Thomas Sowell, a black and a senior fellow at the Hoover Institution of Stanford University, presented a surprising fact in one of his recent syndicated columns.

He said "A few years ago someone calculated how much it would cost to lift every man, woman and child in America out of poverty by simply giving them money. It was one third of what was being spent on poverty programs."

President Reagan must have had this thought in mind in last week's State of the Union address, which was featured by presentation of his new Federalism program. Actually this seems more like the old federalism in which the national government expected the states to take care of their local affairs while Washington gave its attention to national interests.

The president was asking for a return to this system, not only because local problems are the proper concern of local and state governments, but also because of the high cost of bureaucratic administration. The suggestion was to transfer some 40 programs to the states, and White House sources indicate those are likely to include social, health and nutrition services; local transportation; community development, and education. In the process the departments of Education and Energy are marked for extinction.

It is understood that the transfer of responsibilities will start with a transfer of funds from the federal government, but the eventual goal is for states and local governments to take over the programs, thereby relieving the national government of a sizeable part of its operating expense. This will be reflected in a proportional reduction of federal tax and also a reduction of regulations...one of the several goals originally proposed by the president.

Referring to the statement by Thomas Sowell, it appears that one third of the present welfare payments actually go to poverty relief and the balance is used for administration and payments to greedy as well as to needy. We can envision that closer contacts resulting from local administration will greatly reduce graft and waste, and elimination of the federal bureaucracy will reduce the program's cost enormously.

The same can be said for other programs on the transfer list. For instance education, transportation, community improvement, etc. Opportunities for savings increase when projects are under the supervision of local and state officials who not only are more familiar with needs, but also in closer contact with people who administer the programs. It makes a difference too that local people will be concerned about local funds and not just dipping into the vast federal fund. And again, there will be enormous savings in cutting out the thousands of bureaucrats now at the top of federal programs.

The subject has other important considerations, such as ending the influence of federal bureaucrats, specifically the Department of Education demanding observance of liberal and often far-out theories when local people prefer to stand by old beliefs and traditions. Grass roots America in general doesn't like having its convictions violated by this new "intellectual elite" who seem to be harming the country more than helping.

There are many, many reasons for the new federalism requested by Reagan. In a word it might be said,

Tigerettes are zone champs

Tigerettes of Sacred Heart High took their first step toward state playoffs in TCIL Class 3-A Friday night by demolishing Alamo High of Amarillo 65-32. Thereby they became champs of the north zone of District 3 awaiting a playoff this weekend for the district trophy.

Their opponent will be St. John's of Ennis who won the South Zone championship by a 36-32 win over Tyler Gorman Monday night. The game will be played at Lewisville High School Saturday, 1 p.m.

The Tigerettes earned their zone title with a perfect record of 6-0. They started with a pair of wins over

Alamo, then followed with a pair over Notre Dame for a regular season of 4-0. That was half the job, the other half still to be determined by the zone tournament last weekend at Sacred Heart. The Tigerettes won that too,

Jim Muller is JP candidate

Jimmie (Jim) Muller has filed for the Democratic nomination for Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1 Place 2. Muller, a native of Cooke County, attended school at Era and is the son of Loyce and the late Servia Muller.

He is a Vietnam veteran who served 21 years in the Air Force working in aircraft maintenance and educational administration. He is presently with the Cooke County Sheriff's Office. He has 3 years of college gained through the Air Force and off duty studies.

He believes that the experience he has gained in the service and while working for the Sheriff's office will enhance his ability to do a good job as Justice of the Peace for the people of Precinct 1.

sewing up the zone title. And they can take the district trophy by winning this weekend, thereby qualifying for the state championship playoff at the San Antonio Hemisfair. That's how far Sacred Heart's winning streak went last year. As seen by Coach Jon LeBrasseur, their success and plush Hemisfair surroundings were too much, and they lost both games. Their goal then was to get there. The goal this time is to win. Their present season record is 16-9.

Muller says he is looking forward to renewing old acquaintances and friendships in and around Muenster during the upcoming campaign.

At first it seemed that SH had an oversize job on its hands Friday. The Mustangs of Alamo started like a whirlwind, taking a lead of 10-0 before the Tigerettes scratched, and still leading 12-10 at the first quarter. But then SH took charge and dominated the rest of the game. At the half the Tigerettes were ahead 29-16. Ending the third they were 48-22 and at the end they were 65-32. A big factor in the runaway was 24 offensive rebounds whereby the girls constantly got second and third shots at the goal.

Carol Walterscheid was the MVP with 19 points and 19 rebounds. Connie Stoffels got 10 points and 10 rebounds, Susan Walterscheid scored 20 and rebounded 8, Anne Felderhoff got 16 points, 8 steals and 4 assists.

Council declines transfer of rate jurisdiction to PUC

The City of Muenster decided at its council meeting Monday night to retain its jurisdiction over utility rates rather than transfer them to the Public Utility Commission.

The issue refers to the second reading of a request made by TP&L to let rates be decided directly by PUC rather than deal directly with each separate city. The suggestion was based on the fact that the PUC decision is final regardless of what the cities do. TP&L's position was supported by Tom Parsons and Larry Kinard.

Muenster councilmen, agreeing that they can be overruled by PUC, chose nevertheless to keep in touch with proposed rate changes and to present objections when justified. In these times, when rights are being crowded out by regulations, they want to make their decisions as long as they can.

On another issue on rates the council was agreeable with Mike Sloan of Cooke County Electric Co-op on a change of ordinance including a purchase power clause as well as a fuel adjustment clause. The city's decision will be made after second and third reading of the proposal.

Another request for rate change was presented by Alvin Fuhrman of Muenster Telephone Corp. He asked for an increase from $6 to $8 a month for cable TV service, also changes for related services like adding or changing an outlet or repairing a break. Formerly an over-all charge of $20, the suggested charge is $5 for each item of service and a possible maximum of $27.50. In many cases this change will cost the customer less than before.

The council approved paying $1053.43 to the Cooke County Tax Appraisal District for the first quarter of its services in

Also it re-appointed David Bright and Mike Sloan to the Muenster Water Board. Others on the board are Henry Weinzapfel, Ken McDougle and Al Walter.

And it appointed Sue Trachta and Pauline Stelzer to the library board to serve with Len and Patsy Bayer and Jim Hoedebeck.

Allowing Ben Martinez to move a house into town, the council re-zoned his site from R1 to B2.

Muenster will vote April 3 on council and bingo

Muenster will vote on councilmen and bingo on Saturday, April 3. The election was ordered Monday night at the regular meeting of the Muenster city council.

