City plans control of Mesquite flooding

The Muenster City Council decided Monday night that it is on the way toward a solution of occasional flooding problems on Mesquite Street. With help from County Precinct 4, it intends to reduce drainage across the street from the east side and farther along it intends to assist drainage through culverts from west to east.

The project originated as the result of a request for Mesquite Street paving. Councilmen opposed it because of frequent flooding, then turned to drainage as a prior project.

By agreement with Commissioner Robert Bayer, county road equipment will enlarge the ditch at the east side of the street to dispose of larger volumes of run-off water, possibly preventing all water from going across. The city's part of the deal is to haul away dirt from the ditch.

Next step in the project is to install culverts near Fourth and Sixth streets to hasten drainage from the area west of Mesquite. The city will do the survey work and Bayer will install. With drainage under control, the city expects to do the paving next summer.

In other business, the city conducted its third and final reading of a request to annex 20.21 acres including St.

Richard's Villa. The request was approved.

Another approval was given on a request to turn off the street light at 723 N. Main. The purpose is to turn off the attraction to crickets.

And the council tabled two other requests. One concerns a change of zoning for block 85 from residential to commercial designation so that a mobile home can be located there after another mobile home is moved away. The trailer located there now pre-dates the residential zoning, but a zoning change is needed to allow another trailer. The city decided that others may wish to have a say in the matter, and will have a hearing at the next meeting, September 13.

Also postponed was a request from the Ranch for extension of business hours three nights a week. The place asked to change Thursday and Friday closing time from midnight until 1 a.m. and the Saturday closing time from 1 to 2 a.m. The city wants to think it over until the next meeting.

In other business the city transferred $1000 to its Firemen's Pension Fund and qualified for an equal contribution to the fund from the state. Beneficiaries of the fund are firemen aged 55 or older who have been with the Muenster Fire Department at least 20 years, also the widows and children under 18 of deceased firemen.

The meeting closed with a reminder that the next regular meeting date will be Labor Day, whereof the council will meet Sept. 13.

PUC okays TP&L procedure

The Public Utility Commission has approved a new procedure for Texas Power & Light Company to obtain regulatory approval of certain fuel-related charges. Agreement on the procedure had been reached earlier by TP&L, the cities represented by the Texas Municipal League and wholesale electric customers.

The new procedure calls for TP&L to obtain PUC approval of the estimated cost of fuel-related services provided by the affiliated company. This approval will be obtained before the costs are billed to customers.

The agreement also involves Texas Electric Service and Dallas Power & Light Company, which are subsidiaries along with TP&L of the Texas Utilities Company.

Two other TU Company subsidiaries -- Texas Utilities Fuel Company and Texas Utilities Generating Company -- provide fuel and fuel-related services at cost to TP&L, DP&L and TESCO.

The new procedure will not change the total amount customers pay for electricity.

"We only charge customers what we must pay for fuel used to make electricity," said Mike Murphy, TP&L manager in Gainesville. "This revision cannot be expected to raise or lower the customer's monthly fuel charges."

Under the procedure: --TP&L will file an estimate of its upcoming affiliate fuel-related costs with the PUC before charging those costs to customers.

-- Customers and cities served by the company may participate in the proceeding.

-- Approval of the estimate by the PUC will be preliminary, with the company being required to prove during its next rate case that all its payments to affiliates and subsequent charges to customers have been reasonable and appropriate.

The agreement brings to an end litigation that began in 1979 after a special hearing before the PUC into transactions among TU Company System subsidiaries.

State District Judge Herman Jones of Austin, acting on appeals of the PUC decision in that case overturned the PUC's ruling that TP&L, DP&L and TESCO are not affiliates as defined by the Public Utility Regulatory Act. Also, in his decision the judge ruled the PURA requires prior approval of costs from affiliates before they are charged to customers.

Jaycees schedule Twilight Trot, BBQ

Muenster Jaycees are all set for a double event Saturday night in the City Park. It will be the organization's fourth annual twilight trot followed by a barbecue supper.

The supper will feature barbecued brisket with lettuce salad, beans, chips, onions and pickles. Adult tickets are priced at $5.00 and child tickets at $2.50 for "all you can eat".

The twilight trot is a 5 mile race in male and female divisions with six age groups in each division and awards to be given to the top three age groups of each division. Entry fee is $3.00 per person.

Ronnie Hess, chairman, said the run is shaping up more in quality than quantity. Registrations are limited but they include some 75 blue chip runners who are regulars in the popular fun runs of North Texas.

Pre-registrations can be mailed to Ronnie Hess, Box 555, Muenster. Also more info is available from Hess, 759-6864 (evenings) or Harold Flusche, 759-4434 (days).

Open house observes Dustin's 50th anniversary

In appreciation of a half century of generous patronage, the management and employees of Dustin Office and School Supply greeted their friends last week Friday and Saturday with an open house observing the store's 50th anniversary.

"It was a happy occasion for us," said Johnny Leftwich, co-owner and manager, "and a proper time to say Thanks to God for His many blessings and to our friends for their support. The years have been good to us and we want everybody to know we appreciate it."

During the two day celebration the store personnel headed by Elvis Dustin, Johnny and Millie Leftwich, George Keeling and Robert Krebs greeted hundreds of visitors and gave souvenir gifts. Other courtesies were punch, cookies and a birthday cake plus drawings for a long list of attendance prizes. Special decorations featured three newspaper pages from the era of the store's founding.

Herb Knabe attends firemen's school

Herbert Knabe was this year's representative of the Muenster Fire Department at the annual fire fighting school conducted by Texas A&M University. He attended July 25-30, completing a 30 hour course in pump maintenance.

Knabe has attended the A&M firemen's school four times during his 17 years as a member of the Muenster Fire Department. The purpose of the school is to keep in touch with new developments in fire fighting and procedure and apply them to the local department's operation. The studies count toward a person's rating as certified fire fighter in Texas. They also count toward earning a credit on the city's insurance key rate. Annual savings on the key rate here because of attending the course is more than equal to the expense of attending.

The firemen's attendance is sponsored by the city of Muenster.

The Dustin store got its start in 1932 when Frank Dustin and his wife, Elvis, moved from Marietta, Okla. and bought The Signal from Herman and Leverett. Frank was a Gainesville native, his wife a Dexter native who spent her youth in Oklahoma. Going into business was like coming home to them.

They were especially interested in the county's school children and teachers. At that time the county's rural schools were affiliated with the county superintendent's office rather than their independent districts and county teacher meetings were held in the court house. Invariably Frank Dustin was there, always eager to get acquainted and to help with advice and credit, always identifiable by hat and cigar.

The store's original location was at 105 East California Street. Two years later it was moved across the street, its front at the present Gainesville National Bank entrance. In 1953 it was moved again to its pace at 110 N. Dixon, which extends through the block to Rusk Street.

At that time the store expanded to include office furniture and business machines. Originally the principal lines were school and office supplies, gifts, cards, bibles, books and art supplies. A large variety of other items was added as the years passed.

Space was increased as the business grew. Next addition in the expansion process was the former Bosley Cleaners location, a 25 x80 space adjoining the original store at the north and purchased in 1974. The latest addition extends the store one location farther to the north. It was leased in 1979 to serve as a reception room combined with storage and sales of office furniture and business machines.

In 1962 the store's thriving activity was interrupted by the illness and death of Frank Dustin. By then Johnny Leftwich, an employee for ten years, had become a key man in the operation. Mrs. Dustin offered him an opportunity to buy into the business, and they formed the partnership continued on page 3

Pay attention to what you are taught, and you will be successful; trust in the Lord and you will be happy.

