Bloodmobile scheduled for visit

An item guaranteed to rub your fur the wrong way is an article in the New York Times about the terrible problem over which college presidents are crying. It's the situation arising from refusal of student loans to some young men who refuse to register under the Selective Service law. "It's so awkward" one of the concerned educators complains.

Most people of the country find it difficult to find a fault with this situation. The simple fact is that the law requires all young men of ages 18 to 21 to register for a possible draft. And another act of congress, passed last November by overwhelming vote in both houses, denies guaranteed student loans or other aid to persons who have refused or failed to register.

Amazingly, there are students so convinced of their right to disregard these laws that they have challenged them in federal court. Six young men of Minnesota, under assumed names, admitted they had refused to register. They insisted they had no obligation to their government, but also insisted that the government has a duty to do things for them in the form of guaranteed loans to help them attend college. Their's is a one-way policy, to take but not to give.

This led to a surprising and rather shocking decision by a US district judge. He gave the parasites a lecture on good citizenship but failed to back up his own principle in his official decision. He decreed that the young men are entitled to the loans, and later goofed in a big way by stating the order applies to all colleges and universities of the country. He even went further, directing the Department of Education to make sure all college officials were made aware that draft registration could not be made a condition for granting financial aid to a student.

The order apparently was more than the Supreme Court could stomach. On June 29, without a dissenting vote, the high court suspended the district court's decision and set a date for hearing the appeal. To you and me, the high court's decision still is only a half way answer. By what standard of justice does it imply that the parasites have any right to their claim?

Nevertheless, the Supreme Court ruling applies now. Students who fail for any reason to register do not qualify for a student loan. We like that. As taxpayers we resent being suckered by chiselers who do not accept their responsibilities.

The irony of this affair, or perhaps the insolence, is the fact that the moochers are demanding benefits they do not even need. Private student aid is available from many sources. Needy students can get it from banks or they can earn it by working their way through school. Their preference for Uncle Sam's funds makes one wonder whether they think it's easier to default on them. And, of course, working for the money is just out of the question.

As we the citizens see this issue, nothing is wrong and a lot is right in linking registration to subsidy. Why should taxpayers help the shirkers who refuse to ac-

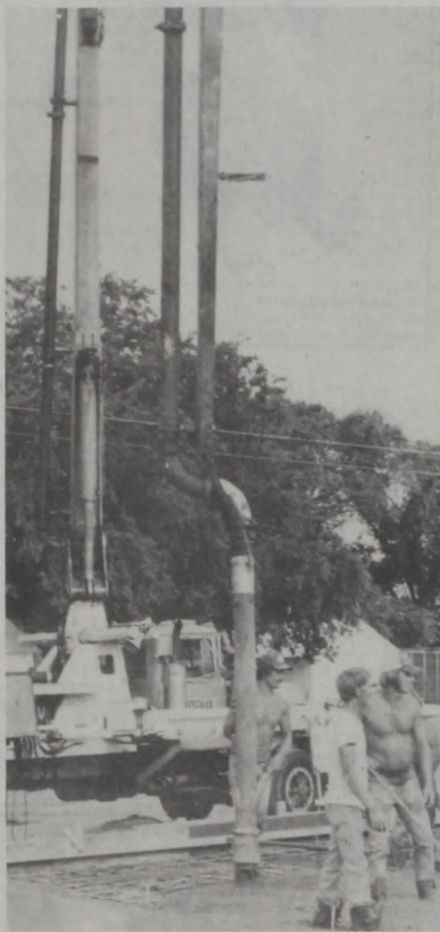

It's time for the people of Muenster to make the semi-annual deposit in their blood bank. David Bright, administrator of Muenster Memorial Hospital, announced this week that the Bloodmobile from the Red Cross blood center of Wichita Falls will be here next Wednesday, September 7 to make its regular collection.

It will be located at the usual place, the KC hall, at the usual time, 2 to 7 p.m., and the quota is 100 pints, the usual quantity used here during the six months between collections.

The local blood program is affiliated with an extensive system serving a wide area of North Texas and South Oklahoma. From its blood center at Wichita Falls it supplies the needs of associated areas and each of the areas in its turn provides for the entire program. In this way fresh blood is always available.

Its special benefits are available to all patients of the Muenster Hospital and also to residents of the district who are patients in other hospitals. One of those benefits is lower price. Since the blood is donated there is no charge for it at transfusion, only such expenses as packaging, storing, transporting and transfusing. The total cost is about half as high as when commercial blood is used.

Another factor is quality. It is generally assumed that disease and infection is more likely in blood that is bought.

Visible progress has been seen in the Muenster Telephone Company's recent expansion project. During this, the slab-pouring stage involved cement being dumped from the truck pictured to a hopper in the rear. The cement was then pumped through a boom some 30 feet high with a 50-foot reach, which was used to deposit just the right amount in just the right place.

CofC draws plans for 'Christmasfest'

A new idea of German heritage flavored promotion for Muenster business and social activity was presented to a group of local business people Monday night by officers of the Muenster Chamber of Commerce.

Entitled Christmasfest in Muenster, the event is intended to enhance the German spirit already associated with Germanfest. The plan is to expand on the leading features of the annual Santa parade and at the same time to discontinue the Harvest Festival which occurs at a less festive time. Another inducement is that so many German traditions and customs are a part of the Christmas season and can appropriately enrich the holiday observance.

