EYEWITNESS REPORTS ON KENT STATE

The death of four students in riots at Kent State University in Ohio continues to be used as a rallying "cause" by the Communists and their variegated combination of followers on and off campuses throughout the nation. Communists provoked the trouble at Kent State, and they made it the "cause" for a nationwide "student strike" against the war in Vietnam. Now that they have drawn into their "cause" many thousands of non-Communist, loyal but mis-informed American youth and a variety of "liberals" in Congress, in universities, and elsewhere, it is important that a balanced story be given to the public on what happened at Kent State, and why.

Congressman Samuel L. Devine, of Ohio, said on the House floor: "Some of the news telecasters and so-called 'anchors' were so carried away with emotionalism, they were just unable to tell but one side of the story. In order that a balanced story of the Kent State University affair be made available, I am submitting the WMNI-TV commentary, broadcast in Columbus, on May 11, 1970."

"Pious Peaceniks" Blamed "Somebody has their thinking all mixed up (said the WMNI commentator). Ever since that tragedy . . . law enforcement agencies have been taking it on the 'chin.' This time, it's the National Guard troop who were trying to keep Kent State open for the responsible students of that university. We submit, those 30 troops who were forced to fire into a mob of about three or four thousand screaming, rock-tossing students are guilty of nothing more than trying to preserve law and order and their own lives. If there is any blame, it must rest with the 'pious peaceniks' who ignored repeated warnings and persisted in roaming the campus disrupting the whole college routine and endangering the lives of all 19-thousand K-S-U students. . . . They are the ones who know how to whip a disinterested crowd into a raging mob. They are the ones who are teaching open revolution right in our college classrooms. They are the ones who should be held accountable for the deaths, injuries and the millions of dollars damage to taxpayer property."

Tribute for Agitators!

Instead, they are being made into heroes. One of the most vicious inciters of violence, Jerry Rubin, who went to Kent State and harangued Kent's hard-core revolutionaries to a frenzy shortly before the fatal series of riots, had an honor position at the massive Communist called demonstration at the rear of the White House on May 9 (100,000 youth attended); and prominent "liberal" Senators and Congressmen, popular Hollywood "stars," and dedicated Black Panther Marxist-Leninist revolutionary leaders paid tribute to him. What, indeed, is in store for a nation that tolerates such conduct and makes heroes of traitors!

A Kent State student, Dennis Durand, from Rochester, N.Y., was interviewed on WROC-TV, Rochester, 48 hours after the incident. He witnessed the whole affair. "The National Guard (the hemmed in group of 30) was surrounded," he said. "They had no escape. There were (Continued on page 8)

City Sets July 6 For Hearing on Paving Project

A public hearing on the city's proposed paving project has been scheduled for the council's next meeting on Monday July 6, 8 p.m. in the city hall.

Official notice of the hearing indicates that it concerns Ninth Street from Maple to Cedar and Cedar Street from Ninth to FM-373 north of town. Jaycees Ask for Sigs Endorsing Nixon's Policies

Muenster Jaycees, in cooperation with the recommendation made at the Jaycee state convention in May are circulating a resolution supporting the President's effort to bring about an honorable and lasting peace in Southeast Asia and opposing the violent protests and riots which hamper the nation's peace efforts.

The local organization invites people of Muenster to get behind them in this project. They have made several copies of the resolution and placed them in the four local food stores, the Ben Franklin Store, and the VFW Post Home for signatures. The resolution with signatures will be sent to the State Jaycees for forwarding to the president.

To avoid the delay of a complete reading at time of signing, the resolution is quoted here. People are urged to read it, and if they approve to sign a copy in one of the places specified.

To the President of the United States:

WHEREAS, the Texas Jaycees believe that it is the sworn and elected duty of the President of the United States of America to preserve, protect and defend this country and our allies against communist aggression; and

WHEREAS, some young men and women are engaging in acts of violence to demonstrate their dissatisfaction with the war in Southeast Asia; and

WHEREAS, the Texas Jaycees believe that lawful dissent and demonstration by any segment of our society should be protected as one of our inalienable rights, but that criminal acts should be dealt with as such; and

WHEREAS, the Texas Jaycees believe in the American tradition of open debate and freedom of discussion in a non-violent atmosphere;

Now, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the delegates duly assembled in Fort Worth, Texas at the 43rd annual State Convention of the Texas Jaycees on May 16, 1970, that the Texas Jaycees go on record as commending and encouraging the President, Congress of the United States, and all citizens of our country to work together to bring about an honorable and lasting peace in Southeast Asia, opposing violent protests and the inciting of riots, and reaffirming our belief that Government should continue to be of laws rather than of men.

Capt. John Fette Pilots in 'Copter Rescue Squadron

WITH U. S. COMBAT AIR FORCES, Vietnam — A recent training flight from Da Nang AB, Vietnam, became a vital rescue mission for members of two HH-3 Jolly Green Giant helicopter crews including U. S. Air Force Captain John H. Fette, son of Mrs. Kate Wilson of Muenster.

