

Somewhere in the news a few days ago was a mention of the fact that our government is operating on a budget of $246.3 billion, and no one seems to think that it will be balanced. And just ten years ago, they tell us, the budget was $92.5 billion. Imagine, that's an increase of more than 160 per cent in those few years. Meanwhile the national debt has grown to more than $427 billion. Estimating our population at slightly more than 200 million, this means that every man, woman and child owes over $2,000.

We'd like to think that the present congress will take up this year's work with those figures beating relentlessly on their minds — so much so that they would adopt cost cutting as their number one job.

That would not be easy, of course. Presidents and Congresses before this have firmly resolved to trim down the budget, getting rid of unneeded personnel as well as programs, but they did not reckon with the bureaucracy which holds the purse in its iron grasp. Washington is full of self-seeking opportunists who have little concern for the tax payer or the public welfare. Their first aim is self advancement. Rather than trim down the padded appropriations or strive for more efficient operation, they add red tape and personnel in an effort to expand their importance and qualify for higher pay.

Though experience of the past few decades offers little encouragement, we hope that our new legislature will resolve to abandon political custom and settle down to firm statesmanship. They ought to be interested in doing the right thing just because it involves a fair deal to so many people, also because common sense tells them there has to be an end to the squandering or, inevitably, there will be an end to the country. We can't let this inflation continue without inviting a crash.

As we think this thing through we realize that we have been taken in by a bunch of smart alec economists who quipped that debt doesn't really mean anything because it's just money we owe ourselves. It was a catchy statement which helped people dismiss the problem, but it ignored the fact that counts a lot more.

Deficit spending, by causing inflation, is actually a system of stealing from the people who have saved. Ask the man who bought an insurance policy or a federal savings bond. The money he paid had a much higher purchasing value than he receives on maturity of the bond or policy. Who gets the benefit of that loss? Obviously those persons, more so the government, who buy with the higher value borrowed money and pay back with the lower value depreciated money.

There's still more involved in this debt issue. It can't be simply cancelled in order to make a new start. It has to be paid off, in part at least if not in full, because we must have some kind of just compensation for those who provided the money. Debt cancellation would be nothing but confiscation, which amounts to another way of stealing from those who saved.

The whole case briefly told is that our national money policy is neither smart nor honest. Congressmen ought to be aware of this and adopt an inflexible attitude against red ink budgets. Likewise the executive department ought to be equally firm in curtailing unnecessary spending. By all means they ought to be on guard against the waste of bureaucracy and even more so the outright thievery of graft and pork barrel politics.

A related subject is property tax, which likewise has been getting out of hand in recent years. The evil of inflation, which had its source in deficit spending, has forced local and state government to soar higher and higher, causing the local property tax to go up and up. One report says that homeowners in the older age bracket paid an average of 8.1 per cent of their earnings on property tax in 1970.

Everybody would like to bring relief to those taxpayers but the signs point to increase rather than decrease, especially in relation to big expen-

Weber Aircraft to Open Extension Factory Here

Another industry for Muenster is due to become a reality in the near future. J. M. Weinzapfel revealed Monday that Weber Aircraft of Gainesville had leased the former Jr. Elite dress factory location in the 700 block of East Division Street. The front half of the building will be used. Gene Davenport of Cooke County Electric Cooperative served as industrial consultant in bringing the new business here.

Weber Aircraft, Division of Walter Kidde & Company, Inc., is opening an extension of its Gainesville plant in Muenster for the manufacture of aircraft interior seat cushions. The opening of this establishment brings a new industry of fabrication techniques to North Texas.

Following its established policy, Weber will employ local residents as long as applicants are available.

The Muenster plant, expected to open about the end of this month, will operate under the direction of the Weber Aircraft Gainesville plant.

New Officers and Directors Named By Hesperian

An organizational meeting held at Hesperian Building and Savings Association last week completes the change over of executive personnel which began when the business was bought by Ward Hunt of Dallas in December.

At that time President J. D. Howeth and Vice President H. O. Kinne resigned from the organization, and Ed Wright, former manager, became president and Ward Hunt chairman of the board. Hunt is a son of Stuart Hunt, former owner of Sherman Savings and Loan Assn.