Vacancies to be filled are those created by the expiring terms of David Fette, place 1; Aubrey Tuggle, place 2; and Bertha Hamric, place 4. None of the incumbents has indicated an intention to seek re-election, and no other candidates have announced to date.

The election's second ballot will be on the issue of legalizing bingo in Muenster. Legalization was authorized in the last session of the state legislature subject to local option approval and to be conducted by a non profit organization.

If voters favor bingo on April 3 it will mean that local non-profit organizations are permitted to secure a bingo operator's license and to renew it annually.

IRS raises interest rates and penalties on delinquent taxes

Agricultural producers and others who handle their own tax and Social Security reports face higher interest rates on delinquent taxes and penalties for failing to file certain information forms.

Beginning Feb. 1, the Internal Revenue Service will start charging a 20 percent annual interest rate (up from 12 percent) on delinquent tax accounts as a result of the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981. At the same time, the IRS will also pay the same 20 percent interest on overpayments.

The new, higher rates will apply to the underpayment of individual and corporate estimated taxes and most other tax law provisions imposing interest," points out Dr. Ashley C. Lovell of Stephenville, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The new interest rate will be determined each Oct. 15 and will go into effect the following Jan. 1. It will be based on 100 percent of the average prime interest rate for the preceding month-September.

"The new 20 percent rate means that many taxpayer who previously borrowed from the U.S. Treasury

Winter of 1945 recalled

These PHOTOS FROM THE PAST show an ice storm that struck in Muenster in late February 1945 isolating the community, causing incredible damage, closing schools, downing phone and power lines, destroying large trees and leading to a number of serious falls. These pictures furnished by Mary Becker show telephone poles and ice-laden wires in front of the old Parish Hall, large trees in front of the former Lena Kleiss home and long icicles "festooning" fences and roofs, and shrubs. All the pictures were made on Main St. How many of you can remember the decorative iron fence in front of the Parish Hall? Its a cinch that many of us have not forgotten that ice storm.

"Editor's Note"

While winter has been pounding much of the nation with the most severe weather on record, Muenster has had relatively mild weather and little discomfort. However, it can recall rougher times, as told here in an article reprinted from The Enterprise of March 9, 1945. The Arctic blast was regarded as the worst of the City's 56-year history.

Muenster was still without telephone or telegraph communication with the outside world this week, Wednesday and a portion of the city was still without electric power as a result of the worst ice storm this sector ever experienced. This week, however, saw the beginning of reconstructing the havoc wrought by the fury of winter which paralyzed and isolated this community on Feb. 27 and several days thereafter.

The city was without electric service from 2:45 a.m. Tuesday (Feb. 27) until late Saturday evening when service was restored in a small portion comprising most of Main street. The business area at that time was cut-in on the emergency line from Nocona. Most severely hit by the arctic elements was the area from Muenster through Gainesville, Sherman and Denison.

No Water Supply
The worst effect of the storm was felt locally by a cut-off of the city water supply. A dwindling amount in the city tank was exhausted by Tuesday night (Feb. 27) and the pump, operated by electricity, stood idle while the city was totally without water. For three days and three nights this condition existed. Except for water secured by melting ice and that obtained in small amounts from George Mollenkopf through arrangements he made with the city of Saint Jo to truck a load of water a day to Muenster, local residents did without. Mollenkopf delivered on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and most citizens obtained enough for drinking and cooking purposes.

Cheese Plant Paralyzed
Thousands of dollars were lost by farmers and dairymen of this area while the cheese plant at the FMA stood idle because of lack of current to operate. Late Thursday (Mar. 1) Plant Manager Rudy Hellman secured a portable electric unit and milk was accepted Friday for the first time since the preceding Monday. That same night, after plant hours, the unit was hooked up to the city water pump and water again flowed in the city lines. It was exhausted by Saturday noon and not until Sunday, when regular pumping began was the supply back to normal.

Schools Dismissed
Both local schools dismissed Tuesday morning (Feb. 27) principally because as a result of lack of water the sewer system was thrown out of commission. Classes were not resumed until this week Monday.

Huddle About Lamps
So severely damaged were TP&L Company's lines and poles that not one home in the city or in the country had lights. Residents huddled about kerosene lamps and candles in hundreds of homes, and in some sections of the city current had not been restored by Wednesday this week. Tuesday, however, saw the restoration of electric power to most city homes. For the rural districts, serviced by REA, current will not be available for several days generally, while some areas will require weeks to repair before the line can be energized.

Telephone System Down
The Muenster Telephone Company suffered almost total loss throughout the sector as poles bearing both lines and cables crashed like toothpicks, under the weight of ice coats. Only a dozen inter-city lines were operating this week, up to Wednesday, while most business houses and city homes are still without service prospects are not bright for resumption of service for several days in the city, while in some portions of the country it will require the work of many weeks to restore service.

Looking Ahead

NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

Term Limitation

The Gallup Poll has disclosed that 60 percent of the American people favor limiting terms in Congress to 12 years, six two year terms in the House and two six-year terms in the Senate.

Both Presidents Truman and Eisenhower supported such congressional term limitation. In an article in "Reader's Digest," George Gallup quotes Eisenhower: "Each man so serving would tend to think of his Congressional career as an important and exciting interlude in his life, a period dedicated to the entire public rather than as a way of making a living. The members would probably give more attention to national good and less to their personal political fortunes."

Writing in the "Saturday Evening Post" last year, Richard DeVos and Jay Van Andel of Amway, spoke out on this subject. They reported that "According to a Louis Harris poll, in 1978 only 9 percent of those asked expressed a great deal of confidence in congressional leadership. A Gallup survey at election time that year showed only 28 percent of the people approved of the way Congress was doing its job..."

These surveys document the low opinion of the Congress held by most people, yet a very high percentage of incumbent congressmen are reelected year after year. Here is how DeVos and Van Andel explain that:

"The principal goal of most incumbents in the Congress is to be reelected. In the past quarter-century they have voted themselves campaign advantages which make it extremely difficult for challengers to unseat them: free mailings worth more than half a million dollars, large staffs in Washington and in their home states, sophisticated research facilities, subsidized radio and television production facilities and access to the heavy concentration of media people who focus on Washington."

The authors went on to say that we have replaced citizen legislators with career politicians and quote Senator DeConcini who said:

"I strongly believe that our Founding Fathers desired that the legislature be truly representative of the people. This demands, in my view, that there be a fairly frequent change in personnel in the legislature. I believe we would all benefit by a system of citizen legislature - men and women who come to government briefly, bringing their varied experiences to bear on current problems, and who then return to live with the consequences they have made."