The three-hour flight had just begun. Captain Fette, an HH-3 pilot on one of the two helicopters, was nine miles northeast of Da Nang, on the north side of Monkey Mountain, when a call came from rescue control.

The crews were notified that a battle-damaged F-4 Phantom, south of their position, was flying out over the South China Sea where its crew would eject.

The helicopters were immediately turned south. Rounding the mountain, Captain Fette and fellow crewmen saw two parachutes floating down over the sea. The Jolly Green Giants were hovering above the pilots before they hit the water.

A pararescue specialist was lowered from each helicopter to assist the two Phantom crewmen who were located 100 yards apart. They were safely inside the helicopters within five minutes.

Captain Fette serves at Da Nang with the 37th Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron, a unit that has been operational in Vietnam since 1965 and which is credited with more than 571 lives saved.

He is a graduate of Muenster High School, received a BS degree from the University of Oklahoma in 1965, was commissioned the following year upon completion of Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Texas.

Swim Classes At Muenster Pool Will Start July 5

Preparations are under way now for the annual swimming classes at the Muenster pool for two weeks beginning July 5.

Dan Hamric, local pool manager, said it will be the standard Red Cross program under official Red Cross supervision and students who finish it will receive the usual Red Cross buttons or patches. The person in charge will be named by the county Red Cross chapter.

Courses to be taught are beginners, advanced beginners, intermediates, swimmers, junior life saving and senior life saving. Adults as well as youngsters are welcome to enroll.

The two life saving classes, beginning at 8 o'clock, will lead off each day's schedule after that others will have their classes, the periods arranged so that each child will have five 1-hour classes during the two weeks.

The first day of the course will be spent in signing up; testing and assigning to classes. Any child past the first year of school or pre school is welcome and may report any time from 8 to 11. The child must come in a swim suit so that he or she can be tested and assigned to the proper class.

A Red Cross Water Safety Instructor will be in charge of instruction and the teachers will be qualified junior or senior life savers. Persons who want to teach are asked to sign up next week so that the supervisors can be sure of an adequate staff.

Boys or girls who teach will receive free passes to the pool — one pass for each day of teaching plus a bonus of five for all ten classes.

Pancake Breakfast

The Letterman's Club of Sacred Heart High will sponsor a pancake breakfast Sunday in the Sacred Heart lunch room following the 7:30 and 9 o'clock masses. Price per serving will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Hospital Accreditation Renewed by Commission

Muenster Memorial Hospital has just had its accreditation renewed by the Joint Commission on accreditation of Hospitals.

David Bright, administrator, said Wednesday that he received the favorable report along with a number of favorable comments on the excellence of facilities and services.

One paragraph said that "the governing board and the medical staff are commended for the excellent facility that has been provided for this community and the high grade of medical service that is being rendered to the patients at this hospital."

The renewal is based on a consultation and survey by Dr. George W. Bascom from May 8 to 12. First accreditation was received in March 1967 and applied for three years. Since then more rigid standards were adopted and the applicable period reduced to two years. Also a special self survey by the hospital is required

Lindsay Is Ready For Homecoming

Lindsay community and St. Peter Parish are extending a general invitation to their 12th annual homecoming celebration Sunday, June 28.

The event, traditionally the "big party" of the year at Lindsay will begin at noon in the school cafeteria where dinner will be served.

Other attractions will be at Lindsay Park and will include games, eats, drinks, a horse-shoe tournament, rides for the children, and an auction sale along with an opportunity for reuniting with family and friends.

Lynn Joe Klement and David Fette were at College Station Sunday, Monday and Tuesday enrolling for the Fall term at A & M University. John Felderhoff and Glenn Rohmer enrolled the preceding week.

Post Office Cuts Weekend Service Starting Saturday

People who go to the Post Office Sunday — and following Sundays — for their customary pick-up of Sunday mail will find the boxes empty. The current economy drive in the postal department has reached Muenster.

Furthermore, counter service on Saturday is cut down to one hour, from 11 a.m. to noon. That's for stamp sales and parcel delivery.

The purpose is to reduce expenses. Endres said the saving is small in each of the thousands of post offices affected, but the over-all saving runs into many millions.

He explained further, that curtailment here is mostly a matter of getting in line with other post offices. They have not been delivering mail on Sundays. And now Muenster people too will have to get along without their Sunday papers, unless they arrange to get copies elsewhere.

The official notice reads as follows:

"Effective Saturday, June 27, the service counter will be open from 11:00 AM until 12:00 noon only. Stamps will be sold and parcels delivered during this time. Mail of all classes will be distributed for box delivery on Saturdays and the rural carriers will provide service on their routes at the usual time on Saturdays.

"Box delivery service on Sundays will no longer be furnished. For many years the customers of this post office have enjoyed Sunday mail service to the envy of many patrons of our neighboring towns who have not been so fortunate. However the demand for Sunday box delivery service has all but ceased and therefore this service will be dropped.

