MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS 76252 JANUARY 26, 1973

NUMBER 10

Representative Bill Sullivan and Senator Tom Creighton can feel assured that they are correctly representing the people of Muenster when they stand up for legislation restoring the death penalty in Texas. We're pleased to find both of them supporting the measure and we'll be more pleased to know that they are making special efforts to get the necessary votes behind it.

Senator Creighton in his newsletter last week said that he filed the bill with legislative officials in the final days of 1972, before the new senate convened, in order to get it before the Senate early for consideration and passage.

His bill would provide life sentence or the death penalty for the following crimes: murder of a peace officer or fireman on official duty; murder in the course of kidnapping, burglary, robbery, forcible rape or arson; murder for pay; murder while attempting to escape from prison; murder of a prison guard; or murder with extreme atrocity or cruelty.

Creighton is confident that this wording will not meet objection from the Supreme Court, since it is directed at all persons convicted of murder under the stated circumstances. He recalls that the high court ruled this state's death penalty unconstitutional because the way it was enforced discriminated against blacks and the poor.

That ruling in itself seems to be unworthy of the caliber of clear thinking men we can rightfully expect to have on the Supreme Court. Common sense tells us that the highest judges in the land, with power to keep or reject our laws, should be absolutely correct in their logic. But we're told that they ruled out this law not because of a fault in the law but a fault in the way it was applied. The question is, were they justified in wiping out the law when they should have dealt only with the method of enforcement?

This kind of correction reminds one of burning a barn to get rid of rats... and that applies both in theory and effect. Nullifying the law violated logic and also removed a provision that was very much wanted and needed. It may have eliminated some discrimination but it also wiped out a lot of protection that Texans were entitled to.

Fuzzy thinking liberals and sob sisters and the criminal element join voices in denouncing the death penalty as cruel and inhuman. So what? That line of thinking has no merit at all, because every person under the sun is free to avoid the penalty — simply by refraining to inflict cruel and inhuman treatment on someone else.

It's most ironic that the people who harp on the rough treatment are directing their sympathy to the wrong people. They ought to be deploring the cruelty toward the victims of criminals — the people who neither deserved nor could avoid the cruelty. Instead they cry about the poor criminal, who could have avoided the crime in the first place and deserves severe punishment in the second. It all adds up to the simple fact that banning the death penalty is a pitiful miscarriage of logic.

But that's only a part of the fault. The result as it turns out in society is much more deplorable. Because banning the death penalty for criminals tears down the principal deterrent to murder. It's not just theory to say that crime increases as the fear of punishment decreases. Cold facts tell us that countries with capital punishment have fewer murders, also that murders are still fewer where convictions are more rapid and more thorough.

So, even if logic did not demand capital punishment the public welfare emphatically demands it. We could stop the present crime wave almost instantly by convincing murderers that, cruel or not, they'll get it when they are caught, furthermore that greater effort than ever will be spent in catching them.

An interesting observation for opponents of capital punishment: If they really want to stop cruel and inhuman treatment to criminals, the best way is to favor the sternest justice for every crime. That way smart criminals will avoid cruelty to themselves by (Continued on Page 10)

Record Losses for 1972 Reported by Muenster Mutual

The most costly year in the history of Muenster Mutual Fire Insurance Association was reported here Monday at the 79th annual general meeting of the organization in the TP&L meeting room.

Ed Endres, secretary, told 35 representatives of five districts that total losses from fire, lightning, hail, wind and vandalism amounted to $48,235.96 and other operating expenses such as salaries, travel, supplies, postage etc. upped the total cost of operation to $56,327.42.

This amounted to 43.5 cents per $100 of insured valuation, almost four times as much as last year's cost, which is believed to be the lowest ever in the mutual's history. The cost was 12 cents per hundred last year, 15.5 cents in 1970, 15 cents in 1969 and 26 cents in 1968.

The costs exceeded the total assessments of the year, which were set at 35 cents per $100 of insured valuation and amounted to $38,794.17. However premiums and interest on investments raised total income to $58,555.06, leaving a balance $2,227.64 for the year's operation.

Despite the slight gain, the Mutual's reserve fund dropped below the 2 per cent ratio recommended by the state insurance commission. As explained by Endres, the gain of the mutual's reserve was not proportional to the gain of total insurance, which amounted to $1,739,735 last year.

Total membership now is 879, a gain of 79 for the year, and they have 1110 policies, a gain of 98 for the year. Total resources in cash and investments are $222,621.46.

The big losses were due to a bad year for both fires and storms. Six house fires accounted for $29,700 of the total losses of $36,027 from fire and lightning. Thirty two other claims, including fire damage to a combine, added to $6,327. Meanwhile the mutual paid $12,208 on 69 losses from hail, windstorm and vandalism. Five of those claims, for damage to houses and barns, amounted to $6306, almost half of the total figure.

Regardless of the heavy losses delegates decided to continue their assessment of 35 cents per $100 of valuation. Under conditions that prevailed for many years, that will be more than enough to raise the reserve fund to the recommended 2 per cent. And in case of another year as tough as 1972 it will still be sufficient to operate in the black.

Delagates at the meeting represented the districts of Muenster, Lindsay, Valley View, Windthorst and Electra. They voted for re-elections as follows: Al Hess, president; Al Fleitman, vice president; Ed Endres, secretary; Victor Hartman, treasurer; J. A. Klement, director.

Jim Myrick Opens Appliance Store At Gainesville

James Myrick, Muenster native who has been employed by LTV at Grand Prairie for several years, is the manager of a new appliance store being opened in Gainesville this week.

The business is named Cooke County Appliance and is located at 323 North Commerce. It will stock the Maytag, Westinghouse, Kitchenaid and Amana lines and expects to add more shortly.

The store will be affiliated with Muenster Butane in its purchasing and servicing programs. Together they expect to receive the benefits of volume buying. Likewise they will cooperate in a county wide service system which has just been established by expansion of the Muenster Butane service. Names on the service trucks are being changed to reflect the larger area they now serve.

A car load of Maytag appliances arrived Monday as the beginning stock of merchandise in the new store. James Walterscheid is working with Myrick this week in setting up the new business.

