An intriguing thought presented at least twice in recent weeks by Paul Harvey is the possibility of persuading Castro to break away from Communism and join the Western way of freedom and free enterprise.

After the ill feeling separating US and Cuba these many years, the possibility of that happening seems very remote, but there are also many circumstances favoring improvement of relations between the two countries.

First and foremost, it seems Castro has had many occasions to compare his country now with what it was before he took over. He knows people used to be free, had no fears and enjoyed a far better standard of living. On the other hand, he sees the fear and poverty inherent in Communism, and he sees people still risking their lives to escape. Though once feeling secure and mighty in being a part of the world wide Red system, he has had time to realize he is only a puppet and his people are pawns shipped to Africa and Central America to do the Kremlin's dirty work.

To hear Castro's occasional rantings we would think he has his heart in the hate-America tirades, but one has to remember that he's deeply involved with Moscow through ideology as well as the embarrassing fact that the Cuban economy receives a million dollars daily in subsidy from Russia. This dependence must be a blow to his pride. The thought of leading his country from this subversion and degradation to its old time prosperity must appeal to the bearded one.

Hence the idea of a change of attitudes is not as remote as outward signs of world conditions might indicate. Wishful thinkers of both Cuba and US can see ample inducement. We especially relish the thought of a turn around of influence in Central and South America. Touchy conditions there aided Cuba in spreading Communism, and public favor can be expected to change back if Cuba leads the way. Besides, Moscow has lots of trouble elsewhere, especially Poland and Afghanistan. It's conceivable that the Red Monster's fortunes will decline if Cuba makes the break.

All this is wishful thinking, of course, but it has been said responsible people of both countries are talking. If so, it is the best international news of many years.

President Reagan's remarks about disarmament in last week's press conference hopefully will help put over his long range plan of arms reduction. He indicated clearly that the aim is to catch up with Red potential so as to arrive at a bargaining level.

As of now the USSR is definitely ahead, so US cannot gain while the two are limiting equally. So, in keeping with the old theory that countries want to bargain from a position of strength, it's important for US to improve its potential.

When that time is reached, we are assured, is the proper time to start trimming the arsenals. Best interests of both countries will be served when they can spend less on munitions and more on providing better living...along with generous help to the poor people of other countries. We can imagine great strides in science, medicine, transpor-

Fr. Stephen returns to Subiaco

Father Stephen Eckart OSB this week confirmed a report that he is about to leave Muenster after serving for almost nine years as assistant pastor of Sacred Heart Church. He said he will transfer on June 6 to his monastery at Subiaco Ark.

There he will begin a summer assignment as director and guide at a youth camp during the week and serve on Sundays as mission pastor to parishes near the monastery. His permanent assignment, due in the fall, will be determined by which duty is more urgent.

At Sacred Heart Father Stephen's priority duty was as assistant pastor. Meanwhile he was also a teacher in Sacred Heart School and head coach during several very successful seasons of the Sacred Heart Tigers football team.

Father Stephen will be succeeded by Father Victor Gillespie, OSB, also of the Subiaco monastery. He was a 1945 graduate of Subiaco Academy and interrupted his study for the priesthood with four years in the armed services. He was ordained in 1956.

Sheep killer dogs strike

Sheep killing dogs are on the prowl in Muenster, as Mr. and Mrs. Lee Haverkamp can testify. They found the evidence Wednesday shortly after seeing from the house that all did not seem right in a shallow ditch of the pasture about a block away. Lee went to investigate carrying a shotgun. At the scene he found seven dead sheep and two dogs apparently feeding on a carcass. He killed one of the dogs with the first shot and the other escaped. He said the dead animal is a German Shepherd with a flea collar but no owner's tag, and added that city police are cooperating in trying to name the owner and secure restitution for the loss. The sheep are valued at $350, the estimated market value. Motorists, seeing from a distance, report they saw several dogs at the scene. The incident took place barely within the east city limit.

Whether any dogs will return is a guess. Haverkamp thinks the one shotgun blast may keep the pack away permanently. He said he had a similar experience several years ago and shot two dogs. Since then he was not bothered for years.

Looking Ahead

by Dr. George S. Benson, President

NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

CAUSE OF THE FEDERAL DEFICIT

The Congress, and the American people whom they represent, are very close to being caught on the horns of a dilemma. We will have to be very careful in the action we take to attempt to alleviate the current recession, else we may turn it into a hyperinflationary period.

