

The very worst that can be said about the character who set off a bomb in the national capitol is a lot better than he deserves. What he did was more than a senseless act of destruction along with a risk that innocent people would be killed or injured. It was an act of insult and defiance against our country, perhaps by a foreign spy whose mission is destruction and sabotage, perhaps by a traitor who is in sympathy with the enemy.

Practically all the senators and representatives on Capitol Hill denounced the bomber as a public enemy of one kind or the other, but there was a notable exception. Senator George McGovern, who thinks that he should be our next president, excused the bomber's criminal deed as a reaction against the country's Vietnam involvement. In other words President Nixon and the generals and the civilian advisers who direct the course of war are the real criminals. They are responsible because the bomber was driven to it by them.

To this column's way of thinking, McGovern did himself a big favor in his irresponsible comment on Nixon's responsibility. By that remark he fixed his campaign so that he'll soon know it's useless to spend more time and money. Our guess is that he'll find some supporters who share his anxiety about Vietnam, but few will stay with his twisted idea that the bomber was driven to his act by the administration's sins.

One of the network newscasters a few days ago said that Nixon this year happens to be in an unenviable political position. With an election coming up, Democrats understandably give him a tough time. To make things worse, they have no established party leader, so each of several wants to become the party's choice, and each is trying to prove his qualifications by outdoing the others in mean-mouthing Nixon.

It's too bad those doves have gone off on this tangent. Their eagerness to stop needless death and suffering is commendable, but when it leads to just quitting and conceding victory to the enemy, when it leads to increasing the dangers to our soldiers as they try to pull out, the idea becomes either silly or subversive.

A point this column cannot get away from in appraising the Vietnam problem is the unquestioned progress of American troops in breaking away. Our withdrawal is ahead of schedule — but if conducted the wrong way it could lead to catastrophe. If the enemy were permitted to build up troops and supplies he would eventually be able to demolish the remaining GIs and South Vietnamese. To prevent that strategy there have been strikes into Cambodia and Laos, and there's talk about hitting North Vietnam. Doves complain that it enlarges the war. Military men and the President think it's smart to weaken the enemy's potential so that he can do less harm to our side.

And what's this silly stuff about American aggression? Reds have been aggressors from the start. They invaded South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos before our troops moved in to attack them. And if they get hit in North Vietnam it will be because they are building up for continued aggression in South Vietnam, Cambodia or Laos.

It has been said that President Nixon promised to get out, and he is doing that.

Scouts Participate In Scout-O-Rama Saturday Night

Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts of the Muenster Troop will be at the Gainesville National Guard Armory Saturday night participating in annual Scout-O-Rama of the Butterfield Trail District.

To help bring in a good attendance the Boy Scouts used their regular Monday meeting time to sell tickets around town. The result was 139 ticket sales, which is divided equally between Scout-O-Rama and the Muenster Troop. Donations of $10.00 were also turned in.

At the Scout-O-Rama the older boys' project is building a miniature campsite including a 6 foot tower held together by rope lashing instead of nails. Cub Scouts and Webelos will build bird houses.

Open House Friday Will Feature Observance of Public School Week

The traditional open-house Friday night and an invitation to come and visit any other time during the week marks the local observance of Texas Public Schools Week.

Superintendent L. B. Bruns said that the observance extends all through this week, is included in three regularly scheduled events of the week and will come to a climax Friday night in the open house.

The open house, he added, also applies to the rest of the week. Visitors are encouraged to come at any time to observe the conduct of classes and recreation periods.

Brother Thomas and Mary L. Kralicke Win Top Trophies in Speech Tourney

Muenster's Sacred Heart High School added laurels to its speech and drama department by annexing two top trophies during the Fourth Annual Forensic Festival Tournament at Dallas Baptist College, February 25-27.

Mary Lou Kralicke won the first place trophy in the prose division and Brother Thomas Moster, speech and drama instructor, received the Outstanding Coach Trophy.

"based on his participation, attitude and the sportsmanship displayed by his squad."

Nineteen SHH students took part in the three-day tournament.

Outstanding entrants included Bill Bartush who advanced to the prose finals; Phyllis Bindel and Margie Felderhoff, semi-finalists in orig-

However, the big show is Friday night when every classroom will have its display of student work and the modern teaching aids used in classwork. Additionally, the homemaking department will be the refreshment stop. FHA girls are preparing and serving coffee and cookies. Hours for the open house are 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

Another special event intended for the week's schedule but postponed by Wednesday's snow is a program on law enforcement sponsored by the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce and offered to all elementary schools of the county. Its purpose is to inform children of the duties of officers, stressing the many things they do to help and protect people. The idea in general is to counteract the unfavorable image presented so often by critics of the law, and leave children with a firm opinion that officers are their friends. The program will be presented at a later date.

FFA and FHA chapters had their regular meetings Monday night and FFA members will participate in the organization's district banquet to be held Thursday night at Nocona.

Janet Sicking to Represent SH 4-H In District Show

Eight 4-H'ers, including Janet Sicking of Muenster's Sacred Heart Club, will represent Cooke County in the District IV Food Show March 20 at Big Town Shopping Center, Dallas.

