

If you're thinking of buying a used car it would be a good idea to look at home rather than go to a big city dealer. The home town dealer will be able to tell you something about the units he has for sale and their former owners and, more important, he can assure you that a car has not been dunked in the grit of floodwaters.

A warning just issued by American Automobile Association tells the public that cars damaged in recent floods are hitting the market by the thousands. The method, AAA says, is for dealers who receive the cars to sell them cheap to so-called gypsy dealers who move them to other parts of the country for sale by dealers who ask no questions.

Usually a car that has been damaged in that way has a number of tell tale signs, but not always. So, the best thing in the end is to buy from the home town dealer who knows his car's history and is interested in having a satisfied customer.

There's a strong probability that Cesar Chavez and his United Farm Workers Organization bit off more than they can chew when they took on the national Farm Bureau Federation. As told by William J. Kuhfuss, president of the FB, the federation was threatened with a massive informational campaign in 40 cities unless it withdrew its efforts on behalf of federal and state farm labor legislation.

About the first result of the smear campaign was a statement by the National Grange, a rival organization, endorsing the FB position. The Grange master said "To belong to a union or not to belong should be based on the merits of the union and not on the economic pressure brought to bear through a secondary boycott."

He has the right idea, and the sooner it can be conveyed to the public the better for all concerned. Organizing farm workers is fine as long as it is voluntary. Soliciting membership on the basis of union merit is fine, but on the basis of coercion and economic pressure it is all wrong. The secondary boycott stopping grape or lettuce sales in the stores so that growers will agree to hire only union workers is all wrong. Remember, the workers were non-union because they did not want to pay tribute to Chavez or be subject to his dictatorship.

There's an encouraging note in the reaction of the National Grange. There is a chance that other organizations will get a belly full of the strong arm methods and add their influence to that of the Farm Bureau and Farm Grange. In fact one can't imagine what's keeping back every industrial and civic organization that believes in a fair deal for the worker. And even other unions ought to be tired of doing the hatchet job for the unscrupulous UFWO boss. They were called upon to give up grapes and lettuce so that workers could be handed over to Chavez dictatorship.

We'd like to think that straight thinking people will be induced to pull together in this cause and make it possible for all workers to be free and not subject to the dictatorship of labor bosses, on the farm or in the factory.

In case you wonder about the kind of legislation proposed by the Farm Bureau, here are a few of its provisions: Secret balloting by workers on representation, prohibition of secondary boycotts, preservation of state laws relating to compulsory unionism or right to work and exemption of small farmers.

A few days ago a big city police chief was quoted as saying that our present laws on marijuana are too harsh, that possession and use of it should be only a misdemeanor instead of a felony.

At first one is inclined to go along with that idea. Certainly the first offenders do not think in terms of serious defiance of the law. Rather it's more of a personal experiment that doesn't hurt anyone else — somewhat like trying tobacco or alcohol. From that viewpoint it is undeniably harsh to lower the boom on the beginner. Probably most of us will agree that the law should go easy on first offenders, but we have lots less

Bloodmobile Visits Nets 48 Pints for Local Blood Bank

Community response was the poorest to date in Wednesday's visit by the bloodmobile from the Red Cross Blood Bank Center of Wichita Falls. Forty eight pints of blood were collected from the 55 volunteers who reported.

This figure is only 60 percent of the quota of 80, which had been set to match the community's need over a six months period. The disappointing turnout seemed probable for the past few days, according to David Bright of Muenster Memorial Hospital, who had charge of appointments. Fewer people were calling than before. Regarding reasons for the drop he guessed that warm weather has had an effect on people's mood for blood donation. Also that the previous collection was less than three months ago, and possibly a few regular donors are away on vacation.

The shortage does not jeopardize the local blood program, Bright said. Our needs will be met regardless. However it places Muenster in the position of doing less than its share toward the success of the program.

The blood bank system is a definite asset to patients of Muenster Hospital and residents of the hospital district. Any of these people who need blood may draw on the bank for free blood. There is no charge because the blood had been donated by local people for that purpose. The only charge is for services of collecting, storing, transporting, transfusing, etc., by the blood center and the hospital at an over-all saving of about $30 for a unit of transfusion. Besides the hospital saves about $150 per month in stocking fees.

Wednesday's blood collecting was done by five technicians from the Wichita Falls blood center. They were assisted by local nurses Mmes. David Walterscheid, Ed Cler, Harold Flusche, Mel Stephens and C. J. Blankenship.

Also helping were Hospital Auxiliary members Mmes. Richard Pagel, Jerry Walterscheid, Herman Grewing, Ted Henscheid, Henry Starke, Andy Schoech, Arthur Bayer and Pete Cook.

Both Schools Will Register Tuesday

Next Tuesday is registration day at both Muenster schools. Superintendents announced this week that each school will enroll beginning at 9 o'clock — in the main office at the public school and in the high school library at Sacred Heart.

After that kids will get a few more days of vacation.

Lightning Sets 2 Pasture Fires At Marysville

Two bolts of lightning caused two pasture fires in the Marysville community last Thursday night while threatening clouds were in the area. But no rain accompanied the electrical display.

Mrs. John Richey reported that the first huge bolt set fire to the pasture north of her home. She and visitors in her home at the time put that blaze out.

A few minutes later another large bolt set fire to the pasture north of where the Methodist church building formerly stood.

Muenster Fire Department was called to this fire and it was extinguished by their unit, along with help from several residents.

Only damage was to about four acres of pasture and no buildings were involved.

JCs Will Sponsor Tourney in Slow Pitch Softball

A slow pitch softball tournament will be hosted by Muenster Jaycees during the week of August 14-19.