Faced with a recession and an estimated budget deficit for Fiscal 1983 of $91.5 billion, the Congress is getting advice from all sides about how to handle this very tricky situation. All the special interest groups are putting a great deal of pressure on the Congress to increase taxes in order to maintain their share from the public trough. We, the people, who earn and produce the wealth that is being redistributed in such vast amounts, will have to be knowledgeable and alert and tation, the arts, etc., if the country's added efforts are directed down those channels.

The most appealing thought, however, is peace. It would be great to have mutual respect among nations, all being aware that there's no such thing as a winnable war. Even in winning, the losses sustained in death and damage would make a heavy loser of a country.

Logical pursuit of that idea leads to complete ban on all super weapons, but reason says there has to be a limit. If all major countries scrapped the big bombs, any or all would be exposing themselves to a fanatical upstart dictator. That threat has to be remembered because too many know how to produce the terrible weapon. Responsible nations with clout must be available to keep the upstarts in line.

Still another consideration in favor of the big bombs is to serve as an equalizer when conventional arms strength gets out of balance. An example is our own country, which can be greatly outnumbered and outgunned by a larger country like Russia or China. If and when we are outmatched in old time warfare we must have access to an equalizer.

This idea of adequate but not excessive nuclear power ought to appeal to all of the country, but unfortunately it involves some escalation before the over-all arms reduction can begin. Our hope is that US will support the president's intention to first get even and then settle down to a disarmament plan that promotes peace and prosperity throughout the world.

make our voices heard in Washington to prevent catastrophe. The deficit has been caused by the tremendous explosion of welfare spending over the past two decades. It has not been caused by the growth in defense spending, as some would have us believe. Here are the facts, stated rather conservatively.

Under President Kennedy in 1962, defense spending accounted for 47.8 percent of the federal budget. President Reagan's 1982 budget calls for spending 26.2 percent on defense.

Kennedy's 1962 budget appropriated 25.1 percent for welfare spending, while Reagan's 1982 budget allocates 53.2 percent for welfare income redistribution.

The facts are clear: Over the past twenty years the percentage spent for the legitimate function of preserving the peace and protecting us from Soviet aggression has decreased from nearly 48 percent to only 26 percent while the percentage of the federal budget unconstitutionally redistributed to others in some form of relief or aid has increased from 25 percent to 53 percent.

It is important to know exactly what is causing federal spending to escalate because that is what is causing the huge deficits. We must cut by billions the funds going to welfare because these are the billions causing the deficits. We have a very serious situation in America today with the formation of hundreds of powerful, well-organized special interest groups, each dedicated to pressuring Congress for unearned and unconstitutional benefits for themselves from the federal government.

Now the government has nothing to provide for the constituents of these pressure groups except what it first takes from the people who are producing the wealth in our nation—those who are working to turn out the goods and services upon which we all depend.

Government is taxing us now at confiscatory levels. In 1962 we paid government $756 per person; in 1982 we are paying government well over $3,000 per person. Although the exact figures are not yet available, we can estimate by the fact that in 1980, with a population then of 226.5 million, we paid government $722 billion—that's $3,188 for every man, woman and child in the country.

Obviously, with taxation at such stifling rates, which discourage business risk and investment and sap disposable income from the workers, we should not attack the deficit by increasing taxes. We should reduce the deficit to manageable proportions by trimming welfare spending.

Letters....Letters....

Editor, Enterprise:

Relative to Dr. Tisdale's letter expressing an opinion about some features of the Germanfest, I want to add, that I certainly believe he or any one else, has a right to their opinions. Personally, I do not oppose or resent having an annual celebration such as the Germanfest. However, when over indulgence in the consuming of beer and/or other booze, results in the participants becoming destructive to property and persons or abusive in general, I for one, think it is time to consider some means of reducing the consumption of booze at the places of entertainment, and the operators assuming the responsibility of removing obnoxious and repulsive characters out of the community.

No law abiding and intelligent citizen appreciates having their property destroyed or damaged by some repulsive, offensive, inebriated character, and such perpetrator should be legally forced to compensate for it.

The rebuttal statement relating that this affair brings in money that would not otherwise be available for improvements for our civic facilities, is no doubt true, but, it does not necessarily hold true that the monetary value compensates the undesirable entertainment. I can think of several other activities that could be inaugurated to bring in a flow of money, such as gambling and similar illicit activities, and could be quoted as being all for a good cause.

The folks who give their time to civic improvements are to be congratulated for their efforts, and I know from experience that it is disheartening to have a divided effort.

Nonetheless, this seems to be the weakness of our human nature, that we must persist in our own ideas and expect all others to coincide in our way. This, as history reflects, is true even with religion. Religion tries to unite us, while churches, all churches, seem to divide us.