A wise, mature person is known for his understanding. The more pleasant his words, the more persuasive he is.

Wisdom is a fountain of life to the wise, but trying to educate stupid people is a waste of time.

Intelligent people think before they speak; what they say is then more persuasive.

Muenster High will register Aug. 12-13

Getting a head start on the school calendar, Muenster High School will hold an early registration on Thursday and Friday of next week, August 12 and 13. Superintendent Charles Coffey explained that the purpose is to allow extra time for teachers to take note of the subjects chosen by each student in arranging the best class schedule.

The registration schedule is as follows. August 12, Seniors 9 to 12; Juniors 1 to 3. August 13, Sophomores 9 to 12; Freshmen 1 to 3.

Final registration is booked for August 19. Buses will run their regular routes bringing in the elementary students and high schoolers who failed to come for the special sign-up.

Muenster adds new member to police force

Muenster has a new police officer. He is Larry Holloway, a young man with 14 months of experience on the Electra police department.

He and his wife and two pre-school boys have a problem finding a location for their mobile home. They are inquiring at Muenster now and intend to try Myra if that fails.

Other Muenster police officers are Police Chief Helen Tompkins and Bob Stovall.

Calm Summer

Temperatures in the mid nineties along with thriving vegetation is using moisture as fast as it falls. With a total of 1.97 in the past week, crops are showing a need for all. Nevertheless benefits are evident from the summer's heavy rains which spoiled the wheat harvest. Milo looks fine, and is expected to compensate for the former disappointment.

The week's rain total was 1.97 in, including 1.52 on August 1. The community has had 28.4 inches in the year to date, and a welcome total of 2.98 in July.

CONSEQUENCES OF LEGAL COUNTERFEITING
As the contemporary American economist, Jude Wanniski, wrote recently, "The object of monetary policy should not be to put money into or take money out of the consumer's pocket, but to provide producers — and consumers — with a unit of account that does not change in value, thus permitting goods and services to be traded over long periods of time."

One of the primary functions of money is to provide a stable unit of account. Supposedly this was one of the reasons for establishing the Federal Reserve System in the first place. Yet, under the Fed, our unit of account, the dollar, has lost nearly ninety percent of its value since the creation of the Fed.

In addition, under Fed policy the government, through its central bank, has been silently "embezzling" the wealth of our people.

Once each year the staff of the American Institute for Economic Research calculates the magnitude of this embezzlement. We agree with their statement in the Economic Bulletin which reports their findings:

"We are confident that Americans would stop this embezzlement and set a sound course for the Nation's economy if the informed swing-minority of voters would gain an accurate understanding of the extent and source of the problem. The extent includes not only harmful immediate personal financial consequences; it includes also long-term destructive effects on the Nation and society in general. We and our loved ones do, after all, have to live in this society, and if it disintegrates, the way of life for all will worsen . . ."

The Institute found that since 1939 the Nation's savers have put aside $7.9 trillion in various types of savings accounts; life insurance, pensions, and annuities, government-held trust funds; U.S. Government, State and municipal bonds; corporate bonds; money-market funds; currency and checking accounts and mortgages.

Of this huge amount of $7.9 trillion, the Federal Reserve, through its money and credit creation, has embezzled $4.5 trillion. What this means is that the government has silently confiscated, through the process of inflation, 57 percent of the value of America's savers since 1939.

In just the last eleven years, 1971-1981, "the loss to America's savers from fixed-dollar investments was $2.7 trillion in dollars of today's purchasing power."

If we are to save this country from economic disintegration, ultimately to be followed by dictatorship, we must inform our voters what the welfare state is doing to their savings.

Welfare state spending is responsible for the federal budget deficits; the deficits are financed largely by credit expansion as the Fed buys government bonds; this credit expansion saps away the value of America's thrifty and industrious workers.

We must spread these truths as expounded some years ago by Clark and Rimanoczy of The American Economic Foundation: "The one big truth about inflation that most of us do not know (and is not easily observed) is that political control over the money supply is the secret weapon of political control over the economic lives of the people."

"Money is only money, but freedom is, or should be, beyond price. The hand that holds the purse strings is the hand that can compel obedience. The government that must ask the people for some of their money must be the servant of the people. The government that can take the people's money through deficit spending can become the master."

tagionism whereas the Democratic problem is fifty years of faulty economics.

Another element of the past two years also needs to be recognized and changed. That's the dilution of original conservative Reagan principles by the liberal wing of the party. The Republicanism we have today, is not what America cheered for and voted for. We got only a watered down version.

Reagan himself started the process by choosing a liberal for his running mate and staffing the government with an array of liberal favorites and Carter holdovers. As a candidate he firmly supported Taiwan, opposed abortion and forced busing, and praised the Moral Majority for its dedication to the country's original Christian principles. As president, he seemed to abandon, even ignore his former policies.

All of this is currently a liability on his record, but one that can be overcome by a person of his stature. One has to believe that departure from previous views on the various subjects resulted from political pressures. Perhaps he was convinced that he could not win without the party's liberal help. But experience has shown that it did not bring success to his administration.

Hopefully the president will become aware that he was at his best as a candidate in 1980. And now it's about time to admit boners and start a serious swing toward the principles which America voted for in 1980.

In spite of disappointments he remains dynamic, also morally and intellectually right. He has a great mission, to re-align himself with people of both parties who share his basic thinking and start over on the job that was bungled.

Although we know much about Socrates and his sayings, nothing survives of his writings. Much of the information we have about his life and teachings comes from the writings of others of his time.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower

U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Definition of "navigable waters" for purposes of federal regulation has been a persistent problem for Texas communities and individuals. While logic would seem to dictate that the term "navigable waters" means a body of water over which boats can travel, the legal definition for the past 10 years has been ALL waters in the United States. This is such a broad definition that the Corps of Engineers conceivably could claim jurisdiction over a backyard swimming pool.

As a practical matter, it has stymied local efforts to control flooding near the coast, made it impossible for farmers to manage draws that run through their land and allowed the government to limit use of farm ponds completely contained on an individual's piece of land. This problem has been compounded by the red tape nightmare and time requirements involved in obtaining permits to dredge or fill the smallest body of water. When the system works well, the process takes 13 months. When problems develop, years elapse before a permit can be obtained.

I have introduced legislation to redefine navigable waters to mean bodies of water that could reasonably be considered to be navigable. This action would solve many problems encountered by Texans, and would narrow the scope of federal jurisdiction to that envisioned by Congress when it gave the Corps of Engineers authority to carry out this aspect of the federal responsibility to regulate interstate commerce.

I am pleased to report that the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee held a subcommittee hearing on this legislation last week. This hearing brings enactment of the bill one step closer to fruition.

Additionally, the Administration is moving administratively to streamline the permit application process under the existing legislation.

Under the new proposed rule, most permits will be granted within 60 days of the original application. Instead of four levels of regulatory review, there will be only one.

In many cases, states will have more authority and responsibility under the new regulations. The Corps of Engineers will issue more general permits for some categories of projects, and will not have the authority to override decisions made by states or local governments concerning land use or zoning unless issues of national importance are involved.

Further, the Corps of Engineers and the Environmental Protection Agency are to clarify the rules concerning when application for a permit must be made and when it is unnecessary.

I applaud these excellent improvements to the regulatory process. However, I still believe that the ultimate solution must be legislative. I remain convinced that the federal government should not have the right to interfere with local, state or individual decisions regarding land use. The only way to make certain that federal authority does not exceed its rightful bounds of jurisdiction is to spell out the limits of that jurisdiction in law.