An ounce of prevention costs what a pound of cure cost a decade ago.

Weber Aircraft Opens Factory Here

A new industrial venture for Muenster was launched this week when Weber Aircraft, a division of Walter Kidde and Company, Inc., opened an extension of its Gainesville plant.

Arrangements for the operation were completed early last week by Fred Godfrey, president of Weber Aircraft, in a meeting with J. M. Weinzapfel and Gene Davenport. Davenport, public relations director of Cooke County Electric Co-operative, served as industrial consultant in bringing the new business to Muenster. Installation of equipment started immediately and production started Monday.

The factory is located in the building formerly occupied by Jr. Elite dress factory, in the 700 block of East Division. The south half of it is being used.

Its operation is the manufacture of aircraft seat cushions which are taken to the Gainesville plant for assembly into the completed seats it supplies to several of the nation's leading airplane builders.

The cushions are made of foam rubber of two textures, one soft, the other relatively firm. The pieces are cut to their proper shapes and then bonded together. The cushions are for only the seats of the chairs. Cushions for the backs are made in a California factory.

As explained by Lloyd Hauger, plant manager of Weber, seat cushions are also made at the California factory, but some of its work is being transferred to Muenster.

The principal incentive for moving that part of the work here is savings in freight. Often the cushions are sent from California by air freight. Shipments, though not heavy, occupy a great deal of space and are expensive. By contrast, cushions made here can be moved to Gainesville at a very low cost.

The plant opened with six workers on the job. Hopefully it will expand sufficiently to employ 30 to 40 people. In that case it is assumed that the north half of the building will also be put to use.

The local factory operates as a part of the Gainesville factory, which makes seats and food serving equipment used in large transport planes, particularly DC-10, 747, 727, 737 and 720. Some parts of the highly sophisticated lounge type seats are made at the plant, others are supplied elsewhere. The same applies to food serving facilities, including food carts and the modules in which they are transported in the planes. Hot food carts have their individual heating units. Cold food carts get their cool from refrigerated modules. Some modules are movable, being filled with carts then loaded in planes, others are stationary, the carts being brought to them on pallets.

Weber, located at the Gainesville airport, has been one of the county's outstanding industries for five years. It has about 600 employees.

Muenster Scouts Add Members and Change Councils

On the local level as well as the council level, things are happening to the Boy Scouts of Muenster. They are adding new members and planning an early weekend campout as well as their summer camp, while being transferred from the Circle Ten Council of Dallas to the Longhorn Council of Fort Worth.

At the weekly meeting Monday, Scoutmaster Eual Davis told the boys that the campout and field mass planned this weekend is postponed, probably to February 20. The reason is that he and other adults of the local organization expect to be at Camp Sid Richardson, on Lake Bridgeport, seeing accommodations the Scouts will probably use this summer. Principal activity of the meeting was listing essential items and demonstrating a pack for campout.

Tuesday the scoutmaster, and assistant Wilfred Reiter and Committee member Henry Weinzapfel met with Dan Harman, program director of the Longhorn Council, to discuss a program for the local troops and the entire council. He said that the council has about 28,000 scouts in Cooke, Wise, Denton, Jack, Young, Parker, Hood, Palo Pinto, Somervell, Tarrant and Johnson counties.

Membership of the Muenster troop now numbers 38. Along with 25 old members are thirteen new members as follows: Joe Bartush, Justin Davis, Jack Endres, David Felderhoff, Mark Felderhoff, Bert Hesse, Jeff Hess, Bill Hoening, Gene Luttmir, Terry Rohmer, Robert Weinzapfel, Gregg Wilde and Phil Wolf.

The use of electrical power in United States manufacturing industries has more than quintupled since 1939, but it still costs less than one percent of product value.

Principals of the transaction which brought an extension of Weber Aircraft's Gainesville factory to Muenster are shown after completing arrangements. They are Gene Davenport of Cooke County Electric Co-op., who served as industrial consultant, Fred Godfrey, president of Weber Aircraft, and J. M. Weinzapfel of Muenster State Bank.

SH Home-School Society Discusses Mardi Gras Plans

Plans for Sacred Heart School's annual Mardi Gras celebration were formulated Tuesday night at the January meeting of members of the Home-School Society. Committees to work on details for the March 6 event were named and volunteers are being solicited.

Another discussion concerned make-up class days for those lost during the ice storm. Definite days will be announced by the faculty.

Father Placidus advised that all class rooms in the grade school are due re-enforced ceilings and this work will begin immediately. He asked for volunteers to help with the ceiling work and afterward with cleanup.

For the program, a film "Communist Encirclement" was screened with A. V. Grant providing commentary. The film was sponsored by Texas Power & Light Co.

Tommy Knabe, president, presided for business and after adjournment Mmes. Tommy Felderhoff, Alvin Fuhrman, Walter Grewing and J. D. Fleitman, January hostesses, served coffee and cookies.

59 Bulls Sold at Sale Sponsored by Evaluation Center

Fifty nine bulls sold for a total of $41,875, an average of $709.74 per animal, at the all-breed performance tested bull sale on January 13 at Gainesville Livestock Auction. The sale, first of its kind in the county, was sponsored by the Beef Cattle Evaluation Center of Cooke County Junior College.

Top selling animals were two Charolais sold by Gary Hess of Muenster, $1,450 and $1,000, a Santa Gertrudis sold by Siegmund Ranch of Whitesboro, $1,450; a Simmental X Angus sold by J. K. McKenney of Dallas, $1,050; and a Brown Swiss sold by W. E. Hudspeth of Valley View, $1,025.

Plaques were presented to the owners of the top gaining bulls of each breed entered in the first feeding contest conducted by the CCJC Beef Cattle Evaluation Center. Those who received the plaques are Gary Hess for the top gaining Charolais bull and also the top gaining sire group of three animals; J. E. Pybas, top gaining Simmental X Hereford; Cecil Ward, top Hereford; William Pulte, top Brown Swiss; Joe Siegmund, top Santa Gertrudis; Fred Webb, top Angus; J. K. McKenney, top Simmental X Angus; David Smith, top group of five bulls.

The bulls sold to breeders of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. About 600 persons attended the sale.

