Something in the news ately brings back that in-colent statement which is a part of the Communist goal of global takeover: that in he process of Red take-over he capitalists will sell the cope with which they are uanged. ope w nanged The

The current reference to his situation is a deal that's prewing between Russia and everal nations of Western Europe whereby those hations would be assured a upply of natural east for lations would be assured a supply of natural gas for building a pipeline to the Soviet source north of the Arctic Circle. This has the appearance of a mutually beneficial urrangement. of a mutually beneficial urrangement. Russia has vast natural gas reserves in he Yamal Peninsula in far North Siberia, but it does not have the technology or he cash to get the gas out of the ground and transport it to market. At the same time West Europeans are unhap-by with OPEC as an energy upplier. They think the ioviets would be more eliable than the Arabs.

To get the gas out of Sib-ria the Soviets plan a 3,600 nile pipeline, about four imes as long as the Alaska oil pipeline. It would cross Russia, Poland and Zzechoslovakia into West Germany

Szechoslovakia into West Germany. Six European nations are eported to be negotiating with the Soviets to provide redits from West European panks to pay for the enor-nous investment of pipelines and equipment. When the project is com-plete the revenue received from sale of the Yamal gas o West Europe is to be used by Russia to pay its produc-ion and construction debts. Vations involved in the deal are West Germany, France, Italy, Austria, Belgium and he Netherlands.

News reports indicate the deal has prompted "US concern that Europeans could be substituting one form of potential political olackmail for another." At his time the Federal Republic of Germany receives 15 percent of its natural gas from USSR, and would double the volume to 30 percent if the pipeline is completed. The present energy dependency could be a

The present energy dependency could be a potent weapon to Soviet oblicy makers. One can magine that a threat to shut down the current 15 percent would provide Russia a pargaining advantage in the pipeline negotiation. But af-er dependency reaches 30 percent Russia's potential for political arm twisting would be vastly increased. Shutting off the gas would not even be necessary. Just a threat would be enough.

A moment's thought rev-eals that the Yamal pipeline teal is very important to our country. First of all there's a possibility of involving UN n the financing. In that case US, as the major financial upport of UN, could find tself providing some of the funds. But the great threat is a possible blow to the NATO alliance. If any or ati of the countries concerned can be nfluenced by Russia's fireat to shut off their gas he consequence could be politically and economically ragic.

Something more to cons-der is that the pipeline deal also would furnish the Russians with capibility to tevelop natural gas fields now beyond their echnological capacity, guaranteeing a new source of energy just when Soviet oil production begins to techine. A new surge of strength in this respect could make the Reds harder than ever to deal with. Thinking over the pipeever to deal with. Thinking over the pipe-ine proposal we have to realize that it is our concern as well as West Europe's. Neither NATO or we can af-ford a situation in which the Reds can dictate terms. Afcontinued on page 2...

My Dear Friends

My Dear Friends As 1 have written previously, a person wants to share joys and sorrows with friends. Not that the demise of Sister Gebharda was really a sorrow to share with you, but 1 considered very much telling you, about her last few months on earth. She had served Sacred Heart School as teacher, and Sacred Heart Church, as sacristar, with unusual diligence for 27 years. And, as though that was not more than enough, she baked and cut hosts, and cleaned the chicken house. That sounds ominous in our times. The Sundays and Holydays, besides her sacristy work, she spent praying in Church with Sister Angela and Mechtidis. Sister has arened the reward she now enjoys, because she was a faithful Spouse of Christ, R.1.P.

faithful Spouse of Christ, R.I.P. Now about myself the most joyful, unexpected news! On October the first I shall take Sister M. Caroline Bar-mettler to Switzerland for an eight weeks vacation. The latter has been a member of Holy Angels Convent for nearly 60 years. Of a sudden the desire to see her native land once more gripped her. She had seen it in 1922 the last ime. She was then a teenager. This unexpected desire of Sister has done me a good turn. My home visit, due in 1983, has been moved up 2 years. We fly to Chicago per Delta airline and from there, per Swissair, to its Zuick airport, which celebrates its Golden Jubilee this year. You may wonder why we have been granted the months of October and November by Mother Mary John. The answer is very simple. The cost of a flight at this time is far less than during summer months. Personally I am very pleased to see my native land in autumn and perhaps winter attire. winter attire.