Thus, I will continue to work toward passage of my navigable waters legislation.

TAIWAN AID SUPPORTED

By Edwin Feulner

Despite somber warnings from parts of the Washington establishment that Red China will be offended, President Reagan has passed the word that he has no intention of ending U.S. arms sales to Taiwan.

The assurances, made public by Senator Barry Goldwater just days ago, puts a halt, temporarily at least, to rumors of a State Department draft communique announcing a "time certain" for ending arms sales. Rumors of the working document had been circulating for weeks.

According to Senator Goldwater, the president claims to have no knowledge of any such communique, and promised in a June 18 meeting that he "wouldn't sign" such a statement regardless. For the time being, a major political crisis has been averted.

Still, it is common knowledge in Washington that State Department regulars consider Taiwan a nuisance, and would like to jettison the Taiwan Relations Act, promising continued arm sales to the Republic of China (ROC), just as the Carter administration jettisoned the U.S.-Republic of China Mutual Defense Treaty and cut official ties to the ROC government.

It's a good bet, then, that with or without White House approval, the rumored communique was more fact than fiction.

Conflict between State Department schemers and White House politicians is nothing new. And more than once in recent years the Republic of China on Taiwan has been the focus of such conflict.

To make Taiwan beguiling to meet its defense needs would be a blunder of the worst kind, and would likely cause the Reagan administration the kind of trouble only the liberal State Department would wish upon it.

First, such a move would destroy American credibility abroad. In the international arena, governments live by the strength of their words. On more than one occasion the U.S. has accused the Soviets of renegeing on their treaty commitments. When Jimmy Carter sold out the Taiwanese — a grievous act duly attacked by Ronald Reagan at the time — Americans could claim this to be an isolated act by an erratic bunch of amateurs. A repeat performance by the Republican team would certainly serve notice to friend and foe alike that the United States can't be trusted.

Help Your Heart

Beware of Hot Summer Weather

Use common sense and do not exercise in the hot, humid weather without gradually acclimatizing your body, advises James P. Knochel, M.D., of Dallas, an AHA volunteer and expert on heat injuries. Dr. Knochel is especially alarmed about the people he sees jogging on hot days in plastic sweat suits: "That's crazy! People have been killed in those suits because they could not vaporize their sweat."

High humidity also prevents adequate vaporization of sweat, which cools the body. Unless you are fully acclimatized, you should not do anything strenuous during the middle of the day when the temperature is above 90 degrees and the humidity is above 40 percent, says Dr. Knochel. "Even a well-trained, acclimatized person can only jog safely for approximately 15 minutes at that temperature and humidity. On hot, humid days, exercise in the early morning and late evening."

ADJUST TO HEAT

Your circulatory system plays a key role in controlling body temperature, he explains. When you are hot, the blood vessels under your skin expand so more hot blood comes near the surface where heat is dissipated by sweating. Under these conditions, the heart must work harder.

Help your heart by allowing your circulatory system to adjust to the heat gradually. If you don't, you may begin to feel faint when the large amounts of blood used in the cooling mechanism result in a deficiency of blood in the brain and other important organs.

SIGNS AND SIGNALS

For healthy people, Dr. Knochel recommends drinking extra liquids before, during and after hot weather activity. Those with heart disease, kidney disease, high blood pressure and diabetes must be extremely careful because of the extra load heat places on their circulatory system, he warns. They should see a physician before they work in the heat and before they increase their fluid intake.

Heatstroke occurs when heat accumulates faster than the body can dissipate it by sweating; organs, particularly the brain, are literally cooked. It can occur with or without exertion. Heatstroke victims are usually incoherent or in a coma, have a body temperature above 106 degrees, and have stopped sweating.

Untreated, heatstroke is always fatal, Dr. Knochel says. First aid includes getting the victim out of the sun, removing clothes, dousing the patient with cold water and ice, and fanning him in an effort to imitate the sweat mechanism. Call an ambulance.

Education—Our Money's Worth?

In my travels over Texas, it has become clear that Texans rate crime, the economy, and the education of their children among their principal concerns.

This week I would like to discuss education. As the father of six children, this has long been one of my principal concerns also.

We currently spend over half our tax revenue on education, and many people raise the question to me: "Are we getting our money's worth?" The questions put to me indicate some think we are spending too much; others, not enough.

I too am concerned about the amount of money we spend on education, but I am more concerned about the quality of that education. I believe the quality of education our children receive can be improved by making some fundamental changes in the way we pay and treat our teachers.

I believe in merit pay for teachers. Frankly, I think good teachers ought to be paid more than poor teachers. A good, conscientious teacher cannot help but become discouraged and disillusioned when he or she ends the month with the same pay as one whom they know to be indifferent. The result is apt to be that they leave the teaching profession altogether.

I also think we ought to enter a system of competency testing not only for new teachers, but for those who are currently teaching. We test our kids, why not also test those who teach them?

In short, I think we ought to bear down on the basics, relieve our teachers of burdensome paper work now placed upon them, and recognize and reward our better teachers with better pay, for the sake of our children, and our future.

If you have thoughts on this subject, I would welcome them. Just write to me at 1213 W. 34th in Austin, 78705.

Maintaining a medicine chest

Many people store medicine in the bathroom. They shouldn't.

That warning comes from the Texas Medical Association, which cites two reasons why:

—The bathroom cabinet generally is above the sink, making the medicine more accessible to children.

—A bathroom's dampness can cause some drugs to deteriorate.

A better place for medicine is a high shelf in a hall or bedroom. Some experts suggest a box that locks, perhaps a tackle box.

Another problem with many medicine chests is that they resemble small drugstores. Overstocking drugs in the home should be avoided. Some products lose their potency or change consistency over a period of time. Buying the "family size" of a product is not a better deal in the long run if it goes bad before being used.

Supplies in a medicine chest should be checked annually. Items to get rid of include tablets that have become crumbly and medicines that have changed color, odor or consistency, or are outdated. That also goes for drug products that no longer have labels.

The medicine should not be thrown into a trash can, where a child could find it. Rather, empty the bottles of medicine into the toilet and flush it. Rinse out the bottles before throwing them away.

Contents of a family's medicine chest depend on the age and health of its members. Here is a general list:

Non-drug products: adhesive bandages of assorted sizes, sterile gauze, cotton, adhesive tape, elastic bandage, bluntend scissors, tweezers, thermometer, hot-water bottle, heating pad, eye cup, ice bag, dosage spoon and first-aid manual.

Drug items: Aspirin, emetic (causes vomiting), antacid, antiseptic solution, hydrocortisone creams for skin problems, calamine for poison ivy petroleum jelly, anti-diarrhetic, non suppressant cough syrup, decongestant and burn ointment.

Bullock reveals record budget surplus

State Comptroller Bob Bullock unveiled the biggest budget surplus in Texas history Thursday, but warned "there are thorns among the roses."

The record $1.3 billion budget surplus will mean the Legislature will have $5.1 billion available for spending in January 1983, over and above what was available in January 1981.

"This surplus is the result of the good times we have had," Bullock said in a capitol press conference.

But the Comptroller cautioned Texans that "the growth we are predicting today is substantially less than we have seen in the past 10 years."

Although Texas is the "flagship of the United States economy," and has led a nation in the creation of new jobs, Bullock said, "The recession has come to Texas. Our economy has begun to slow down. We are beginning to see significant drops in some major revenue sources."