Co-chairmen Tom Flusche and Roy Reiter announced the event this week and said they expect to have a dozen teams entered. Six are signed up now and additional entries up to twelve will be welcome. Whoever wants to compete can see Flusche or Reiter.

They said it will have champ and consolation brackets with three games per night and final awards of $40 to the champ, $25 to the runner-up and $15 to the consolation winner.

Teams that have signed up are Muenster, Cooke County Distributors, National Supply, Weber Aircraft, Gainesville Planning Mill Hill Realtors and a NTSU team.

Slow pitch softball, new to most people of this area, is somewhat similar to other softball, except that the slow pitch allows more opportunity for slugging. Home runs are frequent and scoring is usually high.

Four Local Scouts Selected for OA At Texoma Camp

Four members of the Muenster Boy Scout troop were tapped out last Thursday night in Order of the Arrow ceremonies at the Circle Ten camp on Lake Texoma. They are Bob Endres, Jim Luke, Damian Luke and Paul Reiter.

Ordeal and formal admission will be held later this year at Camp Wisdom near Dallas.

The OA ceremony was a part of the regular week long scout camp attended by eighteen scouts and four adults of the Muenster troop. Their activity included outdoor living and working on merit badge projects.

Boys attending were Thomas, Joe and Sam Bright, Ronnie Weinzapfel, Larry and Billy Phillips, Ray and Damian Luke, Paul and Lloyd Reiter, Kim and Terry Walterscheid, Jim Luke, Bernie Fette, Bob Endres, Brent Hess, Tim Wolf and Mark Mollenkopf. Adults with them were Willie Walterscheid, David Fette, David Bright and Wilfred Reiter.

Classes start on the 14th at the public school and on the 21st at Sacred Heart. The reason for early registration is to provide time for making adjustments in case conflicts develop.

Superintendent L. B. Brunns announced that buses will run to bring the students in Tuesday morning. To get here at 9, they will run an hour later than on regular class days, and they'll make the return drive early enough to get the students home for dinner.

After registration teachers will be on duty the rest of the week, using three and a half days of the ten they are assigned for in-service training. They will be here Tuesday afternoon and join other county teachers at CCJC the next three days.

General Walker Will Be Speaker At Youth Meeting

Major General Edwin A. Walker, Retired, will be the speaker at the next meeting of American Youth Patriots to be held next Monday night, August 7, at 8 p.m. in the K of C Hall.

General Walker is remembered for his hassle with the Army some 12 years ago as a result of his policy of telling his troops the blunt truth about communism in orientation meetings. He was silenced by the Army on recommendation of the State Department, which objected to statements which might offend the Soviet government.

Walker responded by resigning his position and forfeiting the retirement pay he had earned. Since then he has been managing editor of American Mercury, also aroused the ire of red sympathizers in his public speaking. He was shot at by Lee Harvey Oswald, the assassin of President John Kennedy. He was a candidate for governor of Texas in 1962, and received the high vote in Muenster.

The speaker will appear here at the request of A. V. Grant, who is currently sponsoring a series of meetings for young people exposing the aims and methods of communism and its influence behind current American problems. Adults as well as the youths will be welcome.

Kralickes Rescued as 2 Die from Monoxide

The tragedy which claimed the life of Dr. B. F. Hejdruk slightly more than five years ago was almost repeated late Sunday afternoon when Dr. and Mrs. Martin Kralicke narrowly escaped a fatal dose of carbon monoxide gas.

Both were rescued after losing consciousness and two of four other persons exposed to the lethal fumes failed to survive.

The victims were two Sherman men, Mike Reinig, 52, manager of the Johnson and Johnson Pharmaceutical Plant, and Bill Gafford, 51, owner of Gafford Construction Co. The other two were their wives, both 48.

Dr. Kralicke is back to normal and his wife is in good condition in Muenster Hospital. After spending Sunday night in Denison Memorial Hospital, they returned by ambulance to Muenster Monday. She was transferred to the local hospital. He did not need further hospitalization, and returned to his practice Tuesday morning.

In Dr. Hejdruk's case it was a matter of being discovered too late. He and three other persons died of carbon monoxide poisoning on the evening of May 29, 1967, in a Gainesville home and were not found until the following day. He and Dr. Kralicke were Muenster's only doctors at the time and both were on the Muenster Hospital staff.

Sunday's tragedy took place in a cabin cruiser on Lake Texoma. As told by Dr. Kralicke, he and his wife and two children, Elizabeth and Diane, along with their friends, Debbie Schneider and Julie Bayer, were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Lillie of Sherman.

Center Will Close Season in Tussle With All Stars

The boys' summer baseball program in Muenster will end Friday night when the championship team meets all stars from the other three teams. This is the game originally scheduled for last Friday night but postponed because several boys on both sides were at Boy Scout camp.

After the game all boys of the four teams will have a swim party.

The Center ended the regular season with an almost perfect record of 8-0-1. Electric Co-op was second with 4-3-2, then Endres Motor with 3-3-3 and Muenster Mill with 0-9-0.

Members of the Center team are Roger Endres, Bennie Bindel, John Henscheid, Damian Walterscheid, Bob Schmitz, Joe Sicking, Bob Grewing, Randy Wolf, Tim Wolf, Bert Walterscheid, Kim Walterscheid and Billy Hoenig. They are coached by Adam Wolf and Herbert Walterscheid.

All star selections are Chris Sicking, Glenn Henscheid, Mark Stoffels and Nickie Walterscheid of the Co-op; Pat Endres, Neil Huchton, Tim Felderhoff and Karl Koessler of Endres Motor; Robert Hartman, Bobby Endres, Calvin Otto and Kirk Johnson of Muenster Mill. Coaches of the three teams are Ted Endres and Jim Cler for the Co-op, Andy Knabe for Endres Motor, Billy Reiter and Dale Hellman for the Mill.

