Rev. Victor shares No.1 citizen honors

When President Reagan's request of $14 million in aid to the Contras of Nicaragua was so rudely turned down by Congress, the Sandinista supporters did not have much time to cheer nor to be shown by the Marxists themselves that Reagan was right in his charges.

As we clearly recall, the President claimed that the Nicaragua government gets abundant help from the Commies and that the Contras desperately need the help of free people to survive. Then came a big surprise as Ortega, the head red of Managua, flew east for a pow-wow with his brethren of Yugoslavia, Poland and Russia, and came away with a deal to station Soviet missiles in his country aimed at the U.S. for $200 million of help.

Ortega's friends in our government were horrified. Here was proof not only that Reagan was right in saying the Sandinistas had strong Marxist support, but also that they want to help destroy our country.

Tip O'Neill said he was embarrassed. Jim Wright said people are displeased that Ortega would go to Russia and flaunt the fact that Congress refused military aid to the Contras. One might add they should be ashamed to be exposed on the enemy's side of this issue.

Perhaps the incident is the incentive that will help the President get official U.S. back to the right side of the Nicaragua issue. He's more able now to show that the Contra freedom fighters are struggling for their lives and their problem is not poverty but the global Communist conspiracy. The two sides contrast a lot more than they did.

We'd like to think also that this development will discredit more of the red propaganda claiming Sandinistas all wear white hats and Contras the black hats. True to Marxist procedures, this has been the case from the start.

The Red disinformation started with the ouster of Somosa when Ortega and company, like Castro in Cuba, revealed that they weren't freedom fighters as claimed, but Marxists taking over. As in Cuba, freedom fighters discovered that a new dictator had replaced the old one.

And what has been the record of the Sandinistas under the leadership of Red stooges? One of the main atrocities is the murder of tens of thousands of Miskito Indians...driving men, women and children from their homeland in forced marches, bombing their homes, burying them alive, forcing them at gunpoint to work in sugarcane fields until they drop. Men 18 to 24 are subject to a universal draft, but boys as young as 13 are kidnapped for military service, and they are forced into the most hazardous duties. As many as 1,000 a day flee government persecution.

Another variety of persecution is to dispense ration coupons for soap, food, clothing, gasoline and other needs to the government favorites and deny them to critics of the regime. Also a spy system is used to watch people and their homes, looking for reasons to persecute.

Considering the huge boner of Ortega and its reaction, along with the abundance of anti-Marxist incriminating facts, one would think that official Washington will start seeing the light. But the caper of two congressmen does not support the idea. After Ortega's return, they went to Managua trying to repair the diplomatic damage. A reported result of that meeting was our man's advice to the Sandinistas to be patient and hang on until Reagan is out of office. Things will be all right then.

We have to hope the report is unreliable. It's too much like

In a follow-up ceremony relative to the Jaycee awards program of June 1, Father Victor Gillespie received an outstanding citizen award Sunday in Sacred Heart Church after the 11 o'clock Mass.

At that time, Wayne Klement announced that the intention when Father Denis received the No. 1 Citizen Plaque was to have Father Victor share the honor and receive an identical award. But Father Victor was unavailable, out of town. So the time set for his presentation was after the 11 a.m. Mass, June 9.

In the presentation remarks, Klement said that while Father Denis merited the honor in a great parish renewal program, Father Victor shared the honor by doubling his parish duties to provide the extra hours needed by Father Denis.

The ceremony was further sweetened by Bob Knauf as he gave checks from the KC Council and the 4th Degree KC Assembly to help finance Father Victor's upcoming visit to relatives in Ireland.

And Wilfred Bindle joined in the gifting with checks from St. Joseph and St. Anne's Societies.

Father Victor, accepting with pleasure and gratitude, said there was still more...a sealed envelope received just before Mass which he did not have time to open, and other gifts were given earlier.

As a closing thought, he asked for prayers in behalf of Benedictine priests spending the week in retreat at Subiaco Abbey.

