work on Muenster's application for a PWA grant on a sewer has been completed and submitted to Joe Ward, consulting engineer, of Wichita Falls, Mayor M. J. Endres ad- strewn with a carpet of blossoms vised Wednesday afternoon. It consisted of answering a questionaire regarding population tax rates, assets and liabilities of the city and other pertinent data indicating the feasibility of a sewer project.

Within the next few days Mr. En dres added, an application will be prepared in typed form under the direction of the Wichita Falls engineer and will be sent to Muenster for the signatures of city officers.

The application will contain, besides the data submitted Wednesday, a complete report on a sewer project survey made several years ago with notations of minor changes as suggested by T. E. Lundy during his visit here on Monday of last week.

When completed the application will be filed with PWA division headquarters at Fort Worth some time prior to September 1, the date 27. set as the deadline for filing applications.

In submitting its application Muenster does not obligate itself to tell them of this year's fair and to put in a sewer. C. PRESCHER SENDS GREETINGS WHILE ON EUROPEAN VACATION

Constantine Prescher, well known here by the old timers as a former resident, recently sent Joe Fisher a newsey greeting from Czechoslo vakia.

Only a few weeks ago he had the unique experience of harvesting wheat with a scythe.

He seems to be especially impressed with the antiquity of cities and buildings and the rugged beauty of the mountainous country. He has strolled the streets of 2,000 year old cities, attended services in The first stage of preparatory 700 year old churches and slept in 600 year old houses. A Corpus Christi procession with thousands in costumes and uniforms, banners and a path 25 feet wide by one mile long was named the most impressive he has ever seen.

Because he is an American, Mr. Prescher says, he is quite generally accepted as a sort of ambassador of good will and honor guest.

Building, repairing and repainting are very much in evidence in Muenster and the surrounding community this week.

At the Muenster Public School work on the new composition roof has just been completed and the new oak floor in the halls and two east rooms is nearing completion.

Ed Schmitt's new home on North Main between the Joe Fisher and Joe Trachta homes is rapidly taking shape. The framework was almost finished Wednesday.

Another new home is that of Al Walterscheid, which will be under construction as soon as the present home can be torn down. It will be built of rock. At the present time Al and his family are moving in with his mother, Mrs. Wm. Walterscheid, and will remain there until time to move into the new home.

George Gehrig started last Friday on a one room addition and a series of minor changes to his residence. Complete inside changes and a

Local Co-op Officers Will Submit Application and Confer With Examining Division Chief

The climax in Muenster's campaign to secure electrical current for farm homes of this and neighboring communities is expected to be reached at Greenville next Monday afternoon when the administrative personnel of the Cooke County Elec. tric Co-operative Association meet with C. O. Falkenwold, head of the examining division of the Rural Electrification Administration.

In discussing the scheduled meeting J. W. Hess; superintendent of the local project, pointed out that he and all the directors and Cecil Murphy, attorney for the project, would be on hand and try to secure Mr. Falkenwold's immediate approval of an application for the REA loan. When the group returns, he is confident, they will be able to as-sure their 400 signed up consumers that engineering work and construction will begin soon.

The plan of meeting with project leaders has been adopted by Washington officials in order to hasten the approval and actual construction on lines so that as much as possible can be completed before unfavorable winter weather sets in. During the meeting Mr. Falkenwold expects to secure all the additional information relative to the project that normally would require several weeks of correspondence.

At the suggestion of Ewel Stone, assistant examiner, who was in Muenster for the co-op's regular weekly session last Thursday night, Muenster's application was held over to be submitted to Mr. Falkenwold next Monday instead of sending it in last Friday. He also authorized Mr. Hess to retain all applications and easements and submit only an authorized list to accompa-

ALL STAR GAMES TO BE FEATURE OF NEXT WEEK SOFTBALL CARD

Headlining the softball program for the coming week is an all-star attraction between teams picked from the North and South Clubs, Paul Nieball, league president, advised Wednesday.

It will be a special benefit series of three games, he said, and is being promoted for the purpose of overcoming some of the league's losses resulting from poor collections at the regular schedule games. During the series streets surrounding the park will be roped off so that an admission price can be collected from each spectator. The charge will be 5c for children and 10 for adults.

