ED WILP'S BODY FOUND RIDDLED FROM GUNSHOT

Coroner's inquest returns Verdict of Accidental Death; Funeral Held 3:30 P. M. Sunday

All Muenster was shocked Sunday morning at the news that Ed Wilp, 39, was found dead, his chest torn open from the close range fire of a Hoedebeck as city marshal. When shotgun. The time of the accident first appointed Mr. Hoedebeck acwas estimated at shortly after 5 p. m. Thursday, when he was last little trouble coming to his attention

But when he was still absent Sunday when he was still absent Sunday READY FOR WEEK END only to learn that Mr. Wilp had not reported for work. An inquiry in Muenster with no success led to the formation of a searching party.

Shortly after the search began, about 10 a. m., Mr. Wilp's body was found beside his discharged shotgun near a fence about 200 yards east of his home. The fact that a tractor was plowing in the neighborhood at the time is offered as a reason that the gun report was not heard.

MUENSTER CYO TEAMS SWAMP PILOT POINT IN DOUBLE PROGRAM

The encounters between CYO softball teams of Muenster and Pilot Point here last Friday night were terest. A one sided score running into the dozens left fans with nothing to do but watch for antics and humorous situations.

Muenster's girls started the evening with heavy hitting and snappy fielding to coast through easily 24 to 4. At their turn the boys enjoyed even greater success by running in 38 while holding their visitors scoreless. To a great extent the boys' team was made up of a pick from Poss Swirczynski's and Paul Walterscheid's regular teams.

Only one error in the last inning marred the local boys' perfect fielding record, and that was more than offset by numerous double plays and other snappy work. Hitting was made comparatively easy, however, by a plentiful supply of fat ones down the middle. Toward the late innings the boys took a self imposed handicap of batting wrong handed. After the 34th run Pilot Point decided to take no more chances, and substituted pitchers.

Confident that a good pool with higher production than that coming from the 1300 and 1600 foot sands can be found at a lower level in the field just west of town. Miss Alice Holton, owner of one of the wells, has spent the past several weeks soliciting donations from production and royalty holders of the area to finance the extension of one of the wells as far as 2200 feet.

Not having any definite assurance that her venture would be successamusing even though lacking in in- ful, Miss Holton was reluctant to disclose any information until this week. Being only about $300 short of her $2,000 goal, she is now reasonably certain she will be able to reach her goal.

Her reason for searching a lower sand, she explains, is that the formation here bears a close resemblance to that of Healdton, Okla., where small production levels were encountered but each lower sand was better. Also worthy of note is the fact that water was struck at several points around the field near the 1900 level, giving plausible grounds for a deduction that the peak or high production area of the sand lies at about 1900 under the currently producing sands. J. G. Richards and Son has accepted the contract to drill one of the wells, probably on the Mike Kleiss or Ben Luke lease, from its present 1600 depth to 2200. A clause the anticipated production is found at 1900, drilling will cease and the contract will be settled for $1500 rather than $2,000, and the remaining $500 pro rated back to the donors. An escrow account has been set up at the Muenster State Bank for the well.

After securing help from all operators with holdings in the field. Miss Holton appealed to the city council for a donation Monday night. Her plea was based on the fact that the city receives monthly royalty checks, hence has an interest in the field. Councilmen rejected her request on the grounds that they had no authority to speculate with public money, but favored her

Project Now Estimated at 175 Miles of Line For 395 Signed Consumers

Muenster's application for funds to build lines for rural electrical service has been submitted. J. W. Hess, superintendent of the Cooke County Electric Co-operative Association stated Wednesday morning that the survey for service applications and right of way easements has been completed and that the final papers with a rough map would be forwarded to Wm. G. Morrison of Waco, state REA engineer, Wednesday night or early Thursday morning. He expects the application to be in the hands of Washington officials early next week and an acknowledgreceived here by the latter part of the week.

At Waco the rough map made here will be copied on another new map of larger scale before being sent to REA headquarters. Mr. Hess estimates that the job will be completed time Saturday.

Roughly estimated the project now has about 175 miles of proposed line to serve 395 signed up consumers. Much of the line will come up to the desired average of three consumers per mile, but there are some spurs in danger of being eliminated. Other lines not showing the desired number of consumers are regarded as satisfactory because of a large number of prospects who are expected to tie on as soon as a line is built. Men experienced in other REA projects advise that many persons who refuse to show interest in a survey are prompt to apply for current when it is available. The map being sent to Washington is complete, showing all rural homes, not only those applying for service.

Mr. Hess also expresses satisfaction over the right of way situation. More than 400 easements have been

On Monday evening the committee met with the city council to pre sent an ordinance on sanitation. health and fire prevention which was read at the meeting, accepted by the council and passed as a city orin full elsewhere in this issue.)