FATHER VICTOR GILLESPIE receives a plaque commending him as Citizen of the Year from Jaycee representative Wayne Klement. The presentation was made at 11 a.m. Mass on Sunday at Sacred Heart Church. Father Victor was named along with Father Denis at the Jaycees installation banquet last week, but was out of town and unable to accept the award at that time. Father Victor received the honor because he doubled his parish duties in assistance to Father Denis and the Parish Renewal project.

Summer Employment for Youths...

Deadline time is now here

By B. J. Fenton

Youths ages 14-21 may not know they are eligible for summer employment and on-the-job training at $3.35 per hour. But, the deadline for application is next week.

A Summer Youth Program is providing money for jobs through the Joint Training Partnership Act, coordinated and administered by the Texoma Regional Planning Commission (TRPC).

While family income is a determining factor in the eligibility of youths for the program, it is important to note that income is not the only determining factor, said Jim Anderson, job counselor with TRPC.

Anderson administers the JTPA

Summer Youth Program for western Grayson and all of Cooke County. Jobs, he said, are determined by eligibility qualifications.

One among those qualifications is family income. This, Anderson said, is geared toward the economically disadvantaged. The applicant must provide written proof of family income. That proof may be in several forms: an income tax form; pay check stubs; a statement of earnings from an employer.

Income guidelines are the most commonly used and best known of all qualifiers for the Summer Youth Program.

However, as Anderson pointed out, persons who are age 14-21 and who are foster children do not have to meet any income qualifications.

The same is true for youths who are mentally or physically handicapped.

The City of Muenster and the Muenster Independent School District together have six employment slots available for qualified youths to work as:

- clerical office aides;
- grounds keeper aides;
- and building maintenance aides.

One of the six available slots has been filled, five remain. However, youths who are interested have only until the first of the week to make their interest known to either City Administrator, Joe Fenton or School Board Superintendent, Charles Coffey.

Fenton may be contacted at 759-2236 and Coffey at 759-2281.

Anderson said the program is now in its third week and by the fourth week, beginning Monday June 17, the state will re-evaluate the allocation of funds for summer youth jobs. In those areas where the funds are not being fully disbursed and jobs are not being applied for or filled, the state can re-locate the funds to other jobs in other areas of the state.

Therefore, it is recommended that interested youths contact either Fenton or Coffey by Monday, June 17.

Anderson said, interested youths need to, "Apply next week or the jobs may not exist."

In addition to being trained to do specific jobs and getting paid for it, participants will attend three half-day training sessions, with pay, at Cooke County College. While there they will be trained in such skills as how to fill out a job application, how to dress, to conduct themselves, the importance of punctuality and how to get and keep a job, Anderson said.

In the three-county area TRPC administrators, there are currently 242 youths employed in the Summer Youth Program; 80 of those youths are in the western section of Grayson County and Cooke County, Anderson said.

FLOOD DAMAGE WAS EVIDENT Thursday morning in the park as weeds, tree limbs, and in some cases whole trees were tangled along cables, wrapped around picnic tables, and cluttered the entire area within two feet of the swimming pool. Flooding was the result of heavy rains late last Wednesday night and early morning Thursday. Please, see related photos on Page 3.

Mystery man seen traveling creek

Who is the stranger that came up out of Brushy Elm Creek Monday? Where did he come from? Where did he go?

Those are questions area residents and law enforcement officials are asking themselves.

It seems that somewhere around 11 a.m. Monday, a tattered, unshaven man climbed up out of Brushy Creek, crossed Hwy 82 to Kountry Korners and bought two Dr. Peppers while muttering something about a septic tank.

The man reportedly was wet from the waist down and paid for the two sodas with money he took from a small metal box. When he left the store, he crossed the highway and disappeared back into the creek.

City Police Chief Helen Tompkins was notified, she and her men were joined by County Sheriff's deputies and a search was made of the creek.

There was no man to be found. Tompkins said law enforcement officials were concerned only because the man matched the same general description of one of the escapees at Ferris, OK., who was thought to have relatives in or around Gainesville.

