Thanksgiving plans shaping up

Among the recommended economies to get the US financial house back in order is elimination of the Legal Services Corporation. As seen by Edwin Feulner of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington based public policy research institution, "its demise would not hurt the poor people one bit. It would, however, cause great chagrin among left-wing activists whose organizations are the principal beneficiaries of LSC largesse."

As most of us can recall, when the LSC was set up its purpose was to provide free legal aid to the poor. Whatever the poor man's legal problem, a Good Samaritan of the legal profession would be available to see that rights were respected and the poor man got all the compensation he was entitled to. However ideals soon gave way to politics. It became apparent that Legal Services was becoming more interested in social engineering than in promoting the interests of unfortunate clients.

One of the ways in which their left-wing paternalism has asserted itself was in class action suits. As Feulner points out, "if you were to ask the average poor person to name his greatest needs, it is not likely that a chance to join a class action lawsuit would be among them." Yet according to Mandate for Leadership, the Heritage Foundation's 1,093 page study of executive branch agencies, much of the Legal Service budget is consumed by researching and actually bringing class action lawsuits which its theorists and lawyers claim will help the poor, but which the poor themselves know very little about.

Many of the cases are brought against local, state or federal government, thereby confronting us taxpayers with the annoying situation of financing the government to sue us. If the LSC effort succeeds, it means also that our taxes provide the funds to pay the damages.

Class action against the big corporations does not hit quite as directly, but it applies nevertheless. Everybody understands that we the people finance the LSC suit, and we the people pay when business has to increase price to recover losses. We pay coming and going.

On the premise that this legal aid is not all wrong, we can assume that some money has been used properly and there are cases of poor people getting help, nevertheless we can assume also that the LSC lawyers are well paid for their services. The program could easily be more lucrative to them than the poor folks.

But this isn't all of the story. Not by a long shot. The principal fault of LSC is getting involved in a host of controversial and even subversive causes, such as abortion, gay rights, school busing and immorality in school and the media. Such issues have never had public support but they are being supported by LSC out of funds extracted from us taxpayers. Because of this program we have been supporting activities we personally oppose.

The funds are used even to defend foreigners accused of anti-American activity...like rioting Iranians or terrorists. Besides, they are in cahoots with the ACLU, always pro-Soviet and anti-American, regardless of the issue. ACLU says that many thousands of cases it is unable to handle each year are referred to LSC. Still more cases opposed to us but charged to us.

Ironically, all this is going on when the country doesn't even need the help of LSC. Public Defenders' offices and Legal Aid Societies are continued on page 2...

Sacred Heart Parish is busy this week preparing for its annual Thanksgiving observance consisting of a Thanksgiving Mass at 10 a.m. and a Thanksgiving feast plus picnic in the Community Center as a benefit event for the parish building program.

The observance begins with a 10 a.m. Mass at which the special liturgy will emphasize thanks to God for another year of blessings.

Next on schedule is the Thanksgiving dinner featuring turkey, sausage and all of the trimmings. It will be served from 11:00 to 2 and the prices are $4. for adults and $2. for children.

The rest of the day will be taken up by a bazaar featuring eats, drinks, games and items for sale. Beer and soft drinks will be available along with sandwiches, cake and candy and a variety of arts, crafts, baked goods and other items at a country store. Also, there will be games for the kids and big screen TV showing the Cowboys playing the Chicago Bears.

Bob Quick (right), National Secretary of the Future Farmers of America, congratulates Tammy Davidson of Era FFA Chapter on her achievement of the American Farmer Degree. The degree was awarded in a ceremony at the 54th National FFA Convention, held in Kansas City, Missouri, November 12-14. The ceremony included presentation of certificate and gold key.

Community colleges offer wide variety of educational and vocational services

To help bring public awareness of the unique services offered by the state's 60 public community/junior colleges into sharper focus, Governor Bill Clements has proclaimed November 15-21 as "Texas Community College Week."

Rodger Boyce, director of information services at Cooke County College, says that this gesture is altogether fitting, considering that the community college is probably one of the most misunderstood arms of postsecondary education in America.

This is despite the fact that more than a half million persons enroll annually for credit and non-credit courses in the various community colleges across Texas.

Among these institutions, incidentally, Cooke County College claims the distinction of being the oldest continuously operating two-year school in the state, having been established in 1924.

"One of the reasons for the widespread misunderstanding of community colleges and their function," Boyce observes, "is that many persons tend to identify the services offered by community colleges too closely with those offered by four-year colleges and universities."

"It's likely that this is a result of many institutions calling themselves 'junior' college, a term still in use on many campuses."

Unfortunately, he points out, this terminology can be very misleading in that it implies a school which is little more than a miniature version of a senior college -- a place to get the first two years of a four-year degree.

"That may have been largely the case way back in the beginning," Boyce says, "but junior colleges have grown up since then, and they've grown up in more ways than one."

"Programs of academic transfer for students preparing to go on to a four-year school are still an important part of the overall community college concept. However, such courses no longer dominate the curriculum. Other equally important programs have been added to extend the benefits of higher education to a wider segment of the community."

This, Boyce stresses, is essentially what separates both the mission and purpose of a community college from those of senior colleges and universities.

"There's a lot of truth in the notion that 'college is not for everybody,'" Boyce observes, "that is, if you're talking strictly about the four-year schools. Indeed, not everybody needs or wants a bachelor's degree, but that certainly doesn't mean they don't need additional learning experiences beyond the high school level."

This is precisely where the community college comes in, he explains. At Cooke County College, for example, senior college transfer courses comprise only one of a long list of varied educational and training programs offered to residents of its service area.

Among the most significant of these are in vocational and technical areas. These programs are designed for persons who wish to enter directly into employment in one of the various skilled trades or para-professional fields which don't require a four-year degree but which, obviously, do call for specialized training.

Included are such programs as automotive mechanics, auto body repair, drafting, electronic

Tigers go for bi-district

The ingredient that Sacred Heart's Tigers have been looking for since the beginning of their football season appears to have arrived. It is momentum, as indicated by their switch from 1-6 to 4-6 in just three weeks.

And it could not have come at a better time. Besides enabling the boys to pull out of a dismal season and end with a district TCIL championship, it has them confident of being able to keep up the good work.

As pointed out by Coach Father Stephen, they were at their season's best in their one-sided 34-14 win over Notre Dame's Knights. Actually, the game was an upset. ND, with a bigger and stronger team than last year, had definite notions of running over the Tigers, but it was surprised. Sacred Heart took control and held on.

That's the ingredient that Coaches Father Stephen and Virgil Henscheid are counting on as their charges square off against the Colts of Marian Christian on the Muenster High field Sat. night at 7:30. They will need both momentum and enthusiasm to offset the advantage apparently enjoyed by the visitors. Marian Christian has a 5-4 record in a tough schedule and it represents an enrollment of about 150 boys. The Tiger record is 4-6 against comparable competition, but its enrollment of only 45 boys offers considerably less selection for the team roster.

Henscheid said that the film from a recent Colt game shows that the Tigers have a job in front of them. First there's the item of weight ranging mostly from 180 to 200 pounds with an average advantage of 25 pounds. Weight also applies to the backfield which has two power runners and one speedster. And depth will favor them more than 2 to 1. Their total roster is about 35 whereas Sacred Heart's is 16.

However Henscheid isn't down hearted. Sacred Heart has given a good account of itself in other encounters with the big boys, and spirits are running high. With limited opportunity for going through the hefty line, they'll concentrate on going around or over.