In last week's meeting the remaining previous directors — Leo Kuehn, R. W. Briscoe, Cecil Tinsley and Fred Buckingham — retired from the board and the new board members were elected. Along with Wright and Hunt they are Dr. W. F. Powell, Ralph Snuggs and Henry Spaeth. Fred Buckingham, former director remains with the firm as vice president. Fern Ranton, long time employee has been named assistant secretary-treasurer.

Other former employees remaining with Hesperian are Miss Marie Cannon, Mrs. Ruby Belle Cheaney, Mrs. Doris Hamer and Mrs. Dorothy Krebs. New employees are W. C. Mowell and Mrs. Leslie Stevens.

Wright said he sees 1973 as a year of unlimited opportunity for Hesperian and for the entire area.

Windthorst Has 3 On All State Team

The Windthorst Trojans, runners-up in the state Class B football championship playoff, placed three men on the all-state team announced last week by the Texas Sports-writers Association. And the other ten members of District 7-B had three honorable mentions but no selections on the first string offense or defense.

The Trojans listed were Dale Hoff, junior, at end; Gerald Schreiber, senior at quarterback; and Mike Hoff, senior, at running back. All are on the offensive team.

The other three nominees of District 7-B are Ronnie Felderhoff of Lindsay, Robert Parsons of Saint Jo and Dale Calhoun of Valley View, all backs.

Muenster Juniors Lose 2 to Nocona

Juniors of Muenster High lost both ends of their double header with the Nocona kids here Monday night. The scores were 41-28 for the girls and 36-11 for the boys.

In the opening game Muenster girls dropped behind 27-17 at the half and added a few to the deficit in the next half. Tracey Klement made 22 of the points, 14 on free throws, and Darleen Klement made the 6.

The Junior Hornets were outclassed all the way as Nocona rolled up a 36-11 win. Scorers for Muenster were Tim Wolf 6, Calvin Otto and Danny Fisher 2 each, Mark Mollenkopf 1.

Junior Tournament

Coach Bob Steele announced this week that he is sending out invitations for a junior high basketball tournament in Sacred Heart gym starting February 12. The schedule will be revealed after the number of participating teams is determined.

Pastor at Irving

Father Joseph Weinzapfel has been assigned to Holy Family Church in Irving as pastor effective January 17. He previously was pastor at Grand Prairie.

MHS Band Works On Sales Project For New Equipment

Members of Muenster Public School Band are working hard these days on a sales project to secure more instruments and music and to repair existing equipment. Last year there were 45 band members, this year there are 58.

Members plan to raise as much of the needed funds themselves by selling an all-purpose cleaner concentrate. Sales began this week Thursday. The young people plan to call on all homeowners and ask them to place an order for one or more bottles of cleaner.

This is a top quality, highly concentrated product designed for use in a variety of cleaning jobs including washing dogs and cats. If used according to instructions it is a genuine bargain according to band members and their instructor Bob Hayes who is supervising the project.

Mrs. John Mosman Is New President Of Garden Club

Election of officers during the business session and a talk on trees for the program highlighted the January meeting of Muenster Garden Club Monday night.

New officers are Mrs. John Mosman, president, Miss Sylvia Hofbauer, first vice president; Mrs. Paul Endres, second vice president; Mrs. Albert Stoffels, secretary; Mrs. Alvin Fuhrman, treasurer. They will be installed in May.

Mrs. Arthur Endres, retiring president, conducted the meeting in the home of Mrs. J. W. Fisher with Mrs. John Fisher as co-hostess.

Charles Woolfolk of Gainesville was guest speaker. He chose "Trees" as his subject. He discussed how trees are sold, how they should be selected for a specific need, proper planting and care. He recommended trees adaptable to this area and answered questions from members.

June 6, 1973 has been set as the date on which Mrs. Ross Ferris will again present a one-day school. Her subject will be announced later.

Roger Taylor of Muenster Garden Center will present the program at the next meeting on Feb. 12.

The hostesses served dessert and coffee to 16 present. Guests were the speaker and Mrs. Ed Schmitt, Mrs. Leonard Endres and Mrs. Alvin Fuhrman.