"Pick up service will still be provided at the out-of-town collection box on Saturdays and Sundays at the regularly scheduled times."

Bro. Thomas Moster On Flying Tour of Europe's Shrines

Brother Thomas Moster left Muenster Monday and flew from Dallas to New York City where he joined a tour on a pilgrimage to shrines of Europe, visiting Lisbon, Fatima, Madrid, Toledo, Munich, Oberammergau for the Passion Play, Lourdes and Paris.

There are 41 in the group, nine nuns, two priests, and 29 others in addition to Brother Thomas. He is especially interested in the Passion Play and will spend four additional days at Oberammergau while the tour goes to Rome. He has been there on previous foreign trips.

Last year he spent several days in the Bavarian village gathering information on the 1970 production which he will see this year. He is writing his thesis on this play which takes place every ten years. He will rejoin the tour when it stops at Oberammergau.

Last week, Brother Thomas, accompanied by James Moster, went to Eureka Springs, Ark., to see the Passion Play there in the Arkansas Ozarks. They attended one night and the following night had the unique experience of being members of the cast of hundreds appearing in the roles of apostles.

The foreign tour which began June 22 will end July 13.

Friday Deadline Set for Entering Swimming Meet

A long list of contestants is expected for the community's first swimming meet, which will be held in the local pool Saturday night starting at 6:30 o'clock.

Pool Manager Dan Hamric said that there will be six age groups each of boys and girls for a total of twelve classifications, and good sized groups are expected in all. There will be 34 events.

The tiny tots, aged 6 and under, will have one event each for the boys and girls. That is a 50 foot free style race.

The rest of the meet, also in separate divisions for boys and girls, will have three events for each age group. Those will be 1 lap free style, 1 lap breast stroke and 2 laps free style. In addition there will be a grand finale for all groups over 6. It is a 10 lap free style race.

The age groups are listed as follows: 6 and under, 7 and 8, 9 and 10, 11 and 12, 13 and 14, 15 and over.

Anyone wishing to enter is expected to sign up at the swim pool Friday or before. Entrance fee will be 25 cents. Awards for winning will be first, second and third place ribbons.

Muenster Jaycees will help Hamric supervise the meet.

Phone Company Starts Expansion And Hikes Rates

Muenster Telephone Corporation announced this week that it has started its improvement program and it will up its charge on the next billing.

Alvin Fuhrmann, co-owner and manager, said that the improvements will be made in both the outside and the inside plants to establish extended direct distance dialing and make 1-party service available to all.

First phase is the surveying begun this week. Engineers are measuring staking and drawing for the dual purpose of bringing present maps up to date and planning for the routing and installation of additional cable.

The new map will include additions of new homes for the past several years and indicate where additional cable is most likely to be needed. For rural lines it will indicate the number of additional lines needed and the routing to make 1 party service available to everybody.

When the plan is ready a contract will be awarded to the low bidder for the line installations. While that construction is under way the corporation will enlarge its building for truck space and storage and a conference room, along with inside equipment additions for distance dialing and the increased number of phone lines.

Regarding the rate hike, Fuhrman said it is the increase authorized by the city council, partly because of the expansion program and partly because of inflation. The increase applies to Muenster and Forestburg phones. Myra is not included because its new rate was set when toll-free dialing to Gainesville was introduced.

On all Muenster phones and most at Forestburg the increase is $1.00 a month. New monthly rates effective at both exchanges will be as follows: 4-party residence $5.00, 2-party residence $5.50, 1-party residence $6.00, 2-party business $10.00, 1-party business $11.50.

When improvements are finished, about a year from now, there will be an exchange at Rosston, making four in the local system, 1 party service will be available to everyone and the rate will be $6.90 for a home and $12.50 for a business. Also the convenience of Expanded Direct Distance Dialing will be available in all four exchanges.

City Secretary

Theresa Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Becker, has been appointed the new city secretary of Muenster. She is the second person selected for the job. Mrs. Dick Pitt-furth, who was named previously, decided since to remain at Fisher's Market. Theresa is a member of this year's graduating class at Sacred Heart High.

78 Units Collected In Bloodmobile Visit

The community's response was fine, topping 150 per cent of its quota, at Wednesday's visit of the Bloodmobile in Muenster.

Facing a quota of 50 units, the VFW Post and K of C Council, local sponsors, were trying for 70 and received 78. Besides, a number of others were willing to give but were not accepted. Five were turned down in the physical exam after they had signed up and more than a dozen were turned away at the registration desk because of late-ness.

Friends from neighboring communities helped reach the gratifying number. They are people living outside the hospital district participating to help provide for themselves or family members as patients at Muenster hospital.