The Foundation for the Study of Presidential and Congressional Terms in Washington, D.C., is studying the various alternatives to our present system of unlimited terms. They are conducting an open-ended dialog with thought leaders and opinion molders across the country encouraging the public to look closely at the issues.

The Foundation reports that "The limitation of terms is an issue that has stayed alive because Americans mistrust power."

"Responding to concerns for the way in which policies of our federal government are dominated by political motivations, the Foundation has been organized to examine the extent to which public policies are affected by the quest to be reelected."

"The Foundation is examining three Constitutional Amendments that have been offered to remedy what their authors see as inherent problems in Congressional and Presidential tenure. These amendments would:

"1. Limit the number of years a member of Congress may serve in office.

"2. Extend a Representative's term to three or four years.

"3. Establish a single, six-year term for the President."

Congressional Comment

Washington, D.C. - The President gave his first State of the Union address before Congress this week, formerly marking the opening of the second session of the 97th Congress.

The highlight of the address was, of course, announcement of the President's "new Federalism" program. Until details of this new approach to the problems caused by centralized government are hammered out, I will reserve total judgement, but I do support the general objective-transferring more control of "people programs" back to the "People level": State and local government.

I don't think there is much doubt that programs that respond to the individual needs of the people can best be designed and administered on the state and local level. The Federal government has grown, during the past decade, into an obese and unruly beast that doesn't seem to heed any master's attempts at discipline. For too long the American taxpayer has paid through the nose for that additional blubber, while the beast rumbles on its way.

During the last session, we made some very real beginnings at curbing the growth of that unruly monster, but the task is far from finished. Underneath that layer of unnecessary fat is the solid structure of programs that meet very real, human needs. A compassionate government - whether federal or state - must not lose sight of our responsibility to help those unable to help themselves. We must be very, very sure that those needs continue to be met, but in the most efficient and responsive way possible.

It would be simplistic to think that such changes could be made without careful study and full cooperation and input from state and local officials. I do believe, however, that the President's program can open necessary dialogue between all factions to lay the groundwork for what I think would be one of the most important changes in government in several decades.

I would mention again the personal test I use in consideration of all government programs: Is it necessary? Can we afford it? Can the problem best be handled at the state or local level?

In other issues more directly relating to the current economy, the President reiterated his opposition to any increase in taxes during the present recession. I agree, in principle, even though I continue to be gravely concerned about the growing federal deficit. I do not believe we can tolerate a national deficit of $100 billion nor economically survive the effects of high deficits on interest rates. That means more spending cuts are needed if we are to narrow that deficit.

Our work here in Capitol Hill has just begun and from the looks of it, this session will probably make last year look easy.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
122 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

When Ronald Reagan took office a year ago, he promised the American people a "New Federalism," a state-federal partnership which would return to the states the powers and responsibilities that belong to them.

This year, in his State of the Union Address, the President outlined a program which will take us a long distance toward the "New Federalism" goal. Under this plan, the states would take over responsibilities for two major domestic programs, Aid to Families with Dependent Children and Food Stamps. This would allow administration and formulation of the aid programs to be at the local level where they can be more effective and more efficient. In return, the federal government would take on the considerable burden of Medicaid.

Further, more than 40 federal grant programs would be turned back to the state where they could be oriented toward local community needs and their services delivered more efficiently. To finance these programs, federal excise tax revenues would provide a trust fund - initially to provide money for the entire current cost and then to be phased out at a gradual rate, thus, we would be allowing the states the means and the time to absorb these new - or renewed - responsibilities.

This $28 billion federalism trust fund, and growing savings from Medicaid federalization from fiscal year 1984 to fiscal year 1987 would provide not only increasing revenue sources to finance new state program responsibilities, but also remove federal funding uncertainty for the rest of the decade. The states would have six years to determine best the mix of program savings and state tax increases before the federalism trust fund begin to phase out in fiscal year 1988.

Over the past two decades, we have overloaded the federal government with management and fiscal responsibilities. This program would restore the balance of state and federal responsibilities. This balance, after all, was the original function of the federal system outlined in our Constitution.

The federalism initiative also would largely abolish the existing, unworkable federal-state grant-in-aid system which tends to transform non-federal units into subordinate middle management extensions of the Washington bureaucracy.

In other ways, the move toward the New Federalism has begun. During the past year, we have cut the growth of new federal regulations nearly in half. We have begun looking at and modifying existing regulations which are counter-productive or cost-inefficient.

Let me emphasize, though, that neither the President nor the Congress wants the federal government to shirk the responsibilities that belong to it.

The President's federalism initiative leaves in federal hands domestic programs including the social insurance system of Social Security retirement, disability and Medicare; transfer aid to the needy elderly; health insurance and medical insurance, and projects of national significance such as Head Start, handicapped education, interstate highways and regulatory protections which interstate impact.

Hand-in hand with the Administration's domestic reforms is a sustained commitment to rebuilding our national defense capability. The significant and determining fact is that the domestic programs which would go back to the states can be handled more effectively at the level. National security can only be provided by the federal government. And that function is the most essential and most basic of federal functions.

We will continue to improve our national defense system to meet our solemn obligations to protect the American people and their vital interests in the world. We will continue to provide the basic "safety net" of domestic aid programs which have come to be a basic part of the American framework. We will continue to regulate those aspects of American commerce that affect the rights, health and safety of our citizens. But we will work to end federal meddling in those areas in which it is neither justified nor effective.

Police Report

The Muenster police department investigated the following incidents during the past week, according to Police Chief Helen Tompkins: 1 domestic quarrel, 1 theft of guitar out of a parked pickup, a front door glass of office at A-OK Motel kicked out, Tape player stolen at Dairy Inn but complainant would not file charges as it was recovered.

In addition the police answered a fire call, served 4 traffic citations and assisted 7 motorists.

Tax refunds due to small Texas Corporations

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Thursday that 16,000 small business corporations in Texas are in line for refunds ranging from $10 to $450 because they overpaid their corporate franchise taxes last year.

"A refund on taxes overpaid is just as important to us as a due bill on taxes underpaid," Bullock said of the refunds to small corporations who filed the franchise "long form" when the "short form" would have saved them money.

The businesses were identified by computer programs developed by Bullock's office to spot overpayments as well as tax delinquents.

A corporation with less than $1 million in assets that does 90 to 100 percent of its business in Texas is eligible to file the shorter return. However, the law requires that copies of a federal income tax return accompany the state short form.