Their wins with recipes and table arrangements displayed during the county Food Show in December won for them the opportunity to compete against 4-H'ers from 18 other counties in the North Texas area.

In addition to Miss Sicking senior participants are Laura Gage of Callisburg and Nancy Hickman and Lou Ann Pybas of Sivelles Bend. Junior entries are Tammy Hickman and Grace Pybas of Sivelles Bend and Jackie Harris and Jack Martin of Valley View.

Motorists Urged To Check Vehicle Inspection Dates

M. C. Blount, Captain of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Service, Texas Department of Public Safety, today reminded motorists that their motor vehicle inspection sticker expires twelve months from the month of purchase.

Blount said, "Many Texas motorists are failing to have their vehicles inspected before their old inspection sticker expires and as a result, several have been issued citations."

State law requires that inspections be made at privately owned official inspection stations which have been appointed and regulated by the Department of Public Safety. The statutory inspection fee is $2.00, with adjustments or repairs extra if required.

In closing, Captain Blount, stated that the fine that may be imposed for an expired inspection sticker is, any amount from $1.00 to $200.00. So every motorist would be well advised to check the year and number on his inspection sticker and if it is near expiration, go to his inspection station and have the vehicle inspected now. It may save him money.

Final Rites Held In Fort Worth for Mrs. Harold Cooke

Mrs. Harold Cooke of Fort Worth died Monday morning in Harris Hospital where she had undergone open heart surgery last week Tuesday.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 in Greenwood Chapel followed by burial in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Cooke was the former Miss Marjorie Duffey of Marysville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Duffey. She was the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Cooke who left to be with the family after receiving the death message. Others attending the funeral were Reeve Cooke and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davidson.

Survivors are her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Gene Alexander, one son Don M. Cooke, her mother and five grandchildren, all of Fort Worth.

Council Considers Plans for Future

Looking toward the future and striving for plans that coordinate with other communities of North Texas, the City Council Monday night considered the area's principal needs with Jerry Chapman, executive director of the Texoma Regional Planning Commission.

The Commission includes Cooke, Fannin and Grayson counties and is concerned with long range planning in any field which concerns the welfare of that area.

Also present were Ray Wilde, president of the Chamber of Commerce, J. M. Weinzapfel of the Chamber's road committee and Herbert Fisher of the Muenster Jaycees.

Chapman informed the group that the commission has acquired the services of a park improvement consultant who is available to the city for its immediate program as well as long range planning.

The subject of surface water was mentioned as a threatening problem for the Texoma region. Cities of this area are blessed with good quality water from the Trinity sand but face eventual shortage and the need of supplementing with surface water.

The group was concerned also with the perpetual need of developing the region's road system. The project now rating local priority in that field is the proposed bridge over Red River. Councilmen adopted a resolution to support the Chamber of Commerce effort at securing the structure, agreeing with Mr. Weinzapfel that it would open many new trade opportunities affecting several thousand people on both sides of the river.

Herbert Fisher's mission was to recommend a bill board boosting Muenster at either or both sides of town. It was suggested as a joint project for the city and the Jaycees.

For the convenience of voters, the council ordered that its city election on April 3 be held at the public school. It will enable people to vote in all three of the local elections at a single stop.

Laura Kralicke Spelling Champ At Sacred Heart

Laura Kralicke, eighth grade daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Martin Kralicke, is Sacred Heart School's 1971 spelling champion. She won the crown Friday.

Runner-up is Karen Luttmer, eighth grade, daughter of Mrs. Angie Luttmer and A. J. Luttmer. Karen tripped on "censure" which Laura spelled correctly and then spelled "centennial" to become the champ.

Barbara Grewing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grewing, and also an eighth grader, was second runner-up.

Forty students, the top ten of grades five, six, seven and eight competed in the bee. Those grades had previously had spell downs in their own grades.

Sister Georgia was bee organizer and sponsor at Sacred Heart. Pronouncers were Mrs. Steve Mosler and Mrs. Joe Felderhoff.

Laura received her blue ribbon and trophy from Father Placidus who commissioned her to win in the county spelling bee. She will represent Sacred Heart School in the Cooke County Bee on March 27.

Ribbons were presented to the three top spellers in each of the other grades participating. They are, in the order named, Gary Rohmer, Sandy Schneider and Anita Stephens, Grade 5; Julia Bayer, Janet Henscheid and George Luke, Grade 6; Frank Mosler, Dean Sicking and Sharon Rohmer, Grade 7.

Arthur Felderhoff Is Candidate for Mayor

Arthur Felderhoff is an unopposed candidate for mayor, and only one contest is in sight for the three elections to be held on Saturday, April 3.

As the deadline passed for filing candidacy in the city election incumbent Herbert Miller is challenged by Earl Walterscheid for Position 3 on the council, and no other candidate in the three elections has an opponent.

Mayor Mike Sloan and Alderman Gene Hoedebeck have both failed to get their names on the ballot for re-election, and candidacy for their positions has been filed respectively by Arthur Felderhoff and Albert Herr.

The school board election offers no action whatever. The only candidates are Ray Wilde and Robert Bayer. Both are seeking re-election.