The Tigers' biggest problem apparently will be the loss of one player and possible loss of another. Curtis Henscheid is definitely sidelined with a fracture received in the game with Notre Dame. Curtis Hesse is handicapped by a bruised thigh from the same game, but probably will be able to play. The team has had a week to recover from the hard knocks of its previous game.

It's time to re-register livestock marks and brands

Attorney General Mark White has issued two Attorney General's opinions which affect and should interest everyone involved in the cattle, ranching, farming and dairy industries. Opinion MW-289 discusses certain changes in laws on the registration of livestock brands, and MW-358 further clarifies the statutes.

Article 6899j, V.T.C.S. was passed by the Legislature and became effective on August 30, 1971. Under this law and under Article 6890, V.T.C.S., all marks and brands registered after August 30, 1971 and before August 30, 1981 must be re-registered within six months of the latter date. Marks and brands must then be re-registered at subsequent ten-year intervals by the owner. All marks and brands will then be recorded with the county clerk, regardless of when they originally were recorded, within six months of August 30, 1981, August 30, 1991, August 30, 2001, etc.

Attorney General Mark White is reminding every citizen who has registered a brand prior to August 30, 1981 that citizens must re-register each brand with the county clerk within six months in order to protect their right to it. If everyone follows the registration schedule set out by the law, county clerks will have a correct, revised set of records every ten years, and there should be no dispute about the correct ownership of livestock.

To register or re-register marks and brands, the livestock owner may obtain forms either by mail or in person from his or her county clerk's office. There will be blank spaces on the form in which to describe the mark or brand and the location on the animal where the brand is recorded. The forms should then be mailed or delivered in person to the county clerk, who will keep the forms in an indexed bound volume or on microfilm for easy reference.

Defensive driving course cuts cost of auto liability insurance

Texas drivers will soon be required to have auto liability insurance -- but those not currently covered can save money on their purchase.

The new compulsory liability insurance law goes into effect January 1. Every time Texas drivers are stopped for traffic violations or are involved in an auto accident investigated by law enforcement officials, they will be required to show proof of liability insurance coverage. Drivers will have to be covered for medical expenses of $10,000 per person ($20,000 for two or more persons) and property damage of $5,000.

But most Texas drivers can save ten percent a year for three years on this insurance cost by enrolling in and graduating from the National Safety Council's Defensive Driving Course (DDS).

Administrated in Texas by the Texas Safety Association (TSA), the eight-hour course is taught by more than 600 agencies across the state. Many large employers teach the course to their employees. To find a DDC agency near you, consult the Yellow pages for Driver Improvement or Driver Education.

Graduates of the eight-hour course who are insured by rate-regulated companies are eligible for a ten percent premium reduction in insurance for three years on liability, bodily injury, property damage, medical payments, personal injury protection and collision coverage. In all cases, drivers will find the first year's savings are more than the $15.00 fee usually charged for the course.

If you are unable to locate a DDC agency near you, call TSA at (512) 451-7421.

Ben Haverkamps observe fiftieth wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Haverkamp celebrated fifty years of life together on Tuesday, November 10, surrounded by their four children and spouses, 20 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren and a small group of close family members.

They attended the 8 a.m. Mass together and then Mickey and Bennie Haverkamp hosted their breakfast.

At 7 p.m. Tuesday evening, all of them were guests at a dinner in the Colonial Restaurant in Gainesville, catered by the Haverkamps' daughter and son-in-law, the Merlin Wilsons and family.

The Haverkamps' four children are Mrs. Charles (Marcella) Switzer, Mrs. Merlin (Lorene) Wilson, Bennie Haverkamp and Lennie Haverkamp.

Also attending the dinner were his two brothers and their spouses, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Haverkamp of Gainesville and Mr. and Mrs. Al (Lee) Haverkamp of Muenster. (Sister Anselma Haverkamp was unable to attend.) Also her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grewing, Sr. of Lindsay and four sisters-in-law, Mrs. John (Hattie) Grewing and Mrs. Bill (Ella) Haverkamp both of Muenster; Mrs. Joe (Laura) Haverkamp of Gainesville and Mrs. Frank (Jean) Haverkamp of Lindsay.

Honor guests included the bridesmaid and best man of 50 years ago, Mrs. Harold Walterscheid, (the former Marie Richter), and Charlie

The dinner table at the anniversary was covered with a white cloth, and held golden candles in a pair of candelabra and there was a yellow silk flower arrangement. The two tiered anniversary cake was made by Mrs. Mickey Spaeth. It featured a golden-wedding figurine and numeral "50" on the top layer, with figurines for the children and roses for the grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Ben and Mamie Grewing Haverkamp were married on Nov. 10, 1931 in Sacred Heart Church by Father Frowin Koerdt. They lived on a farm near Myra for several years, then moved back into the Muenster area to the old Haverkamp home place east of town, and for a few years lived on a farm south of Muenster. Their long time home and acres in town were sold about six or seven years ago to AMPI and since then the Ben Haverkamps have lived in a new home on North Main.

Early Deadline

The Muenster Enterprise will publish next week's paper on Tuesday instead of Thursday, because of restrictions in the printing schedule. Our deadline therefore will be Monday at noon for advertising and news items. The following week we will resume our regular schedule. Happy Thanksgiving.

COMMENT

Instructions from the... Owners Manual

by Mark Emerson

Total surrender, yes, that's it total surrender. Men and women must totally surrender their interest to Jesus Christ and thus accept him as Lord.

A relationship with the girl next door, the love for our family, the small business we've inherited or built with our own two hands, the classes we teach, the people we pray with, even the sin in our lives has to be given over to the rightful owner and he is Jesus Christ. "For to all who receive him, who believe in his name he gave power to become children of God". (Jn 1:12) Not just to know about God as Peter and so many of us have done. Head knowledge won't get it! All the good work you do, won't get it! No matter how hard you work in the church, civic centers, or in the fields; only faith in Jesus and surrendering to the fact a personal, daily relationship with him will give you peace with God. Then the rest will come!

JUDGING THE JUDGES

By Edwin Feulner

Attorney General William French Smith, one of the low-profile members of the Reagan Cabinet until recently, stepped into the spotlight a few days ago — and, as they say in show biz, "he's knocking 'em dead."

First it was the attorney general on criminal law: stop wasting so much time and money trying to rehabilitate criminals, and start thinking more about "punishment, deterrence and protection of the public," he told a Congressional subcommittee. (About a week after this speech was made, three Washington-area men, all out of jail on bond, were arrested for the murder-robbery of a Maryland restaurant manager. Statistics show that a large proportion of U.S. crimes are committed by people with previous criminal convictions or histories of arrest.)

Then it was the arrogance of the federal judiciary: citing abortion and school busing, among other issues, the attorney general told a group of government lawyers that federal courts have gone far beyond their Constitutional mandate, and need to be brought back in check.

"Federal courts have attempted to restructure entire school systems in desegregation cases," he said. "They have asserted similar control over entire prison systems and public housing projects. They have restructured employment criteria even to the extent of mandating numerical results based upon race or gender."

"No area seems immune from judicial administration. At least one federal judge," Smith noted, "even attempted to administer a local sewer system."

Such talk, of course, is unlikely to endear the attorney general to the bleeding hearts of the American Civil Liberties Union, and others who have pushed the courts into taking the law into their own hands. It should, however, bring smiles to those among us (77 percent according to a recent Sindlinger & Co. public opinion attitude survey) who believe federal court judges are out of touch with the real world.

So out of step is the federal judiciary thought to be with rank and file America, that 80 percent of the Sindlinger respondents said they would favor requiring a two-thirds "super majority" of the Supreme Court to declare a law unconstitutional.