Hearing Scheduled On School Budget

All persons interested in the school's financial matters are invited to attend the meeting in the superintendent's office of the school.

Lettermen to Meet

man in a picnic group on the lake shore. Nearby was a number of boats brought by people in the picnic group. Some 40 persons were there.

Dr. Kralicke received a report that two women on the nearby cruiser were ill, and went to help. His wife, Betty, a registered nurse, went along.

In the boat's cabin were two couples with the air conditioner running. The two women said they were feeling faint. Since he had no medical kit with him, Dr. Kralicke only checked their pulse and color and suggested that they keep quiet and comfortable near the air conditioner for a while.

One of the husbands said his wife had been similarly ill in the boat about three weeks before and was all right after

San Antonio Will Host Convention of Electric Co-ops

Leadership and the role of Texas' 80 rural electric co-operatives will be discussed during the 32nd Annual Meeting of the State Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives in San Antonio's Convention Center, August 10-11.

An indepth look at the electric industry will be presented by T. L. Austin, Jr., President of Texas Utilities and Chairman of the Board of Texas Power & Light Company. Economic development will be covered by Dr. Will Erwin, Deputy under Secretary of Rural Development in the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C.

The final Friday morning session will feature an address by David A. Hamil, Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, the business session, election of officers; and "Your Co-operative and the Challenge of Change" will be the topic presented by Louis Strong, President of the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association in Washington, D. C.

An Annual Meeting highlight will be the Thursday evening Banquet and Pageant when the 1972-73 Miss Texas Rural Electrification will be selected to replace the current reigning Cynthia Akin of Slaton.

a night in the hospital. If only he had recognized the remark as a clue to the real trouble, Dr. Kralicke said, he could have prevented the tragedy by ordering everyone out into the fresh air.

Moments later he turned to speak to Reinig and saw him falling to the floor. And as he turned to Mrs. Kralicke he saw her slumped over a table.

At that time he realized that they were being poisoned by carbon monoxide. He turned to tell Gafford and found him also on the floor. Then he noticed that he, too, was beginning to feel faint and foggy. His next thought was to get to the door and call for help, but he failed to reach it.

Later a lady in the picnic party came to the cabin to talk to Mrs. Kralicke and found everybody unconscious. She rushed back and told Dr. Lillie who brought companions and moved the victims outside. The owner of an adjoining boat radioed for ambulance service and oxygen.

Meanwhile Dr. Lillie and others started heart massage and mouth to mouth resuscitation of the six victims, but failed to get response from Reinig and Gafford.

Dr. Kralicke said he apparently regained consciousness before the ladies, but doesn't recall what happened. He was told that when the ambulances arrived he was on his feet and declined to ride to the hospital in an ambulance. Instead he rode with a game warden. Also he did not think he was sick enough to be hospitalized but remained to be near his wife.

Dr. Kralicke says that the thought which haunts him most was his failure to realize the situation in time to avoid the deaths and critical emergency. The early mention of a previous illness was a hint that equipment was faulty. And if he had become aware of the monoxide only moments earlier he could have called for help.

The poisoning was diagnosed as coming from a small auxiliary gasoline engine which was used to operate the air conditioner when the main engine was not in use. Monoxide fumes from the little engine were picked up by the air conditioner and circulated in the closed cabin.

New Drug Route

Until recently, opium was grown in Turkey, converted into heroin in France and imported into the U.S. via East and West coast ports. Now that diplomatic pressures have partially blocked the Turkey-France-U.S. route, one might expect drug traffic to lessen.

Unfortunately, a new route is sending in narcotics at the rate of $4 million a month — eight times last year's amount. What is this new route? According to former U.S. Senator Kenneth Keating (R-NY), an expert on the problem, "Communist China and Cuba are now being used as a funnel through which heroin and cocaine are being poured into the U.S."

The drugs are sent from Red China to Cuba, and then smuggled into the U.S. One indication of the new route is the huge amount of heroin being uncovered in Florida. Another is Castro's work with radical Puerto Ricans to increase drug traffic there.

Closer customs checks are of little use, as Castro's narcotics carriers are usually sympathetic diplomatic couriers. The couriers travel throughout the U.S. under the protection of their diplomatic passports. Their baggage is free from customs examination.

There are several reasons for the Red China-Cuba-U.S. route. Middleman Castro can boost Cuba's lethargic economy through the lucrative drug sales. With the tremendous profits, he can finance radical activities in Latin America. An even more sinister use of drugs is turning American youth into dope addicts who must steal or prostitute themselves to support their habit.

The U.S. Bureau of Narcotics, aware of the new route but unable to block it, says that Castro has a former New York City mobster working directly under him in the Havana police. Gangland chieftain Lucky Luciano secretly visited Cuba often before his death. It appears that Castro has taken over his dope racket.

Castro refuses to cooperate with United Nations drug authorities. The Cuban Premier has given narcotic peddlers their ultimate desire: official government sanction. Washington experts are grim. Under present conditions, the Red China-Cuba-U.S. route is growing and little has been done to curb it.

Society and The Accused

Senator James L. Buckley (C-NC) told the Americans for Effective Law Enforcement in Chicago that he wants to "enjoy the blessings of liberty unmolested." Weak and yielding laws, however, have made him fear for the lives and property of his friends and family.

"I want to have a reasonable basis for believing that the criminal will be apprehended, tried and punished," Buckley continued. "This will not be done by blaming crime on environmental shortcomings, inadequate education or economic disadvantages."

America cannot wait until utopian visionaries build the perfect, crime-free society, Buckley said. Before attempting the ideal nation, we must take steps to protect citizens from the barbarians who roam our streets and commit crimes almost at will.