The same applies to the election of members on the county

Heart Fund Drive Monday Nets $487

Muenster people gave $487.58 for heart research in a special porch light collection conducted Monday night by a local committee for the Cooke County Heart Association.

Mrs. Martin Kralicke, chairman, said Wednesday that the present figure is an incomplete total because persons who were not a home Monday night have sent word they will contribute. The fund is still open for others who wish to add to it.

Assisting Mrs. Kralicke is the house-to-house collections were Mmes. Ray Wilde, Mel Stephens, Ed Schneider, Herman Grewing, Ted Henscheid, Roy Monday, John Yosten, Walter Grewing, Richard Grewing, Carl Walterscheid, Donald Endres, Rufus Henscheid.

Area Blanketed by 3 inches of Snow

A short but severe siege of Winter, including the season's first snow, moved into the community Tuesday night. It was part of the snowstorm which blanketed the northern half of Texas causing hazardous driving conditions in many areas and bringing a plunge in temperature.

According to Steve Mosler, the snow here started about 7 p.m. and gradually built up until visibility was reduced to less than a block. By 10 p.m. it was mostly over. In the meantime traffic on the streets and highway slowed down to a crawl. Average depth of the snow here, according to Mosler, was 3 inches.

That was accompanied by a temperature drop to 17 degrees. Wednesday dawned as a very wintry day and local schools, along with most others of the county, were given a holiday. However it did not last long. Thawing started about 10 o'clock. Highway and streets were mostly dry by early afternoon.

Moster recorded the snow's moisture content at .18 inch. Along with light drizzles it upped the day's measure to .30, the month's total to .33 and the year's to 1.60. January had .41 and February .86.

Boys Club Wins 5 More Trophies

Five members of the Muenster Boys Club came home with trophies from the Comanche Boxing Tournament last weekend.

Billy Phillips, Pat Walterscheid, Bill Huchton and Nick Stoffels were winners of their classes and Darrell Evans was a runner up. All of them are coached by Mike Stoffels.

The boys have two more tournaments ahead of them this season. They will go to Wichita Falls this weekend and to Waurika next weekend.

In addition Lee Roy Hess will represent the club at the State Golden Gloves tournament in Fort Worth.

Losses in 2 Fires Were Light, Heavy

Damage was heavy and light in two fire calls answered last week by the Muenster firemen.

Wednesday on the Trumter Oil Lease a warehouse was completely destroyed along with some thousands of dollars worth of motors and supplies in it. The fire was far advanced when firemen got there. Best they could do was help save some equipment and stop a grass fire.

A fire at Rohmer's Restaurant Saturday about 1:30 p.m. had a happy ending. It started as a grease fire in the kitchen and spread quickly to the attic. Maurice King and Giles Truebenbach used a carbon dioxide tank from the soda fountain to stop the kitchen flame. Firemen, arriving in a few minutes, doused the attic flame promptly. Minor smoke and water damage resulted, but through it all none of the customers left the building.

school board. Alphonse Felderhoff and Doyle Selby, candidates for Precincts 4 and 3 on the board, are both unopposed. Felderhoff will be a candidate on the North Muenster ballot, Selby on the South Muenster ballot.

The hospital board election has one development since last week. J. H. Bayer, who previously announced for re-election, has asked that his name be taken off the ballot. Up to Wednesday no one has filed to run for his position, however the filing deadline is March 8 and ample time remains for signing up. Whoever wants to succeed Bayer will have to file by a petition bearing 15 signatures of qualified voters with the board's secretary, Rufus Henscheid, on or before next Monday. Any other person desiring a place on the board can become a candidate by following the same procedure.

Candidates so far unopposed for the hospital board are the other three incumbents: Al Trubenbach, J. J. Biffle and Paul Fetsch.

As in the recent past years, balloting in these three elections will be done in one stop. It will be in the public school. Clive Gobble will be in charge of the city election. Charles Cash will have charge of the school board and hospital board elections.

TSTA Convention Date Will Be a Student Holiday

Friday of next week will be a holiday for students of Muenster Public School and a work day for the teachers.

Superintendent L. B. Bruns said this week that it is one of the 10 days of the year designated as duty days for the faculty only. In this case all of the teachers will be at a Texas State Teachers Association in Dallas.

Another holiday for kids and duty day for teachers will come exactly a week later. Students get a holiday in keeping with the local tradition of observing Saint Joseph's Feast, March 19, as a holy day. But teachers will be back at school.

After that local teachers have three more days of special duty on schedule. At the end of school students get out on May 18, after which the faculty will be back for three days for grading papers, completing report cards, checking in books, etc. Up to now teachers have had five extra duty days, four before school started and one on Dec. 23, following close of the first semester.

W. Walterscheid J. Dangelmayr Win Snake Hunt

Willie Walterscheid and John Dangelmayr were the big winners in the first annual rattlesnake hunt sponsored last Saturday and Sunday by the Muenster Jaycees.

Walterscheid got a trophy and $25 prize money for the most snakes — a total of 10 with a combined weight of 11 pounds.