The Men In Service

Enroute Home

Spec. 4 Kenneth Schmitz is enroute home after spending the past 18 months soldiering in Germany. He left there Wednesday this week and reported to Fort Dix, N. J. for separation from the service. He wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Schmitz, that he will spend some time visiting in New York and Pennsylvania with Army buddies before returning to Muenster.

Receives Air Medal

Marine First Lieutenant Michael J. Fuhrmann, son of Mrs. Adolph Fuhrmann, was awarded the Air Medal during ceremonies held with Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 164, Iwakuni, Japan. He was cited for his distinguished service during sustained aerial combat operations.

Garden Council Concentrates on Spring Activities

Spring activities held the interest of the Council of Garden Clubs when members met for their January meeting in the home of Mrs. F. C. Wylie in Gainesville. Muenster members present were Mrs. Arthur Endres and Mrs. Paul Endres.

Principal discussions included problems of the "Big Thicket" Preserve — 100,000 acres of wooded area in East Texas — and of efforts to protect and guard its boundaries intact. Members were told of encouraging replies from senators and representatives.

Included on the calendar of events in which members participate are county-wide activities including Arbor Day at county schools, a Valentine party at Hillcrest Manor Nursing Home given by Muenster Garden Club, the District II Spring meeting in Sherman March 14-15, a plant exchange at Leonard Park on April 13, and Garden Club Week April 15-21.

A report was given on the Christmas party at Frontier Manor and another report told about the Nature Trail at Mary Josephine Cox Farm in Gainesville. It was announced that the National Soil Conservation Society has offered plants to use on the trail.

The Garden Council has proposed a Bird Sanctuary at Leonard Park and will attempt to interest civic and youth organizations in establishing such an area at the Gainesville park.

Mrs. Joe Leonard Sr. presided for the meeting.

The leader of a famed highland bagpipes band was asked why his aggregation always paraded while it played. His explanation: "It's harder to hit a moving target!"

Carcass Quality Reports Available To Beef Raisers

Beef cattle producers in Cooke County now have an opportunity to participate in a new service that will enable them to obtain important value determining characteristics of the carcasses their cattle produce, announces County Extension Agent Neil Tibbets.

The program is called the Beef Carcass Data Service and is a joint effort of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

According to Tibbets, the service involves the use of specially designed eartags which the producer applies to those cattle on which he wants to obtain carcass information. When eartagged cattle are slaughtered, a meat inspector will remove the tag and attach it to the carcass. Then the USDA meat grader assigned to the slaughter plant will evaluate and record the quality and yield grade factors. This information will be sent to the Agricultural Marketing Service's Carcass Data Center in Washington, D. C. Once the data is processed and returned to the producer or eartag owner, he will be billed $1.50 per head.

Eartags for the new service, at $50 each plus $.75 for the tool to attach the tag, may be ordered from Dr. Frank Orts, Extension meats specialists at Texas A&M University. His address is Room 322, Animal Industries Bldg., College Station, Texas 77843.

Tibbets points out that the Beef Carcass Data Service will provide producers with the following information: conformation grade, maturity, degree of marbling, quality grade, fat thickness, ribeye area, yield grade, hot carcass weight, and percent of kidney, pelvic and heart fat.

The new service can make a substantial contribution toward improving the genetic potential of breeding stock and improving feeding programs and management practices, believes Tibbets. The detailed carcass data obtained through this program can provide important guidelines in the production of high quality, meat-type cattle — those that combine thick muscling and a minimum of excess fat.

Forestburg to Host Volley Tournament

The Forestburg PTO is extending invitations to a 5-day volleyball tournament beginning March 5 in the Forestburg School gym. Games will be played by points, not by time limit. Tournament chairmen are Mrs. Faith Sandusky and Mrs. Jack C. Dill.

Teams wishing to enter are asked to contact Volleyball Tournament, Forestburg PTO, Forestburg, Tex. 76239 so that brackets can be drawn up and mailed to the teams.

Modern Mail Service

In spite of the large number of high-salaried officers in the new U. S. Postal Service, the advertisements of great promise that one hears on the radio, it is difficult to believe recent claims that the mails are getting through better than in days long past.

Herman Dinsmore, former editorial writer with the New-York Times, can recall a time when a woman complained that she had mailed a letter in the morning to a point in another part of Manhattan, and the letter had not arrived until 3 o'clock that afternoon! Today, Mr. Dinsmore reports, one is more likely to hear complaints that a letter mailed at a Manhattan Post Office on January 2, 1972 did not arrive at its destination in another part of Manhattan until January 8.

An air mail letter from Washington to New York at year's end in 1972 took eight days in transit. (They must have done better in the days of George Washington.) Other persons in New York were complaining that on January 8, 1973, they were still receiving Christmas cards mailed before December 25, 1972.

That may not be the worst of it. One organization reports that it has received whole boxes of mail which did not belong to it and which, of course, were returned for delivery to the right address. One wonders how many letters especially needed by someone went astray. After all, courtships, corporations, family plans, foreign projects and government works depend in large measure upon speedy delivery of the mail.

The great promise of the zip code is not being fulfilled. The large number of highly paid postal officers — at last count, more than eleven receiving above $45,000 a year — recalls the large number of vice presidents of the bankrupt Pennsylvania Railroad who drew large salaries. We were under the impression that divorcing the Post Office from direct Government operation was going to bring better service that was eventually going to pay its own way. What's the answer?

Resolutions for Congress

Now that the dust has settled and the new 93rd Congress is ready to settle down and go to work, we suggest a few guidelines for their 1973 endeavors. As a starter, we propose the following resolution:

We the members of Congress of the United States of America resolve during the year 1973:

—To bear in mind the declared objective of the Administration, and the wishes of the people, that our currency shall not be further depreciated through inflation.

—To keep before us the awareness that mighty nations have been destroyed by the debasement of their money, and that a cardinal wish of the enemies of the United States is that our Government will spend itself into bankruptcy.

To be ever mindful that John Maynard Keynes advocated small — repeat, small — deficit-spending to tide over recession years, not massive and ever-expanding deficits every year.

To remember that the power to tax, granted by our Constitution, was not intended to mean power to impose impossible burdens upon the people.