All this jibes with an even larger study conducted by Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company earlier this year. Besides a wide-ranging survey of general public opinion, the Connecticut Mutual report included a survey of the views held by high level individuals in nine leadership groups. Law and justice leaders differed most from the general public on a number of major issues.

As Patrick B. McGuigan and Randall R. Rader conclude in a thoughtful new book, A Blueprint for Judicial Reform (Free Congress Foundation, 1981), while "no one should expect that the leaders of America's legal community will find themselves in constant agreement with the views of typical Americans... the substantial and consistent differences between the general public and the legal community are disturbing."

The point to be made here is not that federal judges should take public opinion polls before they issue decisions, McGuigan and Rader correctly note. However, no one should be surprised that after decades of judicial activism — in which the courts over and over again have seemingly rewritten the laws of the land to suit their personal preferences — the general public is not only disenchanted, but up in arms.

Attorney General Smith seems aware of the problem and ready to do something about it. The what-can-be-done and how-to-do-it is clearly and convincingly spelled out in the Free Congress book.

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institution.)

long standing legal institutions that have done the job well and are still willing and able to do it. To provide more such help in another way, it is proposed now to allow lawyers in private practice to take charitable deductions for providing legal service to eligible clients.

Early in the present administration it was proposed to eliminate LSC simply by eliminating the appropriation which supports it, but the necessary votes failed to materialize. One has to wonder whether the left-leaning lawmakers were reluctant to lose this considerable block of liberal support. Perhaps things will change with the next election. If a conservative congress emerges it could cut off the LSC source of income... still leaving a possibility that the next liberal election would restore LSC.

Proposed as the best way out of the Legal Service is a suggestion originated about a year ago. "Repeal the Act which authorizes LSC. Eliminate its only legal means of survival". The idea has been brought up, but lobbying against it has been furious. Support remains stubborn in spite of LSC being known as a $321 million waste doing more harm than good.

RESPONDING TO THE CHALLENGES

Civilizations are born and grow to maturity when people respond successfully to challenges, either human or natural. Failure to do so marks the beginning of the breakdown of a civilization.

Western Christendom is faced today with many challenges. Upon how we respond to them will rest the fate of our civilization. This is particularly true for those of us in the United States, for we are the creative leaders of the West.

One of the challenges facing us is crime. Violent crime increased 13 percent in 1980 over the previous year. Addressing the 1981 annual meeting of the American Bar Association, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said:

"Like it or not, today we are approaching the status of an impotent society — whose capability of maintaining elementary security on the streets, in schools and in the homes of our people is in doubt."

Here is a clear challenge to which we are not responding. The Chief Justice placed part of the blame for escalating crime on the educational establishment because they have "virtually eliminated... any effort to teach values of integrity, truth, personal accountability, respect for others' rights."

It isn't very pleasant, necessary though it may be, reporting on bad news so much of the time. It's wonderful, therefore, to bring some good news.

There are vitally important challenges which have arisen over the years to which we are now responding properly. These are unemployment, high taxes and escalating inflation. All are interrelated.

To the credit of the American electorate, in 1980 they "drew the line." In effect they said, "It's time for a change of direction. It's time to cut the growth of out-of-control government, confident that such action is the correct first step in responding to the challenges of unemployment, high taxes and inflation. A few figures will illustrate the seriousness of these challenges.

Total government spending in 1970 was $33 billion. This year it will be $1,700 billion, an increase of over 400 percent in just twelve years.

Spending per person increased from $1,643 to $4,678 over the same period. Obviously, what the government spends, it must pay for, either through taxation or by "creating money out of thin air" — by inflation.

One of the most damaging increases occurred in Social Security taxes. In 1970, combined taxes of employee and employer, all of which are ultimately paid by the consumer-employee, were $749. This year these taxes have grown to the exorbitant level of $3,950 per person, over five times the previous level.

In 1970 the rate of inflation was an unhealthy 5.5 percent, but by 1980 it had reached the double-digit level of 12.4 percent.

Unemployment was 4.9 percent in 1970, near the full-employment rate of 4 percent, but by 1980 it had reached 7.4 percent.

How are we responding to these challenges? The administration, chosen by the people to lead the response, has just instituted the largest tax and spending reductions in half-a-century. Taxes will be cut by $37.7 billion over the next three years. Spending will be reduced $35.2 billion over the next three years. While unemployment is already down to 7 percent and inflation is below 10 percent, these responses to the challenges will, if adhered to, continue to reduce them to harmless levels, in the process helping preserve our civilization.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower

U.S. SENATOR FOR TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Veterans Day as we observe it now is a tribute to all Americans who have served their nation in the armed forces. But originally the date was a celebration of peace, the end of World War I on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month in 1918.

It is supremely appropriate that we combine this anniversary of peace with the time to honor our veterans, because we Americans serve — and even fight when necessary — to preserve and establish a just peace. Whether in time of war or time of peace, American Soldiers and sailors and airmen give a portion of their lives, or even die, for a strong United States. It is these people who make it possible for the rest of us to live in peace and prosperity and freedom.

Not so long ago, some lost sight of the value and importance of this contribution. Veterans who served their nation during the Vietnam War found too often that they came home to indifference, or even contempt. I find this attitude has changed. A new wave of patriotism has wrought a new sense of appreciation for those who serve in the military.

After a decade of seeming apathy, Americans have awakened to a new commitment to remain strong to deter aggression.

A recent ABC-New York Times poll showed that 86 percent of the American public favors doing, and spending, whatever is necessary to ensure that the United States maintains a defense capability equal to or greater than that of the Soviet Union. Only 10 percent said they would cut defense spending even if it meant resigning ourselves to an inferior position in the world.

I am gratified but not surprised to see this statistical confirmation of the commitment I find whenever I talk to my fellow Texans, as well as groups from other parts of the country. I can assure you that this same commitment to strength and service is to be found on every U.S. military installation in the world.

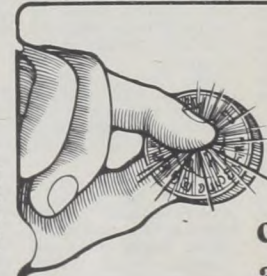

For these reasons, I am optimistic that we will be able to remedy the effects of a decade of neglect to our defense system; that we can live up to our historic role of providing might to defend right in the world.

When Americans celebrated Armistice Day at the end of World War I, they hoped it would be the war to end all wars. We know from bitter experience since then that this hope was premature. For blood has been shed in every corner of the world since then. We have learned that we cannot let down our guard, that we must be alert constantly to the danger of tyranny and aggression.

George Washington warned us: "If we desire peace, one of the most powerful institutions of our rising prosperity, it must be known that we are at all times ready for war." The weapons have changed in the 200 years since Washington spoke, but the concept is as true now as ever.

We all hope and pray for the day when we can set aside weapons, but only a demonstration of our resolve not to let aggressors act with impunity will make that day possible.

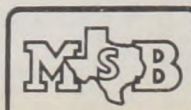

Then, we can hope for the day the prophet Micah envisioned — "Nations shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. But they shall sit, every man under his vine and under his fig tree; and none shall make them afraid."

many, many examples which could be cited," Boyce says. "The point is, the residents of our service area have many different kinds of educational needs beyond high school which the senior college or university is neither structured nor equipped to meet.

"Our mission is to identify these needs and then to develop and offer programs to see that as many of these needs as possible are met."

In addition to academic transfer and occupation-technical programs, community colleges also provide educational services to still another widely varied segment of the population of its service area. They are collectively referred to, and appropriately so, as "community service" programs.

