Usually when the general council of the United Nations comes up with a decision, it is a matter of the pro-communist majority out-voting the pro-Western countries in supporting policy or activity that favors the Reds. As most of us are aware, the Soviets and their satellites aren't really concerned with right and wrong, but only what suits their ambition of dominating the world.

But it was different in the case of Israel's attack on the power plant. Here again it is probable that the Russians and their subordinates were primarily concerned with creating ill will against the Hebrews, however free countries voting on principle also chose to censure. They felt that the unprovoked attack was an inexcusable act and should be so proclaimed before the world.

Israel justified the act by claiming it was self defense, the elimination of a potential nuclear bomb factory. Their claim brings on a new consideration in the nuclear controversy. Obviously it did not affect the UN vote but it raised a question that deserves an answer. Is it a fact, as the Israelis claimed, that a nuclear power plant can be regarded as nuclear war threat? If so, how long until it can be converted to combat use? Unless the time is short it does not seem that the plant can be considered as much of a nuclear threat.

This thought makes one wonder whether war potential is one of the factors in our country's violent anti-nuclear demonstrations. This seems hardly possible because that angle of the subject has not been widely aired. But if it is, it could have a bearing on the persistent and vehement objections. If anti-nuke policy can retard U.S. preparedness, the Reds and their sympathizers, who have effectively infiltrated our country, would be able to cause many obstacles.

Even without the military considerations, the anti-nuclear movement is a severe handicap to the nation. If U.S. had been able to develop nuclear plants without interference it could have relieved much of the strain of the energy crisis. Likewise it could be better prepared for defense industry.

We don't hear public comment in support of this motive just like we don't hear other anti-American issues getting open support. However, we can be sure that the world conspiracy is active and unfortunately is getting extensive support from unsuspecting Americans who are misled by false reports and policies and activities.

Those who keep harping on the dangers of nuclear power are maliciously or unknowingly harming the country. They are exploiting unjustified public fear created by people who have to know better. If they are concerned, as they claim, they have had ample opportunity to learn that nuclear power still has a perfect safety record. It is the only source of power with a worldwide record of no fatal accidents. As regards the big scare on radiation, there's ample evidence that many every-day scenes are more hazardous than an atomic plant.

Just a few days ago anti-atomic demonstrators put on another big show proclaiming the same old objectives. By contrast here is an item from "Parade" of March 29. "Make-believe monsters. Radioactive cattle...stillbirths...miscarriage...These and more supposed calamities were reported or predicted in the press after continued on page 2...

DAR honors Fischer memory

The late Mrs. F.W. Fischer was honored by the Francis Lightfoot Lee Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, when the group held a special memorial service to place a bronze medallion on her grave. Members of the DAR chapter met at 2 p.m. on Saturday, June 13, 1981 at the Trails Crossing grave site to honor Mrs. Fischer's long and distinguished service to DAR. Also memorialized during the impressive grave marking ceremony were her dedication to God, Home and Country.

Chaplain Mrs. Edward Earl Dale opened the service with prayer. Regent Mrs. Gordon B. Smith, Sr., paid a personal tribute to Mrs. Fischer and placed the bronze DAR marker on her grave.

A standing memorial Wreath held the United States

Flag top, and chapter officers placed sprays of evergreen around the wreath, with appropriate words of tribute as symbols of the continuity of life for those who die in the Lord.

Other guests present were Patsy Gilbert of Glendale, Arizona; Mrs. David (Rita) Hogan of Waco; Mrs. Tim (Janie) Hartman of Muenster; Mr. and Mrs. Christopher M. Gores and the beloved great-granddaughter of the Fischers, Ellen, all of Dallas.

Mrs. Christopher M. Gores, granddaughter of the Fischers and one of the organizing members of the Francis Lightfoot Lee Chapter, opened the Fischer home following the service. She served tea with appropriate pick up foods from beautifully appointed tables.

The regent presided for a brief business meeting in which messages were read from close friends and family members. Copies of the By-laws were given to members present, and plans were made for the coming year.

Mrs. J.W. Fisher and her family are descended from the Lee family of Virginia. Francis Lightfoot Lee was a signer of the Declaration of Independence, a direct descendant who has been honored by the local chapter named in his memory.

Cooke County oil production topped 4 million barrels in '80

Cooke County, which has had recorded production since 1926, last year produced 4,049,234 barrels of crude oil and condensate at the rate of 11,063 barrels per day. Production in 1980 boosted Cooke County's production total through the end of the year to 323,729,157 barrels.