INTEREST PICKS UP AS BALL SCHEDULE ENTERS HOME STRETCH

Softball fans definitely got their noney's worth during the past week when six teams, entering on the home stretch of their schedule had games every night. The extra games are being played to catch up the back schedule missed during the harvest season.

Mount Tabor and Stony Point hold first and second places in the loop both as regards the percentage of victories and the games played. Poss Swirczynski's bantam weights, while not conceding victory to anybody, inflicted a slight handicap on themselves by failing to bring out their full lineup at times, and putting BY DISTRICT DEPUTY three games in the loss column.

This week's program found the Possums starting off with a 21 to 20 squeeze-out victory over Stony Point on Thursday night of last week. The game was as close as the score indicates, but the local boys took a 33 to 17 lead for hitting honors.

Two nights later the same crew met their own home town rivals, Pauls Greenclads, for a first class the ceremony. of biting the dust until their sixth inning splurge netted the necessary tallies. If Grant Receives Approval Project is Still Subject To Approval of Vote in City Election

A resolution to file application for a PWA grant to be used in the construction of a modern sewage disposal system for Muenster received a unanimous vote of approval from members of the city council in their regular meeting last Monday night, August 1.

The measure carried with the understanding that the application is in no way binding, and, if approved by PWA officials, will still be in an election. The decision to file an application was due in great part to T. E Lundy of Wichita Falls, associate engineer in the employ of Joe Ward consulting engineer, specializing in sewer consruction.

In his short address to the city council Mr. Lundy made it clear that Muenster now has an opportunity to receive a PWA grant but that the deadline for submitting applications is September 1. If Muenster is interested, he explained, it should by all means place an application on file and then go about considering any of its difficulties. This gives the city a position of having much to gain but nothing to lose.

If it should happen, he said, that a grant is approved but Muenster citizens decline to share their portion of the cost the grant is automatically cancelled and the present status remains unchanged. If, however, citizens were to approve the project and sufficient time did not remain before September 1 to prepare an application, an opportunity would be lost. He was careful to explain that the council placed itself under no obligation by filing an application.

Mr. Lundy's remarks dispelled a recently current report that the project could be handled by WPA with a cost of only 30 per cent to the city. agency and would provide relief workers, but it carried no assurance that funds would continue for the the city stood a chance of losing its WPA help at any time. Furthermore WPA leaves the entire responsibility for construction to the city.

On the other hand PWA was described as an agency paying 45 per same time accepting responsibility for satisfactory completion of the work. Mr. Lundy stated also that men on a PWA project do not have to be listed on the relief rolls.

Remembering their experience of being left with a partly finished street and forced to raise additional funds for its completion on a WPA project, the council showed a un-As the newly elected Grand animous preference for the PWA arrangement. The privilege of working men not on relief rolls also carried a strong appeal because it offers work to local people, who are not on relief, rather than to imported workmen from other areas.

A remark from Mr. Lundy and one which is likely to make the strongest appeal to citizens when voting on the sewer, is that considerably more than half the cost of a sewer is expended for labor and that Muenster will receive in wages about as much as it has to spend on the project. Sales of many materials was mentioned as another source of income. "It is a matter of swapping dollars, receiving money in one pocket and paying off the indebtedness from another and finishing the project with little or no expenditure other than energy."

Mr. Lundy's estimate of the total cost is $40,000. With PWA paying 45 per cent or $18,000 Muenster's cost would be $22,000. Muenster has the privilege of borrowing money from the RFC at 4 per cent interest or floating a revenue bearing bond at home to finance its part of the

Mr. Lundy stated that he would return the latter part of this week to gather necessary data for filing an application. Thereafter, he said, if PWA and Muenster both approve the project, construction may be under way in a few months, but at the latest, according to official regulations, it must be under construction before the end of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Seyler and three daughters returned late last Wednesday from a two weeks' trip to California. They were guests of Miss Lillian Fette in Glendale and Mrs. L. Morris, aunt of Mrs. Seyler, in Los Angeles. Combining busines with pleasure, Ben brought a Plymouth sedan back.

BEHIND THE SCENES AMERICAN BUSINESS

By JOHN CRADDOCK

NEW YORK, August 1 - BUSI-NESS — The great unpredictability of business is being demonstrated once again. Customarily July and August are slow months. Plants in some industries, notably auto manufacturing, shut down for retooling. Factory schedules in other lines are curtailed as workers go on vacation. Not so this year. For an inthree weeks of July is noted by the plate glass industry in June, the Board said, nearly doubled its production over May. Iron ore output registered a similar gain. Production of textile mills and anthracite coal mines jumped about 12 per cent. Railroads had the best earnings for any month this year.

