Mesquite receives top paving priority

City Council members Monday night approved the paving project recommendations offered by City Administrator Ron Montgomery. And Mesquite Street is at the top of the list.

Montgomery told the council that in the last 30 days he spent settling into his new job, he spent a lot of time evaluating the condition of city streets. He gave top priority to paving of Mesquite from Highway 82 to Fifth, and paving First and Third from Mesquite one block west to Sycamore.

After lengthy discussion, the Council gave its approval to the idea just before midnight. The next step for the project will involve curb installation on part of Mesquite and the application of eight inches of base material this winter so the surface will be ready for finishing in the summer.

Also on the subject of streets, the council approved the purchase of a front end loader for maintenance. Montgomery said there had been several recent instances in which contract work could have been done by the city much cheaper if it had the proper equipment. The city plans to make the purchase in the near future.

Council members considered several different forms of expanded liability insurance coverage and intend to choose one of the plans. City Attorney Chuch Bartush said legislation enacted some 18 months ago stipulates that individuals can now be sued for their actions serving as city officials. Much of the immunity has been taken away, and that has made it necessary to consider the increased coverage, he said.

A hearing was held on a request for extension of the fire zone to include lots 1 and 2 of block 40, but action on the matter was postponed. The request involves an attempt to obtain an on-premise alcoholic beverage license for Fischerhaus.

In other action, the council raised rates for garbage pick-up in the city, and said it will consider rate increases for water at the next meeting.

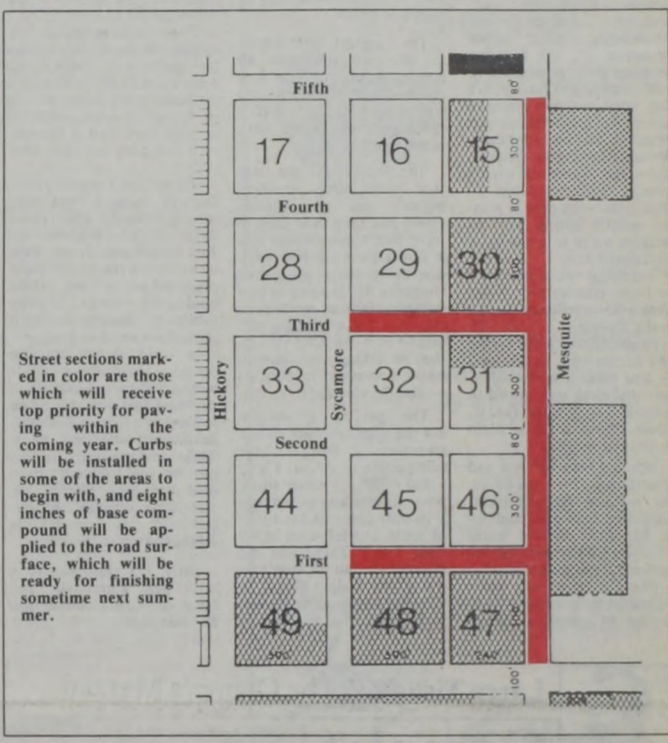

City Secretary Celine Dittfurth said records indicated all businesses were being charged the same for garbage-pick-up even though the businesses use the service in varying degrees. The city has been losing money on the venture, so the council approved rate increases for business based upon volume.

The council also agreed a water rate increase was overdue since the last increase was made in January, 1981. The council will consider several figures and again consider the increase at the next meeting.

In other action, the council:

- decided to patch and repair the filtration system at the city pool rather than replace the system;
- granted the Knights of Columbus a city tax exemption;
- granted a request to construct two homes on a 74' x 140' lot in block 9;
- granted a request to construct two homes on a 130' x 135' lot in block 80;
- granted a request to open Seventh Street west from Maple Street and for alley dedication in Block 80 by Harold Bindel;
- granted a request to extend a metal building 50 feet north into the fire zone in block 57 to allow remodeling of Community Lumber Company;
- granted a request for the installation of wood shingles on Hofbauer's grocery store;
- agreed to advertise for bids on the purchase of a one-ton truck for the city.

We often have reason to condemn action of the United Nations, but seldom if ever have we had better reason to find fault than a few weeks ago when the General Assembly of that biased organization voted 108 to 2 in support of a resolution "deploring the armed intervention of the United States in Grenada."

The only UN members on our side of the issue were Israel and El Salvador, whereas 108 members ganged up against our country and 40 members lacked the character to go for or against. Twenty-seven of those chose to abstain and 13 chose to be absent. This included dozens of nations we assumed to be our friends and allies, countries we would have expected to share our ideas on the principles of aggression and rescue which were self evident in the matter.

The resolution, spearheaded by two Marxist governments, Nicaragua and Zimbabwe, stressed that US "intervention was a flagrant violation of international law." Also it "deplored the deaths of innocent civilians resulting from the armed intervention" and demanded the immediate withdrawal of the "foreign troops" from Grenada. It was as hypocritical and deceitful as any set of charges ever brought before the so-called peace-keeping organization, and obviously false to any nation which would consider the obvious facts.

Nevertheless the long list of countries accepting this absurdity and voting in support of Communist aggression included such presumed defenders of freedom as Australia, Ireland, France, Denmark, Greece, Italy, Iceland, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal and Spain, along with Egypt, Jordan, Pakistan, Thailand, Singapore, Indonesia and most of Latin America.

Only a little less shameful were several other countries who declined to be counted but made public statements critical of the US. Some of these are Britain, Japan, Canada and West Germany.

Really, it's unbelievable that intelligent world leaders could have acted as they did when overwhelming evidence proved that US was altogether in the right. By the time UN considered the matter, all the world had ample occasion to learn that a foreign aggressor, Cuba, had taken over the tiny island and was in the act of consolidating its holding, including construction of a heavy duty air-strip to accommodate Soviet military planes. Another well known fact is that the Organization of Eastern Caribbean States knew what was happening and desperately begged for help. Another established fact is that hundreds of American medical students there were hostages in fear of their lives.

As seen by President Reagan, here was a call for help which in conscience could not be ignored. American lives were at stake. Other free people were being enslaved by the Red Monster. And another headquarters for continued expansion of Communism was in the making. As commander of American armed forces, the president did not

Darlene Hess qualifies for Boston Marathon

It's happened again. Another native of Muenster, and the third member of the Ray Hess family, has qualified to compete in the world famous Boston Marathon. Darlene Hess, now living in Dallas, reached the goal Sunday in the White Rock Marathon with a time of 3:15.48, beating the required time of 3:20 by 4.12 seconds. She was number 22 finisher among the women and number 5 in her age division.