In 1980, 21 counties produced more than 10-million barrels of crude oil. This is a decrease of one county from 1979. The top five of these are Yoakum, 60,771,167 barrels; Gaines, 60,273,574 barrels; Ector, 52,306,753 barrels; Pecos, 51,136,629 barrels; Gregg, 43,620,782.

Other counties producing over 10 million barrels in 1980 were: Hockley, Andrews, Scurry, Crane, Refugio, Wood, Montgomery, Rusk, Howard, Brazoria, Terry Cochran, Kent, Harris, Upton, Burleson.

Gregg County, the first Texas county to produce more than 2-billion barrels of crude oil and condensate in the history of recorded production, remains the all-time leader with a cumulative total through 1980 of 2,731,115,094 barrels. Ector County, through the end of last year had produced 2,303,325,078 barrels. Ten other counties have produced more than a billion barrels.

The total of 960-million barrels included more than 931-million barrels of crude oil. Also produced was 29-million barrels of condensate, according to figures compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Last year's production level showed a drop of more than 46.5-million barrels from 1979 output and was more than 330-million barrels less than 1978. Continued on page 14...

Muenster lake project has high priority rating

Progress on Muenster's municipal lake was indicated this week in a communication from Kelly Cook, land rights specialist of the Soil Conservation Service State office at Temple.

He told Henry Weinzapfel president of the Muenster Water Board, that site 19 has been designated a high priority project and among the first to qualify for watershed construction funds out of SCS appropriations in the 1982 fiscal year.

First money to be received from SCS is earmarked for land acquisition, which is expected to start at about the beginning of the fiscal year in October. A report to Gary Rainwater, district conservationist of the Muenster SCS office, reveals that the physical survey of the lake site is complete and the paper work showing metes and bounds should be finished in three to five weeks.

After reviewing this information, the SCS state board will appoint appraisers to estimate the value of each landowner's property within the project area. As a final step toward actual construction, the water board will purchase the land from present owners.

As a multi-purpose project, the Muenster lake is financed jointly by the Muenster Water District and the Soil Conservation Service. It will serve for flood control, supplying city water, and recreation. Its location is the Brushy Elm creek west of town.

Harvesting near finished

A week of ideal combining weather did wonders for the harvest season in Muenster. The job now is about 95 percent finished according to estimates by the two local grain dealers, Tony's Seed and Feed and Muenster Milling Co.

Both buyers expect scattered deliveries for several more days as farmers clean out the areas which were bypassed earlier because of wet ground. And the grain is expected to be a poor quality. Tests last week were down to about 57 and dampness was increasing because of increasing green vegetation passing through the threshing process.

On the average, the crop has been a poorer quality than last year when continuous hot dry weather allowed bringing in the crop without delay. However the over-all season comes out about the same. Total acreage was larger and the yield was about even, but losses of grain and quality in the wet weather left the total crop about equal to that of 1980.

Average for the year is estimated at near 40 bushels per acre for hard wheat and 50 for soft wheat, and a few extra good fields are estimated over 50 and 60. But all are only guesses. Actual acreage has been hard to figure in the irregular cutting program.

Present prices are $3.85 per bushel for hard wheat and $3.00 per bushel for soft wheat.

Muenster VFD answer 2 calls

Muenster firemen answered two calls during the past week, a combined grass and wheat stubble fire a mile east of town and a pickup fire at the roadside park about 7 miles east.

An early call and early response confined the first loss to some 3 acres of grass and stubble. The pickup fire starting in the air conditioner had the vehicle engulfed in flames when firemen arrived. It was a total loss.

Beginners swim classes will register Saturday

Saturday is the registration date for this year's Learn to Swim program sponsored by Cooke County Red Cross at the Muenster municipal pool. Jeannine Flusche, director, said that the date has been advanced a week to avoid conflict with expected trips and activities on the July 4 weekend.

Registration for the swim classes, which begin on July 6, will be held at the pool, 9 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, June 27. Ages admitted are kindergarten and up.

Children are expected to wear swim suits so they can be tested for proper class assignments and also to bring permission slips. Those who don't have a slip can find one elsewhere in this paper.

