Governor Clements has proposed a quick solution to an urgent problem in his idea of housing some 1500 prisoners in tents. He expects to have these tents available in the "security perimeters" of existing prisons by July 1 to relieve crowded prison conditions until November 1, when more permanent structures should be finished.

Another housing plan for 1500 other prisoners is to parole them to half way houses, 750 by June 1 and 750 by July 1. This accounts for 3000 prisoners who can be accommodated in the barracks type structures to be finished on November 1. What this amounts to is $35 million, the estimated cost of the barracks type prison, plus no telling how many more millions for installing the tents. We taxpayers can be thankful at least that the state already has the tents and doesn't have to buy them.

At first thought this seems like a rugged life to impose on the prisoners, but it's relieving to hear that a number of prisoners have applied to be sent there, saying that the outside atmosphere will be more suitable than the confinement of prison walls. The governor states his case rather emphatically in saying "If the tents are good enough for our Army and Marines and National Guard, I don't see why they are not good enough for the people of our prisons."

Perhaps, as a few prisoners have already said, they are better than the regular prisons, but will they be good enough for the critical eye of Federal Judge W.W. Justice, the person who started the hassle? Obviously he doesn't think that Texas prisoners now are receiving humane treatment. Regardless of what they did to become prisoners they deserve a better life. And by an odd twist of our legal system he is able to tell our governor and legislature what they have to do.

Well, since we're being stuck with the additional facilities, perhaps our state ought to consider the tents as a permanent arrangement. They ought to be suitable as a way to segregate the lesser and younger offenders from the hardened criminals, thus enabling them to pay their debt to society without becoming more inclined to crime.

It has often been said that prison association makes the beginner worse instead of better. If not morally broken down by depraved fiends, he gets the idea that he can make crime pay. All of which makes it seem that a period of tent life, with more exposure to summer heat and winter chill could become a part of paying one's debt to society and returning to a useful life.

There has been lots of evidence to show that prisoners do not improve by being degraded, but it's reasonable to expect good results from hard work and a sacrifice of normal comforts.

This pre-supposes also that our legal system will banish the delays and red tape and technicalities which enable the beginner to evade justice in the first place. It would help enormously if the youngsters were shown that crime does not pay rather than see so many succeeding at it. The federal judge who is so determined to have prisoners live in comfort ought to consider that prisoners would be fewer if the penalties were tougher.

A related problem in our legal system is the Legal Services Corporation. Actually its greatest disservice to the country is its agitation of society by encouraging boycotts, strikes, picketing

Muenster Jaycees Host Regional Banquet

By Teresa Rainwater
Enterprise Staff Writer

The Muenster Jaycees hosted the 1980-81 regional awards banquet and program Saturday, May 9 at 6 p.m. in the VFW Hall.

Approximately 50 Jaycees and wives of Region IIA gathered for the steak dinner and presentation of awards. The Muenster chapter cooked the steak; Ed Schneider catered the rest of the meal.

The invocation was given by Chuck Bartush. Randy Formby and Chuck Hawthorne led the Pledge of Allegiance and the Jaycee Creed.

Louie Gieb of Lindsay introduced the head table and various guests. Regional Director Dennis Dohrer of Wichita Falls presented the year-end region review and joined Bob Trout, life-member of the Jaycees, in distributing the awards.

Awarded "president of the year from Region IIA" was Randy Formby of the Brazos River chapter. Louie Gieb of Lindsay was recognized as the "outstanding district director of the year".

Lindsay Jaycees were presented an award for community involvement during their Octoberfest, and the Wichita Falls chapter received recognition for their successful Labor Day rest stop.

The "roadrunner of the year" award went to Chuck Hawthorne of Wichita Falls, and the "roadrunner chapter of the year" for the region was also awarded to the Wichita Falls Jaycees.

Brazos River Jaycees received the "chapter of the year" for the 1980-81 year. Muenster, Burkburnett, Lindsay and Bridgeport were given special recognition for their loyal support during the 1981 area vice-presidential race.

The presidents and their chapters who were represented at the banquet were: Ron Wickham, Vernon; Tom Bland, Wichita Falls; Tom Moore, Burkburnett; Troy Bradley, Nocona; Larry Schumacher, Lindsay; Jim Jackson, Gainesville; Roy Stewart, Bridgeport; Randy Formby, Brazos River; Philip Scanio, Mineral Wells; Bill Hall, Weatherford; and Ross Felderhoff, Muenster.

Muenster Jaycees and some of their wives who attended the banquet were: Claude and Deb Klement, Terry and Diane Walterscheid, Bert and Kim Walterscheid, Wayne and Tudor Klement, Jim and Shirley Endres, Larry and Marty Kinard, Bob and Janet Hermes, Gary and Teresa Rainwater, Ross Felderhoff, Chuck Bartush, Ken Fuhrmann, and Mark Klement.

The 50 Muenster Jaycees devote much time and energy to many community projects. Each year they are responsible for providing the Santa Clause at the Christmas Parade; for hiding the Easter eggs and conducting the Easter egg hunt activities at the park; for organizing little league baseball in the summer and the punt, pass and kick con-

CCC Dr. Laird Will Speak At MHS Graduation

Dr. Alton Laird, president of Cooke County College, will be the commencement speaker at Muenster High School's graduation Friday night, May 22 in the MHS auditorium.