To vote for no projects that do not stay within reasonable limits — that is, within the resources of the country.

To act in behalf of all people, not as Democrats versus Republicans, or Republicans versus Democrats, but in the interests of the nation as a whole.

To take a responsible attitude toward the role of the United States in Vietnam, keeping the global stakes of our country and the free nations in mind, and not forgetful of the unremitting hostility of the Soviet Government and the Communist empire.

Electricity America's Muscle

The average American could not, or certainly would not, draw or pump the 56,000,000 gallons of water needed to support his life style during his stay on earth. Nor would he walk the 750,000 miles he will probably ride on earth.

If he did either of these, he certainly would have no time to harvest almost six tons of wheat, let alone raise and butcher a like amount of meat that he will consume in a lifetime.

For the simple fact is that one man, performing hard physical labor for 12 hours, can do only the equivalent of one kilowatt hour of work. Yet a typical electric power company customer uses 19 kilowatt hours of electricity during those same 12 hours.

Indeed, as we pause to observe National Electrical Week, we realize that from the time electricity was discovered, more and more ways have been developed to use it for everyone's benefit. Electricity has transformed the way we work and live.

Have you ever stopped to think what it would be like if you had no electricity; if, suddenly, you pushed the switch, and nothing happened.

There would be no lights, no television. The refrigerator would be off. In the summer, the air conditioner wouldn't come on. In the winter, the furnace would be silent. No traffic lights would work, no gasoline could be pumped at the service stations, no airplanes could fly because air traffic control systems would be dead. Factories and stores would be dark.

Look around your own home and neighborhood. Count the different ways that electricity is at work. Without it, modern society would be snarled.

Come to think of it, without electricity to power the press and scores of other machines, you wouldn't be reading this National Electrical Week editorial in today's paper.

Management is the art of getting three men to do three men's work.

Driving Dangers

Millions of American drivers take to the streets daily — some of them never to return alive. Yet for all of its traffic problems, the U. S. still can't compare to the rest of the world when it comes to slaughter on the highways.

"In Asia", says the "Reporter" of Greenfield, Indiana, "traffic conditions can only be described as hopeless. The best way to drive there, according to one version, is with your eyes closed. You really don't want to know how many narrow escapes you've had." Germany is another notorious example of a country where survival of the fittest driver is the way of life. On Germany's "no speed limit" Autobahns, a driver doing 70 miles per hour is often the slowest thing on the road, and winter is not heralded as a time of tranquility and re-building of nature so much as a season of death due to fast driving and bad weather.

This winter season as highway hazards are at their peak, we in the United States must do all we can to enhance motoring safety and turn out careful, competent drivers. But, at the same time, we can take some pride in the fact that we have a better chance of living through a long automobile trip than do the drivers of most other nations.

How's Your Work Ethic?

Everyone insists on the highest quality of service and workmanship, everyone wants safety, everyone wants to get as much as they can for their money in the marketplace. All of this is fine. But how many exert themselves to do the extra bit that means their own efforts are producing quality either in service or product for the other fellow?

The fault with many products, the defects in our homes and a good share of the hazards we encounter are attributable to laziness and lack of interest in doing a job right. Who cares about the fact that lack of skilled troubleshooting in everything from autos to vacuum cleaners threatens to make a shambles of technological marvels? Most of the troubles of today are traceable to a massive rejection of the work ethic or whatever you wish to call it.

Most people expect the other fellow to be the expert, the producer and the fall guy when something goes wrong. We forget that when the work ethic dies the experts and the workers of a more energetic age gradually disappear, leaving the nonworkers to stew in their own juice and a maze of meaningless health, safety and consumer protection laws.

Stopping Leviathan

That penetrating economic analyst and columnist Dr. Milton Friedman had some things to say about big government in one of his recent columns that should be instructive to a generation of voters and taxpayers who have never known anything other than big government.

Dr. Friedman calls big government "Leviathan" — the legendary monster of the seas. So far as government spending and taxes go, he observes, "Neither a legislated ceiling nor any other administrative devices designed to improve the budgetary process — welcome though they would be — will halt Leviathan unless we, as citizens, once change drastically the role that we assign to government." Back in 1930, federal government spending took four percent of the national income, state and local spending, 11 percent. Today the combined outgo of federal, state and local spending accounts for about 40 percent of the income of all citizens. This is the price today's generation pays for accepting government as a keeper rather than an umpire.

Otto, a long-time Wichitan moved to Tulsa, Okla., in 1970. He died there Friday following heart surgery.

Otto, a veteran of World War II, served as a midshipman in the Naval Reserves. He received his BA in business administration from St. Edward's University in Austin. His widow is the former Anna Mae Litteken.

After many years residence in Wichita Falls as sales manager of Nortex Engine & Equipment Company of Wichita Falls and Oklahoma City he moved to Oklahoma in 1970 when he was named assistant general manager of the firm and also assistant general manager of Undrey Engine and Pump Co. with offices in Tulsa.

In 1963 he was Grand Knight of the Wichita Falls Council Knights of Columbus. He was a member of Bishop Gorman General Assembly Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus and a past district KC deputy.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, five daughters, two brothers, four sisters, and three grandsons.

Among those at the funeral were uncles, aunts and cousins: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Weinzapfel. Mrs. Jake Wolf, Mrs. Al Schmitt, Henry Weinzapfel, Mrs. David Bright, Mrs. Herbert Meurer, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Flusche and Father Bede Mitchell, all of Muenster joined here by Msgr. Weinzapfel of Dallas. Also Ben Otto and son Melvin and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Otto of Gainesville.

Muenster 4-Hers Win Blue Ribbons In Share-The-Fun

Four Muenster 4-H clubs entered acts in the annual Share-The-Fun competition, all won blue ribbons and seventh and eighth grade Sacred Heart girls emerged as alternates to district.

After the second cancellation of the contest on account of icy weather, the young people gathered at CCJC on Jan. 15 to display their talents. Over 200 persons viewed the 11 acts. All local entries were in the junior division.

Sacred Heart's seventh and eighth grade girls became alternates to district on their act "Ain't She Sweet." Members in the skit were Donna Grewing, Lorie Walterscheid, Stacie Walterscheid, Monica Gehrig, Sandy Voth, Mary Kay Caplinger, Jeanann Hartman and Brenda Voth.