In the local blood bank program, every patient in the hospital is eligible for its benefits. Besides that every

A Plaque for The Enterprise

At a Delta Kappa Gamma Society state meeting last week the Enterprise shared the honors with Miss Layuna Hicks of Gainesville for her twenty years as editor of the Lone Star News, publication of the teachers' sorority. The paper was printed in the Enterprise plant those twenty years.

The DKG named a $10,000 scholarship in honor of Miss Hicks and presented her with a handsome gold footed cut-glass bowl in appreciation of her service. It also gave her a copper plaque for delivery to the Enterprise "in appreciation of twenty years of service to Delta Kappa Gamma."

resident of the hospital district who receives a transfusion in some other hospital can have the blood replaced out of the Muenster blood bank account.

As a result of this arrangement no patient of the hospital or resident of the district needs to pay for blood. The only charge is for services by the blood center and by the hospital. Services of the center include the bloodmobile collection, cost of containers, typing, refrigerating, storing, delivery, emergency delivery and administration. Service at the hospital includes cross matching and infusion.

The procedure of collecting begins with registration and inquiry into physical history to determine if the blood is acceptable, then a check of temperature, pulse, etc. to determine if present physical condition is OK.

The blood is collected in a plastic bag which is identified by date and number. Attached are two tubes with corresponding numbers, one for typing and testing at the center the other for cross match testing by the hospital. The bag remains the blood's container until it is used.

Blood from this collection becomes available immediately to the 45 member communities of the Red River Red Cross Blood Center of Wichita Falls. Bloodmobile visits to all those communities are scheduled so that fresh blood is always available to the entire system.

Bloodmobile personnel here Wednesday included George Clevinger, Joyce Mercer, Jean Einhaus, Ann Reeves and Wannie Stevens. They were assisted by Jean Blankenship of Saint Jo and the following Hospital Auxiliary members: Betty Kralicke, Pauline Stelzer, Elaine Stephens, Kaye Pagel, Debbie Endres, Bertha Hamric, Faye Hamric, Donna Graham, Juanita Bright, Dorothy Endres, Joan Monday and Gertie Fisher.

Lindsay Church Landmark Service Planned Sunday

Formal ceremonies Sunday will dedicate St. Peter's Church of Lindsay as a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark and will mark the structure with a Texas Historic Building Medallion and descriptive plaque.

The event is scheduled after the 11 o'clock mass in front of the church.

The program will be headlined by an address entitled "A Heritage to Cherish" by Architect Miss Mary McCain, vice president of the Cooke County Heritage Society. Presentation of the certificate and unveiling of the medallion will be by Horce Lesley, county chairman of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, and a response will be given by Father John Walbe of Fort Worth, former Lindsay pastor. The Most Rev. Augustine Danglmayr, D.D., L.L.D., titular Bishop of Olba, will bless the medallion.

Gene Pelzel, warden of St. Peter's church, will be master of ceremonies, The Rev. L. Russell Clapp of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Gainesville, will open the program with invocation and Father Damian Wevers, pastor of St. Peter's church will respond.

The Lindsay church was recently designated as a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark and rated as one of the most unusual ecclesiastical buildings of Texas. Its size and architectural quality are seldom found in a town of Lindsay's size.

The church is the third to serve the parish of Lindsay. It was built in 1918 to replace a church which was destroyed by a tornado the year before. That church had been built in 1903. The community's first church was a small building completed in 1892, a year after the community was founded.

The ceremony will end with congregational singing of "Grosser Gott, wir loben Dich", the German version of "Holy God, we praise Thy name."

WHAT THE POLARIZERS WANT

Polarization of United States society began many years before Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew became a liberal synonym for Satan.

The prime objective of the polarizers was what is now readily identifiable as the soft underbelly of U. S. society — higher education. Their prime purpose was to indoctrinate coming generations and divide the young ideologically from the majority of Americans.

The task force that carried out the mission was found among the left liberal members of the nation's university and college faculties.

Today more than 7 million students are being taught by more than 500,000 professors and instructors, compared with half these numbers 20 years ago.

The purpose of the polarizers is to plant in millions of minds the idea that contemporary American life is fundamentally evil.

The "cure" they offer is socialism, to be accomplished by revolution or a massive restructuring of existing institutions through redistribution of wealth, state ownership of the means of production, guaranteed incomes for nonworkers and the creation of a totalist state — one that controls every phase of human activity.

Also included in the "cure" are wholesale U. S. disarmament, the cessation of military action against Communist armed forces on the attack and the establishment of friendly relations with Communist countries based on trust of their government.

This is what the polarizers want. They are all too close to getting it.

Higher education in America is in urgent need of a thorough house-cleaning. The American people have a right to demand that the job be done. It should be done by the custodians of higher education. It should be started at once.

TEXAS A & M UNIVERSITY SETS AN EXAMPLE

Texas A & M (a college of 13,000 students, only 1,400 of them coeds) supplied more officers in World War II than West Point. Student president Gerald Geistweidt told a Parents' Day audience recently: "Texas A & M and its student body is and will continue to be a staunch bastion of sanity, maturity and pride. While other student bodies are clamoring for so-called peace through riots, strikes, and protests, we at Texas A & M are keeping the peace." There have been no student protests.