Muenster Deposits 69 Pints in Blood Bank

An improvement over the previous collection, but still a disappointment, the blood collection here Wednesday netted only 69 pints. That's 21 pints more than given here on August 3 but still considerably below the community quota of 80, which is determined by the actual local need in a six months period.

It means, according to David Bright, local administrator, that Muenster has overdrewn three times in the blood bank. The community as a unit has drawn out considerably more than it deposited and we are in debt to the other member communities.

The fact is especially disappointing because the blood bank renders a very real service to the community. It enables patients at the hospital and residents of the hospital district to receive blood transfusions for only the cost of services. The blood itself is free because it is donated, so the actual cost of a transfusion is about 30 dollars less than when a commercial blood bank provides the blood.

Some thirty communities participate in this Red Cross blood bank system which is headquartered at Wichita Falls. Each community in its turn provides blood for all other communities.

At Wednesday's collection there were 70 volunteers and, luckily only one had to be rejected because of present condition or medical history. Normally about 20 per cent are turned down.

Bloodmobile personnel, who had charge of the collection were Registered Nurses Theresa Donaldson, Kay Hilt, Maggie Service and Kathy Garri-

Council Outlines Control Method For Dog Nuisance

The Muenster city council at its meeting Monday night gave an answer to the local stray dog problem. It said that the city now has a good, adequate ordinance to control the dogs if people will report their troubles or file a written complaint.

As explained by City Superintendent Steve Mosler, a person can get initial help by calling the city hall and reporting if a dog has menaced someone or damaged something. The city will pick up the animal and take it to the dog pound. If identification is possible the owner will be notified and allowed to redeem the dog, and also reminded to keep it under control.

Unfortunately this action is not always sufficient. If released the dog is likely to return to its former behavior. In that case a written complaint may be filed with the city for action by the sheriff's department.

In other action the council approved a change in equipment at the sewer plant to eliminate trouble with a paddle wheel in the "race track" aerator.

3. An admission charge of 10¢ per person will be collected to cover costs.

Final Rites Held for Mrs. Joe Swirczynski

Funeral services were held in Sacred Heart Church Monday for Mrs. Joe Swirczynski, 84, Muenster resident 72 years, who died Saturday 4 a.m. in Muenster Hospital.

Rosary services were held in the Miller Chapel Sunday at 4 and at 8 p.m.

Bearers were grandsons: Ricky, Joey, Kevin, Tom, Gary and Herbie Swirczynski.

The former Miss Maggie Yosten was born June 9, 1888, in Ridgley, Neb., one of the eight children of John and Catherine Yosten. She came to Muenster with them in 1900 and was a continuous resident since that time. She married Joe Swirczynski on August 21, 1906, and became the mother of 15 children.

She was active in church and community projects and as her family grew up and left home she extended her interests to include chairmanships in St. Anne's Society, Civic League and Garden Club, and Catholic Daughters of America. She also was a member of the Third Order of St. Francis.

Her home was the collection depot and she had one room reserved for the project.

In her declining years she still helped by cutting stamps for the parochial school's mission stamp drives and was collecting and sending in old eyeglasses and frames to New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., at the time of her death.

For nine years Mrs. Swirczynski cared for her blind mother who lived in the family home until her death in 1936.

During World War II she wrote many letters to four sons who were in military service at the same time fighting on widely separated battle grounds.

Three sons preceded her in death, one as a child, one in infancy, and Arnold who died in San Angelo on Jan. 4 this year.

Surviving are her husband; eight sons, Al of Mesquite, Herman, Bob, Ray, Richard, and Bernard, all of Muenster, George of Winterhaven, Florida and Ed of Fort Worth; four daughters, Mrs. Alex Knauf and Mrs. Clarence Erpelding, both of Colorado Springs, Colorado, Mrs. Townsend Miller of Austin and Sister Helen, OSB of Hot Springs, Ark.; 59 grandchildren and 45 great-grandchildren.

Sale of Hesperian Ends 82 Year Era

Hesperian Building and Savings Association, established in 1890 as an organization to help people save their money, closed out an 82 year era on December 14 when its ownership changed from a group of Gainesville men to Ward Hunt of Dallas. The firm is the oldest building and savings association of Texas.

