graduate of Muenster High School.

James Myrick and Alvin Hacker were among 612 seniors receiving bachelor degrees.

Myrick, son of Mrs. T. S. Myrick and a graduate of Muenster High School received a bachelor of business administration degree in management.

Hacker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Hacker and a graduate of Sacred Heart High, received a bachelor of business administration degree in accounting.

School Starts Friday

Students of both Muenster schools will get their first taste of the 1966 school year on Friday, August 26, and will settle down to their regular class schedule on Monday, the 29th.

The first day is for registration only. According to Sister Roberta and George Petrus, principals at Sacred Heart and Muenster Public School buses will arrive at 9 o'clock and will depart after students have finished with registration and class assignments. That may be before 11:30 but no later than that hour. No lunches will be served so all will be sent home before noon.

That schedule does not apply, however to beginners of Sacred Heart. Those children registered in May and need not do it again.

After registration teachers will take up the job of arranging class schedules so that all children will have periods for the subjects they signed for.

The first school day, Monday, will follow the usual schedule. Buses will arrive and depart at the usual hour, and lunch will be served at both schools.

Again the schedule does not apply to first graders of Sacred Heart. The starting program there calls for dismissal at noon for the first two weeks in accordance with details given elsewhere in this issue.

Turkish Visitor Observes Area's Soil Practices

Conservation practices in the Muenster area were on the study schedule of an agricultural engineer from Turkey who is currently spending a year in the United States observing methods of increasing farm production.

He is Hikmet Galioglu, who has been assigned to SCS work units at Muenster and Bowie from August 8 to 19. He is in this country under the Food and Agriculture Organization program of the United Nations.

Since his arrival he has studied a month in California, a month in Oklahoma and is nearing the end of a month in Texas. Beginning Sept. 6, he will study about seven months at Colorado State University.

The visitor's object in this area was especially to study watershed improvements in relation to two problems of his homeland. He is interested in flood control for areas that have up to eighty inches of rainfall a year, and in water storage for irrigation in areas that have less than ten inches of rainfall a year. He is studying reservoir structure as well as land treatment to reduce erosion and make more moister.

Library Meets State Standards

Muenster Public Library meets the requirements to operate as a state approved library but falls short of qualifying for federal aid.

That is the message received by the library directors in a meeting with Miss Anita Decker, North Texas area field consultant on libraries. The purpose of their meeting was to learn about their state rating and eligibility for help.

Miss Decker listed several shortcomings. First it would have to show availability of funds, raised by donations or tax, to participate 50-50 in an improvement program. Also, to be regarded as adequate for the area, it should have at least 5,000 square feet of floor space. And its minimum budget would have to be much larger than the local budget.

Miss Decker urged that a "Friends of the Library" group be organized for better communication of the library with the community and local officials. Such an organization would function as a type of governing board of the community helping the library to serve the area's needs.

HOORAY — FOR NOTHING

As pointed out by Senator Karl Mundt in his most recent communication from Washington, Administration officials are apparently patting themselves on the back for something which amounts to less than nothing. These fellows are happy because it looks as though the current budget will show a deficit of "only" $3 billion. They had figured earlier that they would be $6.4 billion in the red — thus all the back patting. There was a time when balancing the budget, or even having a modest surplus, was not unheard of but caused less excitement than now being stirred up in Washington over this "reduced deficit." It has been six years since Washington had a balanced budget and we've gotten to the point where it is good news when the deficit is kept low enough so Congress has to increase the national debt limit only once a year.

As Mundt explains, the $3 billion deficit may not seem so much to the budget experts but to the 50 million taxpayers in America it means an average of 60 added dollars to each one's tax bill. Now you and I aren't going to be called upon to reach down in our pocket and hand over $60 more in hard cash but we are going to pay it just the same. We will pay it via the national sales tax called inflation.