Other members of the family to reach the goal were Darlene's brother, Tommy and Ronnie (Rumpy). Tom qualified and competed nine years ago, Ronnie two years ago.

Ronnie ran beside his sister Sunday, as a pace setter. But while achieving his number one purpose he failed to learn how he placed in the men's division. His time was the same as Darlene's.

Two more Muenster women, Gina Felderhoff and Tracey Klement, also ran at White Rock.

Five Muenster floats in Gainesville parade

Muenster was represented by five entries in last Saturday's parade opening the Christmas season in Gainesville. All of the entries were included in Muenster's Christmasfest parade a week earlier and were assembled in a group at Gainesville.

Daryl Ferber and Gracie Fuhrman headed the group bearing the special Christmasfest banner which headed the Muenster parade. Others entered were Fischer's Market, Muenster Telephone Corp., Muenster 4-H and Muenster Cub Scouts.

Meanwhile Christmasfest continues in Muenster. Registrations are being accepted for $250 shopping sprees on December 15 and 22, and drawings for them will be held on the 8th and 15th respectively. The first spree, for $500 and won by Margie Starke, was held last Thursday. The second won by Theresa Miller for $250 will be held this week Thursday.

Also Thursdays are special shopping days as participating stores remain open until 9 p.m. Also coupons published in the original Christmasfest brochure are being accepted as indicated. A bonus attraction is entertainment in Mid-Park on Thursdays, 6:30 to 7:30, ending in the drawing for the following week's spending spree.

KC council prepares for annual Christmas activities

Muenster Knights of Columbus have a busy month ahead including Christmas parties for youngsters and oldsters, their residential decorating contest and finally their customary New Year's dance.

The home decorating contest again puts the emphasis on Keeping Christ in Christmas. Displays to be considered are those which relate to the first Christmas, such as the nativity scene, shepherds, the angelic choir announcing the Savior's birth, the wise men's visit, the escape to Egypt, etc. A committee will make the judging tour Monday night the 19th, 7 to 9 p.m. Homes inside the city will all be seen in the judging tour and rural homes will be included if the residents will ask to be

John 4: 7-10

When a Samaritan woman came to draw water, Jesus said to her, "Give me a drink." (His disciples had gone off to the town to buy provisions.) The Samaritan woman said to him, "You are a Jew. How can you ask me, a Samaritan and a woman, for a drink?" (Recall that Jews have nothing to do with Samaritans.)

Jesus replied: "If only you recognized God's gift, and who it is that is asking you for a drink, you would have asked him instead, and he would have given you living water."

COMMENT

Bernie Fette / Perspectives

Season's dark side

IF IT weren't for the fact we're celebrating such a wonderful thing at this time every year, the Christmas season would be a real pain.

There are a lot of us out there who are basically good people, for the most part, but it's this time of year that brings out what is perhaps our most serious personal flaw.

It starts to surface as the leaves begin to fall, and gets worse and worse as the dreaded last shopping day before Christmas approaches quickly and menacingly. After about December 15, the problem becomes more noticeable to both friends and family. We lose sleep, so our morning cup of coffee becomes our morning 10-cup allotment. We start getting the shakes, and when people ask what's wrong, we're irritable — even rude — so people wonder what's wrong with us because we're so grouchy at Christmastime.

Suddenly, we think we'd be more comfortable if we were selling military secrets to the Russians.

Honestly, this condition is one of the least understood — and most untreatable — personal hang-ups known to man. But we have to face it. Some of us are just plain rotten gift-buyers.

Not only do we feel sad frustration for ourselves, but we also feel complete, unbridled hate and contempt for those in this world who were born with all the perfect gift-buying ability.

There's only one place where you'll find both groups of people — shopping malls. And they're oh, so easy to tell apart.

The perfect gift-buyers are ones who stroll into the Galleria like they own the place. Ten minutes after they arrive, they're the ones carrying a Saks Fifth Avenue shopping bag on each arm. Designer shopping bags are a lot like designer jeans, don'tcha know.

The failures are the ones who are intimidated from the very minute they enter these torture chambers. They're not cheerful, they're scared to death.

The perfect gift-buyers are the ones who have an ever-so-quick-and-light lunch at Uncle Tai's on the fourth level of the complex (because they don't have much time).

The failures are the ones that have lunch at Benigan's (on the bottom floor) and take their time to have Beef Chimichanga and a few glasses of beer. For one thing, they figure their shopping day is going to be a complete failure, anyway, so why not make lunch a success? For another thing, they're taking the time to build necessary inspiration — and the courage to go on.

The perfect gift-buyers are the ones who get all the attention from the salespeople in stores. Carry a Saks Fifth Avenue shopping bag into any store (even if its only contents are a pair of socks and left-over lunch from Uncle Tai's) and the salespeople fall all over you trying to help. Walk in carrying nothing but a small sack from the B. Dalton bookstore, and you don't exist.

But perhaps the best way to tell the difference is in seeing two people in a specialty store. One is quite calm and collected — that's not the failure. The other person is obviously shaking, his eyes are protruding, he keeps looking at his watch (the store closes in twenty minutes) his fingernails are gone, he's sweating blood and his American Express card is clenched in his teeth (the store takes only MasterCard and VISA). That's the failure.

Once the humiliation has ended, all the failures tend to gather in hopes of recovering from the day. It's difficult to say where all the perfect gift-buyers gather to be with their own at the end of a shopping day. But who cares?

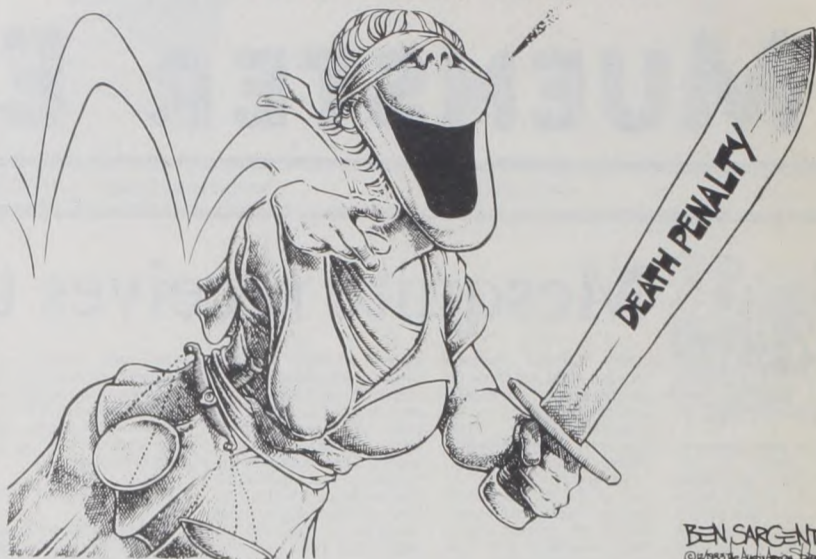

Many of this day's failures trudged their way into a friendly little place called T.G.I. Friday's on Belt Line Road. It was easy to see we were in the right place when a few others could be seen in the darkness, shaking in much the same way I had been.