Larry Kinard, chamber president, along with Johny Fisher and David Fette introduced the plan in the Chamber office, which was specially dressed up with a Christmas tree and other decorations. They urged city-wide participation by the stores and suggested a package of items as promotion aids. Some of those things are a 24 inch wreath, buttons, stickers, an ad program and eligibility in one or more shopping sprees. Suggested cost of total participation is $150.

A special assist to the chamber presentation was a talk by Libby Barker, Gainesville Main Street Project Manager. She said the plan is a natural, that no nation has richer tradition and custom than Germany, that Germanfest has given the observance a head start, and the Christmas season is especially appropriate.

The proposed kick-off date for Christmasfest is November 26, starting with a parade and including enough attractions to fill the day. The intention is to get lots of participation for a super parade, a big selection of cakes and other eats, bargains in the stores, and entertainment.

Regarding the shopping spree the visitors were partial to a big one the first day with selections from four stores and more sprees in the following weeks before Christmas.

A summary of suggested Christmasfest ideas is a Muenster shopping map, parade, shopping spree, open late some nights, night attractions and entertainment, extensive Mid-Park decorations, area advertising, ethnic foods and crafts, stickers, buttons, wreaths, German heritage decor and atmosphere.

Eddy Henry makes first bid for sheriff's office

Eddy Henry of Gainesville is the first person to announce his candidacy in next year's race for the office of Cooke County Sheriff. Henry told the Enterprise Friday that his early statement is intended to let the public know his hat is definitely in the ring and the formal announcement will come later.

Henry is a graduate of Gainesville High, CCC and NTSU. He also graduated from Texoma Regional Police Academy and has had several hours of additional training police work, also received an intermediate certificate from Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Education and Standards. He served four years in the Gainesville Police Department and seven years in Gainesville Middle School as teacher and coach.

With those qualifications

he believes he can "bring about a new era of better and more efficient law enforcement for Cooke County." He will outline ideas and philosophy of law enforcement in coming months and look forward to meeting and talking to county citizens.

Henry is married to the former Patsy Spaeth. They have three children, Michael 5, Kimberly 3, Brian 1.

DPS predicts 51 highway deaths over weekend

The Texas Department of Public Safety has estimated as many as 51 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the Labor Day holiday. The estimate includes traffic deaths which may occur on urban streets and rural highways.

Col. Jim Adams, DPS director, says Texas has about 14 percent fewer fatal accidents now than at the same time during 1982.

"We are hopeful the trend will continue downward for the remainder of the year. However holiday weekends always seem to bring higher death tolls than do other times of the year," Adams said.

The DPS reported 50

deaths during Labor Day last year. However, the inclusion of subsequent deaths due to traffic injuries received during the 78-hour period raised the final count to 57.

"During the 1982 holiday, 27 people were killed in accidents where DWI or speed was a contributing factor.

This represented close to half of all the fatalities which occurred during that particular holiday," Adams said.

The DPS director called for sober driving, use of seat belts and a reduction in speed.

"We know alcohol contributes to about half of our traffic deaths, so it is obvious that a driver should not drink and drive," he said.

"Also, we can prove the lifesaving effects of seat belt usage and our statistics show that slower speeds enhance one's chances for survival if an accident occurs."

The DPS said the most recent holiday, July 4th, was one of the most deadly recorded in the past decade.

"We had 55 persons killed during the Fourth of July and some are still seriously injured and will probably die before the year is over," Adams said. "This makes that holiday the deadliest 78-hour holiday since 1970."

Mark White to speak at fair groundbreaking

Governor Mark White, as the speaker, will be the principal attraction next Tuesday, September 6, at groundbreaking ceremonies for the new location of the Cooke County Fair.

His talk, along with other details of the event, will follow a barbecue lunch at noon to which all area residents are invited. Other activity will consist of the actual groundbreaking ceremony plus an explanation of proposed facilities. Some of those are a general exhibits building, a livestock pavilion, a horse barn and coliseum. Ground work for them has begun and construction will proceed as funds become available.

The new fairgrounds is a forty acre site on Highway 82 a mile west of the I-35 intersection. It was acquired after the old fair park on West California Street was sold to Holiday Inn as a motel site.

Good News

Ezekiel 47: 6-9

He asked me, "Have you seen this, son of man?" Then he brought me to the bank of the river, where he had me sit. Along the bank of the river I saw very many trees on both sides. He said to me, "This water flows into the eastern district down upon the Arabah, and empties into the sea, the salt waters, which it makes fresh. Wherever the river flows, every sort of living creature that can multiply shall live, and there shall be abundant fish, for wherever this water comes the sea shall be made fresh.

IT WASN'T all that long ago that when someone mentioned Montague, the first thought that came to mind was that of produce. Peaches, in fact. Good peaches. Lots of them.

But Henry Lee Lucas has changed all that. Life just hasn't been the same for people in Montague lately. It seems this community of some 400 just isn't accustomed to all the attention it's been getting.

The community isn't accustomed to being mentioned every other night on the TV newscasts.

The people aren't accustomed to all the cameras, reporters, and helicopters landing next door to their usually quiet homes.

And Guiliams' General Store isn't accustomed to the increase in business generated by all these numerous visitors, although they probably don't mind it all that much. In fact they're probably going to enjoy the way business is going to pick up on Sept. 13.

That's the day Lucas, who claims to have murdered and misused more than 100 women, will go on trial for the stabbing death of one of those 100.

One hundred.