The Comptroller pointed out Texans do not pay corporate or personal income taxes and have not had a tax increase since 1971. "Last year alone," Bullock said, "31 other states burdened their citizens with higher taxes."

Bullock announced the surplus with an official revenue estimate, which the Texas Constitution directs him to make for each session of the Legislature and "at other times as may be necessary to show probable changes."

Bullock noted an expected drop in federal funds coming into the Texas Treasury will make other revenue sources more important to the state budget in years to come. He cautioned those involved with the investing of state funds and leasing of state lands to "be looking closer than ever to make sure these important revenue sources reap the greatest possible benefits for the state."

Applying pressure can stop bleeding

Nothing may be more unpleasant than encountering a person bleeding severely. Nothing can be more important than knowing what to do when this happens.

The Texas Medical Association says the basic rule is simple: Apply pressure directly on the bleeding area with the cleanest material available. A sterile pad or dressing is ideal, but even a towel or clothing will do in an emergency.

Use even pressure with the heel of the hand for a minimum of ten minutes. Most bleeding will stop in that time. If bleeding resumes when the pressure is released, press for another 10 minutes.

If direct pressure does not work, apply it an inch or so away from the wound—between the wound and the heart. This can control the vessel bringing blood from the heart into the wound area. When the bleeding stops, tie the pad or dressing in place as securely as possible but not so tight that all circulation is cut off.

Here are other things to remember during treatment: *If the bleeding person is not breathing, restore it first with cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR).

*While the person is lying down, elevate the bleeding area above heart level, if possible.

*Keep the victim as warm and calm as possible.

*Do not use a tourniquet except as a last resort. A tourniquet can block all blood to a part and cause permanent damage. If you must use one, loosen it for a few seconds every 15 minutes.

*Bleeding from the ear usually indicates a skull fracture. If a bleeding head wound looks indented, apply a dressing without pressure. An underlying injury could be worsened with pressure.

*After the dressing is applied to the wound, it is generally better not to remove the material that blood has soaked through. Just add more. Check the dressing frequently to make sure swelling has not tightened the wrap too much.

*As soon as an initial attempt is made to control bleeding, a person should be taken to a medical facility. Treatment also can take place on the way.

Repair bids OKd on damaged dams

Cooke County commissioners last week approved bids in the amount of $31,132 to repair six flood control dams in the Muenster area which were damaged in last October's record flood.

One of the jobs was awarded to Frankie Hess of Muenster, the other five to Michael Otto of Nocona. The county provides 25 percent of the funding and the Soil Conservation Service provides 75 percent.

Families learn & play at Sesame Place

Irving, Texas
Heart of the Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex

A large sign at the entrance to the Sesame Place Play Courts says: "Sesame Place is the park where you learn while you play."

Simply stated, that's what the new entertainment facility designed for families with children ages 3 to 13 is all about.

"Play is the universal theme which unites all of the Sesame Place activities," said William R. Monty, general manager of the new Sesame Place in the Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex.

Created by Children's Television Workshop and Busch Entertainment Corp., Sesame Place is a unique environment which combines outdoor play equipment, science elements and computer games.

"The park is designed with the understanding that constructive play is an essential ingredient in the development of children," Monty said.

A breakthrough in combining play and informal learning, Sesame Place is conducive to involving the whole family in playful experiences. The park environment was specially designed to foster the development of children through play, and to provide opportunities for informal learning as well.

"At Sesame Place, parents also grow closer to their kids because they become kids again, themselves," Monty observes. "Most parents really don't 'play' with their children, but at Sesame Place, it's almost impossible not to participate."

Adults as well as older children discover that Sesame Place provides physical and mental activities that stretch both their bodies and minds.

"The computer games, science elements and outdoor play activities are designed so that there are many different levels of understanding," said Dr. Marilyn Rothenberg, research and development for Sesame Place, Inc. "Older and younger children can come away from some of the same activities with totally different experiences based on their levels of development."

Dr. Rothenberg explains that young children are intrigued with how an object feels, moves and looks, while older children are more concerned with mastering something and interacting with older youngsters.

"Since children learn about the world through their own active involvement, the play area is particularly important," said Dr. Rothenberg. "It helps them test their capacities and learn to use their mental capabilities to control their motor and physical activities."

She explains that as children learn to coordinate their mental and physical capabilities, their self confidence grows.

More than 30 outdoor play elements invite youngsters to climb, bounce, crawl, slide and jump.

In the "Monster Maze," lightweight punching bags create a fun "forest" to explore. Oversized building blocks at the "Sesame Construction Co.," encourage youngsters to erect their own structures.

"The building blocks are designed to be too large for a youngster to handle by himself so he must work with others on his construction project," Dr. Rothenberg said.

Other outdoor play elements also contribute to the learning process. Activities like "Ernie's Bed Bounce" where families jump on an oversized air mattress, and the "Count's Ballroom" where kids crawl through 180,000 plastic balls contribute to a greater understanding of the more formal physical properties of liquids, gases and granular solids.

Everything at Sesame Place is playful from the colorful bilingual signage featuring the humor of the Muppet characters to the science elements like the "Zoetrope" which encourage families to make their own motion pictures.

The computers with their specially designed keyboards invite youngsters and adults to play some 60 different games for different age levels. Instructions are simple which helps make first-time users more comfortable with the computer.

The Sesame Place Food Factory also carries through the theme of play by making the visitors a part of the food service. The open kitchen is designed so that children can see and be entertained by the food preparation while learning more about it.

While Mr. Hooper's Store delights children with its wide assortment of "Sesame toys, books, puzzles, games and apparel, it also encourages play. There is room for children to take books off the shelf and examine items for sale at their own eye levels.

At Sesame Place, children also can play with TV equipment at the Sesame Studio which features a replica of the "Sesame Street" set. Instead of passively watching, children are encouraged to operate a movable TV camera, watch themselves on TV and work a modified broadcast control panel.

There's also Ernie's Bathub[®] where kids and their parents can have their pictures taken in the bathtub with Ernie and Rubber Duckie.

"Sesame Place is a park where families can leave their inhibitions at the gate, and truly relax and enjoy each other in a free setting that encourages fun and play," Dr. Rothenberg explained.

Pair vacations with Utah kin

Mrs. Dan Bayer of Muenster and Sister Francesca Walterscheid of OLV Convent, Fort Worth have returned from a ten day vacation visit with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Walterscheid of Moab, Utah, and members of their family.

The two went by plane to Salt Lake City and were met at the airport by Michael Walterscheid who took them to the family home in Moab. At the end of their visit Sister Francesca flew to San Diego to visit friends and Mrs. Bayer returned to DFW where she was met by her daughters Denise and Melissa who spent six days with Gretchen and Larry Kostyniak and son Brian of Benbrook.

While in Moab, Mary Alice and Sister Francesca visited with Tom and Cindy Beck and daughters Nicole and Lyndsay; and Miss Dee Dee Walterscheid all of Grand Junction, Colorado; and Tommy Walterscheid and sons Ritchie and Timmy. The first evening they all visited by phone with Corinne and Lenny Walterscheid and son, Justin of Chicago.

The hosts, Leonard and Betty Walterscheid entertained with outdoor cookouts at their home and as a special treat, arranged for a three hour speed boat ride on the Colorado River. They each had a turn at driving the boat and said it was exciting to ride through the rapids.

Also included in the vacation was a two day visit in grand Junction, Colo. in the homes of the Tom Becks and Dee Dee Walterscheid. In Moab, they continued sight seeing, and some of the highlights were the Arches National Park and Dead Horse Point and even some mountain climbing.