Bulcher and the two Muenste teams will make up the North side lineup and Forrestburg, Stony Point and Mount Tabor that for the South. Four players will be the maximum number permitted from any club on the all star team. The series will consist of two out of three games, the first two scheduled for next Tuesday night in a double header and the third, if there is a third, for the following Thursday night.

Gossett again discussed some of the more important planks in his platform, again emphasizing his farm program, which included a busting of farm machinery trusts and a prevention of profiteering in Bob Moore, Manager of the Wagsuch machinery, a readjustment of tariffs in order to equalize commodity prices, and to regain farm mark.

SECOND CHAPTER ON THE RECORDS OF THE CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS

COMPARE THE RECORDS

McFarlane's Record

In the general mercantile business for years prior to selling same and volunteering as a Buck Private in the World War.

He has worked on the farm, in the coal mines, in the stores and odd jobs, working his way through two universities. Since returning from the World War has practiced law with his father at Graham, Texas since 1920.

He has always actively supported legislation for the war veterans, widows and orphans and led the fight for the soldier bonus.

He has kept faith with his own and the democratic platform 100 per cent. Has actively supported the President's Recovery Program.

Was appointed on special investigating Committee to investigate air craft purchases for the Navy and was directed by the President to investigate these corporations' income tax returns. From this investigation, he secured information, offered legislation and helped fight through Congress amendments to the Tax law which eliminated the right of large corporations to file consolidated income tax returns. Abolishing this loophole in the corporation income tax law placed back into the treasury more than $300,000,000 for each of the past 3 years which had previously been escaping taxation each year. (pp 6432-36; 6666; 7063-65; 74th, Cong. Rec.)

Offered the first measure under this Administration to give federal jurisdiction over bank-robbing, hi-jacking and kidnapping crimes.

Introduced and helped enact legislation for the farmer, oilman, independent merchants, bankers, live stock men, laborers, railroads and for education.

Offered legislation to prevent Members of Congress from employing their own kin folks, and to reduce his own salary 25 per cent.

Offered legislation to stop issuance of tax exempt securities.

Favors repeal of the federal gasoline tax and balancing the postal deficit by requiring second, third and fourth class mail to pay fair rates.

He actively fought and worked for all projects received in this district under this Administration amounting to more than $56,-000.000.

Gossett's Record

A professional politician returned to this district 11 years ago and has run for office four times within the past eleven years.

Was District Attorney four years. His sworn four years record as District Attorney show that out of 792 indictments filed that only 86 persons were sent to the penitentiary. That 305 indictments he had returned were dismissed on his own motion; which clearly shows that he played favoritism and dismissed the cases he thought he could not win: and even on the cases he tried he could only get 45 per cent of the cases affirmed appealed. You will note that more than 54 per cent of the cases appealed were reversed because of a defective record. On this official record he asks you to send him to Congress.

For the past 14 years he has studied and practiced law with the official records showing that well over half his cases appealed being reversed at a great expense to the tax payers because of defective records.

That of the 219 cases tried before juries only 86 persons or 39 per cent of the contested jury cases tried have been sent to the penitentiary. Thus showing because of his incompetence that only 10 per cent of the grand-jury indictments returned were ever sent to the penitentiary. If Mr. Gossett cannot obtain a record that will stand the test of the court with the special training he has had for 12 years in the law how could he hope to maintain under these trying times and conditions a satisfactory record in the HIGHEST LEGISLATIVE BODY WITHIN THE GIFT OF THE PEOPLE WITHOUT ANY PREVIOUS LEGISLATIVE EXPERIENCE.

The County Attorney of Wichita County during a part of this time had a record of 231 convictions in felony cases without a single reversal by the Appellate Court. "By their deeds ye shall know them." By his deeds he has been tried and found wanting.

He does not challenge McFarlane's voting record but attacks only McFarlane's personal character, through mud-slinging tactics he knows to be false and unsupported by any reputable evidence.

LET'S NOT SWAP HORSES IN MID-STREAM

The President and this administration need all the tried and true friends they can get to put through the Democratic Program.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation that may appear in the columns of The Enterprise will be gladly and fully corrected upon being brought to the attention of the publisher.

