Reports from various sources indicate that a serious effort is under way to shut down the Germanfest. The reasons given principally are that it is an occasion for too much drinking, which has led to a number of ugly incidents and has permitted a few youngsters to buy beer before they were legally allowed to drink.

Because of these things it is said that the community is receiving a bad reputation, and that local people resent the disgrace. The opinion is understandable, but presents only one side of the issue. Concentrating on faults makes a shutdown appear justifiable. However, concentrating on merits makes it seem more reasonable to continue the festival.

Regarding the number 1 complaint...too much beer...it is a fact that a small minority drank too much, but there were thousands who were moderate or did not drink at all. That was obvious when a crowd of 50,000 persons received fewer than 60,000 servings of beer. That's barely more than an average of one per individual. And as regards behavior, the few who were offensive were outnumbered many times by those who did not get out of line.

The unfortunate thing about the controversy is an assumption that the misbehavior of undesirable should be allowed to determine what will happen here. The critics say that the show must stop so that trouble makers can not move in and spoil it.

Doubtless their method would solve the problem, but it hardly seems fair to the many thousands who come for legitimate enjoyment, or to former residents who find Germanfest the year's best occasion to see friends and kin, or the hundreds of local people who work hard to present an event for which they can be proud.

Pride, incidentally, is a motive which should not be overlooked. The fest receives compliments by the hundreds every year, from people who are amazed by such a pleasant and obviously successful achievement in a small community. This explains why Germanfest gets bigger every year. Visitors are impressed by merit rather than isolated sordid incidents by a few sordid characters.

As principal workers and promoters of Germanfest, the Chamber of Commerce ought to be grateful for the criticism it has been receiving. Having ugly incidents pointed out will help do a better job in the future. And it can be said that ways to improve are already being considered.

Another thought that certainly deserves attention is Germanfest's financial value. This year's total revenue of $193,484 was a bonanza with the Chamber of Commerce receiving $33,588 and school, civic and private organizations having gross receipts of $157,695. As regards the private interests, the event was an extension of their regular business, but to civic and school groups it was the source of income which is used principally to support community and charitable projects, scholarships, and aid to distressed individuals and families.

For instance, the Chamber of Commerce has donated many thousands of dollars to the city and com-

Cub Scouts of Cooke County are busy this week at the Muenster City Park while attending their annual day camp. It opened Monday with intermittent showers during the morning, but this did not dampen the enthusiasm of 115 cubs of the 125 registered.

The daily program starts with a flag raising ceremony performed by boys of various packs. On Monday the Scouts, led by Star Scout Stuart Fishbeck of Denton, presented a special flag ceremony since it was raining and flag courtesy dictates that the flag is not to be raised during rain. Pack 664 of Muenster lowered the flag at day's end.

Cubs are participating in swimming, conducted by WSI Kathi Koch, Rhonda Hellman, Virginia Bartush, and pool manager Gary Weems. Mothers assisting the non-swimmers are Sharon Walterscheid and Paula Reiter; Frank Felderhoff is assisting with checking in and out of the cubs. David Fette is conducting the activities at the BB gun range assisted by Scouts from Denton and Mikael Fette of Troop 670 of Gainesville.

A craft each day is taught by Shirley Weems and Judy Wilhail themed "Knights of Yore" cubs are outfitting themselves for a presentation of a skit on Friday night's family picnic, when awards and camp patches will be presented. Staff Leader Patsy Bayer is directing the boys in their skits.

On Monday a special session on "Magic" was held by Scouts Murlin Evans and Jeff Walterscheid from Troop 664, teaching the cubs a few magic tricks. Adult assisting the Scouts was Kathy Fette.

Tuesday the boys participated in dual games led by Bill Havens, assistant cubmaster from Gainesville. The boys will also be challenged with an obstacle course directed by Judy McDaniel and a nature trail by LouAnn Spaeth.

A noon time entertainment activity is scheduled for each day. On Monday 2 motorcycle policemen from Gainesville talked about bike safety and motorcycles giving a demonstration of a few maneuvers with their motorcycles.

On Tuesday, Endres Motors donated a "junk heap" car to the EMS (Emergency Medical Service) for demonstration of "Jaws of Life", a new device for freeing auto accident victims pinned in their cars. They showed how to turn a sedan into a convertible and rip out the doors and steering wheel in just minutes. These instruments have only been in the possession of the EMS for approximately 8 months, but already they have assisted one victim that would not have survived had they not been able to tear the car down and release the victim.

The EMS Ken McCally and Sally Crabtree based in Gainesville, have been helping with day camp by attending daily and tending to all the cubs medical needs during the day. EMS personnel are highly trained para-medics and Cooke County is proud to say that they are rated No. 1 throughout the state. By radio contact any EMS can reach any doctor, hospital, or medical center throughout Texas. It is hopeful that Muenster can soon have a 24 hour lease for an EMS team.

Due to the large enrollment of Webelo Scouts (10 year olds), a special program was con-

Visit of helicopter ambulance becomes an event

A routine transfer of a patient turned out to be an event at Muenster Memorial Hospital last Friday.

An army helicopter from Fort Sill came to pick up a young man who was in the Muenster hospital with a leg injury sustained a week before at the Bulcher motorcycle trails.

People got the report and came to see. And other spectators joined the crowd when they saw people gathering. By the time the copter arrived about one hundred were there.

Their curiosity was rewarded by a gracious attitude of the crew who invited the visitors to step up and see the controls and hear about the operation. That went on until the patient was brought out and bedded down in a suspended stretcher, and the helicopter took off.

During the visit it was learned that more was involved than the transfer of the young man. A previous mission was the emergency transfer of a baby from the Panhandle area to a Dallas hospital. The machine, stationed at Fort Sill, is identified as MAST (Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic) and available to all of Oklahoma and Texas for medical emergency and disaster service. Its personnel includes three crewmen and a medical attendant, and it is equipped for medical attention in transit.

A safety requirement is to have a fire truck present when the machine lands. At the hospital police were also there to keep the parking lot clear for landing.