With degrees of bachelor of science, master of education and doctor of education from the University of Houston, Dr. Laird has headed CCC since 1973. He is an active member of many professional organizations relating to higher education and has served as an officer in several at the state and national level. In Gainesville he has served as president of the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce, also as a United Way and church worker.

Graduation ceremonies at Muenster High will begin with baccalaureate service next Wednesday night, May 20, 8 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church with Father Stephen Eckart as celebrant of the Mass and the Reverend Keith Thomas as baccalaureate speaker.

Jinx Haunts MHS State Qualifiers

Fingers are crossed at Muenster High this week as two more students enter the UIL athletic finals this week. The big question is whether Jim Biffle and John Zimmerer will be victims of the jinx that has been haunting MHS lately.

Biffle is a favorite for the state tennis title after breezing through four one-sided wins at the regional. But since then he has fractured his right wrist. Question: How will that affect his performance in the big show-down?

John Zimmerer, after a great season barely survived the 3200 m run in spite of a long lead just before the finish. From an apparent easy first he stumbled to barely second. The next day John was fourth in the 1600 m race. Question: will Zimmerer be up to par for this one?

Other casualties were

David Flusche and Monte Wimmer, tied for No. 1 in district pole vault. But before regional Flusche fractured a foot, which spoiled his effort in the vault, and Wimmer missed the event because of illness.

Flusche's problem extended to the 400 m relay and the 1600 meter relay. He was on both of the teams. Marcus Tate of the 400 meter foursome replaced Flusche in the 1600.

The hard luck also applies to Jill Walterscheid, who apparently felt the pressure in the big competition. She was seventh in the shot put with 35 feet 7 3/4 in., and the winner was 38 ft. 10 1/4. Jill has topped that distance in practice. Likewise in discus at the regional her record was considerably under the practice distance. Jill's one satisfaction is that, as a junior, she has a chance to try again for state.

Stenholm Continues as Area Congressman

The redistricting story coming this week from Austin indicates that Congressman Charles Stenholm will continue to represent the Muenster area but Bob Glasgow of the Texas Senate and David London of the Texas House of Representatives are moved away from the area.

Two changes concerning Stenholm apply in Cooke County. A small area in the northeast part of the county is changed from Ralph Hall, Dist 4, to Stenholm and an area in southeast Cooke, including Valley View, is transferred from Stenholm's Dist. 17 to Dist. 26, with portions of Collin, Dallas, Tarrant and all of Denton Counties. Regarding Senator Glasgow, District 22, he acquires area in Dallas and Ellis counties and loses Cooke County, which is added to Dist. 30 (Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls). Montague County likewise is annexed to Dist. 30.

Representative David London, House District 23, appears due to lose Cooke and Wise Counties, and Cooke is to be divided with most of the county and all of Montague to be assigned to Charles Fennell of Holliday, Dist. 53. The small area of northeast Cooke now in Congressional Dist. 4 is assigned to Robert Bush of Sherman, District 22.

Funds Pledged to Ball Park Project and Vandalism Reward

Members of the Muenster Chamber of Commerce lost little time in plowing back a portion of their Germanfest earnings into community improvement. At their regular meeting Tuesday they voted to add $500 to the local reward for information leading to the arrest of vandals who recently destroyed city and school property.

The organization's intention is to do whatever it can to end the outrages which degrade the city's looks and costs its taxpayers. Members are convinced that continued effort and alertness will eventually pay off.

Another civic decision was to increase the chamber's commitment from $1000 to $2000 for improvement of the city ball park. The previous pledge was $1,000 for that purpose but the report that a first class job required a total of $9000 influenced the chamber to double its amount, hoping that others will join in.

Along the same line Dick Ferber, the C of C president, pointed out that 5 percent of the Germanfest admission money is dedicated to park improvement and maintenance.

As regards the profits which yielded the benefits, John Pagel, Germanfest treasurer, said the amount was approximately equal to the gate receipts of almost $16,000. As regards the other operation, he expects to about break even after remaining bills and payments are received.

A discussion on admission charge revealed that little of the predicted objections materialized. The effect was somewhat softened by free admission of children, fun runners and workers. Considerably less than half the patrons had to pay. Out of town people seemed to take it for granted, and they were generous with their compliments about the festival and the city.

On the other hand the Germanfest committee had an assortment of constructive suggestions volunteered by the people. Such as, see that prices are uniform for the same items; have fewer trinkets and more German type souvenirs; have cigarette machines and more water fountains; identify all booths by name; have one large tent with the space used by two; have less rock and roll and more waltz and polka music; set up fireworks north of the park instead of south to improve the view.

Less welcome comments revealed that two tether lines were cut and a flag stolen at the Schlitz balloon, the Coors stage was vandalized and other damage occurred.

In other business the members decided to join the county unit in the Governor's war on drugs. The chamber's office in the T&J building will keep an assortment of literature including information on when and where county meetings are held. Ferber added that a local chairman is wanted and the chamber is willing to help promote anti-drug programs.