Largely, these programs are designed for persons who don't necessarily need to go to school but who are seeking additional learning experiences for personal enrichment or simply for the fun of it.

Offered as community service "mini-courses" through CCC's Division of Continuing Education, these inexpensive, non-credit courses range in subject matter from physical conditioning, painting and dance to martial arts, powder puff mechanics, furniture refinishing, photography and sewing.

"It should be noted," Boyce emphasizes, "that several of these mini-courses also are designed to equip students with skills and knowledge that could help them in their jobs. Good examples are such short-term, non-credit courses as beginning bookkeeping, typing, speed reading and speed writing."

As with its credit programs, CCC also designs its community service programs in response to community needs and desires. According to Continuing Education dean Eddie Hadlock, if as many as 10 persons indicate interest in enrolling in a certain course, every effort will be made to accommodate them.

Persons seeking additional information about the preparatory classes or the exam schedule may contact the CCC Counseling and Testing Center at (817) 668-7731, extension 216.

Memorial honors deceased Knights

One hundred and twenty deceased members of the Muenster Knights of Columbus were remembered Sunday at the council's annual memorial service in the KC hall. The ceremony was preceded by a special Mass for the departed brothers with Father Stephen Eckart, chaplain as celebrant.

Three of the deceased Knights are new since last year's memorial service. They are Leonard Endres, Matt Muller and Joe Knabe.

The ceremony opened with the memorial Mass after which the formal ritual referred to death and man's eternal destiny. And finally the roll of departed members was called.

Grand Knight Harold Flusche commended Knights and friends for their good turnout honoring the deceased members. Widows and other family members joined the council in honoring the deceased.

These are the trophy winners in the regional PP&K contest sponsored by Jaycees of Muenster and Lindsay. Each row is arranged by ages 8 to 13 with first places in the top row, second places in the middle row and third places in the bottom row. They are, top row: Tommy Huchton, Jerry Brawner, Jeff Brendt, Craig Neu, John Magnus, Donald Neu; middle row: John Krebs, Donnie Boydston, Darrell Dangelmayr, Bobby Fleitman, John Fangman, Eric Weems; bottom row: Terry Felderhoff, Tracy Huchton, Curtis Weems, Stuart Hess, Scott Taylor, Keith Koelzer.

Mary Hoedebeck, Brent Hess exchange vows

Mr. and Mrs. Brent Hess have returned from a wedding trip following their marriage in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, November 7, and are at home in Muenster.

Father Stephen Eckart and the bride's uncle, Father Paul Hoedebeck of Paris, Ark. officiated for their vows and con-celebrated the Nuptial Mass at 5 p.m.

The bride is the former Mary Hoedebeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hoedebeck and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hess.

The bride was presented at the altar by her father. For her wedding she chose to wear her mother's wedding gown, handmade 35 years ago by her late paternal grandmother, Mrs. Fred Hoedebeck and altered by Marie Zimmerer of Lindsay. The formal gown of ivory satin was designed with a sheer V-yoke of organza and a matching ruffle. The yoke, neckline and the long, satin, petal point sleeves were edged with crystal Venice lace. A detail of matching Venice lace marked the molded, V-shaped waistline of the bodice, at the full gathered skirt. Appliques of lace accented the skirt, further trimmed with an up-swept organza flounce forming a chapel length train.

Her triple tiered fingertip length veil of bridal illusion drifted from a lace Juliet cap.

She carried a cascading bouquet of burgundy silk roses and white baby's breath in which was entwined a pearl white rosary, a gift from the groom's mother. For tradition she added her late Grandmother Hoedebeck's wedding band.

Attendants
Attending the bride was her former classmate, Mrs. Ramona Felderhoff as matron of honor; and her sister Toni Hoedebeck and the groom's sister, Donna Hess as bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of burgundy Qiana. The fitted bodice featured a single sleeve and spaghetti strap ensemble, with a matching chiffon capelet. The crystal pleated skirt fell from a raised waistline.

Each carried a wicker basket of miniature pink and burgundy mums and white daisies accented with pink ribbons.

Stephanie Grewing was flower girl and Willie Hess was ring bearer.

Mark Mollenkopf, a friend was the best man and Joe Hoedebeck, bride's brother and Tim Williams of Greenwood, a friend, were groomsmen. Howard Hess and Fred Hoedebeck, brothers of the couple and Mark Hess, cousin of the groom were ushers.

Tony Grewing and Jeff Hoedebeck, nephews of the couple and Ryan and Jason Gehrig, cousins of the groom were Mass servers.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Ruth Felderhoff, organist and Mrs. Connie Grewing, flutist, and Carolyn Luke, vocalist who sang as guests assembled and during Mass.

The altar was decorated with lighted candles and arrangements of pink gladioli, burgundy carnations and white spider mums, accented with pink satin bows.

Reception
A reception hosted by the bride's parents, followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center, with dinner and a dance.

Sisters of the couple, Mmes. Wayne Grewing and Anthony Grewing registered 370 guests in the bride's book.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gehrig seated guests and Shellie Walterscheid, Julie and Tammy Grewing and Tammy Hess were reception assistants and served the wedding cakes.

Two 3-tiered angel food cakes were on the bride's table. Between the two was a connecting bridge of red silk roses with figurines representing the wedding party. A burgundy water fountain flowed under the bride. Also gracing the table was the groom's chocolate cake, baked in the shape of a horseshoe. Both cakes were made by Mrs. Betty Rose Walterscheid and cut by Mrs. Paul Hoedebeck, bride's sister-in-law and Mrs. Dave Walterscheid.

Rohmer's catered the dinner and "Hard Times" played for dancing.

Decorations in the Community Center included the lace covered bride's table where there was a display of the couple's engagement portfolio, a favorite poem, a basket filled with pink rice bags, the anniversary candle, the bridal bouquet and a "wedding day memory box", gift from the bride's sister. On the wall was a large wicker fan decorated with the couple's names.

Guest tables were decorated with pink and burgundy ribbons, burgundy candles and miniature wicker fans with flowers in the bride's chosen colors.

The dinner table for the wedding party held a fresh flower centerpiece of pink and burgundy carnations, a pair of silver candelabra with ivy and stephanotis at each end of the table and floor baskets of flowers in blending colors. There was also a favorite wall banner. Suspended in the center of the room was a large floral centerpiece in the bride's chosen colors. The registry table held the bride's book, a bridal portfolio and a small candle centerpiece of pink and burgundy.

The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and is a waitress at The Center Restaurant. The groom, also a Sacred Heart graduate, attended Cooke County College and is an assembler at National Supply Co.

Rehearsal Dinner
The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents in their home on November 5, with a barbecued chicken menu. A kitchen recipe shower on October 18 hosted by the bride's sisters, and a bridal supper attended by eight classmates, and hosted by the matron of honor, Ramona Felderhoff, were included among pre-nuptial parties.

Among guests from out-of-town were Father Paul Hoedebeck, Dr. and Mrs. Saul Sokol, Maxine Morris; and Messrs and Mmes. Fred Knabe, Frank Evans, Richard Cowans, James Carter, Steve Hess, Rick Del Olmo, Chris Cagle, Henry Spohn, Terry Hess, Winston Fangman, Gus Berend, Eddie Stock, Alf. Hoedebeck and Paul Hoedebeck and son Jeff.

Also Toni Hoedebeck, Jay Lankford, Tim Williams, Tina Wilde, Sharon Hess, Cathy Bar-tush, Chris Schilling and Carolyn Luke.