At a rapidly accelerating pace our dollars are becoming worth less and less. Every time federal spending exceeds federal income our dollar is further depreciated by the extra printing press money put into circulation. In the six years since the budget was balanced, interest payments have increased from $9 billion to $12.5 billion per year. With the end of the 1966 fiscal year, the tab for interest alone for those six years is $62.5 billion. Now that would have bought a lot of shoes for the kids.

Statistics prove that because of inflation, the man who did not receive at least a four percent increase in income this past year is worse off now than he was a year ago.

Perhaps there is some merit in the proposal that Lyndon Johnson's image replace that of George Washington on our quarters. By the time the President leaves office the case may well be that our dollar is worth only 25 cents, and as the pundit explained it to us, the new coin would pay tribute to our first two-bit President.

NEW WORLD OF SCIENCE

Hottest Thing in Our Universe

The hottest thing in our universe is a pencil-thin beam of light 100 times as intense as the light on the sun's surface.

It's the oddly-named "laser," one of the most exciting areas of scientific research in the world today.

What is a laser? And what does it do? First of all, the name stands for "light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation." It also stands for an entirely new conception of what light can do. The first laser went into operation in 1960, thereby opening up whole new possibilities for uses of light. Light became a powerful tool. It could carry messages over vast distances, perform surgery without cutting, make radar infinitely more precise, weld microscopic wires. Even more startlingly, the intense beam of laser light could vaporize almost any known material.

Multi-millions of dollars have been spent on laser research over the past five years, much of it by the United States Government. More than 400 firms are playing a part in this vital new field, and some 50 different types of lasers have been built. Of the lasers commercially available, Union Carbide markets the one with the highest power.

Lasers already in use include those used for ultra-precise surgery. Eye specialists, for instance, have successfully performed operations on detached retinas instantly and painlessly with laser beams. Industry is using lasers for microwelding and cutting, and military men everywhere are fascinated by laser light's ability to vaporize steel or other tough materials.

In the field of communications, laser beams may be the answer to an ever-growing quandary—the problem of over-crowded radio and TV frequencies. Experts believe that the day will come when laser beams will carry all messages—radio, telephone, teletypewriter and TV.

The real impact of lasers will be felt within the next decade. Without a doubt, laser opens a whole new world of achievement before us.

LABOR DAY — A TIME TO THINK

Labor Day, to be observed on September 5 this year, marks the termination of summer, in the minds of most people. It is the last long holiday of the season and is a time for the final outing of swimming, picnicking, boating or just loafing. The meaning of Labor Day is lost for many in the frantic pursuit of fun. Never before have so many people been able to enjoy the leisure, the luxuries and comforts we see around use in these United States. The rights of labor have never been so certain, nor its obligation to act in a reasonable manner more necessary. We must not become insensible to the time-honored virtues of thrift, competence and pride in a job well done.

These are the things that have made possible the turning of Labor Day into a holiday of fun and leisure. These are the things that Labor Day commemorates and if the nation is to survive in its greatness they will be needed as never before in the years to come. They are needed now desperately to back up the men in Viet Nam, let alone all future advancements in space, science, industry and technology. Think of these things as you go to the beach or to the mountains this Labor Day.

The Federal government debt was $321 billion as of the end of March or $5,304 per U. S. family, Tax Foundation, Inc., reports. Up to the March date, the gross public debt had increased $3.7 billion during fiscal 1966. Five years ago in fiscal 1961, Federal debt amounted to $289 billion, or $5,112 per U.S. family.

WAGES ARE GOING UP

If you don't believe that wages are going up throughout the country just ask the people involved with the war on poverty program.

There is little doubt that wages are on the increase in a big way among the people working with the anti-poverty program. For instance, a welding instructor worth $3,200 on one payroll became worth $9,780 when placed on the OEO payroll. A physical education instructor who had earned $4,600 found he could command $9,480 as an anti-poverty warrior.

School teachers, it is reported, are being pirated away from dollar-conscious school districts at Great Society salaries that are usually twice what they had previously earned.