WASHINGTON - U. S. business men are applauding a decision of the Federal Export-Import Bank to aid American exporters to gain a larger share of the Latin American market which England, Germany, Italy and Japan have so actively cultivated. One pending deal is the sale of 1,000 railroad cars and 26 locomotives to Brazil with the bank handling the credit arrangements. More trade with Latin America is expected to benefit southern port cities such as Savannah, Miami, Mobile, New Orleans and Galveston, Miami. strategically located as the natural aerial gateway between the Americas, has prospects of becoming a major commercial city. Already it leads all American cities in air express shipments. A few weeks ago a federal loan-grant of $4,000,000 received by Miami enabled work to begin on enlargement of its harbor facilities in anticipation of longterm growth in Pan America trade.

GRAIN NEWS - The sun never sets on the English flag so widely scattered is the British realm. And it is probably equally true that there is no season of the year when somewhere in the world men aren't busy harvesting wheat. To the far flung nature of this farming enterprise can be partly blamed a drop of about five cents in wheat prices the last two weeks. Traders, viewing reports from many countries, place the 1938 world crop at about one billion bushels in excess of normal world conan export surplus of 375,000,000 bushels. The winter wheat harvest in North America is nearing completion, and much progress has been made in Europe. The southern hemisphere will not harvest this year's crop until late fall, and harvesting will continue in Argentina all wint- arrangements have been made which

MARCH OF PROGRESS-Despite depression, high taxes and similar phenomena that give business men gray hair, scientists continue to turn out new products in America's 1600 industrial research laboratories. It is reported that the B. F. Goodrich Co. has developed a new synthetic rubber-like material, koroseal, which can be used for wall coverings, umbrellas and raincoats, and in many industrial applications. Since American climate is not adapted to growing real rubber, which therefore must be impored from far-away Africa, the East Indies and South America, the search for a good synthetic rubber has been a "must" for years. A battery-less telephone designed for use in lumber camps, coal mines and aboard ships has been announced by Western Electric Co. Conversations can be conducted for Eastman Kodak Co. has added a chapter to progress in the photographic world with a new 21-4 by 31-4 inch amateur camera which automatically adjusts itself to light conditions.

AUGUST SALES - Stores from Maine to California will launch August sales this week. With temperatures near the 90's, women shoppers are taking advantage of low summer prices to buy winter furs. ## ELABORATE STEPS ARE TAKEN FOR GUARDING PRESIDENT ON TRAIN

WASHINGTON-The crowds who turn out at every stop of the Presidential train to have a look at President Roosevelt are not conscious of it, but he is one of the most thor-

He travels over every foot of the way the President will come later. He inspects bridges, tunnels, underpasses. He analyzes the lay of the land where every stop will be made, an he consults with the chiefs of police in every community where the President will stop.

CHICAGO, III.—Charlie Grimm, former manager of the Chicago Cubs has taken up his new duties as radio announcer at the ball games. Grimm, relieved of his managerial duties by Gabby Hartnett in the sudden midseason switch, was hired by a local chain sation to broadcast the games from Wrigley Field. The Cubs swept their series with the Giants in a 15 inning game to help new manager Hartnett get a firm foothold on the piloting job. Photo shows former Cub Manager Grimm telling the audience about a sensational play by his former team. With Grimm is Pat Flanagan, a broadcasting colleague.

President is to make a speech away from the train, Colonel Starling will examine the route to the speaking place, will pass or disapprove plans for grandstands and will examine with particular care plans for the speaking platform. Many a time an enthusiastic municipal reception committee has had its plan ruled out by the insistent Colonel Starling. There have been occasions when an expensive grandstand has been pulled down by his orders the day of the President's arrival.

The next stage is in protecting the railroad itself from interference. Before the presidential train pulls out of Washington an elaborate process of inspection has been set in motion which is as danger proof as any inspection could be. Railroad guards inspect every foot of track along the route. Until the presidential train has passed there is someone watching every bridge, every culvert and every tunnel. At the last moment all switches are spiked down. The road is ready for the

At all times of day and night two Secret Service men stand in the front vestibule of the President's car. While it would be easy for any-one to board the train it would be 193 impossible to get into the last car without passing these two Secret Service men.

When ever the train slows down two more Secret Service men take the back platform. When it stops for a back platform speech about half a dozen make a semicircle around the back end of the train, and others mix in with the crowd.

The two Secret Service men in the vestibule of the last car are only a final precaution. The cars are arranged in careful order. Beginning with the last car there is next a Secret Service car and then a car occupied by the secretaries and presidential assistants. Next comes one or two cars for newspaper men, depending on the number accompanying the trip. Then come the newspaper photographers and rail road staff. By Sister M. Angeline, O.S.B.