It was certain we had found a place where people would understand just about the time two young women walked in carrying Saks Fifth Avenue shopping bags. They were promptly thrown out by the bartender who told them quite plainly that their kind wouldn't be served in a respectable establishment such as this.

Only 333 shopping days until next Christmas. For some of us, it's already too late this year.

Where to draw the line?

IF WE think it's right for the government to set worker safety standards, police the environment and approve new foods and drugs, how can it not be proper for government to protect the lives of handicapped babies?

It may be inconsistent of the Reagan administration to stop enforcing civil rights laws for blacks and women and push government into the hospital delivery room, but it's utterly indefensible for liberals to militate on behalf of whales and wolves yet consider it an invasion of privacy for the government to stop doctors and parents from letting newborn children die.

Instead of fighting over the Reagan administration's "Baby Doe" regulations, though, liberals and conservatives ought to agree on ways both to save the lives of handicapped children where possible and ease the burden of parents who have to care for them.

Both liberals and conservatives did agree, in fact, on the law under which the "Baby Doe" regulations are being issued — the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. That law is a triumph of humanitarianism, guaranteeing that handicapped persons have the same rights as non-handicapped people.

The Reagan administration has created a huge controversy, however, by applying the law to newborn babies. It ordered signs to be posted in hospital nurseries declaring that "Discriminatory failure to feed and care for handicapped infants in this facility is prohibited by federal law," and providing a 24-hour hotline number in case anyone observes a possible violation.

The administration has investigated or sued in about 50 cases since April 1982, two of which have received immense national attention, especially the latest, the "Baby Jane Doe" case in New York.

The baby was born with major birth defects — an incompletely formed spine, an abnormally small head, water on the brain and malfunctioning bladder and rectum. Her parents and doctor decided not to perform spinal surgery which would save her life, but which would not correct possible permanent mental retardation.

The Reagan administration has sued to obtain the child's medical records but so far has been defeated in court; it is appealing. Coming from a right-to-life perspective, most conservative groups seem to be supporting the administration, with the notable exception of The Wall Street Journal. Coming from a pro-choice point of view, most liberals seem to be defending the parents, even some (like The New York Times) normally champion the case of the handicapped.

Both sides could begin reconciling their differences by agreeing not to drag pro-and anti-abortion arguments into this controversy. Handicapped newborns are alive, after all. Theories about when life begins simply don't apply.

Another step toward reconciliation would be for both sides to acknowledge that there are cases so hopeless and tragic — where only a life of pain would follow — that doctors are doing everyone a favor by withholding treatment. Actually, close examination of the first 48 cases arising under the Baby Doe regulations indicates that the administration has not been at all fanatic about demanding heroic efforts to save massively deformed infants.

And the first Baby Doe case, in Bloomington, Ind., suggests why some government intervention is necessary. The parents and doctor decided to allow the baby to starve to death because it had Down's syndrome of undetermined severity.

Would we want the government to intervene if parents decided to starve a baby because it was a girl instead of a boy or was dark-complexioned instead of light? Obviously we would. We would not raise any privacy issue then, and we shouldn't in the case of the handicapped, either.

The current Baby Doe case is a hard one, though, raising the issues of where to draw the line and how. The baby's microcephaly suggests she might be permanently and almost totally retarded. It may be beyond the parents' financial and emotional capacity to care for her if surgery is performed and her life is prolonged indefinitely.

The Reagan administration, in fact, is not demanding that the surgery be performed. It is merely suing for the right to examine the baby's medical records to determine whether or not her case really is hopeless — there is some suggestion that the baby's head and brain are growing, for example — and whether to press for additional care.

The government certainly is entitled to records in other cases where the law empowers it to protect people's civil rights, health and welfare, so surely it should have them in the case of Baby Jane Doe.

As Northwestern University law professor Victor Rosenblum pointed out on television recently, these are, at bottom, civil rights cases.

"There is nothing in our Constitution nor in our laws that sets a threshold of physique or intelligence... on due process and equal protection," he said, and he's right.

But besides being civil rights cases, these are welfare cases, too. The Reagan administration ought to be backing up its insistence on saving the lives of handicapped children with programs to help care for them afterward.

When parents can't or won't provide care, the state should, and the federal government should help pay for it. Even if liberals and conservatives can't agree on the hardest questions of life and death, abortion and capital punishment, surely helping handicapped babies ought to be easier.

"THE WIND blows where it wishes — and you hear the sound of it, but do not know where it comes from and where it is going; so is everyone who is born of the Spirit," (John 3:8). The Hebrew word for spirit is ruach, which in the Old Testament frequently means "wind." The Greek word, pneuma, means both "wind" and "spirit." The wind was thought to be the unseen instrument of an unseen God, and, as God was viewed as the source of life, it was natural to associate spirit with the life created by God.

When you stop to think about it, there are many similarities between the wind and the Spirit of God which dwells within every believer. As the verse above states, we do not know where the wind comes from, and the same is true of God. The wind cannot be seen, and neither can the Holy Spirit. However, the effects of the wind can be seen, as can the effects of the Holy Spirit in a Christian's life, as we yield our life to Christ and allow the holy Spirit to work through us. However, we need to make sure we cooperate and allow the Holy Spirit to direct us as we use the abilities he created in us to accomplish his purposes.

The following short story, taken from "Pulpit Helps," illustrates what happens when we fail to do our part:

"Preacher," they said, "we are sorry to miss Sunday School and worship services, but we will be with you in spirit." This comment was not new to the pastor. He had heard these words before.

It was a beautiful Lord's Day when the crowd gathered in the little church. The pastor rose to speak. "Brethren," he said, "there are several spirits here today whose bodies did not come. I know because they told me that they were coming. So now I am going to ask the spirit of Deacon Brown to lead us in prayer." There was a reign of silence.

