The column this week is short but extra special. It concerns my recent very critical illness and my humble thanks to all who had a part in my rescue from eternity.

It happened Wednesday night of last week ... a heart malfunction ... attack, failure, or whatever ... with vital signs of near zero when I arrived at the hospital.

The gravity of my condition was immediately recognized by the emergency personnel, including Doctors Juarez and Antonetti, Bob LaCoe, Peggy Hatcher, Pat Wimmer, Emma Lou Hess, Della Hellman, Diann Caplinger and Mary Ann Hess.

They applied all the skill and dedication of their profession, but I feel certain that other factors were involved. Their minds and hands must have been guided by Almighty God, Who must have heard the pleadings of family and thoughtful friends.

The report of my condition reached them early. They responded promptly with their prayers, and I responded to the inspired efforts of the medical team.

My condition was pronounced stable after slightly more than an hour. Then I was transferred to Westgate Hospital for intensive care and monitoring. Dr. Antonetti accompanied me in the ambulance ride to denton. The four days there were ideal. No pains, no problems, but a number of pleasant cards and visits, including those of Peter McCoy, who came as minister of the Eucharist.

So, this column is intended to convey my most sincere thanks, first of all to Almighty God as the ultimate source of this happy ending, to the medical team who followed His guidance, and for prayers, visits, cards and expert care of Westgate personnel.

The remaining space in this column will be used this week by Dr. George S. Benson, whose column "looking Ahead" usually appears on our editorial page.

In the meantime, I'll be resting up for a more complete return next week.

ALTHOUGH the so-called "domestic content bill" did not pass the same Senate in the lame duck session of the last Congress, we can fully expect it to be submitted in the new one because it had passed the House, and the House now is much more liberal in its orientation.

Politicians are masters at using semantics in efforts to hide the real purposes and consequences of bad bills by the labels they assign to their pet legislation. Thus we have a "Civil Rights Act" and a "Voting Rights Act," both of which deny the civil rights and freedom of choice of the vast majority of Americans in order to grant special privileges to well-organized, militant minorities.

In the case at hand the nefarious bill was given the misleading and euphemistic title, "Fair Practices in Automotive Products Act," (H.R. 5133). The act was protectionism, pure and simple, and protectionism is an economic act, which in the end is loss to everybody.

Kilowatt hour sales show heavy increase

Members of the Cooke County Electric Cooperative gathered for their 45th annual meeting here Monday and were told that 1982 kilowatt hour sales showed the largest annual increase since 1975.

Michael Sloan, general manager, said the increase of 22.5 percent in gross operating revenue was the result of two factors — a 17.4 percent increase in the cost of purchased power and a 7.5 percent increase in the amount of energy sold.

Operating margins for the year were $428,637, an increase of approximately $40,000 over the previous year while non-operating margins were down $43,000, reflecting for the most part the reduced interest earned on short-term invested operating funds.

Sloan went on to say that the cooperative is one of the only electric systems — rural or otherwise — that has not had a base rate increase since the public Utility Commission assumed jurisdiction over rates in 1976. "If the growth of kilowatt hour sales which we had in 1982 will continue, I am hopeful that any rate increase request can be postponed at least for a few years."

"It has been and I am sure will continue to be the cooperative's policy to hold the line on costs whenever possible and to timely construct only those facilities necessary to provide and maintain reliable and efficient electric service."

Sloan said a look back over the last 45 years shows the cooperative has continued to build on a solid foundation of service to its consumers.

The cooperative's reputation today as a financially sound, well-constructed, well-operated and maintained rural electric distribution system is a credit to the members of the board of directors, he said. Credit also goes to past directors as well as employees.

Members of the cooperative held their election of directors, returning Robert Lewis to the board from District 3, defeating John Danglemayr. From District 6, Jack Crownover defeated John Brown. In District 7, Pete Skinner chose not to seek re-election and Ray Powell defeated Dan Hamric to take that position. Directors held a special meeting after the election during which they named Robert Lewis as president, Jimmy Jack Biffle was named vice president and Wendell Proffer remained as secretary/treasurer.

President Vincent Zimmerman presented a watch to General Manager Sloan in recognition of his 25 years of service to the cooperative and presented Pete Skinner with an award in recognition to his 18 years of service on the board of directors. He also presented Joe H. Sicking with a plaque recognizing his retirement after 41 years of service.

Lee D. Herring, standing in for Dick Yaws, WBAP farm director, who was unable to attend as guest speaker, delivered a humorous and patriotic speech which drew a standing ovation.

The meeting concluded with the drawing for door prizes. Recipients were Muenster - Tommy Knabe, Gary Fetsch, Mrs. H.J. Wolf, August Fietman, Lucille Hess, Mrs. Regi Bayer, Grady McElreath, Edgar Dyer, Theo Miller, Harold Lutkenhaus, and Terry Wimmer.

From the Sivells Bend area: Kevin Jones, Nocona - Don Six and Mrs. J.E. Hinton, Bonita - Leonard May, Lake Kiowa - Donald Trei, Nettie M. Fairchild and Mildred Marsh.

From Gainesville - Kenneth Rivoire, Mrs. David H. Smith, Butcher Estates - W/W Association, Ray Lynch, Henry Voth, Albert Zimmerman and Craig Rosenbaum. Lindsay - Damond Fuhrman. Callisburg - Mrs. Mack J. Hough, John Titch and Mrs. Dean Westbrook. Forestburg - Joe Evans.

Germanfest ready for another banner year

If growth patterns over the past two years are to be taken as any indication, more than 60,000 visitors could be expected to pass through the gates at this year's Germanfest, again making it the biggest ever.

The best estimate last year said the total number of visitors neared 55,000, a hefty increase over the 1981 total of some 40,000. Favorable weather was credited last year for a big help in the event's success and if that kind of weather makes a repeat performance this year, a 65,000 total isn't at all unrealistic.

Barely a week remains before the beginning of the eight annual Germanfest, and according to the event's various planners, all systems are go. That was the report given at the last Chamber of Commerce Luncheon meeting held a couple of weeks ago. Attractions for the fest will be pretty much the same as last year, the exception being that they are all expected to be even more polished this year.

Perhaps the most evident example is a greater emphasis that has been placed on the German heritage theme of the celebration. Committee chairmen expect that added emphasis to provide for a much classier atmosphere this year.

The lineup of events, as in the past, is headed by the German Fun Run, to be held in both 15 kilometer and 5 kilometer divisions. The fun run is only one example of the growth the Germanfest has experienced since its inception. The event drew barely 250 runners eight years ago and has since grown to more than 3,500, making it one of the largest races of its kind in the state of Texas.