Strong, vigorously enforced laws were called for by the Senator. Buckley said his approach may be "hard-headed" but it is not "harsh." He suggested studies of British law, expediting criminal trials, penal reform and making criminal court decisions final as ways of protecting the liberty "of society as well as that of the accused. . . the rule of law can only abide so many attacks," he said, urging Americans to support and hasten legal reform.

Sick (?) Society

Gloom purveyors love to call the United States the "sick" society. Because the U.S. fails to measure up to their utopian standards, they claim that revolutionary changes are necessary. Hardly ever do they mention some of the benefits of living in this nation.

We have the highest living standard in the world. Our national income equals that of the next six highest nations combined. While half of the world subsists on $100 per capita income a year, the U.S. enjoys an average of $3600. Even the highly developed West European nations have per capita incomes of only about $1600. Russians, living in an alleged "workers' paradise," average $800 a year.

A mere six percent of the world's population lives in the U.S. Yet, it graduates as many from high school as all the nations in the world combined. We also have more college graduates than the total of all the other nations.

Professional pessimists often cite the number of American poor, some 15 percent of our population. But if 15 percent are poor, 85 percent are not poor. Most countries would be pleased if they had such low poverty figures. Many Americans, however, make a point of always looking at the negative side.

Adherents to the sick society myth believe that the good life cannot be measured in material terms alone. They are correct. The U.S. allows more personal freedom than any other nation. An American can freely travel from New York to Los Angeles. There are no commissars to check papers at state lines, and our high standard of living has given most Americans enough wealth and leisure time to afford the trip.

Under our capitalist system, any citizen can start the enterprise he wants. He has a free market in which to dispose of his product. Besides the freedom to work where he wants, an American can worship where he chooses, travel where he pleases and write what he wants. We have no state regulations against personal freedoms. Perhaps those who call this a sick society are sick.

The New Way to Increase

A businessman who had taken time to look into the latest proposed tax law "reforms" finds good cause for alarm. The alleged "reforms" include the termination as "loopholes" of 54 time-tested tax provisions at the rate of 18 a year beginning January 1, 1974.

As analyzed by this businessman, "The list threatens major tax increases for virtually every taxpayer in the nation by including everything from eliminating interest on home mortgages and deductions for local property taxes to deductions for contribution to charity. It eliminates capital gains treatment, retirement income credit, sick pay, capital gains treatment of lump-sum pension fund distributions, the $100 dividend exclusion, and group life insurance. Almost unbelievably, it also eliminates additional personal exemptions for the aged and the blind, and exemptions for college students and other children who have earned $750 or more toward their own support."

The measure containing the so-called "reforms" places the burden of proof, not on tax reformers, but on the taxpayers. Concludes the businessman, "Instead of being innocent until proven guilty . . . we are guilty of benefitting from loopholes until we prove we are innocent." Raising taxes on everyone in the guise of closing tax loopholes is a new political game — and a trap for the unwary voter.

dinners and get-togethers during her stay. Last Wednesday all were in reunion at the Tony Hess home in Muenster. Sister Elise went to Laredo in company of her mother, sister Dorothy Bengfort, and another sister and husband, the Norbert Zimmerers and they went sight-seeing in Old Mexico. Sister Elise is back at her former teaching post.

Visiting the Jake Bezners last weekend were their daughters Viola and Kathleen Bengner of Arlington.

Mrs. Bill Hudspeth, English and German teacher at Lindsay High, attended a seminar on contemporary German at Austin College last week. She was among 30 German teachers from Texas at the workshop.

She had accompanied them to Lindsay the Sunday before when the Bruno Zimmerers and Sammy, Sister Dorothy Theresa and I. A. Zimmerer spent the day in Hurst.

A worker in a Houston violin repair shop claims he restrings an average of 14 instruments a day. "And that, gentlemen," he adds, "takes guts!"

If you think you can be happy by letting the Government take care of you, just remember what happened to the American Indian.

Dorothy Knabe and Raymond Fleitman Say Vows at Mass

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Fleitman are honeymooning in Canada since their wedding Saturday, July 29. She is the former Miss Dorothy Knabe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Knabe Sr. of Gainesville, formerly of Muenster. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fleitman of Muenster.

The couple married in a double ring ceremony at Nuptial Mass celebrated by Father James J. Gillespie, pastor, in St. Mary's Church.

Presented by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie covered with voile. The empire bodice had a high-rise neckline trimmed with embroidered lace. The same lace formed a panel down the front of the gown. Long puffed voile sleeves were trimmed and cuffed with the lace. Her cathedral-length train of voile was attached at the waist in the back with a sheer bow.

She wore a triple lace-trimmed bow to hold her tiered veil of illusion and carried a crescent of miniature yellow carnations around a white orchid.

Mrs. Alvin Knabe was her sister's matron of honor wearing mint green, and Miss Charlotte Stoffels of Lindsay, in cream yellow, was bridesmaid. Their floor-length dresses of bonded crepe had short puffed sleeves and high necklines. Embroidered laces complemented the bodice waistlines, collars and sleeves and velvet ribbon at the waist ended with back bows and long streamers. Their flowers were cascades of light yellow and green pompon mums and English ivy.

Alvin Knabe, bride's brother, was best man, Robert Sicking of Myra was groomsmen, Ben Fleitman Jr., Muenster, and Glenn Hellinger, Gainesville, cousins were ushers. Dominic Knabe, brother of the bride, and Mark Zwings were Mass servers.

Miss Patsy Spaeth furnished organ music and Miss Darleen Batis sang "A Time for Us" before the ceremony. "One Hand, One Heart" at the offertory, "Come Before the Table" during communion, "Mother at Your Feet" after the service when the couple placed two long-stemmed yellow carnations on the Virgin's altar.