That's a lot of murders for just one man. But the number doesn't seem to surprise Montague County Sheriff W.F. Conway, who says he's been working on this case for more than nine months — the biggest case he's ever worked on.

No doubt it's one of the biggest a lot of people have worked on.

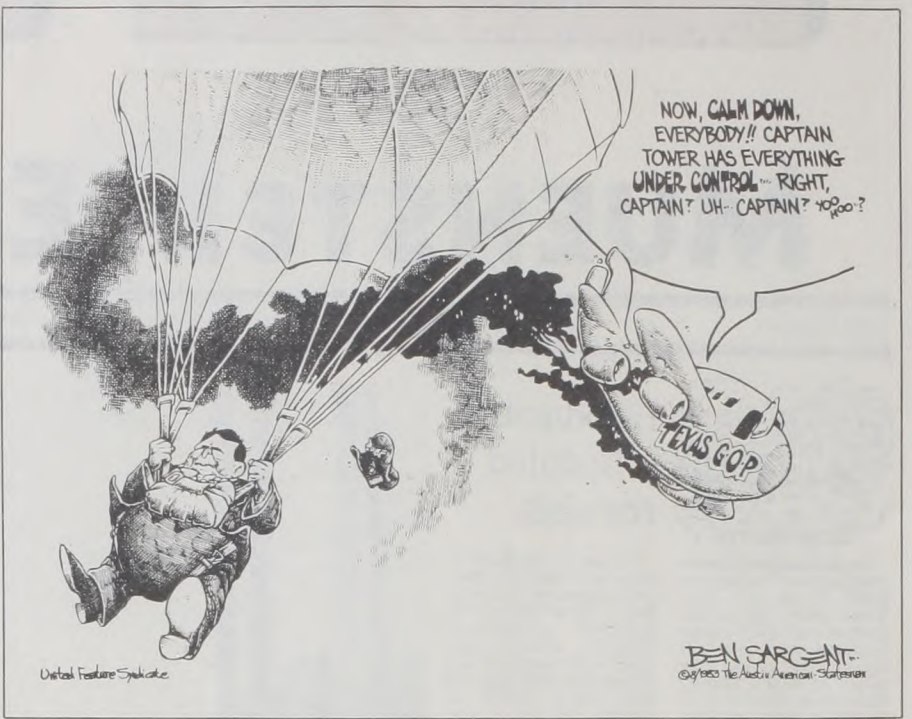

But Montague seems such an unlikely setting for a trial of this sort. And the community has already received a lot of attention thus far, deserved or not. And it's going to get even more a week from Tuesday.

Montague, being in the spotlight as it is, has to be affected in some way by all of this, it seems. But it's difficult to say just how. It's probably going to be a lot more obvious once this is all over.

When it actually is over, there'll be no more TV helicopters and cameras, no more reporters, almost no more strangers (just the regular flow of strangers who pass through on their way to somewhere). And there will be a lot less traffic around (as-well as inside) the courthouse. Life in Montague, Texas will be pretty much back to normal. But one thing's going to be different; Montague is going to have a bigger and more permanent spot on the map in a lot of people's minds. Montague — the tiny town where a self-confessed mass murderer stood trial. Some notoriety.

Certainly, there are those who would prefer to continue thinking of Montague as a place with unnamed streets and great peaches. But that distinction may not last. Too bad.

WHY SHOULD I go to church? I feel that I am a more honest and moral person than many people I know who attend everytime the church doors open.

Today I want to try to answer the above question. Many people who do not attend church give the above answer as their reason for not going. Although this answer may very well be true, it is still not a good reason for not going. This statement does serve to point out the following fact though: "Although the best argument for Christianity is Christians (the joy and peace which they demonstrate in their lives when they are obedient to God's word), the strongest argument against Christianity is also Christians (when they fail to be obedient to God's word and live immoral, dishonest, and impure lives).

Now, after having said all this let's first look at some things church attendance does not do. Going to church never saved anyone, only belief in Jesus as Lord and Saviour of one's life does that (although confession of this belief is normally made public in church). The mere act of attending church never made a person more honest, more faithful to one's spouse, and/or a "better" person than someone who has never entered a church door.

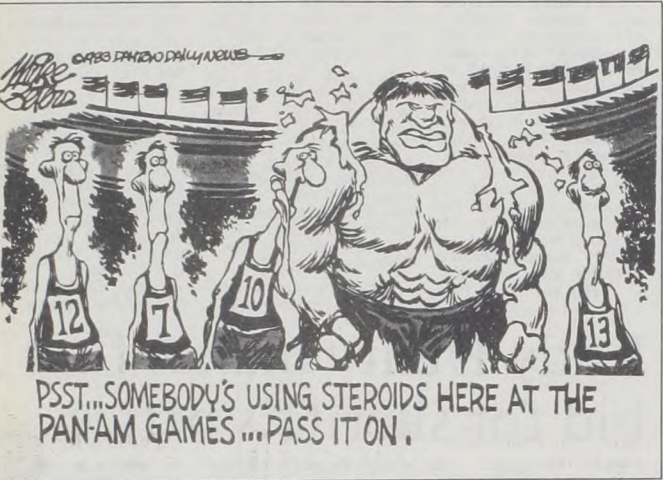

Now, if the above is true, and I believe it is, then what reasons can we give for going to church at all? The first reason would be because the Bible commands us to. Hebrews 10:24-25 says, "And let us consider how to stimulate one another to love and good deeds, not forsaking our own assembling together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another." No matter how we interpret this verse, I think we would have to agree that the writer here is telling his readers that they should not fail, as some were doing, to gather together to worship. Now, we might next ask ourselves the question, "If the Bible tells us we should gather together, what good can we expect to come into our lives from having gone to church?" These verses tell us that one of the first benefits we might expect would be encouragement from one another. Also, our love for one another and for God should be increased as we learn more of God's teachings.