The usual lineup otherwise includes chug-a-lug contests, a pretty baby contest, a ladies' smile contest, a beer belly contest, a tobacco spitting contest, a ladies' pretty feet contest and numerous others.

Those looking to test their skills can choose from a wide array of challenges ranging from horseshoe tournament to a motorcycle road-eo or bike rally.

Street dances, polka dances, and country-western dances are scheduled throughout the weekend and 2 stages in the park will feature almost non-stop entertainment.

Abundant food and drink will again be a trademark of the fest, although abundant may be an understatement. Last year the consumption levels rose to new heights when 593 kegs of beer were emptied and more than six tons of sausage, cheese, kraut, struedel and other delicacies were put away.

Weather permitting, those figures could be topped again in 1983.

Comanche Peak power plant awaits fuel delivery in May

With the first unit of the Comanche Peak nuclear generating station almost complete, fuel for Unit 1 of the plant will begin arriving in May with shipments to continue for about four months.

Texas Utilities Generating Co. said the initial shipment of fuel will originate with a supplier in Columbia, S.C.

Unused nuclear fuel in transport poses no safety risk and the shipment is given no extraordinary handling procedures. The fuel will be taken to the plant's fuel building and placed inside storage bins.

Employees handling the nuclear fuel are not required to wear protective clothing.

The nuclear fuel scheduled for shipment is uranium dioxide, which is enriched to a point at which it amounts to 3 percent of Uranium 235 content. The fuel is fabricated into small ceramic pellets. The pellets are in turn clad in metallic tubes called fuel rods. The rods, each containing 270 fuel pellets, are bundled together to form fuel assemblies.

Unit 1 requires 193 fuel assemblies -- with 264 fuel rods per assembly. Although the amount of uranium dioxide in a fuel rod is only 4.37 pounds, a total of approximately 98 tons (196,000 pounds) of fuel will be loaded to begin full production of electricity.

After Unit 1 has reached its normal fuel-use pattern, the 193 fuel assemblies will produce the same heat as would the burning of 26 million tons of lignite.

Refueling of the Comanche Peak generation units will occur about once yearly and will involve replacement of about 65 fuel assemblies.

Comanche Peak will then become Texas' first on-line commercial nuclear plant.

Eighty-three nuclear plants are now licensed to operate in the United States and 59 more nuclear plants are in the construction stage.

Comanche Peak Unit 1 is expected to begin commercial operation in 1984. Unit 2 is scheduled for on-line operation in 1985.

The Comanche Peak plant is designed to produce 2,300,000 kilowatts of power from the two units.

The project, expected to cost $3.44 billion, is owned jointly by Texas Power & Light Co., Texas Electric Service Co., Dallas Power & Light Co., the Texas Municipal Power Agency, Brazos Electric Power Cooperative, Inc. and Tex-La Electric Cooperative of Texas, Inc.

Nehemiah 4: 12-15

Every builder, while he worked, had his sword girt at his side. Also, a trumpeter stood beside me, for I had said to the nobles, the magistrates, and the rest of the people "Our work is scattered and extensive and we are widely separated from one another along the wall; wherever you hear the trumpet sound, join us there; our God will fight with us." Thus we went on with the work, half of the men with spears at the ready, from daybreak till the stars came out.

Tompkins issues reminder on air rifle ordinance

Muenster Police Chief Helen Tompkins recently issued a reminder that a city ordinance prohibits the discharge of BB guns, air rifles, or pellet guns within the city limits.

She said there have been two reports in the past two weeks of automobile windshields being shot out, and reminds parents of their responsibility to prohibit their children from using the guns in the city.

She also said citations will be issued for violations of the ordinance and the parents would be held liable for such violations involving their children.

Winter hangs on

Winter continues to hang on at Muenster, but fortunately it is more agreeable here than in many areas of the country. Low temperatures ranged mostly in the low thirties and forties and highs were mostly in the sixties. However it's been dry, and the measure remains at .66 for April and 7.18 for the year. Low and high readings of the week were recorded as follows by Steve Mosler.

April 14	36 and 60
April 15	33 and 66
April 16	41 and 81
April 17	50 and 76
April 18	44 and 64
April 19	43 and 65
April 20	44 and 57

The Owner's Manual

I AM SURE that everyone is familiar with the miracle that God performed that enabled his people to cross the Red Sea when they escaped from Egypt. There are two other instances in the Bible in which God performed a miraculous feat and held back the waters of a river to allow his servants to cross on dry land. One of these instances is described in the third and fourth books of Joshua in which we read how God's people crossed the Jordan River to enter Canaan, the Promised Land, after having wandered in the wilderness for forty years.

In the first part of Joshua 3:1 we read, "And Joshua rose early in the morning." We see here that Joshua did not serve God and his people in a lazy manner. He who will accomplish great things, will never do them by lying in bed. In the second part of this verse we read, "And he and all the sons of Israel set out from Shittim and came to the Jordan, and they lodged there before they crossed." They had a promise that they should pass over, but they knew not how; nevertheless they went forward in faith. If we only know our duty up to a certain point, let us advance, even if we cannot see another inch beyond us. Let us do as we are bidden, and leave events with God. In verses 14-16 Joshua records, "And it came to pass, when the people set out from their tents to cross the Jordan with the priests carrying the ark of the covenant before the people, and when those who carried the ark came into the Jordan, and the feet of the priests carrying the ark were dipped in the edge of the water (for the Jordan overflows all its banks all the days of harvest), that the waters which were flowing down from above stood and rose up in one heap, a great distant away at Adam, the city that is beside Zarethan; and those which were flowing down toward the sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, were completely cut off. So the people crossed opposite Jericho." You can appreciate the above feat even more if you have ever seen the Red River at flood stage. Due to the season of the year, the Jordan River was flooding, but that was no difficulty with God, who can as well dry up an overflowing river as a shallow one. At the division of the Red Sea the waters stood as a wall on both sides, but on this occasion the floods arose on one side only, and on the left hand the water quite disappeared, flowing at once into the Dead Sea. The Lord has many ways of effecting the same end. Variety in the divine operations is a clear proof the Lord is never at a loss for ways and means. Under the eyes of their enemy was this miracle wrought, and in the face of life's arch-enemy, death, God will grant his people safe passage through death's cold flood. The next verse tells us, "And the priests that bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord stood firm on dry ground in the midst of Jordan." The ark of the covenant first led the way, and then kept the road open. The priesthood of Jesus and the ark of his redemption made for all believers a passage into the better land.