Very truly yours
Herbert Meurer

So often we hear only negative reports about teenagers. These reports are discouraging, and usually we tend to judge all teens by what we hear.

I would like to say some encouraging words about some really outstanding young people that I had the pleasure of teaching this year in the CCD Program. These 10th graders faithfully attended class each week and demonstrated a strong desire to actively serve God and to know more about Him. They enriched my life in so many ways by sharing with me their faith, ideas, feelings, prayers, and most of all their love both in words and in actions. It was a year of spiritual growth for each of us. I am so proud of these young people and so thankful to them for making this CCD year so fulfilling for me.

Sincerely,
Irene Hartman

Letter to the Editor

Since my announcement about moving I have had several people voice sorrow at seeing us leave. We hate to leave Muenster but in schools as in many businesses it is necessary to move in order to move up. My five years in Muenster have been very pleasant, for the most part, and I will always hope the school does well.

Bremond is similar to Muenster in some ways but different in others. Their athletic teams have done well, winning state in baseball 1981, second in track 1981, first in football 1981, and third in state track 1982.

In literary events they have not fared so well; I hope to change that. I also hope that Muenster meets Bremond in the playoffs, it will mean we both made it to the finals.

Again, I will miss the people of Muenster but am looking forward to my job in Bremond.

For an enterprising thief, Texas' oilfields offer endless opportunity. Thirty to fifty million dollars worth of oilfield equipment was stolen in Texas last year. These losses are pushing the cost of pumping oil sky high, and that affects each of us.

The drilling boom in Texas has created a demand for materials which are hard to come by. Any tool, large or small, can catch the eye of a thief, as it represents a pocket full of money. This problem is running rampant in Texas and is hard to detect. Items are often taken to another state where they are stripped of serial numbers, given a fresh coat of paint and resold, sometimes back to the original owners.

The industry is fighting back with rewards, recovery systems and better identification methods. Governor

Clements and the Texas Legislature have implemented new laws to stop the growing crime wave in the oil patch—but they can't do it alone.

For the month of May, 1982, the Crime Stoppers Advisory Council is focusing its statewide "Crime of the Month" program on oilfield theft. Any citizen having information about oilfield theft is asked to call the anti-crime hotline at 1-800-252-TIPS. Cash rewards are available for information leading to the arrest and indictment of oilfield thieves. Citizens do not have to reveal their name, just their information, and they will be given a unique code number for identification purposes.

Let's get these people out of our society! Call 1-800-252-TIPS today to help stop oilfield theft in Texas.

NEW STUDENT REVOLUTION

By Edwin Feulner

Washington couldn't believe its eyes and ears. Nuclear protest week, while greeted with daily sob-stories in THE WASHINGTON POST, ran into a fate worse than death elsewhere: indifference.

Especially—to the surprise of our overeducated, overpaid, overbearing Washington elite—on many of America's college campuses.

Obviously, my colleagues on the Potomac haven't been paying much attention to the goings-on at Old State U. While we're being consumed with up-to-the-hour reports on budget negotiations, college campuses have been consumed with alternative ideas: conservatism.

And this has resulted in the establishment of an army of conservative student publications on college campuses from coast to coast.

At Dartmouth College, for example, the independent DARTMOUTH REVIEW has attracted such prominent advisors as columnists William F. Buckley, Jeffrey Hart, and Patrick Buchanan, historian Russell Kirk, and Congressman Jack Kemp. The REVIEW also has stirred up a storm of controversy with its attacks on "affirmative action" programs and other liberal shibboleths.

The venerable YALE LITERARY REVIEW also has fallen into the hands of conservatives, much to the consternation of liberals long accustomed to enjoying a monopoly over arts and letters at our nation's universities. No more—with conservative publications springing up at Claremont College near Los Angeles, the University of Chicago, the University of Wisconsin, and even at Harvard.

The university conservatives have not confined themselves to literary endeavors. Some have launched head-on attacks against a practice particularly obnoxious to conservatives: the mandatory collection of student fees for the support of "Public Interest Research Groups (PIRG)."

The fight of Joseph P. Galda, a student at Rutgers University in New Jersey, to make such contributions voluntary drew note from THE NEW YORK TIMES. Commented THE TIMES in an editorial, "It's perfectly appropriate for universities to collect mandatory student fees for non-partisan educational activities. But the Public Interest Research Group, one of many campus organizations inspired by consumer advocate Ralph Nader, has a political agenda that some students support and others don't." The Rutgers' PIRG, for example, has supported abortion, the Equal Rights Amendment and has worked in opposition to nuclear power.