Seconds were growing into minutes. Finally, the pastor prayed. Deacon Brown's spirit simply refused to pray.

Later on in the service the pastor called for the ushers and exhorted the congregation to give freely of their material means that the cause of Christ might prosper. Then, with a twinkle in his eye, he added, "The spirits present are also urged to give liberally to this worthy cause." But the spirits refused to give.

The choir director had caught on by now, and as the congregation stood to sing, he tried to restrain a smile; then he spoke in raised tones, "The spirits will join us as we sing this grand old hymn." But the spirits also refused to sing.

"Now," urged the pastor, "May I ask a favor of you? If you can only be with us in 'spirit,' please, urge your spirit to be more active in our services when you yourself are absent. He who goes to church should be present in mind, body, spirit and purse."

To the Editor:

My very dear friends,

With great joy and enthusiasm I am sitting down to write this Christmas letter to you.

I have been in the Christmas-letter-writing process intermittently since mid-September. With the exception of one letter I have of course not yet sent any. The letter I did send was a combination of Christmas greetings and gratitude for a generous gift from my beloved sister in Switzerland. Guess what!!

Soon all the letter destined for distant lands will fly out. A lot are still unwritten but I know in due time all these letters for here and there will be written, God permitting! I really don't have to tell you about being extra busy because all of you know what a hustle and bustle Christmas brings, and all that because of the birth of an extraordinary Baby, born in the little town of Bethlehem. It is good that this mighty stir of hearts of men, young and old, rich and poor occurs only once a year. Surely the pocket-books agree too. I now wish every friend who reads my Christmas letter from the depth of my heart a bright, happy Christmas and a blessed, beautiful New Year.

My main occupation you know. It is a lovely one, and there will never be a time when I run out of work. Correspondance is endless until earthly time is no longer. This is my personal wish.

The outdoors on our grounds were paradise-like but I have only one regret namely that the beauty, which I and my canine friends so often beheld on our daily walks, was not captured by a camera. My daily walks are now rather monotonous and the above friends do not care to accompany me all the way. It's on a paved road around the cemetery because due to some very heavy rains we had, it is too muddy to walk in the fields and in the woods the piles of fallen leaves make walking there hazardous for an elderly lady.

I am presently filled with hope that the boots, which I had to buy by necessity in my native land while I visited there during the very severe winter in 1981, will experience a lot of exercise this winter. They are bored standing in a cabinet ever since, with only a few exits. I do reserve some time daily for reading and crossword puzzling. Presently I am reading "The Two," a biography of the famous Siamese twins by Irving and Amy Wallace, copyrighted in 1978. I find it a very interesting book. And the crossword puzzles afford relaxation and several other desirable. I could of course use a lot more time for these two hobbies but first things must come first.

This message at this busy time is long enough for you, my very dear friends. You all know how much I love you and how I share your joys and sorrows. I remember you daily in my prayers.

wait for extended deliberation. He acted decisively, rescued hundreds of students, liberated people of the island and prevented establishment of an air base hostile to US and its friends.

Considering all consequences, the operation was a great achievement for freedom and civilization. President Reagan and the US deserve world-wide acclamation rather than the censure of the bigoted UN, which again demonstrated itself as the enemy of God and civilization.

In shocking contrast with the reprimand of US in this issue, it should be remembered that the crowd of pro-Marxists ganging up on US did not criticize Russia for invading Afghanistan, and still do not complain about Red occupancy there. Nor are there any complaints about Russia and Cuba exporting their conquest to various parts of the globe. The only gripe is halting another step of Red expansion, as at Grenada.

Food for more thought is that Babwe of Zimbabwe, one of the loudest critics of US in the Grenada incident, and one who found no fault with Russia in shooting down the Korean plane with 269 passengers, has no qualms about accepting another $75 million from US while spewing his vile hatred of this country.

It's often been proposed to get US out of UN and UN out of US. Well, here's more good reason.

Airlines could have anticipated problems from deregulation

COLLEGE STATION—Airlines that were operating when the industry was deregulated in 1979 could have anticipated the problems they're experiencing today, says a Texas economist and specialist on the effects of government regulation.

"Any time there is a change from regulation to deregulation, someone is going to lose, but society must weigh the costs versus the benefits. In this case the pilots, stewardesses and ground maintenance people employed by the established lines will be the losers," said Dr. Charles Smithson of Texas A&M University's Economics Department.

"The new airlines aren't paying union wages and aren't offering all the services the more established lines offered during regulation," he said. "Because their costs are lower, they can charge less and attract more business."

Smithson said if union wages don't come down the newer companies will continue to get a larger share of the market and more union members will find themselves without jobs.

J.A. Klements observe Fiftieth

With their four children, 11 grandchildren and more than 300 other relatives, friends and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Klement celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a Mass of Thanksgiving and dinner Saturday evening, Nov. 26 in the Sacred Heart Community Center.

The goldenweds, life-long residents of Muenster, renewed their wedding vows in a special liturgy arranged by their deacon son, the Rev. Mr. Jerry Klement, who assisted Father Jerry Mosman in the 6 p.m. Mass. All of the couple's children participated in the Mass: daughter Joan and her husband Dick Schleicher with the first reading; son David and his wife, Jo Anne, with the responsorial psalm; daughter Betty Jean (Mrs. Harold) Bindel with the second reading, and daughter-in-law Carole (Mrs. Jerry) Klement with the prayer of the faithful.

Jerry Klement gave the homily, which dealt with the qualities contributing to a long and fruitful marriage. Grandsons Darren Bindel and Kurt Klement were acolytes. Max Ramming distributed the keepsake anniversary booklets and liturgical programs, and all grandchildren presented the offertory gifts and symbols of the couple's 50 years of marriage to be blessed. These included their wedding portrait, pictures of their children's families and of their farm especially the dairying operation that played an important role in their lives, and a wood carving of the famous praying hands sculpture, symbolic of Christian devotion and service to others.

Song leaders for the anniversary liturgy were Susan Metzler, Christi Klement and Doug Yosten, with guitar accompaniment.

A reception in the Community Center followed, hosted by the Klements, with a turkey and dressing dinner catered by Ed and Ginny Schneider. Granddaughters Cori Klement, Darla Bindel and Sara Ramming presided at the guest book. Other granddaughters assisting in serving the three-tiered anniversary cake included Susan Schleicher Birchfield, Debbie Bindel Hale and Beth Klement, also assisted by Jill Wimmer.