It was certainly a great honor for Muenster to be visited by Congressman Charles W. Stenholm, And how beautifully the citizens returned this honor as The Muen-ster Enterprise under the beautiful staff photo says: "A steady stream of visitors called at Muenster State Bank Wednesday morning to greet Congressman Charles Stenholm and thank him for a good job in their behalf. And the essence of his remarks is that it's pleasing to have the public's approval of the current government program."

I am positive I would have been in the "steady stream of visitors," because Texas will remain my adopted State.

I suppose I have shared the highlights of recent events with you and I send you my love, prayers and farewell greetings.

Forever your friend, Sister M. Theresina Grob, O.S.B.

THE INCOME TAX Income tax figures for 1978, the latest available, disclose that over $188 billion was paid by 68,660,000 Americans who had taxable incomes. That figures out to an average of over $2,700 per taxpayer. In 1913, before the Income Tax Amendment was passed, the average federal tax paid by an American was $7. Think of that!

that! The huge increase of the individual tax burden has been made possible by the graduated income tax. This, of course, is not the total tax burden, or even the total facture, or even the total federal tax burden, because this huge figure does not include Social Security taxes, both direct and hidden (those passed on by the em-ployer in the form of higher prices) and thousands of other taxes, most of which are hid-den.

iaxes, most of which are hid-den. In his book, Tax Target: Washington, author Gary Allen notes there are 151 taxes on a loaf of bread, 100 taxes on an egg, 116 on a man's suit, 150 on a woman's hat, 87 on a quart of milk, and 600 on a house. The dangers of an income tax have been well known by political economists for many years. England instituted such a tax long before we did in America. In pointing out the pitfalls of an income tax, the Victorian economist Ramsay McCulloch said. "The moment you abandon ... the cardinal principle of exacting from all individuals the same proportion of their income or their property, you are at sea without rudder or compass and there is no amount of injustice or folly you may not of injustice or folly you may not of injustice or folly you may not commit." He continued, "The reasons that made the step be taken in the first instance, backed as they are sure to be by agitation and clamor, will impel you forwards. . Why not take 50 per cent from the man of two busand pounds a year, and confiscate all the higher class of incomes before you tax the lower? . Graduation is not an evil to be paltered with . . . The savages described by Mon-tesquieu, who to get at the fruit cut down the tree, are about as yood financiers as the ad-vocates of this sort of taxes." The threat to individual liberty posed by the income tax was made clear by Bradford Smith in his article, "Liberty as well as to shore up our own defense against the Red conquest. Something else that smells in the Yamal pipeline deal: After the big job is finished, on credit provided by the West, what is the guarantee that Russia will pay its debt? The question is very per-tinent, considering how the Red deadbeats have repudiated obligations in the past. And to make matters worse, in case of the dreaded show-down the West Europeans could find their gas shut off while Russia takes possesion of the pipeline--leaving NATO countries and UN (which in-cludes US) with obligation to make good on the credit guarantee.

Communists were not fooling when they said the capitalist countries will fur-nish the rope for their ownhanging. The pipeline scheme is another of a long list of incidents slanted in their favor. And we have to face the emberassing fact

WASHINGTON, D.C. – There is an old axiom, long valued in our part of the coun-try, that contends that "A man is only as good as his word." In the eyes of a cynical world, beset with conflicting ex-amples, that might seem a naive rule of ethics long outerown by modern society. This is an important moral This is an important moral question that every American, not just an individual segment of society no matter how dissatisfied or how justified they might be, must ask themselves, the loss of what have been considered tradi-tional values of our country naive rule of ethics long outgrown by modern society. In light of the current Air Traffic Controllers illegal strike, however, it is an ethic that deserves a second look. One of the most urgent tasks awaiting Congress after the Labor Day recess will be passage of a new farm bill, which will set forth federal agriculture policy for the next four years

The aim of a federal farm policy is to induce elements of predictability into an inherently unpredictable business. Agriculture products are subject to some of the most un-predictable free market conditions prevailing. Prices can fluctuate widely, depending on supply, demand and other forces in the economy.