A special presentation at the meeting was a film from the Texas Resources and Environmental Council. Wholesale beer distributors of Muenster sponsored the showing, which revealed that recycling is big business in Texas, profitable for individuals and the salvage people and good for the environment. Along with the recycling of aluminum, a familiar activity here, the

DESTRUCTION OF THE DOLLAR
The Silver and Gold Report quotes noted monetary analyst Dr. Franz Pick as saying: "I have lived through the destruction of the Czechoslovak koruna, the German mark, and the French franc. Now I'm witnessing the destruction of the U.S. dollar. The destruction process is the same."

Pick defines that process as the debasement of our currency by the government. He states, "Between 1940 and 1980, by official government figures, the U.S. dollar lost 81 percent of its domestic purchasing power. . . . The government will continue to debase the dollar until it is worth about a penny. [Then it will] repudiate its debts by exchanging 100 old dollars for one new dollar. This may happen within 12 to 24 months. That's a pretty pessimistic prediction, but it's the opinion of an acknowledged expert. It certainly could come true — but it can also be prevented."

Would you like to see inflation ended? Would you like to return to a life-style in which your real income increased every time you received a raise in pay? Would you like to see your dollar buy as much at the end of the year as it did at the beginning? Would you like to have the confidence that your retirement pension and your insurance policies would retain their value and see you securely through your "golden years"? If you are one of that growing number of Americans who recognize that a continuation of present monetary policies will eventually result in an economic collapse and probable enslavement, then you will want to know how we can end inflation and in the process insure a return to the good life. The answer is quite simple: return to a gold standard for our money. While America was on the gold standard our money held its value and prices were stable over very long periods of time. What is the present standard of value of our money? When you really analyze it, we don't have one, and we haven't had one since we left the gold standard in January, 1934.

In his monograph, To Stop Inflation: Return to Gold, economist Henry Hazlitt explains how the gold standard works: ". . . history underlies the real reason for the full gold standard, even a gold coin standard. Whenever a government or an issuing bank is not required to redeem its notes in gold, on demand, to any amount, and for anybody who holds them, the government or the bank will be certain to overexpand credit or to overvalue the currency."

"The temptation is too great. The banks want to make all the loans they can, to maximize interest returns. Governments believe (especially since Keynes) that prosperity can be created or prolonged, and that demand, prices, profits and employment can be sustained or increased, as long as more money is issued. The requirement to convert paper currency on demand into gold — into a metal limited in supply by nature and the high costs of extraction and refinement — is the one thing that puts a limit on the overissue of credit and paper money."

Most of our economic problems today are directly or indirectly related to inflation. To stop inflation we must tie our money to gold, return to the gold standard.

and promoting its own versions of social reform in line with the principles of communism. And when helping a defendant in a criminal case their aim is to obstruct justice more than to defend the rights of the accused. Their policy combined with court leniency have a deplorable bearing on promoting American crime.

Recent good news is that a bill by Texas Representative Sam Hall of Marshall has been introduced in Congress asking for repeal of the law which created the corporation or to stop all appropriations for it. Here definitely is an idea which harmonizes with the idea of eliminating waste and graft while improving the legal system.

The Legal Services Corp is a creation of the American Civil Liberties Union which is principally concerned with promoting anti-Americanism. As a means of getting government support it agreed to represent defendants who could not afford to hire their own lawyers. But that has not been its prime activity. Its real aim is social engineering, promoting the communist line whenever possible. These people, enemies of the American way, are doing their subversive thing on our tax money, and we want them kicked out.

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The House Agriculture Committee is in the midst of formulating American farm policy, through the Omnibus Farm Bill, that will set this country's food and fiber policy for the next four years.

This work is being done during a period of the most austere budgetary restraints for decades and in analyzing the budgetary cuts, there will be very few areas of our society that will face cuts as severe as agriculture. If the program is successful, however, farmers and ranchers will be among the greatest beneficiaries. While inflation and high interest rates have seriously affected all Americans, the agricultural industry, with its heavy dependence on energy and operating credit, has been especially hard hit.

It is still too early in the legislative process to accurately predict the outcome or the final form the Farm Bill will take, but I have noted a shift in concepts that make up the backbone of any farm program that cannot be ignored. The days of direct payments to farmers are over, in my opinion. Farmers themselves are among the first to realize this and to make it clear that they do not want direct payments, but only to receive a fair price out of the market. The only effective marketing tool we have to get this price is a more realistic loan level.

I have proposed amendments that would increase the present loan rate to a more liveable level: $4.25 for wheat, a reserve entry rate of $4.70 per bushel and a set-aside trigger of at least 10 percent when a 900 million bushel carryover is reached.

These amendments have been made with the recognition that if we do set the loan rate at a higher level, there must be a mandatory set-aside, with only those producers who choose to participate in the program protected and only those producers affected. That option must remain open.