Wedding reception and catered buffet were held in the Knights of Columbus Hall. Mrs. Henry Spaeth, Misses Linda and Susie Knabe, bride's sisters, and Jane and Karen Hellinger, cousins, served the wedding cake. Miss Linda Knabe and Miss Shirley Hellinger registered guests. After the meal, guests danced to the music of the "Rustlers."

For their trip to Washington State and Canada the bride wore a two-piece misty green outfit with white accessories. They will make their home south of Myra where he is a farmer and dairyman. He is a graduate of Sacred Heart High, served in the U.S. Army two years with overseas duty in Italy and is attending Cooke County Junior College.

The bride is a graduate of Gainesville High and is secretary for Cooke County Abstract and Title Co.

Wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joe Frank of Canyon, Messrs. and Mmes. Joe Bayer, Billy Nash and Johnny Welborn, all of Denton, the H. L. Herrons of Denton and the H. R. Richards of Grapevine.

Mrs. Hoagland Has Guests for Buffet And Home Blessing

Mrs. Ronnie Hoagland entertained for the first time Sunday in her new home when she was hostess for a buffet while Abbot Alfred Hoenig of Corpus Christi was in Muenster. He was accompanied by Father Boniface Buegler.

For other guests, members of Abbot Alfred's family, it was a surprise. They didn't know he was there.

Present with Mrs. Hoagland visiting from Mexico City, were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Pete McCoy.

Others for a cocktail hour and the buffet meal were Messrs. and Mmes. Joe, Alphonse and Tony Hoenig and Theo Vogel and Mrs. Johnny Otto. The group moved outdoors afterward for visiting and table games at poolside.

Monday at noon Abbot Alfred presided for the new home blessing at the Hoagland home. Others present were Father Boniface, the McCoy's, the Joe Hoenigs and Mmes. Joe and John Fisher. After a champagne toast, the group except the Mmes. Fisher had lunch at Rohmer's.

Abbot Alfred and Father Boniface had spent Sunday overnight at the Rectory and left Monday afternoon for Oklahoma City to be joined there by Abbot Michael Lensing of Subiaco, Ark., on a trip to Vancouver, Canada, to attend an abbots' meeting.

Afterwards the group joined in playing such games as bounty hunting tight squeeze, and reading and writing. They also enjoyed learning some new folk games. The journey through Dog Patch USA ended with a short ceremonial on What Your Shoes Can Tell You.

Fifteen junior leaders along with the assistant county extension agents planned and lead the activities for the 4-Hers.

Catfish Farming
 The Public Service Company of Colorado notes that catfish farming soon will be under way in a $5 million cooling lake built by Florida Power & Light Company for its new 420,000-kilowatt generating unit. The 1,100-acre lake will operate in a closed loop with the plant's condensers. Catfish will be raised in 4x4x24-foot cages, each holding 7,500 fish. Muenster Garden Center Bulletin

The bag worms and elm leaf beetle are still causing considerable damage.

The mulberry trees are dropping leaves and turning yellow, a sure sign they need iron.

We've had reports already on the pecan weevil, so check closely and give us a call, if needed.

Also the damage in the lawns from chinch bugs, grubs and leafhoppers is getting worse.

If you still have vacation left, let us spray your home while you are gone for ants, roaches, spiders and termites so they won't be waiting for you when you return.

and Texas regulatory agencies. Several hundred construction workers will be needed to build the plant and a 3,200-acre lake. Lake water will be used for cooling purposes. In addition, the lake will be stocked with fish and opened to the public for fishing and recreation.

Company officials said the plant will help assure the service areas of the three companies a continued adequacy of their electric power supply. They added that conventional fossil fuels now used to generate electricity will be in short supply in the next decade, necessitating the use of nuclear energy to produce electric power.

Furthermore, they added, nuclear power has distinct environmental advantages. Nuclear power is clean power since it eliminates smoke and combustion products and gases, they stated.

The plant will be the first in North Texas. One other nuclear plant has been announced for South Texas. The plant will be Texas Power & Light Company's second in the general area. TP&L is now constructing a gas/oil-fired generating station near Granbury in Hood County. The 775,000-kilowatt unit will be put in commercial operation for the peak load season of 1975.

A nuclear plant produces electricity the same way a conventional plant does. The heat source is the only difference since nuclear fission produces the heat which turns water into steam. The steam spins the turbine, which in turn spins the generator, to produce electricity.

Texas Power & Light Company and two other electric utilities announced today the construction of a 2,300,000-kilowatt nuclear generating plant tentatively to be located in Somervell County, 80 miles southwest of Dallas.

Other companies participating in the project are Dallas Power & Light Company and Texas Electric Service Company.

The plant, Comanche Peak Steam Electric Station, will be located in northeast Somervell County, provided certain engineering and environmental tests now being conducted prove sound. It will consist of two 1,150,000-kilowatt generating units. The first unit will be placed in operation about 1980, and the second two years later.

Construction of the plant is subject to the approval of the Atomic Energy Commission

Which was invented first—the parachute or the airplane?

The parachute. Long before the airplane, men were parachuting from balloons. In 1783 the inventors of the man-carrying balloon, Joseph and Etienne Montgolfier, dropped animals by parachute from a high tower. In that same year Louis Sebastian Lenormand stepped off the tower of Montpelier Observatory in France and parachuted to the ground successfully. Leonardo da Vinci made the first known sketch of a proposed parachute about 1480.

Body Thermostat Does Something About the Weather

Some say "everyone talks about the weather but no one does anything about it." However, the truth is that all of us, assuming normalcy, are constantly doing something about it.

Each of us is equipped with our own private thermostat. When changing weather conditions cause the atmospheric temperature to vary from the 98.6 degree F. at which the body temperature of a healthy human being has been standardized, the thermostat triggers the mechanism which helps the body maintain its normal temperature.