Another benefit that would occur is the increase in spiritual growth which would begin to take place in our life. We need to realize that just as the physical body must feed upon physical food for growth to take place, the spiritual body must feed upon spiritual food (God's word) for spiritual growth to take place. While I realize that you do not have to attend church to study the Bible, I believe that there are very few, if any, non-church goers that even open their Bible, except for those devout Christians who are prevented from coming to church because of physical problems. One can also learn more by studying the Bible in a group, rather than by oneself, because of the different thoughts which each person in the group contributes.

Another benefit, if you have children, is that you will be setting an example for your children to follow. Proverbs 22:6 says, "Train up a child in the way he should go, even when he is old he will not depart from it." You don't teach a child about God's word by taking him to Sunday School and then picking him up after church, but you teach by going with him. Why should you expect your child to do something you refuse to do yourself?

In summary then, "Why should you go to church?" Because the Bible commands it, because you cannot set an example for your children by staying at home, and you cannot have the complete, fulfilled life God wants you to have if you stay away.

Letter to the Editor

My very dear friends, The day has arrived when the spirit moved me to pick up my pen to write to you, my dear friends.

I have just returned from the Chapel and my prayers were riddled with letter beginnings and items about which to write to you. Now you will find out how well or how badly my inspirations work.

Presently I have to watch my clock because shortly I will have to lay aside the pen to be on time to meet the car which will transport me to the Nursing home which I visit once a week. The latter has changed owner and name. It is now Rose C.A.R.E. Center. Rose is the owner's name. He has a chain of Nursing Homes. The abbreviation means Convalescence and Rehabilitation Enterprises. It is a well kept place, and the residents, most of whom I know, are very happy to see me and I, in turn, delight in receiving all their love, expressed more emphatically at times in a hug or a kiss.

Mid-afternoon finds me continuing my chat with you. Outdoors the sun is beating down mercilessly. I dare not think what would happen if the air conditioning would decide on striking. It has behaved exceptionally well up to date. A few Sisters had such a calamity in the temporary breakdown of their air conditioner. I have of course not walked outdoors in this extreme heat. A very few times I walked later in the evening. I enjoyed in particular one leisurely walk when the moon was high in the sky and when, on my uphill, homebound trip, the street and Stations of the Cross, lights came on. That was a first in my walking adventures. By the way, the road leads around the Sisters' Cemetery.

There are advantages to not walking outdoors. My hobbies are reading and working crossword puzzles. Long before my retirement from teaching I used to say: "When I get old I shall read and work crossword puzzles." That however did not happen because of my heavy correspondence. But the latter has decreased because extremely rarely comes a letter from one of the 18 prisoners I corresponded with for a shorter or longer period of time; some correspondents have died and it seems that the hot weather has slowed down incoming mail.

And so, happily I found time to read some fine books and work crossword puzzles. I had received a crossword puzzle dictionary and several crossword puzzle magazines 10 years ago for my Feastday when I was in Muenster. Sister Genevieve was then our Superior at Sacred Heart Convent.

Permit me to open my crossword puzzle magazine for a moment! Crossword puzzles 1 and 2 not dated; 3 "Switzerland at Amy's (my sister-in-law) November 29, '81 - First Sunday of Advent - snow." 4 "Nov. 30, '81 at Amy's snowed all day long. Alpenhorn and yodels at 3:25 - TV;" 5 "December 1, '81;" 6 and 7 "January 23, 1983 Jonesboro;" 8 "January 23, '83 and August 2. Tonight I shall start with crossword puzzle 10. And by the way the book I am presently reading is "The Asian Journal of Thomas Merton."

I was delighted with all the visitors we had from Muenster for the Golden and Silver Jubilees of Sisters. But it is delightful to have a trickle of visitors from there as well as from Arkansas and other states all year long. Now, my dear friends, I must bid you farewell. I am with you always in spirit and prayer.

Forever your friend, Sister M. Theresina, O.S.B.

DEATH AND TAXES, we have always been told, are the only two certainties in life.

Medical technology has, however, thrust us all into a bewildering and costly world of organ transplants, artificial hearts and the conquest of more and more diseases. Medical experts are now beginning to talk about average life spans which will exceed the hundred-year mark in the not-too-distant future. More and more, the power of life and death resides in human hands. But the public largess — fed by our tax monies — is less and less able to meet the costs of these advances.

The capabilities of the bio-medical sciences — both to prevent and to cure illness — have expanded immensely in the past half century. Today health care can offer dramatic remedies for previously untreated conditions. But an important factor compounds the pursuit of maximum good health for everyone: the inescapable reality of limited resources.

As the capabilities of health care have expanded, the strain placed on already strapped personal budgets, employer benefit programs and government treasuries has become a matter of increasing concern.

The reality of restricted resources means patients, health care professionals and society at large must face an ethical problem: having to choose the uses to which limited — and in some cases very scarce — resources will be put.

Society has to compare health care expenditures with other areas of public and private spending. And there are tough choices within the health care budget — between treatment and research, between restorative steps for those already ill and preventative steps for those who may be at risk, among different age groups, and even different diseases.