Although these smallest corporations account for 18 percent of the 165,000 firms that pay the Texas franchise tax, they produced only about 1 percent of the government is too big for its britches. It has intruded into activities that are the responsibilities of state and local government, in which it is less qualified to give good service. And in its effort it has imposed extra expense and extra regulation. America will gain in lots of ways when the program becomes effective.

As expected, of course, the same objectors are howling again, with special concern for the poor people who will be caught in the crunch. It would be more correct to say that the wailing actually comes from bureaucrats and professional poverty people with fears of being kicked off the gravy train. Other beefing comes from liberal politicians who refuse to admit that their spendthrift ways caused our problems in the first place.

Those people refuse to be impressed by the fact that Welfare is costing $91 billion this year. Before LBJ launched his great Society in 1964, federal welfare cost only 8.8 billions, about 7 percent of the federal outlay. Now the cost is 10 times as high, about 13 percent of federal spending. Counting the "entitlements," like Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid and veterans benefits, the total pay by government to nearly 70 million people comes to more than $350 billion a year.

The new federalism is a great idea. It restores the original American concept that states and communities should carry local responsibility and the national government should be concerned with national security, foreign policy and other subjects involving the country as a whole.

The polls a few days after the State of the Union address told us the public strongly approves the president's talk. But the media, as usual, has been concentrating on fault finding. TV and the big dailies have featured stories on the hardships to be endured by the poor. Other sour comment casts doubts on the administration's ability to carry out the program successfully. In other times there would have been assurances that "when there's a will, there's a way."

Letter To The Editor:

My very dear friends,

By the time you read this message, nearly a month will have passed since my vacation in Switzerland. I am still very tired. It is not that my thoughts were not often with you during this interval of time, but they simply did not produce the intended letter to the Editor of The Muenster Enterprise. Besides, I found it this time, unusually difficult to acclimatize and get busy. Things simply did not want to move. Unpacking my luggage confronted me as an almost impossible task, until I finally said to myself: "It must go."

I had to employ the same words to make the accumulated mail diminish, as I took care of letters that needed a response. The same problem faces me now as I pen this message. I find difficulty in finding enough interesting material to write about, because I had really kept you pretty well informed about my life abroad.

I will write briefly about my return trip which seemed extremely long time-wise. It started in Zurich and highlighted Boston, Chicago and Memphis airwise and included the goal, Jonesboro which was finally reached car-wise.

AT 11:20 I was safely seated in a Swissair jet. I could wave good bye for a long time to my dear ones who had been brought to a place of advantage by a policeman, stationed at the airport, a nephew of one of our Swiss nuns. Finally the group left, but the craft did not. We were informed by the Pilot that some technical difficulty had to be rectified before the plane could take off. It was nearly 1:00 p.m. when it took off to the great relief of the passengers. But the delay had a damaging effect at least on me.

Desperately I watched a film; read The Life of Thomas Jefferson; said my Office; closed my eyes in the hope that sleep would engulf me for a while; talked with my fellow Sister, but she felt the same way as I did, even worse. She repeated over and over that she felt an immense difference in time of flight, to and from Switzerland. Understandable in a way! I suppose many of you have felt the same way after an extended vacation.

During the flight a message assured us that Swissair would do all it possibly could for those passengers who would miss a plane or other means of transportation due to the delay in the take-off. And this promise was carried out beautifully in our behalf-my fellow Sister and mine. Instead of Delta we flew Republic from Chicago to Memphis.

This flight presented many beautiful sights as the Republic sped over cities, splendid in their attire of lights. Especially beautiful, and at the same time welcome was Memphis. At its airport we were met by Sister Yvonne. She had inquired at the Delta Airline office about us and was assured that the Airline Republic would, in about an hour, bring us to Memphis. The luggage had also arrived.

It was really most amazing how perfectly everything had been arranged for us by Swissair and Republic. What cooperation! What efforts to make travel as efficient as possible!

I will not prolong my letter, because it would convey only empty words. My love and my prayers will always be with you, my dear friends whether you abide in Texas or anywhere else on our little planet. This letter should be especially dear to you because it was penned effortfully, which is an exception when I write to friends.

Always yours,
Sister M. Theresina, O.S.B.

Drug traffickers are robbing our kids of their future. Over 17,000 Texas high school seniors are daily drug users... an alarming statistic that merely scratches the surface.

Kids from age twelve to seventeen are the victims. Their innocence earns these criminals easy money. Now is the time to shut down this business in Texas. It won't be easy. Dealers are just the bottom of the drug dealing pyramid. These pushers get their drugs from the kingpins... those at the top of the network... the drug traffickers.

Drug dealing to minors is a hideous crime and these criminals must be stopped. A joint effort by law enforcement and concerned citizens is necessary in declaring war on drug traffickers.

There are no absolute answers but a major step has been taken. Governor William P. Clements and the Texas Legislature have created a statewide anti-crime hotline through the Crime Stoppers Advisory Council.

This hotline is designed to aid law enforcement in a crack-down on drug traffickers.

For the month of February, the Crime Stoppers Advisory Council is focusing its statewide "Crime of the Month" on drug trafficking. Any citizen having information about major drug trafficking is asked to call the Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council at 1-800-252-TIPS. Cash rewards are available for information leading to the arrest and indictment of criminals. Citizens do not have to reveal their names, just their information, and they will be given a unique code number for identification purposes.

Texas Legislators and our Governor have helped provide the criminal justice system with the punch it needs to find drug traffickers and put them behind bars. But they can't do it alone. Call 1-800-252-TIPS today with any information on major drug trafficking in Texas. Help stop this growing menace to young people of our state.

BSA will observe 72nd anniv.

Boy Scouts of America will celebrate their 72nd anniversary the week of February 6-13. British General, Robert Baden-Powell is the great man who brought this all about by using his knowledge of military procedures to reach a goal of helping boys become better men.

In 1930 the BSA initiated Cub Scouting, a new program designed to bring the fundamentals and the fun of the Boy Scout program to younger boys. The youngest members of 8 years old become Bobcats upon learning basic Cub Scout ideals. The next step, perfecting skills that range from conservation to traffic safety earn the Cub his Wolf Badge. Nine year old Cubs are eligible to complete Bear achievement requirements. Finally, the 10 year old can graduate into a special den called "Webelos". The name is code for "We'll Be Loyals Scouts" and members wear a special neckerchief to symbolize their rank. Webelos scouting offers new opportunities and challenge, including the chance to win Cub Scouting's highest honor the Arrow of Light. Being a Webelo is the best possible preparation for becoming a Boy Scout.