We will conclude this study with Joshua 4:10 which tells us, "For the priests which bare the ark stood in the middle of the Jordan, until every thing was finished that the Lord commanded Joshua. And the people hurried and crossed over." Christ will never cease his mediatorial work, till all his redeemed are safely landed. Ministers ought to be brave men, the first to risk all for God's sake, and the last to leave their post. Note how the Israelites were both trembling and believing; they "hurried" — here was fear, and "crossed over" — here was faith.

WHO NEEDS entertainment at a dinner playhouse when you have a two-year-old at the head of the dinner table in the privacy of your own home? No matter how serious the conversation carried on by the grown-ups at the table — whether the topic be politics, the latest movie, or how difficult it is for the median-income family to afford a new home — a two-year-old never fails to steal the show with a well-timed scream and a well-aimed sliced carrot in someone else's wine glass.

The number of strange things a single two-year-old can accomplish in the span of one 45-minute dinner is nothing short of mind boggling.

And we laugh. "Oh, how cute," we say. "Yeah, kids do some pretty strange stuff when they're that age. But what would they think of some of the strange things their grown-up counterparts are sometimes guilty of?"

The following are just some of those strange little things we've either done ourselves or caught other people doing when they thought no one else was watching. Some of us may actually be guilty of one or two ourselves. Hopefully, no one is guilty of them all.

- Like the last time your gas gauge was bouncing on E, and instead of coasting to the gas station, you kept the pedal to the floor, determined to squeeze every last drop out of the tank.

- Like the last time you were anxiously waiting for an elevator, and you punched the "up" button 19 times, thinking that would really make it go faster.

- Sitting in an expensive restaurant with five other people and checking your wallet for the third time just to make sure your American Express card is still there.

- When you flew first class for the first time and you asked the flight attendant how much the drinks cost.

- When you had a very important engagement one evening and you realize the shirt you need to wear was hung in the closet after the last time it was worn — a week ago — so you cautiously sniff the underarms of the shirt and then ponder over whether its scent is socially acceptable. Then you wear it anyway.

- Doing the very same thing with a pair of socks.

- On a cloudy day, instead of hurrying to mow the lawn before it rains, you stall until it does so you have an excuse to not do it until tomorrow, all the time hoping it rains again tomorrow.

- You're late to work one morning, so you set your alarm half an hour earlier, only to hit the snooze button six times and get to work even later than you did the day before.

- Criticizing the uselessness of daytime soap operas, only to plan your social calendar around the viewing of "Dallas" and "Dynasty" each week.

- While you know that the National Enquirer and similar publications are pure trash and no self-respecting human being would be caught dead with one, you still casually page through the latest copy while waiting at the check-out counter.

- But by far the worst of all — when you actually start paying attention to silly things such as these.

To The Editor:

In reference to the front page article of 2 weeks ago outlining the AMPI Producer Set-Aside Program approved at San Antonio, I feel it necessary to express the fact that I did not support this program as stated in the article released by AMPI.

The proposed plan would be a nightmare of red tape handled by the local ASCS office, a base or quota plan which could possibly still cause a surplus, and will be a farmer-financed program (dairymen will be paid $10 for every hundred pounds of milk not produced, up to 30% of their total production) funded by penalties for the overproduction of milk.

— All negative aspects.

Rather, a simple temporary reduction in the support price will be more advantageous to the producers and consumers alike, the cost being much lower in the end for everyone.

Thank you for this opportunity — to express my opinion.

Sincerely,
Leon Klement

To The Editor:

We appreciate the nice article in your paper that helped us so much in our recent drive for the Shriners hospital for crippled and burned children.

We thank each of those who gave so generously.

A special thanks to Fathers Denis and Victor and Rev. Keith Thomas for allowing us to collect at the church doors. We are indeed grateful. Thanks also, to those who collected at the churches.

Every dollar you gave goes directly to the hospital for the care of the children. Nothing is deducted for expenses. It's all done by volunteer help.

There are some of you who were contacted by phone and graciously pledged to give. Due to pressure of time, we are sorry that we were unable to pick up your donations. Would you please drop them by the Charm Shop so that we can check you off our list and make us 100 percent.

Did you know? Children up to their 18th birthday are treated free-of-charge without regard to race, color or religious affiliation in the 18 Shriners Hospitals For Crippled Children and three Shriners Burn Institutes.

All of the money used to operate the Shriners Hospitals and Shriners Burn Institutes comes from personal endowments, Shrine fund-raising projects and individual Shriners. No Federal tax dollars or government grants are used.

Thank you for your help.

Heritage News Forum

LAST MONTH, on the day when some 4,000 advocates of nuclear freeze staged a rally on the Capitol steps to push for this simplistic and dangerous proposal, a delegation of Soviet "youth leaders" came to The Heritage Foundation for lunch and discussion with some of our research staff as part of a cultural exchange program. Although I was unable to attend the meeting, I understand it was a lively one. The New York Times, in an unusual unsigned article, reported that voices were raised and tempers flared. My own sources, which I feel are more reliable, told me that the discussion was civil, though intense — especially when the issue of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan was raised.

As with all such Soviet delegations, this one went to great efforts to center the discussion on the arms race. If a Martian had come to Washington that day and had time to attend only the "freeze" rally and our luncheon, he would have gone away convinced that the Soviet Union is the most pacifist nation on the face of the earth and that the Reagan administration threatens the world with nuclear incineration. He might even have applied to join the Komsomol (the Soviet youth organization) to further the cause of international understanding.

I wish I had been at the lunch, if only to ask the peace-loving delegates from Krasnoyarsk and Ulyanovsk about the subject of a small article I found buried on page A-21 of The Washington Post only the day before.

The story was headlined "Soviet Peace Activists Vow to Continue Fast." It said that two members of a small independent Soviet peace group had announced that they were continuing a two-week-long hunger strike in an effort to force the government to permit their group to exist.

The two Soviet peace activists, Sergei Batovrin and Sergei Rosender, had begun their hunger strike the day after Soviet police had broken up an exhibition of photographs and books about the danger of nuclear war that they had tried to set up in a private apartment.

This wasn't the first time members of the group, which calls itself the Committee to Establish Trust Between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A., had been harassed by the police and the KGB. Batovrin, the leader of the group, was incarcerated for several weeks last year in a Soviet psychiatric hospital until protests from abroad forced his release. Since the peace group was formed last June, virtually every member has been arrested or harassed by the police. Several have since applied to leave the Soviet Union.