We in Congress became more graphically aware of society's dilemma when we had to face the issue of kidney dialysis. Because the cost per patient — often over $25,000 annually — is beyond the means of most Americans, Congress in 1972 authorized Medicare to pay nearly all dialysis expenses. The estimated cost then was less than $250 million a year, but by 1981 the dialysis program was costing Medicare $1.5 billion dollars. By the end of this year, the price tag for this one medical procedure is expected to hit more than $2 billion.

During the first year of the program, 11,000 people sought dialysis. As the procedure became more tested and proven, that figure has increased more than sixfold.

It doesn't take a computer to calculate the economic stress that much increased public costs have caused already and the almost impossible resource demands in the future. Government alone cannot bear the total burden of responsibility. It must be shared by others in society — beginning with the medical community and ultimately spreading to all other sectors of the public.

It would appear that those two old adages, death and taxes (or perhaps we should say health and taxes), are on an ethical collision course. This week's examination of health care issues ends then with a question, not an answer: Do we have the courage and the wisdom to make the hard choices in balancing our limited financial resources and unlimited health care needs?

cept the same civic responsibilities as the rest of us? It isn't fair and it does not make sense.

Registration for the draft ought to be regarded as a civic duty, as a matter of principle. People who enjoy the freedoms and blessings of this country should be ready to share in defending the country, to take their turn in whatever way they are needed in time of crisis. If that is true of average people it's all the more true of those who ask for special favors, like student loans from the government.

Even those who object for religious reason have no grounds to stand on. Registering does not necessarily mean being drafted. And if one is drafted it's possible to get assignment to non combat duty. There simply is no valid reason to shirk this basic duty.

More tragic than the attitude of undeserving students in making demands on government is the attitude of educators who take the students' side in the hassle. It's a distressing commentary on the character of persons who are supposed to guide the thinking of American youth.

Traci Sawyer, Frankie Stoffels united in two-ring ceremony at Sacred Heart

Traci Sawyer and Frankie Stoffels were married in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, August 27 in a Nuptial Mass with double ring ceremony celebrated by Father Victor Gillespie at 5 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil E. Sawyer of Rt. 6, Gainesville and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stoffels of Muenster. She is a 1982 graduate of Muenster High School and is attending Cooke County College and employed by Courtney's of Gainesville. He is a 1980 graduate of Sacred Heart High School and is a truck driver for Associated Milk Producers, Inc.

Accompanied to the altar by her father, the bride was wearing a white chiffon gown designed in the southern theme, complete with full hoop skirt and layers of descending lace ruffles in back. Three full lace ruffles completely surrounded the skirt. The high neckline was accented with a tiny satin bow at the throat. The sheer illusion and lace yoke extended into cape sleeves with satin and lace trim and two tiny satin bows in front. The bride's lace gauntlet gloves were designed and made by her stepmother, Ruth Sawyer.

The bride wore a halo of tiny white forget-me-nots that held her fingertip illusion veil and blusher. She carried a full, open lace fan to complement the southern theme. A bridal spray of pink roses and forget-me-nots, made by Rita Fisher rested on the fan. For sentiment she wore her mother's pearls.

Attendants

Mrs. Melvin Hess of Muenster was the matron of honor, wearing a full length pink taffeta gown with puff sleeves fitted at the elbow, fitted empire waist with a square neckline accented with matching bows at the shoulders. She carried a smaller fan with a single rose. All flowers were done by Rita Fisher.

Amanda Wimmer was the flower girl and Randal Sawyer was ring bearer.

Donnie Gilbreath, groom's brother-in-law was the best man. Steven Stoffels, groom's brother and Randy Sawyer, bride's brother were ushers.

Rex Huchton and Glenn Fuhrmann, groom's cousins were Mass servers. Wedding music was given by Ruth Felderhoff organist and Rene Stelzer soloist. Participants in the special liturgy were Connie Lutkenhaus, Betty Luttmer and Lyle Huchton who gave the Readings. Eucharistic ministers were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fisher. Prayer of the Faithful was given by Melissa Stoffels, groom's sister; and Offertory gifts were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Haverkamp, groom's godparents.

The church altar held two large fans made by the bride's stepmother with pink and blue flowers and white ribbons. Pew markers were clusters of tiny pink rosebuds and forget-me-nots with long pink ribbons.

Reception

A garden reception was hosted by the bride's parents at their home. One hundred guests were registered in the bride's book by Angela Ortowski, bride's niece of Gainesville. Decorations, floral arrangements and candles on all tables carried out the chosen colors of white, pink and blue.

The guest registry table held the bridal portrait, a miniature pink fan and a pink tablecloth. The cake table was covered with white lace underlined with pink and held two baskets of pink and blue flowers. A floral archway was placed at the steps leading to the patio.

The three tiered wedding cake was made by Mary Bell Frost. The top layer held an ornament of two doves holding a single gold band. Dorian Ortowski served cake and Eva Dale Ortowski and Mary Alice Truebenbach served punch. Guests helped themselves to a buffet of pick up foods and assorted dips.

When the couple returns from a wedding trip to San Marcos they will be at home in Muenster.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents and prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Haverkamp, groom's godparents. A shower was hosted by Mrs. Terry Hess, Mrs. Helen Hughes, Rita Fisher and Mrs. Dorothy Fisher.

Garden Club opens new year

A get-acquainted welcome for newcomers to the community was the theme of a pre-season meeting of the Muenster Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Jim Roark Monday evening.