A brief history of the business was recalled by J. D. Howeth, outgoing president, when the change of ownership became effective. Howeth, now 85, has been with the association for 55 years and served as president for the past 20. His father, W. W. Howeth was one of the charter directors.

Original officers, he said, were R. D. Gribble, president; J. D. Leeper, vice president; W. T. Roberts, secretary and E. A. Blanton, treasurer. Other directors were W. W. Howeth, J. H. Wilson, J. W. Blanton, C. C. Hemming, W. S. Hurley and George T. Yates.

The firm's first loan was for $600 with 6 per cent interest. Loans since then have often been in large amounts, Howeth added, but the interest rate has never been above 8.5 per cent. Only two losses have been recorded during the 82 years. One was for $2,000, the other for $300. Total loans last year were over $18.4 million and total deposits were over $21.4 million.

Howeth said that Hesperian was organized with a dual purpose, to provide Cooke County people with a good place to invest their money and also a good place to secure loans. It has achieved both of those aims, paying out the highest legal rate of interest while financing thousands of houses and commercial buildings.

The business is now operating in its fourth location. Starting in the old Lindsay Hotel building, it moved later to the First State Bank and then to the 100 block of East California. Its last move was in June 1969 to the handsome and spacious new building at 111 E. Broadway.

Good-Bye to '72

The year 1972 was nothing if not eventful. The President of the United States made historic trips to Communist China in February, and Soviet Russia in May, signing agreements that will unquestion-ably have far-reaching effects upon the future of the world. The Vietnam War increased in fury when North Vietnamese Communists (on March 30) launched an all-out offensive to conquer the South and thus circumvent the negotiators; but the South Vietnamese, freshly trained by the U. S., fought back well, and American fliers mined the harbors of the North in addition to bombing strategic targets. Result: the Reds did less well in this offensive than in their treacherous Tet drive of 1968. The Communists committed the worst massacre of the war when they shelled refugees fleeing from Quang Tri, killing or wounding up to 20,000 civilians.

Peace talks were on and off throughout the year. Dr. Henry Kissinger announced late in October that "peace is at hand," but the elusive bird flew away again in Paris when the "final" drafting touches on the treaty were being made. At the end of the year, the United States had resumed bombing strategic targets in the North, and the crafty foe was charging that he had been robbed.

Two Apollo flights to the moon were made by Americans — one in April, the other in December — bringing back some hundreds of pounds of rocks judged to be of immense scientific importance. This man's first physical exploration of the earth's satellite was brought to an end until America or some other nation tries again. Scientists say that Project Apollo was the greatest technological feat in history.

President Richard M. Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew were re-elected in a sweep that carried 49 of the 50 States. Governor George C. Wallace, who had done well in his State primary bids for the Democratic nomination, was critically wounded by an assassin on May 15 at Laurel, Maryland.

Among notable persons who died during the year were former President Harry Truman, J. Edgar Hoover (who had directed the F. B. I. for 48 years) and the Duke of Windsor. Lost to the sports world was Gil Hodges, a great baseball player and manager.

The economy of the United States and of the world continued to gain, though large domestic and foreign trade deficits continued to cloud the picture. The West European Common Market was joined by Britain, Ireland and Denmark, while Norway declined to do so.

International crimes were paramount. Clifford Irving and his wife admitted the most costly literary hoax in history. They sold a fake auto-biography of Howard Hughes to McGraw-Hill Company for $750,000. The Olympic Games in Munich, Germany were saddened by the killing of eleven Israeli thelets by Arab Guerrillas. Earlier, on May 30, three Japanese terrorists departed at Lod airport in Tel Aviv, Israel, and immediately fired machine guns and threw grenades, killing 28 and wounding 76 other persons. The war on narcotics was expanded internationally.

The civil warfare in Northern Ireland increased in violence throughout the year, along with evidence that the flames of this strife were being fed with Soviet weapons and ammunition. Air hijackings increased in the United States, South America and Europe. Airline pilots of 64 countries went on a one-day strike June 19 to reinforce demands for stronger preventive actions. The year 1972 nearly every minute made memorable history, some bad but much that was good.