And, the dedication to duty displayed by these anti-poverty warriors is almost stupifying. For instance, an OEO official was invited to speak to a graduating class of Head Start scholars aged five and six years.

The class was located some 200 miles away — a trip that would have taken a couple of hours in an automobile. But, the anti-poverty official was highly conscious of his responsibility and the post he held. Accordingly, he chartered a twin-engined plane in which to travel to the Head Start "graduates."

Isn't this anti-poverty program something? —Somerset, Pa., American

WONDER WHY WE HAVE RIOTS?

Tuesday night Vice President Humphrey was a guest on NBC's late night show with Joe Bishop as master of ceremonies. The exchanges of humorous jibes, in my opinion, showed Humphrey the keener humorist. Joey suggested he get Humphrey in show business and the V-P asked Joey to help him in his present job. Joey asked what he liked about the job; and Humphrey said it was those many trips to every state in the union and in foreign lands that he enjoyed most.

So, I began to think The Hump would make a better actor than a politician. And when I read of his New Orleans speech my conviction he should be an actor became firmer. With the long hot summer being celebrated by demonstrations, riots and crime, Mr. Humphrey told a New Orleans audience that if he were living in a slum, "you'd have more trouble than you have had already, because I've got enough spark left in me to lead a mighty good revolt..."

Little comment is needed on the imprudence of such a remark in a week when slum-dwellers were indeed revolting in several cities. It would be interesting to know, though, how a slum-dwelling Mr. Humphrey might react to the patently false hope held out by Vice President Humphrey in that same speech. The answer to that slum problem, he proclaimed, lies in rent subsidies, planned communities, swimming pools, the creation of regional governmental bodies, and the abolition somehow of such old-fashion distinctions as "the poor part of town" and the "rich part of town."

Some of these things might help a little — those that are possible, that it. But such glibly offered solutions can only, in the long run, produce more disappointment and more "mighty good" revolts.

Two women were gossiping. Said one, "What I say is — give a man enough rope and he'll hang himself!"

"Oh, I don't agree," said the other. "I gave my husband enough rope and he skipped."

JOB TRAINING

How private industry could help to eliminate the "need" for the federal Job Corps was simply and logically explained in a recent issue of Galley Proof, a publication of the Printing Industry of Illinois.

The story cited the case of a typographer who was asked to prepare and run free an advertisement telling young people 16 to 21 years of age how to learn a trade in the Job Corps with food, lodging, and $50 in spending money a month.

It pointed out that the same typographer, as a businessman, would gladly take young people to teach them a trade if he could get by paying them $50 a month with room and board.

If the politicians in Washington really wanted to launch a meaningful war on poverty, they could start by giving business and industry the same privileges that are enjoyed by government.

If an in-shop, on-the-job training program could be instituted by business and industries at reasonable salary rates, a lot of jobless youths walking the streets could be gainfully learning a trade — at absolutely no expense to the taxpayers.

The United States Department of Agriculture spent $5.9 billion in 1961 and $7.9 billion in 1964, an increase of two billion dollars.

Meanwhile, the number of employees in the Department increased from 98,694 in 1960 to 117,481 in 1965.

From 1958 to 1964 the farm population declined from 15,635,000 to 12,954,000.

Obviously, the fewer farmers we have the more money and employees it required to implement the government's efforts to control them.

There are few cases in recorded history of any nation being wrecked by the actions of its people but there are innumerable cases of nations ruined by the unwise action of their power-hungry or self-glorified leaders.

Any Way You Figure It, ELECTRICITY IS A BARGAIN

Whether you add it up with an Oriental abacus or an electronic computer, any way you figure it, electricity is a bargain.

Today, the average Texas Power & Light Company residential customer uses more than six times as much electricity as he used 20 years ago... but the average per-unit price of electricity used in TP&L homes today is only about one-half as much as it was two decades ago.