Father Victor Gillespie named assistant pastor at SH church

Father Victor Gillespie, OSB, of Subiaco Abbey, Ark. is the new assistant pastor at Sacred Heart Church succeeding Father Stephen Eckart, OSB, who returned to the Abbey on June 6 after serving the parish for almost nine years.

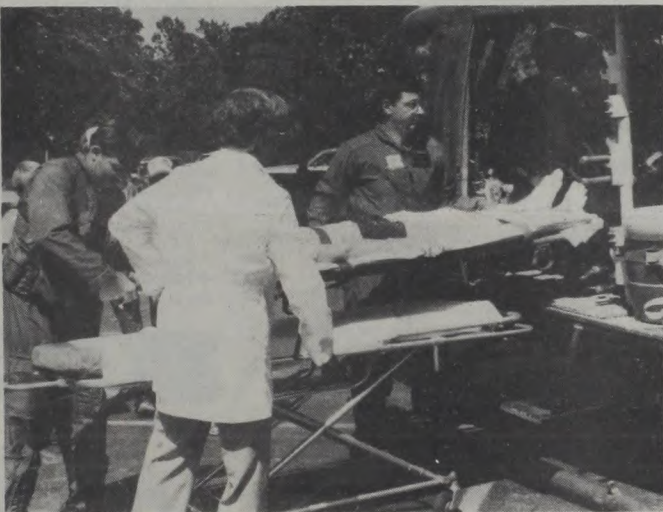

Though 54 years old and a priest for more than 25 years, he is just getting acquainted with parish work, his first assignment being Sacred Heart Church. He adds that duties are interesting and contacts are pleasant, that "people are nice, making him feel very welcome."

Father Victor is a native of Atkins, Ark., a member of a seven child family. After elementary schooling at home he attended Subiaco Academy receiving his high school diploma in 1945. He entered the US Air Force near the end of World War II and remained there four years, two of which he spent on photographic work for the Service in Japan.

Father Victor joined the Subiaco Monastery in 1950, was ordained in 1956. He received a BA degree in math and physics at St. Louis University and an MA degree, also in math and physics, from Peabody University of Nashville, Tennessee.

Since then Father Victor has spent 24 years on the Subiaco Academy teaching staff.

Proverbs 16:1-5
We may make our plans, but God has the last word.
Your may think everything you do is right, but the Lord judges your motives.
Ask the Lord to bless your plans, and you will be successful in carrying them out.
Everything the Lord has made has its destiny; and the destiny of the wicked is destruction.
The Lord hates everyone who is arrogant; he will never let them escape punishment.

Harvest delay drags on

Rain keeps coming, not enough for flooding but plenty to keep the community harvest at a practical standstill. Dolphy Hellman of Tony's Seed and Feed and Ronnie Felderhoff of Muenster Mill has similar reports Wednesday, each stating combines were shut down for several days but a few were active Wednesday on high and well drained ground. However the volume was nil and normal progress is expected at the end of the week if ideal conditions continue. Meanwhile the season continues to worsen. Test deteriorates and more grain is lost in the mud. Average yields are estimated at 25 to 30 bushels per acre whereas they were 60 per acre last year. Wheat price continues at about $3.50 per bushel for hard wheat and $2.75 for soft wheat.

Moisture readings of the week added to 1.69 inch, according to Steve Moster's report. Along with 2.71 inch early in June, that makes 4.40 inches for the month and 21.88 for the year to date. This measure is for less than 6 months whereas the area's average for a full year is about 36.
Temperature readings of the week were recorded as follows.

June 17	64 and 87
June 18	69 and 84
June 19	70 and 83
June 20	67 and 87
June 21	67 and 84

Looking Ahead

by Dr. George S. Benson, President

NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

It has been said by revisionist historians that the decline of the American Republic began with the War Between the States. Part of the reasoning relates to the vast loss of "States Rights" which was one of the results of that struggle. Another part involves the fact that the Socialist-Communist notion of a direct tax on income was first instituted during that war.

The prosperous growth of the nation from its founding until the Civil War was largely due to the weakness of the federal government. When men have no place to turn but to self, they have a way of creating vast amounts of wealth. It helps greatly when government is too weak to intervene and inhibit the creative bursts of human energy and initiative.

From 1817, when excise taxes were terminated, the government had financed its total operations on import duties and tariffs alone. But it had ample funding because it limited itself to its primary responsibility of protecting life, liberty and property, with emphasis on the latter.

Community in valuable projects and services. This year's number 1 project was the new rest room facilities in the city park, a cost of $26,444 paid entirely by the chamber. To begin, the building provided welcome jobs for workers and welcome business for local builders, and it became a welcome addition to the city park when finished.

Organizations are using funds earned at Germanfest to support scholastic, charitable and civic interests. This applies especially to the Jaycees who have a long record of hard work and donations in the city park along with sponsoring the summer baseball program, Santa Parade and various other community projects.

A few other improvements of the past funded by the Chamber of Commerce were park pavement, $1787; a sidewalk around the pavilion, $3250; tennis courts repair, $837; and restroom work in 1978 for $6774; plus a number of smaller park expenditures.

Even if money isn't everything, the Germanfest income is a very important fringe benefit to the community. Without it Muenster would not have many of the activities it now enjoys, nor the prestige of having an event which appeals to more people every year.

In addition the chamber has donated $2000 for baseball field lights, $1688 for Mid-Park, and has provided principal funding for such community promotions as the Harvest Hoedown, Christmas parade and community brochures.

Thinking over the subject calmly, one has to agree that certain features of the festival are not wanted, but stopping the show is not the way to deal with them. The way to please the greatest number of people is to add improvements wherever possible while eliminating faults wherever possible.

Likewise the Jaycees, the Garden Club, Beta Kappa and several school

Proposed telephone changes are consumer rip-offs

There are changes being made that will have drastic effects on what you will be paying for telephone service in the future. None of this is being brought out very well in the newspapers and television.

We have made a study on what the effects would have on the cost of telephone service to the Muenster and Valley View subscribers. Right now proposed changes would require an additional $11.00 per month average from each subscriber for us to continue the current level of telephone service, without the effects of inflation. Changes scheduled for next year will cause us about $36,000.00 reduction of toll revenue we are receiving next year. We do not expect at this time that we will need a rate increase next year.