Too Much Pay
Congressmen H. R. Gross of Iowa and Morris K. Udall of Arizona are to be congratulated for their investigation (through the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee) of high salaries paid to officials employed by the U. S. Postal Service.

According to initial findings by the House Committee, salaries paid to Postal Service bosses today are double or more than previously paid to those running the Post Office Department. One witness, Mr. Edward Day, former postmaster general during the Kennedy administration, has testified that when he was running things there were only ten persons making over $20,000 a year. Today, he said, there are more than 1,000 Postal Service executives whose salaries exceed that figure.

Postmaster General Elmer T. Klassen gets $60,000 a year, the same as members of the Nixon Cabinet. But, in addition Mr. Klassen has several assistants; one is paid $52,500; three are paid $50,000, one receives $46,000 and five regional postmasters are paid $45,000 each. In turn, the regional postmasters also have well-paid assistants who draw $35,000 to $45,000 a year.

If the Postal Service produced a profit, such salaries might be understandable. Needless to point out, however, is the fact that the Postal Service is currently operated at a huge deficit, and that these millions of dollars are extracted from your pocket-book through Federal taxes.

From a business-like point of view, would it not be advisable to cut the inflated salaries back to their former level of $20,000, with the proviso that when the Postal Service ceases to lose money, then the pay would be raised? After all, the lessons of history shows that a man works best when he has some incentive.

If you agree with this idea, clip out this editorial and mail it to our Congressman.

Simple Arithmetic

Mr. John O'Riley, writing in The Wall Street Journal, struck at the heart of the tax and inflation problem when he observed, "A man is often heard to complain that his income, though growing has trouble rising fast enough to keep ahead of the climb in his taxes. Is there any reason why it necessarily should? Say a man has ten dollars of income. And say he spends seven himself and three through taxes, in public outlays. Now say he chooses, through his representatives in government, to spend four dollars of the ten on public services. Is it remarkable that he has only six dollars left instead of seven? Until a new mathematics is invented that can make, say, two and two equal five, it will always be that way."

Are you one of the complainers who expects government to spend $4 for every $3 it takes from you in taxes and then wonders why there is inflation and why you can never make ends meet? If you are, you will continue to wonder until you've learned that the ancient rules of arithmetic apply to governments as well as individuals.

Texas Completes Changeover to New Government

Texas got a fast-starting legislature, a new governor, lieutenant governor and speaker of the House all in eight action-packed days.

Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde and William P. Hobby Jr. of Houston were inaugurated as governor and lieutenant governor in spectacular ceremonies Tuesday, Jan. 16.

Price Daniel Jr. of Liberty won election as House speaker without opposition as the legislature convened January 9. The 31-year-old son of former Gov. Price Daniel (who now serves on the State Supreme Court) announced appointment of House standing committees four days after his election, and immediately referred bills for hearing.

Outgoing Gov. Preston Smith offered some good financial news to the arriving legislators. His $9.7 billion biennial budget proposal estimated a $300 million surplus for lawmakers to use in expanding programs or revising school finance formulas.

Governmental reform proposals backed by Daniel will be among the first bills to get House hearing. The House, with a minimum amount of opposition, promptly adopted the trick set of procedural rules the new speaker urged.

Smith in his swansong to the Legislature, advised that lawmakers move immediately to establish the constitutional revision commission directed by voters last November. He submitted as an emergency matter appropriation of funds to pay the commission's expenses.

The outgoing Governor further advised legislators ought to consider tackling the tough school finance system overhaul in a special session.

The Solution Not the Problem

More and more Americans are being concerned about the quality of the air we breathe, the water we drink, the land where we live.

They're concerned about making our whole environment healthier.

The investor-owned electric companies of Texas and the nation are concerned, too.

For as the nation grows, its need for more electricity grows — and while the electric companies are dedicated to providing all the power needed to promote orderly growth and development in their service areas, they are also dedicated to becoming a part of the solution, not the problem, in the nation's search for a cleaner environment. The current observance of National Electrical Week provides an opportunity to point this out.

One of the greatest tools the scientists and engineers who work with solving the problems of pollution is electricity.