So, if your electric bill is "higher than it used to be", consider the many comforts and conveniences which you now enjoy with electrical appliances and the lower-than-ever price of electric energy. We believe you'll agree that the cost is the biggest bargain in your family's budget.

Name Plates Added To Hospital Doors

At the August meeting of Muenster Hospital Auxiliary Thursday, members learned that the donor name plaques for hospital rooms have been installed and voted to take up the tab in the amount of $280. Sister Mildred reported on the plaques.

She also told of the need for closed cabinets for surgical supplies and the organization voted to accept this as a project. In that connection they discussed plans for a benefit dance in late fall.

Mrs. Richard Grewing, president, conducted the business session.

A film on cancer was shown for the program.

As a parting gift to Sister Romaine who left Muenster Hospital for nursing duty in a New Iberia, La., hospital, the Auxiliary gave her a train case to match luggage that was a farewell gift from hospital personnel. HemisFair, New World

When the gates to HemisFair 1968 open on April 6, 1968, the first of the Fair's millions of visitors will step into the New World — into a re-creation of the Western Hemisphere as it was when Cortez arrived, as it has developed since, and as rampant imagination sees it tomorrow. The first World's Fair ever scheduled in the southern half of the United States, HemisFair will be a six-month birthday party for San Antonio, the world's most fiesta-minded city, celebrating its 250th anniversary.

A special event at the meeting was presentation of a $300 check to the Muenster Public Library as its benefit from the benefit fish fry sponsored July 29 by the Jaycees. It was given by Project Chairmen Herman Grewing and Richard Bloom to Directors L. B. Bruns and Mmes. Joe Luke and J D Hanna.

The meeting also heard a report on the area convention at Gainesville a week before. Delegates to it were Gerald Hess, Dan Luke, Henry Weinzapfel and Gene Riggs and their wives.

Librarian Gives Six-Month Report To Board Members

Muenster Public Library board at its August meeting heard the semi-annual report presented by Mrs. Joe Luke, librarian.

The staff spent 1,361 hours in volunteer work during the first six months of the year. They checked out and returned to shelves 5,066 books. In addition the staff shelved 200 volumes from the state and 25 from the county library, on loan, and 132 books bought from the library's budget for this purpose. This latter addition represents an investment of some $300 and points up the high cost of books, Mrs. Luke said.

During the period the library received 137 magazines, 79 books and two daily newspapers through donations.

Board members were invited to the Jaycee meeting on August 18 to receive funds the Jaycees raised in their annual fish fry which was a library benefit this year. A check for $300 was presented to Mrs. Luke, Mrs. J. D. Hanna and L. B. Bruns by Herman Grewing and Richard Bloom, co-chairmen of the fish fry.

A young Swedish boy fell in love with a Swedish girl, and being far from loquacious, there were many moments of silence between them. One evening, during a lapse, he suddenly blurted out, "Will you marry wit' me?" "Yes!" she said blushing. There was another long period of silence during which the boy sat gloomily. Finally his new fiancée said, "Why don't you say something?" He shook his head sadly and sighed, "I talk too much already."

Texas Has 1100 Man Made Lakes, Thanks to SCS

TEMPLE — "Texas is not yet a land of '10,000 lakes and a fisherman's paradise' but hundreds of Texans are working on it," said State Conservationist H. N. Smith of the Soil Conservation Service in commenting on a recent statewide survey of flood prevention structures and outdoor recreation.

Smith went on to point out that about 1100 such structures have been completed and almost 800 of these have been stocked with game fish in accordance with Texas Parks and Wildlife Department specifications. About 400 of these structures are open to the public on a free or daily fee basis. Thirty-six are being used by groups of families or other organizations on a club-lease basis. Recreational facilities such as beaches, rest-rooms, picnic tables and boat docks have been installed on 144 of the lakes. An estimated 637,300 recreation man days have been spent on these structures since completion.

"These dams, designed and built primarily for flood control and soil conservation, are helping absorb the outdoor recreational pressure generated by a shortened work week and a steadily rising standard of living," Smith concluded.