Other local entries were Muenster Community Club, Sacred Heart fifth and sixth grade boys and Sacred Heart fifth and sixth grade girls.

Only one senior act was presented. It was given by Gainesville Community Club, won a blue ribbon, and will go to district.

Lindsay Community Club was top winner in the junior division on its skit "The 4-Hers Have Come." It was presented by Joyce and Janet Schmidtkokfer, Delores, Mary Ann and Kathleen Sandmann, Shelley Stoffels, Sharon Voth, Michelle Pelzel, and Karla Haverkamp.

The event is sponsored annually by Cooke County Farm Bureau. One of the highlights of the evening was presentation of leadership awards. B. F. Almon, FB president, presented leadership pins to Kim Reiter of Muenster and John Schumacher of Gainesville — the 1972 Gold Star girl and boy.

Emceeding the evening's program were Schumacher, county council chairman, and Miss Reiter, girl vice chairman.

Mrs. Nick Block, Mrs. Cecil Sellers and Mrs. B. F. Almon served as judges. David Griggs checked time to be sure each act stayed within the six minute limit. Activities closed with treats.

Fishers Hosts for Kin and Friends

Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher had a niece and family as guests for a week and their friends for two days and nights.

Spending last week with them were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rascko, Ryan and Renee of Grandview, Washington. Their friends and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Stattlmyre and Mel Jr., Todd and Jason who were enroute to Florida and had long wanted to visit in Muenster took the opportunity while the Rascko family was here.

Stattlmyre is pitcher for the New York Yanks and was generous with autographs for younger members of the Fisher families.

The visitors left Monday, the Stattlmyres in their car and the Rasckos by plane from Dallas. Relatives saw them off at Love Field.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Schmitz and sons Jerry, Jim and Bob spent Sunday in Archer City with her sister and family, the Bill Crows. A snow storm blew through Archer City while they were there but the snow melted almost as it fell.

Mrs. Dick Cain had a telephone call from her daughter Mrs. Bill McCullum of Dallas Wednesday telling that she and her husband and their daughters Kelly and Tracey had a holiday skiing in Red River, N. M., and that fun time ended suddenly when Tracey, 10, broke a leg. She is recovering satisfactorily.

Creighton Given Committee Duties

Senator Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, representing District 22 which includes Cooke County, has been appointed chairman of the Economic Development Committee, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby announced last week. The committee is concerned with banking, commerce and industry, insurance and transportation. Along with that assignment Creighton is beginning his seventh year as a member of the Finance Committee, which deals with all appropriations. He's also a member of the Natural Resources Committee covering such subjects as agriculture and livestock, oil and gas, parks and wildlife, environment and water and soil conservation.

MHS Ecology Club Plans Activities

Muenster High School's ecology club, YEP, meeting Monday night made plans for upcoming activities. The Youth Environmental Protection group had 19 members and two adult leaders present. Debbie Reynolds, president, presided.

Presently the youths are concentrating efforts on painting trash cans, displaying posters and selling ecology bumper stickers. With funds from the sticker sale members hope to widen their goal to include such things as cleaning up of nearby streams and upkeeping of nearby nature.

They ask for cooperation. "Help us help you help our town become naturally more beautiful." Other officers elected at the organizational meeting in November are Glenn Henschel, vice president; Diane Yosten, treasurer; Charlotte Johnson, secretary; Lou Ann Swirczynski, reporter.

Gilbert Endreses At 'Bud' Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Endreses returned during the weekend from the annual Anheuser-Busch sales convention held in Houston, January 14-18. More than 2,400 wholesalers, wives and company personnel attended the event which reviewed the past year's and presented advertising and merchandising plans for this year.

Also on the convention program were a tour of the Houston brewing plant and the newest Busch Gardens which feature Oriental scenes including a reproduction of an early Asiatic train, a giant free-flight bird cage and a boat ride through the Ceylon Channel.

Other tours included the Astrodomain complex and NASA Spacecraft Center.

Sullivant Sponsors Bill on Reporting Sales Tax to City

Representative Bill Sullivant is co-sponsoring a bill introduced by freshman Republican representative Al Koriath of Dallas, which seeks to require the Comptroller to make a quarterly report to cities which have imposed the one percent sales tax upon request of the city. The report required under the bill must give the name and address of each person or firm which has remitted a tax payment during the last quarter.

"Various studies in the State have indicated that through error, the taxes collected from some businesses have either not been paid back to the city by the State, or have been paid back to the wrong city," Sullivant said. "The problem, as it affects the cities of our district, would most often arise in the case of a chain-store where the tax collected from a branch store is erroneously credited to the city where the home office of the chain is located. If upon receipt of the report, a city finds that a business is not listed as a tax-payer, the city will report this fact to the Comptroller who must, under requirements of the bill, within 90 days either explain the omission or credit the city with the back taxes due."

"The information sought by this bill is already on a computer in the Comptroller's office and should present no real problem for the Comptroller to retrieve. I believe the inconvenience to his office is far out-weighted by the importance of this information to the small cities in our state," Sullivant said. The bill has received strong bipartisan support among the freshman legislators.

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

By Crawford C. Martin
Attorney General of Texas

Remember, most of our Texas business men are honest, but there are sharp dealers everywhere. You should learn to spot them because once you sign the contract or complete the sale, you may be stuck. In this last column I will list some do's and don'ts to help you protect yourself.

Good rules to follow are:

Never sign anything you have not read or cannot understand. Take time to read any document. Once you sign it, you may be bound with a legal obligation even though it was not a fair or honest deal. If you cannot understand the language of the document, contact your private attorney for legal counsel.

Turn off the high pressure salesman and take time to think for yourself. Ask him to stop talking so you can read the contract and make up your own mind. Be cautious when confronted by a salesman who won't stop talking or won't let you read the contract outside his presence.

Fight the temptations of referral selling. This scheme offers the consumer the chance to make a quick killing by simply supplying names of friends and relatives as prospective customers.

Do not rely on verbal representations. Be sure that such promises can be found in the terms and conditions of the written contract.