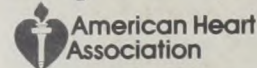

Although students may request a refund of a portion of their fees which go to the PIRG, the TIMES editors say "students may have to wait a year or more before they get it. Inconvenience, in other words, is the price of not wanting to support this group. That is hardly a trivial price." They conclude, "No one should have to pay such a fee."

Members of Young Americans for Freedom at George Washington University in Washington, D.C., waged a similar battle in 1980. Like Galda and his supporters, they lost the battle—but, in an ironic twist, won the war. The George Washington PIRG was allowed to die—due to lack of interest. YAF, of course, has been carrying the conservative torch on college campuses for many years.

It is not surprising that these fledgling campus conservative movements would face a few early defeats. It is, however, immensely heartening to know that young people are challenging the radical left in one of its chief strongholds.

Help Your Heart

Smoking Doubles Risk of Attack

Smoking is a factor in an estimated 325,000 deaths each year. The fact that cigarette smoking is linked to lung cancer has been well recognized for years. But did you know that twice as many smokers die of heart disease as do of lung cancer?

American Heart Association experts warn that all cigarette smokers run a higher risk of heart disease, especially if they also have high blood pressure and/or high levels of cholesterol in their blood, which are the other two major risk factors. The risk of heart attack increases with the number of cigarettes smoked. Those who smoke a pack a day have more than twice the risk of heart attack that a non-smoker has.

When you smoke a cigarette, the nicotine stimulates the heart to beat faster. Because the heart is working harder, it needs more oxygen. But it gets less because the carbon monoxide from tobacco smoke cuts down the amount of oxygen carried in the blood to the heart.

Researcher's have found that smokers are more likely than non-smokers to have hardening and narrowing of the arteries that nourish the heart, the "coronaries," and of the body's main artery, the "aorta." Smoking is also linked to narrowing of blood vessels that carry blood to the leg and arm muscles. If a blood clot blocks an already narrowed artery, the result could be damage or even loss of an arm or leg.

Women who use birth control pills have a greater risk of having a heart attack than women who do not. A combination of using the pill and smoking cigarettes increases a woman's risk of heart attack even more.

The earlier a person begins smoking cigarettes, the greater the risk to the smoker's health. As a teenager, the risk of heart attack in later life seems a remote danger. But there is evidence of harmful effects even in young, healthy people. A survey of 1,000 school children by researchers at the Cincinnati, Ohio, Lipid Research Clinic demonstrated that smoking produces immediate damaging changes in the blood fats of teenagers.

Help your heart! Stop smoking now. Regardless of how long or how much you have smoked, your risk of heart disease will be reduced if you stop. Ten years after quitting, the risk of death from heart disease is almost the same as if you had never smoked.

German immigrants honored by stamps

After almost two years of patient waiting, Gershon Canaan, Dallas architect and honorary German consul in Dallas, has been told that the US Postal Service together with its West German counterpart will simultaneously issue stamps next year to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the first German settlement in America.

The issue is dated for October 6, 1983, honoring 30 million Americans of German descent and their achievements. The stamps will depict the ship Concord which docked at Philadelphia Oct. 6, 1863, carrying 13 Mennonite families from Krefeld (now North-Rhine Westphalia.) They bought land outside Philadelphia and named the town Germantown. The group's leader, Franz Daniel Pasterius later became a friend and adviser of William Penn.

Canaan's effort in behalf of the joint commemorative issue began in 1980 with submitting a design for the proposed stamp and suggested October 6, 1983 as the issue date.

Growing Child

P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902 (317) 423-2624

The ability to wait a while to have a need or a wish satisfied, to be good humored about delays, is one of the attractive and endearing traits in an adult or a child.

Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, points out that this quality of personality doesn't just suddenly happen when an individual reaches adulthood. It develops slowly from a beginning in early infancy. And, strange as it may seem, it develops in young children whose needs are satisfied. That is, the baby who is not frustrated learns to endure frustration.

A study sponsored originally by the National Institute of Mental Health indicated that there is a close relationship between the degree of pleasure a baby experiences during his feedings and the gradual development of his ability to wait. Feeding is important, because hunger is the strongest physical drive of a baby.

The study found that, as a baby learns to look forward to pleasurable relief from the tension caused by hunger, he gradually begins to put up with necessary periods of waiting-provided, of course, that in the beginning the delay is brief and bearable.