Birthdays are said to be milestones on life's journey; as they come and go, they expand the history of an individual. Herewith is presented, as in a nutshell, the life of our Pastor, privileged to have enjoyed his spirit-Rev. Father Frowin, O. S. B. In the year 1878, on August 5, he 1930-His 52nd birthday coincided with a visit to Capharnaum and Lake Genesareth in the Holy Land. 1938-Friday, August 5, he will reach the 60th milestone in his eventful life. On this day he will offer a High Mass of Thanksgiving, followed by Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament and the chanting of the TE DEUM-Grosser Gott.

In his long priestly career Rev Father Frowin never failed to say Mass except on three unavoidable occasions:

(a) When traveling through Sy ria, at Iconium, made famous by the preaching of the Apostle of the gentiles. St. Paul:

(b) When crossing the Mediterranean Sea from Alexandria, Egypt, to Brindisi, Italy, in company with the present Cardinal Archbishop Innitzer of Vienna, who had been the leader of an Austrian pilgrimage to the Holy Land. Of all the priests on ual direction. We never appreciate our priests enough; we do not seem to realize what they actually do for us. Let us, for a moment, suppose that we had no priests. Who, then, would initiate us into the family of God? Who would forgive us our sins in the name of God? Who would offer the Holy Sacrifice and be the mediator between the most high and sinful man? Who would console and advise 1899—At the age of 20 he became us in our spiritual trials and perplexities? Whom can we trust in our greatest afflictions? It is the Catho-

> Have we ever considered this seriously? If so, we realize that we owe respect, obedience, and submission to the priest, the pastor, father, and guide of our souls. The respect and obedience we show to our priests is to a certain degree a thermometer of the love and honor we have for God. St. Paul advised the early Christians to honor the priests as such who have to answer for our souls. Christ expresses this truth even more emphatically in these words: "Whoever heareth you, heareth Me, and whoever despiseth you, despiseth Me.'

Let us also for the future cling faithfully to our pastor, help him, obey and respect him as our Godgiven shepherd, an Alter Christusanother Christ-for that is what a priest really is to us. May the congregation of Muenster, for many more years, enjoy the privilege of Father Frowin's guidance. May he, in turn, have every reason to rejoice over his flock.

The Hobby Show, in which both amateur and professional collectors will be invited to exhibit, will be one of the features of the Educational building at the State Fair of Texas. The Educational Building was formerly the Federal building.

ABOUT THE SEWER

Sentiment in favor of a modern sewage disposal system again flares up and demands consideration from Muenster's citizens. But this time there is a different angle of approach. Leaders of the project have ceased to sell the public on its desirability from the viewpoint of health and convenience. Those points are generally conceded. The talking point now is that the city can get Federal help, and finance only about half of it with local money.

This new angle leaves our city facing the question of whether it is willing to pay only a small sum for a great value. Without "beating the devil around the bush" it is our purpose in this article to state the facts as plainly as we can and ask our people to think it over and decide whether they would receive their money's worth.

In the first place the estimated cost of the sewer is $40,000, of which Uncle Sam will provide 45 per cent or $18,000, the other $22,000 is to be provided by the citizens of Muenster. The local indebtedness appears a great deal smaller in view of the fact that Muenster laborers and merchants will have the opportunity of receiving several thousand dollars of the money spent. In the opinion of a technical engineer our citizens can, by being alert and willing to work, realize as much increased community income as their share of the project's cost. Furthermore, it was pointed out, this PWA project will hire anyone who is willing to work, it does not require, as WPA does, that workers must be listed on the re-

Securing money to meet our indebtedness would not place as much of a burden as some seem to think. Our present water rate, if not the cheapest in the state, ranks near the bottom of the list. An increase in rates, so that normal families would pay about 75 cents per month more would still leave a reasonable water price and place several hundred dollars annually into the sewer fund.

Taxation of 35 cents per $100 valuation would bring in the rest of the necessary annual money. Before objecting to the tax proposal we would ask people to realize first that the increase would bring our tax to $1.50, which is the price most cities levy, also that here is a tangible value for their tax money whereas they usually cannot see any benefit from their assessments. Finally about one third of the tax would be paid by utility companies and oil companies, thus relieving local citizens of much of ther bur-

More food for thought is the fact that both the gas and the light companies charge rates that permit the payment of local taxes. As long as we continue to permit lower assessments we are failing to take advantage of an opportunity.

Not to be overlooked here is the fact that a sewer will save people several hundred dollars annually in the service of a sanitary man. Careful study of the figures will show that we can finance a sewer. A study of conditions, including the record of growth to date and the very bright prospect of continued growth, seems to indicate Muenster will reach the time when it cannot be without a sewer. Doubly important is the present condition of poor sanitation.

Along with these thoughts we should understand that our opportunity of receiving Uncle Sam's help will not last indefinitely. Economists are predicting now that the gravy train is due to stop running out of Washington before so very long. After that we'll be faced with the full cost. We cannot but think this sewer proposal is good solid business. We know that right now it will add much to convenience and health. We are confident that natural growth will soon force us to install a sewer. We favor action now because we feel that delay will make the project cost about twice as much.