The escapees were caught Monday night in Paris, TX.

The man who came out of the creek is described as being approximately 30-years-old, stands about 5-feet 11-inches, weights about 175 pounds, has dark hair and several day's growth of beard.

At Kountry Korners, he was

OK weather

Community rainfall of the past week, though excessive for grain harvesting, has been fine for milo, corn, pastures and other vegetation, and has boosted the year's total to some three inches above normal. At the same time, the temperature took a welcome drop. Low and high readings were recorded as follows by Steve Mosler.

June 6.....	3.32 inches	68 and 80
June 7.....	.08 inches	66 and 92

Moral basis of a free society

IF WE value the wonderful lives we are privileged to live in this great land we should be concerned about and determined to do something about the moral decay which is abundantly clear on every hand.

It is a truism that our high standard of living is the direct result of the economic system we have devised, and that system requires moral conduct on the part of those using it in order to function properly.

It follows, therefore, that our affluent life style is the result of the free enterprise system which depends upon moral citizens in order to work properly.

For example, the most fundamental principle of free enterprise is private ownership and control of property. In point of fact, it was not possible for civilization to even begin to develop modern methods until this principle was first evolved.

The reason why man took so long in developing even rudimentary civilizations was it took that long to develop even the simplest tools. And the reason for this was the slow development of the concept of private ownership. That is why civilization has been moved forward more in the last 200 years than in the previous 6000 years.

In his seminal work, The Philosophy of Ownership, Robert LeFevre (pronounced LaFave) wrote: "So long as man relied upon the tribe, insofar as his direction and behavior were concerned, and so far as properties he needed for survival were viewed as tribal, so long was he prone to remain in the lowest primitive state..."

LeFevre pointed out that when personal ownership of property was not permitted, there was no incentive for self-improvement or for "inventive and pioneering acts." Only when in the dim historical past some man was permitted to own some weapon or tool as his personal property was it possible for the long, slow march toward modern civilization to begin.

While we cannot say this was the dawn of morality, we can say this was a major contribution to the concept of morality - permitting an individual to own that which he creates - which maintains its significance to this day. It is no accident that the Eighth Commandment, "Thou shalt not steal," embodies this concept.

One of the most destructive and immoral trends in current American life is the erosion of respect for property. The evidence is all around us, from the destruction of property by graffiti to the burgeoning crime rate.

But the most dangerous of all trends is the immorality of "plunder" by government, euphemistically termed "welfare" or "social spending." Such programs are nothing more than legalized "theft" - the taking of property from one person who has earned it and redistributing it to another who has absolutely no right to it.

We are reminded of the wisdom of Emerson who wrote: "Cause and effect, means and ends, seed and fruit, cannot be severed; for the effect already blooms in the cause, the end pre-exists in the means, the fruit in the seed."

treason. Nevertheless, we unpleasantly recall another incident last year when 10 congressmen, including this state's Jim Wright, sent Ortega that well-known letter praising his dictatorship and assuring their support. It said "we have been and remain opposed to U.S. support for military action directed against the people and government of Nicaragua...we want to commend you and the members of your government for taking steps to open up the political process in your country."

Sometimes we have to wonder. Do the people of this twisted viewpoint really favor communism? Or are they opportunists expecting the worst for the U.S., and trying to be in line for favors when it happens?

If so, they may have a surprise in store. Millions of Americans are disgusted with softness toward communism. This is a good time to revive a plea for loyalty. Those who want to dump Reagan may find his principles even better established in 1988, and they could be the ones to get dumped.

The huge flag of stars and stripes which inspired Francis Scott Key to write our national anthem at Ft. McHenry in 1814 was made by a little-known Baltimore widow, Mary Pickersgill. She was 36 years of age at the time the Star-Spangled Banner was completed. Living in a small house, now known as the Star-Spangled Banner Flag House, Mary made the flag for the sum of $405.90.