The stated purpose of Scouting is still the same as it was 72 years ago, to develop, train and inspire boys and young men to become the finest adults, to build their own character and develop a sense of responsibility towards others, and to achieve outstanding abilities in both self-reliance and team work. Scouting still teaches solid values of reverence, good citizenship and loyalty as well as physical and mental health.

The goal every Boy Scout aims for is the rank of Eagle Scout, the highest advancement award in scouting and one that is recognized as a highly significant achievement throughout its owner's life.

ever reach Eagle, but "once an Eagle Scout, always an Eagle Scout." Of the 73 pilots and scientists named as astronauts from the year 1959-1975, 59 were Scouts.

The first Eagle Scout to occupy the White House was President Gerald R. Ford. John F. Kennedy was the first Scout to become president. A survey taken in 1979 showed that 60% of the 96th Congress had participated in Scouting.

Scouting begins at home with parents who lead Cub Scouting activities and help Pack members with their advancement requirements. If you're not involved in Scouting, think about joining. You can be a part of a very special group of young people reaching 'round the world' right at home. That is the message of Scout Leaders appealing for volunteer help.

Pack 664 observes Cub Scout Week

Muenster's Pack 664 will celebrate Scout week by participating in the 11:00 service at Sacred Heart, Sunday, February 7. A Show & Tell Banquet and program are planned for later that afternoon from 4:00 to 7:00. All Cubs are asked to wear their uniforms to school on Monday and any other day that week. There will be a Scouting display set up in the Charm Shop-Hamric store windows all that week. Muenster's Cub Scouts are chartered by the VFW organization. There are 41 registered Cubs and 7 registered adult leaders, and 5 registered committee members.

This scene in Muenster City Park was made Sunday morning January 31 after this year's first snowfall.

Area gets first snow of '82

While much of the nation, especially the Midwest, and parts of Texas as well, was suffering through its most severe weather ever, Muenster has been fortunate. It has had no bitter cold, no power failures, no driving problems from ice and snow.

However there's still time for the community to be included, according to Phil, the prophesying rodent of Pennsylvania. Observers said he saw his shadow. Futhermore his cousins of these parts also had opportunities to see their shadows. The sun was out briefly here on Tuesday. So jackets can be kept handy for six more weeks.

Low and high readings of the week were recorded as follows by Steve Moster. Jan. 28, 39 and 68; Jan. 29, 54 and 70; Jan. 30, 48 and 50; Jan. 32, 28 and 38; Feb. 1, 30 and 48; Feb. 2, 37 and 50; Feb. 3, 27 and 32.

The week brought the first significant moisture of the year, following only .25 inch in January. Readings of the week were .55 in. on the 30th, 1.53 in. on the 31st, and .43 in. on Feb. 2. The reading of 1.53 included an estimated .60 inch of melted ice and snow.

The moisture total now is 2.51 for February and 2.76 for the year to date.

Comptroller can provide New Federalism funds

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday the Comptroller's office is fully capable of bringing in the money in 1983 and 1984 to take over costs of the food stamp and dependent children programs without new state taxes.

Bullock noted that Texas voters would first have to raise the present $80 million welfare spending limitation in the constitutional amendment election of November 1982.

"We in the Comptroller's office will meet President Reagan's challenge of 'New Federalism' just as we have met other challenges, by increasing efficiency, dedication and hard work," Bullock said.

For the past four sessions of the Legislature the Comptroller's office has increased tax collections to pay for new and expanded services authorized by the Legislature without deficit spending.

He noted that in 1981, Texas' population increased 1.9 percent and that inflation was 8.9 percent but that state tax collections by his office increased 23.2 percent over 1980.

"This additional 12.4 percent—or $900 million—over and above population increases and inflation in 1981 just didn't blow in with a blue norther," Bullock said. Approximately 1.2 million Texans take part in the food stamp program and 296,000 mothers and children receive help from the aid to families with dependent children program.

Rites held for Eugene Schmitz, 60

Funeral service for Eugene A. Schmitz, 60, of Telephone, Texas, a former Muenster resident, was held Wednesday at 11 a.m. in St. Peter's Church, Lindsay, with Father Stephen Eckart officiating at the Mass of the Christian Burial and Father Cletus Post concelebrating.

Interment was in the Lindsay cemetery directed by Geo. J. Carroll and Son Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Freddy Schmitz, Diamond Fuhrmann, Frank Beyer, Clarence Metzler, Bill Metzler and Julius Metzler.

Another service was a recitation of the rosary at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the chapel of Carroll Funeral Home.

Survivors are his wife, Juanita, of Telephone; two daughters, Brenda Davis of Garland and Tamera Buchanan of Dallas; one son, Mark Schmitz of Dallas; one step-daughter, Bobbie Kemp of Shawnee, Kansas; one brother, Harold Schmitz of Lindsay; two sisters, Louise Horn of Windthorst and Sis Klement of Muenster; four grandchildren and two step-grandchildren.

Gene Schmitz died suddenly Sunday in the Veterans Administration Hospital of Bonham.

He was a native of Lindsay, born February 5, 1921, a son of the late Theodore H. and Pauline Loerwald Schmitz. He was a veteran of World War II, lived in Muenster in the early fifties as owner-operator of a furniture store, and has lived since then mostly in Dallas and at Telephone, near Bonham. He was married to Juanita Morrison on May 15, 1970. Three brothers, Lawrence, Patrick and Francis Schmitz preceded him in death.

IRS raises...

through underpayments or by delinquent taxes will be reluctant to continue these practices," notes Lovell.

The new tax law also provides for a $10 penalty per statement for taxpayers who fail to file information returns (Form 1099) with the IRS, adds the economist. The previous penalty was $1 per statement.

Furthermore, the IRS may dock each taxpayer or income recipient $5 if he does not use an identifying number (in many cases the Social Security number) on the various tax forms and returns.

Regarding the Form 1099s, these along with Form 1096 (summary and transmittal form) must be submitted to the IRS by Mar. 1. Information on the Form 1099s should be provided to income recipients by Feb. 1.

Form 1099s are information returns that are used to report total payments of $600 or more during the tax year to another person in the course of trade or business. Several variations of Form 1099 relate to payments of interest, rents, royalties, fees, commissions and other compensations for services to persons other than employees.

"Many agricultural producers make payments to others in their normal course of business, and these should be reported on a Form 1099," says Lovell. "An exception is if the recipient of a payment is a corporation."

Agricultural producers also have until Jan. 31 to file Form 943 (Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees). This is required if an employer withholds and pays Social Security taxes or if he withholds income taxes under voluntary withholding agreements on farm labor wages paid during the tax year. If timely tax deposits were made, an employer has until Feb. 10 to file Form 943.