Many producers remain committed to the target price concept in operation under present farm legislation. That target price concept works fine — with one exception. We seem to have maintained the net price of wheat, for instance, considerably below the cost of production under that system. If the target price system is working well for the producer, then why are all of the producer organizations complaining about the fact that the net price of wheat is below the cost of production? I say quite honestly that what we have been doing is totally inadequate for the producer's welfare. Therefore, I can't see maintaining the target price system. As a wheat grower myself, I'm much more interested in seeing that the market price moves up to a profitable level on the wheat I produce for which there is a market than I am in maintaining a system that hasn't worked.

I think we now have a golden opportunity to implement some farm programs that will truly get farm commodities above the cost of production. There must be, however, an agreement that there are better ways to run farm programs and, at the present, we don't have that consensus. Once the hard realities of the budget impact become known, however, I think we will begin to see the solidity of the agricultural community behind that consensus.

Loan Leveraging Program

An agreement between the City of Dallas and First Texas Savings Association was signed Tuesday, May 12, 1981 which teamed the public and private sectors in a unique lending program.

The Dallas Home Repair Loan Leveraging Program, to be offered first in the Jefferson-Ruthmede area of Oak Cliff, is a first for Dallas and is specifically designed to combat the present high interest rates through an innovative combination of private and public funds.

The program, as the name indicates, works on the principle of leveraging. Rather than fund whole loans in the Jefferson-Ruthmede area, the City, in this program, will advance only enough funds to "buy down" the interest rate to a level that will make the payments affordable to the resident. The loans will be made through First Texas.

In essence, limited public funds will be used to attract a larger amount of private investment dollars. One dollar of public funds from the City of Dallas will generate $7.78 of private loan investment on the part of First Texas Savings Association. Using this public/private leveraging ratio, it is expected that $1.9 million in private investment will flow into the Jefferson-Ruthmede area and, ultimately, other designated mature residential areas within Dallas.

President and Chief Executive Officer Cornwall said of the program concept, "This program is significant because it is the first time in Dallas that joint public-private sector cooperation has produced a financing program aimed at low and moderate-income markets where the public funds are used as a 'catalyst,' or 'seed' money, to make it profitable for a lender to make certain loans that weren't possible previously."

The minimal costs on the part of the City and the idea that the City's role in housing is that of a stimulant to the private sector reflect the general philosophy of the new presidential administration.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The framers of our Constitution created a new system of government they called federalism. Simply stated, this new concept provided for a strong national government to do those things that only such a government can do — defend our shores, deliver the mail, regulate currency and other truly national functions.

But while the powers of this national government were considerable in its area of responsibility, all other powers were left to the states. Thus, the states, and in turn still more local jurisdictions, were responsible and sovereign in those areas which were more appropriately handled at that level.

Not only was this revolutionary, but also it worked. We Americans have enjoyed the benefits of a unified national government while preserving the maximum amount of autonomy to run our own affairs at the level closest to us.

But over the past half century, the federal government has slowly encroached upon powers intended for lower levels of government. It wasn't an insidious plot. Well-intentioned people saw needs and misguidedly thought only a federal law or regulation could meet them. The only problem was that often a national program failed to meet the needs of individual states or citizens because national rules don't allow for differences in local needs. As money became more centralized through federal taxes to pay for federal programs, more and more things were turned over to the national government — a classic vicious cycle.

The Reagan Administration has developed a plan to systematically reverse this trend, to restore federalism in its true meaning.

With the reams and reams of laws and regulations involved, it could take years to accomplish the process if only a hit or miss system was available. So the Administration has created two groups — the Coordinating Task Force on Federalism and the Presidential Advisory Committee on Federalism. The Task Force is comprised of the highest level presidential advisors and cabinet members. The Advisory Committee is composed of governors, state legislators, mayors, county officials, U.S. Senators and Representatives and private citizens. Both are chaired by Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada.

These people will be in a unique position to review current laws and regulations, draft proposals for new legislation and executive orders and help see that necessary actions are taken in timely fashion.

As President Reagan has said, too often the federal government has treated "elected state and local officials as if they were nothing more than administrative agents for federal authority."

Working out ways to reverse the trend, without loss of vital services and without returning responsibilities but not revenue sources, is a task little short of Herculean. But I am convinced it can be done. The Administration is committed to it. The present Congress will, I believe, be largely receptive, state and local governments want to serve their own people, and the citizenry wants the federal government off its back.

Garden Club Presents Annual Flower Show

The Muenster Garden Club presented its annual standard Flower Show Saturday, May 9, which opened to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. in the gym of Sacred Heart High School. Mrs. Richard Ferber and Mrs. W.J. Luke were co-chairmen and helped initiate several innovations this year including a triple exhibit by a fairly new Junior Garden Club: education, horticulture, and design and arrangement that used Favorite Nursery Rhymes as a theme. Kindergartners were the exhibitors in the junior club, with Mrs. August Felderhoff as leader. Also included was a limited sale of plants, a Hydroponic exhibit by Susie Felderhoff and an open class for non-member exhibits. A special attraction was an area displaying patio plants in a setting created by white ornamental iron lawn furniture. Plants there were also graded by the judges. About 100 visitors signed the guest book, were served punch and cookies, and were invited to stroll throughout the above exhibits and to view the artistic arrangements and horticultural specimens, potted green and blooming plants and hanging baskets.