BE CAREFUL WITH GUNS

A tragic accident Thursday night of last week and not discovered until Sunday morning stands out as a gruesome warning to all who use guns. Apparently crawling through a fence, one of our citizens had the misfortune to end his life when a shotgun discharged.

Every few days we have occasion to read of someone who accidentally shot himself, but somehow the incident does not carry a forceful warning until it strikes down one of our acquaintance.

But here is food for thought. Let every man think it over and decide first of all that a cocked gun is dangerous, then that he must be constantly alert not to let the muzzle face him at any time.

There is a proper way to handle a gun, and anyone who uses it has a duty of learning that proper way. When a life is at stake carelessness is never permissible.

What Others Say

A GIRDLE AROUND THE EARTH

When Col. Lindbergh flew from New York to Paris in 1927 the highest speed which his "Spirit of St. Louis" was capable of maintaining was an average of 62 miles an hour. That was miraculous for a long flight only 11 years ago.

Howard Hughes flew from New York around the world the other day in 3 days, 19 hours and 17 minutes. His modern airship, "New York World's Fair 1939" maintained an average flying speed of 208 miles an hour over 15,000 miles. Even taking time out for refueling stops, his actual elapsed time was 162 miles

By all the world this feat of American aviators in a modern American airplane is hailed as the most convincing demonstration yet made of the superiority of American inventiveness and technical skill in the field of aviation. There is every reason wify America should be first in the air. The men who built the first planes and made the first flights were Americans. They taught the world to fly, and this country has been teaching other nations ever since

Flying is still in its infancy. It is only 35 years since the Wright Brothers made the first successful effort of human beings to lift themselves off the ground in a, heavier-than-air machine. Just thirty years ago Glenn Curtiss made the first public airplane flight anywhere in the world. Greatly as the airplane's size, power, speed and safety have been improved since those days, the scientists and technicians who are devoting their lives to its improvement tell ue we haven't seen anything yet. Flying today is about where railroading was at the time of the Civil War.

The establishment of regular flying service across the Atlantic is now only a year or so in the future. Planes are already being built for trans-Atlantic passenger airways. The big American aircraft companies are working on still larger and faster planes, to carry 100 passengers and ten tons of freight. Time and space have been conquered. The world is shrinking. American ingenuity and resourcefulness have put a girdle around the earth and the straps are being pulled tighter every day .- Whitesboro News-Record:

WHITE COLLAR WORKERS

A Dallas bank teller recently admitted that he had taken money from the bank to meet his household expenses because he could not support his family on the $100-a-month salary he received.

Of course it is possible that the man was dishones and would have stolen money from the bank, even if he had been receiving five times the salary he was get ting. No doubt he was living beyond his means. Most white collar workers do

But this bank teller's confession ought to focus the attention of the people on the plight in which white collar workers find themselves in these days of declining salaries and rising prices. Most white collar workers are barely making ends meet. Some are not even

Skilled artisans and others who work with their hands are inclined to envy white collar workers, feeling that such jobs are "soft snaps." Because a man works behind a desk or inside a bank, the average manual laborer is likely to look upon him as belonging to a preferred class. Farmers and manual laborers educate their children so that they will be able to secure white collar jobs when they grow up. Frequently such a worker says: I want my son to have a nice office job when he grows up. I don't want him to have to work like I have always worked."

The skilled laborer does not realize that in most cases he is far better off than the office worker. A good bricklayer or steel worker makes more in a week than the average white collar worker makes in a month. The average skilled craftsman-even though he works only part of the year-enjoys a better annual income than the average office worker. And he does not have to spend all he makes keeping up appearances, as does the clerical worker.

White collar workers have always found it difficult to live on their salaries, and probably always will find it difficult. They are not indispensable to industry, as are skilled craftsmen. Although the public does not know it, most of them live from hand to mouth, and must constantly strive to keep up with the Jonses. If the healthy, hard-working craftsman knew what the white collar worker has to face, he would cease envying him his job. Certainly, a white collar job is no sinecure.—Denison Herald.

A THEORY DISPLAYED

Just 140 years ago, in 1798, a book was published which speedily became the "best-seller" of its time Few books have had such a profound effect upon human thought as "An Essay on the Principle of Popu lation as it affects the Future of Society," by the Rev. Thomas Robert Malthus. It ran into many editions and has been reprinted in many languages

The argument of Malthus was that "the realization of a happy society will always be hindered by the miseries soncequent on the tendency of population to increase faster than the means of subsistence."