Lovell suggests that farmers and ranchers consult their tax advisors and review the "Farmer's Tax Guide" and the "1981 Package X" available from the IRS to learn more about recent changes in tax laws and the various tax forms and deadlines for filing.

was disrupted Tuesday morning (Feb. 27) leaving this city without any connection for long distance calls. This service had been partially restored by Wednesday this week.

Monday morning patrons of the local telephone Company joined a work crew in assisting to repair poles and lines in the districts in which they reside so that service might be hurried up.

Trains over the MK&T were run "on their own" as wire service was disrupted all along the line. No busses ran through here on the 27th but schedules were resumed the following day. The Katy ran late and dispatchers were without telephone and telegraph service. At the Muenster depot a telephone line to Wichita Falls was put into operation Tuesday (this week) and on the following day a line to Gainesville was connected. Extra crews worked long hours this week and service should be back to normal by the weekend. There was no damage to tracks or bridges.

Enterprise Not Printed

For the first time since the Muenster Enterprise was established in Muenster in November 1936 the weekly edition failed to be printed. Current at the shop was not restored until Tuesday this week at 1:15 p.m., leaving the business without power for more than a week. At Gainesville the Daily Register came out on the 27th with a three-page mimeographed substitute giving details of the storm, the war news and other brief items of interest. Power was restored in the county seat sufficiently to permit a regular edition again on Wednesday.

At Saint Jo the city was without electric service from 3 a.m. on the 27th until midday when service was restored in one small residential district and by mid-afternoon the business area had been cut-in on the emergency line from Nocona. That city's newspaper, The Tribune, was printed and came out on regular schedule.

No Loss of Life

No damage to persons or to livestock was reported and luckily no fire broke out, except a minor blaze at the Wm. Stelzer residence at 9:30 on the 27th. Neighbors extinguished the fire which originated in a bedroom the Stelzers rent. There was only minor smoke damage.

Hatchery in Operation

The Muenster Hatchery, whose incubators held some $12,000 worth of eggs, fared better than other local industries. The chief incubator is steam heated and was not seriously affected, except that circulation, manufactured electrically, was cut off and some loss is anticipated for that reason. Manager Hiatt said.

Hundreds of trees throughout this sector were split, broken and uprooted. Trees weighted to the ground by sheeted ice, shared possession of the streets and highways with broken power and telephone poles and miles of ice coated wire.

The Relax Theatre was unable to operate from Monday until Saturday night, the local beauty shop was closed for the week, and other businesses, including several garages and filling stations were shut down for several days. Car owners found it difficult to secure gasoline, since most of the local gasoline pumps are operated electrically.

TP&L and REA line crews from other districts joined local workmen Monday to rush reconstruction of destroyed equipment.

Makes Lamps

When this city's candle supply was exhausted and all available flash lights, kerosene lamps and Aladdin lights were purchased, F.J. Schenk manufactured coal oil lamps for persons who would otherwise have had no illumination in their homes. Schenk fashioned the lamps from materials at hand. The bases were glass coffee jars to which he affixed burners he happened to have in stock and affixing glass chimneys.

WWII memories recalled at Museum meeting

Memories of World War II

The Morton Museum was the site for an informal discussion about Cooke County during World War II. A group of 21 people exchanged ideas and remembrances about life during the war.

Most significant about Cooke County was the construction of the temporary Army training facility, Camp Howze. Mrs. Doris Parker was the first civilian to be employed at the camp when it opened in August of 1942, and went on to be one of a few civilians to be made Sergeant Major while at the camp. Mrs. Parker said it was unusual for a civilian to be a Sergeant Major, and the fact that she was a woman made it even more unique.

The camp was hot in the summer, and cold in the winter. Mrs. Parker recalls wearing coats indoors all winter to keep warm. All the buildings at the camp were of temporary construction (except the hospital) so they were not as air-tight as they could have been. Working in several different capacities, Mrs. Parker was exposed to various operations of Camp Howze. Johann Bezner recalled that crowds of soldiers inundated the Muenster area as a result of Camp Howze. As a teen-ager, she was quite aware of the impact of the war. She remembers her family taking soldiers' families into their home, and she said she still receives Christmas cards from one family. Mrs. Bezner recalled school being let out so the children and teachers could help harvest the farmer's crops. (All the able-bodied men that usually harvested the crops were away fighting the war.) She and Juanita Bright picked cotton for a farmer and both said it was an experience they would not forget.

J.M. Weinzapfel of Muenster said the war didn't have much lasting effect on the banking industry because all the soldiers and their families coming to the area were temporary, so they didn't put their money in the bank. He recalled that he had several soldiers' families living in his Muenster home.

Victoria Greminger said she had a small house in Muenster and couldn't house any soldiers' families, but she still had soldiers coming around because she had daughters at home.

The German prisoners of war were welcomed in the Muenster area because they could converse in their native tongue with the people of German descent. The POWs interned at Camp Howze during the war were from Africa and were clean cut handsome young men. People were not afraid of them, and they were hired out by farmers for farm labor.

Juanita Bright recalled being affected during the onset of the war because of the loss of her brother Robert John Weinzapfel as the first Cooke County man killed in the war. The death of her brother made the war more real to her as a teen-ager. Mrs. Bright felt the war served as a unifying effort that made that time period in her life most memorable.

Jeanette Balentine said she rode the bus from Denton to Gainesville and frequently gave her seat to a soldier. It was common place for civilians to stand on both busses and trains while the soldiers sat down.

The discussion ended with the group looking at various photographs taken in and around Gainesville during the war.

However, Jewell's dark cloud had a silver lining, as that very week friends Velma Freeman visited with her Tues. Cleo Lanier is urging all voters to be properly registered and to carry their registration card. She said: "To be eligible to vote in the May Primary, voters must be registered by April 1. You may register at the tax office or get cards to mail in for registration cards from Cleo Lanier...If you do not have your registration card, if your name is not on the poll list, it is a state law that you cannot vote."

A political rally is being planned at Forestburg and details will be given later.

Mrs. Decie Ellzey returned home Fri. the 22 after spending two weeks in Crescent visiting with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Boelter and Phyllis and with a granddaughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Nations and children. The Jerry Boelters recently sold their home in Arlington and have moved to crescent to be close to their daughter Mrs. Nations.