In a program following dinner, Betty Jean Bindel proposed a toast to her parents' 50th anniversary. Joan Schleicher read an original poem she wrote to express her memories of a happy childhood on the farm. David Klement gave a brief history of their life together, including several humorous anecdotes, and grandson Philip Klement expressed, on behalf of all the grandchildren, his love and admiration for his grandparents.

Closing, Jerry Klement thanked all those in attendance for their expressions of love during Johnny's recent stroke, and asked their continued support in the months ahead as his parents adjusted to the new circumstances of their lives. Recounting how near death his father had been less than three months earlier, Jerry called it a miracle that he had bounced back to be able to be sitting there tonight. An eloquent testimony of that miracle came as Johnny stood, unassisted, at his wheelchair, to receive a standing ovation from the guests.

Johnny Klement and Olivia (Ollie) Otto were married on Nov. 21, 1933 in Sacred Heart Church by Father Frowin Koerd. He is a son of the late John B. and Margaret Klement and she is a daughter of the late Joseph H. and Emma Otto, both pioneer Muenster families. Their wedding attendants were her sister, Mrs. Edgar (Isabelle Otto) Fette, now deceased, and his brother Ray, who with his wife Irene joined in Saturday's mass procession and at the head table. Johnny has eight brothers and one sister; Ollie has one brother and four sisters.

Johnny and Ollie have lived all but one of their 50 years together on the same farm in the old Hays community seven miles northeast of Muenster. He was a dairy farmer before retiring 10 years ago, and she has been a homemaker all of her married life. He was a director of Cooke County Electric Co-op for 27 years and of the Brazos Regional Electric Co-op for 11 years. He served as grand knight of the Muenster Knights of Columbus Council for two terms and as president of Cooke County Farm Bureau for two terms, and was a member of the Sacred Heart Church Building Committee and Muenster Hospital Authority.

Decorations for the anniversary reception on all tables used the golden theme. Table centerpieces used a mirror base with bud vases holding yellow roses, with gold numeral 50s and gold ribbons, flanked by lighted votive candles. Brass candleholders on the main table held lighted tapers and a wall decoration emphasized the golden 50th.

Family members coming from out of town for the celebration included the Dick Schleichers and Tom Birchfields of Fort Worth, and Cliff Schleicher of Houston; the Jerry Klements and Kurt and Cori of Temple, and Beth and Philip Klement of College Station; the David Klements, and Max and Sara of Bradenton, Fla.; and Helen Schleicher of Dallas.

Other out-of-town guests included Father Jerry Mosman of Denton, the Leonard Smiths, the Cliff Vewers, Gene Howard, the E.J. Berkovskys and Elizabeth, Maggie Spicer, the Jack Drewetts, the Dale Reisdorfers, the Fred Doellings, Joe Martinez, Gretchen Kostyniak, the Lonnie Hellmans all of Fort Worth; the C.D. Sealeys and the Henry Hosmans of Alvarado; Tracy Klement and the Paul Klements of Dallas; the Mike Reillys and Courtney of Plano; the Jim Fettes of Wylie; the Melvin Klements of Dellurya, Va. Curtis Klement; Mame Breeding of Houston; Duann Polk of Arlington; and Mrs. Owen C. Berg of Belton; and a number of relatives and friends from Gainesville, Lindsay, Myra and Muenster.

The Enterprise is grateful to Betty Jean Bindel and David Klement for assistance in compiling information on the anniversary and family history.

Tony Felderhoffs celebrate 55th wedding anniversary

A day that began with attendance at the 11 a.m. Mass Sunday, Nov. 27, with their children and grandchildren, a noon dinner attended by all, and an afternoon of visiting, marked the 55th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Felderhoff.

The anniversary cake was baked and decorated by a granddaughter, Laurie Walterscheid.

Together for the day were the Alvin Hartman family, the Sylvan Walterscheid family, the Joe Felderhoff family, the A.J. Felderhoff family and Charles Felderhoff family, for a total of 30, including four generations. The family gift was a statue of Saint Nicholas, a treasured reminder of many family gatherings dating back to celebrations hosted by the parents of Mrs. Tony Felderhoff, the late Joseph and Theresa Dangelmayr, celebrating the feast day of Saint Nicholas on December 6, as Little Christmas.

To allow as many grandchildren as possible to come home for the annual celebration of Little Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Felderhoff hosted that party on Saturday, December 3. A dessert buffet was served.

All family members attended with all grandchildren and several spouses, except those who attend college a great distance away, and two great-grandchildren who were sick.

Joining them were Bishop A. Dangelmayr, Joe Dangelmayr, Bertha and Bruno Fleitman, Chris Pagel; and Eddie and K.D. Stock and baby son, Dale of Dallas.

Hospital Auxiliary conducts "in lieu of Christmas cards"

Get well cards were sent to Mrs. Evelyn Schilling and Mrs. Norbert Klement. Mrs. John Otto won the door prize. Both organizations signed a get-well card for Buck Knabe. Della Walterscheid read an article on "Fatima and the Revelations and Promises of Our Lady of Fatima."

Wilfred Bindel conducted routine business for St. Joseph Society members. Both groups voted to cancel January meetings which follow New Year's Day, and announced their next meetings will be held on February 5, 1984.

One of the most worthwhile services for the holiday season, serving more than one purpose for an institution and for individuals is the "In Lieu of Christmas Cards" project sponsored by the Muenster Hospital Auxiliary, now for the fourteenth consecutive year.

Evelyn Sicking and Pagel are co-chairmen for the project, announcing a December 17 deadline for contributions to the hospital benefit and for placing names on the holiday greeting list to be published in the Christmas issue of The Muenster Enterprise.

As in all previous years, amounts of individual donations will not be specified, but the total amount of the benefit will be published.

The project serves a very timely purpose: the full amount is contributed to Muenster Memorial Hospital adding to equipment given annually by the hospital auxiliary.

The project also results in time saved by individuals during an always hectic period, by relieving their rush to send Christmas greetings to relatives, friends and neighbors. And it lends a special glow to friend greeting friend, knowing fringe benefits will include a third person, a patient ill in the hospital.

Contributions may be mailed to Mrs. Evelyn Sicking, Box 453, Muenster, Tx. 76252, phone 759-4388. Signatures must be noted exactly as the donor wishes them to appear on the special Christmas greeting. And attention is called to the Dec. 17 deadline.