Dangelmayr's was the biggest, measuring 57 inches. He also received a trophy and a $25 cash prize.

Another winner was Rodney Kimoto of Wichita Falls who received a trophy for the smallest snake turned in. It measured 15 inches.

Those 12 snakes practically made up the total catch for the two days. The total number turned in was 14. In addition to Walterscheid's 10, Dangelmayr and Kimoto each had two.

Butch Fisher, hunt chairman, said the wrong kind of weather was the principal problem. Temperature was mostly in the fifties and the rattlers prefer the low seventies, in fact they will not come out of their dens at a lower temperature.

Liberty and Gun Ownership

A uniquely American organization is observing its Centennial during the year 1971. That organization is the National Rifle Association which represents more than a million abiding, gun-owning U.S. citizens. Over the years, the NRA has fostered firearm safety, conservation, good sportsmanship and above all, an understanding of the place of a firearm in the life of the responsible citizen.

Last year, the NRA publication, "The American Rifleman", published in its "Armed Citizen" columns, 112 actual instances in which the mere presence of a firearm in the hands of a resolute citizen prevented crime without bloodshed. Every case came from news reports confirmed by police records in 97 communities across the land. Robberies were prevented and quite possibly rapes and murders — because, as "The American Rifleman" puts it, "... a self-reliant American..." was on hand with a gun and with sufficient coolness to use it intelligently. Asks "The American Rifleman", "Can anyone show us where 112 crimes have been averted by the Federal Gun Control Act of 1968?"

The claim is made by some that the laws restricting gun ownership should be made even more stringent. To this the NRA, speaking in behalf of millions of Americans, observes, "... we must disagree. The answer is a need for many things, but laws that deprive decent persons of self-protection are not among them." In the next century, as in the past century, liberty and the right of gun ownership will remain as inseparable as freedom of the press and representative government.

Mr. Hoover Says

One would think from listening to liberal commentators and reading after liberal columnists that the civil war now being waged by students in this country has something to do with the Vietnam War, great social problems at home, adult hypocrisy everywhere, and morality nowhere. The liberals in charge of making public opinion have led us to believe that campus revolutionists are not motivated by outside forces. The liberals tell us the disorder is native, and that it is a healthy by-product of youthful idealism. They have never told the truth about the uprisings, so well-timed, well-funded, well-led and well-planned. Worse, the conservatives have failed to tell the truth, either. It would be easy, I think, for a responsible government official, perhaps the president himself to tell the American people what he knows for a fact (and has been told so by Edgar Hoover) — that the students' civil war is planned and directed by the International Union of Students in Prague, Czechoslovakia; that it is financed by Moscow; and that even the so-called "brightest generation" hasn't the foggiest notion whose chestnuts they are pulling out the fire, or why. — The Sebastopol Times (Calif.)

What's Happened To Old Ailments

An "older generation" speaker during a Commencement Address recalled the anecdote about the young person who asked, "... what's polio?" Speaking to a college graduating class, he said, "Yes. What's polio? What's a typhoid epidemic? Or diphtheria, smallpox, scarlet fever? This might be news to some of today's new graduates — but those scourges used to be very much with us. As one representative of the over-30 contingent, I discreetly remind our new graduates that it is, after all, this older generation — which includes your parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles — perhaps square at times and certainly often criticized these days — that has had something, somehow, to do with the fact that your life expectancy today has increase by about 30 percent over the last 50 years..."

Saliva Analysis New Technique of Medical Diagnosis

The miracles of modern medicine never cease to amaze mankind. Usually those miracles manifest themselves in some miraculous cure for a disease thought incurable, but modern science and medicine are now applying miraculous new techniques in diagnosis of disease — techniques that would have been scoffed at years ago.

From the very beginning of medicine, physicians have used body fluids — blood and urine in particular — as barometers of health or disease. Until recently the most common body fluid of all was ignored — plain, ordinary saliva. Today saliva is taking its place as a reliable indicator of human health. It gives a valuable clue to the causes and treatment of various illnesses.

Saliva has helped determine which patients will benefit from a particular kind of tumor surgery. It has been used to detect mercury levels in exposed industrial workers, and to diagnose a potentially severe genetic disease in children.

The Texas State Department of Health is watching with interest the research recently begun in this field. A few drops of saliva can disclose highly complex changes and patterns in body chemistry. From them, researchers are beginning to learn more about the mechanisms of such serious diseases as high blood-pressure, asthma, diabetes, chronic lung disorders such as cystic fibrosis, and even some psychiatric disorders.

Although medical scientists have been well aware of the potential significance and usefulness of saliva as a health indicator, little practical use could be made of it because the technological tools were not available. It took innovation in technique to open up this new field of salivary analysis.

Doctors could not make clear connections between the salivary analysis and a disease until they had the tools for collecting samples from different glands. Scientists at Columbia University Dental School in New York developed a collection device that could be easily modified for each patient by using dental-impression material.

Whole saliva had only limited value. With the new device, scientists could get separate samples of saliva from the parotid glands — the ones that swell up into mumps, and the submaxillary glands — the ones under the tongue. It was also essential to get samples from minor glands that secrete smaller amounts of saliva: those inside the lips, on the tongue and palate, and the membrane inside the mouth.