Other changes being proposed will have devastating effect on the cost of telephone service. We will lose about $19,000.00 a month or about $228,000 a year in toll service revenue we are now receiving through the toll settlement process. This will have drastic effect on rates and services.

The rural areas will feel the effects the most, since cost of rural service is the greatest. In order to keep basic service as low as possible and follow the "cost causer" concept of pricing, we will be considering the following options.

- (1) Extended area service (EAS) such as toll free service between exchanges of Muenster, Myra Rosston and Forestburg and valley View between the two exchanges will be charged on per call basis.
- (2) Service outside city limits will have mileage charges added to the base rate charged in town.
- (3) As the rate increases, we will most probably see the return of the party line. If you are still on a party line now, chances of going on base rate 1-party service will become even more remote.
- (4) Unprofitable toll service to small towns and exchanges will have a surcharge on each call you receive or the cost will be added to your local service.
- (5) In order to keep basic service as low as possible, we will consider measured local service. You will get say, 20 local calls a month with the base rate, after which each local call will cost extra, probably more than a call to California.

There is no such thing as a free lunch. Somebody has to pay. Your local telephone company will have to receive enough money to pay its bills and make a profit or go out of business. The above will come true if telephone service is priced by the "cost causer" concept only. Competition will only work in the profitable part of telephone service which is the long distance market. The less profitable local service, especially the rural service, will suffer the most from competition and service based on cost.

Not only will you be paying much more for local telephone service, but you will have to own telephone equipment and maintain it to the protector on the outside of your home or business. If your telephone needs repair you will have to unplug it and bring it to a service center to have it fixed like an electrical appliance or pay the full cost of a man driving to your place to work on it. The cost of installing telephone equipment in your home or business will continue to increase as we must recover our full installation cost at the time the equipment is installed. We currently recover about 60%.

Low power radio similar to the CB radio may replace more expensive buried cable in rural areas some day, but today the technology is not there. Cable television could off set some of the revenue lost, but the technology also is not there at present. Telephone companies must continue to get waivers from the FCC to provide CATV service in their own service area, however these are supposed to be easier to get now. We will find out if Valley View chooses us to provide their cable television service.

The Federal Communication Commission (FCC) has continued for two more years the policy of allowing other non-telephone company long distance companies such as MCI to access local exchange plant at about 40% of what it actually costs to provide these services to them. In effect in these areas where MCI service is available subscribers are paying higher local exchange rates so that MCI can offer long distance telephone service at reduced rates which will cause your local rates to continue to get higher as more people subscribe to their service. Actually every call over MCI facilities becomes partially a local call and 60% of the cost of using the local plant to originate and terminate the call comes from local service monthly rate. This will continue for at least two more years now. In recent committee hearings in Washington, the president of MCI has proposed that the government should lead the cost fall where it may and then subsidize areas that cannot afford telephone service.

I am telling you all this while you can still do something about it. After all this is in effect and we must seek rate relief in Austin to stay in business, it will be too late for you to change it. We want you to raise hell with the FCC and your congressman now, not with us when we need rate relief later.

There is still time to stop some of the changes being proposed. Legislation to do this has been in the mill ever since Gerald Ford was president and they still haven't passed a new communication bill. In the mean time the FCC and the Courts are passing rules, the effects of which cannot be reversed. Write your congressman and senators. Send them a copy of this letter and ask them to protect your telephone service.

Also write chairman Fowler of the FCC. Ask him what they are doing to see that we will have service we can afford in the years ahead.

SMALL-BUSINESS MAN CRIES ECONOMIC DISCRIMINATION

The theory of Republican government is that sovereignty resides in the citizen, who lends it to his elected representative for a specified time. But a person whose wealth is siphoned into the coffers of its government is in no position to stand up to it.

Thus, the Socialist-Communists won a tremendous victory in their efforts to destroy the economic system which undergirds the American political system by means of the graduated income tax.

A small-business man in Conyers, Georgia, wrote a letter to the local paper, the Rockdale Citizen, complaining of discrimination. Says Lee Staples, Jr., "It's not the 'white vs. black' kind. It's not the 'male vs. female' kind either. The kind of discrimination I am the victim of is the kind between those who get government checks and those who don't."

"I don't get government checks," says Staples, "the kind that increases the cost of living index rises. As a matter of fact, the government gets my check."

Mr. Staples and thousands upon thousands of small-business people around the United States are complaining about high interest rates. And they believe that those high interest rates are the result of federal deficits, brought about by runaway government entitlement programs.

The most recent economic survey of the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB) showed that small firms paid an average of 17.8 percent on short-term loans. That survey concluded: "Given the current inflation rate and reasonable expectations for changes in the rate over the next 12 months (the maximum duration of a short-term loan), it is clear that small business is paying a real interest rate of well into double-digit figures."

Mr. Staples put it this way: "I am in a business crippled by high interest rates which have caused my gross revenue to drop over 70 percent since October 1979. My business expenses, meanwhile, have increased, due to higher rent, utility rate increases, telephone rate increases, advertising rate increases..."

First it was inflation, now it is high interest rates. And the federal deficit is the culprit which prevents any real improvement in that interest rate picture. In 1982, more than 90 percent of all individual savings will be borrowed by the federal treasury to finance the snowballing federal deficit. Long range projections offer little hope of a balanced budget until 1986 or beyond.

In 1981, total federal borrowing - the amount of direct Treasury borrowing, federally-guaranteed loans and borrowing by federally-sponsored enterprises - accounted for almost 74 percent of total savings. The Office of Management and Budget estimates that the 1981 federal borrowing activity will exceed 90 percent of national savings. The result, say NFIB economists, "Excessive federal borrowing will limit future economic growth by absorbing too high a percentage of national savings. The pressure from competition for money by Treasury will most likely force interest rate increases, stalling any recovery before it gets rolling."

Back to Mr. Staples: "Here we are," he says, "watching Congress write 'blank checks' for programs and operating expenses... and all of us are amazed that the deficit keeps on rising."

"I hope someone else out there agrees with me," says Staples, "and clips this column and sends it to his or her senator and representative to reaffirm the resolve we all had when we voted in November 1980."