At the end of their first year, children who had had their physical and emotional needs adequately met showed increasing ability to pay attention to tasks and to handle test objects well. Introduced to activities such as fitting pegs in holes or dropping blocks into a container these children showed interest in the tasks and pleasure when they succeeded. Further, they were not too frustrated by failure.

In contrast, those children whose feeding experiences had been less pleasurable showed less interest, less patience and less concentration. Many showed anxiety about what was expected of them.

The study is careful to point out that it is the repeated good or unhappy experiences that matter-not the occasional interference of teething, fatigue, illness or family stress.

As a child moves out of infancy and into early childhood, his ability to tolerate frustrations will continue to develop as his changing needs continue to be met.

Wise parents learn to recognize early signs of frustration in their child, and to relieve the child's tension before increasing frustration leads to loss of control, disorganized behavior or temper tantrums.

This avoidance of frustration does not imply over-permissiveness. Rather, it results in setting realistic limits on behavior, and maintaining them consistently. A child can feel secure when he knows what to expect of his parents and what they expect of him.

Further, avoiding frustration includes recognizing the effects of over-fatigue or over-stimulation and protecting the child from these stresses when possible; providing pleasurable distracting substitutes for undesirable activities; and allowing the child freedom to grow into independence.

The emotional security provided by continued meeting of his physical and emotional needs frees the child from anxiety and uncertainty. Thus freed, he can concentrate on a task, wait his turn when necessary to meet the demands of cooperative play, and accept with reasonable good humor the inevitable disappointments of life.

The gradual maturing of these elements of the ability to wait prepares the child to meet successfully the social, behavioral and learning requirements of the schoolroom.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information on the social and physical development of children from birth to six years old, write to Growing Child, PO Box 620N, Lafayette, In. 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing. A year's subscription to the newsletter costs $11.95.

Huchton baptism

Jacob Nicholas Huchton was baptized in Sacred Heart Church on Sunday, May 16, at 4:30 p.m. by Father Stephen Eckart. He is the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Huchton.

Baptismal sponsors were an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Huchton. The baby wore his father's christening robe, handmade by the paternal grandmother, Mrs. A.J. Huchton. His white blanket was borrowed from his grandmother and the white crocheted booties were from an aunt, Mrs. Cliff Sicking.

Following the church ceremony, Neil and Peachy Huchton hosted a covered dish supper in their home. The table centerpiece was a white baptismal cake made by Jacob's mother and his god-mother.

Guests included the maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Sicking and sons Mark and Bryan; Mr. and Mrs. James Lutkenhaus and Jessica and Jodi; Mrs. A.J. Huchton and Rex and Billy; Miss Cecilia Huchton; and Mrs. Cliff Sicking and Ryan, Cody and Brent. An aunt, Lois Sicking of Dallas phoned during the party, because she was unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davidson of Muenster have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kathy to Wade Brorsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bart Brorsen of Perry, Okla. The wedding will be held in Whaley United Methodist Church in Gainesville on July 17 at 6:30 p.m. with Mr. Jerry Delaney as officiating minister.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Muenster High School and is a senior at Texas A&M University majoring in business management. The future groom is a graduate of Perry High School; he holds Bachelor and Master of Science degrees from Oklahoma State University and is a graduate student at Texas A&M University and employed as Research Assistant at Texas A&M in the Dept. of Agricultural Economics.

Attendants in the wedding will be matron of honor Becky Felderhoff and bridesmaids Marilyn Bennett and Annette Brorsen. The best man will be Verl Brorsen and groomsmen Leslie Brorsen and Mark Kirk. The couple plans to reside in Bryan.

Tea honors visitors

A tea honoring Mrs. Terr Huchton and infant son, Jacob Nicholas, was held on Saturday, May 15, 2 to 4 p.m. with Mrs. Cliff Sicking as hostess in her home. A number of relatives and friends attended and spent the afternoon visiting and reminiscing. A special cake made by Margie Klement, decorated as a sunflower, was used as table centerpiece and was included with refreshments.

Incorrect information given to The Enterprise last week stated that the Muenster Garden Club is one of the sponsors of Peggy Winn in the Teenworld State Pageant. In reality it is the Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers Club that is one of the sponsors and should get the credit.

Koch-Britton Low Voltage Electric Stimulation

... for tenderness gains in every beef carcass you process!