At the registration children will be placed in the first week class, July 6 to 10, or the second week class, July 13 to 17, and the enrollment is further divided into three one-hour periods, starting at 9, 10 and 11 a.m. Adults enrolling will be assigned to the 9 o'clock classes of the second week. A possible problem in this year's program is shortage of instructors. Advanced classes now in progress have 13 enrolled in the Basic Rescue and Water Safety continued on page 7...

the accident at Three Mile Island. Well, it's been two years since TMI. Since then, state and federal experts have found that none of these nuclear nightmares has come true. Even honey gathered near TMI—and bees are supersensitive to contamination—showed no trace of radioactivity in the months after the accident. So if you've been stung by the anti-nuke horror stories, now's the time to say: "Buzz off!"

"Witches' brew. There's a problem all right, but its psychological, not nuclear. That is the opinion of psychiatrist Robert L. DuPont, who nails "nuclear phobia" as the main culprit. According to Dr. DuPont, hysteria was spread by reporters looking for the worst "what-if" cases because "fear is an upper...fear is news."

"Bedrock of fact. The real news? Radiation from a nuclear power plant may be less than that in the ground you walk on, or the building you work in—especially if the bedrock or walls happen to be granite, which is often rich in radioactive uranium and thorium. This was graphically demonstrated when atom scientist Alvin Weinberg showed up with a Geiger counter to testify in the granite-sheathed Dirksen Senate Office Building. When Senate Energy Subcommittee Chairman John Glenn heard the reading, he exclaimed: "We're getting more right here than they got downwind from Three Mile Island!" And the presidential commission on TMI found the actual average exposure any person would get during a lifetime spent within 50 miles of the accident was the same as a Denver resident gets every week from natural background radiation."

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Volumes seem to have been written concerning the problems of the marginally-employed worker and the need to protect the employee from the abuses of the employer.

Little thought has been given, however, to the multitude of problems facing the employers of such labor, whether that employer runs a household and depends on a part-time housekeeper or a hamburger stand and hires teenagers after school.

The inclusion of such workers under the minimum wage law creates the first set of problems, with many employers simply unable or unwilling to hire workers at the standard minimum rate.

Even if the federal minimum hourly wage rates are met, the employer may well find himself in the position of the case outlined in the publication, The Exchange, recently. The retired businessman, a widower, told of his experiences in trying to hire a part-time housekeeper. The employer had medical problems that would make it difficult to find employment elsewhere and really needed the job. And even though the employer met federal wage standards, in order to employ her legally, he was required to fill out and file 13 different state and federal forms, plus pay a total of $442.35 a year in Federal Social Security taxes and state and federal unemployment insurance taxes.

All of these problems were encountered, I might add, after the man had found someone willing to do the work. Many potential employees turned down the minimum wage job to live in government-subsidized apartments at low rentals and subsist on welfare or Social Security payments, bank interest and other types of minimal income. Their desire and will to work have been destroyed by the federal largess, he believes.

No wonder that many employers and employees now agree on wages paid in cash from hand to hand, with such income never reported. I am not justifying breaking the law, but I do understand the frustration that can lead to such a practice.

Federal rules and regulations have reached the height of the ridiculous. If I have work to be done and am willing to pay you to do that work; if you need work and are willing to perform the task I advertise for the pay I offer, to what degree does the government have the right to interfere? That is the question.

I sometimes think government has been determined to legislate and regulate common sense right out of the picture and has become far too successful.

We now have a golden opportunity to make significant changes in the way government affects us.

OUR ONCE-FREE ECONOMY

As we Americans contemplate our major problems such as inflation, unemployment, and general economic stagnation, and as we carry on the resulting controversial dialogues in the media and the councils of government, it might be well to consider what we are really dealing with. Often we fail to see the forest for the trees.

What we are really dealing with is economic philosophy. This is the basis of the current controversies sweeping the country over President Reagan's program to solve these economic problems by curtailing government spending drastically.

For many decades Americans enjoyed the highest standard of living in the world. Our workers were the highest paid of those in any nation. Neither condition exists today. Other people have higher standards of living than we do and other workers are higher paid. The reason we no longer lead the world is we have undergone a change in economic philosophy.

When our workers earned more than those in any other country, and our standard of living was the highest, we believed in and practiced free enterprise in all its ramifications.

We permitted people to use their own private property as they saw fit; there was an absolute minimum of government regulation, and then only to prohibit fraud and violation of the rights of others in the use of property. Individuals had maximum liberty in their creative pursuits.