Me thinks that the American people are a rather "sloppy-lot." Just look at what we are doing to our wonderful country and surroundings. We are absolutely making one big dump ground out of it by throwing all sorts of trash out to litter up our parks, roads and highways and by-ways. We clutter up our yards, etc. with absolute eye-sores and with all those "I might need it sometime" things. Nothing wrong with keeping things, but with neatness. Remember that as you pitch that aluminum can out the car window - it is worth 1 cent.

MHS teams win 3 of 4

Muenster High basketball teams won three of their four games during the past week. The Hornets had a big win at Valley View and a big loss at Forestburg whereas the Hornets barely survived in two hot contests. At Valley View the boys game was a thriller all the way with Eagles ahead 14-10 in the first quarter and the count tied at 24-24 at half time. At the third period Muenster led 38-34 and the score was tied again, 44-44, at the end of regular time. In overtime the Hornets took charge and led the scoring 8-3 for the final lead of 52-47.

Kevin Felderhoff poured in 17 of the points and Tim Schneider 15 as Wayne Carroll added 9, Dale Swirczynski 7 and Gary Klement 4.

The Forestburg game was an alternate hot and cold affair in which the Hornets outlasted Forestburg's final red hot rally by only 2 points. MHS led 11-10 at the first period and soared to a 32-12 halftime as they did nothing wrong and the hosts did nothing right. The third quarter leveled off and ended in a 40-22 Hornet lead. The last period was Forestburg's in a big way. It outscored Muenster 29-13 and ended at the short end of 53-51.

Kevin Felderhoff led the Hornets with 18. Tim Schneider added 12, Wayne Carroll 9, Gary Klement 8 and Dale Swirczynski 6.

MHS girls gained in every period, especially the second in their game at Valley View. After an 11-10 first period lead they hit a hot streak and soared to 29-15 at the half, then continued with gains to 37-18 and 51-26.

Their point makers were Stephanie Richey 14, Carla Walterscheid 10, Charlotte Fleitman 8, Jill Walterscheid 6, Sandy Wimmer 6, Mary Winn 3, Kyla Hale 2, Nancy Walterscheid 2.

The situation was reversed at Forestburg where the Hornets were outscored in every quarter. After being shut out 8-0 at the first period they trailed 20-10 at intermission, 30-12 at the third quarter and 43-22 at the end.

Stephanie Richey scored 14 for MHS, Charlotte Fleitman made 4, Peggy Winn 2, Shelly Zimmerer 2.

With three games remaining on the district schedule both Muenster High teams have a present record of 5-6. The second half record of each team is 2-2.

Loss to Notre Dame eliminates Tigers from TCIL district race

Though out of the TCIL 3A District 3 race, the Sacred Heart Tigers closed their season in glory Friday night with a thrilling 56-54 win over Alamo High of Amarillo.

Their long odds chance at the title faded away Thursday night in a 39-27 loss to Notre Dame of Wichita Falls. Had they won that and followed with a win over Alamo they would have still faced a play off with Notre Dame, champ of the regular schedule. Hence nothing was left Friday but trying to go out in style.

And that they did. Coach Jon LeBrasseur said they played with pride and he was proud of them. "It was a nice way to end the season."

With Alamo Catholic as the opponent the Tigers started with a first quarter deficit but improved in the second period and peaked their lead at 11 points early in the third. However Alamo then hit a hot streak, trailing 44-40 as the fourth period opened. During the remainder of the game the Mustangs gained twice to within a point and tied the count at 54-54 with 44 seconds to go. Tigers then held out for a single final shot, but the plan failed and Alamo got possession then tried for a jumper with 10 seconds. It missed, Brian Herr got the rebound and heaved the length of the court to Greg Walterscheid who made the winning lay-up six seconds before the buzzer.

Greg led the scoring with 19, Brian Herr and TJ Walterscheid each added 9, Gene Fuhrman 6, Hal Mollenkopf 4, Curtis Henscheid 4, Neil Hesse 2, Darrell Herr 2, Gene Haverkamp 1.

The game with Notre Dame Thursday was the one which counted and eliminated the Tigers from further competition in district. They started fine, leading 6-4 at the quarter and tying 12-12 at the half. Then the Knights got their operation in order and turned in a strong third quarter for a 28-20 and continued for a 39-27 win.

Scorers were Greg Walterscheid 14, plus 9 rebounds, Gene Fuhrman 8, Neil Hesse 2, TJ Walterscheid 2, Brian Herr 1.

The tournament ended the Tiger season with a record of 14-9. "Not as good as we hoped," says Coach LeBrasseur, but they're a great bunch of boys who never quit hustling." Last year at this stage they were the north zone champs awaiting play off for the district title which they won and advanced to state play off in San Antonio. They lost semifinal and final there and ended with the rating of number 4 in Class 3A of the state.

Mark Goode: "If motorists would dispose of their trash properly it would save Texas taxpayers millions of dollars and would save DHT thousands of man-hours," Goode said. "That's time and money that could be spent better on keeping our aging highways in better repair."

Texans paying $13 million yearly on highway litter

A total of $13 million, almost a dollar per Texan - man, woman and child - was spent just to pick up trash along the State's highways during the fiscal year that ended August 31, 1981.

The figures, released today by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, show an increase of 26 percent over the 1980 litter pickup price tag of $10.3 million which was an all-time high.

"The litter problem, particularly in heavily populated areas, is growing in gargantuan proportions," said DHT Engineer-Director

Sacred Heart had to come from behind to win their tournament opener with Notre Dame Thursday night. After a sluggish three quarters they trailed 16-12 and came out full of fire in the last period. Anne Felderhoff was the inspiration of that rally hitting 12 of the team's 14 points, which were barely enough for a 1 point win. Meanwhile Notre Dame made 9 and the game ended with SH at the triumphant end of 26-25.

Anne Felderhoff scored 18 points, 12 in the last quarter, Susan Walterscheid added 4 and 11 rebounds, Connie Stoffels and Carol Walterscheid hit 2 each.

Fans wishing to attend Saturday's game are reminded that the Lewisville High gym is located on West Main. From I-35 E take the Main Street exit, No. 1171, turn right on Main and follow a half mile to the school.

Sacred Heart Newsletter

by Stephen Beyer, Principal

This year Catholic School's Week is February 15-19. The theme of this year's celebration is The Good News in Education: Catholic Schools Visions and Values. In order to celebrate this week, we at Sacred Heart have a full week of activities planned.

Monday - School-wide opening liturgy at 8:00 a.m. - all parents and parishioners are cordially invited.

Tuesday - Class and group portraits will be taken.

Wednesday - Our 8th Graders will be going to Fort Worth to participate in the diocesan celebration of Catholic School's Week. Bishop Delany will celebrate the liturgy.

