TP&L bills reflect cogeneration Meeting Peak Demands

Beginning in June, monthly bills from Texas Power & Light Co. will include a charge for some of the costs associated with the company's purchases of power from cogeneration.

TP&L customers will begin receiving power during June under the first contract for cogeneration signed by Texas Utilities Electric Company (TUEC). TP&L is a division of TUEC.

Under the contract with Dow Chemical Company, TUEC will receive 300,000 kilowatts of cogenerated power capacity through September to help its operating divisions - TP&L, Dallas Power & Light and Texas Electric Service - meet summer peak demand for electricity.

"Cogeneration is becoming an increasingly important resource for use in meeting our customers' needs for electricity," said Harry F. Bomar, manager of the TP&L district office at Gainesville.

He noted that in January, TUEC announced its 10-year resource plan for meeting electricity needs through 1994.

"We serve one of the fastest-growing areas in the nation, and summer peak demand for electricity increased more than 53 percent from 1974 to 1984," he said.

Current growth rate projections, Bomar said, show TUEC will need an additional 10 million kilowatts of generating capacity by 1994.

Under the 10-year resource plan, 14 percent of that additional capacity will be supplied by cogeneration and alternate fuel sources such as wind, solar, biomass and hydro.

Cogeneration involves the simultaneous production of steam for use in industrial processes and for the generation of electricity. The industry uses the steam and may use some of the electricity. The excess electricity is available for sale to an electric utility. Recent legislative and regulatory changes have made cogeneration economically advantageous for many industries.

Other resources included in TUEC's 10-year plan are lignite and nuclear generating units, natural gas/oil-fueled combustion turbines, conservation and load management.

"Cogeneration and our other resources make up an energy supply program to help assure our customers reliable and adequate electricity through the coming decade," Bomar said.

Capacity costs associated with the Dow Chemical Company contract and subsequent contracts for cogeneration will be charged to customers through a rate per kilowatt-hour. The rate is approved by the Public Utility Commission and printed on bills in compliance with PUC requirements.

The amount of the charge will vary from month to month, depending on the amount of cogenerated power purchased and the number of kilowatt-hours the customer uses. In June, the charge to residential customers for 1,000 kilowatt-hours is 54.6 cents.

OUTSTANDING COMMUNITY CITIZEN

Jaycees pick Father Denis

Father Denis Soerries is this year's outstanding community citizen as selected by the Muenster Jaycees. A plaque stating the fact was awarded to him Saturday night by Wayne Klement in the organization's annual installation and awards banquet.

In his presentation, Klement said the plaque is in recognition and appreciation of promoting community harmony, especially through his efforts in the parish renewal program.

Wayne Klement also was the recipient of a distinguished service award. His was the senatorship award, the highest honor that a Jaycee chapter can bestow on one of its members. It, too, signifies appreciation and refers particularly to honor and prestige brought to the local chapter. In Klement's case, it was earned largely through participation in district, state and national activity. Presentation was made by his brother, Claude.

Next in line for honors was Jack Flusche. He received the Key Man Award as the person most actively involved in the year's program. In addition, he received the President's Partner award as the person who most often helps or substitutes for the president. Tim Felderhoff made the presentations.

The award for the year's outstanding project chairman went to Sam Hess, especially for his extensive work in Germanfest and the Circus.

And then there was another kind of recognition as Jerry Reed and Willie Wimmer received exhausted rooster awards simply by outgrowing their eligibility at the age of 36. Wayne Klement's presentation sympathized with those leaving the fold.

Ending the year as president, Tim Felderhoff reviewed high spots of the chapter's 1985 activities. He said the current top project is a high quality tennis court in the park. Texoma Regional Planning Commission is sharing the project on a 50-50 basis. Its money is available now and work can start as soon as the Jaycees finish their share. And improvements were made to the County Republicans Reorganize

A reorganizational meeting of the Republican Party of Cooke County was held April 12 with officers and standing committees appointed by Vice-Chairman Debbie Hess, and approved by the executive committee.

Party officers, in addition to Vice-Chairman Hess, are Assistant Vice-Chairman and Parliamentarian George Rogers; Secretary Kit Chase and Treasurer David Krahl. The Selection Committee consists of Chase, Krahl and Rogers. An Audit Committee is composed of Chase, Mrs. K.B. Yost and Rogers. The By-Laws Committee consists of Hess, Chase and Rogers.

Only five of the twenty-four precincts are currently represented by duly elected precinct chairpersons. Representatives for immediate appointment as precinct chairpersons are sought for all precincts, except 2, 6, 17, 21 and 22. Anyone who wishes to recommend chairpersons for the other precincts are requested to contact Vice-Chairman Hess at 1-759-2890 or Chairman of the Selection Committee Rogers at 665-2670.

Rains hit harvest

Favored with almost two weeks of dry weather, farmers of this area have harvested two-thirds or more of their grain crop and have fingers crossed Wednesday wondering when they can get back to work.

Tuesday night's rain of .58 inches brought the season's first interruption, which can be overcome by some two days of sun and breeze. But the outlook is hardly that bright with weather forecasts predicting more showers.