Likewise there was freedom in the marketplace. Government did not concern itself with exchanges between willing buyers and sellers, either in domestic or international trade other than to protect property rights.

Prices were freely arrived at according to the subjective value judgments of producers and consumers. Government did not intervene with prices, either to hold them down, as with price controls, or to prop them up, as with subsidies and supports.

The free market efficiently allocated the uses of natural resources, human labor, and machinery and factories in the absence of government-induced distortions.

Profit was the spark which ignited the pent-up energy of the people. Based on the universal urge in every person to improve his position or situation in life, it served to motivate the millions who surged to our shores to strive to become better off through the process of creating new goods and services which brought them profit.

This system of free enterprise, based on private ownership and control of the means of production and distribution, the free competitive market with free prices, and the profit motive provided us with the finest lifestyle ever known by humankind at any time or any place in history.

Not only was man better off materially, but also politically, physically, mentally, aesthetically and spiritually—all because he was nearly totally free.

All this happened in America because of free enterprise. Such economic freedom has been severely curtailed by the degree of government intervention in existence today. It is to remedy this situation that the Reagan program is directed.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health Robert Bernstein, M.D., Commissioner

Would you knowingly stick your fingers into steel blades spinning at speeds up to 200 miles an hour?

Thousands do just this every year with their power lawn mowers while trying to unclog the machines without first turning them off.

"More than 60,000 adults and children are treated annually in hospital emergency rooms for injuries associated with power lawn mowers according to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC)," says Harold R. Ray, director of the Texas Department of Health's Product Safety Division.

"The most frequent accident is caused by people sticking their hands in the discharge chute without turning off the engine of the mower first. They don't realize that the blades of these mowers reach speeds of up to 200 miles an hour, and can nip off fingers and toes and hurl objects more than 50 feet."

To help reduce this type of accident, the CPSC published new performance standards for the manufacture of rotary, walk behind lawn mowers. The standards become effective after December 31, 1981, and require that new mowers be equipped with a device that stops the blades within three seconds after the operator leaves the controls.

Another principal danger is that of being hit by propelled objects from the spinning blades. Wire, rocks and twigs can be shot out either through the discharge chute or from under the housing. Many victims in these cases are bystanders.

"Never remove the discharge chute from the mower and always clear the lawn of potential projectiles before mowing," Ray advises. "Particular attention should be given to areas bordering fences, shrubs, buildings, walks and driveways where objects often are hidden."

Many injuries are caused by the operator backing over a bystander with a riding mower. The victims are usually young children whom the operator hasn't seen. Push type power mowers can be dangerous when you slip going uphill. Sturdy, closed, rough-soled shoes can help protect you from these accidents.

Young children should not be passengers on riding mowers. A child may fall from the seat or engine hood and be injured before the machine can be stopped.

Wet grass can increase the chances of accidents. "Wet grass is more likely to clog the blades, thus causing the operator to reach under the machine," Ray said. "Wet grass can also cause a person to slip under the whirling blades of a power mower."

Ray said it is important to remember to mow across the slope with a walk-behind mower, and up and down the slope with a riding mower.

More than 45 million power mowers are in use this year, and Americans now buy about six million new machines annually. About 96 percent of all power mowers made each year are rotary mowers.

Reel type lawn mowers are safer than the rotary ones because their blades move slower. Since reel lawn mowers cannot cut tall grass efficiently, most consumers prefer rotary mowers.

How about the gasoline used to power your mower? It can be a time bomb waiting to explode or catch fire.

"Keep gasoline out of any garage or storage room in which a water heater is located. Gasoline fumes — in case of a spill — can be as explosive as dynamite," Ray said. "Don't refuel a mower while it is running or while the engine is hot. Never refuel a mower indoors because the unseen vapors may be ignited by a spark."

One other caution — never start your mower or operate it with the motor running while in an enclosed area where carbon monoxide can collect.

For more information, contact Harold R. Ray, Product Safety Division, Texas Department of Health, 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas 78756.

Conservation is part of the answer, so...

Let's save all we can.

We Americans have traditionally been pretty good savers, and lately we've made some progress in saving energy. We've slowed our energy consumption and actually reduced our imports of petroleum.

But in 1980 we still imported more than 40 percent of the oil we used in the United States, at a cost of about $70 billion. We must save more, and we can.