The school's late president, Major General J. Earl Rudder, who led the landing across Normandy beaches on D-Day, warned six months before he died in March that demonstrators should stay away from the school.

Former Air Force General A. R. Lueddecke, who has replaced President Rudder, says there is a token amount of long hair on campus. But, he adds: "These students don't have to wear beards or riot to gain attention. The overwhelming majority rejects revolutionary elements. Our students are dedicated to learning about the world before they go out and change it."

Make It a Safe Fourth

By Major Guy Smith,
 Commander, Region 1
 Department of Public Safety

During the 4th of July holiday period the personnel of the Department of Public Safety will make every effort to protect the motoring public from death at the hands of drivers violating traffic laws. To accomplish this end, violators will be apprehended to the utmost ability of all law enforcement officers.

We are pledged to do all we can to assure our people the right to celebrate the anniversary of our freedom without being killed by drivers violating the law. In past years the slaughter on our highways during this period of time has been a national disgrace. It has been a farce of the right of American people to live in peace and security.

Today many of our citizens cry out about the injustices in our society. Much has been said about the atrocity of the Vietnam war. Demonstrations have occurred throughout the country protesting the war. Publicity from every source, in astronomical proportions, has been devoted to the number of young American men dying in Vietnam.

We can't help but wonder why the people of this great country fail to get upset about those who are killed and maimed on our highways every day. Just what would happen if the news media gave as much publicity to the tragedy on our highways? It is hard for us to understand the people in this country who demonstrate, burn, throw rocks, bottles and even bomb buildings, all in the name of protest of the Vietnam war.

Yet these same people and many others accept the death of 56,500 Americans on our highways every year without one small demonstration. The fact that fifty percent of these fatal (so called) accidents are directly related to drinking drivers, that 28,000 Americans die because of a few who think that they are immune to the effects of alcohol and the law, is accepted as though it were a law of nature.

The right or wrong of the Vietnam war is not the point we are trying to make. But rather the terrible tragedy that is occurring on our highways is a matter every American needs to become aware of. Every person needs to realize that it can happen to him, and only the people can do something about this terrible tragedy. Until the people of this country decide that now is the time to stop this highway slaughter, we fear the number killed and injured will continue to grow. "This is a real injustice."

WORKING FOR THE GOVERNMENT

Some expert has calculated that if you're an "average" income worker, then up until the middle of April you spent all of your time working for the government—in the form of local, state, and federal taxes. Or another way of putting it is: if so far this year you have been spending all of your income on yourself, you can keep right on up to about mid-September; but starting then and continuing through October, November and December you will have to turn all of your income over to Big Brother.

A CHANGE OF HEART

Senator Margaret Chase of a stir in Washington when Smith of Maine caused a bit she took to the Senate floor to blast the violence of the extreme left, and accused television news networks of "providing a platform for irresponsible sensationalism." Senator Smith made a similar speech twenty years ago, but at that time she attacked only what she called "the radical right."

In her latest speech, the Senator from Maine said that her remarks of twenty years ago "still apply today. But," she continued, "I would add that equally I don't like the way the campus has been made a rendezvous for obscenity, for violence, for arson and for killing."

We are happy to see the change in the lady's stance, but may we suggest—ever so gently—that she is very late in her criticism of the extreme left? Over the years, she has held that those who teach and those who advocate violence are simply people who "hold unpopular beliefs." Anyone who suggested that Marxist-Leninists who advocate violence should not be teaching students in schools, was held by Senator Smith to be an "anti-intellectual" and a member of the "right wing."

Today she says that she is "not proud of the way in which too many militants resort to the illegalities of trespass, violence, and arson." Where does the Senator think the "militants" picked up the idea that one should resort to trespass, violence, and arson? People act in accord with their beliefs; and their beliefs are instilled in them by words, by teaching, by suggestion. Where was Senator Smith several years ago when Dr. Max Rafferty in California delivered his famous lecture, "The Passing of the Patriot?"

And when the government law enforcement agencies moved to arrest those who violate the law, has she not implied that by so doing our government and the police were guilty of "repression"? If enforcing the law is "repression," and we are not to use "repression," does that not say that those who commit violence are free to do as they please?

Senator Smith's speech in 1950 was credited with launching the crusade which was to result in the Senate censure of the late Senator McCarthy. Let us hope that her speech of 1970 will help to reverse much of the idiocy of the last twenty years which has brought us to where we are today. — U. S. Press Assn.

PRICE OF DEPENDENCY

Mr. Milton Friedman, in a column on the "Tax Follies of 1970," does much to explain why the Tax Reform Act of 1969 was dubbed the Accountants' and Lawyers' Relief Act of 1969. Apparently, after wrestling with his own return, he sat down in a fit of outraged frustration and did a little further calculating for the enlightenment of fellow taxpayers.