What should this tell us about the nuclear freeze? A lot. Quite apart from the discussion of the strategic liabilities a freeze would impose on the U.S., such an example of how the Soviet government treats its own citizens who sincerely show a desire for bilateral disarmament reveals the real intention of Andropov and Company. Their "peace" campaign seeks merely to disarm the West.

Although I would love to have asked our Soviet guests about the Batovrin case, I know I would never had gotten a straight answer out of them. They would have harangued me about focusing my attention on isolated cases which result from the differences in cultural development of our two societies, and other such hogwash.

To me, the case of Sergei Batovrin distills in a nutshell the hypocrisy of the Soviet "peace" offensive. We forget to our peril that the freeze was first proposed by Leonid Brezhnev, who presided over the greatest arms buildup ever launched by any nation. Let's hope that the spirit of Neville Chamberlain, which seems to have been reborn lately, doesn't bring "peace in our time" — and serfdom in our children's.

nemeyer of California so aptly put it, the title should have been "the Smoot-Hawley Trade Barriers Act of 1982." His reference, of course, was to the United States Tariff Act of 1930, which generally called the Smoot-Hawley Act. By raising tariffs on more than a thousand items, it provoked retaliation by our trading partners and played a large part in causing the Depression and increasing its severity.

The domestic content bill is based on the same fallacy of protectionism that has popped up periodically over the years. The idea is to keep out imports or make them more expensive, in an attempt to create jobs in this country.

The fallacy lies in the fact that nations prosper to the degree they engage in trade.

Exchange or trade implies gain; otherwise there would be no basis for trade. As it is with each individual, so it is with nations.

America is a great exporting nation, especially of agricultural products. One-fourth of U.S. farm income is derived from exports.

Japan is our number one agricultural export market to the tune of $6.6 billion yearly.

In order for us to export we must import. Nations which receive our exports pay for them with dollars.

Diet Facts & Fallacies
 The word "calorie" is probably the most misunderstood term in nutrition today. Just what is a "calorie"? Diet Center defines a calorie as a measurement of the energy available in nutrients of the foods we eat.
 "Calorie-cutting" diets that are low in calories (500 to 800), gimmick-based, focused on only a few types of foods in sparse amounts or geared toward ketosis (a potentially dangerous condition resulting from an imbalance of nutrients) spell out DANGER to your health.
 Many people lack the awareness or knowledge of their bodies' nutritional needs. Instead of concentrating on what nutrients the body needs to be healthy, they often eat only one or two types of foods (i.e., grapefruit and eggs, fruits or just proteins). These "diets" can leave your body deficient in vital nutrients.
 Diet Center believes in the importance of counting NUTRIENTS, not calories. Your Diet Center Counselor can further explain how to maintain a nutritionally balanced diet while reducing your weight.

Scouts ready to help clean-up town and lawns

To help the community put on its best look for Germanfest, Muenster Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts have volunteered to pick up litter at both sides of both highways into town. Boy Scouts will clean up along Highway 82 and Cub Scouts along FM 373.
 And that's not all. They offer to help clean and mow yards for people who are not able to do the job themselves. Their service is free to those who are not able to pay, however they will be grateful for pay from people who can afford it. Anyone wanting the help is invited to phone Drue Bynum, 759-4661.
 Regarding other improvement of the town's appearance, Dude Grewing is currently showing a way with a bright new paint job at the Gulf Station.

We do not dress neutrally but make an impression of some kind each day. To learn more about how dress affects your appearance, enroll today for the "Create the Look You Like" mail out series.

Information in the series will center around four major items. These are: How to use clothing lines to your advantage; Creative use of fabric and accessory textures; How to express yourself with color; Looking your professional best or what clothing says about you.

Becoming clothes influence the way you look and feel. Visible lines in your clothes create illusions of size and shape, making you look taller, shorter, heavier, or thinner. This mail out will help you decide what lines in clothing you should select to emphasize the desired points. Immunization Clinic to be April 27

The Texas Department of Health Region 5 Office in Arlington announces an immunization clinic to be held at Sacred Heart Community Center, Wednesday, April 27, from 10:00 a.m. to noon.

The Clinic will provide against Diphtheria-tetanus-pertussis (DTP), Polio, Rubella (red measles) and Rubella (German measles), for infants 2 months through 18 years. Precautions must be taken with females in the 12-18 age group to insure that they are not pregnant when they are immunized with measles and/or rubella vaccines, and that they do not become pregnant for 3 months following immunization.

Immunizations are incomplete if a child has not received three (3) doses of DTP and Polio vaccine with at least one dose administered past the fourth birthday. All children under 18 years must have an informed consent form read and signed by the parent or legal guardian. If possible, the parent should accompany the child to the clinic.

Immunization records should accompany the child to the clinic and be examined by the Public Health Nurse who will answer any questions. The following children would have immunizations deferred:

- (1) Those acutely ill and with fever;
- (2) Those taking antibiotic treatment for an acute illness; and
- (3) Those who have complete antibiotic treatment for an acute illness, but have not been pronounced well by their physician.

The Department makes no charge for the immunizations. Since these diseases can be quite harmful, each parent or guardian is encouraged to protect their children from them.

Foreign languages are becoming less and less "foreign" every day

The importance of learning foreign languages is getting a lot of attention these days, and one big reason is that the places where these languages are spoken are getting less and less "foreign" every day.

And, according to Eduardo Scheel of Cooke County College, the time is coming soon when learning a foreign language may be almost as important as learning to communicate among ourselves in English.

"This is a lesson that was learned by people in the European countries generations ago," he says. "Because their 'foreign' neighbors were so close geographically, they had to become multi-lingual out of practical necessity. In some cases, it was a matter of survival, economic and otherwise."

Like it or not, the U.S. is facing the same necessity now, Scheel adds, pointing out that jet planes and sophisticated communications technology has shrunk the planet to such a degree that virtually all countries are now essentially "next-door neighbors."

"It is simply a fact that no country, including the U.S., can realistically hope to keep pace for very much longer by stubbornly maintaining a policy of isolationism," he says, "whether it's geographic, political, industrial, cultural, social or economic."

Scheel, teacher of German and Spanish in CCC's Foreign Languages Department, is convinced that the last, and possibly most important, obstacle in the way of eliminating such an isolationist philosophy is the stubborn refusal of most Americans to accept the importance of foreign language learning.

Apparently, many national government leaders agree with him. In fact, renewed emphasis on foreign language learning in American schools is being called for as a matter of national security.