Most of our savings so far have come from driving slower in more efficient cars. We can also improve around our homes by increasing the insulation in our houses, and by choosing the most energy-efficient appliances when we shop for new ones. American industry is making appliances more efficient and labeling large ones with their energy-efficiency ratings to help us compare.

At your electric company, we believe that conservation is important. But it's not the whole answer to our energy problems. We need to use more of our abundant domestic supplies of coal and nuclear fuels to make electricity. And support efforts to develop other sources of energy and make them economically practical.

Conservation is part of the answer, so... let's save all we can.

Buddy poppy sale raises $303 "Family night" closes 1981 Cub Scout Day Camp

A report of the Buddy Poppy Sales was made to members of the VFW Auxiliary by Mrs. Joe Sicking, during the June 15 meeting. She said that a total of $303.06 was received on Memorial Day. Mrs. Arthur Bayer reported on Memorial Day Services and the presentation of 10 certificates to members of the rifle squad who participated more than 10 years.

Mrs. Bernard Hesse gave the treasurer's report. She was also refreshment chairman, serving a lunch to the members present. Mrs. Arthur Bayer volunteered for the lunch committee for July. She also won the door prize.

For the business meeting, Mrs. Gilbert Knabe presided and appointed Lu Vogel as guard, Marie Walter patriotic instructor and Lou Voth and Lu Vogel as trustees, all pro tem.

Cooke County Cub Scout Day Camp came to a close, Friday, June 19, with a camp fire family picnic and program.

Boy Scout Leroy Voth directed the opening flag ceremony with Cub Scout Webelo Michael Mangum leading the pledge of allegiance. Camp director, Lupe Evans, was master of ceremonies, welcoming parents and friends then directing everyone in singing "B-I-N-G-O".

A skit was presented by the staff, consisting of Shirley Weems from Lindsay, Suzie Kammerdiener of Gainesville; Billy Morris of Saint Jo; Ann Perkins of Muenster, Lou Ann Spaeth of Gainesville. Other members of the staff were Rita Russell, Sharon Walterscheid, David Fette, Joe Bartush, Kathy Koch, Jean Park, Patricia Wimmer, Ann Walterscheid and Betty Kralicke and Debbie Endres.

Patches were given to staff members present and all cubs, mothers and helpers who helped 2 days during camp. Also physical fitness certificates were presented to all cubs for completing their Physical Fitness Achievement.

With the theme for this year's camp being "The wonderful world of scouting," all packs were given a blank flag on Monday to name their own country and compose their national anthem. Their countries were as follows:

Webelos, Webelo Island; Pack 664, Muenster - Cubs in Space; Pack 663, Gainesville - Cub-federacy; Pack 110, Saint Jo - Cub-scout Country; Pack 652, Gainesville-Cub-Apolis; Pack 653, Gainesville-Cub Canion.

The staff was not to be outdone. They too made themselves a country called "United Campdom," and sang their National Anthem at the campfire. Boy Scouts who helped during day camp were presented their patches by Jean Park, Boy Scout coordinator. They were as follows: Mikel Fette, Ronnie Fisher, Michael Harendt, Buddy Head, Greg

Lupe Evans expressed a need for more parents, scouters, or just interested people to volunteer as helpers so that cub day camps such as this can continue to be successful. The campfire was extinguished after a recitation of one of Lupe's favorite poems - "Put Me in Touch with a Heart of a Boy." An appreciation party is being planned for all staff members to get together and start making plans for Cub Day Camp 1982.

Sand dune cave-in takes a life

Funeral service for Mark Joseph Zwinggi, 20, of Gainesville, victim of a sand dune tunnel cave-in at Lake Texoma, was held Wednesday morning at 10 in St. Mary's Church with Father Placidus Eckart officiating at the Mass of Christian Burial.

Burial followed in Gainesville's Fairview Cemetery directed by Geo. J. Carroll and Son Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Chris Zwinggi, Adam Schneider, Greg Pray, Mark DuBois, Mike Kubis and Mark Gregory.

Rosary service for the young man was held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the chapel of Carroll Funeral Home.

Zwinggi died shortly after 8 p.m. Sunday on a beach in Oklahoma about a mile north of Willis Bridge. Five companions from Gainesville were with him.

He was lying on his stomach with head and feet near the exits of a six foot tunnel under a nine foot high sand dune when the dune suddenly collapsed and covered him. His companions tried frantically to dig him out and also called for help. After some 15 minutes they recovered the body but were unable to revive him.