So far, damage is slight. Grain hasn't been shattered out and straw is standing, but heavy or increased moisture can change that with decline of both quality and yield. Besides, thriving growth of weeds can increase the grain's moisture content during the threshing process, and heavy rain could also cause mud problems in the field.

On the brighter side, it can be said that harm to the harvest is offset by benefits to other crops. Milo and corn, along with hay and pasture, need a lift. The light rain which hardly hurt the wheat also did little for other vegetation.

But a good rain could be fine for growing crops.

Other harvest details have changed slightly in the farmer's favor. First there's a price increase of five cents, a gain to $3.00 for hard wheat and $2.85 for soft wheat. And the later maturing wheat is testing better. Hard wheat has gone as high as 64.6 and soft wheat as high as 65.1.

Likewise, there are scattered reports of better yields. The average holds on at 40 to 50 bushels per acre, but a few crops went up to the 60's and the best was 70.

An added note: Harvesting downtime has definitely been ex- See Harvest, Page 3

Weather which has been good to grain harvesters for almost two weeks suddenly turned fickle on Wednesday. Starting with an overnight rain of .58 inches, it added a hard shower Wednesday afternoon and left farmers guessing when they can get back in the field.

Texas Legislature

Recently approved Fee Bill

By Richard F. Williamson
State Representative, District 63

Faced with a probable shortage of revenue during the next two years, the Texas Legislature has been forced to make a decision between (1) reducing expenditures, or (2) raising revenues. Many legislators had previously pledged to their constituents that there would be no "tax increase" during the current session. While I never promised to vote against a tax increase, I repeatedly pledged that I would NOT support a tax increase until I was certain that current expenditures were balanced with efficient government operation.

ON APRIL 23, 1985, I was among the twenty-three (23) members of the House of Representatives who voted AGAINST House Bill 1593 by Rudd, increasing various fees collected by certain state agencies and imposing new fees in connection with functions of certain state agencies. This bill is generally known as "The Fee Bill," and I believe now that there is no difference in raising fees or raising taxes, and I cannot vote to raise taxes as long as I know that there is wasteful government spending currently allowed. The State of Texas presently collects many fees which are not properly applied to the areas of State Government which affect the person or entity paying the fee. As long as waste exists, raising ANY fee or tax is to legitimize such waste.

MOREOVER, I am convinced that there are other revenue-raising avenues which have not been fully explored by the Legislature. To pass a bill such as HB 1593 before a full investigation is to "place the carriage in front of the horse". And I disagreed with some of the substance of the bill itself. For instance, the bill calls for a whopping increase in fees to dairy, and other agricultural production. It is simply unfair that rural Texas pay more than its share of the cost of State government. At a time when the federal government is moving away from support for the agricultural community, I think it extremely bad policy to raise the costs of operating the dairy farm or any farming operation.

FINALLY, I objected to increases in various fees that impact licensed drivers on our State highways. The increase (last summer) in the motor fuel tax is still being felt by automobile drivers in Texas.

As always, I welcome your thoughts and comments concerning this or any other issue impacting State government. Please write to me at P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Tx., 78769. You may also contact Mrs. Flossie Schoppa, my Cooke County Administrative Assistant, at Plaza 82, Suite #5, Gainesville, Tx. 76240 or by phone at (817) 665-6116.

ON MAY 22, I successfully amended a bill on the floor of the House of Representatives which deals with the issuance of bonds for additional building projects by the Texas Public Building Authority. The TPBA oversees and coordinates the construction and maintenance of buildings owned or rented by the State of Texas.

My announcement provided a method of financing for energy-efficiency-improvement projects for a total of 12 state agencies and institutions--the implementation of structural improvements to, at the most economical price, keep state buildings cool in the summer and warm in the winter.

This amendment represents a cost-savings to the taxpayer in the neighborhood of some six million dollars annually starting in fiscal year 1988.

This legislation represents a giant leap forward in reducing waste and inefficiency in state government.

Basically, the legislation would provide revenue to upgrade and thermalize buildings. This would include "capital retrofits"--the removal and replacement of such things as poorly-insulated windows and installation of additional insulation to existing walls. This amendment was one of the most important parts of the legislative package offered by me in the 69th Legislature.

ALSO ON MAY 22, I successfully amended Senate Bill 212 on the floor of the House of Representatives. This bill relates to the governing board, operations and continuation of the Texas Department on Aging which is scheduled to expire on Sept. 1, 1985 if it is not renewed by the Legislature.

I offered an amendment to delete a clause in the bill which would have provided that no "entity" (this would mean any convalescent home or other institution that provides care to senior citizens) be allowed to use more than 12 percent stipulation in Senate Bill 212. This is particularly true in District 63.

Expenditures for administrative costs were entirely legitimate in the day-to-day operation of these institutions and in no way represented inefficiency or mismanagement.

Hungry for headlines

Though America's liberal activists seem preoccupied with gutting foreign policy these days - the need to negotiate another arms control agreement the Soviets can violate; making the world safe for Nicaragua's Sandinistas; and promoting racial harmony in South Africa by destroying the few institutions in the country that actually have a beneficial influence - do not fret.