Salivary analysis could give your physician and the State Health Department another tool in the prevention and treatment of many common diseases.

Reforming the Welfare Program

The President and most state governors admit that the present welfare program is a monstrosity that is getting worse all the time. New plans are advanced for a complete change in the program but for some reason it can't get through Congress. Why, when evidence of its failure is on every hand, will Congress not do something to correct welfare program weaknesses?

Too few of the dollars spent in the program really get to the people who need them, there is waste and graft on every hand yet nothing is done to correct it. As we have said so often when a nation sets out to satisfy the demands of its indigent it is on the road to disaster.

At one time there was a stigma on "being on welfare" and families felt a moral obligation to help each other, but this no longer exists. Most feel that "the government owes me a living" and there's nothing wrong in taking it.

Well, the government doesn't owe anyone a living. We, as a nation of people, should take care of those who have no means of livelihood, but we shouldn't give financial aid to those who can work and won't. We're for a new and strong welfare program... correcting the present one is out of the question... it is too far down the disaster trail. — Gene Carter in Wise County Messenger.

The Cost of Shoplifting

As the memory of Christmas fades and the bills are taken care of, most people heave a sigh of relief. The cost of Christmas is over — they think. But they are wrong. We pay one of the costs of Christmas all through the year — the higher prices required to cover the losses from shoplifting, which reach a peak during the Christmas season.

Aside from the expense, there is much about shoplifting that is misunderstood by the general public. Shoplifting is not a prank, it is a crime punishable by imprisonment. It establishes a permanent arrest record. It may prevent holding a position of trust for the rest of a person's life. It forever marks the shoplifter as a thief. The youth who thinks he may escape the penalty of a shoplifting offense because he is a juvenile is making one of the worst mistakes of his life. One shoplifting conviction can stand as a permanent bar to a responsible position. Each year, the shoplifter faces a greater possibility of arrest as protective measures become more sophisticated. Shoplifting is one of the biggest businesses in the criminal world. Nationwide, it is estimated that $8 million in goods is stolen each shopping day. Thievery on this scale is bound to result in the most stringent protective measures and in the apprehension of a substantial percentage of the light-fingered crooks who think they can get away with committing an offense against, not only the merchant, but consumer's pocketbook.

Reports on the District I VFW and Auxiliary convention, hosted by the Muenster organizations Feb. 20-21 were presented by members.

Activities included a hospitality hour and dance on Saturday. A coffee for ladies and breakfast for district officers Sunday morning followed by a banquet at noon and closed meetings of the two groups in the afternoon, concluding with a cold buffet Sunday evening.

Featured speaker at the banquet was Dan Reyna, Junior vice commander, Department of Texas. Special guests included Father Bede Mitchel, the Rev. and Mrs. Bill Hatler and Mayor and Mrs. Mike Sloan.

Special guests at the Auxiliary meeting were Mrs. Helen McDonald of Denton, district president, Mrs. Ann James of Sherman, junior vice president

A vote of thanks went to the decorations committee who had fashioned a snow theme for the banquet hall. Styrofoam snowmen adorned the tables and walls. Black posters with snowflakes on the walls listed each of the 18 posts in the district. Representatives were present from each of them: Gainesville, McKinney, Denton, West Tawakoni, Sherman, Denison, Greenville, Bonham, Roanoke, Plano, Commerce, Farmersville, Honey Grove, Frisco, Wylie, Princeton and Lewisville to join the local delegation, and included O. A shower of gifts was on display and guests were served punch and cake from a pretty table carrying out the honor guest's chosen colors of white, blue, and yellow. Yellow roses in a blue glass bowl on the table were flanked by yellow candles draped with wedding rings.

Nestled around the base of the punch bowl, in yellow net, were small champagne glasses tied with blue ribbons and filled with party mints and centered with a tiny yellow rosebud. Tiny champagne glasses also were party favors for guests.

Special champagne glasses were on the table and late in the party when her fiance came for her, the couple was pictured having their refreshments with these.

Guests registered at a table decorated with a miniature bride and groom under an arch of yellow roses.

Miss Mosman who is employed in Denton and her fiance who is on leave from military duty in Panama will be married Saturday, March 6, at 3 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church.

Benedictine Nuns Visit

Three Benedictine Sisters from Jonesboro, Ark., spent Wednesday overnight here at the local convent after being in Dallas at a meeting of bishops and major superiors of Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana. The trio was Rev. Mother Benedicta, Sister Celestine, subprioress and Sister Roberta.

The latter was formerly art instructor at Sacred Heart High School. She had a visit with old friends Wednesday evening at the convent. On Monday she visited the Artisan Gallery at Gainesville where she left some of her originals for sale. She now has her own studio in Jonesboro and is producing sale items, mostly pottery under her own name, Charlotte Jones. These originals are also for sale in numerous department stores.

HD Members Share Artistic Ideas at Arts and Crafts Day

Home Demonstration Club women and their friends from throughout Cooke County shared many artistic ideas during their Arts and Crafts Day Thursday at the Farm Bureau in Gainesville.