Two years ago, a special Presidential Commission strongly recommended the reinstatement of foreign language courses as a requirement for graduation in U.S. secondary schools and colleges, terming Americans' incompetence in foreign languages "scandalous."

In its final report, the President's Commission on Foreign Languages and International Studies implied strongly that much of this dwindling competence could be traced directly to what it called "epidemic elimination" of foreign language requirements in U.S. schools over recent years.

Scheel says that the commission pulled no punches on this point, saying in its final report:

"Nothing less is at issue than the nation's security. At a time when the resurgent forces of nationalism and of ethnic and linguistic consciousness so directly affect global realities, the United States requires far more reliable capacities to communicate with its allies, analyze the behavior of potential adversaries and earn the trust and sympathies of the uncommitted."

"This kind of political rhetoric may not mean much to the average man in the street," says Scheel, "but one thing we can all understand is something that affects us in the pocketbook."

"The importance of learning foreign languages, for example, can be seen vividly in the area of business and commerce because so much business today is conducted on international levels. It is affecting everyone from corporation presidents on down to factory workers and sales clerks."

He adds that this reality is becoming more and more apparent at the local level, right here at home.

"I have been working more and more with local business and industry in recent years, translating correspondence and other communications from foreign customers," he says. "I'm certain that these local businessmen would agree that a working knowledge of a foreign language would be of immense benefit to them in their business dealings."

Scheel maintains, in fact, that such knowledge will, in many areas of business and commerce, soon become as necessary a basic tool as knowledge of accounting principles, marketing strategies and manufacturing techniques. The same is true, he says, in such areas as law, medicine, education and — especially — government.

Because of his own ethnic background, which encompasses not one but three different languages and cultures, Scheel admits that it is not always possible for him to view this renewed emphasis on foreign language learning objectively.

"On the one hand, the study of languages has been a very important part of my life on a personal level," he says. "I see it as a means of opening up whole new worlds."

"Being able to communicate with people from other countries and cultures in their own languages is, to me, not only tremendously interesting but also a lot of fun."

"That aspect of foreign language is something I try very hard to pass along to my students. I want them to discover that learning another language can be enjoyable as well as beneficial to them personally as citizens of today's international community."

Therefore, Scheel says he welcomes any move that will get more students into foreign language classrooms. However, he views it as unfortunate that students may feel compelled or "forced" to take foreign language courses should they become necessary requirements for graduation.

Recognizing that many students may view the learning of a foreign language as tedious and difficult, Scheel says that this simply is not necessarily so. Good, competent instruction, coupled with a student's willingness to learn, he says, can make a world of difference.

"We're very proud of the foreign languages program here at Cooke County College," he says. "One of the primary reasons is that we're able to offer individualized instruction because of our comparatively small classes. This enables us to tailor our teaching more to the individual needs and aptitudes of each student."

At CCC, students may choose from among three foreign languages — French, Spanish and German. During the coming Fall 1983 semester, elementary level courses will be offered in all three. This summer, both beginning and advanced courses in Spanish will be offered.

Persons wishing to learn more about the foreign languages program at Cooke County College may contact Scheel or the CCC Counseling Center at 817/668-7731.

CCC gives creative writing awards

A poet, novelist and publisher will address winners of this year's Creative Writing Awards Competition sponsored by Cooke County College at the formal awards ceremony on April 21.

"No, there won't be three featured speakers at the awards ceremony this year," says competition director Dr. Joe Murphey of the CCC English faculty. "They're all the same man."

He is Paul Foreman of Austin, a successful poet and novelist who also runs his own literary publishing company.

His company, Thorp Springs Press, is named for the place where he grew up on the Brazos River near Granbury. Through his company, Foreman has published "Hyperion Poetry Journal" for several years.

In addition, he has published "Travois," an anthology of Southwest poetry, and several books of his own poetry including "Red Wing Blackbird" and "Texas Live Oak" and, most recently, "The Unknown Law."

Educated at Pepperdine College and at both the Los Angeles and Berkeley campuses of the University of California, Foreman worked for several years at Berkeley under reknowned writing teacher Josephine Miles.

"Like many of our best writers," says Dr. Murphey, "Foreman has drawn from a rich and varied background of life experiences, including service in the U.S. Navy and several years as a Los Angeles police officer."

Foreman reports that he moved back to Texas mainly for the sake of his children, wanting to give them the experience of growing up in the state's "rich and healthy environment for both mind and body."

Foreman's novels include "Sugarland," about Texas prisons, and the just published "Quanah: The Serpent Eagle," about the Comanche-Shoshone warrior who figured so prominently in the Panhandle War, last of the Indian uprisings.

"This book does a wonderful job of delineating the principal characters in this uprising, Quanah and MacKinzie," says Dr. Murphey. "It answers a long-awaited need for the true story of this significant moment in Southwest history."

The book has been praised also by noted Texas author Larry McMurtry as well as by writers Frederick Manfred and Frank Waters for its excellent characterization of Quanah.

The general public is invited to hear Foreman at the Awards Day Ceremony scheduled for 10 a.m. on April 21 (Thursday) in the Activities Center on the CCC campus.

Exchanging students and lifestyles

Would your family be willing to welcome an international high school student into your home during the coming school year?

By sharing their daily life with a student from another country, the members of your family will have the unique opportunity to learn about a different culture through another person's eyes, while deepening their appreciation of their own country by introducing America to someone new.

The only requirement for becoming a host family is a willingness to accept a young person from another country into the everyday life of your family, so the student and family members can share an enriching experience. The host family provides meals and room, companionship and love.

Youth for Understanding, a non-profit international student exchange organization, is now seeking U.S. host families for incoming students from Europe, South America, Asia, and Australia for a year of study in local schools. Annually, host families throughout the U.S. open their homes and hearts to international students, aged 14 to 18, who will be living here for a year as "ambassadors of friendship" between diverse nations and cultures.

Youth for Understanding receives funds from the U.S. Dept. of State in support of its efforts to promote world citizenship and understanding through teenage student exchange opportunities.

English-speaking international students seek to live the "ordinary" life of an American teen; American students can also spend a scholastic year in a different country, living with a host family there.

For further information on Youth for Understanding's programs, contact: Mrs. Polly Earnhart, Whitesboro, Texas, Phone: (214) 564-3182 or Mrs. Jan Britian, Whitesboro, Texas, Phone (214) 564-3980 after 4 p.m. weekdays or anytime weekends.

There's more to history than history books

Students in a special English class at Cooke County College are learning that just opening a book doesn't necessarily open the door to history.