Take our air, for instance. Electricity has already made it cleaner by reducing the smoke from the nation's industrial and business and residential chimneys. In many cases, smoke is eliminated entirely by using electricity to melt metal in the foundries. Electricity is being used to develop large mass-transit systems — one answer to the air pollution from the exhausts of America's growing fleet of automobiles. An exciting hope for the future is the electric-powered auto, which will have no exhaust pollution at all. Turn to our water, where the most significant single cause of pollution is sewage. Electricity powers the pumps and the other complicated machinery that treat this sewage, and electricity is vital for the larger and better sewage treatment plants now being built.

And then there is land pollution — empty bottles and cans and old autos and all kinds of solid waste. Electricity powers the huge presses to crush discarded auto bodies into compact, easily-disposed or reusable blocks of metal. Electricity is needed for recycling old paper and processing it for use again. The list goes on and on.

So, you see, electricity plays a large part in overcoming pollution. Rather than being the problem, it's a large part of the solution.

Members of St. Joseph's Society, Sacred Heart Parish, at their January meeting Sunday night learned local winners in the Youth Essay Contest. Students wrote on "Our Lady of Fatima's Peace Message and the World." Awards of three, two and one dollar were presented to first, second and third place boys and girls in both divisions.

In Junior High, 7th, 8th and 9th grades, winners are: Leon Bayer and Marilyn Otto, first; Benny Bindel and Sharon Rohmer, second; Arnold Yosten and Mary Kay Caplinger, third.

In Senior High, 10th, 11th and 12th grades: Myron Hess and Carol Yosten, first; Larry Bayer and Laura Kralicke, second; Alan Rohmer and Barbara Hess, third. Top essays will compete for district honors.

District meeting of the Catholic State League, northern district, will be held in Muenster on Feb. 25 and St. Joseph's Society is planning that event. Guest speaker and program highlights will be announced later.

Wilfred Bindel, local president, district president and local chairman of the essay contest announced winners and led discussion on the Feb. 25 meeting.

Plans also are underway to observe the society's patronal feast, St. Joseph's Day, March 19. A religious and a social celebration are to include Mass attendance followed by a dinner party.

Members are invited to pay their dues now to be eligible for the social activities. Tickets will be available in advance and early reservations are being urged.

Get well cards were sent to Ben Luke and Brother Thomas Moster. C. J. Wimmer, an honorary member, is being remembered in Masses and a sympathy memorial certificate will be presented to the family.

New members welcomed are Donald Stoffels, Chris Walterscheid, and Leo Neusch.

Tommy Tuggles Newlyweds, Make Gainesville Home

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Tuggle are making their home in Gainesville since returning from their wedding trip. They were married Friday, January 5, in a double ring ceremony by the Rev. Kyle Thurman, pastor, in Westminster Presbyterian Church at Gainesville.

The bride is the former Miss Lou McAden, daughter of Mrs. Sybil McAden and Harold McAden of Gainesville. She is a 1970 graduate of Gainesville High School and attended Cooke County Junior College.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Tuggle of Muenster, the groom is a graduate of Muenster High. He is employed with his father at Tuggle Motor Company here.

An arrangement of pink roses sent by the bride's brother, Harold Wayne McAden of Austin, decorated the altar space.

The bride wore a champagne chiffon velvet gown accented with old fashioned lace on the empire bodice and Juliet sleeves. She wore a Doir bow in her hair and carried a long-stemmed red rose streamer with red satin.

Mrs. Thomas Patrick of Kansas City, sister of the bride, was matron of honor wearing an empire gown with a deep red velvet bodice and chiffon skirt over satin bordered with a deep pink and red trim. She carried a long-stemmed red rose with white streamers.

Leslie Helton was best man. Becky Wallace sang the "Wedding Song" accompanied on the organ by Cheryl Hammer, niece of the bride.

Wedding reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAden. A white anniversary candle was on the registration table. Red cloth overlaid with ivory lace covered the serving table adorned with white candelabra and red votive candles. Cake and punch were served by Mrs. Robert McAden and Mrs. Jim Hammer of Healdton, Okla. For traveling the bride wore a two-piece black and white suit with red accessories. Wedding guests included the groom's grandmother Mrs. Sam Tuggle of Muenster.