Assuming that each taxpayer, or his consultant, spent an average of 4 hours on his return, Mr. Friedman finds that a total of 300 million man-hours, or the equivalent of 150,000 men working 40 hours a week for 50 weeks a year was spent on filing 1969 tax returns. And this does not include time spent keeping track of withholding and other tax matters by business employees, accountants and an army of internal revenue service personnel. The argument is frequently heard that tax returns are complex because the government wants to be fair. On this, Mr. Friedman says, "The claim that the incredible complexities of our income tax promote equity will bring a horselaugh from knowledgeable students of taxes."

Before putting all the blame for our tax headaches on that nonentity called "they" back in Washington, it would be well to realize that taxes would neither be so high nor so complex if the good citizens of the U.S. would stop trying to solve every problem with a federal handout.

DISGRACEFUL AND SCANDALOUS

America's Future, a nonprofit educational organization in New Rochelle, New York, quotes a "highly experienced newspaperman" in New York who must be nameless as saying that the network television news media handling of our Cambodian action has been "disgraceful, even scandalous."

The newsmen, says America's Future, spent several days monitoring the major tv networks. The impression given, he reported, was that "the entire country, including every college campus in the United States, was not only opposed to the President's action but actually horrified by it." The tv reports "played up heavily that about 200 colleges and universities shut down."

But did 200 colleges and universities close down? One of the major newspaper news services, after a national search, came up with a figure of only 80. Why the difference? Was it the idea of someone in the tv news department to try to make things look as bad as possible for the United States?

What has been your impression from tv network news, of campus disorders in the United States? That millions of students on virtually every campus in the land has indulged in a binge of violence?

Then listen to this: a survey made by the Government Accounting Office for the Senate Government Operations Committee, covering a 20 month period of "peak" disorders, shows that out of 2,373 institutions of higher learning in the United States, there was no disorder, violence or lawlessness of 2,162 campuses—more than 90%. Violence and lawlessness, the study showed, occurred at only 211 colleges and universities—less than 10%. Is that the impression conveyed by the big networks? What sort of "balance in the news" can be found when millions of peaceful, law-abiding, education-seeking youth are all but totally ignored?

Did the tv networks suggest to you that most of the campus riots, bombings and burnings have been against Presidential policy (whether Nixon or Johnson)? Wrong again. The GAO survey shows that more than half of the student radical attacks were against school administration policy. The other attacks were against: the Viet War and draft; ROTC; Corporate recruiting on campus, Military Research (by the school); and military recruiting (on campus) in that order.

May we suggest that your newspaper (whatever our shortcomings and human limitations) is your best, most reliable, up-to-date and accurate source of information on current events? We'll stand behind that statement against all comers.

Janet Arendt and Earl Cunningham Marry at Lindsay

St. Peter Church in Lindsay was the scene of the wedding Saturday of Miss Janet Arendt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arendt Jr. of Lindsay, and Earl Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cunningham of Muenster.

Father Damian Wewers, pastor, celebrated the 5 p.m. nuptial Mass and performed the double ring ceremony.

Presented by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white peau de soie, the Empire bodice and long sleeves overlaid with Baronne lace traced in seed pearls. Pearled lace appliques enhanced the front of the A-line skirt and beaded lace medallions ornamented the chapel train that unfolded in a cluster of pleats.

A lace and pearl flower headpiece held her veil and she carried a yellow-throated white orchid, feathered carnations and stephanotis. She also carried a crystal rosary, a gift from her great-aunt Sister Tarsicia Schroeder of St. Louis, Mo. For something old and borrowed she wore the gold wedding band that formerly belonged to her maternal great-grandmother.

Miss Patsy Arendt was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Darlene Wolf, a cousin, was bridesmaid. They wore shocking pink floor length dresses of lace over peau, the Empire bodices accented with a peau band and bow. Their headpieces were matching Dior bows and their flowers were nosegays of light pink carnations.

Bridegroom's attendants were his brother Johnny Cunningham, best man, and Mike Owen, a cousin, groomsmen. Charlie Knabe and Larry Wolf, cousins of the bride, ushered.

Open House Fetes The J. B. Casons on 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cason of Gainesville, formerly of Muenster, who were married June 16, 1920, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Saturday at an open house in their home 907 N. Taylor Street.

The couple's daughter and husband, two sons and their wives and nine grandchildren, along with seven great-grandchildren, attended the observance and were hosts and hostesses serving anniversary cake and punch, and registering guests and gifts. The handsome anniversary cake was an eight-tier creation.

Mrs. Cason is the former Miss Dessie Wells. She married Jess Cason at Mt. Zion when she was 16. At the anniversary celebration she wore a blue crepe dress and white accessories and had an orchid corsage. For the past 20 years Mrs. Cason has been in a wheelchair due to multiple sclerosis. It hasn't dimmed her enthusiasm or affected her spirits. She admits it has slowed her down and doing housework from a wheelchair takes longer. Since his retirement her husband helps with household chores.