One of the most remarkable facts of human physiology is that the temperature of warm-blooded animals remains unchanged at 98.6 degrees, even though the temperature of the surrounding environment may vary from below zero to over 100 degrees.

Provided the air is perfectly dry, a man can exist and maintain normal body temperature in an atmosphere that will actually grill a beefsteak. There are experimental cases on record where human subjects, by drinking great quantities of water to sustain perspiration and stripping to the waist to facilitate evaporation, have withstood temperatures up to 260 degrees for extended periods without suffering ill effects.

The sensation of heat or cold is not due to a change in body temperature but to a change in temperature of the skin surface. And skin temperature is affected when our private thermostat goes into action.

This built-in regulator is a tiny maze of nerve cells located in the mid-brain, part of the brain area known as the "hypothalamus." If the day is hot, it re-routes blood from internal organs to skin capillaries to cause perspiration. Body temperature is reduced when the perspiration evaporates.

If the day is cold, the thermostat concentrates the blood and, instead of flowing through skin capillaries, blood flows deep within the body. Sweating is minimal. Result: you feel cold and have to put on a sweater or an extra blanket to stay comfortable.

Did you know you perspire even at room temperature?

ture? You do, but since it evaporates instantly you are really unaware of it. When you are at rest indoors fully clothed, visible sweating begins when the air temperature reaches a level between 80 and 90 degrees.

The old saw — "it isn't the heat, it's the humidity" — is perfectly true. The same man who withstood 260 degrees in a dry atmosphere would be in serious trouble if he tried to endure a 120-degree temperature in a damp, humid atmosphere. Body temperature rises rapidly in such a situation because the rate of evaporation is influenced by the extent to which the atmosphere is already saturated with moisture. You feel sticky when the humidity is high because sweat which is not evaporated simply drips from the skin and in no way increases heat loss.

Suppose you, a male, and your lady are caught outside in the first norther of the season. You have a coat but she does not. You would probably be gallant and give her your coat. However, she is physically equipped to withstand the cold better than you. You both have built-in insulators — a layer of fatty tissue beneath the skin — but hers is thicker than yours.

Other conditions besides the weather can affect body temperature. In the presence of disease or infection, the pulse quickens as the heart hastens more blood — laden with antibodies — to the body areas involved. The speed-up in circulation raises body temperature and a "fever" is produced. There are also body conditions such as malnutrition, anemia, and senility which produce a drop in body temperature.

In any 24-hour period it is normal for temperature to vary. Usually it will rise a degree or so about 4 p.m. and drop in the same manner about 4 a.m.

Heat is also produced when the steak and potatoes you had for dinner are burned and converted into energy for various body uses. The process is called metabolism.

Comments about the weather have unquestionably opened more conversations than has any other theme of discussion. And all the time you're talking about it, that ingenious little thermostat in the middle of your head is hard at work compensating for changes in atmospheric temperature.

Cause of High Prices

A Sylvia Porter column in the Arizona Republic held a recount of the factors behind higher food prices. Rising farm prices are blamed a little, the middlemen "swallowing up even larger chunks" are blamed a lot. Other factors named: Pollution controls, tightened food inspection rules, rising skepticism about food additives, import quotas, new product development, convenience stores, the weather, the dock strikes, the organic gardening boom, and the consumer bidding up prices for the food she wants. Really there's quite a list of things that go into the cost of food.

NOTES FROM THE LIBRARY

By Bettie Luke

To those who wanted a book on embroidery stitching: Muenster Library has a new book, "Creative Needlework," by Hedin. It gives complete directions for all embroidery work, with illustrations.

Another book is "Grewel Embroidery New and Old," by Weldon. In the 17th and 18th centuries there was a great vogue for hangings, bedspreads, large curtains, etc., embroidered in wools on linen twills. The contemporary crewel shows emergence of crewel work in America in new and exciting fabrics and backgrounds, and interesting threads and cord are being used with the traditional wool.

"Needlepoint for Everyone," by Picken and White another book in the library, gives detailed direction of all the various stitches used, with illustrations, even for use by right-handed and left-handed people.

The elegance of needlepoint is at home anywhere. Leading decorators are using these colorful heirloom accents in contemporary room settings as well as antiques.

Come and read with us.

Don Flusches at Auctioneers Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Don Flusches attended the National Auctioneers' Convention in Dallas last Wednesday through Saturday with headquarters at the Fairmont Hotel. They celebrated Don's birthday and their 13th wedding anniversary during that time. Mrs. Flusches joined the Women's Auxiliary from Texas, just organized, and became a charter member.

The good times of convention and entertainment ended in misfortune however. When the Flusches went to their pickup before attending the final convention highlight they discovered that the pickup had been broken into and a thief or thieves had taken all their belongings, including Mrs. Flusches handbag and credit cards which had been locked in the pickup. They were left with only the clothes they were wearing. Authorities were notified. Nothing has been recovered.

There's no limit to the good a man can do if he doesn't care who gets the credit.

Windthorst Ready For Observance Of 80th Birthday

Windthorst has the welcome sign out for everybody who will attend the 80th birthday celebration of the community this weekend.

Saturday and Sunday are the big days of festivities for which plans are made to host a crowd of 2,000 to 3,000 visitors.

A unique parade will be held Saturday at 5:30 p.m. followed by a barbecue supper and two dances. Everything will be held on the hill at the church and school.

There will be no theme for the parade. Everyone does his own thing and each organization or group tries to outdo the rest.

More than 500 pounds of barbecued beef with all the trimmings will be ready for serving outdoors Saturday. There also will be booths with games and refreshments.

Father Cletus Post, will offer a Mass of Thanksgiving in St. Mary's Church — the highest ground in Archer County — at 7:30 a.m. on the birthday Sunday.