The Malthusian Theory dominated economic thinking and influenced statesmanship for nearly a century. Wars were regarded as necessary to forestall universa starvation by reducing the surplus population. What Malthus could not foresee was that science and invention would so increase the productivity of agriculture that instead of population overtaking the means of subsistence the twentieth century would find a large sector of the human race struggling with the problem of how to dispose of agricultural surpluses. In 1798 practically all of the people of America were tied directly to the soil for their subsistence. In 1938 fewer than 10 per cent are required, by the direct application of their labor to the soil, to feed themselves and the other 90 per cent of the population. The 10 per cent not only feed us all, but feed us better than any people had ever been fed in Malthus' time. Moreover, the 10 per cent of the people who work on farms are enabled, by the application of modern machinery and scientific methods to produce so much more than we can consume that we have seen in very recent years such horrifying spectacles as the deliberate destruction of food-stuffs by Governmental edict and the payment of bounties, not for producing food but for refraining from producing or marketing it .-Mt. Vernon Optic-Herald.

SHALL WE LIVE AGAIN?

Victor Hugo's great soul found utterance in his later years for these thoughts, which will find an echo in many hearts:

"I feel in myself the future life. I am like a forest nce cut down; the new shoots are stronger and livelier than ever. I am rising, I know, toward the sky. The sunshine is on my head. The earth gives me its generous sap, but heaven lights me with the reflection of unknown worlds.

You say the soul is nothing but the resultant of the bodily powers. Why then, is my soul more luminous when my bodily powers begin to fail? Winter is on my head, but eternal spring is in my heart. I breathe at this hour the fragrance of the lilacs, the violets and the roses, as at twenty years. The nearer I approach the end the plainer I hear around me the immortal symphonies of the worlds which invite me. It is marvelous yet simple. It is a fairy tale, and it is history.

"For half a century I have been writing thoughts in prose and in verse-history, philosophy, drama, romance, tradition, satire, ode and song; I have tried all. But I feel I have not said the thousandth part of what is in me. When I go down to the grave I can say like many others 'I have finished my day's work.' But I cannot say, 'I have finished my life.' My day's work will begin again the next morning. The tomb is not a blind alley; it is a thoroughfare. It closes on the twilight, it opens on the dawn."-Victor Hugo.

By CON FETTE

Co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce, business men of Gainesville have been besieging Governorelect W. Lee O'Daniel with scores of telegrams inviting him to participate as honor guest at the opening of the annual Cooke County fair. They are unanimous in predicting that his presence would draw the largest attendance ever to pack the fair grounds—especially if the "Hillbilly band" participates in the pro-

That O'Daniel is riding high, wide and handsome on the crest of the greatest wave of popularity this state has ever known seems to be generally conceded. Polling a vast majority over eleven other entrants in the governor's race was a feat heretofore unknown in Texas, and it becomes even more phenomenal in view of the fact that he was a dark horse in a race with several well known aspirants. It seems he was a favorite ever since thousands of letters flooded in answering his radio announcement that he would run if people wanted him to.

At voting time he carried a majority in almost every county of the state. Unsubstantiated reports add that neighboring parishes of Louisiana wanted to annex to Texas so they could vote for the "biscuit shooter," and that his name was written in on 75,000 ballots in Oklahoma's election.

Whether it is his ten commandment platform, or his mountain music, or his radio personality, the fact is undeniable that O'Daniel has something the crowd likes. He's a modern pied piper, able to lead them as he pleases.

O'Daniel is entitled to considerable credit for political strategy but not for origiality in his method of mass appeal. Huey Long used a hillbilly band with considerable success several years ago, and out West somewhere a candidate tourned his state with a group of Indians in full regalia. And, of member how Alfalfa Bill Murray got to Oklahoma's executive chair via an old jalopy and some hitch-hiking and a cheese and crackers diet.

O'Daniel's triumph, coming on the heels of the epochal Howard Hughes globe girdling flight and Douglas Corrigan's equally famous but more amusing "wrong direction" flight to Ireland, gives Texas a conspicuous spot in the limelight. Nevertheless our glorious Lone Star State fails to inspire proper reverence in a desert filling station proprietor Ben Seyler happened to encounter early last week. When asked whether he could give any information on Texas election returns that worthy came back with, "Hell, we don't know nothing about Texas, we live in the United States."