Loretta Felderhoff won the Award of Distinction for this arrangement depicting "Texas Resources", in the design division of the Muenster Garden Club's Flower Show Saturday. She was also Sweepstakes winner in the design division. Staff Photo

Henry Popp was presented this conservation plaque at the annual conservation awards banquet on Thursday, May 7 in Denison. He is this year's outstanding conservation farmer of Zone III of the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District. Staff Photo

Nuptial Ceremony Unites Yosten and Hess

The wedding of Janette Yosten and Robert J. Hess was held in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, May 9 at 5 p.m. with a Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony. Father Stephen Eckart was the celebrant. Parents of the couple are

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Yosten and Mrs. Bonnie Hess and the late Arnold Hess. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was wearing a white silk organza wedding gown designed in Queen Anne style. The bodice was overlaid with Venise lace encrusted with seed pearls and the sheer, full bishop sleeves were appliqued with the same lace. Double rows of lace traced a pattern down the center front of the skirt and continued around the hem of the chapel length train.

A caplet of Venise lace and pearls held the fingertip length illusion veil edged in matching lace.

The bride carried a cascade of roses, glamelias, carnations and daisies in shades of palest yellow and white.

Attendants

Gloria Coker of Como, Texas, a friend of the bride was matron of honor. Kathy Bonner of Woodbine, bride's sister was her bridesmatron and Carol Yosten, another sister was the bridesmaid. Amy Bonner of Woodbine, bride's niece carried the Unity candle and Lara Hess, a niece was flower girl. All were dressed in pale yellow gowns, designed with full pleated skirts and deep cape collars of heavy lace. They carried hand bouquets of pale yellow roses and white lilies of the valley.

Matt Hess was ring bearer, carrying a white satin pillow made by the bride's sister-in-law, Jo Ann Yosten.

The best man and groomsmen were Dave Hess of Lewisville, Denis Hess of Fort Worth and Steve Hess of Irving, all brothers of the groom.

Mel Yosten, bride's brother, Mark Hess, groom's brother, Paul Becker, a friend and Jim Yosten, a cousin were ushers. Mass servers and candlelighters were Ray Stewart, bride's cousin, and Bert, Stanley, and Tim Knabe, friends.

Wedding music was given by the Sacred Heart Men's Choir, directed by Leo Henscheid and accompanied by Anthony Luke. Vocalists with guitar accompaniment were Doug and Lynda Yosten, Christie Klement and Linda Flusche.

Sunburst arrangements of yellow gladioli adorned the altar, with lighted candles in gold holders.

Reception

Parents of the couple hosted a reception, dinner and dance following the Church service. It was held in the Community Center, catered by the Schneiders.

Jo Ann Yosten, bride's sister-in-law and Frances Hess, groom's sister secured signatures of 380 guests in the bride's book. Reception assistants were Susan Yosten, Bev Pels, Mona Forrester, Lori Knabe, Holly Hess and Dawn Knabe.

Beautiful decorations for the reception room were made by Mrs. Arnold Knabe. Hanging baskets held yellow and white flowers, and rings of similar flowers surrounded candles on guest tables. As a special surprise for the bride and groom, Mrs. Knabe made a double heart edged with white lace, using the wedding invitation as a center of interest.

The bride's table held the three tiered wedding cake over a fountain, with two heart shaped cakes at the side. Also decorating the table were two arrangements of yellow and white flowers and a pair of silver candelabra with yellow candles. Ivy and yellow flowers traced the center of the long table. The wedding cake was served by Betty Rose Walterscheid. The groom's chocolate cake was made by his mother, Mrs. Bonnie Hess.

When the couple returns from a wedding trip, they will be at home in Muenster. Both are graduates of Sacred Heart High School. She is employed at Discount Pharmacy and he is employed at H&W Meat Co.

Rehearsal Dinner

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's mother in her home on May 8. A bachelorette dinner on May 5 was given by the bridal attendants. A surprise lingerie shower was given in the bride's home by Mmes. Dave, Denis, Steve and Don Hess.

St. Richard's Villa Honors Josie Journagen

Residents and guests at St. Richard's Villa enjoyed the music of the Cross Timbers Band at the birthday party on May 7. The birthday honoree for May was Mrs. Josie Journagen, who was presented a special birthday cake by Rosa Driever.

Josie Journagen, a native Texan, was born in Waxahachie on May 23, 1889, and has many memories of traveling as a child in a covered wagon with her parents and family.

She remembers her father taking them through Texas and Oklahoma planting crops and after harvesting, moving to another location.

In Oklahoma Indian Territory, they lived side by side with the natives. "We never had any trouble with the Indians," she recalls. "They were as cautious of us as we were of them. In time, we became friends, especially us kids. We played together."

As a young woman, Josie Lewis was in Cooke County, and was married in Gainesville to Walter Journagen. As newlyweds, they set up housekeeping in Oklahoma. Later, they lived in Tucumcari, New Mexico. Mr. Journagen died there.

During World War II, Josie was in California for about three and a half years. Her oldest son, Raymond, lived there, and she worked in a cafe at El Centro. Her youngest son, Willis, had gone into the Army, and was serving in the ETO. Following his discharge, Mrs. Journagen spent a year in Oklahoma with her daughter, Ora Mae. Raymond had died, and Willis was doing some traveling of his own.