Growing African Violets
by Ted Brice

Hybridista have created thousands of cultivars from the original few African violet species. They are free flowering and much easier to grow than their ancestors. The foliage can vary from somewhat velvety smooth or plain smooth, scalloped or wavy, lance or heart-shaped, green or variegated. The flowers range from single, to double or semi-double in shades of pink, blue, lavender, purple or white. The soil must be sterilized or a commercially mixed package of potting soil specifically for African Violets must be used. They need bright light in the spring and summer and some sun in the fall and winter. They must be set so that the crown is slightly above the soil line. Remember African Violets always need good air circulation. The soil needs to be watered moderately in order to keep it slightly moist but never wet. You should always use tepid water to water either the soil or the leaves. Bottom watering is often advised to insure even moisture at the roots but you can water from top as well.

You can alternate watering from the bottom and the top, this would insure even moisture at the roots. Never leave the leaves wet for any length of time. Remember to arrange for proper drainage when potting and don't let your plants stand in water. African Violets need humidity of forty to sixty percent which is very essential and can be promoted by setting the plants on pebble filled trays. Dry air will cause the leaves to curl and the buds to drop. There are two ways to propagate, and that is by seed and leaf cuttings. Remember humidity, moist soil (not wet) sterilized soil and the amount of light are major factors in growing African Violets. Some of the blue cultivars are: Alakazam, Big Boy Blue, Layd Wilson and Purple Knight; some of the white cultivars are, White Girl, White Doll, and White Perfection; some of the pink cultivars are, Bloom Burst, Flash, Happy Time and Pink Rock; some of the red cultivars are, Red Honey, Honeyette and Chochoise. This month and next month will be the time of the year for the African Violet Shows and you can learn more about growing African Violets by visiting one of these shows.

Forestburg News

by Myrt Denham

On these hot-humid summer days it seems like there just isn't much stirring going on amongst the local population. I spent most of this past Mon a.m. trying to ferret out news for this column. However, most everyone replied "no company - haven't gone anywhere-don't know a thing." Thus we come up on the short side of the news from time to time.

Mrs. Bula Mae Berry is on the sick list-not in the hospital-at home but feeling mighty poorly.

On of our Stoney Point neighbors reports that H.A. Dunn, of the Dyemound Area, is a patient in the Muenster Memorial Hospital as of Fri. July 30.

Recent visitors with Arthur "Charlie" Barclay were Mrs. Fannie Kuykendall of Carnegie, Okla. and the former Gaskin girls, Dean and Edna, now of Oklahoma City.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Perryman and son Elbert of Wichita Falls visited with Mrs. Joe Denham of Bowie on Mon. July 26. They all then visited with Mr. and Mrs. Oran Steadham also of Bowie.

Mmes. Millie Reynolds, Imogene Links, Cecil Perryman and daughter Shelle, Rocky and Joey Gates all visited Mrs. Denham on Wed. July 28. On Sat. July 31, Mrs. Denham was visited by her son Perryman and wife Myrtle.

Recent visitors with Mrs. Atrice Sledge were Mr. and Mrs. M.D. Gresham, their daughter Paula Sue and her daughter Christie all of Denton.

Kody Dill, son of the Charles Dills, celebrated a birthday July 27 and his cousin Miss Tracy Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore, celebrated her birthday Thurs. July 29. The Dills and Moores honored their children with a big birthday party Thurs. night July 29 at the swimming pool in the Muenster Park. Many relatives and friends attended enjoying cake and punch.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bryant and girls who live near Huntsville and Mr. and Mrs. S.T. Warford of Slidell were all Thurs. July 29 visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Ray (Ted) Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Fanning and baby of Denton visited with the Ross Littells of Stoney Point Fri. July 30.

Mrs. Ruthie Steadham and Mrs. Emma Steadham were in Muenster Fri. the 30th on business and shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carter and Lester W. Boyd made a business and shopping trip to Wichita Falls Friday the 30th.

Arthur Charlie Barclay celebrated his birthday Friday July 30. On Thurs the 29th Charlies and Frau Gladys motored to Sanger where their son, Billy and wife Sherri honored Charlie with a birthday supper. Then on Fri. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McCandless honored Charlie with another birthday supper. Charlie and Gladys should be well-fed these days.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan (Dink) Curbo of Fort Worth visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ray (Ted) Jackson Fri. July 30. Mmes. Curbo and Jacksons are cousins. Kelly Colwell was a overnite guest in the Jackson home Sat. night July 31.

Mmes. Minnie Sirman, Millie Reynolds and Wanda Perryman went shopping in Denton Sat. July 31 and celebrated Wanda's birthday.

Mmes. Ruthie and Emma Steadham made it over to Gainesville Sat. July 31 on business and shopping. They must have had a little money left from their Friday's trip to Muenster so decided to see what they could find in Gainesville. "More power" to them.

Mr. and Mrs. Tolbert Fanning, Stoney Point, motored out to Abilene Fri. July 30 to take their grandson, Chris, home. They also visited with Tolbert's brother Foy and family in Buffalo Gap. The Fannings returned home Sun. Aug. 1.

Allen Taylor and daughter Verna Mae visited with Ross and Lucille Littell Sun. Aug. 1. Lucille says Allen seems to be getting along some better.

Mmes. FRances Brewer, Decie Ellzey and Vera Mae McGee attended the community sing at the Prairie Point Nazarene church Sun. night Aug. 1. They report a thoroughly wonderful evening and say there was a big attendance. We are given to understand there will be more of these community sings coming up.

Jack and Vest Lee Carter attended the Thompson family reunion at the home of T.G. Thompson at Lake Tawakoni Sunday Aug. 1. Mrs. Carter's mother, Mrs. Charity Boyd, was a Thompson before her marriage. T.G. is Mrs. Boyd's brother. We would like to add here that Mrs. Charity is holding her own these days but still rather weak.

Mrs. Juanita Bailey reports that her son, Ronald Bailey of Lubbock was best man at his son's wedding Saturday night July 31 in Pheonix, Arizona. Ronald's son Roger was united in marriage to Miss Cathy Cheery of Phoenix. Roger and bride are in Hawaii on their honeymoon and afterwards will return to their studies at Abilene Christian College.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Barclay were in Alvord Sat. night July 31 visiting with his brother Troy and wife Donna. They enjoyed an evening of 42 degrees. During the day Sat. the Barclays' son Billy and daughter Jennifer visited with them. Then on Sun. Aug. 1 Charlie's brother Pete and wife Ina of Alvord visited with them.

James Thurman of the Burg, Cecil Foster of Denton and Mr. and Mrs. Donal R. Sledge of Nocona were July 31 weekend visitors with Mrs. Atrice Sledge.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Dill motored over to Gainesville Sun. the 1st, right after church services. There they met with Jack's brother Ray Kent Dill and family-they all had lunch together then went to visit with Jack and Ray Kent's aunt-Mrs. Lillian Lee, who resides in a Gainesville rest home.

Late Sun p.m. Mmes. Wanda Perryman and Millie Reynolds gathered up their great-nephews, Rocky and Joey Gates, took them to the Dairy Queen in NOcona to eat supper and then on to the Nocona park to play awhile.

Dear Loyd and Henry Golightly your Forestburg friends and relatives miss you and certainly would like to hear from you, and also would like your new address!