Ross-Point has annual dinner

A very successful annual Harvest Supper at the Ross-Point community Center last Saturday evening has brought expressions of gratitude from members of the Rosston Progress Club. Stan Lovette, president and Jim Penton, club reporter said "We of the Progress Club thank everyone for good attendance at our annual affair and we extend happy greetings for the approaching holiday season. There were hundreds attending." Penton said. "There were so many cars on the parking area, that trying to leave the premises in our car was a problem - one that I hope we can correct in the future." Lovette said that support was superb, and added that at the dinner someone came up to him, gave him a check for $100, indicating it was intended to add to the fund for improving the tennis court.

The tennis court has been a long time project of the Ross-Point Progress Club. Proceeds from the Harvest Dinner will benefit that project and other improvements on the Community Club building.

Donna Hennigan marries Gary Flanagan in double ring ceremony at Sacred Heart

Donna Louise Hennigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hennigan of Muenster became the bride of Gary LeRoy Flanagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Flanagan of Gainesville on Saturday, November 14 in Sacred Heart Catholic Church of Muenster.

Father Stephen Eckart officiated at 5 p.m. for the sacred double ring ceremony and exchange of vows and included excerpts from the Bible especially chosen by the couple.

As the bride and groom approached the altar together, she paused to present lilac long stemmed roses to her mother and the groom's mother.

The bride was wearing a formal wedding gown of white French organza. The Elizabethan neckline was enhanced with point d'esprit and Venise lace, pearls and aurora borealis. Long sheer bishop sleeves were trimmed with lace cuffs. The bouffant skirt of tier on tier trimmed in lace, continued into a chapel length train.

She wore a fingertip veil of English silk illusion edged in matching lace and caught in a caplet. Her bridal jewelry included a matched set of opal pendant and earrings, gift from the groom. She carried her bridal flowers in an all white silk bouquet centered with a large rose surrounded by baby's breath, sweetheart roses and valley lilies, with white ribbons and tulle.

Attendants

Lisa Hennigan was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a lilac dress of sheer organza over taffeta, edged with a deep ruffle at the hemline of the billowy skirt, and tied at the back with roses of lilac organza. A ruffle formed the neckline. Her head piece was a wreath of lilac, blue and white baby's breath on lilac silk bridal ribbon with streamers. She carried a silk bouquet of a lilac and blue tiger lily, lilac rosebuds and white, lilac and blue baby's breath.

Sidney Riley of Gainesville was the best man. Robert Coursey of Gainesville, bride's uncle and Clint Flanagan of Canyon, Texas, groom's brother were ushers. Jessica Lutkenhaus of Carrollton cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a blue organza over taffeta dress, and a wreath similar to the honor maid's. She carried a basket of flowers of the bride's chosen colors. Ruth Smith of Rosston made all of the bouquets for the wedding party, all corsages and boutonnières.

The ring bearer was Jay Hennigan, cousin of the bride.

Wedding music by Mrs. Ruth Felderhoff, organist, included "The Rose" as the processional melody and Purcell's "Trumpet Tune in D" as the recessional. Vocalists: Diane Grewing, Vicky Fisher and Debbie Hess sang several selections to guitar accompaniment.

The altar and sanctuary were decorated with a white wicker basket and white silk flowers in the center of the altar and baskets of flowers in shades of lilac, blue and white on either side. Two lighted, heart shaped candelabra entwined with ivy and a two-toned ribbon bow of lilac and blue marked the couple's places in the sanctuary.

Following the ceremony the couple went to the Blessed Mother's altar, where the bride placed a single blue rose tribute as the "Ave Maria" was played.

Reception

A reception and catered dinner followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center, attended by about 160 guests.

The bride's aunt, Linda Coursey of Gainesville and Pauline Mullins of Muenster presided at the guest book. Serving the wedding cakes were Joan Lutkenhaus of Carrollton, Odilia Lutkenhaus, Pauline Mullins and Marcy Mullins of Muenster.

The white, three tiered bride's cake stood over a purple fountain. A cluster of lilac bells adorned the top layer and lilac flowers, cherubs and bell confections decorated the other layers, with a surrounding base of ivy. The groom's cake, chocolate and heart-shaped was decorated with chocolate roses.

Decorations at the reception included a double heart-shaped array of silk flowers suspended from the ceiling. The bride's table was covered with lilac lace over lilac net, and lilac and blue candles in crystal holders. A silk flower centerpiece of lilac and blue with white doves and hearts, was accented by two white wicker wedding bells with flowers. Foil fans in these colors added special interest.

Guest tables were laid with foil fans, baskets of flowers and miniature rice bags in lilac and blue on white tablecloths.

The registration table was covered with white lace over lilac. It held carnations of the chosen colors, the wedding invitation in a heart shaped frame, and a lilac plume with the bride's book. White lace over lilac or blue covered the gift table and punch table where clusters of wedding bells were caught to the corners. The bride designed most of the decorations, and was assisted by Mrs. Arnold Knabe in decorating the reception room.

After a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will be at home in Gainesville. She is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School where she was salutatorian of the 1979 class. She also attended Cooke County College for two years and is employed at Best Steel Couplings in Muenster. The groom is a graduate of Gainesville High School and attended Cooke County College. He is employed by Barnes Brothers of Gainesville.

Nuclear energy's safe, and we need it.

let's let it work for us.

When electric lights first replaced gas lamps in some hotels, guests had to be reassured that Mr. Edison's newfangled invention was safe.

We Americans have always been determined and resourceful people — from the Mayflower to the Columbia space shuttle, we've built a better life for ourselves and been careful to control the hazards involved.

Every new technology we've developed has been frightening to some: steamships, automobiles, the cotton gin and even electricity itself.

Some people still think nuclear power — one of our most plentiful and inexpensive energy resources — involves uncontrollable hazards and unacceptable risks. In fact, it does not.

In 24 years of commercial nuclear operation, there has never been a nuclear-related injury to any member of the public — a record few, if any, industries can match. Generating electricity with nuclear fuel is at least as safe as doing it any other way.

We routinely accept other risks that are many times more dangerous, because we have become accustomed to them. Just being 30 pounds overweight is at least a 450-times-bigger risk than generating all our electricity with nuclear fuel.

At your electric company, we need to use nuclear fuel to help generate the electricity you use. We're convinced the risk is acceptable. Nuclear energy is essential, if future generations are to enjoy as good a life as we do now.

Here we go again! The deer and turkey hunting season has once again made its debut. 'Tis a time most Forestburg area folks dread for once more our "City Cousins" think is "open range" hereabouts with not much respect to the fact that this land around here is all private property — or that it is unlawful to hunt from the roads. Most of us would just as soon these mighty hunters would "get lost" and stay that way. We don't need them.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Foster of Fort Worth visited with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Blake Freeman on Tuesday November 10th.

Ted and Laura Belle Jackson were in Muenster and Gainesville Tuesday the 10th. While in Gainesville they visited with Mrs. Jacksons Aunt and Uncle — Mr. and Mrs. E.M. Shiflet.

Mmes. Olita and Cleo Lanier attended the funeral service Thursday p.m. Nov. 12th for Billy Ray Hancock of Alvord. Mr. Hancock was the husband of Olita's sister. Funeral services were held Thursday Nov. 12th at 2:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Sunset for Myrtle McMillion. Rev. Eugene Pievo and Rev. Larry Savage conducted the services. Interment was in the Perryman Cemetery. Miss Myrtle, as we knew her, was born March 2, 1905 and died in the Bowie Hospital Nov. 10, 1981. She is survived by a brother, A.B. McMillion of Forestburg and several nieces and nephews. Miss Myrtle was a dear friend and a good neighbor to all the Dewey area folks, we all loved her and will miss her ever so much. For many, many years she wrote a Dewey News Column for the Bowie News and the Saint Jo newspaper which folks enjoyed so much.