The original flag, which measured 30 by 42 feet, is now on display in the Smithsonian's

Museum of American History. Made from 400 yards of wool bunting and the largest American flag of its time, this national symbol had 15 five-pointed stars and 15 instead of 13 stripes, each almost two feet wide. The flag was so big it was sewn on the malt floor of Claggett's Brewery.

On Friday, June 14, National Flag Day, all Americans will have another opportunity to pay tribute to the symbol of our anthem and the patriotic woman who was its creator.

State Capitol Highlight

AUSTIN—The dynamics of Texas politics are changing fast in the wake of the recent legislative session, but the new leaders who are emerging from both parties may be challenged soon by shifts in the state's economy.

Several lawmakers earned gold stars for the business-like way they cut $1.2 billion from the state budget without raising taxes, but everyone, Democrat and Republican alike, is well aware that a major tax increase looms in the near future.

The Lone Star State's government has no projected surplus. None whatsoever. Thus, if oil prices drop any at all, the Legislature could have to come back into special session to raise taxes to fund basic government. By its Constitution, Texas cannot operate on a deficit.

And so the new heroes, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, House Speaker Gib Lewis, budget chairmen Sen. Grant Jones and Rep. Jim Rudd, may be basking in short-lived public gratitude.

The New Democrats

The budget-cutting feat was a real boost for Democrats, particularly conservatives, who disapproved the Republican line that Democrats cannot be trusted to manage tax dollars.

The conservatives even earned the gratitude of some liberals for increasing their party's respectability in the wake of the '84 defeats. Yet they could lose it all if the money crunch comes and they fail to repeat their blue-ribbon fiscal performance.

Granted, they had the help of the Republicans who serve in the Legislature. The budget cutting was a bipartisan effort that saw most lawmakers place the good of the state above the good of their political parties.

But since the leadership was composed of Democrats, one unlikely event has occurred: conservative and liberal Democrats have, for the most part, called a truce to their perpetual war.

White: Up Or Down?

One exception to that cozy little scenario is Gov. Mark White, who caught criticism from some fellow Democrats in the waning hours of the session. They said White didn't exercise enough leadership, but his supporters, pointing to the new indigent care package he rammed through in the three-day special session, say that he did.

A recent poll indicated that 46 percent of Texans think the governor did a good or excellent job, more than the 41 percent rating given to the Legislature. Only 16 percent frowned on him.

The New Republicans

The Republicans gained in stature, too, and show many signs of emerging from minority party status. Besides the clout they wielded in the Texas House under the leadership of Gerald Geistweidt, R-Mason, Ed Emmett, R-Houston, and Tom Craddick, R-Midland, they now have the beginnings of a healthy party fracas themselves.

It's most obvious in the jockeying for the GOP gubernatorial nomination. Former Democrat Kent Hance of Lubbock switched parties only to find himself challenged by U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler, also of West Texas, and a whole host of other potentials.

Some of the big names that loom out at you are former Gov. Bill Clements, former Democratic Speaker Bill Clayton, Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry, and Amarillo oilman T. Boone Pickens.

Clements Jumps Gramm

Now that Republicans stand to make a good run for the Governor's Mansion, some long-time party loyalists are not so keen at handing the nomination to new converts, former Democrats, and that's where the inner party squabbling lies.

Usually, Republicans keep their family bickering quietly to themselves, but some dissonance came out last week, by no less a personage than Bill Clements himself.

Clements accused U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm of dividing and polarizing the GOP by endorsing Kent Hance for governor. Both are former Democrats, and the endorsement has come early, before the other GOP candidates have even announced for the race.

Letter to the Editor

Dear friends of AI,

God gifted Al Vogel in a unique way. He had no children of his own, and yet the entire community was his family. Who in the whole area did not know who you were talking about when you said "Uncle Al?"

How many times did our doorbell ring in the early morning and by the time we would get up to answer, Uncle Al would be gone and there would be a sack of fresh vegetables by the door? Or how many times did the phone ring and that familiar voice say, "I got green beans and corn, come and get it." His phone conversations were very short, but a visit to his place could use up a whole spring morning or a whole winter afternoon. This man dearly loved company, relatives or just drop-ins.