Some 50 enthusiastic participants learned such skills as crocheting, knitting, crocheting, rock art and foil art, creative flower making and many other crafts.

This activity was planned as part of the H. D. clubs' educational experiences in color and design, their current area of emphasis.

Mrs. Bernice Thurman, county home demonstration agent, remarked that one of the main goals was to learn to be selective in choosing crafts that one would be proud to display as a gift from its creator rather than one that would be temporarily on exhibit during the artists visit.

Steve Moster Completes 25 Years With City

Steve Moster today is completing 25 years of service to the City of Muenster.

It was on March 4, 1946, a short time after he returned home from service with Army in World War 2, that he took the job of doing all of the city's manual work.

The City Council then intitled J. M. Weinzapfel as mayor and J. A. Fisher, Andy Hofbauer, R. L. McNeley, Henry Stelzer and I. A. Schoech as council. I. A. Schoech was also serving as a general manager.

After several months of coaching by Schoech, Moster took over all of the city's maintenance work. Except in emergencies he was able to handle the job by himself. Otherwise he hired people to help. The city's population then was only about 600 and there was considerably less work than now.

Gradually the city grew and work increased requiring more employees, and duty assignments were changed. For several years Joe Moster has been Water and Sewer Superintendent. Steve Moster, as City Superintendent, is in charge of other outside duties and works with City Secretary Theresa Becker in doing inside work at the city-hall. In addition Moster serves as judge of the city's municipal court.

Elm-Red District Land Judging Is Set for March 29

The Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Directors made plans at their February 9 meeting to hold their 15th Annual Land Judging Contest in Gainesville, Monday, March 29. The contest will be held in Cooke County Junior College and will be open to all the twenty-two Future Farmers of America Chapters in the District plus the three County Agricultural Extension 4-H programs in the District.

Chairman, J. H. Bayer of Muenster, stated, "We have been having a good contest but it could be much larger. I would like to see teams from all the FFA Chapters in our District plus the three County 4-H programs. Last year approximately 65 boys participated in the contest from all over the three county District. There were many conflicting events which reduced our entries. We would like to have well over 100 contestants this year."

The contest will be run by experienced Soil Conservation Service technicians who are assisting the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District. The contest will follow the rules and regulations used in the State and National Land Judging Contests.

Teams will start registering at 1:00 p.m. on Monday, March 29 and the contest will start at 2:00 p.m. The Soil and Water Conservation District will serve an evening meal to the contestants and their coaches, and awards will be presented the winning teams and high scoring individuals in the contest. All first year agriculture students will be in the Junior level and the more advanced students will make up the Senior division.

Bayer remarked, "Skills learned in this contest go with a boy or girl all through life. He has a better understanding of the land, how to classify and judge it and how to conserve and take care of the soil. Boys and girls receiving this training in land judging can appreciate our soil and its problems and be better prepared in future life to help improve and conserve it."

Tiger Trackmen Have Five Meets Booked for Season

Facing an ambitious schedule of at least five meets, Tom Joy's Tiger trackmen of Sacred Heart High are working daily to sharpen up in their individual events. They have been on the specialty work since Monday of last week, after putting in a week on conditioning road work.

The season starts with a bang this weekend as the Tigers participate in the annual Red River Relays of Saint Jo. Class B schools from far and wide are expected there.

And there's more action on schedule the next three weekends: March 13 at Graham, March 20 at Nocona and March 27 at Coppell. After two open weekends they will host the TISC meet at Saint Jo.

Twenty-one boys are on the Tiger roster, headed by Ronnie Hess and Allen Trubenbach, winners of the mile and the shot put at last year's TISC meet. Others from last year's team are Bill Bartush, Tom Felderhoff, Tim Bindel, Fred Fuhrmann, Mark Schmitt, Myron Hess, Kevin Swirczynski and Cletus Bayler.

Leading the field of ten rookies is David Krahl who accounted for most of the points as Sacred Heart won the TISC junior meet last year.

Others are John Bartush, Kenny Hess, Kevin Pels, Karl Hess, Melvin Luke, Wayne Grewing, Gary Endres, Dickie Moster and Danny Voth.

Funds spent by the U. S. Department of Agriculture are often used for non-farm programs such as free lunches at schools in urban areas.

Peanut is Worth
Over $50 Million
A Year to Texas

If there was a squeal in peanuts, scientists would find a marketable use for it. They've found a use for just about everything else in peanuts. Everyone knows about peanut butter and peanut oil, but there are a lot of other things coming from the peanut, like:

There's a cereal becoming popular with children; salted, in-the-shell peanuts are popular, especially at ball games; there are de-fatted peanuts for the weight watchers; peanuts promise a major contribution in the manufacture of meat substitutes; and now, developments are being made to spin the protein out of peanuts into cloth.

And that's not all. Peanut products are used in cosmetics; and ground peanut hulls are so popular as roughage in livestock feeds, that the demand exceeds the supply.

Furthermore, the peanut has a "week" of its own. March 3-13 has been designated as National Peanut Week.