Mrs. Wanda Magee had as her visitors on Thursday Nov. 12th, Mrs. Ruth (Magee) Tallman and Mrs. Lois (Magee) Hall of Sunset.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robertson of Gainesville visited with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Prather Wednesday Nov. 11th.

Mrs. Peggy (Green) Holland motored to Denton Wednesday Nov. 11th to spend the day with her daughter Christie Rashid. The two went shopping in Arlington and Fort Worth.

On Friday the 13th, Peggy was in Nocona to visit with her dad, Carl Green at Pleasant Haven Home and also to do some more shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jackson attended the regular meeting of the Greenwood Chapter of the Eastern Star on Friday night Nov. 13th. Saturday night the 14th found them back down there for the annual Mason-Eastern Star Thanksgiving Supper.

"Dude" and Bula Mae Berry made it over to Alvord Saturday p.m. Nov. 14th to visit with Bula Mae's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Paul White.

Jack C. Dill and Don Farrell left the "hills and dales" of Forestburg Friday a.m. Nov. 13th and headed north for the Hal Hayes home in Grinnell, Kansas. While there they went pheasant hunting. Jack and Don "bagged" seven between them. They returned home late Monday afternoon the 16th. Jack Dill told this writer it was also deer hunting season in Kansas but they use "bows and arrows" and only let residents of Kansas hunt.

Master Chris Carter of Bowie and Jack Carter's brother of Denton were Nov. 14th weekend visitors in the home of Vesta and Jack Carter.

Mrs. Carnelia Holzbog, Doug and Beth spent the Nov. 14th weekend in Arlington visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Will Payne.

The following item was sent to us by Mrs. Cleo Lanier: "Mrs. Velma Freeman, Mmes. Shirley and Cleo Lanier, boarded a chartered bus in Saint Jo, along with 45 other passengers and the driver, and bussed down to the "Grape Vine Opry", Saturday, Nov. 14th. They stopped in Denton and ate supper, arriving in Grapevine before opening time, they drove to McDonalds and had more refreshments. Then to the Opry for 2 1/2 hours of fun and entertainment. Everyone enjoyed the Opry and the trip. The entertainers met us at the bus as we were leaving, and expressed their appreciation for us coming, and presented everyone with 3 records of the "Grapevine Opry."

The bus driver, Mr. Ken Miller, was a nice congenial fellow, and happened to be married to a niece of a former Forestburg resident, Mrs. Leon (Moore) Swim.

On the way home he was conned into driving all the way out to Braums, in Gainesville, for ice cream. They were getting ready to close, but the young people in charge graciously waited on everyone. One of the waitresses was Jan Orrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Orrell. Don't ever get the idea that kids are the only ones who want to stop at every eating sign, as most of these were Senior Citizens, but everyone was agreeable, and patient and had a great time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Littell motored up to Healdton, Okla. Sunday p.m. Nov. 15th to visit with Ross' cousin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Box.

Merle and Clifford Hudspeths daughter, Mrs. Charles (Paula) Barber and Angie of Wichita Falls spent the Nov. 14th weekend with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Poteet, Mae Wade, Bessie Greenwood and Joey Greenwood visited in the Troy Greenwood home Sunday the 15th. Bessie is feeling much better these days.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. "Dude" Berry Sunday Nov. 15th were their son and family, the Mike Berrys of Denton and their granddaughter Cynthia Almon of Wichita Falls.

Visiting with Mrs. Mollie Moore Sunday the 15th were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Edes and granddaughter Julia Edes of Saint Jo.

Mmes. Cleo Lanier and Decie Ellzey visited with residents of the Yes-ter-year Home in Saint Jo Sunday afternoon the 15th.

Nov. 14th weekend visitors with Mrs. Vera Mae McGee were her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dale McGee of Kemp and Mrs. Ray Jackson.

Okay "Dude" see if you know this old-timer.

Dale McGees sister Mrs. Winnie Erger of Dallas, and Mrs. Edna Merle Hill of Bowie. The Dale McGees and Mrs. Erger also visited with Mr. and Mrs. S.D. Hoover of Montague, parents of Mmes. Dale McGee and Mrs. Erger.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Reynolds drove to the Presbyterian Hospital in Dallas Sunday, Nov. 15th to visit with Bennetts sister Mrs. Esther Smith. Betty says that Esther is making good progress.

Due to all the good rains the peanut harvesting is off to a good start and am told the vines are loaded. So let us hope our good weather will last for awhile longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Orrell, of Monterey, Mexico, called Raymond's mother Mrs. Bess Orrell Sunday a.m. Nov. 15th from the Capitol Building in Washington, D.C. Raymond and wife Wilma have been there sightseeing for a week. On Monday the 16th they were to go to Richmond, VA. to visit with friends.

Most people recognized last weeks picture as that of the late Dr. G. W. Cox — the last doctor Forestburg had. Dr. Cox was a dedicated country doctor of that day and age. Doctors in those days went to the patient instead of them being brought to a hospital. Most of the time the only payment they received was a handshake upon leaving. Sometimes after delivering a baby, the baby might, if a boy, be the Doctors namesake.

From the best I can find out Forestburgs first Doctor was Dr. Stallworth and succeeding in line were Dr. Givins, Dr. Adams, Dr. Rosston Johnson, Dr. Lester Petty and then Dr. Cox.

Ray (Ted) Jackson visited with his sister Mrs. Eula Steen in the Yes-er-Yer Home in Saint Jo Sat. the 7th. Bill Jackson of Decatur was a visitor in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jackson.

Mrs. Kenneth (Peggy) Holland celebrated her 44th birthday Sun. Nov. 8. Dinner (lunch) guests were daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. Osama Rashid of Denton and son Mitch of Gainesville and Mr. and Mrs. Red Cunningham of Nocona, Nina Mae (Holland) Henderson and friend of DeSota and Mrs. Tammy Brewer and children of Saint Jo. Visitors in the afternoon were Mrs. Imogene Brewer of the Dewey area and her daughter Chana of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Beulah Dill of Era spent Sat. afternoon Nov. 7 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Dill. Miss Vatoni Dill of Denton spent the weekend of Nov. 6-9 with her parents the Jack C. Dills.

The young woman in last's weeks picture was that of the late Audra Steazall Coleman. Audra was raised in the Dye Mound area, married Ollie Coleman who was on of the old-time mail carriers out of Forestburg. She live in Forestburg the rest of her life. Mrs. Joe Denham, said that since Audra and her sister Roxie Dunn had passed on that Forestburg just wasn't the same anymore.

Cake Walk

Mrs. Ronnie Hoagland has requested a mention of the need for cakes for the Cake Walk Booth and pines for the community dinner, and urges all families to cooperate by bringing one of each or making a comparable donation.

Strudel & Advent bags occupy Beta Kappa meeting

Plans for a pre-holiday strudel sale and an outline of coming events occupied members of Beta Kappa of ESA during their Nov. 11 meeting in the home of Mrs. Dolores Miller.

Janet Hess was pledged as a new member, sponsored by Wanda Flusche.

Christmas Advent bags were collected and will be given to residents of St. Richard's Villa the first week of December. Members were told that tickets for the turkey raffle are still available. A Coffee was planned for Dec. 12 to benefit St. Richard's Villa and will be held in the home of Mrs. Louise Fisher.