Watch for the "sympathy" approach. It's often a "line" to get your signature. Organized crews are trained to tell sob stories. Once you sign, they move on to another locale.

Be skeptical of contests, surveys, and "free merchandise" offers. All businesses are operated for a profit, and no one stays in business long when selling "below cost" or giving merchandise away. Recognize these gimmicks as advertising campaigns and see through them to the merits of the merchandise being sold.

Refuse to sign a blank contract or a contract in which the blanks are not filled in.

Remember that guarantees are valuable only when written. If a promise is good, it can be put in writing. Find

CITATION BY PUBLICATION THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: David Talley, Defendant in the hereinafter styled and numbered cause:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the County Court of Cooke County, Texas, to be held at the Courthouse of said county in Gainesville, Texas, at or before 10:00 a.m. of Monday, March 12, 1973, and answer the petition of Dave Sanders d/b/a Sanders Manufacturing Company, Plaintiff, in Cause No. 8072 styled Dave Sanders d/b/a Sanders Manufacturing Company versus David Talley in which Dave Sanders is Plaintiff and David Talley is Defendant and which petition was filed in said Court on the 12th day of October, 1972, and the nature of which said suit is as follows:

Suit for $768.54, including attorney's fees, upon an account owed by the said David Talley pursuant to implied contract.

If this citation is not served within 90 days after date of its issuance, it shall be returned un-served.

WITNESS THE HAND OF Frank Scoggin, Clerk of the County Court of Cooke County, Texas.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND SEAL OF SAID COURT AT OFFICE IN THE City of Gainesville, this 22nd day of January, 1973.

(SEAL) FRANK SCOGGIN, Clerk of County Court of Cooke County, Texas.

By Bobbie Calhoun, Deputy 10-11-12-13

out what is guaranteed and who stands behind it.

Shop with established firms that enjoy good reputations and show appreciation of your patronage by their courtesy and good service. Give your patronage to the good ones and keep your hard earned pay check away from the easy money artists.

Don't hesitate to shop around. You may find a better price for the same product or services elsewhere.

Don't be fooled by phony prices which have been inflated so that they can be reduced for you. An item marked "regular $80, now $20" may have been regularly $30, and the price tag inflated to impress you.

Figure finance charges for installment purchases on a yearly basis and add these charges to the selling price to determine what you are actually paying. Be careful when buying from salesmen who stress the "low monthly payments" and deemphasize the total selling price. You'll save a substantial amount by paying cash or making a big down payment.

Refuse to deal with stores that "bait and switch" and will not adjust your complaints fairly and promptly. If a product is advertised as "bait" to get you into the store, but the salesman offers only higher priced goods, complain to the manufacturer of that line of products and stop shopping at that store.

Be on the alert for final big payment financing. It's called "balloon note" financing — small monthly payments — then a final, unexpected, big payment.

There's no "easy" way to earn money at home. You find later there is no market for what you produce, or your efforts are "not up to standards." Most schemes require you to buy something in order to earn.

Don't pay for a neighbor's package. It may turn out to be unneeded junk that your neighbor hasn't ordered and doesn't want!

You may risk your life or your money on quick "cures." If you are worried about your health — see your doctor. Don't take a chance on quick medicines or mail-order cures.

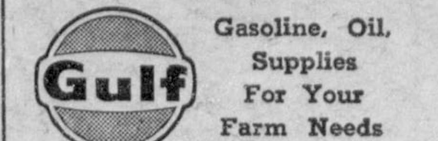

Vanity can cost you money or health. No known product or service can — reduce your weight by — massages, belts, girdles, sweat baths, creams; grow your hair; make you taller; develop your bust; remove or prevent wrinkles.

The above rules, if followed, will help you avoid being victimized by deceptive trade practices.

Man showing doctor his wife's injured hand: "She did it getting dinner ready last. It must be frostbite."

"Jane, what do you think of Red China?" Jane: "Oh, I really don't know, dear, but I think it wouldn't be so bad with a white tablecloth."

It pays to advertise with the Muenster Enterprise.

MHS Teams Win 3 Games out of 4

Muenster High basketball teams won three of their four games during the past week. They broke even on the pair at Pilot Point and took both at Callisburg.

In the opener at Pilot Point Charlie Cash's girls had no problems in running up their 47-34 score. They gained in the first three quarters by scores of 12-6, 22-10 and 32-18 then gave up one point of their margin while reserves had their chance in the fourth. Doris Felderhoff poured in 39 points. Becky Fields added 6 and Deb Schneider 2.

That performance was practically repeated at Callisburg where Doris had another big night for 39 points while Becky and Debbie made 4 each. Muenster took charge at the start and rolled to a 47-16 third quarter lead. However, second and third stringers were blanked in the last period while Callisburg almost doubled its score. Final count was 47-31.

Bad second and third quarters were disastrous to the Hornets in their tussle with Pilot Point's Bearcats. After ending the first period in a 10-10 tie they went into a slump allowing the hosts to gain for counts of 28-15 and 51-28 in the next two periods. In the fourth Muenster got hot but it was too late. Pilot Point finished with a 68-52 win.

Top Hornet scorers were Ronnie Felderhoff 13 and Tommy Otto 12. Others were Mark Lippe, Lyle Klement and Robert Johnson, each 8, Tom Hennigan 2 and Randy Wolf 1.

It was different at Callisburg where good second and third periods iced the game away. After a 12-12 first period they started clicking and jumped to leads of 38-20 and 58-31 in the second and third. Foul troubles hampered them throughout the game and two fouled out in the last period. They were outscored by one point in that quarter and ended with a 75-49 win. Because of the foul situation Callisburg got 46 free throws and Muenster only 13. Callisburg made 25 of those and Muenster 9.

Ronnie Felderhoff had a hot hand, pouring in 24 points, and Mark Lippe was next with 16. Joe Bright hit 9, Tom Otto 8, Randy Wolf 6, Lyle Klement and Robert Johnson each 4, Terry Walterscheid and Bobby Endres each 2.

Top Honor Roll Of CCJC Includes 4 from Muenster

Four Muenster students attending Cooke County Junior College have been named to the President's Honor Roll for the Fall 1972 semester.