Commissioner John C. White has announced that the Texas Department of Agriculture, in conjunction with the Texas Peanut Producers Board, will give the peanut its biggest promotion as a quality Texas Agricultural Product (TAP) later this year.

The peanut might have been thought of once as the "lowly peanut", but not now. Wayne

Eaves, executive secretary of the Texas Peanut Producers Board, said: "Peanuts are a millionaire crop, meaning about $50,000,000 a year to the economy of Texas."

Texas is the nation's second largest peanut producing state, and peanuts rank sixth in major cash crops for the state. Texas has 117 counties that produced 317,000 tons of Spanish-type peanuts on 357,000 acres in 1970, with a value of more than $50 million. Comanche County is Number One in the State in growing peanuts with 61,000 acres, followed by Eastland County with 40,000, Atascosa County with 22,000, and Erath and Frio Counties with 18,000 each.

Peanut butter is an all-Texas favorite. A physician seeking an easily digested, high-protein food for some of his patients apparently "invented" peanut butter in 1890. The lucky patients' friends liked the new health food, and its popularity grew.

The great scientist, George Washington Carver, more than a half century ago began experimenting with peanuts and gave impetus to the development of peanut butter, the use of peanut oil in paints and other uses.

Nutritionally, peanuts rank near the top in six categories of foods. It has over 26 per cent protein, a percentage higher than eggs, dairy products and many cuts of meats and fish.

No doubt about it, peanuts are the "fun food" and a mighty important one.

A fisherman who was caught with 15 more black bass than the law allowed was taken to court and fined.

"Do you have anything to say?" asked the judge.

"Yes, your Honor," smiled the fisherman. "I'd like six copies of the court record to show my friends."

State FB Builds New $3.1 Million Building at Waco

Several Farm Bureau programs and activities, including plans for constructing a brand new state headquarters building, were discussed in a District IV conference of county Farm Bureau presidents February 22 in Dallas.

E. V. Fox, president of the Cooke County Farm Bureau, represented the local county organization. Mrs. E. V. Fox also attended.

Construction on the four-story, contemporary design building of approximately 100,000 square feet, is expected to start in the near future, County President Fox reports. The new headquarters for the TFB will be located on a beautiful suburban site overlooking Lake Waco in northwest Waco.

"Front burner" matters discussed at the meeting included: state and national legislative issues, program expansion activities, coordination of county and state Farm Bureau programs, responsibilities of county and state Farm Bureau leaders, and a financial report from the TFB.

Farm Bureau members in Texas have been contributing toward the cost of a new building, through their membership dues, for the past 19 years. The membership at that time foresaw the need for a future home for the State Farm Bureau.

Total cost of constructing the new edifice, including 59 acres of land on which the building will be located, is $3.1 million.

When the Texas Farm Bureau moved its headquarters to Waco from Brownwood in 1938, it moved into a rent-free, two-room office over the Waco Chamber of Commerce. The Farm Bureau had a membership of only a few thousand farmers and ranchers at that time.

As the TFB grew, it changed locations in Waco three times, moving to its present location the Citizens National Motor Ramp building in June, 1958. The organization has outgrown its present office quarters.

The state's largest general farm organization has 121,158 member families in 204 organized county Farm Bureaus.

Winners Named Soil Conservation Essay Contest

J. H. Bayer, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District has announced winners in the 11th Annual Essay-Writing Contest.

Bayer stated, "The Soil and Water Conservation District Board received 246 entries in the contest from 10 school all over the three county district and competition was keen among the best entries. This is great participation by the school and we are thankful to all who took part in the contest."

First place winner is Robert Winter, Prairie Valley High School student. Patsy Arendt, Lindsay High School student took second place honors and Carolyn Ann Kemplin from Sanger High School is third place winner.

The Soil and Water Conservation District Board will present awards to the winners within the next few days. Awards are $15.00 for first, $10.00 for second, and $5.00 for third place. Judges for the contest were Lee Putnam, soil scientist with the Soil Conservation Service, Bill King, sports editor of the Gainesville Daily Register, and T. H. Dick, superintendent of Era High School.

Bayer expressed his appreciation to all the vocational agriculture instructors, English teachers, other high school teachers, school superintendents, county agents, and others who encouraged and assisted these high school students in the preparation of these essays. A special thanks goes to all who prepared essays for this contest. Each student who entered the contest and prepared an essay has benefited whether he or she was a winner or not. The knowledge and use of soil and water conservation is something everyone needs to know and use in daily living. The 1971 essay subject was, "Our Natural Environment - Preserve and Protect It."

Have you filed your 1970 income tax return?

Have you figured out your 1970 income tax return?

Have you ever read your instructions? You have six weeks left to file, but more than a week ago you used up more than half the time given you under the law to file your tax return. Yes, the new law and the new forms make it a tough job this year, but April 15, is closer than you think.

Green Plants Are The Guardians Of Our Atmosphere

Green plants play a vital role in our survival and well-being.

They, explains Everett Janne, Extension landscape horticulturist, are the great air purifiers of the world. They have the ability to take carbon dioxide from the air and convert it to oxygen which is vital to all animal life. In the process of photosynthesis, plants manufacture the basic carbohydrate materials which we ultimately use as food.