They also have discovered some very, very serious problems closer to home: hunger and homelessness.

To listen to them one would think the streets are teeming with millions of the unfortunate scrounging around in garbage cans for a meager scrap from some rich man's table. Calcutta USA.

A Harvard-based group calling itself the Physicians Task Force on Hunger, for example, has produced a "study" claiming that 20-million Americans - nearly one out of every ten - are living on the edge of starvation. Surprised? What would you expect? After all, a "Task Force on Hunger" would have to hang up its press releases if it couldn't locate a hunger epidemic.

And, of course, there's always blame to be passed around. So not surprisingly, the Physicians Task Force on Hunger concluded that "the recent and swift return of hunger to America can be traced in substantial measure to clear and conscious policies of the federal government." And whose policies are those? President Reagan's of course.

Beginning to get the drift?

The real irony in this story comes from the fact that these same politicized physicians participated in a similar study in 1977 which found that America's nutrition programs were a great success and that hunger and malnutrition weren't serious problems. Isn't it amazing that despite increased federal expenditures in those intervening years, America is suffering from what the doctors now call a "national health epidemic?"

There are Americans who suffer from hunger. It's a tragic fact of life. Just as there are "street people" and "shopping bag ladies." But to put the number of hungry people at 20-million is political dishonesty at its worst.

One look at the data presented in the Hunger in America report tells why. The physicians did not actually find 20-million people hungry. The method for arriving at that number is as follows: they took the 1983 "poverty" count of some 35 million, subtracted the 20-million food stamp recipients, and got 15-million people below the poverty line who were not receiving food stamps. These people, they arbitrarily decided, were hungry by definition. Next, they did some finagling with survey data (some of which they describe as not necessarily reliable) to estimate how many people receiving food stamps might still be experiencing hunger. And hocus-pocus, they came up with 5-million more hungry people.

In the late 1970s, two out of five poor Americans received food stamp assistance and the doctors saw no hunger crisis. Today, two of five poor Americans receive food stamps and we are in the middle of a hunger epidemic.

If the Hunger in America report proved anything, it is not that we are suffering from a "national health epidemic," but that certain doctors are "hungry" for headlines.

Senator Goldwater and Defense Secretary Weinberger, the text of the Rules was declassified. At the same time, a historical study of air activity in the war was also declassified.

The documents revealed how comprehensive the restrictions were which bound our military in Vietnam. For example, one rule told U.S. pilots not to attack North Vietnam fighting planes sitting on a runway. Enemy planes became legitimate targets only when in flight and clearly identified and clearly indicating "Hostile intentions." And even then the base could not be bombed.

Similar "hostile intentions" regulations applied to truck convoys hauling military supplies in Laos or North Vietnam. Since showing a truck's hostile intent is next to impossible, how could pilots know when they were permitted to bomb? In some areas, the Rule permitted enemy trucks to avoid attack simply by driving off the road. And there were military truck parks 200 yards from the road, sanctuaries that were immune to attack.

A similar rule provided that SAM missile sites could not be hit while under construction, but only after they were operational and dangerous.

A study by a subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services

COMMENT

Committee ended with a report strongly critical of the Rules of Engagement. It concluded that inability or impotence of air power was not to blame for failure to achieve objectives. Rather the fault is in "fragmentation of our air might be overly restrictive controls, limitations and the doctrine of "gradualism" placed on our aviation forces, which prevented them from waging the air campaign in the manner and according to the timetable which was best calculated to achieve maximum results."

The subcommittee found the Rules of Engagement to be directly responsible for the fact that during 1966 less than one percent of the total sorties against North Vietnam were against fixed targets on the Joint Chiefs' target list.

Another factor in the great debacle is that important targets of the Hanoi-Haiphong area had to remain untouched. As a result, the enemy enjoyed a large assured sanctuary. Combined with failure to close the port of Haiphong and to shut down rail and roads leading to China, the communists were permitted to stockpile supplies and forward them over relatively safe routes to the fighting zones.

The whole arrangement amounted to an ideal situation for the enemy. Sanctuaries with our blessing, along with absurd U.S. Rules of Engagement, allowed the enemy to protect its forces and supplies, provide safe training and staging areas and to install massed air defense weapons.

While the enemy had such advantages, the Rules had a heavy impact on American aircraft and pilot losses. Because of ample opportunity to install weapons and supply their soldiers, Red defense was more effective and U.S. casualties were greater.

All of which is another element in one of the saddest chapters of American history. It's very much like the debacle in Korea when MacArthur was not permitted to win. Those who are alarmed by the present threats of a global communist takeover have reason to wonder whether our own mistakes are related factors.

State Rep. Charles Finnel

Reports on Legislation

State Rep. Charles Finnel, D-Holliday, completed the 69th Texas Legislature with the passage of seven bills and six resolutions that he authored or sponsored. "However, the only bill that absolutely had to pass was the Appropriations Bill," noted Finnel, a member of the House Appropriations Committee. The Texas Legislature did pass, on the final day of the Regular Session, a "very austere but adequate" state budget which will fund state government for the coming two years without new taxes.