- checklist of Benefits
- Energy savings: Reach chill temperature 1-4 hours sooner
  - Less dripping
  - Less spoilage
  - Less shrink and trim loss
  - Shorten aging times up to 50% less time in cooler
  - Improved quality and flavor
  - 25% increased tenderness
  - About 6% move up a grade: better color, more visible marbling, less heat ring, reduced grade
  - Lower the pH level
  - Eliminate cold shortening and dark cutters

When a carcass is stimulated, a lot of body heat is dissipated in a hurry. Extra bleeding occurs and reduces chances of spoilage and excessive trim loss. Once in the cooler, proper chill can be reached hours earlier, saving money and energy.

Next day a brighter cherry red color appears. At grading time, about 6% of the carcasses move up to a higher grade. Heat ring and cold shortening are negligible. Aging time is far less (3 days instead of 7, or 7 instead of 21).

Once again some very kind, considerate, thoughtful and loving Homosapien has dumped a female canine on us Dewey folks. We didn't need her nor do we want her. Just why can't people realize how terribly cruel it is to dump their unwanted dogs and cats on other people or just leave them to fend for themselves the best they can. It does not cost that much to have a vet put them to sleep and thus not deal misery to the helpless animal and other people. Best of all - don't get a pet if you don't aim to keep it, love it, feed it, etc. - regardless of its sex! I know they are so cute when they are small, but just like us, they grow up and just aren't so cute and lovable anymore.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sockwell were in Denton on business Thurs. May 6 and then had supper with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kenas and Trey. On Fri. the 7th the Sockwells were visited by Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan. Now the Morgans are Forestburg residents, but I, for one, never hear or see much of them or about them. I have met them and they are fine folks, but just seem to more or less live on the silent side.

On Sat. the 8. Mrs. Ruth Harris visited with Mrs. Sockwell. Mrs. Harris is the wife of Rev. Odell Harris and he is pastor of the Prairie Point Nazarene Church. The Harris live in a lovely mobile home just east of the burg.

Bennet Reynolds motored over to Bowie Saturday on business and to take in the Flea Market. Bennet loves to look over all the stuff for sale there to see if he can find anything to add to his collection of antiques.

Mrs. Henry (Phyllis) Berry and son Reece of Nocona and Mrs. Mike

Berry and son of Denton visited with Mr. and Mrs. Dude Berry Sat. p.m. May 8. Bula Mae says that phyllis brought her a lovely orchid for Mother's Day and Mrs. Mike Berry brought her a nice gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown of Leo visited with his sister Mrs. Emma Lee Steadham Sat. afternoon the 8th and they brought her a lovely corsage to wear for Mother's Day. On Monday the 10th Emma went home with Mrs. Joe Brown to Leo to visit for a few days. Joe left for Beavers Lake at Rogers, Arkansas on Mon. a.m. the 10th to do some fishing. He was accompanied on the trip by the pastor of East Side Nazarene Church in Gainesville. They are due home sometime Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. Lizzie Gardner departed the Burg Sat. a.m. the 8th to spend Mother's Day in Muskogee, Oklahoma with her daughter Joyce and husband George Montgomery. Mrs. Gardner returned home Mon. the 10th.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Dill

and Jack's mother Mrs. Beulah Dill of Era headed for Mount Pleasant, Texas Sat. a.m. May 8 to the home of Jack's brother Jerry and family. That afternoon they all attended the wedding of Jerry's son Russell to Melanie Mars. The Jack C. Dills and Mrs. Beulah Dill returned home Sun. p.m. the 9th.

Mrs. Ceil Perryman and daughter Skelle were in Bowie on business and shopping Sat. May 8. They also visited with Mrs. Joe Denham of Bellmire Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Israll Salinas and children of Haltom City and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hunt were Sat. May 8 visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hunt of New Harp.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sandusky of Dallas and Mrs. Jeanne Talley and children of Saint Jo were Mother's Day weekend visitors with Mrs. Faith Sandusky.

Lowell (Buster) Orrell of Seattle, Washington is here visiting with his father Willie Orrell.

At about 10 a.m. Sat. May 8 J.C. Donnell of Saint Jo was traveling to Forestburg when he notice smoke coming from Casey Jones' mobile home. J.C. rushed to the Burg to find Casey- which he did at the local cafe. They rushed back to Casey's home, but in a matter of time the mobile home was gutted and all Casey managed to save was his TV set. As always, in such a case, there always are many family keepsakes that can never be replaced. Casey is now staying with his brother Ben until he makes plans for his future.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore and daughter were in Bowie Saturday the 8th and visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Emory Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Foster of Denton spent the May 7-9 weekend at their Forestburg home.