Guests who attended and were welcomed as new members were Mmes. Merle Brock, Annette LaCoe, Elsie Mae Lohner and Bea Young.

Members attending were Mmes. Sue Endres, Marie Endres, Loretta Felderhoff, Louise Knauf, Eileen Luke, Dolores Miller, Marie Mosman, Holly Koch and the hostess, Alice Roark. A number of members were unable to attend because of commitment to other scheduled meetings.

Pick up foods were served from an attractively decorated table, centered with an arrangement of yellow and white daisies.

Flower Show schedules were distributed and members drew assignments. The Flower Show will be held on Saturday, October 1 in the home of Mrs. August Felderhoff, and the next garden club meeting will also be held in her home on Monday, September 12. Mmes. Marie Endres, Holly Koch and the hostess will hold a panel discussion on flower shows, answering questions from members.

Leroy Wiesmans, Al Haverkamp have 1 week vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wiesman of Tulsa took her father, Lee Haverkamp for a week's visit with other family members and friends recently.

They spent several days in Tyler with a son and daughter-in-law Bryan and Sally Wiesman, and saw Giles Lehnertz and Harry Kneupper. In Longview they were guests of cousins Linda and Bart Robinette.

In Houston they spent several days with Curtis and Sherry Wiesman and son Chad and Paul Kubis and a nephew of Lawrence Wiesman.

Returning to Dallas they were overnight guests of Olive and David Forgey, joined there by Jeanette and Travis Wickliffe, and Rosabell and Willard Zimmerer. Enroute home, they drove through Muenster to bring Lee Haverkamp and then returned to Tulsa Saturday.

Yosten joins KC Hawaiian tour

Leonard Yosten returned Thursday from a vacation in Hawaii as a member of a tour group sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. They traveled by 747 Jet from DFW to Honolulu and returned the same way.

On Oahu they stayed in Honolulu, touring the island by side trips by bus. A boat trip around Pearl Harbor took them to see the rusting hulls of vessels of the Pacific Fleet, sunk by the Japanese in WW II. They visited the USS Arizona Memorial and the Courts of the Missing Monument inscribed with names of Americans killed in the Pacific during WW II and the Korean War, bearing the inscription "whose earthly resting place is known only to God."

Maui, he said, is the most beautiful of the islands, with lush foliage and ferns, green mountains, waterfalls and flowers everywhere. Game is plentiful and fishing is a year-round pleasure, as is surfing. Maui is not as commercialized as Oahu and is more in its natural state. The tour group saw crops of sugar cane, pineapple, taro and coconut.

They saw the crater of an extinct volcano, Haleakala, and were told that it is 2 1/2 miles across and 3,000 ft. deep. The landscape there is eerie and desolate, reminding one of the surface of the moon. They visited the Lindbergh grave near his home on Maui and the samll chapel he renovated before his death.

One of the highlights of the trip was a luau held on a private island beach, near Maui, ranking with swimming in the Pacific as some of the never-to-be-forgotten experiences on the trip.

From Maui, part of the group visited the nearby islands of Lanai and Kauai by plane, returning to Maui and re-assembling for the flight to DFW.

Sickings have sightseeing vacation

Boots and Betty Sicking have returned from their first real vacation in a number of years, enjoying a 1500 mile drive with extensive sightseeing in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and areas of Texas.

During their absence their farm and dairy were cared for by a son and family, Steve, Julie and Jody Sicking of Wichita Falls. The young family devoted half of their vacation time to enabling his parents enough time to travel.

Highlights of the long drive through five states included a visit to the Cowboy Hall of Fame near Oklahoma City, the Eldorado Lake area in Kansas and the Branson Resort area in Missouri. Much of the driving was on rural highways, Farm-to-Market roads and less-traveled scenic routes, seeing the heartland of the country, crop lands and choice scenery. They particularly enjoyed the Ozark Scenic Trail in late summer. But they deplored the drought that created stress conditions in corn and soybean production.

Awaiting them when they arrived home were a daughter and two children, Karla Wilson and Jeremy and Melanie of Weatherford, who remained for a weekend visit. Guests on Sunday were another daughter and family Peggy and Sam Sparkman and John and JoAnn of Gainesville. The Steve Sickings departed for South Texas to complete their vacation when his parents returned.

Bright families visit relation

Capt. Joseph Bright of Vance AFB, Oklahoma and Lola and Frank Rust of Houston were visitors in the home of their parents David and Juanita Bright during the August 13-14 weekend. They enjoyed the reunion with 1973 graduates and saw their brother James off to Virginia Military Institute, alma mater of his brothers David Jr., Joseph and Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Bright, Sr. and Julia accompanied James to Lexington, Va. on August 14 and visited family friends in Roanoke and Lexington until Wednesday, when classes began.

On the return trip through Anniston, Alabama they visited brothers and sisters-in-law, Messrs. and Mmes. Louis Bright and James Bright and a sister, Miss Lola Bright. In Anniston they attended one performance in the Alabama Shakespeare Festival and then spent an over-night visit with another brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Bright in Minden, Louisiana.

They returned to Muenster in time for Julia to continue on to Waco to begin her senior year at Baylor University.

Hornets continue good job

Muenster coaches, Peters, Meurer, Gross and Gustine, were pleased again with the Hornet performance in their second pre-season scrimmage. They saw improvement in two areas as their charges were mostly rid of the "bug" which loused up their previous week and also showed welcome team progress.