After a few moves in Cooke County, Mrs. Journagen and Willis settled at Forestburg. Her daughter, Ora Mae lives in Wilburton, Oklahoma.

Josie Journagen has been a resident of St. Richards Villa since October 21, 1976. She enjoys visiting, gets around well with a walker or a wheel chair. Get her in a conversation, and she'll tell interesting tales about her early day travels.

Remembering Mother's Hands

Farmland News April 30, 1981

My Mother's hands were beautiful hands, loving and tender, full of concern, always busy. I see them as they tenderly patted the baby or spanked the child - both in love, as the need happened to be.

Mother's hands were there to wipe a runny nose or dry a tear-stained face. They dug in the rich, black earth, sowing vegetable seeds and flower seeds as each was important to her. One because it was useful, the other because it brought beauty into her life.

Her hands were often rough and red, especially in the winter when she washed clothes and hung them outside when the temperature was below freezing. She could not even have fatigued the automatic washer and dryer of today.

Her hands carried buckets of water into the house and out again. They picked up baskets of cobs and wood for the cook stove and the heating stove. They podded peas and snapped the beans and canned hundreds of quarts of fruits and vegetables. They kneaded bread dough, washed dishes and cleaned house.

Mother's hands were often folded in prayer which undoubtedly gave her the strength and wisdom she possessed. The strength and wisdom so necessary to raise a large family.

Her hands clasped those of her husband in time of great joy or in deep sorrow. They pointed the way she wanted her children to take. They opened doors and welcomed friends and strangers to come in.

Mother's fingers were long. Long fingers were an advantage when playing the piano, she said. Mother played the piano for her own enjoyment and for others. Sometimes the family sang along as she played and sometimes we just listened as we kept busy with our occupation of the moment.

In looking at her hands, others might see them as big, bony and calloused - even covered with blemishes. Yet this is not how I saw them, as for me they have a beauty all their own, for I knew the works of love they performed.

The last time I saw them, they were in a position of rest as God had called her to her eternal home to await the day when we shall as a family once again be able to clasp her hands in love.

Jobs depend on energy... let's keep on working.
We Americans have always understood that we can't get something for nothing. We're hard-working people.
One of the things that has kept us working, and kept our standard of living climbing here in the Southwest, has been a ready supply of reasonably priced electric energy. It makes our labor more productive, and helps hold down the cost of the goods we produce. It helps keep our industries competitive, and that enables them to grow and employ more people.
The costs of energy everywhere keep rising. But an even bigger problem is making sure we have enough electric energy here.
At your electric company, we're working to keep this area attractive by supplying the electricity we all need at reasonable cost. We're planning ahead to keep our supply abreast of the need, so business and industry can plan confidently for their future here.
Because that means jobs here.

Banquet Given By Forestburg FHA

Bluebird News

The Butterfly Bluebirds sang for the St. Richards Villa residents on Wednesday, May 13.

They had their regular meeting at the Sacred Heart Homemaking room on May 6. Kristen Klement lit the Bluebird candle. The girls worked on their "Who Bird" books, and they made finger puppets out of peanut shells and decorated them.

Kristen Klement served refreshments of cracker jacks and punch to the group. In closing the meeting, the Bluebirds recited the Bluebird Wish and the Pledge of Allegiance.

"It's a Round-Up", was the theme of this year's banquet given by the Forestburg FHA. The gym was decorated in ranch style with cactus and lanterns as table centerpieces on red and white checkered tablecloths.

The menu consisted of hamburgers, beans, ice cream and tea, and everyone dressed in western wear—boots, hats, bandanas. Entertainment was given during the meal and intermission by Wassie Reynolds and his country/western band.

Chapter members representing the group at the area level, Falcia and Patricia Bell and their mother, Pat Bell, sang "Drifter" and "Old Flame" accompanied on the piano by Joyce Richardson.

New chapter members participated in a skit "Popular TV Commercials". Patricia Bell was voted "best actress".

Outgoing officers presented the skit "Sob, Sob, Sob."

Outstanding Homemaking student award of the year was presented to Glenda Lee and various other awards were given as follows: Encounter awards I went to Laticia Bell, Christy Reed and Tina Wade; Encounter awards II were presented to Tina Wade, Falcia Bell and Veronica Edwards. Encounter III award went to Leann Hays. Encounters I and II received achievement certificates; Encounter III received a long-stem red rose.

Outgoing President Janice Lanier and "Deputy Doug" Holzbog introduced the 1981-82 officers using a skit. They are: Patty Duke, president; Carol Maughan, vice-president; Christy Reed, secretary; Veronica Edwards, treasurer; Falcia Bell, historian, and Deborah Jacobs, reporter. Mrs. Sicking presented daisy corsages to the new officers and to the banquet honorees: Janice Lanier and Glenda Lee, the graduating senior FHA members. Door prizes went to Mrs. Mary Hays and Charles Petty.

Jaycee Little League Sign Up Sunday

It's sign up time for youngsters who wish to play in this year's little league baseball program. Application slips have been distributed at both schools to be completed before next Sunday, the 17, and returned to a special registration meeting at 1:30 in the baseball park.