Making America Great One Man Mortgaged All For Defense of Country

NEW YORK (CFN)—As Nazi Germany overran Europe in 1940, France and England looked desperately to the United States for help.

In a radio message on May 16, 1940, President Roosevelt responded with a promise of "50,000 planes a year."

The President's message brought hope. But to one American businessman it posed a serious question: Where would the U.S. get the aluminum for all those planes?

R. S. Reynolds, Sr., president of Reynolds Metals Company, was already having problems finding enough aluminum to keep his foil and packaging mills operating. How could the U.S. possibly have enough aluminum for its defense?

"This is a light metals war and will be won or lost in the air," Mr. Reynolds said. "Unless we quickly awake to the peril of this new type warfare, England will fall, and America will follow."

He urged that the government furnish funds to increase aluminum production quickly by one billion pounds.

But, nobody took him seriously. In some quarters he was even labeled an "alarmist."

If no one else would act, Mr. Reynolds decided finally, his company must. He mortgaged all of his 18 fabricating plants (worth $24,000,000), plus all new plants to be built, to get a $15,800,000 loan to build one plant to make aluminum ingot.

And, it was completed in record time. On May 18, 1941, five months and 28 days after ground was broken in a cotton field near Sheffield, Ala., Reynolds Metals Company poured its first aluminum. Reynolds by this time also had started work on a second aluminum plant at Longview, Wash.

By the time of the attack on Pearl Harbor Reynolds Metals had these two aluminum reduction plants in operation. They not only gave the U.S. a second source of aluminum, but a source of aluminum that was badly needed to stem the tide of the Axis powers. As the then Senator Harry S. Truman later said: "Mr. Reynolds risked all he had in order to help the country obtain the necessary supplies for the construction of planes, tanks and guns. Mr. Reynolds is a patriotic citizen." This year, on May 18, 1966, Reynolds Metals celebrates its 25th year as an aluminum producer—and commemorates these historic events of a quarter century ago.

also requires sound, adequate financing. "The public should be alert to any attempts to divert or disperse any current highway revenues," the report warned. It added: "The failure — even by one day — to fulfill the obligation to build better, safer highways will be costly in human life and suffering. The economic loss is irrecoverable."

The report pointed out: "A vibrant economy produces its own problems. Population growth, the rapid urbanization of Texas, the increasing number of motor vehicles and the complexities of modern society compel a constant vigilance."

By 1985, the brochure noted, Texans will drive a total of more than 77 billion vehicle miles each year, compared with 52 billion vehicle miles rolled up in the state in 1965.

Half Billion Set As Texas Highway Budget in 1985

Texas will need to invest more than one-half billion dollars a year in new highway construction by 1985 to keep pace with the growth of the state, a new study released today by the Texas Highway Department predicted.

The forecast was contained in a 24-page brochure entitled, "The Great Challenge... Texas Highway Needs." The report is based on projections made by planners in the Department.

By comparison construction expenditures in Texas in 1965 were $348 million.

A highway system to meet the challenge of the future requires active, alert public support, the brochure said. It

Vehicle registration will more than double — from 6.2 million to about 14 million in the next two decades.

To keep pace, the State-maintained highway system is expected to grow to a total of 79 thousand miles. Presently, 66.5 thousand miles of highway are under State maintenance.

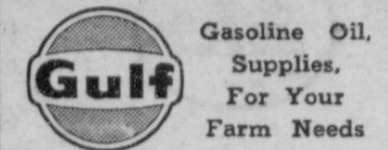

More significant, Highway Department planners said more miles of high-type highways will be needed to carry ever-increasing burdens of traffic. In the next 2 decades 17 thousand construction miles of new freeways should be built, including arteries on new locations and conversion of older, conventional roads to freeways.

In general, all existing highways will require one reconstruction and two resurfacings before 1985. All bridges built prior to World War II will require replacement.