In the last analysis the deciding factor in Muenster's problem of whether or not it will have a modern sewer is the cost. Using the estimate given by a competent engineer last week we take it for granted that the city would have to vote on itself an obligation of between $20,000 and $25,000. In rough figures, over a 20 year period this sum would require an annual payment of about $1,500.

According to the proposed plan of financing, funds to retire the indebtedness would be secured partly from an increase in water rate and partly from an increase in ad valorem tax. In this last connection it is well to understand that about one-third of the assessed valuation is owned by the railroad, gas, power, and oil companies and would bring to the city about $250 annually, leaving citizens to pay with their own tax and water rates about $1,250, an average of between $10 and $12.50 a family.

Is this cost so tremendous in view of the fact that it will bring greater convenience than we have ever enjoyed, that it will serve to eliminate the plague of flies and dysentry, that it will open our city to opportunities of development that coud not get a hold during the present unsanitary condition?

The most attractive feature of the whole project, however, is that it releases about $40,000 in our midst, considerably more than half of it going to labor. This circumstance spells opportunity in capital letters for every ambitious workman of our city and community. There is not a laborer in town who could not realize from his labor on the sewer during the coming winter several times the amount of his share in the total debt. With that situation prevailing is it possible to suppose that any ambitious working man can vote against it? The outlook for business men is no less encouraging. Some of them, especially hardware and lumber dealers will have the opportunity of selling materials for use on the project. Their increased earnings also will offset to a great extent the total of their share of the debt. And other merchants will naturally benefit from increased business when thousands of dollars of payroll is released here. Under such circumstances, how can our business men fail to vote for the sewer?

laws, is responsible more than anything the time in comparative darkness-continue to drive else for the widespread contempt our pub- at mile-a-minute speeds over highways that are as lic has for legislative bodies as well as law enforcement agencies.

There are two regulations especially that grate on the feelings of people in this community. One of them is the much contended beer situation, another is the truck law demanding a 7,000 pound load limit. | type on a white page is a good example. Now that we are getting ready to elect a representative for our state legislature at Austin it is high time we pressed the two contestants for a stand on both those problems.

As regards the beer situation, it simply isn't just that this community is deprived when 98 per cent of its voters express their made as modern and safe at night as they are in the preference for legalizing it. Even drys must concede that no law should oppose the will of that percentage of the population. Since our efforts to legalize beer have been consistently blocked we are forced to ask that the law be changed.

We are told that a wet precinct in a dry county is unlawful but that a dry precinct can be set up in a wet county. We say it's a poor law that doesn't work both ways. Why can't it be changed so that our people will not be continuously beyond the law. It's up to our representative to do something about that. It's up to us to let him know that we expect to have something done.

The load limit law for trucks is another bit of ridiculous legislation affecting all the rest of the state as well as this county. Some of our people heap abuse on the Railroad Commission for enforcing the law. which is its duty, but fail to demand constructive changes from our legislators.

We have people in this community who are handicapped by being restricted to 7,000 pounds load limit. Is it fair? Is it reasonable?

A child can understand that the gross load, not the net load is what damages the road. A child can understand also that the law, under its present status is distinct favoritism toward other transportation agencies.

How do our candidates for representative feel about this? It is our duty to let them know we want the unjust restriction on truck loads abolished. Of course we want the unjust restriction on truck loads abolished. Of course we want a restriction, but let that be a gross load restriction and determined by the estimates of competent engineers regarding the load our roads can carry.

As for us, we're watching her climb the fairy stairway, cheering her at every step.

> Commenting on our recent mention of the hard working silo filling crews, State Press in the Dallas News was wondering whether "the editor acquired his sweat by using a pitchfork or merely by watching other men work. After sitting in a idea in operation it arouses not only a thrill of pride and enthusiasm such as no other quality can produce, but serves to create a sentiment of admiration and fellowship even in those against whom it is directed.

Most of us have at some time or other seen it in action-on the battlefield, in the workshop, in the home, on the campus. What nobler, more enthralling spectacle than to see a man, countered by innumerable obstacles, hampered by illness, reft of fortune, forgotten, despised, and belittled by the few who still accord him unwilling kinship, go down time after time before the assaults of misfortune or untimely circumstance, to emerge, still fighting, still hoping, with such unbeatable pertinacity that the mind instinctively yields to the conviction that here it sees in operation a living power that will drive through any conceivable object in its path.