Toys: When and How to buy them
 When should you buy toys for children? When they need them!
 Don't save toys only for "occasions" like Christmas or birthdays, or as "rewards" for being good. Children need toys as much as they need food and love, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter. Timetables don't apply.
 If you spread toy purchases out, the child will be able to give each new toy undivided attention. Signs a child may be ready for something new to play with are when he masters a new skill, looks for a new challenge, or acquires a new interest.
 Whether you buy or make toys, these are the main things to look for.
 * A toy should be appropriate for the child's interests and abilities — not so easy as to be boring, not so hard as to be frustrating.
 * A toy must be safe. No small parts to break off, no sharp corners or points, no toxic paint, no potential danger even if it is not played with exactly as the manufacturer intended. A toy should not require a parent's constant supervision.
 * A good toy requires a child's active participation and effort. The child must do something with the toy (and not just press a button) to get real satisfaction from play. The more the toy does (under power of battery or motor) the less there is for the child to do.
 The guideline here is simple: the child should play, the toy should not. The more different things a child can do with a toy, the more fun he will have and the more he will learn.
 Before you give a new toy to your child, read the instructions on the package. It is usually best simply to give the child the toy and let him figure out what to do with it. When he has exhausted his possibilities, you might then want to show him something else that he hadn't thought of. But at his level, not yours.
 Or you might rather wait until another day when he could perhaps make a new discovery for himself. If a toy seems too difficult for your child, it would be better to save it until he is older than for you to do too many demonstrations with it.
 Growing Child has a catalog of unique educational toys, books and records for children up to six years old. To obtain a copy, send $1 to CATALOG, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902.

If You Lost Your Hearing Tomorrow, Would You Do Something About It?
 Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of one of the smallest Beltone aids of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.
 Send for this model, put it on and wear it in the privacy of your own home. While many people with a hearing loss will not receive any significant benefit from any hearing aid, this free model will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It is not a real hearing aid, and it's yours to keep free. The actual aid weighs less than a fourth of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.
 These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Department 52658, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 West Victoria Street, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

energy answers

from the Texas Energy Extension Service

I know that fireplaces are not very energy efficient, but can you suggest some ways to operate a fireplace more efficiently? R. T., Garland.

The following are suggestions for operating a fireplace more efficiently:

(1) Lower the thermostat setting to between 50 and 55 degrees F when using the fireplace. Mechanically heated air from the house is lost when a fireplace is used.

(2) Close all doors and warm air supply ducts in the room with the fireplace. Open a window near the fireplace about 1/2 to 1 inch. Air for combustion will be drawn in through the partially opened window, not from the rest of the house.

(3) Consider installing a glass screen if you have an open masonry fireplace. Louvers at the bottom limit the amount of air a fire consumes and can be closed when the fire burns down. This cuts the loss of warmed air up the flue.

(4) If you can adjust your fireplace damper opening from outside the fireplace, try closing the damper part way. This reduces the draft and the amount of warmed air drawn in from other parts of the house.

(5) Close the damper when the fire is out. If the damper is left open, your furnace may consume 10 to 30 percent more fuel than it does normally.

(6) Clean fireplaces and chimneys at least once a year. Creosote, a black tarry liquid, forms from gases not burned in the combustion process. It must be removed regularly for fire safety.

Despite these improvements, fireplaces remain an inefficient method of home heating.

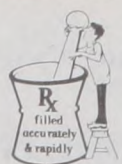

I am living in a new home which has a water source heat pump for heating and cooling. Can you give me some idea of how much I am saving by using this type of heat pump as compared with the regular air-to-air heat pump? K. E., Brownsville.

With the water source heat pump your savings on cooling costs should be up to 20 percent as compared with an air-to-air heat pump. Your savings on heating costs with the water source heat pump should be about 20 to 25 percent as compared with the air source heat pump.

The amount of savings will vary with climatic regions. Until more experience on use of these is built up in all climatic regions, the exact savings will be hard to ascertain.

Despite the savings in energy costs, water source heat pumps cost considerably more initially and require proximity to a water source. In most cases an air-to-air heat pump with a high efficiency is more economical.

Do you have questions on energy resources, technology, or conservation? Christy Reed 14, of Forestburg has troubles with Anne Felderhoff 30, and Susan Walterscheid 12 of Sacred Heart. Tigerettes won it 51-36.

SH teams stay on course

Sacred Heart's teams continued their winning ways during the past week in games with Forestburg and Era. As a result their present records are 5-0 for the Tigerettes, 3-2 for the Tigers and 2-0 for JV girls. All of the games were on the Sacred Heart Court.

The thriller of the week was the boys game with Forestburg in which the visitors led 21-16 and 33-32 in the first two quarters, and Sacred Heart edged ahead 48-44 at the third. With 4 seconds to go the teams were tied at 56 and Neil Hesse hit both of two free throws for the 2 point story book finish. Tiger scorers were Neil Hesse 28, Duane Haverkamp 24, Ken Hesse 4, John Mangum 2.

The girls game was a matter of gaining steadily all the way for a final count of 51-36. Marilyn Hartman led the scoring with 16 points and Anne Felderhoff added 14. Sandra Walterscheid made 8, Susan Walterscheid 6, plus 18 rebounds, Sondra

Hess 5 and Lydia Walterscheid 2.

Thursday night the SH teams were one-sided winners over Era. JV girls opened the program with a 32-9 run-away in which Tammy Hess scored 18, Beverly Haverkamp 6, Sally Stoffels and Sharon Henscheid each 4.

The Tigerette varsity game was more of the same as the SH girls took an early lead and improved it all the way to the final score of 79-33. The scorers were Susan Walterscheid 25, Anne Felderhoff 22, Sandra Walterscheid 7, Sondra Hess 6, Lisa Haverkamp 2, Rose Felderhoff 2.

SH boys likewise dominated throughout and ended at the big end of 75-48. Neil Hesse singled the net with 39 points, Duane Haverkamp added 24, John Mangum 6, Ken Hesse 4 and John Nasche 2.

During the weekend the teams will be in the Forestburg tournament and next Tuesday they will host Saint Jo.

MHS loses 4 of 5 games at Slidell

MHS basketball teams lost four of their five games in a tournament at Slidell during the past weekend. The one bright spot on their program was a 45-32 win over Slidell in the first game of the consolation bracket. However in both divisions the teams lost the first and last game.