In a season of active growth, Janne notes that the grass in a well-maintained 50 by 50 foot lawn will liberate enough oxygen to meet the needs of a family of four day after day.

He says estimations made by Dr. Karl Boer, University of Delaware scientist, show that each of us requires at least 78 large trees each day to utilize the carbon dioxide given off in the various processes needed to maintain our well-being.

Here is the way he sees it. One tree is needed to take up the carbon dioxide from our breathing; 20 for our automobile; 20 for heating and air conditioning our home; 5 for household electricity; 2 for garbage disposal and 30 trees to utilize the carbon dioxide produced in the manufacture of the industrial goods each of us uses.

These estimations, points out Janne, do not consider the effects of public transportation, forest fires, and other contributors to the CO-2 in the atmosphere. For example, a commercial jet aircraft flying from New York to Los Angeles creates enough CO-2 to require the combined efforts of more than 50,000 trees for one day to utilize it all.

Greater use of plants in home gardens, in home and public landscaping, and in community beautification is suggested by the horticulturist, as a positive contribution for reduced air pollution.

In addition to acting as air purifiers and food manufacturing complexes, trees also improve the environment, says Janne. They cool the air and provide welcome shade. The foliage serves as a filtering system screening out dust from the atmosphere. They can serve as windbreaks, reducing the wind velocity; thereby, reducing heat loss from homes and farm yards. Trees and shrubs also serve as excellent sound barriers against traffic and industrial noises, advises Janne.

For their aesthetic value alone in helping beautify our surroundings, trees, shrubs and ground cover plants are worth the time, effort and expense required to plant and maintain them, contends the horticulturist. Add this to all of the other benefits derived from green growing plants, he adds, and it is easy to see why it is important that we keep America green.

And reminds Janne, the optimum time for tree planting is now at hand.

Snake Hunt - - -

In that case the favorite way to bring them out is by squirting gasoline into holes that look like snake dens. That was the method used by local hunters. Doubtless many of those locations were duds. Probably some were abandoned too soon after gassing. Fisher said that snakes are slow about coming out after gassing.

In other respects, the hunt and related activity was more successful. There were 37 contestants including 2 from Dallas, 3 from Denton, 4 from Gainesville and 1 from Wichita Falls and 27 from Muenster. And about 350 visitors came to see the exhibits and the snake shows conducted by Dean Scott and "Big Indian."

They demonstrated how to handle snakes and how to

"milk" out their venom. Their talks told a number of facts about the nature and habits of rattlers. For instance that the young are born alive, about 15 to 25 in a litter. The potency of venom increases with age.

On that basis it is assumed that young snakes, living on worms, beetles, etc., have little occasion to use venom and it gets stronger. But big snakes use their venom to kill mice, rats, etc., for food. They frequently replace their venom with new venom, which has less age. So, a small snake's bite is probably worse than a big one's.

If a person is bitten he should go immediately to a hospital and on the way keep as calm as possible and exert as little energy as possible.

It helps also to keep the injured area cold. Use an ice pack if possible. On a picnic pack the hand or foot in the ice chest used for pop or beer and keep it there while driving to the hospital. Treatment with a snakebite kit to flush out venom with blood is also helpful. Snakebite can be fatal, but the risk is small if it is given prompt and good treatment.

Sample servings of rattlesnake steak were more popular than expected. Fisher said that ten snakes were slaughtered and about 150 pieces of "steak" were cut from them. The Jaycees sold out completely in both steaks and snakeskins. The flesh was prepared with batter and cornmeal, like fish, and fried like fish, and the product was generally described as tasting like fish or frog legs, but tougher.

Confetti - - -

best way he can. He's not going back on his promise just because he gets our troops involved in an occasional skirmish.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen is making a good start as Texas junior senator. As Congress reconvened he introduced a bill calling for tough mandatory sentences for persons convicted of crimes involving firearms.

A similar bill was introduced in the last two House sessions by Congressman Casey of Illinois. And now Bentsen is making good his campaign promise to support the Casey Bill.

Bentsen's bill provides for a mandatory sentence of ten years for the first conviction of robbery, assault, rape, burglary, kidnapping or homicide other than involuntary manslaughter if a firearm is involved in committing the crime. For second and subsequent offenses involving firearms the sentence is not less than 25 years. Additional teeth are put into the bill by a provision that extends jurisdiction of the federal law to state courts, where most such offenses are tried.

The bill makes a lot more sense than the firearms registration and confiscation schemes cooked up by some of the Eastern liberals, who apparently thought that Uncle Sam should know the ownership of all guns in the country, and be able to confiscate all of them on short notice. The idea, besides violating the basic American right to own guns, ignored the obvious fact that registration creates a record of the wrong guns. Good guys cooperate with the law, so their guns would be listed. Bad guys don't cooperate, so the government would get no information about the guns which need watching.

The Bentsen proposal is simple enough to be effective. If a person is found guilty of any of the crimes listed and is known to have had a gun with him he's stuck, period. His punishment is set by law. The inflexibility seems like a way to convince would-be criminals that the odds are finally stacked in favor of the law.