"History is two things," says Louise Addington, raconteur and librarian at Nocona Public Library. "There is what is a matter of record and gets written down in the history books, and there is what is known by the people but is not recorded."

So said Ms. Addington while acting as guide for a special CCC class in Cowboy Literature during a field trip sponsored by the class instructor, Dr. Ona Wright, and fellow teacher Ann Waggoman.

The class was studying the Chisholm Trail and Red River station in relationship to the five major works examined in the course dealing with Southwestern American literature.

First stop on the field trip was the Stonewall Saloon in Saint Jo. Stan Field, Saint Jo banker, arranged for the museum to be open and for poet and museum guide Boyd Whitson to greet the students.

Dr. Wright reports that the Stonewall Saloon was built in 1873 by Capt. I.H. Boggess and was the town's first permanent building. Trail drivers along the Chisholm Trail patronized the saloon on the first floor and a rooming house on the second floor. After 1897, it was the site of office and a bank. The bank vault still remains and is used for storage.

Students learned that the late H.D. Field was prime mover in restoring the building in 1958 for a centennial of Montague County. A 100-year-old bar and other antiques were brought into the building, along with many other items of historical interest. At the Nocona Library, Ms. Addington greeted the group with copies of a map drawn in the 1870's. She told about the physical layouts of Spanish Fort, Red River station and nearby Belcherville, spicing the information with anecdotes about early settlers, Indians, cattle and buffalo.

Ms. Addington, in fact, was born at Red River station and, as a small child, saw the last herd of cattle cross the Red River on its way to market.

"Pay attention to the old timers," Ms. Addington advised the students. "Record and remember what they say. You won't find that information in the books, but it is often more valuable and more accurate than what you can read."

She then gave some examples of Indian sign language and told about her father's experiences with the Indians when he was little boy. As an old man, she reported, her father jumped up one day from churning to demonstrate an Indian song and dance. She regretted how she had discounted the demonstration instead of remembering it for future generations.

At Spanish Fort, the CCC class saw the historical marker, the site of a hotel, a saloon and the site of the fort itself. At Red River station, main stops were the buffalo wallow (which served as a clue to the best location for a river crossing), the ferry, Mollie Love's hotel and the blacksmith's shop.

Belcherville, a stop on the return trip, was once the site of a three-story school of considerable importance.

Stenholm plans art competition

Congressman Charles Stenholm announced plans today for an art competition for high school students, grades 9 through 12, in the 17th Congressional District. The winning entry will be displayed later this year in a national exhibition in the corridor leading to the United States Capitol.

According to Congressman Stenholm, the art competition is part of AN ARTISTIC DISCOVERY, a nationwide activity initiated by members of the United States House of Representatives to recognize the creative talents of young people.

"I believe that no group of Americans is more creative, expressive, and curious about our society than our young people," said Congressman Stenholm.

The competition, to be conducted at no expense to the Federal government, is open to any high school student in the 17th District. Artwork must be no larger than 30" x 30" (unframed), and two-dimensional. Eligible categories are painting, drawings, collages, and prints.

A regional show, scheduled in Gainesville for Thursday, May 5th, is one of eight (8) to be held over the district prior to the District Show in Abilene on May 14th. Students in Cooke, Jack, Montague, and Wise counties are urged to contact Jo Ann Powell Fine Art studio in Gainesville, 201 Lindsay Street. Judging will follow and five (5) top winners will be entered in the District Show.

Hearing Loss Is Not A Sign Of Old Age.

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of one of the smallest Beltone aids of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this model, put it on and wear it in the privacy of your own home. While many people with a hearing loss will not receive any significant benefit from any hearing aid, this free model will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It is not a real hearing aid, and it's yours to keep free. The actual aid weighs less than a fourth of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Department 51380, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 West Victoria Street, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

COOKE COUNTY CULTURE

Members of the Cooke County Symphony and Chorale brought their polished sounds to Muenster last Sunday and turned in an equally polished performance of "The Requiem" by Faure and "Gloria" by Vivaldi. The chorale is composed of residents of Cooke County and the Symphony is made up mostly of Denton musicians. The group's first performance was held in 1978 with "Messiah", which has become their staple performance every year since. Their Sunday performance closed out a fifth full season.

This week's special - Taco Links
 Here's a new creation of our sausage maker, Helmut. Being proud is one thing; being realistic is another! Helmut loves to make his German sausages and likes to see them moving. He knows that not everyone likes German sausage; that is why he creates new items. He thinks people will like it in this part of the country. Spicy, hearty sausage with a good smoke on it - that is our "Taco Link". It is an all meat product with cubed cheddar cheese and Jalapeno peppers inside - in other words, "It's a high class 'hot link'!"

Michael Walter receives Ad Altari Dei Award

Michael Walter was one of two Boy Scouts in the Diocese of Fort Worth, receiving the Ad Altari Dei Award Sunday, when Bishop Joseph P. Delaney presided for formal ceremonies in St. Patrick's Cathedral in Fort Worth, during the 14th annual event.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Walter and a member of Muenster Boy Scout Troop 664.

The award ceremony began at 3 p.m. with the entrance procession in which all boys and girls receiving awards, participated. Accompanying Michael were two scouts, Jason Gehrig, and Ryan Bayer, as flag bearers.

Father John Hennessy gave the welcome, and blessing of the awards followed. Most Rev. Joseph P. Delaney, Bishop of the Fort Worth Diocese, conducted the presentation of five awards: I Live My Faith, Ad Altari Dei, Bronze Pelican, Marian Medal and St. George and St. Anne Awards. Recipients were 8 Girl Scouts, 2 Boy Scouts, 37 adult leaders of Boy Scouts of America and 17 adult leaders of Girl Scouts and Camp Fire.

Bishop Delaney spoke briefly and Father John Hennessy gave the homily. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was followed by singing of the National Anthem.

In addition to his parents and two scouts, Michael Walter was accompanied by his sisters, Michelle and Jennifer; his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Walter; and aunts and cousins, Mrs. Alice Hellman and Rhonda and Christy, Sharon Daugherty, Carmen Daugherty, Waylen and Anne Poole and Father Denis Soerries.

Meeting them at the cathedral were uncles, aunts and cousins Rodney and Libby Walter and son Bill; and David and Ann Walter and daughters Sally and Lisa. Joining them was Reece Parten, assistant to the Muenster Scoutmaster.

All were supper guests in the David Walter home, where the table held two special cakes, one honoring Michael and the other as a birthday surprise for Mrs. Oscar Walter.