Well, Mr. Staples, and all the rest of the struggling small-business people, I hope this helps.

STEELWORKERS: QUICK TO POINT FINGERS

By Edwin Feulner

The United Steelworkers Union recently ran ads in several newspapers across the country complaining: "Mr. President: You Broke Your Promise To The American People." Lloyd McBride, the union president, signed them.

If I was a union steelworker, I'd surely resent having my dues spent in this manner (especially if I was an involuntary 'member' under a 'union shop' arrangement).

First, McBride said to the President: "You promised you would not wage the fight against inflation by engineering a job-killing recession. You broke that promise."

Fact: President Reagan inherited the recession, along with 21-percent interest rates. A recession does not occur overnight; it takes months for a nation's economy to fall into a job-killing slump. The high interest rates of the mid-70s and the loose spending habits of the federal government started the financial rock rolling downhill, not an economic policy put forth sixteen months ago. And even though no recession is a good recession, through the first nine months of this recession (July to March), government figures show that the economic decline has been less than HALF that of the 1974-1975 recession, and about average for all post-war recessions - which are, of course, regularly occurring phenomena.

"You promised you would do everything you could to reduce unemployment. You broke that promise," the ad continues.

Fact: A lot of people forget that unemployment is caused by a flat economy, not a down-on-her-luck tooth fairy. Economic growth generates jobs, not the wave of a magic wand. Interestingly, while the unemployment rate stood at 9 percent in March, employment in the nation actually rose by 525,000, and unemployment fell by 82,000. Because of the "seasonal adjustment" formula the Labor Department uses to make the statistical year smooth out, the increase was termed a decrease. Since in a "normal" March, employment should, theoretically, increase by something over 620,000, the fact that it only grew 525,000 translates into a 98,000 decrease!

The best proof that unemployment statistics don't tell the entire story is in the fact that over 57 percent of all working-age Americans held jobs in March - higher than in any year during the 1960s boom decade and nearly two percentage points more than during the 1975 recession.

Another fact: It also may come as a surprise to Mr. McBride that the inflation/unemployment "misery index" - a term coined by Jimmy Carter during his campaign against Gerald Ford - is about 30 percent lower today than during Carter's last month in office. In December 1980, inflation (12.4 percent) and unemployment (7.4 percent) added up to 19.8 percent, seven points higher than when Carter took office. Today, inflation (4.6 percent over the last six months annualized) plus unemployment (9 percent) add up to 13.6 percent.

No recession is pleasant. But to imply that the economy is getting worse, when the worst appears over, seems just a bit dishonest.

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

This receiving station, located across First Street from the telephone building, receives signals from a man made satellite 23,000 miles above the equator and channels them into the local Cable TV system. A variety of programs is available in the system.

Earth station is complete for receiving satellite signals

Installation of the earth receiving station has been completed and is now able to receive television signals from Satcom III, a man made satellite located 23,000 miles above the equator half way between Hawaii and South America. From Muenster it is located 230.2 degrees off of true north at an elevation of 37 degrees above the horizon. There are 24 channels of television on Satcom III. Most of them are available to the local cable system for fees payable to the program owners in varying amounts.

The Muenster cable system was recently remodeled so that it is now capable of carrying up to 24 channels of television. Plans are to offer 15 channels of television in three tiers. The base rate or Tier 1 will contain 12 channels of television with channel 7 and 10 carrying satellite television. Tier 2 will include Tier 1 plus 2 channels of premium movie channels that contain only family directed entertainment. Tier 3 will include the first 2 Tiers plus premium movie channel that includes some 'R' rated movies at night.

Technical problems will not allow Tier 3 to be offered without the first Tiers. Traps put in the line before it enters the home will exclude service not wanted.

Cable ready television sets can receive all channels without additional equipment. Sets that can tune only to 12 channels of regular television and the UHF channels will need a converter on the television set to receive the additional channels. There will be received on the UHF channels and any remote control on the present set will work with the regular channels and additional channels. This converter will lease for $1.50 a month or can be purchased for $25.00. The converter may not be needed when a new television set is purchased.

The station plans to preview television from the satellite on channels 7 and 10 until the end of the month, and start pay service on the first of next month. Programs carried that day on channels 7 and 10 will be announced each day on Channel 2 so that all sets can receive the previews. A survey will be mailed the later part of this week to subscribers asking for their preference in programming. The survey needs to be returned to the office of North Texas Communications Co. by Monday, June 28th, to be counted. Full service including pay TV is expected to begin July 1.

North Texas Communications Company was incorporated in 1967 and connected the first subscribers to the cable in December of that year. The original system was designed for 12 channels and received 9 of the 10 channels from antennas on a 250 foot tower 2 miles east of Muenster and a local channel 2. Fr Bede's program was originated from the "Tin University" for 5 years before he was transferred away from Muenster.

City gets $4,153 sales tax check

The city of Muenster has received a check from State Comptroller Bob Bullock in the amount of $4,153.60 as a rebate of city sales taxes collected here during the period ending June 6, 1982. With this remittance the city's 1982 sales tax fund reaches $46,604, a gain of 13.61% over last year.

The increase is closely in line with the state-wide gain, which Bullock notes as almost 14% cent. Total remittances to 966 Texas cities for this period were $35.5 million.

Rebates to other cities of the area along with totals to date and percentage of increase or decrease were reported as follows by the comptroller's office.

Gainesville, $42,123, to date $466,358, up 22.25%.
Lindsay, $4,020, to date $26,459, up 14.93%.
Nocona $8,827, to date $58,549, up 15.55%.
Pilot Point $3,385, to date $28,199, up 23.10%.
Saint Jo $558, to date $11,615, down 8.86%.
Sanger $1,349, to date $19,635, up 4.51%.

Coronary is fatal to Johnny Sicking, 69

Funeral service for Johnny W. Sicking, 69, was held Wednesday morning at 10 in Sacred Heart Church with Father Placidus Eckart officiating at the Mass of Christian Burial and Fathers Denis Soerries, Victor Gillespie and Harry Fisher concelebrating. Others participating in the liturgy were Irene Hartman in scriptural readings; Grandchildren Michael, Darwin and Sherilyn Sicking in petitions; and Sons Jerry, David, Kenneth and Gene Sicking in the offertory presentations.