The Other View

A small community in Kansas was shocked when the twelve-year-old son of a leading citizen, without any prior warning, died suddenly in his sleep. An autopsy revealed that the lad was the victim of a rare and unsuspected form of meningitis.

His death saddened everyone. No one could understand why so young a person had to die. Some bitterness was expressed along with a great deal of bewilderment.

But one of the boy's friends put the whole thing in perspective when he said to the youth's mother; "I bet Mark was surprised to wake up and see Jesus."

SH Teams Have Bad Week in Basketball

Last week was a bad one in basketball for Sacred Heart High teams. They won only one of their nine games. That was a 25-18 triumph of the boys' B team over Lindsay's second stringers.

In that contest the young Tigers led 12-8 at the half and only 13-12 after a bad third period. But they snapped out of it in the fourth outscoring Lindsay 12-6. Roger Endres scored 17 and John Bartush 6. Lindsay girls, contenders for the 7-B title made a runaway of their game with the Tigerettes. The count was 72-28. Peg Hoedebeck hit 14 for Sacred Heart and Nancy Fuhrmann 5.

The boys game was better but still a very one sided 56-37. The Knights took a first quarter lead of 16-4 and improved their lead by 2, 1 and 4 in the next three periods. Ricky Walterscheid and Kevin Pels hit 13 and 12 for the Tigers and Gary Endres made 7. Ronnie Felderhoff of the Knights scored 20.

Hosting Saint Jo the Tigerettes took an 8-7 first quarter lead and dropped behind to a 21-17 half time count. The third period was near scoreless as Saint Jo made 2 and Sacred Heart nothing. Then the visitors moved ahead to their 32-21 win. Peg Hoedebeck made 14 and Nancy Fuhrmann 7.

The boys game was an easy 62-37 win for the Panthers as Gary Endres poured in 23 for Sacred Heart and Kevin Pels 6. Parsons of Saint Jo got 29.

Also on the 3-game program was a boys' B game in which Saint Jo gained all the way to a 48-21 win. Roger Endres and Larry Bayer made 12 and 8 for Sacred Heart.

Another 3-game event was in Valley View Tuesday night. Opening that program both of the girls' B teams did little scoring and Sacred Heart was lower in the 16-11 count. Cindy Bartush hit 6 and Gayle Miller 4.

The next game, featuring Bryant's 38 point scoring spree, was an easy 63-27 win for the Valley View girls A team. Peg Hoedebeck scored 18 for Sacred Heart and Nancy Fuhrmann 6.

The evening's finale started fairly even as the Eagles led the Tigers only 20-12 at half time. After that, however Valley View started clicking for a decisive 54-24 win. Ricky Walterscheid scored 10, Gary Endres 5, Kenny Hess 4 and Mark Hess 3.

Sacred Heart High teams have an open date Friday and will meet Era Tuesday.

Miss Vivian Yosten, graduate of SHH last May, is employed in Hays, Kansas, at Travenol Laboratories and lives with her sister, Janice, who has one more semester left to graduate from Fort Hays College. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Yosten of Sulphur Springs, formerly of Muenster.

4-H Club News

SH Senior Girls

Crocheting was the principal activity at the January meeting of SH Senior 4-H girls with Mrs. Bill Lutkenhaus and Mrs. Oscar Detten giving advice. Marlea Thompson, assistant county agent, met with the group and said finished pieces will be displayed at the Foods Show on Jan. 20. Members were reminded to bring two knitting needles and some yarn to the meeting next month. President Kim Reiter led the club motto and pledge and Kathy Luke read minutes and called the roll. Sharon Rohmer is club reporter.

Muenster Community Club

Muenster Community Club members took advantage of the Christmas holidays to complete Food and Nutrition Group II. The girls met in the Eddie Fleitman home with Mary Lou Fleitman, Freida Davis and Barbie Davidson acting as Junior Leaders.

They studied nutrition and enjoyed making and sampling several dishes from each of the food groups. They also planned and prepared one after school party.

Girls in the class are Connie and Cathy Flusche, Debbie Zimmerer, Pat and Kathy Davidson, Bev Trubenbach and Cindy Davis. They will compete in the County Food Show Saturday at CCJC.