Three of the bills in Finnel's own legislative package and three of his resolutions deal with the concerns of senior citizens.

Included are: exempt regulations on vans transporting senior citizens; authorize studies on care home standards; establish a new housing program for the elderly; supports programs on Alzheimer's disease; and oppose federal regulations superceding local retirement systems.

Finnel also passed HB 655 which strengthens existing laws governing the state's Crime Victims Fund. Sometimes referred to as the "Henry Lee Lucas Bill" HB 655 requires that the state must first approve any publication contract a criminal might make pertaining to the reenactment of a crime (as a book, movie, etc.) with any proceeds going directly into the Crime Victims Fund which compensates those victimized by crime in Texas.

Additional legislation by Finnel includes the following:

•SB 550/HB 657 suspends a minor's Texas driver's license for conduct that violates drug and/or alcohol laws.

•SB 551 and SB 552 (with Sen. Farabee) authorizing the appointment of bailiffs and setting the terms of court in the 97th Judicial District.

•HR 522 commending the youth and adults of the 4-H Volunteer Leaders' Association throughout the State of Texas.

Rep. Finnel serves the nine-county 80th House District. He is Chairman of Budget and Oversight for the House Financial Institutions Committee and a member of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Dr. George S. Benson

Importance of the premise

For many years Dr. Fred Schwarz has explained the overall strategy of the International Communist movement through a simple paragraph:

"External encirclement, plus internal demoralization, plus thermo-nuclear blackmail, lead to progressive surrender."

There can be no question but that the Soviets are now in the encirclement phase of their worldwide operation.

The Communists have long recognized that the United States is the major obstacle to their attempt to world domination. As such we have always been at the same time their number one target. Faith Ryan Whittlesey, on President Reagan's staff, stated recently: "The Soviets are giving ten times as much military assistance to Cuba and Nicaragua as the United States is providing to all of Latin America..."

"The U.S.S.R. sees the southern flank of the United States as NATO's 'strategic rear' and is attempting to exploit what Soviet planners correctly see as a highly vulnerable area."

In our considered opinion the most important basic fact of our national life in 1985, as it has been for half-a-century, is that "We are at war with Communism!"

The future of this nation, and in fact of Western Civilization, rests upon our recognition of the validity of this fact. The Communists declared war on us, and the rest of the world, in 1848 when Marx and Engels issued their Manifesto of the Communist Party.

The final paragraph of this document, which started World War III long before I and II had ever been waged, states:

"The Communists disdain to conceal their views and aims. They openly declare that their ends can be attained only by the forcible overthrow of all existing social conditions..."

Forestburg grads hear Stenholm

Congressman Charles Stenholm addressed the thirteen graduates of Forestburg High School last Friday night and reminded them that they are not facing ready-made success but opportunity.

With that outlook in mind, he urged them to set goals and stick to them in spite of discouragement and to be curious because whoever stops learning is old.

Other helpful thoughts are to be constructive, considerate and enthusiastic, also be a person of integrity living up to firm moral and religious principles. These things will insure peace of mind, the first essential to happiness.

The congressman further stated that the American Revolution is unfinished, that our part of it is to perpetuate freedom, which is the basis of opportunity. Another thought: "be a friend and you will have friends."

Others speaking in the ceremony was the valedictory by Patricia Bell and the salutatory by Kendall Holland.

Diplomas were presented by Michael Wilson, president of the Forestburg school board, as Barbara Robinson assisted and Dan Hamric participated in traditional formalities of turning tassels and rings. Barbara Robinson presented awards. Hollis Adams gave the invocation, Murrell Johns the benediction, Mary Hays sang and Mrs. Donal Steadham played for the processional and recessional.

After ceremonies, graduates formed a receiving line to accept congratulations and good wishes, after which refreshments were served.

Hit-and-run still running

According to DPS officials, a red station wagon came out of the night, ricocheted off a Chevy pickup truck, a ditch, a utility pole and a telephone box Saturday night before disappearing from the scene.

Cyril C. Hermes, 48, of Lake Dallas was traveling west on FM 678 at a triangular intersection just before county road 123 intersects with the interstate. Hermes was driving a 1978 brown Chevy pickup.

At approximately 11:30 p.m., a red station wagon traveling east on 678 approached the Hermes vehicle and in doing so left and came back onto the roadway.

When the station wagon came back onto the roadway it reportedly struck the left rear quarter panel of the truck, bounced back south into the ditch, hitting a telephone box and a utility pole before leaving the scene of the accident.

Hermes was not injured. DPS officials ask that anyone seeing a red station wagon appearing to have been in an accident of the nature described above please contact the Gainesville office at 665-4131.

Only persons 50 years and older are eligible to take the course, Hellman said, and noted that AARP carries its own member insurance which might be of interest to senior citizens.

Ordinance amendment vote slated for July 1 meeting

By B. J. Fenton

A proposed amendment to the city's subdivision ordinance, a rezoning request, a request for home improvements, a plat for a proposed street, and pool passes headed the agenda for Monday's City Council meeting.