Mrs. Sue Sutton of Rosston visited with her aunt Mrs. Edna Forrester Mon. Aug. 1. Sue is the daughter of the late Helen and Jace Poyner.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald O'Brien and three sons of Wichita Falls came thru Forestburg Sat. afternoon July 31, picked up Chad Hudspeth and headed for Arlington to attend a Texas Ranger baseball game. The O'Briens then spent Sat. night with her parents the Clifford Hudspeths. Then on Sun. the 1st, they, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Lynch and Rayann, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hudspeth and children all enjoyed Sunday dinner with the Clifford Hudspeths.

Would like to say that perryman and I visited with Dude and Bula Mae Berry Sun. afternoon August 1. What a delightful visit it was!

Laura Belle and Ted Jackson's 15th great-grandchild arrived Friday night July 30 at 10 p.m. It is a boy- and the parents are Mr. and Mrs. Darrell McCandless of Floydada. The baby's grandmother is Mrs. Quida McCandless also of Floydada. Oh yes, the young Master McCandless weighed in at 6 lbs. 4 oz. and at this writing I do not have his first name.

Leave us not forget the Watermelon Festival at Forestburg Aug. 27-28. The Forestburg United Methodist Church plans to have a booth again, with baked goods and homemade ice cream plus a garage sale. More later.

USDA Secretary announces changes in conservation blueprint

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block announced the final conservation program this week as a result of the Soil and Water Conservation Resources Act (RCA) of 1977.

Ray Svacina, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Gainesville, said the Secretary told 13 Midwestern governors that "state and local governments must take greater initiatives in soil and water conservation especially as we struggle in Washington to hold down the growth of Federal spending."

Other features of the Secretary's blueprint for action include:

* A national conservation strategy that focuses on solving two priority needs. First priority is to combat soil erosion in high-production farm areas. Second priority is water problems, with water conservation the goal in the arid West and prevention of damage from upstream flooding in other areas.

* Targeting of an increasing share of USDA conservation funds and personnel to areas where "the need for conservation is critical in national terms."

* continuation of a "base program" that will keep in place the technical and financial help that USDA has been providing for local conservation programs. The base program will receive 75 percent of all USDA technical and financial assistance funds; targeted areas will use no more than 25 percent of total funds by 1987.

* Matching grants to conservation districts, through state conservation agencies. Grants are authorized by the Agriculture and Food Act of 1981 and Block said they will encourage "more state and local initiative in conservation."

* Redoubling of efforts among farmers to promote conservation tillage, which saves fuel, labor and soil.

* Finally, a survey of all USDA farm programs to find any that, unintentionally, may be working against good soil and water conservation. The new plan will require borrowers in two Farmers Home Administration loan programs-farm ownership and soil and water loans-to have conservation plans.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to send a sincere and loving "thank you" to all my nieces and nephews and friends for all the beautiful cards, prayers, and flowers sent to me, while I was in Deaf Smith General Hospital. You will never know how much they all helped. After three weeks hospitalization, I am now in the home of my oldest daughter. I have a nice young lady who stays in daytime, and helps with bath and therapy, etc. Many thanks again. God bless all of you.

We wish to thank our wonderful friends and family for helping us through a difficult time. While Debra Lee was a patient at children's Medical Center in Dallas, not a day went by that we didn't receive a phone call, cards, flowers, or a visit from someone. We even heard that all the students at Vacation Bible School prayed for Debra on the day of her surgery. Maybe that's why she is doing so well! Thank you all for everything. We will always remember your kindness and will treasure every favor.

Hobby receives TSTA endorsement

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, whose re-election was endorsed by the Texas State Teachers Association, said Friday that public education will continue to be one of his top priorities.

"Bill Hobby's experience in educational matters makes him the superior candidate in the Lieutenant governor's race," said Barbara O'Neal, TSTA president, in announcing the group's endorsement of Hobby.

Hobby said that improving the state's public schools is critical and that his efforts on behalf of teachers and the school system are far from being complete. He said that in his capacities as lieutenant governor and chairman of the Select Committee on Public Education he will work closely with other top state officials to insure a quality education for the school children of Texas.

"Bill Hobby has a very admirable record on educational matters," O'Neal said. "He plans to continue that record by appointing senators to key Senate committees who are knowledgeable and committed to public education and to teachers."

During Hobby's tenure as lieutenant governor, the Legislature has approved several measures that have significantly improved public education. These include measures that:

- Established the Commission on Standards for the Teaching Profession that is responsible for improving teacher education programs.
- Established teacher competency legislation that requires prospective teachers to be tested in the basic skills before and after the teacher education program.
- Provided major curriculum reform.
- Provided teachers with a significant salary increase.

"If we do not seriously consider the changing conditions of the teaching profession and the impending shortages of teachers, we will not be able to meet the teaching demands in this state by the 1990s," Hobby said. "While striving to meet the increased needs of public education, we must walk a fine line between retaining quality teachers in our schools while at the same time attracting more individuals into the profession."

Now is the time to apply for 1983 all-risk crop insurance

Wheat growers interested in All-Risk insurance for their 1983 crops should contact their insurance agent as soon as possible, according to F.W. "Ted" Crouch, Jr., All-Risk Insurance Field Operation Director.

Although the deadline to obtain wheat insurance isn't until September 15, Crouch suggests three reasons why growers should begin making their plans now. First, early consideration will provide additional time to develop a program of insurance coverage that best meets the individual policyholder's needs.

Secondly, it can be useful to farmers to have their insurance arranged before they visit with their lenders about production loans. Insurance helps to minimize the uncertainty involved in the year-ahead cash flow projections that many lenders today require.

Third, an early application allows additional time for growers to verify yield records that may enable them to qualify for increased insurance protection.

Crouch points out that the expanded and revised wheat insurance program now in effect provides a variety of ways for producers to tailor their coverage to their needs for insurance protection and their budgets. For example, policies offer a choice of production guarantees as well as a choice of indemnity payments for each bushel of loss.

The ASCS county office has a list of local private agents who are handling the federally-backed insurance policies.

FB head approves proposed grain deal with Russia

Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka has expressed satisfaction with President Reagan's intention to extend the Russian grain agreement on a one-year basis because of its favorable economic impact upon American agriculture.

Chaloupka viewed Reagan's announcement during a Wednesday night press conference as a major step in resolving the "serious economic problems in agriculture" by permitting the U.S. to export "more grain than we have in the past."

Grain prices have been generally depressed due to an oversupply.

Wheat stocks on hand have increased by 506 million bushels in the past year. That represents a one-year increase of 15.4 percent. The price for wheat took a significant drop. Whereas the average price for wheat in June 1981 was $3.70 a bushel, the price dipped to $3.41 per bushel this June.

The total supply of wheat as of June was 3 billion, 784 million bushels. According to the USDA projections, the American need for wheat this year will be 872 million bushels. That means the U.S. has more than a four-year supply on hand to meet its domestic needs, which points up Chaloupka's contention that it is "necessary" for the U.S. to export more wheat.

Wheat export projections for this year are one billion, 850 million bushels.

The average prices for corn and grain sorghum, likewise, have plummeted during the past year.

Corn in June 1981 was selling for $3.17 a bushel as compared to $2.56 a bushel this past June. Sorghum sold for $5.03 per hundredweight in June 1981, but dropped to $4.36 a hundredweight this past June.

Although no official word has come from the Reagan Administration regarding a Soviet grain deal, Chaloupka said "whatever we do, we're going to help agriculture" through an accord with the Russians.

The American Farm Bureau Federation contends that long-term agreements tend to limit sales.

Chaloupka observed that the Russians have historically been a "large purchaser" of American grain and that a continuation of that relation is "necessary to our economic area of agriculture."