I never heard him have a bad word to say about anyone. He treated people the same as he treated his plants and trees and weeds. "Some are more desirable than others, but all were put here for a reason," he would say.

Al was probably the first person to experience renewal in the parish, because each spring he was renewed by planting his garden. He renewed us all by his quick wit and jovial disposition. As we place this man's remains in the soil that he loved so well, let us remember that each of us is a plant in God's own garden and that He harvests us in the same manner as Uncle Al did his.

"Uncle Al," we will miss you. May you be in God's garden of "Perpetual Light." God surely is enjoying your company at this time, as the only transgression you ever committed was trying to can radishes. God bless you, Uncle Al. Leo Hess

US arms sales to China

THE GROWING cooperation between Washington and the People's Republic of China (PRC) has advantages for both countries. But every step of the emerging relationship should be taken soberly. And the proposed sale of U.S. naval weapons to the PRC may be one of the missteps that will inevitably cause the U.S. to stumble and change direction as it goes.

While both Washington and Beijing agree that the growing Soviet presence in the Pacific and Indian Oceans poses a threat to Asian security, the proposed sale of the U.S. Phalanx anti-missile gun, General Electric LM2500 gas turbine engines, and other naval material to the PRC will do little to deter the Soviets. But it could affect the security of the Republic of China (ROC) on Taiwan and the member nations of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN).

The ROC, which is still technically at war with the PRC, is heavily dependent on ship-to-ship missiles to defend itself against a PRC blockade or invasion attempt. The missiles in the ROC's inventory, however, would be neutralized by the Phalanx guns being offered to the PRC. Interestingly, word of the proposed weapons sale leaked out just after PRC leader Deng Xiaoping had remarked that China might consider a blockade to settle the issue of unifying Taiwan with the mainland.

In accordance with the Taiwan Relations Act, the sale of the naval equipment would, at a minimum, require the U.S. to upgrade those arms it is selling to the ROC to maintain some sort of military balance in the Taiwan Straits.

While the Phalanx missile-killer is of the most concern to Taiwan, the ASEAN nations (Indonesia, Thailand, Singapore, Malaysia, Brunei, the Philippines) are more concerned about the GE turbine engines, which are used to power destroyer-sized warships. By enabling the PRC to build larger, more powerful ships, they would substantially upgrade the Chinese presence in the South China Sea, and give it the power to enforce its claim to the Spratlys and other South China Sea island groups currently claimed jointly by the PRC and the Philippines, Malaysia, Thailand, the ROC, and Vietnam.

More important, the naval equipment being offered to the PRC isn't significantly sophisticated or powerful enough to deter the Soviet Union's large Pacific fleet. Only China's weaker neighbors have reason to be concerned.

This mismatch of U.S. interests and policy seems to indicate that the proposed sale hasn't been carefully thought out by the administration. Before making a hasty, possibly regrettable decision, the administration and Congress need to take a closer look at the implications of the naval deal.

Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.

Creek Man

said to be wearing a brown shirt, checked pants and oil field boots.

Brushy Elm Creek, which is a fork of the Trinity River, comes out of Muenster's park and heads across country. The creek makes a fork and in one direction goes toward Saint Jo. In the other direction, the creek runs through what is known as snake country and on into the Red River.

This seems to have posed a quarry for the "Creek Man."

He was seen again Monday at approximately 1:10 a.m. by a county employee, who reported to Chief Tompkins that he had seen a man come up out of the creek and cross the road by the county road graders.

Again, at 5:30 p.m., a local farmer riding his cycle came up out of a wooded area to find the man standing in front of him. A brief conversation took place in which the Creek Man showed concern about being seen, and questioned whether he could get to Saint Jo if he followed the creek.

The farmer reportedly informed the man of the fork in the creek and the man climbed back into the creek and was gone.

Tompkins was notified. The same general description was given as for the man who came into Kountry Korner's. Again, the man was said to have been wet from above the knees down.