The report notes the role of the highway system in the unprecedented growth and development of the state during recent years.

The Texas Highway Commission presented the report to Governor John B. Connally as an aid to consideration of future highway needs of Texas.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 2, Article VI, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended by deleting the following language:

Sec. 2. The only purpose of the amendment proposed in this Resolution is to make the aforesaid deletion. The adoption of this amendment shall not be deemed to have the effect of readopting the remainder of the Section, and if any other amendment to this Section, being for a different purpose, is adopted at an earlier election or at the same election, the adoption of this amendment shall not be construed as nullifying the change made by such other amendment.

Sec. 3. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1966, at which election all ballots shall have printed on them the following:

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER ELEVEN ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8, 1966. SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 19 proposing an Amendment to Section 49-d, Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas, declaring state policy regarding optimum development of water reservoirs; providing for the use of the Texas Water Development Fund under such conditions as the Legislature may prescribe by General Law in the acquisition and development of storage facilities and any system of works properly appurtenant thereto; providing for the sale, lease or transfer of such facilities under General Law; providing for long-term contracts for water storage facilities; authorizing the issuance of an additional $200,000,000 in bonds by the Texas Water Development Board upon a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the elected members of each house; providing that anticipatory legislation shall not be invalid because of its anticipatory character; providing for the necessary election, form of ballot; and proclamation and publication.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 49-d of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended to read as follows:

"Section 49-d. It is hereby declared to be the policy of the State of Texas to encourage the optimum development of the limited number of feasible sites available for the construction or enlargement of dams and reservoirs for conservation of the public waters of the state, which waters are held in trust for the use and benefit of the public. The proceeds from the sale of the additional bonds authorized hereunder deposited in the Texas Water Development Fund and the proceeds of bonds previously authorized by Article III, Section 49-c of this Constitution, may be used by the Texas Water Development Board, under such provisions as the Legislature may prescribe by General

Law, including the requirement of a permit for storage or beneficial use, for the additional purposes of acquiring and developing storage facilities, and any system or works necessary for the filtration, treatment and transportation of water from storage to points of treatment, filtration and/or distribution, including facilities for transporting water therefrom to wholesale purchasers, or for any one or more of such purposes or methods; provided, however, the Texas Water Development Fund or any other state fund provided for water development, transmission, transfer or filtration shall not be used to finance any project which contemplates or results in the removal from the basin of origin of any surface water necessary to supply the reasonably foreseeable future water requirements for the next ensuing fifty-year period within the river basin of origin, except on a temporary, interim basis.

"Under such provisions as the Legislature may prescribe by General Law the Texas Water Development Fund may be used for the conservation and development of water for useful purposes by construction or reconstruction or enlargement of reservoirs constructed or to be constructed or enlarged within the State of Texas or on any stream constituting a boundary of the State of Texas, together with any system or works necessary for the filtration, treatment and/or transportation of water, by any one or more of the following governmental agencies: by the United States of America or any agency, department or instrumentality thereof; by the State of Texas or any agency, department or instrumentality thereof; by political subdivisions or bodies politic and corporate of the state; by interstate compact commissions to which the State of Texas is a party; and by municipal corporations. The Legislature shall provide terms and conditions under which the Texas Water Development Board may sell, transfer or lease, in whole or in part, any reservoir and associated system or works which the Texas Water Development Board has financed in whole or in part.

"Under such provisions as the Legislature may prescribe by General Law, the Texas Water Development Board may also execute long-term contracts with the United States or any of its agencies for the acquisition and development of storage facilities in reservoirs constructed or to be constructed by the Federal Government. Such contracts when executed shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas in the same manner and with the same effect as state bonds issued under the authority of the preceding Section 49-c of this Constitution, and the provisions in said Section 49-c with respect to payment of principal and interest on state bonds issued shall likewise apply with respect to payment of principal and interest required to be paid by such contracts. If storage facilities are acquired for a term of years, such contracts shall contain provisions for renewal that will protect the state's investment.