Thursday - Career day for students in grades 4-12. All of the students will be able to question various speakers concerning interesting careers. High School students will also have the opportunity to talk with various college representatives. Closing Liturgy at 8:00 a.m.

Friday - Student Holiday! Teacher inservice day. During the week, we will have an open house during the day. All parents are encouraged to attend during the day to visit your child's classroom. Also, all parents will be encouraged to eat lunch in the school cafeteria, sitting with your children. More specific information will be sent home a few days before Catholic Schools Week begins.

Catholic Education is important Pope John Paul II states: "...the purpose of Catholic education is to communicate Christ to you, so that your attitude toward others will be that of Christ. Part of our Catholic education is to learn to see the needs of others, to have the courage to practice what we believe in. With the support of a Catholic education, we try to meet every circumstance of life with the attitude of Christ..."

In addition, the American Catholic bishops have said: "The most effective means available to the church for the education of children and young people." And statistics show this conviction to be based in fact: With the exception of the devout Catholic family itself, no other factor is as effective in instilling a religious spirit in children as is the Catholic school.

We pray that together we can promote the important work of Catholic Schools by making this year's Catholic School's Week a resounding success.

Mardi Gras

This year's Mardi Gras, sponsored by the Home and School Association, is on Feb. 21. The purpose of the Mardi Gras is to raise funds for Sacred Heart School. Since this year's Mardi Gras falls on the last day of Catholic School Week, it is fitting that the success of the Mardi Gras can rightly be a measure of our commitment to Catholic school education. Please help make this year's Mardi Gras a real success.

Candy Sale

Our eight graders have begun selling the World's Finest Chocolate candy bars. This is excellent candy. With each $1.50 bar you also receive a coupon for free pizza in Gainesville or Sherman-Denison. Some of the proceeds go to the eighth graders to help with their trip to Six Flags. Some of the money also goes to the school.

Help support Sacred Heart and the eighth graders by buying some candy bars. Your diets can wait until Lent.

Sports

Our basketball teams have been progressing nicely. The State play-off games are in early February. We wish our teams all the best as they work their way toward these important games.

Student Holiday

February 19 is a teacher inservice day. Students are dismissed for the day.

Library Magazine Drive

Please remember that the annual magazine drive to support the library will begin in early March. Your renewals and new subscriptions will help make our library more complete.

Progress Reports

Progress reports will be sent out on February 11. If you do not receive a progress report or are not contacted by your child's teacher you can assume that your children are progressing satisfactorily.

National FHA/HERO week observed

The second week in February is a special week for members of the Muenster FHA Chapter because they are celebrating National FHA/HERO Week as a part of National Vocational Education Week. Across the country FHA/HERO chapters of Future Homemakers of America say: "Join Us and Grow With Us."

FHA is one of nine vocational education youth organizations. A part of home economics curriculums through grade 12, it provides meaning and motivation for youth working toward educational goals related to consumer home economics education. It reaches beyond classroom instruction into the home and community.

During the week, according to Peggy Winn, chapter president, the Muenster FHA Chapter has planned: Monday, to visit St. Richard's Villa; Tuesday, Teacher's Appreciation Day and Dress-Up Day; Wednesday, Arbor Day; Thursday, FHA Sweetheart Election, Dad's Night Out; Friday, Child Care Day.

FHA has 12,500 chapters and a national membership of 395,000. Members belong to two types of chapters. FHA chapters place major emphasis on consumer education, homemaking and family life education combined with exploration of jobs and careers. HERO (Home Economics Related Occupations) chapters place major emphasis on preparation for jobs and careers with recognition that workers also fill multiple roles as homemakers and community leaders. Both kinds of chapters emphasize growth of the individual, leadership development, citizenship and the dual roles of career and homemaking for men and women.

Founded in 1945 and located in Washington, D.C., Future Homemakers of America is currently undertaking a $2 million fundraising campaign to build its own national headquarters and leadership center. The move to Reston, Virginia, 19 miles outside of the nation's capitol, is planned for next summer.

CCC offers lifesaving, medical aid training

A new training program to be offered later in February at Cooke County College could literally mean the difference between life and death for many Cooke County residents.

The program will provide instruction in lifesaving and medical aid techniques and procedures for persons who are first on the scene of an accident or life-threatening medical emergency.

It will be conducted by personnel from CCC's Department of Paramedicine and is being offered as a non-credit community service course through the college's Division of Continuing Education.

"It must be remembered and understood that it takes time for paramedics or other qualified medical personnel to arrive on the scene of such an emergency," says Glenn Pratt, director of paramedic instruction at CCC. "What kind of care a victim receives during that time often determines whether he or she will live or die."

Pratt adds that a majority of persons simply do not know what to do in such cases. Consequently, they do nothing or they do the wrong thing, and the results can be tragic either way.

"Equipping community residents with the right kind of knowledge about what to do in these situations is basically what this special training program is all about," Pratt says. "Persons who have this training then become very important elements of the community's overall emergency system."

The training course, titled "First Responder/Emergency Care Attendant", will begin at CCC on February 20 and meet for six Saturdays through March 27.

Classes will meet from 8 a.m. through 5 p.m. with an hour lunch break. Participants in the course will receive a total of 48 clock hours of instruction, including an extensive amount of actual hands-on skills practice.

Persons who successfully complete the course will be certified for two years by the Texas Department of Health.

"One of the best things about this special training course," Pratt stresses, "is that we are able to offer all this intensive training at very low cost. Cost of participation, in fact, is only $20 plus the cost of a required textbook which will be approximately $15."

Reason for the low cost, Pratt explains, is that the tuition fees necessary to cover instructional expenses for such a comprehensive training program are being partially underwritten by a Texas Department of Health grant awarded through the Texoma Regional Planning Commission.

The training would also be appropriate for persons who come into contact with large numbers of other persons each day, such as public service workers, receptionists, salespersons, teachers and so on.

"This is particularly the case," Pratt says, "in regard to the occurrence of such medical emergencies as heart attack, stroke, diabetic coma, insulin shock, epileptic seizure, narcotic overdose, poisoning, heat stroke and emergency childbirth."

The course will focus on techniques and procedures for dealing with all these conditions as well as with cuts, bleeding, burns, broken bones and other injuries from accidents. Attention will also be given to methods for obtaining access to victims of accidents such as auto collisions.

Participation in the course is open to all interested persons. Registration may be done in advance at the CCC Office of Continuing Education in Room 120 on campus, or participants may sign up at the first class meeting on February 20.

For more information, call the Division of Continuing Education at CCC at 668-7731, extension 220.