The strudel sale will be held on Dec. 4-5 at Fischer's Market; a choice of apple or cheese will be offered. However, this year phone orders will not be accepted. The educational program was given in two parts by Jan Cain and Jeanne Greathouse. Mrs. Cain spoke on the Library Story Hour and Mrs. Greathouse told about the Campfire and Boy Scout programs.

Following adjournment the hostess served coffee and fruit cake. Debbie Hess was reporter for the November meeting.

Nikki Vrla of Dallas won the Junior Girls Championship of Women's Gymnastics with routines such as this to attain the top score in her division of XV National Slet and Gymnastics Championships in June. Sponsored by the United States Gymnastics Federation, the four day physical fitness classic was held at Tarrant County Convention Center in Fort Worth. Traditionally held in the Chicago area since 1921, this marked the first time in the Texas area. More than 800 competitors performed for more than 125 judges.

Nikki Vrla is the daughter of former Muenster resident, Mrs. Dolores Reiter Vrla and the granddaughter of Mrs. Hilda Reiter and the late Gussie Reiter. She is also a niece of Mrs. Bernice Sicking and Jackie, David, Roy, Leonard, Allen and Billy Reiter.

Beta Kappa sells Christmas strudel

Beta Kappa members are offering a great and equally delicious Christmas gift idea when they hold a Strudel Sale at Fischer Market on Friday and Saturday, December 4 and 5, 9 a.m.-7 p.m. Both apple and cheese strudel will be available frozen, and the price is $5.00 per bar. This can be a novel gift idea, a welcome goody to serve at holiday time, or a delightful dessert to store in the freezer for use anytime during the year.

Club klatches on closet clutter

Theme for the 1982 Education contest is "Be a Healing Presence." The contest closes locally on Mar. 1. Local state winners after May 1. More information is available from Mrs. Dorothy Fisher 759-2751.

Mrs. Dorothy Fisher was hostess to 15 members of the Muenster Extension Homemakers Club when the group met on November 11 and heard a program by Mmes. Rose Rohmer and Irene Klement. They spoke on "Closet Clutter." Members answered roll call by naming items "I need to get out of my closet." Mrs. Lucille Lutkenhaus conducted the business meeting. Rose Rohmer gave the county council report and the hostess read the inspiration "A Farm Wife" and "Things to be thankful for." Mrs. Bertha Pick reported on gifts from members to patients at the Wichita Falls State Hospital.

Members volunteered for duty hours at the Arts and Crafts Fair, Nov. 20-21. After adjournment, Mrs. Fisher served dessert and coffee to club members attending.

Cooke County blooms

By Gary Rainwater
District Conservationist

Ironweed
(Vernonia baldwini)
Ironweed is a native, perennial warm-season forb that reproduces by seed and heavy, tough, underground stems. The stiff woody stems are covered with short dense hairs. The plant may reach a height of 5 feet.

The leaves are 1 to 2 inches wide and 4 to 8 inches long. They are densely hairy on the lower surface, lance-shaped, toothed and alternate.

Ironweed has reddish-purple seed heads and there may be 13 to 34 flowered and form a dense mass. These seed heads are rather uniform in shape and the small individual flowers are enclosed by tiny leafy bracts whose smooth tips usually curl outward when mature.

The seeds are oblong, prominently ribbed, with short bristles at the tip.

Ironweed, so named because of its toughness, is found on grassland throughout Cooke County. It can be a troublesome invader of these grasslands. The plant is extremely bitter, and by choice is not grazed by livestock.

It has been reported that the Indians used this plant in the treatment of stomach ailments.

Quitting is not the hard part Nearly half start again

Everyone who cares about your health wants you to quit smoking. The Texas Medical Association (TMA) does also. But realistically speaking, quitting isn't the big problem. Staying off cigarettes is.

Out of all the people who manage to go through the trouble, or agony, of quitting, nearly half of them return to smoking within a year. Don't be one of them. Here are some ideas to help you keep off the habit once you've kicked it.

First of all, realize when it is that you really crave a smoke. Is it when you're nervous, or bored, or depressed, or relaxed, or after eating, or instead of eating? Once you realize what your smoking craving relates to, you have some hints on how to deal with those awful moments when you really want to light up.

If your primary need is to hold something, start a hobby that involves the hands, such as needlework, or writing. Or just fiddle with a toothpick. If it's the hand-to-mouth action you crave, be sure to drink loads of water or juice after you quit. And keep low-calorie nibbles such as carrot sticks and gum around.

Avoid situations where you used to smoke until you feel that you can trust yourself. Cocktail parties and coffee get-togethers can be hazardous to your smoking cessation. Spend as much free time as possible in non-smoking environments such as museums, theaters and stores. If necessary, avoid being with people who smoke for a while. Also, avoid alcohol or coffee, or any other substance that you've usually associated with smoking.

Hide all traces of your former smoking self. Get rid of ashtrays, lighters and, of course, cigarettes. Enjoy the fresh smell of your smoke-free home and office.

CORPUS CHRISTI-

State FB Convention meets Nov. 29

Robert B. Delano, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, will be the keynote speaker for the 1,200 or more farmers and ranchers gathered at the Bayfront Plaza Convention Center here for Texas Farm Bureau's 48th annual convention Nov. 29-December 2.

Other speakers during the organization's general session on Monday morning, Nov. 30, are Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka, a grain and cattle producer from Dalhart; and TFB Secretary-Treasurer Donald Lebert of Waller, presenting the 1981 financial report for the organization.

TFB Executive Director Warren Newberry will give his annual administrative report on Tuesday morning, December 1, kicking off the organization's business meeting.

Delano, who operates a 400-acre wheat, corn and soybean farm in Richmond County, Virginia, was elected as president of the nation's largest farm organization in January, 1980. He has since been listed among the "most influential" national agricultural leaders by a U.S. News and World Report survey.

Other well-known speakers will address the Farm Bureau members in special conferences on Monday, Nov. 30. These special sessions will cover such topics as energy, Farm Bureau economic services, water, taxes, mineral rights and leasing, labor, and the Young Farmer and Rancher program.

More than 1,200 farmers and ranchers will attend the convention as voting delegates representing the 216 organized county Farm Bureaus. Delegates will adopt state policies to guide the farm organization this next year. Approved resolutions on national matters will become recommendations for national policy when the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting is held January 10-14 in San Diego, California.

IN NOVEMBER

Plus Waiver or 13.9% APR Financing

Massey has rolled back our price on all new MF machines.

That's right. All during November, Massey-Ferguson is rolling back prices 20% on all new Massey machines — and 30% on MF 4000 Series 4WD tractors. That means you can get some of the biggest savings we have ever been able to offer. But these special savings apply only to machines and equipment purchased during November 1981 — just in time for year-end tax credits too. So hurry.

Choice of financing, too.

If you qualify and finance through Massey-Ferguson Credit Corporation, we can make your new Massey equipment even more affordable, with your choice of these two outstanding financing options:

1. Waiver of finance charges 'til season of use.

Tractors & implements March 1, 1982
Hay tools May 1, 1982
Grain combines August 1, 1982
Cornbean combines September 1, 1982

2. Or 13.9% APR financing.

This low-rate financing option, 13.9% annual percentage rate, is available on 2-year terms to qualified buyers. What a way to beat the prime!

USED EQUIPMENT SPECIALS, TOO.

Waiver of finance charges and 13.9% financing options are also available to qualified buyers through MF on selected used machinery and equipment on our lot.

Hurry! These price rollback savings are good only during November 1981.