"The aggregate of the bonds authorized hereunder shall not exceed $200,000,000 and shall be in addition to the aggregate of the bonds previously authorized by said Section 49-c of Article III of this Constitution. The Legislature upon two-thirds (2/3) vote of the elected members of each House, may authorize the Board to issue all or any portion of such $200,000,000 in additional bonds herein authorized.

"The Legislature shall provide terms and conditions for the Texas Water Development Board to sell, transfer or lease, in whole or in part, any acquired storage facilities or the right to use such storage facilities together with any associated system or works necessary for the filtration, treatment or transportation of water at a price not less than the direct cost of the Board in acquiring same; and the Legislature may provide terms and conditions for the Board to sell any unappropriated public waters of the state that might be stored in such facilities. As a prerequisite to the purchase of such storage or water, the applicant thereof shall have secured a valid permit from the Texas Water Commission or its successor authorizing the acquisition of such storage facilities or the water impounded therein. The money received from any sale, transfer or lease of storage facilities or associated system or works shall be used to pay principal and interest on state bonds issued or contractual obligations incurred by the Texas Water Development Board, provided that when moneys are sufficient to pay the full amount of indebtedness then outstanding and the full amount of interest to accrue thereon, any further sums received from the sale, transfer or lease of such storage facilities or associated system or works may be used for the acquisition of additional storage facilities or associated system or works or for providing financial assistance as authorized by said Section 49-c. Money received from the sale of water, which shall include standby services, may be used for the operation and maintenance of acquired facilities, and for the payment of principal and interest on debt incurred.

"Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this Amendment, such Acts shall not be void by reason of their anticipatory character."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1966, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

"FOR the Constitutional Amendment authorizing the issuance of an additional $200,000,000 in Texas Water Development Bonds and providing for further investment of the Texas Water Development Fund in reservoirs and associated facilities."

"AGAINST the Constitutional Amendment authorizing the issuance of an additional $200,000,000 in Texas Water Development Bonds and providing for further investment of the Texas Water Development Fund in reservoirs and associated facilities."

Sec. 3. The Governor of Texas shall issue the necessary proclamation for the election and this Amendment shall be published in the manner and for the length of time as required by the Constitution and laws of this state.

Cattle Eat Less in Summer
 Ever wonder why cattle lose weight or make low gains during the summer months? The common answer is that summer pastures are not as high in quality as in the spring. This may be true but Marvin Riewe of Texas A&M's Gulf Coast Pasture-Bee Research Station, says a good part of the blame is simply that ruminants (cattle, sheep and goats) eat less during hot weather. His research shows that as temperatures climb, intake of ruminants decline. For example, animals eat about 19 percent more grass at 60 degrees F. than they eat when the temperature is 90 degrees F.

 A society matron who was too busy playing bridge to look after her husband came home one evening and found a poor guy trying to sew a button on his shirt. "Clarence," she said with an air of superiority, "you think you know everything, don't you? That thimble you're wearing... it's on the wrong finger."
 "I know," said Clarence. "I should be on yours."

After falling approximately 35,000 feet, this Allis-Chalmers fuel cell functioned perfectly during post-flight tests. Raymond J. Chesner (left), engineer in the space and defense sciences department of Allis-Chalmers, Milwaukee, and Lt. L. S. Harootyan of Wright-Patterson air force base, Dayton, Ohio, examine the fuel cell as it looked after it was recovered, subsequent to the destruction of the rocket booster on which it was mounted. Due to a course deviation during launching the booster had to be destroyed. Fuel cells are devices providing electric power directly through conversion of the chemical energy of hydrogen and oxygen.

Practice Tussle Friday Will Test MHS Footballers

After almost two weeks of practice with his Muenster High Hornets, Coach Glenn Richardson is pleased and confident. They have been working hard and are beginning to look like a team. And they will have their first opportunity this week to discover their strong and weak points.