Girls started by playing the high powered Brock team and fell back in every quarter until the final count of 54-23. Top Hornette scorers were Rita Walterscheid 12, Dana Dankesreiter 5, Amy Davidson, Paula Russell and Sharon Russell each 2. The next game, in the consolation, was more in their class. They gained on Slidell for three quarters by counts of 9-6, 20-10 and 30-18 and coasted to the 45-32 win. Scorers were Rita Walterscheid 16, Dana Dankesreiter 11, Paula Russell and Kim Eldred each 6, Jill Wimmer 4, Deann Walterscheid 2.

The third opponent was Valley View, which gained by counts of 8-2, 12-6, 20-19 and 26-20. Hornettes scoring were Rita Walterscheid 9, Paula Russell 4, Kim Eldred 3, Sharon Russell 2, Jill Wimmer 2.

Brock's boys, like the girls, are highly talented and ran over the Hornets for a win of 59-28. MHS scorers were Ronnie Fisher 8, Jay Mollenkopf 6, Ryan Klement 6, Kevin Wolf 4, Cory Klement 4.

Opponent No. 2 was Chico which took a 7 point first period lead and increased the margin by 4 points in the next three quarters. Scores by periods were 17-10, 32-26, 46-34, and 54-43. Ronnie Fisher led Muenster scoring with 13, Kevin Wolf added 10, Jay Mollenkopf 7, Craig Felderhoff 6, Ryan Klement 4, Cory Klement 3.

Muenster teams will be in the Forestburg tournament this weekend, meeting Alvord as the first opponent.

MHS teams lose pair against Goldberg teams

MHS teams lost a pair of games Tuesday night to a pair of hot teams at Goldberg with the Hornets at the short end of 39-36 in a see saw contest and the home team having an easy time in its 43-23 win.

The boys game was a thriller with the lead alternating at each quarter as well as during the periods. At the first quarter it was Muenster 11-8, then Goldberg 19-18; and Muenster again 26-25 and finally the hosts with their 3 point win.

Coach Gustine had praises for his boys saying they did fine against a strong team, especially Ronnie Fisher and Kevin Wolf. Fisher led the team with 24 points and 14 rebounds and Wolf was next with 6 points and 9 rebounds. Also Cory Klement hit 4 and Jay Mollenkopf 2.

Goldburg girls are super talented and ran away with the first half until extensive substituting by the home team relieved some of the pressure on MHS. Scorers for the Hornets were Paula Russel 10, Rita Walterscheid 6, Dana Dankesreiter 4, Jill Wimmer 2.

Hornets and Hornettes will be in the Forestburg tournament this weekend meeting Ponder JV in their first games. Hornets will play Pottsboro next Tuesday.

BOTTOM-LINE SPECIALS

New combine buys are best now: get cash rebates from $2,800 to $5,200 including header...plus finance charge waiver to first use month in 1984, or a rebate in lieu of waiver

Look at this: not only do you get a cash rebate for a new separator but you also get an added bonus for any new headers bought with the separator or separately (see the chart). That's right—a rebate for the separator, a rebate for the header, and even a rebate if you buy just the header alone.

Use your current combine toward downpayment for a new Titan, finance with John Deere, and pay no finance charge until the first use month in 1984. Or you can take a cash rebate in lieu of waiver.* For example, a 6620 Corn and Soybean Combine bought in December 1983 would have a cash rebate in lieu of waiver of $3,250 if the first use month is October in your area. Or on a 7720 Grain Combine bought in January 1984, a cash rebate in lieu of waiver of $2,175 if the first use month is July in your area. Ask your dealer for the amount in lieu of waiver on the combine of your choice. Or another option is to lease a new combine, with lease-payment discount comparable to the waiver of finance charge.*

Now's the time to choose, while the best values are available. This program will end on January 31, 1984.

Model	Cash Rebate on Purchase	Model	Cash Rebate on Purchase

7720	3,600	All row-crop heads	1,000

Funtime Bluebirds have busy schedule

Funtime Bluebirds held a pinning ceremony during their Nov. 18 meeting and all the girls received the "Bluebird Pin" upon completion of learning the "Bluebird Wish." Songs and refreshments followed the ceremony to complete the meeting.

The group and two leaders attended the Grand Council Fire in Gainesville on Monday evening, Nov. 21 when a welcoming ceremony performed in the light of a bonfire welcomed to Campfire all new and renewing Bluebirds and leaders. Traditional Campfire songs were sung in an echo manner through the darkness, and a Thanks to God ceremony was performed around the bonfire. All Bluebirds and their leaders participated by pouring a cup of sand on the welcome fire to help extinguish the flame.

in Muenster held excitement for the Funtime group as it was their first time to be in a parade. The red, classic model convertible was decorated in the spirit of America, with the slogan "Campfire and America are Red, White and Blue," on both sides and "Funtime Bluebird" banners on front and back. The girls wore their uniforms and carried American flags. They enjoyed tossing gum and candy to family and friends. The treats were donated by Denis' Texaco.

Through the help and cooperation of families and friends, the Funtime Bluebirds had the highest sales in the council for the magazine project. They express their gratitude to all who helped them.

Forestburg News

by Myrt Denham

From time to time we all receive a visitor, a phone call or a letter to just "Make the day for us". Just such a letter came to me on Wed. Nov. 30 from Mrs. Ruby Wylie of Balch Springs, Tx. She wrote to tell me how very much she appreciated the Forestburg News in the Muenster Enterprise. Mrs. Wylie wrote that she kept up with folks she knew and had known thru it. It is words of appreciation like this that makes writing this column less of a chore. Mrs. Wylie is the wife of the late Bailey Wylie, who was a cousin to G.D. Wylie, Jr. Her parents were the late Mack and Lillie (Johnson) Jackson, thus this makes her a first cousin to Ray (Ted) Jackson. She taught school at Forestburg and her husband taught at Mount Taber and they both taught in the Muenster School System. So thanks to Mrs. Wylie for her kind words of appreciation.

Gary Brewer, son of Elmo and Imogene Brewer, received his Pilots License Sun. Nov. 20 and he immediately took his mother for her very first aeroplane ride at Bowie Airport.

Cooke County represented at State Farm Bureau meeting

Ten voting delegates representing the Cooke County Farm Bureau recently participated in the 50th annual Texas Farm Bureau convention held Nov. 27-30 in Houston.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Hartman, Bill Bayer of Muenster, Mr. and Mrs. T.C. Skinner and Mr. and Mrs. John Hargeshemer of Whitesboro and Annette Alexander of Gainesville.

Policies directing the state's largest farm organization were adopted by more than 1,200 delegates from 216 organized county Farm Bureaus during the meeting. Recommendations on national policies were also approved. These policies will advance to the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting to be held Jan. 8-12 in Orlando, Fla.