Now more than ever, Massey makes sense.

MHS teams starts basketball workouts

1981-82 basketball at Muenster High got under way last week with 20 girls reporting to Coach Leonard Peters and 18 boys reporting to Coach Alan Gustine. The varsity teams will open their season next week Tuesday, the 24th, hosting the Callisburg teams.

At the same time junior varsity girls will play their opener with the JV girls of Callisburg. Muenster JV boys will make their start Dec. 1 at Callisburg. One of the JV teams will be on the program whenever the opposing school also has a JV program.

THE HORNETTES
The Muenster Hornets are starting their season almost from scratch. Although they have ten returning lettermen headed by all of last year's starters, their record of 4-25 over-all and 2-12 in the district rates a low grade in achievement. Coach Peters declined to predict how much the record will be improved but promised that it will be substantial following intensive practice in fundamentals. The girls need shooting, passing, dribbling, ball handling...about everything, he said.

With an average score of 29.7 points per game last year, composed with 43.6 for opponents, the former team has a free throw average of only 40 per cent and a field goal average of 22 per cent and a rebound average of 42.4 per cent.

The Hornette starters are Charlotte Fleitman, Kyla Hale, Stephanie Richey, Carla Walterscheid and Sandy Wimmer. Other lettermen are Sherrie Hess, Debbie Bindel, Mary Winn, Peggy Winn and Shelly Zimmerer. Others of the Hornettes and junior varsity are Elaine Grewing, Jill Walterscheid, Nancy Walterscheid, Jill Wimmer, Pam Hermes, Cindy Tisdale, Paula Russell, Jackie Farrell, Jo Ell Hellman and Kim Eldridge.

THE HORNETS

The Hornets have a roster of 18, including Seniors David Flusche, Vance Wells, Dale Swirczynski, Gary Klement, James Huckaby and Tim Schneider; Juniors Kevin Felderhoff, Garland Tate, Wayne Carroll, Billy Grewing and Steve Fisher; Sophomore Craig Felderhoff; and Freshmen David Winn, Kevin Wolf, Cory Klement, Rodney Hess, Bob Youngblood and Jay Mollenkopf.

The team is headed by Tim Schneider and Kevin Felderhoff, starters and lettermen along with James Huckaby, transfer from Saint Jo. Other veterans of last year are Garland Tate, Wayne Carroll, Billy Grewing, Steve Fisher and Craig Felderhoff. New on the roster are Seniors Flusche, Wells, Swirczynski and Klement and the freshmen.

After working with the boys since last week Monday, Coach Gustine is encouraged. He says they are working hard and showing lots of enthusiasm and progress. They will have their first test Thursday in a practice scrimmage with the Wilson, Okla. team.

Johnson introduces new fishing motor

Two new high-thrust electric fishing motors, the type used by serious bass fishermen to spot position their boats, have been unveiled by Johnson Outboards.

With 31 pounds of static thrust, the king of the Johnson® electric line is a 12/24 volt foot-controlled positioning unit. The Johnson 12 volt model, now delivers 21 thrust pounds. The new electric is 40% more powerful than the models they replaced.

They swing bigger, weedless propellers, and the internal components have been refined to handle the extra current.

Johnson officials said its thrust figures, unlike many competitor's, are measured by S.A.E. (Society of Automotive Engineers) methods—after the initial start-up surge of the battery has settled down to a relatively constant current draw.

The growing demand for the high freeboard "pike boat" in the northern tier of states has prompted Johnson to also include an optional 42" length shaft (six inches longer) for both foot-controlled models.

The foot-controlled models come in either five or eight foot steering cable lengths with a lighted directional indicator panel, a three-speed control for 12 volt models, and a six speed control for the 12/24 volt version.

All corrosion resistant Johnson electric have a special rest pad and easy rope-pull retrieval system with a geometrically-designed action arm to guide the unit into the proper deck position.

Tigerettes start with win over Valley View

Sacred Heart's Tigerettes started their basketball season the right way Tuesday night with a 38-29 win over Valley View.

After trailing 9-7 in the first period they dominated the second by a count of 14-6 and ended the half with a lead of 21-13. From there on the teams played even for scores of 29-19 and 38-29.

Susan Walterscheid led her team with 18 points and 15 rebounds. Anne Felderhoff and Laurie Endres did a great job on defense besides scoring 8 and 6 respectively. Carol Walterscheid added 4 points and Connie Stoffels 2.

Coach Jon LeBrasseur is well pleased with the progress of his team, which is made up mostly of last year's reserves. He says they are working hard and gradually shaping into a coordinated unit with possibilities of matching last year's outstanding record.

Next on their schedule is Forestburg here Friday at 7, Pilot Point here next Monday the 23rd at 7, and Terral, Okla., here Tuesday at 7. Pilot Point is regarded as a specially significant test for the girls. It is one of the highly rated class 2A teams of the state.

Sickings have guests

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sicking during the weekend were their grandchildren Pamela and Lisa Clegg, daughters of Keith and Dianne Clegg of Gainesville. Steve and Julie Sicking and son Jody of Wichita Falls also spent the weekend. The Cleggs were Sunday dinner guests and the little girls returned home with them after the visit on the farm.

Reagan Brown asks for second term

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown announced his candidacy for a second term in ceremonies at the State Capitol November 17. He stressed his record in office and his 32 years of service to farmers, ranchers, and consumers of Texas.

"I do not offer pie-in-the-sky promises; I'm working to keep meat and potatoes on the table," Brown said in presenting the accomplishments of his first term. "Today's economic conditions call for sensible answers from leaders who know agriculture."

"By acting decisively, we have kept the Mediterranean fruit fly out of Texas. California has spent $100 million because of delayed action, but we won the battle with common sense," he said. "As president of the southern commissioners of agriculture, I could unify the 15 states for a successful effort."

"We've been able to provide superior service in administering 60 laws for consumer protection, marketing, and agricultural support programs for about $1 per capita," Brown said. "With frugal management in my term we have returned to the State $1.4 million in contingency funds that could not be spent wisely, in addition to the $2 million in fees collected annually."

Your out-of-town friends and relatives will enjoy reading about your weekend guests and family gatherings; and your guests will appreciate your thoughtfulness in recording their visit. Phone 759-4311 or send notes to Box 190, Muenster.

Eight Muenster hunters have a deer each to show for their five day trip into Colorado. They are Don Abney, Kenny Walterscheid, Billy Don Wolf, Damian Walterscheid, Waylon Poole, Bobby Walterscheid, Gary Walterscheid and Bob Vogel.

Koch-Britton Low Voltage Electric Stimulation
... for tenderness gains in every beef carcass you process!

Typical carcass during stimulation

2 second rest period | 2 second pulse period

When a carcass is stimulated, a lot of body heat is dissipated in a hurry. Extra bleeding occurs and reduces chances of spoilage and excessive trim loss. Once in the cooler, proper chill can be reached hours earlier, saving money and energy. Next day, a brighter cherry red color appears. At grading time, about 6% of the carcasses move up to a higher grade. Heat ring and cold shortening are negligible. Aging time is far less (3 days instead of 7 or 7 instead of 21).

Checklist of Benefits

- Energy savings. Reach chill temperature 1-4 hours sooner.
- Less dripping.
- Less spoilage.
- Less shrink and trim loss.
- Shorten aging times up to 66%, less time in cooler.
- Improved quality and flavor.
- 25% increased tenderness.
- About 6% move up a grade, better color, more visible marbling, less heat ring, reduced re-grade.
- Lower the Ph level.
- Eliminate cold shortening and dark cutters.