But getting back to this guy Corrigan. He not only gave the world a laugh but he took the wind out of the sails of Department of Commerce officials who would not permit him to try an ocean flight in his $900, nine year old junk plane. The plausibility of his story about thinking he was California bound was instantly recognized by the Burlington Liar's Club, who presented him with a life membership. Corrigan likewise stole some thunder from Howard Hughes by jumping the pond alone in an unworthy crate while Hughes had the very best money could buy plus three assistants. All of which gives new strength to the determination of Oklahoma' "flying farmer," Herman Schapan-"She's safe enough for me" Schapansky says of his home made ship that he likes to use for hauling vegetables and produce to market. After a series of hair raising crackups, in which he always managed to get by with only a few egg or cream stains on his clothing, the rustic aviator and his adventuresome collie were grounded. "If they won't let me fly her," he says, "I'll Horror of horrors! Did you ever think how brazen and wicked and desrespectful it was for the President and First Lady to entertain visiting royalty at Hyde Park a few weeks ago with a hot dog and beer infield but too far forward to be lunch? Of course most of the nation agrees with the Roosevelts, nevertheless the drys of this county convinced us beyond a doubt in the recent beer election that to indulge in the vile stuff is sinful. Naturally the sin is no less heinous because the president and the majority of this country disregard it. Yes sir, the drys are right, just like the soldier who says, "It's not I, but the

Has Not Thought of Letting the Public Down

DEAR FOLKS:

Heartfelt thanks for the magnificent vote in the first primary. The result was not surprising to me. You assumed and I knew that had the votes to win in a two-man race, but when it became a three-cornered race, I knew that almost all the votes the third man would get would be logically my votes. My public felt so cock-sure that nobody worked much. I thought the best thing to do was to coast through the first primary and then if the public would show themselves interested in whom they would send to Austin, I would make my campaign.

Judging from the large number of 'phone calls, office visits and street contacts our public is now thoroughly aroused and ready to go places. Thanks again for these manifestations of appreciation of my unelfish labors. Two years ago you went down the line with me and that made the campaign pleasant as well as successful; now you are getting back in the old stride and I feel encouraged to fight; and I shall be working . . . be working while many of you are asteep. I dearly love to work for the public when the public is co-operative. Thanks for the scores of volunteer workers. Until we are organized let each one work where he or she finds themselves. I have plenty of cards and shall be glad to supply all who will use them.

I say again that I have worked through these two years fearfully hard. I have not let you down. I will not let you down. But get your neighbors to understand that their very liberty depends on vot-

The Governor-elect and I have many mental and spiritual traits in common and I feel that I can easily work with him for the betterment of all. We now have a chance in Texas to scrub the slate clean and start over. May we succeed in a great way.

NOW, if you are appreciative you will not LET ME DOWN. Most of all, don't let your state down!

Yours for victory. We have the votes; we've had them all the time. Twelve hundred of them were temporarily DETOURED . that's all . . . but we have to get them back on the main road.

Sincerely.

With Your Support

I survived the first primary in my campaign for the office of County Clerk.

I am deeply grateful to anyone who helped me in the slightest way.

Now that the second primary race is under way I beg of each and every one to continue the good work in my behalf.

I want the job because it is a full sized job in which a man can take real pride in his work. I want it also because it provides an opportunity for courteous and efficient service to my many friends.

I need the job. I need its compensation for the support of my family.

Your Continued Support in the Second Primary Will Be Most Deeply Appreciated

DELEGATES REPORT ON LEAGUE CONVENTION IN SUNDAY MEETING

A general meeting of the members of the Muenster parish was held in the parish hall Sunday evening following church services at 7:30 for the purpose of hearing delegates to the fortieth annual convention of the Catholic State League in Hallettsville, held on July 12, 13 and 14, render a report on resolutions and business proceedings.

The first speaker, after Father Frowin opened the meeting with prayer, was Miss Mathilda Hess, delegate of the Blessed Virgin Sodality, who gave such a splendid report thoroughly covering the convention that reports from the other delegates were not necessary.

Miss Hess presented a vivid word picture of the convention and disclosed a wealth of ideas garnered during its meetings

Points mentioned by Miss Hess as receiving special emphasis at the meeting included Catholic Home Life, in which was stressed the importance of woman's place in the home without an outside career; the evils of birh control and divorce; the need of Catholic Youth Organizations; the necessity of good literapoor missions; the fight against communism by corporal works of mercy; the development of Catholic ple through the CYO and loyalty and

COMPARE THE RECORDS

McFarlane's Record

Age 44, widower with five children.

Four years in the Texas House or Representatives.

Was joint author of the gasoline tax and supplemental aid school bill; voted for regulation of utilities and to raise school aid from $10.00 to $15.00 per capita.

Four years in the Texas Senate, where he introduced and helped pass legislation for the oil, farm, livestock and labor interests. He led the fight to defeat the tax remission bill, saving over $15,000,000 to the tax payers.

As chairman of the Penitentiary Committee he led the fight saving the state owned prison property valued at at least $10,000,000.

He was joint author of the gasoline tax bill, building state highways through such funds.

He was joint author of anti-lobbying legislation to require members of the Legislature to state under oath their corporate connections and fees received.

Was opposed to special privilege legislation.

On this record he was elected to Congress.

McFarlane pays his own campaign expenses.

Gossett's Record

Age 36, single, last 20 years in school and practicing law.