Speakers featured at the convention included Dr. Richard L. Leshner, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce; S.M. True Jr. of Plainview, TFB president; Warren Newberry of Waco, TFB executive director; and George O. White of Harwood, TFB secretary-treasurer.

The business session covered the final two days of the meeting. The last order of business was the re-election of the president, S.M. True, Jr.

County leaders also attended several special conferences during the convention. Conference topics included field crops, livestock, natural resources and education, taxes, and transportation and farm labor. Commodity conferences included: beef and sheep and goats; cotton and peanuts; dairy and poultry; wheat and feed grains; rice and soybeans, citrus and pecans.

County Agent's Report

Besides borers, we have another pest of shade and ornamental trees. Sapsuckers, which are small woodpeckers, often cause damage to trees. Their work is mistaken many times for borer damage. Damage caused by these birds will appear as rows of holes circling the trunk or larger limbs of trees. The sapsucker will come back many times and feed on the sap that is produced in the holes he has made in a tree. Most birds, including sapsuckers, are protected so control is difficult. Homeowners have few control methods. Some possibilities, however, include wrapping areas of attack with cardboard or tin foil and painting damaged areas with wound paint to hold back sapsucker attack and also prevent disease and insect entrance into tree wounds.

We have two types of borers, flathead and roundhead borers of shade trees. The roundhead borer is the worst. Its larvae burrows into the heartwood of a tree. The holes are large, usually bigger than a pencil. You will sometimes find a discharge of sap that will discolor the bark around one of these holes. Flathead borers work a little differently. They work under the bark making little passages between the bark and tree which often causes the bark to slip off trees.

If you're planting shade trees this fall or winter, be sure and wrap the trunk. Use burlap, newspaper, or aluminum foil. The wrapping will prevent adults from laying their eggs in the cracks of bark. Another benefit of wrapping will be the prevention of sun scald to young transplanted trees. Borer egg laying activity has already taken place, but you can spray the trunk with a borer killer containing Dursban before trunk wrapping for preventive measures. Borer spraying of ornamental and shade trees should be done about the first of May.

Treat all entrances with a wound paint and trimming away dead or rotted wood will help in borer control, too.

And one last thing in tree selection — select trees for shade that are not as susceptible to borers. Ash, cottonwoods, soft maples and poplars are very susceptible to borers.

Strategy offered for farm taxes

With 1983 winding down, farmers and ranchers need to look at their income tax situations and to consider certain strategies for reducing tax dollars.

"In a year which brought the government's PIK (payment-in-kind) program and severe drought conditions in some areas, farmers and ranchers have much to ponder from an income tax viewpoint," says Dr. James Ahrenholz, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"A general recommendation for tax planning is to try to level out taxable income from year to year to avoid jumping through several tax brackets from one year to the next," says Ahrenholz. "Leveling your income from year to year will almost always save tax dollars over the long run."

For finding out where one stands on 1983 taxable income, tax tables and schedules reflect a 10 percent reduction from the 1982 tax rate. Subtract investment credits and other credits after making the calculations. For planning purposes, 1984 tax rates will be only 5 percent less than '83 rates.

Producers who took part in PIK must decide when to receive their entitlements, if they haven't already done so. Those who have received their entitlements may have to report them as 1983 income even though they don't plan to sell their commodities until after the first of next year. It all depends on whether the PIK a producer receives is from his own loan or reserve commodity and whether he has assigned his PIK entitlement to someone else, Ahrenholz explains.

Many PIK participants are facing prospects of higher than usual income and lower than usual expenses. Producers in this situation can take certain steps to reduce their 1983 tax burden: delay additional sales of commodities until 1984 or sell now and take payment next year on a deferred payment contract, and buy supplies ahead before the end of the year.

In addition, income averaging might be a means for lowering the 1983 tax burden, especially if income this year is considerably higher than the past few years.

"Producers should also realize that crop insurance proceeds need not be included in income until 1984 if the lost crop would normally have been sold then," the economist points out. "This also holds true for profits from forced livestock sales (except breeding and dairy animals) if in an area designated eligible for federal assistance. Proceeds from forced sales of breeding and dairy animals due to drought are not counted as income if they are reinvested in like animals within a two-year period."

Some farmers who received advance deficiency payments on crops in the acreage reduction program will have to repay those before the end of the year or they will count as income, says Ahrenholz.

A farmer can also reduce his 1983 taxable income by contributing to an individual Retirement Account or Keogh plan.

"To increase deductible expenses for 1983, a cash basis producer might buy supplies for next year's needs and buy capital items that qualify for a full year's depreciation and investment credit," Ahrenholz says.

However, if a producer is faced with a low profit or loss situation, he needs to take measures to boost income just to take advantage of personal exemptions and deductions. A single taxpayer under 65 with no dependents pays no tax on the first $3,300 of income while a married couple with two dependent children can earn up to $7,400 without owing tax.

"The best way to boost income before the year's end is to sell crops and livestock, even if delivery is delayed into 1984," the economist points out. "Keeping advance diversion payments, taking PIK entitlements and selling machinery that has been depreciated out can all generate immediate income."

To keep expenses down, defer payments until after the first of next year if possible. Buy on an installment contract where practical. Also, shifting assets bought before 1981 from a rapid method of depreciation to the straight line method will reduce deductions.

The "Farmer's Tax Guide" from the IRS is the best reference for farmers and ranchers who may want to check on tax points relating to their particular situations.

Ahrenholz also advises producers to check with their tax advisors or consultants now for further information on year-end tax planning strategies.

New hay/forage Pick-A-Team program doubles your cash rebate for buying any two new machines before April 30, 1985 ...plus, finance waiver until first use month in 1984 or cash in lieu of waiver

It makes good sense to double your cash rebate by buying two new John Deere hay or forage tools as listed here. You can buy two now and get double the rebate on both. Or buy one now and get a certificate to buy the second tool before April 30, 1985. Get your double rebate at that time!

Finance your initial buy with John Deere and finance charges will be waived to the first use month in 1984. Or you can take a cash rebate in lieu of waiver.* For example, buy both a self-propelled hay windrower and a round baler in December 1983, and get a cash rebate in lieu of waiver for $925 if the first use month is June in your area. Still another option is to lease these tools with lease-payment discounts comparable to the waiver of finance charge.

*You can, of course, buy any of these hay or forage tools individually. Waiver of finance charge or a cash rebate in lieu of waiver will still apply.