After some two months of consideration, Council agreed upon and at the July meeting may vote upon a proposed amendment to the City's subdivision ordinance.

The query pertained to the requirement of paving and curbs and gutters in Section 7 - Improvements, paragraph b, number 2, which states:

"All streets within or abutting to the proposed subdivision shall be paved and curbs and gutters installed in accordance with an approved plan. All paving shall be to the width specified on the thoroughfare plan."

Some contractors were opposed to and Council could not agree upon the requirement of "paving and curbs and gutters." After further debate, John Pagel proposed that the ordinance be amended to delete the words "paved and curbs and gutters", and further to delete the word "paved" in the next sentence of the ordinance, so that the proposed amended section would read:

"All streets within or abutting to the proposed subdivision shall be installed in accordance with an approved plan. All streets shall be to the width specified on the thoroughfare plan."

Council was in agreement with the proposal and is scheduled to vote on adopting the amendment to the ordinance at their July meeting.

In other action, a request from Urban Endres to rezone his property, known as Endico, along Hwy 82 from Residential One to Business Two was passed on to Council with a nod of approval from the Planning and Zoning Board.

Council approved the request as well as a request to extend the fire zone along the front of the said property and 140-foot deep.

Concerning a request from John Bartush for an addition to his home in Block 11, and also to add a carport to the front of his home, Council granted the addition of living space to the existing home but denied the carport.

Council denied the carport because it would extend some 7-feet into the 30-foot easement on the property.

Rufus Henscheid appeared before the Council to present a plat for a proposed street in Bolck 61, a subdivision development in the southwest part of town.

The Planning and Zoning Board gave their approval to the plat and Council did likewise.

Henscheid noted that a suggested name for the street was Kleiss Street, because it is in part of the old Kleiss family property. Council had no objection.

Pool passes were also approved by Council and are now available at both the swimming pool and City Hall. Persons may purchase 11 passes to the pool for $10.

Jim Hoedebeck offered volunteer services to the city to help with errand or any busy non-manual labor and was given Council's appreciation for the offer.

An un-requested executive session was removed from the agenda and Council adjourned.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for Monday, July 1, at 7:30 p.m. Council meetings are open to the public.

VALLEY VIEW

Party fare dinner nets $455

Valley View Community Center raised $455.00 at a recent Party Fare dinner, a community fundraising program sponsored by Tom Thumb-Page.

Approximately 125 people attended a dinner and entertaining program held Wednesday, May 8, 1985, in Valley View to raise money for the senior citizen fund.

Party Fare is an entertaining 90-minute program, combining a party atmosphere of games and prizes, a short informational presentation and a meal prepared and served by the volunteers of the Valley View Community Center, under the supervision of hostess and home economist Cherie January Stowe. Coordinating the event with Ms. Stowe was Ms. Mary Bierschenk. Food for the banquet was provided by Tom Thumb.

After dinner, humorist Rose-Mary Rumbley and her puppet, Pig-out, entertained the audience with anecdotes about the founding years of major food manufacturers like Borden, Dr Pepper and Perrier. Pig-out's Carol Channing-like rendition of "Tom Thumb is a Girl's Best Friend" was a show-stopper!

For after dinner entertainment, the Party Fare guests were treated to a humorous program of games and prizes.

Guests received "goody" bags of cents-off coupons, recipes and trial samples provided by Party Fare sponsors.

Party Fare is available to all recognized non-profit organizations in the Dallas, Austin, Sherman, Gainesville, Longview and Tyler areas. Ticket prices are determined by the organization and all proceeds are kept by the organization.

Organizations interested in setting up a Party Fare lunch or dinner can call Home Economist Cherie January Stowe at (214) 661-9021.

Lindsay girl paralyzed in mishap

Steven Becker, 16, of Route 4, Gainesville, and Shelly Long, 15, of Lindsay were both injured in a one-car accident Friday, May 31, at approximately 11:50 p.m.

The accident reportedly occurred 9.4 miles southwest of Gainesville and one mile west of mile marker number 10 on FM 1630.

According to DPS officials, Becker was driving a 1978, maroon, Oldsmobile 98 at a high rate of speed east on FM 1630. Becker's vehicle is reported to have gone off the roadway, with him losing control. The vehicle knocked down 18 fence posts and struck a utility pole, breaking it in two, and finally came to rest in a wheat field.

Officials said both Becker and Long were transported to Gainesville Memorial Hospital by Cooke County EMS personnel.

Becker is reported to have been treated and released with minor injuries including a sprained neck.

However, officials said Long received several cuts and bruises, internal injuries, a broken neck and some paralysis.

Long was transported by CareFlite from Gainesville to Harris Hospital in Fort Worth where she underwent surgery Monday morning.

Hospital officials in Fort Worth said Tuesday that Long had come through the surgery, which helped stabilize the broken neck, and was in fair condition.

By press time Wednesday, Harris officials were still listing Long as being in fair condition. She remains in the intensive care unit. Hospital officials confirmed the paralysis but not its extent.