SCHOOL NEWS

Free Enterprise class has interviews

The Free Enterprise class at Muenster High School was interviewed by professional businessmen from the Gainesville area on Wednesday April 13. Each student completed an application and wrote a resume on Tuesday, prior to the interview. The next day each student was interviewed individually by one of the businessmen as a future employee.

When the interviews were completed, the six businessmen gave an oral critique to the class giving strong and weak points that the students should have or should improve upon when they actually go for an interview. The panel stressed neatness of appearance and penmanship, courtesy and positive attitude. The interviewers were very complimentary about the students having established goals for the future, whether to attend college or to enter the employment field.

The interviewers and the firms they represent were Roger Morales, K-Mart; Jerry Culwell, Gainesville Memorial Hospital; Mike Murphy, Texas Power and Light; Johnny Leftwich, Dustin Office Supply; Rick Williams, National Supply; and Pat Hardin, Tom Thumb Place.

This project was sponsored by the 4-H chapter of Cooke County.

IF IT'S TIME TO REPLACE YOUR CENTRAL AIR CONDITIONER, DON'T WASTE YOUR ENERGY.
Not all central air conditioners are energy efficient. Some are just as inefficient as the ones built twenty years ago. But if you buy a high efficiency air conditioner, you'll save money in the long run on operating costs.
And buying an energy efficient air conditioner could also earn you a bonus from Texas Power & Light. Just buy a central air conditioner with the qualifying SEER*, and we'll send you a check worth at least $40 per ton of capacity.
So now, buying an energy efficient unit will save you money in two ways. First, with lower operating costs. And second, with TP&L's bonus check.
For more information about our Bonus Program, give the energy experts at TP&L a call. The sooner you do, the sooner you'll enjoy lower cooling costs and get a bonus check on top of it.

IN THANKS

We wish to extend our sincerest thanks for all the kindnesses shown upon the death of Aunt Mary. The lovely flowers, Mass donations, and food were deeply appreciated. A very special thanks to St. Richard's Villa and all their workers for the loving care they gave her the last several years; to the choral group for the beautiful singing; the Reverend Fathers for the memorable service; and to all the ladies who prepared and served the meal—we are sincerely grateful.

Farm & Ranch

The most widely grown vegetable in Texas gardens is the tomato. However, this popular vegetable is also subject to a number of diseases. Each year here in Cooke County we start out with nice transplants and before we know it leaves wither, turn mottled, and plants lose vigor.

The first disease problem that most homeowners face with tomatoes is damping off. Planting in warm, well-drained soil and spraying with the fungicide Captan when the disease occurs will help control this disease. Many times we get to anxious and plant too early.

Fusarium wilt is another common disease problem in tomatoes. The only control is the use of wilt resistant varieties. These include Spring Giant, Spring Set, Terrific, Better Boy, Big Set, Homestead 24, Homestead Elite, Small Fry and Monte Grande. Small Fry is a cherry type tomato. When purchasing transplants, look for the letters VFN. This represents resistance to verticillium and fusarium wilt and root knot nematodes.

Root knot nematodes also attack tomatoes. Resistant varieties are the most effective means of reducing losses to these microscopic pests. Such varieties include Nematex, Terrific, Big Set, Better Boy and Small Fry. If you feel nematodes might have caused you a problem in the past, just dig up an unhealthy plant and examine it for the knots that will appear on the root.

Among common foliage diseases attacking tomatoes are early blight, late blight, Septoria leaf spot, gray leaf spot and Anthracnose. These can best be controlled by foliar sprays of an acceptable fungicide such as Maneb, Captan or Zineb. Begin applications when the disease first appears and continue at 7-to-10-day intervals for three to four applications.

Fruit decay may also set in as tomatoes near maturity. The most effective control of this condition is to use a cage or mulch of some type to keep fruit from touching the soil. Foliar fungicides will also aid in controlling various fruit rots.

As is readily evident, a great deal of time and effort are required to produce beautiful, delicious tomatoes, with particular attention needed to control of diseases.

It pays to topdress pastures.

Pastures are too often overlooked in an otherwise comprehensive fertility program. The fact is, proper fertilization of pasture will greatly increase meat and milk production. You'll see faster weight gain, more pounds of gain per acre, a longer grazing season and greater carrying capacity. It can also dramatically increase your milk production.

Begin with a soil test. Then apply the fertilizer shown to be needed. Add lime, if your soil is found high in acidity.

Let our Fertilizer Specialist help you. He has the know-how and we have the materials. Come see us soon. We're ready when you are.

Competition only U.S. stop on world tour

World-class riders gather here for trials meet

By BERNIE FETTE

There's really nothing new about the fact that the motorcycle trails along the Red River, north of Muenster are popular with cyclists in this area. Residents of the city have pretty much gotten used to the sight of caravans of motor homes, vans and motorcycle trailers breezing through town on weekends, much the same way they saw them last weekend — with one exception.

Instead of driving in from Dallas, Wichita Falls and southern Oklahoma, many of these riders were arriving from Belgium, France, Italy, Germany and just about every other major country where motorcycling — particularly observed trials — is serious business.

The best trials riders in the United States and the World gathered Saturday and Sunday for the American round of the 1983 Wagner Cup — the finest of the finest in observed trials, a form of motorcycle competition that has not achieved the popularity (and probably never will) like that of motocross and cross country enduro, forms of racing that people here are much more familiar with.

It may seem a little unusual for a world championship of any kind to be held here, motorcycle-related or otherwise. But to understand why the Red River site was chosen, you first have to understand just what observed trials is.

Observed trials is to motorcycling what gymnastics is to exercise and, sometimes, what ballet is to dancing.

Observed trials is a test of both rider and motorcycle, emphasizing balance and agility, in which the rider attempts to negotiate a series of course sections, in this case 21 sections in a ten-mile course loop. The rider may sometimes start, stop, turn on a dime (literally) use the front wheel only or the back wheel only, and do just about everything but ride upside down in order to proceed from point A to point B. All during these separate challenges, the idea is to keep from falling and to keep from using the feet on the ground (dabbing) for balance and the object, as it is in golf, is to finish the Observed trials is to motorcycling what gymnastics is to exercise and, sometimes, what ballet is to dancing.

Please see Trails, page 14

Action at the Red River Motorcycle Park last weekend featured motorcycle riders from across the nation and around the world who were working toward being the best of the best in trials, a cycle sport which emphasizes agility and balance rather than speed. These riders are shown negotiating one of the 21 sections on the 10-mile long course.