Ida and Willie Kuykendall, who reside in a Bedford Rest Home, and Mrs. Wilma Richardson and Axie Netherly of Dallas spent the Mother's Day weekend in Ida and Willie's Forestburg home. They all attended Church Sun. a.m. at the Forestburg Church of Christ.

Mrs. Paula Barber and Angie of Wichita Falls spent the weekend of May 7-9 with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hudspeth. On Saturday Paula and her niece Rayann Lynch of the Burg drove to Bowie to visit with Kip Wood at Swiss Ave. Hospital. Kip is Paul's nephew and cousin to Rayann. On the way home Paula and Rayann met the Clifford Hudspeth's at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Peers in Krum to help Mrs. Irene Harry, Rosston, celebrate her 82nd birthday. Mrs. Harry is the mother of Mrs. Hudspeth and Mrs. Peers. On Sun. the Clifford Hudspeths, Paula Barber of Angie were Sunday noon dinner guests in the Dale Hudspeth home in New Harp.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie May and Tanya of Bowie visited with Mr. and Mrs. Junior Monroe and girls Sunday the 9th.

Miss VAtoni Dill of Denton and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jackson of Decatur were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jackson Sun. May 9.

Miss VAtoni Dill of Denton and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jackson of Decatur were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jackson Sun. May 9.

Vera Mae McGee's house was brim-full Sunday May 9 with children and their mates, grandchildren and mates, and great-grandchildren 38 in all.

Mrs. Martilla Brewer and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Galnor of Saint Jo visited with Mrs. Alice Shears Sun. p.m. the 9th. On Monday Mrs. Frankie Neely of Gainesville visited with her sister Alice Shears.

Word was received in Forestburg on Sun a.m. May 9 that Jackie Dale Steadham of Fort Worth had passed away that morning. He is the oldest son of Jack and Paulien (kuykendall) Steadham, also of Fort

Swim pool opens May 29

The 1982 swim season at the Muenster municipal pool will begin on Saturday, May 29, according to word received this week from Celine Dittfurth, city secretary.

Normally opening promptly after the schools close, she said the delay of about a week is a result of delay in getting the pool ready. The program next week consists of an over-all cleanup of pool and facilities, an application on non-skid paint on walking surfaces, and finally filling the pool.

The pool will be managed by Kerri Birkhead with Kathi Koch, Rhonda Hellman and Rodney Hess. It will open Tuesday through Sunday, 1 to 7 p.m. and admission charge will be 75 cents per person. A special requirement is that a child under 7 be accompanied by a parent as a special safety provision. The city is concerned about little ones who might wander into trouble but does not have the personnel to watch them individually.

The city will continue its custom of leasing the pool for private parties. Reservations can be made daily before or after closing time or on Mondays.

Cooke County farmers speak out

A group of Cooke County farmers gathered at Red River Co-op in Gainesville joined other farmers from all over the nation on Tuesday, May 11, in a "Farmers 'Speak Out'" program reporting agricultural problems directly to official Washington.

The event, coordinated nationally by the Agriculture Council of America (ACA), was made possible through a grant by Farmland Industries. Locally it was hosted by Red River Co-op and coordinated by Charles Whittington, co-op manager. The session was arranged as a round table discussion with Washington officials joining the group by means of an 800-line connection.

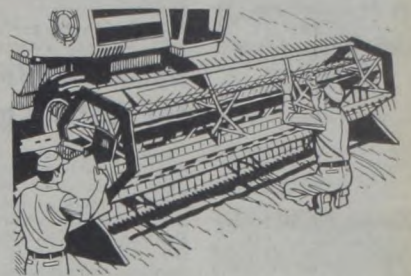

Principal topics discussed were high interest rates, grain embargo and grain surplus, beef imports and restoration of soil conservation and flood control funds.

In turn, farmers were reminded that there are no easy solutions to farm problems, but Washington is trying. It is working to reduce interest rates and to find an adequate market for farm products.

Persons attending were J.H. Bayer, Leonard Bayer, Mike Fuhrmann, Johnny Reiter, Julian Walterscheid, Alvin Hartman, Robert Lewis, Junior Hudspeth, Kenny Hoedebeck, David Smith, Pete Prescher, Kenneth Hudson, Jack House, Frank Sandmann, Clyde Yeatts, Rick Brannon, John Moody and Charles Whittington.

The application form is available at both schools and also in this newspaper.

Bartush said the league is tentatively scheduled to start on June 5, and a gap of two weeks is provided for the benefit of youngsters aged 9 to 11 who expect to attend summer camp. ## Treat awaits Fun Run helpers

An appreciation party awaits some 200 persons who helped make this year's German Fun Run a terrific success. It will be held in the K of C Hall Sunday, May 23, starting 6 to 6:30 o'clock. Attractions include supper, drinks and films of the run and related scenes at the Germanfest.