Becker was cited for unsafe speed in connection with the accident.

There is an alternative to regular permanent house siding

Seamless Steel Siding

"the ultimate answer"

No Splices - No Seams - No Air or Moisture Leaks

Regular Outdated Siding

Regular siding comes in standard 12-foot lengths. This means there has to be a seam every 12 feet or less. On a house 25 to 30 feet long, there would be two or three seams in each strip of siding. SEAMS THAT COLLECT DUST AND MOISTURE and can quickly make new siding look SHABBY AND DIRTY.

Outdated Leaky Regular Siding Has Seams

ABC Seamless Siding

No matter how long your house is, there will be no seams in the siding when you choose ABC Seamless Siding. We shape and cut our siding right on the job. Pieces as short as 1 inch or as long as 100 feet...Your house is custom fit by ABC Seamless.

ABC Seamless Steel Siding Has No Seams

Stenholm rates strong conservative

A survey conducted by Barron's Report and The National Journal has given Congressman Charles Stenholm high marks as a conservative representative.

The survey reviewed three areas: fiscal matters, social issues and foreign policy. Congressmen were evaluated on key votes cast during the 98th Congress in 1983-84. Ratings ranged from 0, which is very conservative, to 100, which is very liberal.

Congressman Stenholm received a rating of 0 in foreign affairs, meaning he supported a strong defense and conservative foreign policy. On social issues, the Democratic representative a rating of 8. He also received a rating of 19 in fiscal matters.

"I feel these ratings are a true representation of my voting record. I plan to continue voting the way I perceive the majority of the constituents of the 17th District want me to cast their vote in the Congress," he said.

Pressure gauges to be checked

Homemakers may have their pressure canner gauges checked on Tuesday, June 4, from 8:30 to 11:30 in the morning in the County Extension Office. It takes only a few moments to check the gauge using a Master Gauge Tester, so homemakers may bring their canner lids at anytime during the scheduled check time.

If gauges need to be replaced, or if an adjusted temperature is needed, the check will give this information. IF you need a gauge check, but cannot bring it Tuesday, you may bring it earlier and leave it or call 665-4931.

A pressure canner in safe working order is the key to "get-ready" plans for home canning all vegetables (except tomatoes).

A "make sure" checklist for safe working pressure canners appears below.

- Take off removable petcock and safety valves, wash and dry thoroughly. Soak in vinegar to remove any corrosion.

- Use a toothpick or pipe cleaner to clean openings in lid of canner.

- Use fine steel wool and soap to wash bottom part of pressure canner.

- To remove any odors and stains, combine juice of one lemon - or two tablespoons vinegar - with two quarts of water. Process at five pounds pressure for five minutes.

- Grease (using vegetable oil) the closing surfaces of metal-to-metal sealing pressure canners if lid is difficult to remove or steam escapes.

- Replace gasket if rubber has hardened.

- Check dial gauge on pressure canner. Clean weighted gauge thoroughly.

Bayer's Kolonialwaren under construction

By B. J. Fenton

Bayer's Kolonialwaren on East Hwy 82 is undergoing major construction to prepare for a "surprise" in their merchandise, according to Chas Bayer, owner and manager.

Bayer said the business is adding a 16-by-75-foot room onto the west side of the existing store. This addition will include a drive-in window and will have a paved drive going all the way around the west side of the building.

In addition, "We're adding on to our reach-in cooler with another four doors, and we're adding a walk-in cooler," Bayer said.

Other construction will see the north entrance to the Kolonialwaren changed to the east side of the present structure.

A larger, concrete parking lot is also planned, Bayer said.

The outside of the Kolonialwaren will also be refurbished with a typical German motif of wooden shingles and board trim.

The entire project is expected to be complete within the next four to six weeks, Bayer said. An announcement of a grand opening is forthcoming.

Bayer's Kolonialwaren currently specializes in fresh baked goods and German delectables.

CHAS BAYER and Bobby Lutkenhaus discuss where to make a cut in the west brick wall of Bayer's Kolonialwaren, currently undergoing major construction. While several changes are being made in the interior and exterior of the business, just what the new merchandise will be is a secret. In another four to six weeks construction and remodeling is expected to be complete and both an announcement of the merchandise and grand opening will be made.

Hess tug-of-war beats Windthorst

Hess teams took over last Sunday in three tug-of-war confrontations of the Windthorst community picnic. The men's team, limited to 1400 pounds of brawn, survived three elimination contests before taking the championship in the fourth tussle.

The women's team, limited to nine members, was more fortunate in needing only one win to get into the showdown, and also came out as champs. Ladies, like the men, received individual trophies.

However, all were assured by their Windthorst adversaries that they are challenged for rematches at the Father's Day picnic here on June 16.

Members of the Hess men's team were Dale, Jerry, Quintin, Leon, Frank, Doyle and Gene Hess and Virgil Henscheid.

The ladies were Gloria Coker, Dena Hess, Betty Luttmeyer, Linda Grewing, Elaine Schilling, Jeanie Hess, LaBecah Hess, Jovanna White and a pinch hitter, Dina Berend of Windthorst.