Conservation tillage

By John L. Kazda
Conservation Agronomist

Conservation tillage systems are many and varied but they all have three things in common, according to John L. Kazda, Conservation Agronomist with the Soil Conservation Service. Conservation tillage systems reduce soil erosion, conserve moisture and reduce the use of fuel.

There are many different types of systems going from no tillage to three or four tillage operations. Some are developed for crop rotation and others for continuous single cropping. Still others are for double cropping.

The most used systems in North Texas today include wheat-grain sorghum rotations, continuous cropping of wheat or grain sorghum, and double cropping of wheat and soybeans or wheat and grain sorghum.

In 1981 Dub Davis of Bonham double cropped grain sorghum after wheat. After harvesting 50 bushel wheat he used a no-till planter and seeded grain sorghum in the stubble on June 19. One and one-half quarts of Lorax and one quart of MSMA was used for weed control, the grain sorghum was harvested in late October with a 4200 pound per acre average yield.

These double crop systems work in years of average or above rainfall. A decision has to be made at wheat harvest time if a second crop should be planted. A good rule of thumb is to plant when soil moisture is good throughout the soil profile.

If you have a field that is free of perennial weeds and is not poorly drained and want to try a conservation tillage system, contact your local SCS office.

SPORTS

Hornets confident for 1982

The Hornets of Muesner High will start their 1982 football season Monday morning at 7 when about 30 of them are expected to report to Coaches Leonard Peters, Charles Meurer, Alan Gustine and Bob Grass. That will be the beginning of two-a-day practice sessions, the hours to be determined by the players.

Peters is optimistic about the number of boys who will try for the team. Through sustaining heavy losses in last year's graduation, he has had good participation in the school's athletic program, including shap-up activity such as work on the road and the weights. Another encouragement is expected in re-appearance of a few who missed a year or two lately. The coaches are confident they will have plenty of boys for varsity and JV teams.

Furthermore they intend to be competitive in spite of gloomy predictions by the football prophets. Campbell's football magazine rates them as No. 14 in the 16 member District 9A, and they are No. 6 in the 8-member west zone of the district. By the statistics they face a tough, uphill season but with a satisfaction of knowing they have lots of opportunity to move up. Opponents are placed on notice that MHS will concede nothing.

Team membership will be headed by six of last year's veterans: Chris Rohmer, Joe Hennigan, Greg Luke, Tim Fleeman, Kevin Felderhoff and Ronnie Fisher. Others will be mostly sophomores from last year's junior varsity and a few boys expected to return to the roster.

Members of District 9-A in the order of rating by Campbell are Lindsay (picked as first in the state as well as the district) and Bells, Valley View, Caddo Mills, Lone Oak, Prosper, Blue Ridge, Cumby, Celeste, Collinsville, Fannindale, Savoy, Detroit, Muenster, Gunter and Era. Muenster's opponents of the west zone will be Prosper, Collinsville, Bells, Valley View, Lindsay, Gunter and Era.

Scrimmages with Boyd and Southlake Carroll will be followed by pre season games with Callisburg, Saint Jo and Windthorst and then the seven games of the west zone, District 9-A.

SH Alumni sponsors golf tournament August 29

Early registrations are being welcomed by Sacred Heart Alumni for an 18 hole two member scramble golf tournament at the Gainesville Municipal Course on Sunday, August 29. A team may be made up of two men or women or a mixed pair. Participation is limited to the first 60 teams entered, and the entry fee will be $30 per team, green fees included.

Entries will be divided into five equal flights of 12 teams each. Players will meet at 8 a.m. and action will begin with a shotgun start at 8:15.

Prizes valued at more than $1500 include golf balls for the first three places in each flight; golf bags for two long drive holes; trophies for two nearest to pin holes; and an array of merchandise prizes.

Entries with fee can be sent to Box 16-C2 Muenster. More information is available from Mark Hess, 817-759-4245.

Janie Hartman Photo Nobody seems to care who wins, they're playing just for fun in the newly organized ladies' slow pitch league. A total of 70 players aged 18 to 60 are organized into four teams playing two 9 inning games a week but wasting no time on practice. The season started July 27 and will end September 3. In this picture Ginny Schneider is the batter, Anita Lutmer the catcher, Larry Gobble the umpire.

Tigers to have one-a-day practice

With great prospects of improving on last year's 5-4 record, the Sacred Heart Tigers are looking forward eagerly to the beginning of 1982 football next Monday.

Their program, with Jon LeBrasseur directing and Virgil Henscheid and Julian Walterscheid assisting, will begin at 6 p.m. with one-a-day practice sessions which the Tiger bosses hope will turn out to be more pleasing to all concerned and productive as well. A few variations are that sessions will be longer and Saturday is added as another practice day.

As estimated by Henscheid, total practice time will be about the same as the twice-a-day grind. Besides, it should be a relief to have the single session instead of two. And Henscheid likes to believe that the end effect is also an improvement, that boys are less likely to approach a mental and physical burn-out than in the more rugged program. Hopefully, they will be in all-around better condition, he said.

The Tigers will be making a good start, with benefit of regular summer conditioning by road work and weight handling. Other good signs are that the turnout of players is expected to have more weight and experience and talent than last year and the total number will be about the same. If that's the case the Tigers can have varsity and junior varsity teams.

Judged by the pre-season rating Sacred Heart will start the year as top contender for the champ title in District 3-3A of Texas Christian Interscholastic League. Tyler Gorman and Wichita Falls Notre Dame are the remaining teams of that loop. If it can win district it advances to state semi-final. The 1981 Tigers advanced to that point and were eliminated by Marion of Houston.

Sacred Heart lost only four starters by graduation and have ten seniors returning, an apparent gain in strength, and opposition is expected to be lighter.

The seniors are Ricky

Hennigan, Greg Walterscheid, Wade Walterscheid, TJ Walterscheid, Lonnie Henscheid, Curtis Henscheid, Darrell Herr, Floyd Trubenbach, Mike Bartush and Mike Dangelmayr. Other veterans are Neil Hesse, Bret Walterscheid, Kyle Walterscheid and Troy Yosten. And more help is due from the 1981 junior high team.

First action for the boys is scrimmage with Era and Lake Dallas. Then the Tigers will play eight non-district before the title games with Tyler Gorman and Notre Dame.

Staff Photo Safe or out? Sixteen teams were entered including three from Muenster which won three of the top four places. Miller Beer was No. 1, Express of Gainesville was No. 2, Natural Light was No. 3, Red River Cut Rate was No. 4. Playing started at 8 p.m. Saturday, ended at 4:30 a.m. Sunday.

Growing Child

Young children rarely fight in the first few years of life. But some children, as they get older, will react to frustration by fighting, hitting other children or adults, provoking fights by teasing and calling names or by using bad language. This is the way some children show or express their feelings, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter.

Whether children continue to use fighting as a way of settling problems or taking out their disappointments depends very much on how the parents handle it. Obviously, hitting children is not a good way to set an example to stop them from hitting others. Instead it is most important for you to set firm limits and indicate your disapproval of that sort of behavior without getting violent about it yourself.

Children do imitate each other's behavior and some children learn bad habits from other children. But they imitate their parents even more.

If they hear shouting and see fighting at home they will tend to do the same thing in their play and other activities. The child who is always fighting and bullying others is in trouble. Such children are usually feared and disliked by other children and adults. They find themselves more and more left out by other children which makes them angrier and even more ready to fight.

Children have to learn other ways of dealing with difficult situations. Parents have to help them by setting a useful example.