We can live with greater assurance if we bear in mind that we have a loving and good God".

Stacie Walterscheid and Glenn Miller united in SH nuptial

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Joseph Miller are at home in Muenster since returning from a wedding trip that followed their marriage in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, June 19 at 5 p.m. Father Victor Gillespie officiated for their vows in a double ring ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass.

The bride is the former Stacie Jean Walterscheid. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Julian Walterscheid. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller. The bride, a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and Cooke County College with an Associate degree in Nursing, is a registered nurse at Gainesville Memorial Hospital. The groom, also a graduate of Sacred Heart High School, is employed by National Supply Co.

As the bride approached the altar with her father, she paused to give her mother a long stemmed yellow rose and after the ceremony presented a similar rose to the groom's mother. Her bridal gown of white polyorganza was designed with a fitted organza and lace bodice, with Venise lace marking the modified waistline. The sheer yoke of Schiffli embroidery was edged with ruffled, crystal pleated organza which also formed the high Victorian neckline. Tiny seed pearls were scattered into the Schiffli embroidery. Full, sheer, long sleeves of organza were traced with Schiffli embroidery and gathered to fitted cuffs edged in matching ruffles. Her A-line skirt was fashioned with a double flounced hemline of crystal pleating which extended into a sweeping chapel train.

Her bridal hat of lace and net was applied with matching lace and tiny seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of white silk gardenias, roses and lilies of the valley, with accents of pale blue and yellow forget-me-nots. A rosary entwined in the bouquet belonged to the bride's great-grandmother Mrs. Matt Muller. In keeping with tradition she also borrowed a necklace from her sister, and carried a handkerchief, gift from the groom's mother and brought from Switzerland.

Attendants

Elaine Walterscheid was her sister's maid of honor. Mrs. Monica Haverkamp, the bride's aunt, Laurie Walterscheid, her cousin and Mrs. Julia Rogers, a friend were bridesmaids. They wore light blue polyester-knit gowns with spaghetti straps and shirred slip bodices and a ribbon sash worn at the waist. Sheer chiffon jackets with ruffles and embroidered lace trim complimented their dresses. They wore silk flower wristlets and combs of silk flowers, all in blue and yellow, and all made by the bride.

Leslie Fuhrmann, niece of the bride was flower girl. Her dress, identical to the bridesmaids' was made by the groom's mother. Neil Berres, groom's nephew was ring bearer.

Bert Miller was his brother's best man. Darell Walterscheid, bride's brother, and Johnny Hesse and Dale Schilling, friends, were groomsmen.

cousin, Jessie Walterscheid, bride's brother, Steve Henschel groom's cousin, and Dave Berres groom's brother-in-law were ushers.

Kyle Walterscheid bride's brother, Troy Berres groom's nephew and Darell and Chris Dangelmayr were Mass servers.

Wedding music was provided by organist Rita Pels who played as guests were arriving, and accompanied Ronnie and Tina Weinzapfel, trumpet players, in the formal professional and recessional; and accompanied vocalists Joe Bar-tush, Carolyn Luke and the groom's sister Gayle Miller, who also played the guitar for several selections.

Church decorations included altar arrangements of yellow gladioli and lighted candles. Tall floor candelabra entwined with greenery and white flowers, and holding white candles marked the altar space. A white wrought iron archway entwined with greenery stood near the steps entering the sanctuary.

Reception

A reception for 350 guests followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center, hosted by parents of the couple. Dinner was catered by Rohmer's and dance music was presented by Hard Times.

Beverly Fuhrmann, sister of the bride and Sandra Bezner, a friend secured guest signatures in the bride's book, as guests entered the reception rooms under a white wrought iron archway made by the bride's father. Table decorations included white ceramic doves holding blue candles; and blue and yellow flowers in tall crystal cut vases, all made by the bride.

On a separate table, the bride's 3 tiered white wedding cake decorated with blue and yellow roses, stood over a lighted fountain, with two heart shaped cakes at the sides. The traditional chocolate groom's cake was in a horse shoe shape. Both were made by Betty Rose Walterscheid. Reception assistants and cake servers included Kyla Hale, Mary Hess, Sandra Bezner and Monica Hartman. Guests attended from Murrieta, Calif., Linn Haven, Fla., Apopka, Fla., and Whitesboro, Dallas, Fort Worth, McKinney, Amarillo, Hurst, Sherman, Mesquite, Iowa Park, The Colony, Roanoke, San Antonio, Lewisville, Denton, Bedford, Mineral Wells and Grapevine.

Brenda Walterscheid visits in the Dominican Republic

A flying trip to the Dominican Republic to visit the parents of her fiance and to be entertained by them, was a wonderful vacation for Brenda Walterscheid. She spent 15 days there as guest of Franklin Leon and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Leon.

The five hour flight from DFW to Santo Domingo, the country's capital, was followed by a 3 1/2 hour drive through beautiful scenery to their home in the city of Santiago.

Among places visited were two very old churches, open markets and national monuments. They went up into the mountains surrounding Santiago with magnificent scenery. They saw fresh, live fish, lobster and other seafood being sold in open markets. They traveled into rural areas to see tobacco and rice fields, and to see charcoal made.

Two coastal cities visited were Puerto Plata and Sasua. The beaches were beautiful with white, clean sand for miles and miles; the ocean clear and the water the prettiest blue ever. The countryside, all green, was covered with coconut, palm and banana trees and beautiful flowers were everywhere.

In Mrs. Fernando Leon's garden she was growing orchids, roses, cherry trees, lemon, banana, plantain, coconut, cashew and avocado trees, and bushes and shrubbery covered with blooms.

They spent 5 days in Samana, a small coastal town where the Leons have a beach house. The house is built near an old Spanish fort that is still standing. The fort was used in the 1600s. In Samana they visited more beaches and an old Indian cemetery.

They skin dived in the ocean and learned to scuba dive in the pool at the beach house; they fished in the ocean with a brother, Luis Leon and a sailor guide from a nearby village.