The boys' team included Jason, Ryan, Gary, Greg and Chris Hess, Stevan Nasche and three draftees of Windthorst.

Muenster entries run strong at Wichita

Muenster was well represented Saturday night in a love run at Wichita Falls for the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation. It was a 5K run with about 300 runners participating.

Ronnie Hess finished second overall and second in his division. His wife, Janet, was third overall in the ladies' race and first in her age division. Also Dale Schilling was fourth overall and fourth in his division. Virgil Henscheid was credited with a good race but not among the front runners.

Dale Schilling was at it again the next day, entering a two-mile run at the Windthorst picnic and finishing in second place with a time of 11.5 minutes. About 50 participated in that run.

Glen Hess races in ATC National

Glen Hess rated a spot on the leader board ... number 8 ... in one of the races of the ATC Nationals at Liberal, Kansas last Saturday. He was competing as a professional in the division of 200 cc modified three-wheelers with the leading racers from all across the nation. Glen rates as a privateer, that is, not aligned with one of the sponsoring firms.

Next on his calendar is another ATC National to be held at Boyd, Texas on June 22 and 23.

AMPI salutes Dairy Month

More milk means less osteoporosis

Osteoporosis has been called "the silent epidemic" for good reason, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

"Osteoporosis - a weakening of the bone structure - is a condition that develops over time," says Marilyn Haggard. A woman may not know she is developing this condition until she develops a "dowager's hump" or experiences broken bones from even minor falls in her later years, she explains.

No matter what your age, it's not too late to change your eating habits so you can get the calcium necessary for strong bones throughout life, Haggard says.

She suggests adding more dairy products to your diet:

Drink milk at meals and for snacks.

Eat cheese as a snack or add it to other foods like sandwiches.

Eat yogurt.

When you make creamed soups, use milk instead of water.

Serve calcium-rich desserts, such as ice cream, custard or pudding.

Add powdered milk to soups, casseroles, sauces and beverages like cocoa.

"The best prevention for osteoporosis is an adequate supply of calcium daily over the lifespan," states Haggard. "Yet research studies show that most adult women are consuming less than the recommended two servings a day of dairy products."

Nutritionists are also concerned about the future of the growing number of teenage girls who drink carbonated beverages rather than milk with meals and snacks, she says.

While increasing calcium is the key step in preventing osteoporosis, there are also some other things you can do, Haggard reports. Regular exercise, getting enough vitamin D, eating a nutritionally adequate diet and stopping smoking will also help keep your bones strong.

"The milk price support program has assured U.S. consumers of dependable dairy supplies at reasonable prices."

Lee Wolf, Associated Milk Producers, Inc. Southern Region President, emphasized this message in a salute to June Dairy Month. AMPI ranks as the nation's leading dairy farmer cooperative with over 31,000 members from 20 states who produce about 11 percent of the nation's milk supply.

"The milk program benefits taxpayers, consumers and farmers alike," declared Wolf, a dairy farmer from Gainesville.

"Since its introduction in 1949, it has provided market stability enabling U.S. dairy farmers to make continuous gains in productivity."

Wolf pointed out that prices for dairy products have stayed consistently below increases in the overall Consumer Price Index. Between 1982-1984, the Consumer Price Index increased by 7.6 percent, compared to a 2.5 percent increase for dairy products.

"In fact, it takes the typical U.S. wage earner half the time today to earn the money to make purchases like a half-gallon of milk, a pound of butter and a half-gallon of ice cream compared to 1950," said Wolf.

Wolf noted that through the concept of "self-help" programs, dairy farmers are taking responsibility for helping finance the milk price support program when milk purchases get too large.

He said the recent Milk Diversion Program, in which dairy farmers themselves totally financed the cost of "diversion" payments made to producers who contracted to reduce their milk marketings, clearly demonstrated that "supply management" works. During 1984:

*National milk production dropped three percent.

*Government purchases of surplus dairy products went down nearly 50 percent.

*Government costs for the dairy program were cut by over $1 billion.

"With the U.S. Congress preparing to act on the 1985 Farm Bill, it's essential that we keep a strong viable dairy program intact so dairy farmers can continue to assure consumers of dependable dairy supplies at reasonable prices," concluded Wolf. "A self-help approach that includes supply-management being proposed by the dairy industry is the most effective way available to keep government costs under control, while continuing to provide the stability dairy farm families need."

County Agent's Report

This past week I was visiting with some of our gardening friends about squash. Many things are happening in the vegetable gardens now, and squash appears to be one of the plants that is going to be very prolific this year.

One of the worst pests that we have associated with squash is the squash bug. Squash bugs are very difficult to control, especially if the insects reach a mature stage. For control to be satisfactory, we need to apply insecticides such as Sevin or Thiodan early in the season when the insects are small. Be sure and get a good thorough coverage whether you use a spray or dust. When utilizing these insecticides, the material must come in contact with the insect to be effective. Apply the chemicals to the base of the plant, underneath the foliage and, in some cases, underneath the stems of the plant for good control. You can find egg masses on the bottom of the leaves. If you remove these, it will also help in control of squash bugs.