The child who is always a victim-always being bullied or picked on by other children-is probably also repeating behavior learned at home. These are often children whose parents are never satisfied with them and are always belittling them. In the same way the child who is always being beaten at home may learn no other way of relating to people but to be beaten by them in one way or another.

Both kinds of children have a very poor opinion of themselves. They can seldom handle problems in a calm, strong way because they have no confidence in themselves. Instead they either become victims or they strike out in rage from time to time at their frustrations in always being the victim.

In either case they seldom get what they want. Children like this find it difficult as they grow up to do well in school, at work, in marriage or in any other important life experiences.

Parents must watch their own behavior. For those who have always been shouters, name callers and hitters this may be difficult to do. Some parents don't even recognize that they are that kind of person until they see their children imitating them.

No matter how difficult it seems, the effort to change this pattern is worthwhile. It can help spare children a lifetime of frustration and difficulty. You can tell when you are in trouble when your child is doing something that you cannot stand and cannot stop. That is the time to get some professional help. (Excerpted from "Your Child From One to Six," HEW publication, Richard H. Granger, MD).

The growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information on the social and physical development of children from birth to six years old, write to Growing Child, PO Box 620N, Lafayette, In. 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing. A year's subscription to the newsletter costs $11.95.

Growing Child Column "Fighting"

In the closing liturgy for Vacation Bible School, Father Victor Gillespie accepts the Offertory gifts of bread, wine and water from Lisa Russell and Marlene Hess, while mission project directors Mrs. Gilbert Knabe and Mrs. David Vogel wait to present a Ronald McDonald collection and a basket of gifts donated in the 1982 mission project.

Successful Bible school closes

A full week of planned programs and learning situations, fun activities, religious songs, Bible study and crafts filled the days of 1982 Vacation Bible School, which closed with a special Liturgy on July 30. Theme for the week, at all levels of instruction, was "Come, Follow Jesus."

With an average daily attendance of 200 students, the 15 teachers, 15 aides, and 30 helpers began each morning with a 9 a.m. worship service.

In the Community Center, Mrs. Theresa Walterscheid directed 3 and 4 year olds, leading them in prayers, songs and instruction. The children also had the opportunity to present gifts for this year's mission project, the Ronald McDonald houses.

The group including 5 year olds through 5th grade began their worship service each morning with a procession into church. Mmes. Emily Klement, Christi Klement and Ruth Felderhoff were in charge of music and singing.

They led the Pledge of Allegiance to the American flag, the Christian flag and the Bible. Children made their contributions to the mission project.

In individual classrooms, the children heard Bible stories, stories of Christian living, and how Christians can follow Jesus.

In mid-morning, students were served refreshments by Jenny Felderhoff, Sharon and Jeannine Voth and numerous helpers.

Each child received a coupon from McDonald's for a free order of French fries, as the firm's way of saying "Thank You" for the student contributions to McDonald Houses of Dallas-Fort Worth. Jeannie Patterson represented McDonald's.

The liturgy for the closing Mass on Friday was planned by Mmes. Emily Klement, Karen Klement and Christi Klement. The entrance procession included Jason Walterscheid and Scott Vogel, flag bearers; Co-director Mrs. Shirley Hess carrying a Bible; celebrant Father Victor and Mass servers David Rohmer, Jason Gehrig, Ryan Bayer, Ricky Walterscheid and Michael Mangum. Readers were Raymond Stewart and Ryan Gehrig. Petitions were given by Jamie Flusche, Leslie Klement, Cindy Schilling, Michael Vogel, Cherie Moster and Johnny Moster.

Ushers for the day were Noelle Hesse, Janel Flusche, Kathy Moster, and Amy Walterscheid. Bread, wine and water were carried by Lisa Russell and Marlene Hess; Linda Knabe and Mrs. David Vogel, mission project directors presented the Ronald McDonald collection house and a basket of items donated to the Houses this year.

Four and five year olds sang the Offertory song and the student body sang the Communion song. Mmes. Klement and Felderhoff sang the meditation. The closing song was the theme "Come, Follow Jesus."

Special decorations in church included a theme poster and a mission poster.

In his closing remarks, Father Victor thanked all involved in Vacation Bible School for their dedication to teaching God's children about His Holy Word and told the children the best reward they could present was a hug and kiss from their teachers.

Vacation Bible School directors for 1982 were Mrs. Shirley Hess and Mrs. Wanda Flusche.

HEALTH-YOUR RESPONSIBILITY

Kathryn S. Stream, Ph.D.
Director, Medical and Community Services
Westgate Hospital and Medical Center

As we learn more about the prevention of coronary artery disease, some phrases and labels, once strange sounding, are becoming household words. Arteriosclerosis is an example of that familiarization phenomenon. Arteriosclerosis, commonly known as hardening of the arteries, is more correctly described as a loss of elasticity, a thickening and eventual hardening of the blood vessel wall of an artery.

Arteriosclerosis occurs when fat adheres along the inner wall of an artery. These fatty deposits, or plaques, can occur anywhere in the body and begin forming as early as young adulthood, especially in young men. Over the years these deposits increase in size and harden. This thickening constricts the flow of blood through the artery. Dr. Paul Dudley White has called arteriosclerosis "the great 20th century epidemic". The problem evidently begins at a fairly early age. Autopsies performed on the bodies of American G.I.s in Vietnam showed that in all cases some degree of hardening of the arteries was found in the bodies of these soldiers.

How does this build-up actually happen? We have certain blood fats called lipids. In the bloodstream, lipids are carried by protein called lipoproteins. Some of these lipoproteins promote hardening of the arteries.

Maybe lipoprotein isn't a household word, but read on -- the labels get more familiar.

The lipoproteins that promote hardening of the arteries are (1) the low density lipoproteins (LDL) or cholesterol and (2) the very low density lipoproteins (VLDL) or triglycerides. However, not all lipoproteins promote arteriosclerosis. The high density lipoproteins (HDL) may actually prevent cholesterol from depositing along the arterial wall (American Journal of Clinical Nutrition, November, 1981).

Although it is not technically correct, in my imagination I see the HDL's as the good guys in white hats bobbing up and down in my bloodstream and bumping into those sluggish LDL's and VLDL's hanging onto the side. This bumping gets the LDL's and VLDL's moving again and opens the artery area for blood flow.

What is technically correct is that most of us probably need more HDL's and less LDL's and VLDL's. How does one promote this healthy ratio? One way involves making a gradual shift away from foods that are high in cholesterol, saturated or unsaturated fats. This shift would cut out processed meats like salami, bologna, hot dogs, and bacon. Cutting down on whole milk, cheese, cream, egg yolks, and butter will also prove helpful. The second way includes an exercise program. The first of these avenues would cut down on cholesterol taken into the system. The second approach should help rid the body of cholesterol already collected. Proper diet and exercise, the dynamic duo, continue to top the list of preventive practices.

Texas A&M students design space station

COLLEGE STATION — Orbiting space stations, planned as man's next step toward a working occupation of space and the next development beyond the shuttle, have been designed by Texas A&M University aerospace engineering students for a national design contest.

The giant complexes would provide living quarters, shuttle docking sites, berthing space for satellites, manufacturing/industrial facilities and scientific experimentation chambers.

"These aren't comic book ideas," said Prof. Stan H. Lowy, assistant dean of engineering. Lowy and Dr. Howard Chevalier, both aerospace engineering professors, taught the students who generated the designs.

"NASA is involved in designing such a complex of its own, called a Space Operations Center. Depending on budget restraints, we may see such a station in orbit in the next 20 years," said Chevalier.

The student designs have been entered in the upcoming American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA) Bendix Competition.