Meanwhile, a farmer near Four Corners reported that at approximately 6:30 p.m. Monday he saw a man coming up out of the creek and crawling through a fence.

He said the man appeared to be wearing a brown shirt, blue jeans, and carrying a small green bag of some sort.

That was the last reported sighting of the man. Since the escapees from Farris, OK were captured Monday night, the stranger is no longer under suspicion. However, who he is and whether he needs help is still a mystery.

Area law enforcement officials say they have no requests to be on the look-out for fugitives or any other reports that might cause them to be looking for this man.

However, they are curious as to who the man might be and why he seems to be traveling the creek.

As Chief Tompkins said, there's no real cause for alarm and there could be a very logical explanation for the man's actions. He might be camping and roughing-it. He could be a rock collector out on a venture. Or, he could be a fellow human being who needs help.

Area law enforcement officials have asked that anyone seeing a man matching the description given above please contact them.

Muenster Police can be contacted by calling 759-2236. The County Sheriff's number is 665-3471. Saint Jo authorities can be reached at 995-2345.

MISD Board cheers progress report

Trustees of the Muenster ISD, at their regular meeting, approved a number of additions and improvements along with routine maintenance and fix-up, and a general progress report.

Tom Fluker, counselor, gave the board welcome reports on the progress on the TABS and Five Year Plan, both in their second year at the school. Regarding TABS, he said the overall evaluation is highly pleasing. Reading is outstanding, math is excellent and writing is improving. The same can be said for the MISD five-year plan in which progress is apparent in all areas. These include public relations, video taping, establishing an elementary library, beautification of grounds, expansion of playground, air conditioning and first aid.

A major item was two new additions to the bus fleet. A 58-passenger vehicle, ordered last October and costing $21,000, has just been received and a new 59-passenger unit, costing $23,500, was approved for requisition.

Another item okayed was the increase of insurance deductible from $150 to $1,000, to get the benefit of a lower premium rate. The trustees also approved air conditioning in the high school and cafeteria and instructed the superintendent to advertise for bids on both installations. Other purchases approved were for two glass doors near the homemaking and English classrooms; and a trade for five new typewriters for the typing room and one for the annual staff. Also approved is a landscaping and tillage project on the area between high school and junior high wings. The purpose is to overcome puddling caused by inadequate drainage.

New paint is also in the plan: for the special education room, the teacher's workroom, the kindergarten, the outside of the football ticket booth and a PE storage building on the new playground.

Still another job is a sidewalk at the west side of the football field concession stand. Its principal purpose is to eliminate a varmint haven remaining when skids were left under the building after it was moved there.

Meanwhile, an overall clean-up and waxing project is coming inside and fertilizer is due for the grounds.

Trustees also approved a proposed budget for the football program.

Big plans set for parish Father's Day

Heading the attractions of the parish celebration on Father's Day, June 16, in the Community Center is the community dinner beginning at 11:30 a.m.

A Country Store in the meeting room will open at 11:30. Entertainment during the afternoon will be highlighted by a Tug of War, beginning at 3 p.m.

Inside the Community Center, games and entertainment for young and old will continue throughout the afternoon.

Special benefit fundraisers include the major raffle, offering a trip for two to Hawaii as the first of several attractive cash prizes and others. Something new is a silent auction. A children's raffle offers a Yamaha Moto-4 with helmet as the top prize followed by cash, a bicycle, a jam-box, pizza party, etc. The always popular rifle raffle is another benefit project.

The traditional auction under the pavilion begins at 6 p.m. and offers a great assortment including livestock, horses, feed troughs, pipe, a portable building, fuel, dozer work, backhoe work, welding jobs, batteries, picnic tables, cordless telephones, tools, motor bikes, bicycles, steak dinners, barbecued boneless round, quilts, afghans, vehicles, etc. Sylvan Walterscheid and Randy Hermes are auction chairmen and Don Flusche will be auctioneer.