They are Margie Ann Felderhoff, Andrew Klement and Mrs. Peggy Sparkman, all graduates of Sacred Heart High School, also Tim Hell-a graduate of Muenster High. To receive this academic honor students must be enrolled in at least 12 semester hours of classwork and maintain a grade point average of 4 throughout the semester.

Muenster Juniors Lose to Petrolia

Elementary kids of Muenster Public School ended a winless season in the District 14-A junior division Monday night in a double header loss to Petrolia. They had previously been beaten by Nocona. All that's left on their schedule now is a junior tournament sponsored by S&S on February 8-10.

Muenster girls were annihilated 37-5 in their half of the twin bill as Tracey Klement and Darlene Klement scored 3 and 2 respectively.

The other game featured hot streaks by each team plus an exciting ending which favored Petrolia 36-33. After leading 16-6 at the half Muenster boys had an ice cold third quarter making only 2 points while Petrolia moved ahead. They overcame some of the deficit in the fourth, but not enough. Scorers were Tim Wolf 15, Danny Fisher 7, Calvin Otto 5, Mark Mollenkopf 4, Terry Lewis 2.

The shapely blonde dancer finished her act and returned to the male patron's table. "Tell me," said the rich playboy, "why do you, a beautiful, talented, educated girl, dance in a cheap sordid joint like this?" "I don't know," she replied, "unless it's because I meet a lot more prominent, refined and well educated men here than I did when I worked in the public library."

If you are interested in avoiding fatal accidents, . . . and isn't everyone? . . . statistics show that you are safest while at work. Of 114,000 accidental deaths in the United States during 1970, only 9.5 percent occurred while the person was at work, according to National Safety Council statistics. That compares with 48.1 percent in motor vehicles, 23.1 percent at home and 19.3 percent at play.

NOTES FROM THE LIBRARY

By Bettie Luke

We are proud of a new book "The Dove Tree," written by L. D. Clark, sent to Muenster Public Library and autographed by the author.

L. D. Clark was born in Cooke County, attended the public schools and one year of Cooke County Junior College before it became CCJC. He then attended Columbia University and earned a Ph.D. degree. At present he is teaching at New Mexico State University. His book is a historical novel and is ready to check out.

Another book, this donated by Congressman Omar Burleson, is "Eminent Americans, Namesakes of the Polaris Submarine Fleet." This is a very interesting book and we are grateful for both these gifts. Come and read with us.

Mrs. Martin Bayer Hosts HDC Meeting

Members of Muenster Home Demonstration Club held their January meeting last Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Martin Bayer, a week late on account of the ice storm.

Roll call was answered by telling what members did to keep busy during the days the weather kept them indoors. Some of the women took along handwork they had made to show.

Mrs. Bayer had a number of hostess demonstrations — things she has made for her home. These included afghans, three dimensional pictures and terrariums.

Afterward the group played table games and the hostess served date cake, ice cream and coffee.

A panhandler approached a man on the street and said, "Mister, can you give a crippled a quarter for bus fare?" "All right," said the man, giving the beggar a close look, "but how are you crippled?" "Financially," said the beggar.

This and That In Conservation

by Eual Davis

The recent cut-off of certain agriculture programs has left many landowners with some misunderstandings which I would like to clear up. Here are the facts:

1. The REAP or ACP program for Cooke and Montague counties has been cut-off. This program paid about 50% of the cost for ponds, brush, grass planting, etc. This cut-off also included the Special REAP project around Bulcher in northwest Cooke county.

2. At this time the Great Plains Conservation Program for Montague County HAS NOT been affected. Those who have contracts may continue as scheduled. We hope to receive a new allocation of money for more contracts after July 1, 1973.

3. The Soil Conservation Service with offices in Gainesville, Muenster, Nocona, and Bowie are still open and ready to serve the public as usual. Even though cost-share under the REAP program has been cut-off the Soil Conservation Service can and will survey and stake ponds, terraces, waterways, gully shaping, etc., just as we always have with no cost to the land owner. Let me repeat: THE LOCAL SCS OFFICES ARE OPEN AND READY TO ASSIST ALL LANDOWNERS WITH CONSERVATION PROBLEMS AS WE ALWAYS HAVE.

4. The Watershed programs for Clear Creek, Denton Creek, Elm-fork, and Farmers Creek will continue as scheduled. Contracts for some sites are being advertised this month.

As soon as it dries, those who have their land plowed should start sprig planting their bermudagrass. Spriggers will be available through the Upper Elm-Red District.

Several landowners had applications for conservation work when the 1972 year ended. These are being completed as weather permits. A farm pond has been completed on Tom Trice, near Bulcher. Gully shaping under the Bulcher Special REAP project has been completed on Earle Otto, Willie Walterscheid, J. M. Weinzappel, T. Bridges, Clarence Nelson, B. A. Talley, Grady McElreath, Art Bayer, and Paul Lafforge. Under the same program grade stabilization structures have been completed or started on John Fredrick, Royce Chism, and Prentis Harris.

A check was made this week to determine the condition of TAM Wintergreen Hardinggrass which Bruno Fleitman and sons planted last fall. They have a good stand on most of the field. It was hurt some by the recent cold spell, but was still alive and had a very strong root system. This is a new winter grass for our area and it has really been tested this winter.

Several others also planted some Hardinggrass. They include Arthur Hellman, Dangelmayr Bros., and Zimmerer Bros. Harold Bindel changed his mind at the last minute and planted several acres of improved Fescue grass which is also a winter grass. If successful these plants will provide lots of good winter grazing without plowing and planting each fall. All cattle-men are urged to watch the progress of these plants as well as some of the Renner Lovegrass and Kleingrass plantings in the area.

County Tax Guide Is Available Now

The new "Farmer's Tax Guide" is now available at the County Extension offices, announces County Extension Agent Neil Tibbets. The publication gives information on filing farm and ranch income tax returns.

Written in easily understood language, the guide gives a number of examples of completed forms.

Tibbets points out that the guide contains a new section on investment credit which explains what property qualifies, the amount of credit available, limitations, and how to complete credit on used property and recapture information.

The guide also has a chapter on credit for gasoline and fuels used on a farm for farming purposes. Another chapter deals with self-employment taxes for Social Security. It explains what income is and is not taxable for Social Security.