And where, if not in the history of the early days of the three Americans, shall we find more inspiring examples of that heroic quality? First, in the life of Columbus-what persistency of effort do we not there encounter! There was not with him a question of genius, only of that unwavering driving-power of will. Plzarro, Cortez-what were they but incarnations of that marvelous force? Washington, Lee, Grant, Jacksongeniuses some of them, conquerors all of them; conquerors even those who in that bitterest hour of defeat held their souls high, unshaken and untouched.

Unreachable these champions of great causesor lost-may seem, but there are millions who, unnoticed of Fame, stand proudly in the same high station with them. In those ranks there is room for him or her who, consecrated to the pursuit of an ideal, drives on without thought of ever giving up. Those ranks will divide and admit all who presist in the will to win.-Southern Messenger.

This little mention is made to wise up those who have heard of the incident. They have a right to know that the maligned business is not at all insecure, in fact it could not be bought for three times the figure mentioned. As for those who haven't heard, we hope the whisper will go no farther, the man really doesn't leserve as much contempt as he invited.

These whispering campaigns are really contemptible. Many a man can tell how runs on banks resulted from a word here and one there that destroyed public confidence. Banks depend almost entirely on the confidence of their depositors, any other business depends on it in a smaller degree. We cannot overook that this mode of attack is sadly lacking in business ethics. A man active as technical advisor for women's scenes in Ray Milland's new picture "Men With Wings," and she also finds time for modeling and advertising feature work besides filling her regular flying schedule of two trips a week. A guess as to her future is open. Apparently her technique behind the scene is OK, and we're anxious to know whether it will be as good on the scene.

One thing we can be sure of-opportunity is pounding on her door, whether it be in continued relations with American Airlines or a contract with one of the flicker interests. Neither of the two is likely to publicize a girl unless she gives promise of being quite valuable to its inter-

In plain words the situation is this. Muenster will have to pay 55 per cent of the entire cost. But no less than 55 per cent of the entire sum will be released right here in Muenster.

Of course we realize that in many cases people will not receive from the project what it costs them whereas others will receive much more. We realize that some new families will move to town just for the job, but all of those are prospective customers of our merchants. Considering the entire town as one unit this is a mere swapout affair, we pocket about between $20,-000 ad $25,000 in a few month's time, we pay out that same amount in 20 year's time.

Think it over you voters of Muenster. Can you reject this vast value when its final cost is no more than a little work during an otherwise slack season? Can you reject an improvement that more than any other is necessary for the continued health and progress of your city and the future opportunity of your children?

Above all, remember this - Muenster can have a sewer by merely swapping dollars.

The galleries are full of critics. They play no ball. They fight no fights. They make no mistakes, because hey attempt nothing.

It was an ancient seer who said that criticizing another mans oration is a simple thing, but to make a better one in its place is a task exceedingly difficult.

Down in the arena are the doers. They make many mistakes because they attempt many things. I would venture to say that Edison, Burbank, Ford, Marconi and the Wright brothers probably made more mistakes than any other men who have lived. Ford forgot to put a reverse gear in his first automobile. Edison once spent over two million dollars on an invention which proved to be of little value. The gigantic creative experiments of these men in blazing new trails made mistakes inevitable. But who remembers the critics who laughed at them?

The man who makes no mistakes lacks boldness and the spirit of adventure. He is a brake on the wheels of progress. There are no thrills in his life. And there are no monuments to his memory .- Menard News.

CLOTHING FROM PAPER

During the World War the Germans developed paper clothing, being unable to obtain enough cotton and wool to make clothes for the civilian population. Those "ersatz" garments proved so unsatisfactory, however, that as soon as the war was over woven fabrics took their place.

In Japan for centuries a considerable proportion of the people have worn garments of various kinds, made of varnished or lacquered paper. Paper rain-coats are common in Japan, and the Japanese paper umbrellas were once common in America, but only as sunshades, not for protection against rain.