The group had dug the tunnel, finishing it about a half hour before the tragedy.

Mark Zwinggi was a native of Cooke County, born February 3, 1961. He was a student of Cooke County College, a summer employee of FE Schmitz C.

Survivors are his parents, Leonard and Eleanor Zwinggi of Gainesville, his grandmother, Eleanor Flusche of Gainesville and a number of aunts and uncles.

The Truth About 55 mph

AS TOLD BY A TEXAS STATE TROOPER

There's been a lot said about the 55 mph speed limit. But I'd like to add something based on my 23 years on the road as a Texas State Trooper.

The law was passed to save gasoline, and it has done just that. But we discovered another benefit—the lower speed saves lives.

Why, in 1975, 16 per cent fewer people were killed because Texans were trying to slow down. But since then, we have started driving faster again on our freeways and state highways: in 1980, 4,424 people were killed. That's an all-time record.

Now I'm not trying to scare you. But I've learned that a person's chances for getting killed increase with higher speed, and driving too fast is one of our leading highway killers.

Why gamble by driving a little faster to get where you're going? Slower speed gives you more time to react...precious time to avoid danger and stop your car or truck. In fact, compared with 55 mph, your chance of being killed in a crash at 70 mph is more than doubled!

I hope you'll remember what I've said the next time you drive. I don't want to have to tell your family that you have been killed in a traffic accident.

Thank you

Mothers Day Out program is shaping up at First Baptist

An organizational meeting was held Tuesday night to plan the Mothers' Day Out Program at First Baptist Church of Muenster.

A second meeting has been scheduled for Thursday night at 8:30, July 2, at First Baptist to plan further. It is hoped the program can get underway in July if enough mothers will come to help get it planned.

The Mothers Day Out program allows mothers a free day, without their children, to run errands, make appointments, do shopping, and so forth. It also provides the children an opportunity to associate with others their own age in a well-supervised, Christian environment.

In order for the program to be a success, mothers are needed to volunteer to work on an alternating basis. It is a goal of the program to eventually have regular, paid workers, but until then, mothers who use the program will be expected to occasionally give up their free Thursday to help at Mothers Day Out.

As a ministry of First Baptist, the Mothers Day Out program will be offered on Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for children of all denominations, ages 1 through 5.

Those who are interested in the program are urged to attend the July 2 meeting. More information on the program or the meeting is available from Teresa Rainwater 759-4180 or Keith Thomas 759-2772.

Western Soapberry (Sapindus drumondii)

Cooke County Blooms!

By Gary Rainwater
District Conservationist

The western Soapberry is a tree reaching a height of 50 feet with a trunk diameter one to two feet. The branches are usually erect to form a rounded crown. The tree usually flowers from May to June. The flowers are large, showy panicles 5 to 10 inches long and 5 to 6 inches wide. The flowers are creamy white in color.

Fruiting usually follows in September to October. The fruit is globular, fleshy, from white to yellowish or blackish, and shriveled.

The leaves are shortpintillate, deciduous and occur along the stem. The bark is gray to reddish and the inner wood is light brown or yellowish, close-grained, hard, strong, and weighs about 51 pounds per cubic foot.

Western Soapberry is found throughout Texas in moist soils along streams. The tree can be propagated from seed or by cuttings in the spring. The thick seed-coat makes it necessary either to stratify or treat with sulphuric acid for two or three hours before planting in the spring.

The generic name is derived from the fact that some of the West Indian species are used for soap. Another common name is Wild Chinaberry. The fruit of this tree contains the poisonous substance saponin, which produced a good lather in water. The crushed fruits have been used in Mexico to stupefy fish and as laundry. The fruit is also used medicinally as a remedy for renal disorders, rheumatism, and fevers. Buttons and necklaces have been made from the seeds.

The wood is of little value except for making baskets, frames, and as a fuel. Soapberry makes a desirable shade tree, and is sometimes used for shelter-belt planting.

Compliments

You look in the mirror
And you see your reflection
You know that you're dressed
To an inch of Perfection

You sally forth to meet
Friends and relations
Not one word is said
Of your lovely creation

You're off in a hurry
You know you look dowdy
Your belt is left off
Your complexion is cloudy

But oh how you're greeted
By friends and relations
Their compliments amount
To complete adulation

The 2 1/2-Year Money Market Certificate

Put in $1,000, and get back $1,355

2 1/2-year return reflects interest earned on $1,000 principal and accumulated interest for 2 1/2 years at current rate.