The Dominican Republic, Brenda said, is a Spanish speaking country with many beautiful customs. She enjoyed the food, which she said was very different from food she was accustomed to here in the States. Seafood, rice and beans are always included in menus.

Several family gatherings were held in their honor. The Tony Koeslers entertained with a steak cook-out Wednesday evening. The Norbert Koeslers hosted a covered dish Sunday evening supper; the Tony Hermes were hosts for a noon dinner in Lindsay and the Alfons Koeslers were hosts for the wedding.

Couple returns to Tucson, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. George Koetel have returned to their home in Tucson, Arizona after release from Muenster Memorial Hospital. They were hospitalized for treatment of injuries received in an automobile accident while guests of her sister, Mrs. Ursula Herr, who remains hospitalized. Mrs. Koetel is the former Gertrude Koetler, Muenster native who lived in Hereford for many years. The couple was taken to DFW by cousins Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Endres on Saturday and phoned to tell of safe arrival on Sunday.

Father Joseph Huwyler was pastor of Sacred Heart Church in the early 1900s when this picture was made. He is shown in the back seat of the vintage model automobile with Father Benedict Boergerding. Driver of the car was a Mr. Harworth, who lived in Muenster at that time, on the present location of the Jostwerner home. In the background is the parish rectory when Mrs. Frances Binz was its housekeeper. She is shown on the second floor with her daughter, Louisa, who later became Mrs. Henry Wiesman. Mrs. Francis Binz, a widow, was a sister of Father Benedict. Of nostalgic interest is the gingerbread trim on the house, the decorative fence and the antique car. This picture and information came to The Enterprise from Mrs. Clem Hofbauer.

Young Homemakers Club hears Mary Casteel of Lone Star Gas

Mary Charlotte Casteel of Lone Star Gas Co. presented a program on "Nature's Magic", pertaining to spices and herbs, for last month's meeting of the Muenster Chapter of Young Homemakers of Texas, in the MHS Homemaking room.

Excerpts from her very informative program told that the oldest spice is black pepper and that was were fought at one time over pepper; cinnamon is found in the inner bark of a tree grown in Indonesia and gathered twice a year, where it is called "sweet-wood;" nutmeg is a member of the berry family and is available whole or ground; mace is from the same berry and can be used instead of nutmeg; ginger is a root spice-the lighter the color, the fresher the spice.

In discussing Herbs, the speaker told that herbs need to dry before using, because their flavor intensifies when dried. Herbs are grown in the temperate zone. Basil, she said, is the king of herbs and is grown in New Mexico; parsley is an herb; the vanilla bean is available in seeds or pods, and is a favorite with European cooks; it is commonly used by adding a bean to a measure of sugar for a specified time.

Mrs. Casteel provided an assortment of spices, flavorings and desserts for the members to sample. Displayed in a decorative table setting were orange spice sugar (a flavoring for tea); Chili popcorn (2 teaspoons chili powder added to popped corn); poppy seed cookies and pumpkin cake.

She stressed the importance of storing spices in airtight containers in a cool, Personal

After adjournment members presented a "thank you" gift to past president Louise Fisher. Mrs. Barbara Felderhoff, the hostess served refreshments to the group.

AMPI promotes dairy legislation

Lee Wolf, Gainesville, a corporate director of Associated Milk Producers, Inc. was in Washington, D.C. June 15-17 to promote passage of the "Dairy Stabilization Act" (H.R. 6313/S. 2587) and the "National Dairy Products Promotion Act" (H.R. 6314).

"We feel encouraged by the growing recognition these programs are receiving as reasoned and responsible steps to balance dairy production with consumption and reduce the cost of operating the dairy program to an acceptable limit," declared Wolf.

"Passage of these two related self-help proposals will benefit dairy farmers, consumers and taxpayers alike."

The "Dairy Stabilization Act" addresses the production side of current milk surpluses. Key features include:

A two-tier price system giving dairy farmers the supported price on milk for which there is commercial demand and a much lower price on surplus milk.

A positive incentive for dairy farmers to reduce production with a refund of the assessment on surplus milk for reductions in milk marketings below year earlier levels.

Establishment of a Dairy Board with responsibility to project domestic needs, determine required producer funding and dispose of surplus stocks.

Wolf stressed that the "Dairy Stabilization Act" would reduce government dairy expenditures by $1.3 billion in FY 1983 over the cost of operating the current program. "This represents a saving of about $3 million for each of the 435 Congressional districts in the U.S.," explained Wolf.

The Administration's dairy proposal would provide the Secretary of Agriculture unlimited authority in setting the government support level for milk. Agriculture Secretary Block has indicated that with such total discretion he would cut the current support level from $13.50/hundredweight to at least $12 after January 1, 1983 if milk surpluses remain large.

"The Administration's dairy disposal does nothing to provide the kind of stability both producers and consumers must have," Wolf continued. "Furthermore, the 'Dairy Stabilization Act' would cost the government $408 million less in FY 1983 than the Administration's dairy proposal."

The "National Dairy Products Promotion Act" is designed to increase consumption of dairy products. It would be financed through a nationwide checkoff of five cents per hundred weight on all milk marketed, with a fund-raising potential of $65 million a year.

The program would emphasize manufactured dairy products to concentrate efforts on those products purchased by the Commodity Credit Corporation under the milk price support program and which have the greatest potential for increased sales. After the program is in effect two years, fluid milk products can be added to promotion efforts.

A Promotion Board, made up of dairy farmers, would be responsible for administering the program. The Act becomes effective only if approved by a majority of dairy farmers voting in an industry-wide referendum.

Wolf noted that the "National Dairy Products Promotion Act" should increase the U.S. consumption by an estimated 2.9 billion pounds of milk equivalent. "This consumption increase would have several benefits: improving the nutritional quality of the American diet, assuring U.S. dairy farmers of dependable markets needed to maintain high levels of productivity, and reducing expenditures for dairy surplus removal by a projected $460 million in FY 1983 alone."

"The milk price support program has an excellent record of public service. It has assured consumers of dependable supplies of fresh milk and dairy products every day and in every city. Plus it has enabled dairy men to keep increases in milk prices consistently below increases in the consumer price index for all items and all food items," Wolf concluded. "By passing the 'Dairy Stabilization Act' we can continue this fine record."