The purpose is to get a list of the boys who want to play and have it ready for consideration of sponsors and coaches at another meeting later in the week on a date which will probably be set Sunday.

Jaycees also want it known that they need help in the program especially as sponsors and coaches. Jaycees are willing to officiate and take over the general supervision.

Starting date of the season is shortly after the schools close, probably on May 27.

If any boys fail to get an application blank at school they are invited to clip and use the following form.

Muenster, Alvord and Krum Share 4-2 Baseball Record

At the end of the regular baseball season, Muenster is tied at 4-2 with Alvord and Krum in the district race. To determine who's who the three teams will have a play-off Friday and Monday.

They will flip coins to decide the two who will play Friday and the third team will be the opponent of Friday's winner. After that the district winner will meet Midway in bi-district.

The three teams have been deadlocked from the start while Ponder lost all. The result was 2-1 each at the half. Then the trio again won a game each while Ponder forfeited three and the season score became 4-2 each, and 0-6 for Ponder.

Going into Tuesday's game with Krum, the Hornets needed a win to keep even. A loss would have ended the season with Muenster at the bottom, 3-3, and Krum at the top 5-1. But the Hornets took an early lead and sweated out a 7-6 win. Tim Schneider pitched all the way allowing 4 hits and 4 walks and fanning 7. At the same time Krum got help from 4 Hornet errors.

Meanwhile Krum's hurler had lots of speed and little control. He allowed only 4 hits but walked 16 and fanned 12 and his teammates made no errors.

After scoring 2,1 and 4 the first 3 innings MHS led 7-1 and was blanked the rest of the way whereas Krum almost caught up adding 4 in the 5th and 1 in the seventh.

Hornet hitters were Dale Swirczynski, a 2-run triple, Vance Wells, Rusty Serna and Ricky Winn, each a single.

Summer Classes Planned At Muenster High

Summer Homemaking classes at Muenster Public School are being offered May 25 to June 19. Students may receive credit by attending classes for one week and completing a home project for the remainder of the summer. Classes being offered are - outdoor cooking, ceramics, sewing, macrame, furniture refinishing, and microwave and conventional cooking. Incoming freshmen are urged to attend also. The classes are being taught by Mrs. Joni Sturm.

Homemaking II and III classes ended their study of housing and home furnishings with a field trip to the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Fisher. Mrs. Fisher gave the tour. Joni Sturm accompanied the students. Homemaking II students are completing a kitchen plan as a class project and Homemaking III students are doing an entire house plan.

Girls' Softball Program Planned

Efforts are presently under way to organize a girls' softball program for the summer with the Knights of Columbus sponsoring. Harold Flusche, grand knight, announced that the plan is to have 8 teams in junior and senior divisions and Wanda Flusche directing as general chairman.

Applications will be available at both schools and at a later date in this paper.

Coaches and assistants for the program are also needed. Anyone willing to help is asked to contact Harold Flusche or Wanda Flusche.

Shop Students Build Jet Cars

Students of the eighth grade woodworking class at Muenster have just completed a jet car project, which consists of building a carbon dioxide powered miniature car and sending it streaking across the gym floor.

The assignment begins with designing the vehicle within specifications of a racing car. The first step is to make a sketch of the creation and after approval make two more drawings resulting in a full scale three-view sketch of the car.

The drawing is transferred to a Styrofoam blank with is then cut along the lines to make the car's body and further trimming produces the desired shape. This object becomes a pattern, its measured specifications to be followed in cutting out a piece of white pine. Next, the car is trimmed to the desired shape and holes are drilled for two axles and the carbon dioxide motor. The car must weigh 75 to 100 grams before painting. Then plastic wheels are mounted and the painting is finished.

Finally students came to the thrill of the project, a double elimination race before envious seventh graders to determine whose car is the champ. It was Tim Fleeman's.

Stray Bullet Hits Store's Front Door

A possible tragedy failed to happen Tuesday when a bullet crashed through the front door of Hofbauer's Store. According to Police Chief Helen Tompkins it was a 22 caliber bullet hitting the plate glass door about 6 feet above the sidewalk.

The shot was most likely a ricochet, she said, as indicated by the ragged edge at one side of the hole. A direct shot would have left a round hole, she said. The projectile might first have hit a rock, a limb, or any of many other items. The important point, Tompkins said, is that the person who fired the shot did not know where it was going. Also, her several hours of investigation south of the store found no clue as to where the shot was fired. Perhaps it came from nearby, perhaps from outside the city.

Regardless, she stated, the incident proves that bullets can and do hit objects that were not intended as targets. That's why the city has an ordinance prohibiting shooting in town.

Jaycees...

tests in the fall; for collecting and donating contributions for various charities such as the Heart Fund and the Cooke County Child Development Center; and for many other community-oriented services.

The Muenster Jaycees are responsible for the city park, its upkeep and constant improvements. They also plan to build a club house at the park for Jaycees' and other meetings. They are contributing, along with other organizations, a new lighting system for the baseball park.

As a young man's service organization for ages 18-35, the Jaycees are dedicated to community service with chapters in most cities and towns throughout the country. The National Jaycee Convention will be held in San Antonio in June. Several Muenster Jaycees are planning to attend.