That's the word from

Ronnie Hess, who says it is the Fun Run Committee's way of saying thanks to all the helpful guys and gals who were on the job before, during and after, enabling the directors to continue their reputation for a well organized, friendly event, a favorite with hundreds of the participants.

Hess said it's impossible to know all who helped in the fun run, hence impossible to know who is entitled to an invitation. Accordingly he wants this announcement to be regarded as an invitation to everybody concerned. Everyone who helped is welcome whether or not a personal invitation was received.

HERE'S HOW TO FIGURE WHAT IT COST YOU.

When you look at the amount you spend on electricity each day and then look at all the things electricity does for you, it's easier to see just what a good value electricity really is.

On your monthly electric bill, first look at the date your meter was last read (Prev. KWH Read/DATE) and then the date it was read previously (Curr. KWH Read/DATE) and count the number of days between the two. Divide that number into your total charges for the month (TOTAL CURRENT MO. BILL). The result is the small amount you spend each day to enjoy all the things dependable electricity makes possible in your home. Electricity... one of today's best energy values.

The VFW Auxiliary of Post 6205 in Muenster is conducting a home safety program for young children of Muenster. The Auxiliary is particularly emphasizing the poison control program of identifying poisonous objects in and around the home and has distributed pamphlets which contain a checklist of poisonous items as plants and a sheet of "Mr Yuk" stickers, with the phone numbers of Cooks Poison Control center in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Linda Knabe, Auxiliary president presented the pamphlets to the three kindergarten classes and showed the youngsters a box full of poisonous items, mostly found in homes. Mrs. Knabe urged the children to discuss thoroughly the pamphlets with their parents and to identify and mark the dangerous products as well as plants in their homes with the "Mr Yuk" stickers.

Some of the most common dangerous items are aspirin, drugs, cleansers, pesticides and plants. If a child swallows any poison, a physician or the nearest poison control center should be called immediately. Parents are reminded that by teaching their children that "Mr Yuk's" green, scowling face means "DANGER" they could be saving a child's life.

Cub Scout News

Sixteen members of Cub Scout Pack 664 received Bobcat badges at their May 17 meeting, the first of four advancement badges to be earned in a three year program. The new members of Bobcat rank are Joe Weinzapfel, Mark Flusche, Mike Gobble, Greg Hess, Helmut Koelzer, Ryan Sicking, Sammy Walterscheid, Scott Wilde, Michael Vogel, Justin Ramsey, Darrin Klement, Jason Biffle, August Felderhoff, Stephen Nasche, Kenneth Walterscheid, and Ryan Hess.

In another advancement, arrow points were earned by Michael Abney, Rodney Knabe, Chad Bayer and Brian Reiter.

Also, the first time ever to present den leaders' "trained" badges was the big pleasure of Cubmaster Lupe Evans as Patsy Bayer and Kathy Sicking received the awards.

The program then continued in the form of a graduation ceremony as Cubs advanced in rank, the program highlight being the "bridging" of Webelos into the Scout troop. Boys involved in this ceremony were Eric Dankesreiter, Jason Gehrig, Murlin Evans, Johnny Herr, Jeff Walterscheid, Ryan Bayer and Shawn Vogel, all receiving the Arrow of light, highest award in Cub scouting. They were greeted on the other side of the bridge by Scoutmaster Waylen Poole, who welcomed them and announced a camp-out planned for this weekend, May 21-23.

Pack 664 will meet again Sunday, May 23, 2 p.m., for a bicycle safety rodeo. A mothers' day-camp orientation will be held while boys are having the bikes checked.

A brand new Cub Scout is Chad Simmons. He and his father applied at the Monday meeting and he was promptly welcomed by the Pack.

Photos from the Past

This old photo was sent by Florence Ellsworth of Blackfoot, Idaho oldest daughter of the late Henry J. and Mary Sieger Henscheid. The two young men in the top row center are Henry Henscheid and Leo Henscheid. Mrs. Ellsworth was hoping someone in Muenster could help her identify others in the picture. Her address is Mrs. Leone Ellsworth, 342 Collins St. Blackfoot, Idaho 83221. She corresponds regularly with Henscheid relatives and says although she has never visited here, she enjoys reading the Enterprise and learning the activities of many cousins here, "and since it was the birthplace of both my parents, I enjoy remembering their conversations of people and events of their former homes."