Muenster Community Club's act for Share the Fun was "These are My Favorite Things". They received a Blue ribbon. Members in the act were Cindy Davis, Connie Flusche, Debbie Zimmerer, Cathy Flusche, Justin Davis, Pat Davidson, Claudia Flusche, Kathy Davidson and Larry Fleitman.

The business manager of a large factory collected 25 cents from each of the 2000 employees to purchase a gift for the big boss who was getting married. With this $500 he purchased 2000 packages of Raleigh cigarettes — removed the coupons and traded them for a silver serving set for a gift for the boss. Then he gave every employee a package of Raleigh cigarettes for the two bits he donated, thus no one was out a red cent. When the big boss learned of this satisfactory deal, he wanted to compliment the business manager but was told he was on a fishing trip — trying out the fishing gear he had received for the trading stamps he got when he purchased the cigarettes.

The orator had been scoring points on his speech on agriculture. "... and I say to you, my friends," he said. "that it is the farmer who has made this country what it is today." "That's right," came an unexpected voice from the crowd, "throw all the blame on the farmer."

Sullivant Reports 63rd Legislature Off to Fast Start

Representative Bill Sullivant reports that the 63rd legislature is off to a fast start in Austin. True to his word, Speaker of the House, Price Daniel, Jr., has already made his committee appointments and has given strong representation to the freshmen on all of the important committees.

Several items of reform legislation have been introduced and referred to committees for immediate action. Among the proposals most important to the tax-payers of our state is a bill which Sullivant has co-sponsored limiting the powers of House and Senate conference committees. Under the proposal the conference committee would be restricted to adjusting the differences between the House and Senate versions of the appropriation bill. This would cut out the past practice of the conference committee adding new items of appropriation which did not appear in either the House or Senate version of the bill. "This bill should go a long way toward helping us get a tighter rein on state spending," Sullivant commented.

Among other reform legislation which Sullivant signed as a co-sponsor is a proposed ethics bill. "This proposal, if enacted, should help us avoid any more Sharpstown type scandals," Sullivant said.

SH Elementary Loses 2 to V View

Sacred Heart Elementary kids were at the short end of two basketball games with Valley View Monday night. The girls game started with Valley View leading 14-4 at the first quarter, after which both went into a slump. In the remaining three periods Valley View added 14 and Sacred Heart only 2 for the final count of 28-6. Janet Henschel scored 4 for Sacred Heart.

Next game was a good contest, tied 2-2 at the first quarter. SH leading 7-6 at the half and trailing 14-13 at the third period. However Valley View gained more in the fourth for a 20-15 final count. Craig Sangster scored 8 for Sacred Heart.

Coming action for the juniors will be a boys game Friday with Immaculate Conception preceded by a game by two SH girls teams. Boys and girls elementary will host Era next Monday and Saint Jo Thursday.

Four Year Term
Tom Creighton, representing this senatorial district in the Texas legislature, is one of the lucky men who will not have to run in the next political campaign. At last week's drawing for terms of office he was one of those drawing a four year term.

NEWS OF THE SICK

Andrew Fleitman is in Muenster Hospital since Friday with a broken hip. He sustained the injury late last Thursday falling in the barn at his farm, and had a rough time for about 20 hours before he got help. He crawled to the house, turned on a porch light hoping to attract attention of neighbors because, having no phone, he could not call anyone. An electric blanket was the only heat in the house after his wood fire burned out. Still alone the next day at mid-afternoon, Andy crawled over the thawing ice to his pickup and drove to the home of his brother, Ben, about a mile away, to ask for help.

Miss Elaine Otto has her right leg in a cast since receiving multiple fractures when her sled crashed into a tree during the ice last week. She is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Otto, a shut-in with only occasional out of bed periods.

Joe Lutkenhaus who will be 95 next month has recovered successfully from eye surgery and has regained vision after being totally blind the past two months. He had a cataract removed from his right eye at Mary Shields Hospital in Dallas and was a patient ten days. His daughter Mrs. Oscar Detten stayed with him and brought him home Monday. He will return Friday for a checkup.