Yet, the farmer must rely on many other segments of the economy which are regulated -- labor, energy and a host of industries which manufacture needed equipment and supplies. That means his costs do not fluctuate with the price he receives for his product. In order to make it possible for the farm to stay in bisiness -- and thus continue to supply adequate amounts of food for our people and the export markets -- the federal government must provide basic economic stability through its policies. From the Great Depression until the 1960s, farm policy involved direct federal involvement in farmers' planting and marketing decisions. During the 1960s, the program evolved into a more equitable system of price supports, which allow the marketplace to allocate supplies. In essence, price supports now normally are used to

In essence, price supports now normally are used to provide a minimum price floor, and to allow market forces to determine commodity prices. Under this system, the farmer has assurance of a minimum price, which gives him a basis for making intelligent market decisions. This year, farm programs -- as all federal non-defense programs -- will be reduced somewhat and become the subject of greater scrutiny.

subject of greater scrutiny. The Senate Agriculture Committee has gone to great lengths to produce, a bill which maintains a reasonable farm program and still does not result in unacceptably high federal outlays. This is essential, because if we are unable to control federal spending, the economic chaos which will result will hurt agriculture just as it will every other segment of the economy. Both the Administration and the Congress are keenly aware of the importance of agriculture, which continues to be the nation's largest industry. In fact, economic activity generated by agriculture accounts for 20 percent of our gross national product, employs one fifth of our labor force, and represents about one-fifth of all U.S. exports to force and represents about one-fifth of all U.S. exports to foreign nations.

In Texas, every dollar in farm sales generates more than $3 to the general economy of the state. Texas leads the nation in production of cattle, cotton and sorghum, and is the second-leading state in agriculture cash receipts

Therefore, I can assure you I will work for prompt passage of the farm bill. Failure to pass this legislation by September 30 could cause chaos in agriculture as well as the overall economy, because on that date, the current bill expires and without a new one we will revert to the 1949 act. Both the administrative headaches and the cost of going back to the old system make it unthinkable to allow that to happen. While stop-gap action likely would con-tinue the status quo, Congress must not delay definitive action on this vital issue.

position a fashion? Is it naive to have expected them to follow established pro-cedures to seek redress for what are, undeniably, some justifiable complaints concern-ing their unique job situations? Is it naive for the American public to look to their govern-ment and expect it to make its own employees obey the law? One of the controllers who chose to stay on the job, rather than participate in the con-troversial strike, answered those questions best when he explained why he chose to redrive 55 vides adequately for changes It may take time, but the alterthe Texas Way explained why he chose to re-main in place. Young Homemakers install officers

Installation of officers and the annual summer social for members and spouses were highlights of the August 29 meeting of the Muenster Chapter of Young Homemakers of Texas, held at the Hartman Lake in Myra at 7:30 p.m. Joni Sturm welcomed members and propertive members and Betty Rose Walter-scheid. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth overlayed with draped lilac net and bows. It held the four tiered wedding cake, silver candelabra and a grouping of pictures and portraits of the bride and groom. The white wedding cake stood over a lighted foun-tain and was decorated with cascades of orchid roses. Between the tiers were fresh flowers in the bride's chosen colors. The ornament on top was a silk and crystal creation of a heart, doves and bells. Fresh flowers and greenery surrounded the base of the cake. The groom's cake was a double heart, decorated with roses, all in chocolate. Sturm welcomed members. The official pinning ceremony was the opening feature. Retiring and in-coming officers each received a red carnation made by Janet Fisher. All brands and marks on Texas livestock must be re-recorded

Texas livestock producers must re-record all brands and marks on their livestock with the county clerk's of-fice in the counties where they raise livestock, begin-ning Aug. 30, 1981, says Don C. MHS adds a unit Students of the popular new computer course at Muenster High were thrilled last week by arrival of another Apple II unit for their class. It means that each student now has twice each student now has twice as much practice time as before. Principal Winn said that the morning class of 11 for-merly had only 5 minutes each on the instrument. The afternoon class of 8 was more fortunate but the time still was not adequate. He said that two or three more would be desirable but, at $1500 each, the cost becomes a big item.

New Year Our new year is off the ground. The beginning has been very smooth. We have, however, made a few changes. In order to give our high school students a little morning break, we have extended our school day by seven minutes. Monday through Thursday, we now dismiss school at 3:07 p.m. (only for high school studen-ts). The Friday dismissal is still at 2:00 p.m. Pare Delive

Computer Sacred heart recently entered the computer age. Thanks to many generous donations, we were able to purchase an Apple II Plus computer and printer. Already some of our students are learning to operate the com-puter. This will most assuredly give our students a more complete preparation for the computers they will face in later life. Thank you to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Fuhrman who contributed their time to organize this very impor-tant fund drive. And, thank you to all those who so generously contributed. Sacred Heart will continue to grow because of your help.