Festivities resume at 1 p.m. Games and booths, even more than on Saturday will be open and there will be pretty girls on a dunking trough stool.

Tours of St. Mary's Church will begin at 2 p.m. There will also be a horseshoe tournament beginning at 2 o'clock. From 3 to 8:30 p.m. Sunday supper will be served. Visitors will be able to take home some of the homemade delicacies prepared from old German recipes. These will be available in the country store. A dance Sunday night will end celebrating.

The past will be relived in an antique and heirloom exhibit and will include many items brought from Germany by ancestors. The community of 750 is working hard to make it a birthday to remember.

Films Offered on New Sign System Of Highway Dept.

That new sign language on Texas streets and highways is the subject of a Texas Highway Department "course" in interpretation.

Entitled "New Life Signs," the program is a 16-minute slide presentation designed for use by service organizations, schools and other groups. It interprets the new symbol signs going up along Texas highways.

The presentation is available with audio tape of narration and music from any of the Highway Department's 25 district offices. These offices also will supply additional information that might be used for a special program on highway development.

The Highway Department has initiated the new series of symbol signs to replace many of the present word message signs used on streets and highways throughout the State. In addition to providing uniform highway signing throughout the United States, the new signs also conform to those used in most other countries to simplify travel despite language differences.

This new slide program was developed to familiarize the public with the new sign system.

As a safety procedure, the Highway Department plans to use word messages with the new signs temporarily. When highway users become sufficiently familiar with the symbol signs, the word messages no longer will be needed.

In this area the program is available at the Texas Highway Department's Wichita Falls office, Box 660, Wichita Falls, Tex. 76707.

Workshop for Deaf Sponsored by KC State Council

Sponsored by Texas Knights of Columbus, a second annual workshop for the deaf will be conducted Thursday through Sunday, Aug. 10-13, at St. Mary's Seminary in Houston.

Although primarily for adult deaf Catholics, members of their families as well as non-Catholics, will be welcome at this Texas Catholic Deaf Community Week," said James F. Houlihan of Port Lavaca, director of the K. C. Deaf Community Program.

"We urge all deaf persons 18 years old and older to attend, and if they don't have transportation, to contact members of local Knights of Columbus councils which have been asked to assist them."

Houlihan said highly-experienced leaders, headed by Rev. Robert Bek, state K. of C. coordinator, would conduct the deaf community conference.

"Father David Walsh of Ligouri, Mo., who has had more than 20 years' experience with the deaf throughout the U.S. and Canada, has designed the workshop program," said Father Bek.

"He will be assisted by Father Rudy Gawlik of Galaudet College in Washington, D.C., the world's only college for the deaf; Sister Anne Behre, principal of a high school for the deaf in Brooklyn; Sister Joanne Fuelner, also from the Brooklyn school's faculty, and myself."

Father Bek said the purpose of the workshop is to organize lesson plans which will reach the deaf and result in a positive personal religious philosophy.

"We intend for the deaf to be able to develop a basis for a way of life enhanced by Christianity," Father Bek continued. "We feel they are shut off from the communities in which they live. We hope to bring God fully into their lives in order to permit them to participate in, and understand, their religion."

Peaceful Garden

Among the many gardens built by the feudal lords of the Edo Period (1603-1867), Ritsurin Park in Takamatsu City, Japan, is among the best preserved. Occupying an area of about 185 acres, it contains six ponds, thirteen hills and a "rotating garden" — so called because it presents different vistas as one strolls along. A characteristic of such a garden is that it allows visitors to follow the fluctuating drama between man and nature which is seen moving through a medium of time. Through the appreciation of the varied sights in the garden, man is led to greater depths of understanding. The garden consists of the semi-occidental North Garden and the Japanese-style South Garden. Among the special features of the garden, the New Moon Bridge (Mikazuki Bash) is the most famous.

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

By Crawford C. Martin
Attorney General of Texas

Planning a vacation? Up, up and away — make sure it's you and not your money! Many travelers have fallen victim to phony travel promotions.

The most common scheme is promoted through extensive advertising or direct solicitation of groups, such as teachers or government employees, and especially students. The offer may include round-trip fare, accommodations, and additional services at bargain rates.

The fraudulent promoter requires a deposit or even the total price in advance. He accepts only cash and rarely gives you a receipt. Once he has collected from a sufficient number of victims, he'll disappear without a trace. And you're stuck — no vacation and no money!

Be careful when taking charter flights. While many are true savings for group tours, some turn out to be nothing but gyms. One travel agent booked flights resulting in the stranding of 1,100 passengers and a loss of nearly $500,000! Check with several travel agencies before making final arrangements.

Vacations offered in connection with property selling are also popular schemes. An all-expense paid weekend in Florida is hard to pass up. The promoters assure there's no obligation to buy. They just want you to "take a look" at some newly developed land, which they'll sell at extremely low prices. Be careful! Your tour guides are really expert high pressure salesmen and may talk you into buying property you never wanted.

Another trick is gimmick advertising, which proves to be more misleading than actually fraudulent. Even legitimate agencies carry such pamphlets and brochures. For instance, you may see this headline: "$169 to Greece!" It sounds pretty good, but as you read on, you discover this price carries many stipulations: it includes only one-way fare, the flight leaves from Chicago, the offer is good only if you're 26 or younger, etc. If by any chance you're able to follow these limitations, is it really worth it to you?

To avoid being stranded at the airport, dockside, or train station, deal only with reputable travel agencies or group tour promoters. Be certain your contract for passage states that you can get a refund of your money if the flight is cancelled for any reason. Make sure you understand exactly what the price covers — and what it doesn't.