Associated Milk Producers, Inc. is the nation's largest farmer cooperative with 33,000 members from 20 states throughout the midwest, south and southwest who produce about 12 percent of the nation's milk supply. The two self-help programs were developed through the National Milk Producers Federation and have received the backing of major dairy farmer cooperatives all across the country.

Severe flood damage is shown near Lindsay, below Elm Fork structure No. 9 where 22 1/2 inches of rain fell in a 36-hour period in October 1981.

Heavy rainfall shows value of flood retarding structures

Practically every one of the over 600 floodwater retarding structures in the north portion of Central Texas has been thoroughly tested during the past nine months. Three major storms in October 1981 filled every structure to capacity causing some spillway damage on 35 structures. The heaviest area of the October storms occurred generally west of Gainesville where rains of up to 22 1/2 inches fell in a 36-hour period. Another major storm occurred near Denton, McKinney, Sherman and Bonham on May 13, 1982 when rains of up to 12 inches fell in a 12-hour period.

Although the October '81 storms resulted in damage to several structures and some severe flood damages downstream, engineers with the Soil Conservation Service estimate the stream flows were only about half of that which would have occurred without the floodwater retarding structures. Stream flow measurements were recorded in four major streams during the storms. The May rains filled nearly every structure to capacity in Collin, Grayson and Fannin counties. Only minor spillway damage has been observed on a few structures.

During the October storms some 200,000 acre-feet of water was detained and 1,340 acre-feet of sediment was trapped, preventing it from entering the streams and water supply lakes below.

County changes applications for private sewage disposal systems

Cooke County has instituted a change in its program for private sewage disposal system applications. This change will combine private sewage systems and flood plain development on one form and there will be a $10.00 increase in the cost of the permit. Fees will now be $50.00 for percolation testing, Flood Plain and Sewage system inspection. Locations on more than 5 acres where final inspection of systems is not required will be changed from $5.00 to $15.00 to cover cost of flood plain application.

A thorough investigation of the proposed building location will now be made to determine if the location is subject to flooding. Flood hazard boundary maps are located in the Cooke County Environmental Health Department office and they will be used to determine if the proposed building or development is in the flood plain.

Flood plain development includes construction of a building enclosed on three sides, that may be used for habitation, business, or storage, it also means "mining, dredging, filling, grading, paving, excavation, or drilling operations." All of these construction activities will be required to have a permit as required by the court order.

Fireworks injuries mar July 4

Traffic fatality reports over the July 4 weekend generally overshadow another category of accidents - fireworks.

Fourth of July and Christmas holidays are when most of the estimated 6,000 to 7,000 fireworks injuries occur in the United States each year, according to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. About 20 percent of these are eye injuries, caused primarily by firecrackers and bottle rockets.

In Texas last year, fireworks caused 72 reported eye injuries, 48 of which involved bottle rockets, notes Dr. Richard D. Cunningham, an ophthalmologist at Scott and White Clinic in Temple.

"Again this year, a number of Texans will be subjected to potentially blinding injuries from fireworks because of our ignorance or indifference to the hazards posed by these devices," Cunningham writes in the June issue of Texas Medicine, journal of the Texas Medical Association. "Nearly all blinding injuries could be prevented if all participants would use protective eyewear."

Last year, bottle rockets caused nine of the 12 reported cases of fireworks blindness in Texas and 11 instances of partial but permanent vision loss, the physician says.

Although many states through legislation have sharply curbed or banned fireworks except for religious, cultural or public display, Texas has not. Cunningham notes that Class C "common" fireworks remain legal in Texas under federal law. These include firecrackers not more than an inch and a half long, sparklers, fountains, roman candles and bottle rockets. "Local ordinances are not uniform and are often poorly enforced," he explains.

Organizations including the American Academy of Ophthalmology, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the National Fire Protection Agency have encouraged enactment of strict regulations regarding the use of fireworks.

"These injuries are unnecessary and preventable," Cunningham says. "As citizens we should urge strengthening of state and local fireworks regulations and encourage better enforcement of enacted laws."

TAKE THE TP&L CONVENIENCE QUIZ:

1. Take a look at your last bill. Write down the amount of that bill in the space provided below. Now divide that amount by the number of service days it represents. (Usually it's a 30-day billing cycle.) The answer you come up with is your average Cost Per Day. Amt. of last bill = $ _____ ÷ 30 = $ _____ (Average Cost Per Day)

2. Now pick your appliances. Check the boxes beside those that you have and use on a regular basis. You may have some that aren't on our list, if so, add them to the list in the space provided. Remember, these are the things that add convenience to your life every day.

3. Now stop. And think. The price of electricity, like everything else is going up. But electricity affords you more conveniences now than ever before. And at TP&L we're doing our part to see that the power to keep them running keeps on coming. Day after day. So when you really think about it, isn't electricity still one of your best buys? YES NO

MHS Junior-Senior banquet and prom held on May 15

The traditional evening of fun and formality, flowers, food and fellowship, the "Junior-Senior Prom", was held for Muenster High School students on May 15 at 7 p.m. in the VFW Hall, with parents as sponsors. The senior class colors of pink and burgundy were emphasized in decorations and individual memory books.

Guests entered the building under a rainbow at the front door. One corner of the hall was reserved for the photographer, with a gazebo built by junior and senior shop students. There were hanging baskets of flowers and fresh flowers "growing" surrounding the gazebo. In an opposite corner was a pool with a fountain and more fresh flowers. Photographers were Ralph and Sue Ross of the Royal Photography shop in Whitesboro. Students may pick up their pictures at the home of Carla Walterscheid.

Dinner preceding the prom was catered by the Schneiders. Mike Ottis provided music for dancing.

Day camp ends with a final camp closing camp-fire on Friday. Parents are invited to pack a picnic supper and join in the fun Friday at 7:00 p.m. at the Muenster Park.

Golf tourney set for Sunday

Early qualifiers are out since Sunday getting set for the fourth annual golf tournament to be sponsored next Sunday, June 27 by Sacred Heart Alumni on the Gainesville Municipal course. However Director Mark Hess says there's still plenty of time to get into the action. Qualifying rounds can be played as late as June 26.