Current rate of 12.00%
yields 12.94%

Staying ahead financially has always been a race. But the 80's present new, tougher challenges.

At First Texas Savings, we have ways to beat the 80's. Like our 2 1/2-Year Money Market Certificate. It offers the guaranteed maximum rate, compounded daily, 365 days a year, for maximum yields on amounts as small as $100. No bank can pay more. Rates for new certificates are set biweekly and are good for the entire term.

Sure, our 2 1/2-Year Money Market Certificate is a good investment, but it's also a no-risk investment. Your money is insured up to $100,000 by a federal agency and secured by First Texas* over 1.6 billion dollars in assets.

Best of all, at First Texas, all or part of your money is available anytime, or you can borrow against it. Penalty on early withdrawal is six months' interest and only on the amount withdrawn.

So, before you put your money anywhere, remember: Others may keep you even in the 80's, but First Texas Savings will keep you ahead.

*Effective June 23 through July 6, 1981.
Annual yield reflects interest earned on principal and accumulated interest for a full year.
Recent federal regulations require principal reduction if sufficient interest does not exist.

Wall Street analysis is a new CBN feature

"This Week on Wall Street," a complete, up-to-the minute analysis of the week's financial markets, premiered on one of the nation's largest cable networks—CBN Satellite Network—Friday, June 12.

Producers say the 30-minute show is television's only instant, computerized stock and option market news report.

"This Week on Wall Street" is based on the nationally recognized Trade Levels Report, a weekly, 32-page computerized report concerning the over-all market, industry groups, and more than 5,000 individual stocks.

The show's two hosts have extensive business and financial backgrounds. Host Bill Mason is president of Wm. Mason & Company, Inc., an investment management firm, and each week will interview financial and business experts. Co-host Dave Holt, "Trade Levels" editor and president, will give detailed analyses of the market, based on his charts.

Jim Benham, known in financial circles as "The Fed Watcher," appeared on the first show. Benham is founder and chairman of the oldest money fund in the West, with 75,000 shareholders and over $1 billion under management.

Produced by TL Communications, Inc., KTNT, Inc., and Custom Network Developers, Inc., "This Week on Wall Street" is part of the CBN cable network's new lineup of quality programs and signals a change of direction from a formerly all-religious format toward broad-spectrum family programming.

"Another Life," the new contemporary daytime serial produced by Continental Broadcasting Network, joined the cable lineup on June 1, and extensive new programming, much of it original and first-run, will be introduced on the cable this fall, officials have said.

CBN Satellite Network, said to be the nation's second largest, has a potential viewing audience of 10.5 million television homes on some 2,100 cable systems nationally.

"This Week on Wall Street" will air Fridays at 10:30 p.m. (EDT), 9:30 (Central), 8:30 (Mountain), and 7:30 (PDT).

CBN Satellite Network is a division of the Christian Broadcasting Network, Inc., of Virginia Beach, Va. Continental is a commercial subsidiary of CBN.

The tournament starts at 6 a.m. August 22-23. Non-boat owners will be placed with boat owners. Each contestant may weigh-in five black bass per day, which must have been caught on a hand-held pole, line and hook set, using only artificial lures. With warm weather coming, a lot of people will be fishing and swimming in farm ponds.

Local landowners and operators should be careful to encourage people using their ponds to be careful to take care of themselves, Gary Rainwater, Soil Conservation Service district conservationist at Muenster said.

"People using ponds should not swim alone and not get too near the water if they are unable to swim," Rainwater said. "The partner system with each swimmer keeping an eye on the other, is one proven safety device."

"Some people think that if they are just using a pond for fishing, they can't get in trouble. But it is mighty easy to find yourself in the water if you get too close to the bank. This is particularly true for young people."

Texas has several farm-pond drownings each year, all of which are preventable. About 5000 ponds have been built in the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District with technical assistance from SCS.

Temperatures stay below 100

June to date has been delightful compared with last year, and hopefully it is a good sign for the summer. Until now the high temperature has been 97 on the 8th, and it has remained at 94 and under for the past week.

Last year June had 11

June 7. And that was only the beginning. There were 42 consecutive days over 100 degrees and 80 in the entire summer.