HEW Spells Out Medicare Benefits

"What Medicare can pay and can't pay is the cause of some confusion in our area," said Gus Jones, district manager of the Sherman social security office.

One particularly important feature of the Medicare law is that of deductibles, said Jones. There are two deductibles which must be met. The medical insurance portion, or the so-called doctor bill part of Medicare, has an annual $50 deductible. In other words, said Jones, the patient is responsible for the first $50 of his doctor bills in a year. When doctor bills exceed $50 during a year, a claim should be made for payment. Medicare will pay 80% of the doctor's reasonable charge for services after the $50 deductible.

The hospital deductible is different. Presently, a person entering a hospital participating in the Medicare program would pay the first $68 of charges. Depending upon the circumstances, it may be necessary to pay more than one hospital deductible during a year. This point has understandably caused some problems for persons in our area, Jones said.

Generally, this situation occurs when a person has a condition requiring several hospital stays over a period of time. At the time of the first hospitalization, the patient pays his $68 deductible. Upon readmission to the hospital, the patient may or may not have to pay another $68. It depends on how long the patient remained out of the hospital. If he was readmitted within 60 days, he will not be asked to pay another $68. On the other hand, if a patient went 60 consecutive days without being a patient in a hospital or any facility that mainly provides skilled nursing care, he will be asked to pay the $68 again, said Jones.

It should be pointed out that there are advantages to the Medicare beneficiary either way. If his condition requires several successive hospitalizations in a relatively short period of time, he will not be required to pay a deductible each time. For the person who is able to remain out of the hospital or skilled nursing facility 60 consecutive days, this means of replenishing the number of hospital days he may use is provided. These hospital days used during a previous illness do not count against a current or future need if he remains out of the hospital or skilled nursing facility for 60 days.

Ambulance charges are also covered under the doctor bill portion of Medicare, said Jones. However, Jones cautioned, certain conditions apply. Medicare will pay for ambulance transportation when the ambulance, its equipment, and personnel meet Medicare requirements, and transportation by other means could endanger the patient's health.

The patient also must be taken to a facility serving the locality, or the nearest facility that is equipped to take care of him. Since this service is provided under the doctor bill portion of Medicare, it is subject to the $50 deductible provisions. This same part of Medicare permits payment (after the $50 deductible is met) of 80% of the rental or purchase of durable medical equipment prescribed by a doctor for home use. Such items would include a wheelchair, crutches, or oxygen equipment, said Jones.

her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wolf and daughters Laura and Mary Lynn were visitors. They were enroute to Austin to pick up daughter Pattie Sue who was at camp. Arriving this week for a vacation visit with his mother were Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wolf, Laura Lee and twins Veronica and Mark of San Diego, Calif.

Among the county's 21,795 inhabitants age 5 and over in 1970, 2,717 were living in a different county within the State in 1965, and 1,416 in a different State.

In the population age 16 and over, 73.8 percent of the men and 41.7 percent of the women were in the labor force. Among the employed, 37.5 percent were holding white collar jobs, and 12.9 percent were government workers.

About 43.6 percent of the married women with husband present were in the labor force, and 29.6 percent of these wives had children under six.

There were 6,505 persons 3 to 34 years old enrolled in school. In the 25-and-older population, 45.0 percent of the men and 47.4 percent of the women were high school graduates.

When Whistler came home one day, he found his mother scrubbing the floor. "Mother," he said, you're off your rocker.

sympathy for the addict and none whatever for the pusher.

Before going any further in our compassion it might be a good idea to notice the official attitude in countries that have had more experience with the weed. There must be a reason why they get tough with the offenders. India, China and Japan, for instance, have harsh regulations on the use of all drugs. And Nigeria has gone from open legalization to the death penalty for the sale and use of marijuana.

They have decided that marijuana is aborting the country's natural growth. And a Greek doctor who has studied marijuana effects for more than 20 years says he can recognize the chronic user by the way he walks, talks and acts." and "personality changes in long-time users include slowed speech, lethargy, lowered inhibitions and immorality."

In short the marijuana user becomes a liability to society even though he can escape from society on his trips. He's to be reckoned with on the highway, on our streets, in the alleys, as a possible traffic hazard and as a thief or murderer seeking money to support his bad habits.

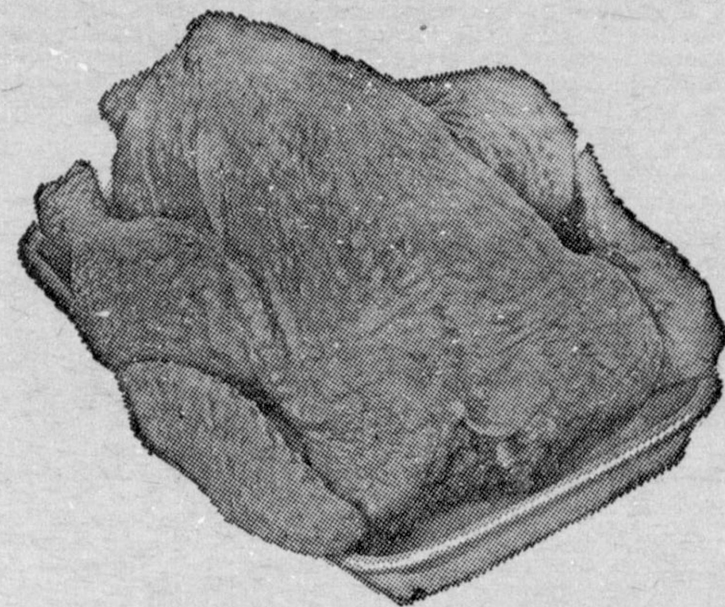

Countries that know more about the use of dope are convinced that its use must be curtailed. We too need to realize that we can't afford that kind of damage to society.