Returned to this District 11 years ago and has run for office four times within past 11 years. District Attorney four years, from 1933 to 1937. According to sworn affidavits or this period of time his record as District Attorney is as follows:

	Foard		Hardeman		Wilbarger
	No.	Pct.	No.	Pct.	No.	Pct.
Felony Indictments filed .	78		241		473
Dismissals on Motion of District Attorney	46	59	114	57	145	31
Dismissals on accountof rep	eal
of Dean Law	0		23	10	16	3
Acquittals	4	5	9	4	7	2
Pleas of Guilty	17	22	48	20	146	31
Tried before a Jury	25	32	63	27	131	28
Suspended Sentences	15	19	31	13	67	14
Cases appealed	11	14	15	6	42	9
Cases Reversed	5	45	13	87	19	45
Cases affirmed	6	55	2	13	23	55
Sent to Penitentiary on con	- tested Jury trials	12	48	22	35	52	40

Thus, you see from the above record that about 41 per cent of the Grand Jury indictments he had returned on contested cases has ever been sent to jail. You will note that he dismissed on his own motion about 39 per cent of the Grand Jury indictments he had returned. You will further note that 54.4 per cent of the cases appealed were reversed because of a defective record. That out of 792 indictmnts filed that only 86 were ever sent to the penitentiary and 305 cases dismissed on his own motion, which clearly shows that he dismissed the cases he thought he could not win, thus showing favoritism and even of the cases he tried, he could only get affirmed, 41 per cent of the cases appealed.

NO LEGISLATIVE EXPERIENCE

No special aptitude for legislative action; none claimed; the constructive parts of his platform already the law.

Two years ago in his speeches throughout the First Primary, he stated he had mortgaged his father's faru to make the run-off campaign. Who is paying for this expensive campaign? The records show he has not earned enough to pay his living and office expenses since moving to Wichita Falls.

MASCOUTAH. Ill.—Work on tearing down this huge hangar at Scott Field will begin shortly. Said to be the second largest in America, it has never housed a Zeppelin, although built for their accommodation. The destruction of the hangar is a part of the plans of the War Department in changing Scott Field to a strictly heavier-than-air post. This field will now become General Headquarters of the air service in America, a move that has been made in anticipation of future war. By placing the main field in the center of the United States, maximum freedom from foreign attack is attained, together with ease in mobilizing planes to either coast.

He stated the opposition finding nothing wrong with his legisative record, that "Gossett is attacking my character and thus trying to ride into office on what he alleges are my demerits rather than any qualifications he may have for this important office."

Mr. McFarlane referred to letters showing that he has the endorsement of the Administration and the leaders in Washington including the different organizations representing agriculture, oil, labor and the livestock industries because of his record made in fighting to protect their interests.

Mr. McFarlane then answered the three and eight page scandal sheets attacking his character, integrity and standing in Congress. He challenged his opponent to support by any reputable evidence, any of the statements made in either of these scandal sheets.

Mr. McFarlane answered the different charges made by his opponent and pointed out that many felony charges were thus made and if ing any such charges, it was his du- | needed funds for this section. ty to file same with the proper authorities for prosecution. That such felony charges thus brought were a cloud over him as well as his children. That the failure of his opponent to substantiate these charges by reputable evidence should cause the people to repudiate him at the polls.

Mr. McFarlane read from the sworn testimony before the Federal Communications Commission which showed the facts regarding the ownership of the radio station at Wichita Falls, which testimony showed that the station was wholly owned by reputable Wichita Falls citizens, therein named. He stated that Leslie Humphries, attorney for the Texas Electric Service Company was also the attorney for the Wichita Daily Times and the Wichita Record News, who were disappointed applicants for the radio station, their application not receiving a favorable vote by the seven-man Commission.

Answering the charges made concerning the Decatur Post Office Building, Mr. McFarlane called attention of the people to his visit two years ago, long after the primary to Decatur at which time the announcement was made as to the location of the post office building at Decatur. Mr. McFarlane pointed out that if he had promised any community a post office or any one else anything, in order to secure their vote, that it would be a felony and any one having such informationthat it is his duty as a good citizen to file such information under oath with the proper authorities in order that the facts may be made known. He reviewed the many accomplishments of the Administration and the many projects received by Wise county, all of which he voted for and assisted in securing.

Mansfield Cord-Lock construction puts more tough cord fabric into the sidewall. Their wide, flat treads are made of Duro-mix rubber that wears longer in grinding service. Their high tensile piano wire beads are seven times stronger than actually needed.

Mansfield Tires equip thousands and thousands of cars and trucks in every part of the country today because wise motorists wanted Mansfields and bought Mansfields - they did not get them as equipment tires.

If you, too, want extra safety and extra mileage, let us show you Mansfield Tires to fit your car. You'll quickly see their extra value.