SH sweeps TCIL district track

Sacred Heart's reign as TCIL district track champion, which started in 1977, continued last Saturday when both boys and girls swept the meet with big leads. By coincidence each had a total of 242 points. Other girls scores were Tyler Gorman 105, Amarillo Alamo 48 and Wichita Notre Dame 34. Other boys scores were Adams 125, Gorman 68 and Ennis St. John's 23.

The meet was held on the MHS track with generous volunteer help from SH fans.

With their enormous leads the teams qualified 10 boys and 11 girls for the state TCIL meet to be held at Houston on April 30. And the situation is improved considerably by having qualifiers entered in several events each. Coach John Bartush is elated and regards the opportunity as Sacred Heart's best ever for the state meet.

The Weedmaster® herbicide advantage: More grass for your cattle, without ragweed.

Put the power of your pasture into raising cattle, not weeds.

Cattle don't get the nutrition they need from weeds. Weeds are low in TDN. Some are poisonous. And some cause illness, even death. They're tough on your pasture too. Weeds take up space and sunlight. Rob valuable moisture and nutrients from high-energy forage grasses.

That's where Weedmaster® herbicide comes in. It penetrates weed leaves. Is absorbed by the roots. Moves throughout the plant for control of a wide spectrum of broadleaf weeds. Including annuals, biennials, perennials and woody species. Used according to label directions. Weedmaster herbicide knocks out many of your toughest broadleaf weed problems in pasture: ragweed... broomweed and many more.

With weeds out of the way, forage grasses flourish. The carrying capacity of your pasture increases. And that means more beef production per acre.

Ask your ag chem dealer for effective pasture weed control. And increase the carrying capacity of your pasture. Ask for Weedmaster herbicide.

MHS bows to Lindsay in track

In a thrilling neck and neck contest, Muenster's Hornets were nudged 126 to 118 in the district track meet on the MHS field Tuesday. That was the main part of the show as other team scores fell off sharply as follows: Alvord 64, Perrin 64, Paradise 41, Era 40, Brock 24, Slidell 18, Sraford 16, Poolville 8, Peaster 5.

The story was different in the junior high division as the Muenster lads dominated with a total of 185. Era was next with 92, then Lindsay 81, Alvord 72, Slidell 17, Forestburg 18. The junior meet included only the six members of the north zone, the high school meet all 12 members of the district.

Coach Leonard Peters and his staff were enthusiastic about both divisions of the meet. Peters said the Hornets did a great job in giving Lindsay's exceptional talent a hot contest, and he's happy about the upcoming juniors. They and the Hornet holdovers brighten the outlook for the team's future.

Superintendent Charles Coffey, district director, said the meet proceeded smoothly and he was especially thankful to all the volunteers who helped.

Trials

series of obstacles on the entire course with the least number of points possible.

Each dab earns the rider one point, until he or she receives three, after which no more are added. A spill or complete stop without an immediate start is an automatic five points and the maximum a rider can receive.

But now, of all the places in the United States to hold the only American stop on a world tour, why here?

Tom Batchelor, one of the event's coordinators and course clerks, said recently that the Red River site is ideal because it has the type of terrain needed in trials.

"The Red River site was selected for a number of reasons," Batchelor said. "For one thing, it was the largest area we could find on private land, which avoids the hassles of having to use county roads. The area has an excellent reputation."

One of the reasons it has an excellent reputation is because of the type of soil found there — very sandy. Batchelor said the Red River course could have been negotiated no matter how foul the weather may have been. It would be awfully difficult to conduct the competition in an area of black soil and limestone if the weather were to turn foul.

"Another reason is Mr. (Prentiss) Harris," he said. "He's really one of a kind. You couldn't ask for a nicer person to work with." Harris owns the land where the competition was held.

Batchelor wasn't the only one happy with the course and the way things worked out. He said the foreign visitors were particularly pleased with the area. "And these guys are among the best in the world in what they do," he said. "So they should know."

The only disappointment to the world-class riders was that the course could have been slightly more challenging, but since the national championship and world championship were conducted on the same course, the difficulty had to be held down a little since the United States riders aren't quite as accomplished.

That fact was evident in comparing the scores between the two days.

The ultimate accomplishment for a rider on a single section is to negotiate the section without being assessed a single point, a feat termed a "clean." There were certainly a lot more of those on Sunday, Batchelor said. "The things some of those guys (world-class riders) can do on a motorcycle is just incredible."

But perhaps the biggest evident difference is noticed when comparing the atmosphere between trials competitions and other forms of motorcycling, particularly motocross and flat track racing. Constant high speeds, high tensions and a high risk of injury are trademarks of motocross.

Spectators at last weekend's competition could sit within five feet of any of the many course sections, sip a coke or a beer, encourage a rider along the course, clap when he or she did a good job and moan when the rider fell. Many of the spectators were friends and/or relatives of the riders. (It's usually a dead giveaway when one of the spectators says to the two-year-old she's holding "Clap for daddy, sweetheart!")

But that's just the family orientation Batchelor says the sport has developed in the past few years. Trials is less noisy and a lot more laid-back than other forms of motorcycling. And because there's no prize money involved, its participants stay with it purely for the fun of it. Some riders in other countries are paid by their sponsors, he said, but there are no cash prizes involved in the competitions, only trophies. That's why only "true enthusiasts" follow the sport, he said.

Observed trials isn't all that popular as a spectator sport, and probably never will be, Batchelor says, although it's popularity is on the rise.

Other forms of motorcycle racing allow spectators the chance to sit and watch the entire event from one spot. Being a spectator of trials means you have to do some walking, some sitting on rocks and tree stumps if you sit at all, and if you're close enough to the riders, you may get dusted occasionally.

Some people would rather sit in a nice, comfortable seat.

But that's OK. Regardless of whether the sport ever becomes as popular as motocross, trials riders will keep on enjoying what they do — just as they did here last weekend.

Wonderful weather and efficient organization combined to make the whole event a rousing success — without a single major problem. Well, maybe a small one here and there.

After all, there's bound to be a minor misunderstanding on occasion with that many different cultures and languages gathered in one place. But some national customs just don't work as well in some countries as they may at home.

So when one French rider tried to gain admittance to the park by kissing the hand of the young, female ticket taker, he may have been somewhat surprised to hear "Sorry, buster, but that ain't gonna do it. You're in Texas now and you're gonna have to pay to get in here."

Still, the consensus opinion was favorable, all things considered.

"Next year's competition will be in New York," Batchelor said. "But we'll be back, you can bet on that."