The test is a practice scrimmage with Allen High, a Class B school near McKinney that was district champ last year and is favored to repeat this year. Action will be there, starting at 7:30.

Next test for the Hornets will be here the following Friday night with the B team of Bowie High. Both scrimmages will be tough ones for the boys and Richardson expects them to get some valuable experience.

The team roster is mostly decided by now, says Richardson, however there are still a few spots in which competition for the starting string is rather keen.

Those expected to start this week's scrimmage are Chris Cain, Wayne Klement, Ken Stormer and Tommy Tuggle as backs; Glenn Klement, Ken Swirczynski, Don Hartman, Gary Gieb, Tommy Trachta, Terry Cason and Mike Hennigan as linemen.

In addition to those the Hornets have eighteen reserves, mostly freshmen and sophomores who also have prospects for a busy season. Richardson has plans for B string games, as many as circumstances will permit. Prospective opponents are reserves of other teams in the district.

Visitors Honored At Social Events

Mr. and Mrs. Al Fleitman entertained in their home for their nephews and families, the Norbert Henscheids of La Puente, Calif., and the Werner Henscheids of Canyon, while they were vacationing in Muenster.

A party last Tuesday night had as guests the visitors and Bill Henscheid, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Henscheid, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Klement, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Felderhoff and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Fleitman, and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Krebs of Gainesville.

Dinner Sunday honored the Norbert Henscheids and daughters Christie and Laurie. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herbie Fleitman and sons Mike and Don of Denison and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Klement.

Signs Point to Good Season for Tiger Gridders

The Tigers of '66, composed mostly of the starters from last year's team, are showing signs of their intention to make it another good season. Coach Joe Felderhoff said Wednesday that they are working hard and their spirit is good. They look fine for this stage of the season and should be ready when they meet Saint Jo in their first game on September 9.

Furthermore the boys are aware that they will have to be good. They know that the Panthers have most regulars back from last year's champ team, and the Tigers will need finesse as well as fight to make a good showing.

That's what the team is working on mostly, says Coach Felderhoff. Along with daily drills to perfect such fundamentals as blocking, tackling and passing they are striving for good coordination.

How well they are getting along in those efforts will be revealed to a great extent Friday, Sept. 2, as they take on Gainesville B in a practice tussle. The scrimmage will start at 7 on the Tiger field.

Physically the only troubles so far are soreness and a few sprains, the usual results of the first practice sessions. The roster still stands at 28, of which 26 are in uniform and 2 are nursing fractures for several weeks.

ture soak into the soil. He said that considerable success has already been attained by use of soil conserving and soil building crops.

He described his homeland as about the size of Texas with a population about three times as large. About twenty per cent of the land area and sixty five percent of the population are engaged in agriculture. On an average farms are small, methods are primitive and yields are low. He is looking forward to the time when there will be fewer people on the land and more in industry to raise the standard of Turkish life.

Galloglu was very impressed by America's roads and transportation system, its highly mechanized farms, the methods of conserving soil and water. He looks forward eagerly to applying American methods to Turkish land but admits that the process will have to be slow because of limited funds.

Likes Muenster

Bill Herman of the Valeron Corporation and his family are back home in Detroit, Michigan, after two weeks of combined vacation and inspection of the firm's two plants at Gainesville. During that time he visited twice with the Ernest Jaskas and put Muenster on his prospect list as a possible future plant site.

only on production increases — and the national economy had held a steady level of prices.

The sad fact is that everybody has been cheated these many years. Despite the brags of union bosses that they have improved living standards, the truth is that every unjustified demand has hurt more than it helped. In fairness, however we should give them credit for all justified raises they got their members. To that extent they did a good job.

This column earnestly believes that much of our economic mess could be cleared up and inflation pressure could be reduced if industrial and labor leaders really tried to apply fair guidelines on prices and wages. After all, they know that prosperity is determined by purchasing power, not by the volume of money in circulation.

And government could finish the job of stopping inflation by simply stopping deficit spending.