The Casons lived in Muenster for 30 years while he was section foreman for the Katy Railroad. Both still hold membership in Muenster Baptist Church and one of their cherished anniversary gifts is a gold plaque of congratulations from the church. Muenster friends were among the 125 guests attending the celebration.

The couple's children are Mrs. Tom Parkinson of Houston, Joe Cason of Collinsville and Sid Cason of Muenster.

Boys Sr. League

Muenster Mill with a 4-0 record has a firm hold on top spot of the senior boys league. Other standings now are Center 2-2, Endres 1-3 and Co-op 1-3.

Wednesday night Co-op got in the win column with a stout 7-1 upset over the Center. Mark Lippe pitched all the way for the Co-op and allowed hits only to Kevin Pels and Gary Endres. Randy Wolf and Gary Endres, pitching for the Center allowed hits to Terry Huchton, Mark Stoffels, Mike Davidson and Frank Mosler, however Center errors helped the score more than Co-op hits.

Next game was an easy 14-3 win for Mill over Endres. Pitchers Ricky Swirczynski and Jim Endres for the Mill gave up hits to Hank Trachta and Gary Endres. Hurlers for Endres were Glenn Grewing and Hank Trachta who were tapped for 2 homers by Jim Endres and 1 homer by Gary Barnhill along with hits by Joe Walterscheid, Ricky Swirczynski and Roger Harrison.

What's right about America?

Today, the surest means of a book becoming a best seller is for the author to highlight and denounce bitterly the faults of this country. The same can be said of television and the movies, which prefer in these modern days to depict the seamy side of life in America.

But there's hope. As I have moved across this state, I have sensed that our people are growing weary of gloom. It's becoming easier to strike up a conversation on what's right about America.

I always suggest that there are a lot more level heads in this country than we are sometimes led to believe. There are a lot more decent, law-abiding citizens than there are criminals and cheats and sharks. There are a lot more young people in the "now" generation who want to improve America than the handful of radicals who want to burn it to ashes and start all over.

I can understand why the "majority" has broken its "silence." There's a growing impatience with agitation and controversy. But I feel we should continue to approach our nation's problems with a cool head and an open mind.

I've listened to the voices of dissent. I think I know what they're asking of their government.

One thing they want is confidence. They want the assurance that their public officials have the courage to meet the issues of the 1970s with imagination and integrity, and not with some form of "old politics" that thrashes around with problems but never quite locates the workable solutions.

It was my desire to answer this urgent need that prompted me in January to seek the office of United States Senator.

NOTES FROM THE LIBRARY

By Bettie Luke
Muenster Public Library has shelved a lot of new books that are on the High School Reading list.

A popular one is "Forever Free" by Jay Adamson and brought world fame for the lioness Elso and her cubs.

"The Mill and the Floss" by George Eliot is set in England and the charm of this great novel of domestic realism lies chiefly in the magic by which the commonplace lives on the Gleggs and Tullivers are transformed into vital appeal.

"The Reivers" a reminiscence by William Faulkner is without reservations whatsoever one of the finest books in our literature.

"Sayonara" by James A. Michener is a Japanese-American love story.

High-Speed Computers Plan Future Cities

The City of the Future will have all forms of transportation underground, all goods and purchases will be sent to the home via high-speed shipping tubes into special receiver cupboards, and green parks will be within walking distance of every urban dwelling.

These are some of the changes envisioned in 21st Century cities by Dr. Constantinos A. Doxiadis of Athens, one of the world's foremost city planners and regional developers.

Currently, using the advantages of high-speed Sperry Rand UNIVAC Computers, Dr. Doxiadis and his International Company of Doxiadis Associates are engaged in redevelopment of some of the most congested cities and regional areas of the world and in planning the orderly development of new centers of population.

Dr. Doxiadis' specialty is EKISTICS—the science of human settlements—derived from an old Greek word to describe the problems of the interrelationship of man with his environment. Ekistics encompasses the analysis and evaluation of human settlements and the influence upon them of economic, social, political, administrative, technical, and artistic and cultural factors.

One of the largest projects underway today by the Doxiadis group is a regional study starting from the urban Detroit Area and extending to embrace the Great Lakes Megalopolis, the urban corridor running from Milwaukee through Chicago, Detroit, Toledo, and Cleveland to Pitt. By the year 2000, Dr. Doxiadis believes this area will be a greater population cluster than the Eastern Megalopolis running from Boston to Washington.

To cope with the enormous mass of figures and other data involved in such planning, the Greek concern has found the electronic computer to be an indispensable ally in the solution of complex problems. Programs developed at the Doxiadis Associates Computer Center in Athens are transmitted for processing to a large scale UNIVAC 1107 Computer at the University of Stuttgart, West Germany.

Replanning of cities and the orderly development of new centers of population are one of the newest and most dramatic applications for computers today.