Now a new kind of paper fabric has been developed in this country and is shortly to be placed on the market for clothing of all kinds. It is already in use for other purposes, including pillow-cases. This new material, called Pewel, is made of wood pulp by a special process. It is neither spun or woven. It is said to be soft, strong, as limp as silk, and has the appearance of percale or cotton broadcloth. It can be dyed in almost any color or prin' 1 in patterns like dress fabric. The inventors say that it can be produced as cheaply as paper, so that soiled clothing and other articles made from it can be thrown in the fire, since there is no way of cleaning them.

We have not seen the new fabric, but it appeals to our imagination, like the woven glass fabric which has also been made into dresses and even men's clothes. Like many other modern improvements, such things tend to lessen the demand for the old staples. We wonder what effect this newest one will have on the cotton-growers .- Mt. Vernon Optic-Herald.

"MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM"

"Lord, what fools these mortals be!"

Those are the words of Puck in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" written by Shakespeare back in the days of the horse, the coach and the litter. And though, it is true' the words bore no relation to problems of travel, there is a temptation to echo them now every time the constantly mounting statistics of death on the highways point to the tragedy of these beautiful summer nights.

'A Midsummer Night's Drama" is a modern drama that no man wrote. Nevertheless, it is one in which thousands play a part after the curtain of darkness has fallen over the highways and by-ways and over the busy city streets-And thousands die!

It is a paradox of this age of light that we continue to carry on the potentially most dangerous activity of swivel chair for most of the year every editor needs to get out and do a little physical work once in a while.'

Just in case he's still interested we'll add that our knowledge in that line is based on experience through several seasons and ending only a few years ago. However that is one experience that does not have to be recent in order to be vividly remembered. It is doubtful whether time will ever erase those impressions. Yes, and we're still looking for the fellow who can convince us that the farm has any tougher job. And what could Mr. State Press have meant by swivel chair editors? Were he to visit a few small town editors he would probably find that the greater part of their work is physical. We would suggest that he take a little trip from his metropolitan environment and follow a country newspaperman on his tramp through the home town and a few others in search of ad and news copy, then stick around as he lends a hand in the shop. That would con-vince him that there is some physical exertion in the editor's daily grind.

Of course the editor does have to do some writing, which means that he must borrow a few hours from the night. But even then he doesn't have a swivel chair job. We seriously doubt whether ten per cent of the chairs in small town news shops will swivel. Queer, isn't it?-that almost every person will brag-or should we complain-about how much say work he does, but when he thinks it over he's not willing to trade jobs with the next man. Your scribe is one of those, the remark applies to him all the way. Perhaps interest in one's work relieves the greater part of the strain. Just like a game of basket-

IRENE SICKING AND RAY KLEMENT UNITED IN TUESDAY NUPTIAL

Cut flowers and fern flanked by branched candelabra filled with burning tapers decorated the altar before which vows were recited to unite Miss Irene Sicking and Ray Klement. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends in Sacred Heart church. Rev. White satin was fashioned into the gown worn by the bride. The floor-length frock was made on sim-

Her full length veil of white silk net, sprinkled with tiny gold stars, fell from a tiara of gold leaves and white gladioli, lilies and fern and was tied with white satin ribbons. For "something old" the bride wore a gold cross and chain.

Miss Rose Sicking, only sister of the bride, attended as maid of hon- trip to southern cities. or. She wore a formal dress of peach colored marquisette, over taffeta, made with a bouffant skirt, square neck and full puffed sleeves. Her head-dress was a silver tiara and sprays of pink blossoms.

FIRST: Put on your dirtiest clothes so you can crawl under your car.

SECOND: Buy a supply of transmission, differential, universal joint, water pump and pressure gun greases, a grease gun and a spray gun. Also some penctrating oil and No. 40 oil.

THIRD: Equip yourself with lots of good strong words such as "Darn," "Oh, Hang," and the like, to use on the joints where the grease doesn't want to come through. Keep using these words until the grease comes out on the other side.

FOURTH: Buy yourself a complete set of wrenches to use on the containers that must be opened to inspect the lubricating supply inside. Also some new skin to graft on your knuckles when the wrench slips.

FIFTH: Fill your spray gun with penetrating oil to spray on. the springs. Be sure not to breathe for about 10 minutes while spraying the springs or you may oil-plate the inside of your langs; which is bad.

SIXTH: Be sure not to miss any place that should be lubricated as it may cost you the price of twenty grease jobs for repairs.