Bert Walterscheid, recently appointed District Director, is in charge of coordinating the Jaycee chapters of Nocona, Lindsay, Gainesville and Muenster. As the State Director, Bert is also responsible for working with state projects and keeping the local chapter informed of state activities.

In closing comments by Dennis Dohrer and Chuck Hawthorne, the Jaycees of Region IIA were praised for their great community-oriented service and in acting out the part of their creed which states, "...service to humanity is the best work of life."

film showed recycling of glass and paper, possible sources of new business and another environmental improvement.

The show emphasized that these benefits result from voluntary programs which are infinitely better than the law in Michigan where deposits are required on cans and bottles which are redeemable at deposit price. The theory is fine but the containers accumulate ultimately taking up large areas of valuable space and creating sanitation problems with roaches.

The film had a way of telling Texas viewers to be glad they don't have to live with the mess in Michigan, but they can help themselves even more by more recycling.

4424 Die In 1980 Texas Traffic

Texas traffic deaths for 1980 reached a record number for the fourth consecutive year, according to the Department of Public Safety. The count for last year shows 4,424 persons killed on Texas streets and highways, reflecting an increase of 4.6 percent or 195 more deaths, said Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director.

"Exceeding the speed limit was considered as having caused 1,040 deaths or 23 percent of the total fatalities," he said. "Additionally, reports by investigating officers throughout the state attributed 1,006 deaths to driving while intoxicated accidents. This figure would have been much higher if Texas law allowed police to obtain alcohol content levels from blood samples from all drivers involved in fatal accidents."

Adams also pointed out that in the rural areas, the fatalities involving DWI increased 17.7 percent or 99 more deaths. "This reflected a significant change in the overall statistical picture," said Adams. He said no trends have been established at this point, but he says it is obvious that drunk driving was increasing in rural regions.

Total accidents reported by state and local police during 1980 were down by 3.5 percent. Last year, 432,940 accidents were reported as compared to 448,814 during 1979.

The DPS said the lower accident rate was offset by an increase in fatalities due to the large car vs. small car mix. "This is a newly created phenomenon on the number of deaths reported as the statistics show the severity of a death are about 8 times greater in a subcompact car than in a full-size car with which it collides," he said.

"Of all the fatalities, 57 percent or 2,542 persons were killed in single vehicle accidents," Adams said. "Additionally, over half of the total fatalities were under the age of 29."

Motorcycle deaths also climbed again. "Three hundred and seventy eight motorcycle deaths were reported which is an increase of over six percent from the previous year. And 74 percent of those killed were not wearing protective headgear," he said.

Pedestrian deaths also increased from 650 in 1979 to 723 last year.

Estimates show that the number of vehicles registered in the state last year was 10,500,000 (10 and one-half million) and the total miles driven increased slightly to 103,255,000,000 (103 billion, 255 million).

Adams said he thinks that more people would have been killed had it not been for the 55 mph speed limit. "This is truly a life-saving law that has also reduced the severity of injuries and helped conserve fuel. If the speed limit was increased, drivers would increase their speed and the death rate would climb to an even higher level."

"Seat belt usage would also help lower the fatality figures," according to Adams. "Over 98 percent of those killed did not use their seat belts, and yet it is a device which is installed in most vehicles. Still, we find that the vast majority of the drivers and passengers simply don't buckle them up," he said.

Noting that 1981 traffic deaths are already running 4 percent above the total for the same period last year, Adams called for greater cooperation by the driving public.

"We will continue to devote our best effort to traffic law enforcement, but we're headed for another record year if more Texas motorists don't work with us to reduce these fatalities," he concluded.

Engelmann daisy
(Engelmannia pinnatifida)
Engelmann daisy has several erect to spreading stems up to 3 feet tall. It arises from a winter rosette of leaves and a stout woody taproot; branching at the top to form a rounded crown.

The leaves are alternate and pinnately lobed. The lower leaves are up to 6 inches long, becoming progressively smaller toward the top. The leaves are covered with thick stiff hair.

There are numerous bright yellow composite flowers, about 1/4 to 1/2 inch across, terminal in clusters, 8 to 10 yellow rays and yellow disk flowers.

The fruit is a hairy achene with two flattened scales at the top. Another common name is cutleaved daisy.

Engelmann daisy was common on prairies and savannas of the state. It is very palatable to livestock and has been grazed out from much of its former range. It is now often found only along roadsides and protected places. The rays expand in late afternoon and fold under the following morning in intense sunlight.

It is a member of the Sunflower Tribe of the Daisy family, this plant has among its near relatives such well-known garden plants as the zinnia, cosmos, and dahlias.

Total tax revenue from mixed drink sales in Gainesville was $7,740.83 and the city's 15% rebate was $1,161.12. Total tax revenue from mixed drink sales in Lindsay was $12,978.24, of which the city received $1,811.74.

The state's total revenue from sale of mixed drinks in the first quarter was $28.5 million. The total 15% remittance to 211 counties and 371 cities amounted to $8.2 million and the remaining $20.3 was placed in the state's general fund.