The tax guide is indexed so producers can easily find information on specific subjects such as selling a farm, sale of breeding animals, depreciation, involuntary conversion and other topics.

Whether you have your return filed by a tax practitioner or do it yourself, Tibbets believes the new publication will be useful.

A public meeting is scheduled for Monday night January 29, 7:00 p.m. Room 412, Science Building, Cooke County Junior College to discuss income tax reporting and Record Keeping. Jack Jenkins, area farm management specialist, extension service will conduct the meeting.

Briscoe Proposes Tough Program Of New Legislation

Governor Dolph Briscoe swept into office last week laying down a wide-ranging program to the legislature his second day on the job.

Briscoe emphasized the need for cooperation with legislators and other officials and said he intends to be "the most persistent lobbyist" lawmakers will see this year.

One of the Governor's inaugural address and initial legislative message (several supplements are promised to fill in specific details) appeared to impress legislators favorably.

Most criticism centered on Briscoe's get-tough law enforcement program which includes restoring the death penalty for murder of policemen or firemen, legalization of wiretapping as permitted under federal law and admission of oral confessions in criminal trials.

Briscoe's assertion that lowering of first offense marijuana possession penalties to misdemeanor status should await general revision of drug laws also brought some complaints. He planned to present his narcotics law revision to the Legislature this week.

Among the Governor's priority proposals:

Strengthening the lobby registration act and adoption of a new code of ethics, early creation of a constitutional revision commission, penal code revision, laws to curb "fences" of stolen property and give courts power to deny bail to dangerous offenders, requiring convicts to serve more of their sentences before becoming eligible for parole, more emphasis on vocational education and a requirement that spending bills be accompanied with long-range cost estimates.

Ask a woman how she stubbed her toe and she'll say she walked into a chair. Ask a man, and he'll say someone left a chair in the middle of the room.

It did not take us long to get into the morning coffee break habit. Visiting the various restaurants between 9 and 10 a.m. gives one the chance to chat with others and rehash current events. Many business deals are consummated during that time and sports is a popular subject. The coffee break is a stag affair except for the smiling waitresses who always offer a refill. Along with the good coffee there is in sight a nice selection of pastries, especially doughnuts. A few of us are getting the portly look but it can't be from just one doughnut.

One subject taking a lot of time during these breaks is garbage collection. We have heard suggestions both pro and con to the idea however we believe the pros are in the majority.

The city water, sewer, street curb and paving projects were all popular subjects for debate in years past and we are all glad that they were installed. So many things have to be considered in garbage collection such as who will do it, how often, what can be included, where will it be buried, and how much will it cost. Sooner or later this service will be installed, then we will have another good point on why Muenster is such a good place in which to live.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
Congratulations on your "Letters to the Editor" program. I'm hopeful much good can become of it.

For some time now, I've noticed that Muenster's Main Street is so dirty that Mobil's Dirt Man of T.V. commercial fame would fit right at home. I'd like to think Muenster is a clean town but we fall miserably on the one street that most out of town visitors travel on. And too, this dirt reaches sidewalks and buildings in the downtown area. Revenue Sharing has brought $20,000 to Muenster. Let's use some of it on a Street Sweeper.

Dear Editor,
I think you have an excellent idea in encouraging letters to the editor. Such a column can be very interesting and can stimulate a lot of thought. I feel the column would be much more valuable though if you would demand signatures on all letters. Even in discussing small local matters I think we all realize that people use more reason and think before they speak if they have to stand behind what they say. Because I would like to read valid opinions rather than anonymous ones, I hope you will keep the Enterprise on a better level by printing only those letters which deserve a signature.

Sincerely,
Donna Rohmer

Dear Editor,
I was glad to see Muenster's problem with dogs given some space in your last paper. It is our understanding that the city charges only $1.00 for picking up dogs when someone complains. It must cost them more than that in time spent. Why don't the city council raise that to $5.00 or $10.00? They could pick up all the loose dogs in town then the owners would get their dog tagged.

If one of the stray dogs developed rabies and bit a child, think of the problem all of us would have.

Monterey Holiday For Distributors

Mr. and Mrs. Urban Endres and their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vogel were among Pearl Beer distributors as guests of the brewing company for a four-day holiday in Monterey, Mexico. They made the round trip by air from Dallas, Friday-Monday.

Entertainment included sight-seeing, banquets and parties and a bull fight. It was the first time for the Vogels to witness a bull fight.

4-H Club News

Cocke County 4-H Council met for the first time this year on January 16.

Club reports were presented along with a report on the District IV meeting attended by Kim Reiter and John Schumacher.

Council members decided to have a traveling trophy as an award for the club with the best attendance at council meetings. This contest will begin in September when new members are elected to council offices. A committee was named to write rules to be put in the council by laws.

Tuesday, Feb. 20, will be an Award Orientation meeting. Various awards, scholarships, trips and camps that 4-H has to offer will be the program. Each club is assigned to plan part of the evening. Everyone is invited to attend.

stopping their cruelty to other people.

Have you heard? . . . Billy Graham recommends the recitation of the Ten Commandments in school every day as a way of developing a society of stable, conscientious people.

The Thought intrigues us. Why not apply the same technique that various enemies of society have used in tearing down the moral standards? Repeat the commandments over and over eventually drilling into people's minds the fact that a Supreme Being has handed down the rules by which to live, and violating them makes an awful mess of things. Repetition has been effective in producing bad results. It ought to be as effective for producing good.

A Supreme Court justice is said to have remarked that Graham's idea could not win acceptance in the courts any more than praying in public schools. He's right, unfortunately. But isn't it a shame that words of God, like the Ten Commandments and prayers, are illegal before American children, but blasphemy and treason and the filth that sometimes passes for sex education is allowed?

President Nixon at his inauguration had praiseworthy ideas on striving for an all around better life. In keeping with that aspiration the country can make a good start by eliminating rules or conditions which give evil an advantage over good.

Worried over what to give his girl for her birthday, a boy asked his mother for advice. "Mom," he said, "if you were 16 years old tomorrow, what would you want?" Her heartfelt reply was: "Not another thing."