Opponents in the scrimmage were Southlake Carroll a hefty and talented AA outfit. Each team did a good job of keeping the other mostly under control. Both defenses were steady denying more first downs than they allowed.

Southlake Carroll was the only one to score combining a big pass with a big run to go all the way. Another visitor score resulted from an interception followed by a romp to the goal.

At the JV level, visitors moved the ball better and scored a pair of TDs.

In general the Hornet coaches were pleased with their ground game, both offense and defense, but see the need of intensive practice on the passing, also both offense and defense.

Despite the negatives, coaches are optimistic about their boys. They have good size, fair speed, lots of enthusiasm and are steadily showing improvement.

Callisburg next

Their first game for keeps is Friday's encounter with Callisburg, 7:30 on the local field. They have lots of respect for the Wildcats, who have a AA classification with firm hopes of winning this year's district title. In spite of a 3-7 season last year, Callisburg has bright possibilities in gains of size, speed and talent.

However Muenster is not shaken by such data. It likewise claims substantial improvement in size and speed over last year's 5-4-1 team.

Tigers and Lake Dallas Falcons break even in last week's scrimmage.

SH Tigers, Falcons in scoreless tie

Sacred Heart's Tigers gave their coaches a pleasant surprise last week in holding the big Lake Dallas Falcons to a scoreless standoff in their second scrimmage of the season. The contest was all defense, each team allowing the other to get past the midstripe only once.

The session was a real work out for the Tigers who divided their total of 20 to engage the visitors on varsity, JV and freshmen levels. Nevertheless they held out for the duration indicating good physical condition. It was an all-around good practice, according to Coach Henscheid. The boys hit hard, learned a lot, had no injuries.

Start at Nocona

Hopefully they are ready for their season opener Friday at Nocona. The coaches are confident that Tiger defense will be equal to the challenge and they are busy this week on sharpening the offense, which made little progress against the Falcons.

Physical comparison favors the Indians. With a total roster of 51 they have abundant selection whereas the Tigers have only 20. It figures to a weight advantage in the line and big hard running backs, but no specifics about their speed or aerial abilities.

Considering that Nocona has the higher classification and a big advantage in numbers. Sacred Heart is rated as the underdog, but its coaches have other ideas. They have confidence in their defense and strong hope for the offense, plus a big hope for helpful breaks.

Kickoff time is 8 p.m. at the Nocona field.

Nocona golf tourney planned

The Nocona Golf Association has announced plans for a 3-person scramble to be held September 10 and 11 at the Nocona Municipal Course.

There will be 14 ladies' tees for female participants and the entry fee is set at $100 per team. Cash prizes will be awarded in equal distribution with a 75 percent return; 40 percent for first place, 25 percent for second and 10 percent for the third place finishers.

The number of entries will determine flights for competition and the tee times are 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

Lite wins another trophy

Miller Lite slo-pitch softballers assumed the season was over after returning from the state Class C tournament, but an invitation from Thackerville changed their minds, and they returned home during the weekend with another trophy. It was for third place, for three wins in five games. They started by beating Weber 9-1, then bowed to St. Mary's. Next they topped Bud Light 10-9 in the 10th inning of their hottest game of the contest. Next they beat Don's Loggers of Thackerville 5-0, and lost the finale to Gilbreath 5-2.

Hornet defense allows no gain in this pile-up at last week's scrimmage with Southlake Carroll.

Hornet 'Spirit Moms' organize

The Muenster Hornet Moms met on Thursday evening, August 25 with Hornet cheerleaders and their mothers, and wives of the Hornet coaches, for a social and organization of the "Spirit Moms" for the 1983 football season.

Plans were discussed for each game, and all mothers were asked to sign up for one game each, during the season, along with assistance from the cheerleaders, to do something very special for the boys.

Spirit Moms for the first game on September 2 with Callisburg are Sharon Wolf, Wanda Flusche and Pat Walterscheid with help from head cheerleader, Diane Gibson.

Plans for the first game include Parents Night activities, and parents of players and cheerleaders are asked to be at the game promptly at 7:20 p.m. to be ready for introduction with their child before start of the game.

There will be a reception in the cafeteria, immediately following the game for all parents, players, cheerleaders and band members. All Spirit Moms are reminded to bring their pies and cakes to the cafeteria prior to the game.

JCs to sponsor golf tourney

Muenster Jaycees invite area golfers to mark their calendars for a two-person scramble tournament to be held Sunday, September 11 at Nocona Hills. It is a benefit with proceeds to be donated to Cystic Fibrosis.

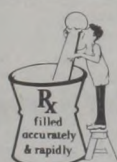

Entries will be limited to 50 teams in four flights and the fee is $30 per team, which includes green fees. Prizes will be scads of golf balls; to the three winning teams of each flight plus balls for the longest drive on two separate holes and nearest the pin shots on two holes. More information is available from Kim Nix, 759-4127.

Slo-pitch tourney coming Sept. 8, 10

Three slo-pitch softball teams of Muenster will be the co-hosts of an 8 team tournament here Thursday Sept. 8 and Saturday, Sept. 10. They are Miller Lite, Bud Light and H&W Meat Co. Another local team, Biffle's will join and the other four contestants remain to be named.

The three top teams will receive T-shirts as prizes.

Lindsay tops Blue Ridge

Prospects for Lindsay's Knights continued to look fine Friday night in their scrimmage with Blue Ridge. The Lindsay boys dominated the session at the varsity and second team levels and broke even at the JV level.