The tournament is a 36 hole partnership scramble made up of men's, women's or mixed teams. They will be assigned to four flights as determined by scores of the qualifying round, and the playing begins at 8 a.m. Tournament fee is $36 per team, including green fee for the final round.

The list of prizes, to be determined by the number of entries, is expected to reach a total value of $1500. Some of the items are 48 dozen golf balls, 4 beer coolers ($25 each), 24 trophies and free refreshments after the game. The prizes will be awarded for the first three places in each flight, also for longest drive and shot nearest the pin.

A&M officials say wildlife management careers opening up

COLLEGE STATION — New careers in wildlife management are opening up for those who like the great outdoors and are interested in preserving what many believe is an important part of the American way of life.

Officials at Texas A&M University, which offers a degree in wildlife and fisheries sciences and boasts one of the leading programs in the country, say there is a growing demand for wildlife experts to manage recreational hunting and fishing resorts.

"As part of managing an increasing number of these resorts, our graduates are called on to keep detailed records of wild game in an area," said Dr. Tom Linton, director of a new scholarship program to attract more students to the field.

"They are responsible for counting animal populations and assuring that the hunting areas are safe.

"Hunting as a recreational sport is gaining a lot of interest from weekend vacationers, which is opening doors for students who would like to work in the wildlife industry," he said.

Growing Geraniums

By Ted Brice
The Garden Editor

It has been said that Geraniums which are natives of South Africa, are known and loved by more people than any other flower in the world. Geraniums grow almost anywhere with a minimum of care and are found in most gardens. The color range for geraniums are white, pinks, brilliant red and a purplish black. Geraniums grow outdoors from year to year with little attention.

They can become shrubby plants four to five feet tall while in colder climates they are treated as small delicate annuals. The Lady Washington Geraniums also called Martha Washington may reach a height of three feet and have huge clusters of three to four-inch single and double blossoms, sometimes blotched with a darker shade on the two upper petals. The ivy and the common geraniums produce single or double flowers. The ivy geranium receives its name from the ivy shape leaves and the trailing and sideways growth that can extend up to four feet. The common geranium which is the most popular normally grows two to three feet tall but may reach a height of six feet or more.

The Geraniums with the concentric markings on the leaves are among the common varieties, sometimes they are also referred to as zonal geraniums.

There are many scented geraniums with a variety of scents. There is not a geranium scent such as other plants have. The geranium may have a rose, lemon, peppermint, apple or nutmeg scent to mention only a few. Then the geranium may have no scent what so ever. The fragrance emanates from the leaves and not the flowers.

You may use the ivy and common geraniums as borders, beds and pot plants because they will bloom throughout the growing season. The ivy geranium is particularly effective in hanging baskets and window boxes. It can also be used as ground cover.

The Lady Washington is not successful in many sections of the country as other geraniums since it needs temperatures below 60 degrees to bud. It is usually grown by florists for Mother's Day and Memorial Day.

Now that the big vacation time season of the year is upon the Nation many folks here are making trips or planning them. In discussing this annual custom, one Perryman Denham, said he had no desire what-so-ever to travel and vacation during the summer months. He can do without being jostled, pushed, rushed or to mix it up with pot-bellied men and big derriered women plus tired, unhappy and "wanting to be at home" children. Now mind you, we sure have nothing against this custom as it is the only time most folks can vacation, et. - but just not our cup of tea.

The Charles Edwards family has just returned home from a three weeks trip thru 13 eastern states. Perhaps we can have details on their trip for you next week. They do report a wonderful trip and time.

There are benefits to giving up smoking, even after a lung cancer diagnosis, according to a recent broadcast sponsored by the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center and The Prudential Insurance Company.

Researchers at the National Cancer Institute studied 112 patients with small-cell lung cancer, all long-time smokers, during the course of their treatment. The patients who had stopped smoking sometime earlier responded best to cancer therapy. But even those who quit when cancer was diagnosed survived longer than those who continued to smoke.

According to cancer specialist Dr. Martin Cohen, "If an individual stops smoking at the first diagnosis of lung cancer, he or she will have a better chance to be a long-duration survivor and to be possibly cured with treatment. The chance of cure for someone who continues smoking, however, is virtually zero."

Dr. Cohen's advice to patients is to give up cigarettes and to avoid a fatalistic attitude if lung cancer is discovered. "A fatalistic attitude on the part of the smoker is senseless," said Dr. Cohen. "Besides an increased chance of survival by stopping smoking, it also made treatment of cancer much easier since there are fewer respiratory complications during treatment for non-smokers."

VOLUNTARY LOAD MANAGEMENT

WHAT IS VOLUNTARY LOAD MANAGEMENT?

It's a program that depends on the support and cooperation of our member consumers to change their energy usage to certain hours of the day during the year.

WHY IS THIS IMPORTANT?

It's important because there are "Peaks" in electrical demand when everyone seems to have several major appliances running at the same time. The problem is that it costs more to generate and deliver electricity during periods of peak demand.

WHAT CONTRIBUTES MOST TO THE "PEAK"?

All electric use contributes, but appliances such as clothes washers and dryers, dishwashers, electric ranges and air conditioners are high users.

WHAT CAN BE DONE TO PREVENT INCREASING THE PEAK?

Change your habit of using the major appliances to the hours of 9 to 5 during the day and 9 to 5 at night.

WON'T THIS BE INCONVENIENT?

Good energy management doesn't mean you have to turn your life upside down -- it simply means that you postpone some of your chores until another time.

If everyone practices conservation and energy management at home, we can postpone the need to invest in additional expensive generating facilities. This saves us all money.

WILL DOING THIS REALLY SAVE MONEY?

Yes, without question. Shaving the peak will save money. This is because our power supplier must charge a demand charge as well as a charge for kilowatts actually delivered.

With the cooperation of our member consumers, this idea can prove to be successful and beneficial in order to better manage our load, that is, to make best use of all the generating, transmission and distribution equipment. When we do, everyone saves.

If you have any questions about Voluntary Load Management, call the Member Services Department of Cooke County Electric Cooperative.