One other question we hear at times is "Will squash cross with other vine crops in a garden?" Squash will not cross-pollinate with cucumber, watermelon or cantaloupe but yellow squash and green squash will cross-pollinate. If you have new seed, this cross-pollination will result in off-flavored or off-colored fruit. However, if you save the seed for next year's planting, then you may see a combination of the yellow and green squash characteristics on your new plant.

It is not a good idea to save squash seed from year to year for planting due to the fact that you cannot hold varieties true to type. If you have a hybrid seed, many times these will not breed true should you save the seeds, also.

Due to this year's weather, we may experience a problem in some squash plants with a disease called Powdery Mildew. This is a fungus that attacks squash and can kill the plants. Generally, we expect worse Powdery Mildew problems in the fall than on spring planted crops. Should the Mildew become a problem, whether it be on spring or fall squash, Benomyl is a good effective fungicide for control.

Again, this looks like a good year for squash - the main problem that we tend to have is squash bugs. Be on the lookout and begin your control early.

Poll rates farmers favorably

A nationwide poll, conducted recently by the Gallup organization, shows that most Americans have varied, but favorable, attitudes toward agriculture.

The findings were revealed to members of the Congressional Ag Forum (CAF) in a special briefing one hour before the results were released nationally.

Among the findings were:

* Three-quarters of Americans believe government assistance to farmers should be maintained, but they disagree which form that assistance should take;

* Although they have favorable attitudes toward farmers, few people would pick agriculture as a job for themselves or their children. Only truck driving ranks lower than farming as an occupation parents want their children to pursue;

* Thirty percent believed average farmers make more money than they do, although they greatly overestimated the average farm income. The average guess for a farmer's income was $24,000, more than double the actual $11,749.

"These results show that many people in the urban areas empathize with the plight of the American farmer," Congressman Stenholm said. "Furthermore, the presentation of these findings, through this CAF meeting, has helped educate urban members about their constituents' attitudes."

Conservation booklet available

The popular teaching aid Conserving Soil will be reprinted this summer by the National Association of Conservation Districts.

Ray J. Svacina, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Gainesville, said the booklet will be offered for sale to teachers and others before July 30 for a pre-publication price of $7.60 each. After July 30, single copies will sell for $8.50.

Further discount prices will be offered for bulk purchases.

"This booklet was first distributed to schools by SCS a few years ago," Svacina said. "It had suggested activities for students, background information and teaching tools; it was so popular that all available copies were quickly exhausted."

Conservation districts, schools and others may purchase copies in bulk quantities from NACD for resale at the regular price.

For information, contact the Soil Conservation Service, Federal Bldg., Room 204, telephone number 817-668-7794.

Fire department sponsors rodeo

The Forestburg Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor the Forestburg Rodeo on Friday and Saturday, June 7 and 8, at 8:30 p.m. at the rodeo grounds.

Another special event at Forestburg will occur on Thursday, June 13, at 7 p.m. when several men from WBAP will attend a meeting in the new Community Center, to organize "WBA People," with the hope of organizing a Community Improvement Program. Area residents are cordially invited and urged to be present.

The Log Cabin Fund at Forestburg is progressing well, having received several generous donations. The cabin was moved and erected in Forestburg during the Texas Centennial in 1936. A number of people are interested in its preservation as a heritage to the community and a monument to its ancestors. They hope to have it repaired and restored for the Sesquicentennial in 1986.

Much activity in the Forestburg community during the past week included the 8th grade graduation on Thursday night when District Attorney Jack McLaughy was the speaker; and the high school graduation on Friday night when Congressman Charles Stenholm was the speaker.

On Saturday night friends, relatives and supporters for the Hardy Cemetery Association met for a covered dish benefit supper at the Community Center. Just across the road at the rodeo arena, the Saint Jo Trail Riders were enjoying a campout. Behind the Community Center a group of young and old were having a softball game. At all events, parents were taking time out for recreation and fun with their kids.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Reynolds were her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Priest, of Ventura, California and a cousin, Mrs. Gladys Davis of California.

Marion Foster of Pampa visited in the area Sunday and attended Dewey Homecoming.

Hollie Berry of Gainesville and her son, Dale Berry, of Nashville, Tenn. and Henry Berry of Nocona were guests of Dude and Beulah Mae Berry on Sunday.

Loveta Bewley has purchased a three-wheeler bicycle - says she is practicing to enter the bike-a-thon next year and hopes to interest sponsors.

Folks driving on the road between Forestburg and Rosston are alerted to watch for bicycles, says Cleo Lanier.

Mrs. B.A. Harry and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hudspeth attended a Cauble family reunion in Alvord Sunday.

The Kuykendall family reunion was held in Gainesville on June 2 in Leonard Park with about 50 relatives attending.

Chris and Melissa Allen are parents of a daughter born on May 31 at Harris Hospital in Fort Worth. Her name is Elspeth Hope. She joins a brother, Josiah. Chris Allen is pastor of United Methodist Church.