Knights scored six times while shutting out their visitors. The middle team, made up of reserves with varsity and JV completing the lineup, led with two TDs to none. And finally the juniors and their opponents scored twice each.

Coaches Roller and Hermes were highly pleased with the improvement of their performance over that of a week earlier. Defense was in control all the way and offense looked sharp on the ground and in the air. Passing was especially pleasing with a good percentage of completions and not one pass dropped. The indication is that the Knights have dependable receivers to complete the efforts of the capable quarterbacks.

Meet S&S Friday

The Knights have their first opportunity this week to show that their good pre-season is for real as they take on Sadler-Southmayd at Lindsay. The Rams, featuring a strong passing offense, look good over all, and showed it in a scrimmage with Valley View. Lindsay coaches are confident but expect a struggle.

With the help of solid blocking, a Knight running back finds the way clear for a nice gain in Lindsay's scrimmage with Blue Ridge.

County Agent's Report

About this time each year we see quite a few instances of pecan trees shedding some of their pecans. This premature shedding may be caused by any or a combination of the following circumstances. The first problems are due to insects or diseases.

Pecan Scab - This fungus disease causes dark spots or lesions to appear on leaves, twigs, and the shucks of the pecan. A severe infection can cause the nuts to shed, particularly in August and September.

Hickory Shuckworm - The feeding injury of this insect can cause a shed of nuts in July and August. A small white circle will show on the shuck with a pin-point black spot in the center.

Pecan Nut Casebearer - This insect bores in at the base of the nut and hollows it out leaving the tell-tale webbed frass at the entrance hole. This damage is usually more severe in May when the nuts are small but may occur throughout the summer and early fall.

Pecan Weevil - This large weevil will cause pecans to shed from its feeding injury in late July, August and early September. This injury will usually take place following a rain in late summer or early fall.

Black Pecan Aphids - This insect can cause yellow spots to appear on pecan leaves in late summer - the leaves will shed in great numbers from heavy infestation. This in turn can cause heavy premature shedding of nuts.

Powdery Mildew - This fungus causes a "powdery" white appearance to the shuck of the nut. It is most severe in wet seasons and on certain varieties such as Burkett.

One other condition causing shedding of pecans is an inadequate availability of water. Pecans require a large quantity of water to set, hold, and mature a crop of nuts. A shortage of water like we had in some areas in the late spring and summer will result in small pecans that will shed in late July and August.

In addition to being undersized, the shucks tend to stick to the pecan shell.

As you remember during the pecan pollination period this year, it was cool and wet. This can also prevent proper pollination and a somewhat low nut set. Most of the shedding from poor pollination occurs early and should not show up as a problem now.

With all these possible problems it still appears we will have an excellent pecan crop in most areas of the county.

If you have experienced any of the aforementioned problems, then start now to plan a preventative spray program for next year.

There are adequate fungicides and insecticides to prevent a lot of problems that show up at this time of year. But, weather is something we just have to contend with on a year to year basis.

AMPI objects to Reagan's veto

"The President's veto of Senate Joint Resolution 149 represents a shortsighted mistake. This action will further aggravate surplus milk conditions and defies the express and unanimous intent of Congress."

This is how Irvin Elkin, President of Associated Milk Producers, Inc., the nation's leading dairy farmer cooperative, responded to President Ronald Reagan's August 22 veto of legislation that would have postponed implementation from September 1st to October 1st of a second 50 cents/hundredweight assessment on all milk marketed. The measure, which was adopted by unanimous consent in both the House of Representatives and Senate on August 4th, was vigorously supported by AMPI.

Associated Milk Producers, Inc. ranks as the nation's largest dairy farmer cooperative with 33,000 members from 20 states located throughout the midwest, south and southwest, who produce about 12 percent of the nation's milk supply.

"President Reagan says the assessment will exert 'a downward effect' on milk production, but all the evidence shows that this ill-conceived program is not reducing milk production," stated Elkin, a dairy farmer from Amery, Wisconsin. "The truth is that since the first assessment production has continued to increase. With a second assessment, which will mean a $1/hundredweight tax on all dairy farmers, many dairy farm families will have no other choice but to make additional increases in their milk production in the short-run to offset severe cash-flow losses."

Stenholm seeks drought relief

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-Stamford) will take farmers' and ranchers' drought concerns to a meeting with Secretary of Agriculture John Block and other state and national officials September 2.

"The situation is critical and not getting better," Stenholm said. "Our West Texas stockmen and farmers face devastating losses from Mother Nature on top of the shocks and jolts they've received from poor market conditions in the recent past."

Stenholm will meet with Secretary Block, other members of Congress and governors from states affected by the current severe drought. After the meeting, to be held in Chicago, the Secretary will report to President Reagan on the effects of the drought and what can be done about it.

"We have been talking with county officials in the areas where drought damage has been heaviest," Stenholm said. "They have given us up-to-date reports on the situation in their own counties. The picture they paint is not a pretty one, as I know from walking the dry fields and pastures."

"But they also have very definite and concrete ideas to help the situation," he continued. "Their suggestions - about CCC - stored grain, about further changes in regulations on PIK acreage, and so on - will be what I will take to Secretary Block."

Stenholm said that while the recent declaration of several counties as disaster areas eligible for emergency loans has helped some, there is a need for further action.

"I anticipate that other counties of the 17th District may become eligible for emergency loan assistance," he said, "and emergency" crop loans will be needed as well.

"More can be done, and more needs to be done," Stenholm said.