Low and high readings of the week were recorded as follows by Steve Moster. days over 100, the first on June 18, 72 and 83; June 19, 71 and 94; June 20, 70 and 94; June 21, 75 and 94; June 22, 75 and 94; June 23, 73 and 94; June 24, 73 and 92.

Meanwhile the moisture readings were all zero. Total rainfall now measures 1.10 inch for June and 19.44 for the year. After heavy rainfall in May growing crops like milo, sudan and pasture are thriving.

Failure to change address can cost you $

"Americans are receiving more mail--important mail--than at any time in the postal history," says Fort Worth Postmaster W.H. Hathman. "Yet when it comes time to call the movers, one of the most overlooked of all procedures is notifying the proper parties of the change of address. In addition to the personal expense and inconvenience to the homeowner and mailers, undeliverable-as-addressed mail has become one of the hidden costs of mailing."

Postmaster W.H. Hathman says the Postal Service spends about $550 million a year to handle an estimated 4.5 billion pieces of mail that is undeliverable. "This is expense that ultimately ends up within the price of postage stamps, and worse, it is unnecessary. Change of address is a simple matter today."

The Postal Service has been urging its customers to inform correspondents promptly of address changes at least 30 days before the scheduled move. With an assist from moving companies, real estate agents and others, the Postal Service distributes from ten to 16 million change of address kits every year to make it easier to notify correspondents and publishers.

"The primary strength of this program is that everyone benefits from it," says Postmaster Hathman. "The family that is moving benefits because their mail continues to arrive promptly, stores and other business correspondents can avoid billing problems, and the Postal Service is able to process the mail more efficiently and at less cost."

Postmaster Hathman says the Postal Service is now launching a new effort to get change of address kits into circulation. A direct mail campaign is asking commercial organizations such as truck rental firms, moving companies and real estate firms and others who deal with people on the move, to help distribute the Postal Service's handy Change of Address Kit.

The kit contains convenient cards for notifying the postmaster, publishers, businesses, doctors, state and local agencies and utilities. The kit also includes a checklist of groups and individuals to be contacted prior to a move.

The direct mailing campaign to commercial organizations includes a two-part reply card which firms can use to order supplies of the kits from their local post office.

"We know that peak moving dates fall between June and August, and as we approach this season, it is important for anyone planning to move to use one of the kits. All they have to do is ask for one, either from one of the participating service companies or at the post office," Postmaster Hathman says.

The Muenster Jaycees' 18 wheeler beer van is being featured twice in the national Jaycee convention this week in San Antonio. First of all it's a part of the Texas display in the Parade of the States. Next it is featured even more so as the beer dispensary at a party hosted by the state Jaycees. The refrigerated van is equipped with 32 outside spigots serving from as many barrels of beer inside. Muenster Milling Company provided the tractor to pull the van to the Alamo City and Herbert Fisher drove it. Also representing Muenster at the convention are three happy delegates and their wives privileged to hear President Reagan's speech. Seen here with the van are Jim and Shirley Endres and Debbie and Claude Klement. Bert and Kim Walterscheid are not pictured. —Staff Photo

The Michelob Light boat won three ocean races in the 1978 season and was then retired to make way for a newer, although similar model. The deep vee is powered by a pair of 454 cu. in. Kiekhaefer Aeromarine engines and is designed as a superior riding boat in the roughest of ocean races. With Joey Ippolity, one of offshore racing's top drivers, at the controls, the Michelob Light racing team has been a tough competitor on the offshore circuit, finishing last year in the top ten.

barrels below 1972 production of almost 1.3-billion barrels. Nevertheless, production in 1980 pushed the all-time cumulative total since 1889 to almost 45.7-billion barrels of crude oil and condensate.

Edwin L. Cox, president of the Dallas-based Association, noted that despite the drop in output there is a very encouraging trend in one aspect of industry activity: Since President Carter began a gradual phaseout of crude oil price controls on June 1, 1979, a phaseout accelerated by President Reagan, the number of wells drilled in Texas has skyrocketed.

Last year's total of 18,697 wells completed was the largest number since 1957, Cox noted. This compares with 16,149 drilled in 1979 and only 7,728 drilled a decade ago in 1971. At that time, the average price of U.S. crude oil was $3.48.

"Although exploration costs continue to increase, the industry is committed to a policy of intensive drilling in Texas. It is hoped that successes with these wells will help offset further production declines this year and in the future," Cox said.