In a typical city planning project, the computer receives a mass of data concerning the population of the area with considerable detail on its various characteristics. To this is added information on the physical environment and the systems network—transportation facilities, highways, railroads, etc. and essential utility services such as electric power, gas and water supply.

From this information—which represents an inventory of the existing situation—the computer performs initially a "mapping service," providing graphs for the visual interpretation of the data. The data is further subjected to statistical analysis and the underlying characteristics of the existing situation are determined. In planning for the future, use is made of mathematical models providing the future characteristics of the population, predicting its movements, composition and accompanying economic phenomena.

Modeling enables a multiplicity of assumptions to be tried out and the respective solutions to be placed under the scrutiny of a broad range of experts. Planners are thus pioneering a way of penetrating systematically into the darkness of the future through interdisciplinary thinking.

Don't Steal Cars; Computer Is Watching

A New York State Police trooper uses a hand microphone to radio in to troop headquarters the license number of an automobile being followed. With the force's real-time computer system, inquiry checks on license plates can be completed in a total elapsed time of 2½ to 3 minutes.

PHILADELPHIA, PA. — Buck Rogers isn't the only comic strip character whose futuristic equipment has become a reality in the Space Age.

Many police departments in the United States are now starting to rival Dick Tracy in the sophisticated devices they are using to cope with the ever-increasing crime rate.

Probably the most important of these tools is the electronic computer containing in its memory information on stolen cars, stolen license plates, stolen property, missing persons, wanted fugitives and a host of other types of data.

The New York State Police system is perhaps typical of the application of the computer in this type of operation.

A trooper on patrol radios a suspect license number of a car he is checking to the nearest police post. At the station the inquiry message is entered into a teletype terminal and sent directly to a UNIVAC 418-Real Time Computer at the State Police Communications Center in Albany. Within approximately 17-20 seconds the computer searches its memory and reports whether the car is stolen.

If the car is from out-of-state, the message is automatically routed to the computer at the National Crime Information Center at the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington, D.C. This computer contains information on stolen vehicles, stolen property and wanted persons, etc. for 49 of the 50 states.

A teletype reply message is then transmitted to the originating police post and relayed by radio to the trooper informing him if the car is a "wanted" vehicle.

According to Deputy Superintendent for Administration, John J. McGuire of the New York State Police, the primary benefits of the new system are that "you can now alert a trooper to the facts of the situation before committing him to action, and additionally, you can catch the thief as well as locate a stolen car."

Fertility of the soil is the wealth of our Nation.

America was built by men and women seeking independence and security. Our shelter, food and clothing all come from the soil. As the soil is lost so is our security and our freedom.

Soil erosion in the United States is at least as old as the Nation. Washington, Jefferson, and other early leaders recognized the danger. Patrick Henry said: "He is the greatest patriot, who stops the most gullies."

Lawmakers Want Gun Act Amended On .22 Cal. Ammo

Eighty-seven senators and congressmen have banned together to amend the .22 caliber ammunition portion of the 1968 Gun Control Act. The bills introduced by Senator Gale McGee (D-Wyo) and Representative Robert Sikes (D-Fla) would remove the remaining restrictions on the popular sportsman's ammunition.

It is necessary for dealers to keep records and report the sale of .22 cartridges. The restrictions on all other rifle and shotgun ammunition have been repealed by congressional action.

The lawmakers said that criminals ignore the law and that law-abiding citizens resent registration.

The Florida Democrat, in keeping with the NRA's stand of fostering marksmanship among citizens subject to military duty, pointed out that "young lads can be drafted to fight at age 19 in Vietnam but are unable to purchase a box of .22 caliber ammunition for practice at home."

thousands of students . . . throwing rocks. The Guard had run out of gas. They had no equipment to disperse the crowd. Because rocks were falling among their ranks they gathered in together. . . . The students took this as a sign of weakness on the part of the National Guard. They had broken the pig's back! The pigs were running from their stones. They charged. I heard rifle fire. I turned around. They (the Guard) were firing from the off-hand position. The firing lasted about 10 to 15 seconds."

Guard Under Attack

Ted Byers, and his brother, Terry, Kent State students from Shelby, Ohio, said: "By Monday afternoon (the time of the tragedy) there were no longer any 'innocent bystanders' — people who remained on the scene had had plenty of warning (of martial law and the illegality of the mob demonstration)." Both students said news coverage of the event had been distorted. The students who were killed, said Terry, a Kent Senior majoring in journalism, "weren't in the roped-off, or 'safe' area — anything that happened to them was their own fault." About 1,000 hard-core participants were in the "Commons" battleground area and they were throwing rocks and advancing on the Guard. "Agitators within the crowd kept yelling that the Guardsmen were equipped with blanks, not live ammunition," said Ted Byers. Both students said "the demonstrators began hurling bottles, bricks and rocks at the hemmed-in Guardsmen, and advancing. The firing came during this attack."