Dinner chairmen, Nellie Martin and Dan Haverkamp, list the menu as follows: fried chicken, German sausage, potato salad, baked beans, combination salad with choice of dressings, homemade bread, butter, ice tea, pie. The price is $5.00 for adults and $3.00 for children under 12.

Sandwiches and evening supper will be available, with Gertie Wimmer and Pat Adair as chairmen.

In charge of the Country Store are Janie Hartman, Gloria Coker, Mary Endres and Debbie Hess. A "Christmas in June" feature will offer all new Christmas items, some in the original package; also new religious articles for children; and crafts, books, fresh vegetables, baked foods, etc. It will be held in the meeting room (S.N.A.P. Center).

Neil Huchton is chairman of the Tug of War. He has announced that registration will be held Sunday morning 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. at the Community Center and the big show at 3 p.m. Strohs Beer will furnish trophies.

Chairmen of the Silent Auction are Elaine Schilling, Steve and Kyla Henscheid and Shirley Hess.

Chairmen of the major raffle are Don Hess, Dale Felderhoff, Pat Hess and Dale Schilling. Monica Hartman and Jim Gehrig are chairmen of the rifle raffle. Frances Bayer and Janet Barnhill are chairmen of the Children's Raffle.

Additional chairmen and their assignments or booths are Pat Fisher, ice; Allen Sicking and Bob Knauf and the KCs, beer; Wilfred Bindel, bingo; Raymond Walterscheid and VFW, ball roll; Erwin Henscheid, horse race; Mary Lin Knabe, cold drinks and candy; Carol Truebenbach, Karen Moser and Virgil Henscheid, cake walk; Hildegarde Swirczynski, pies; Rose Felderhoff, Edna Knabe, Lynn Hacker, Rhonda Hartman, Mary Bayer and Jim Gehrig, kids' games; Gilbert and Shirley Hess are general chairmen.

A SCENE THAT IS comparatively familiar to youngsters of today is the former AMPI milk plant which used this portion at the intersection of Highway 82 and Main Street for making cheese. This portion was removed when the present cheese factory started operating in April 1977. Other divisions of the old building were kept for other operations such as condensing and/or powdering milk and whey and separating cream from whey. Also a portion continues in use for bagging and storing powdered milk. Some areas are used for shop work and storage, and office space has been renovated during the past year. A handsome mural beautifies the east side of the building.

Kastl addresses chamber meeting

Richard Kastl, director of the Morton Museum in Gainesville, was the guest speaker at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Muenster Chamber of Commerce.

Kastl came to Gainesville this January from Kokomo, Ind., where he was the curator/director of the Howard County Museum. He holds a master's degree in anthropology and has additional training in historic preservation.

In Kastl's update of the Morton Museum's activities, he also explained the importance of the museum to the area.

Morton Museum was established in Gainesville's 1884 fire station/city hall and reflects the history of Cooke County through exhibits and educational programs.

The museum is under the direction of the Cooke County Heritage Society, a non-profit organization established in 1966.

Kastl noted that the purpose of the Museum is that of the Society, "the promotion of the public interest of Cooke County and its immediate environs through development of interests in the preservation of historical resources in Cooke County."

"The Museum," Kastl said, "is dedicated to preserving tangible evidence of the community's past as a means of providing a better understanding of the present."

The Museum serves as an educational tool by making programs on the history of the county and related materials available to the public.

Books and pamphlets on county history are published and sold through the museum, as well as a monthly newsletter.

Archival materials on Cooke County history, such as articles, newspaper clippings, photographs and tape recordings, are available for research. Reference materials on conservation and preservation are also available at the Museum.

The Museum has just finished a week of Summer Fun Classes concerned with pioneer crafts. Kastl and curator Becky Hughes will teach a course in archaeology the week of June 17.

Kastl said this Summer Fun Class will focus on the basics of archaeology. What archaeologists do, how they do it, and what they hope to learn will be covered in the course.

In addition there will be at least one field trip to show students proper archaeological field methods.

The Archaeological Summer Fun Class is June 17-21, from 9-11 a.m., at the Museum. This class is for children 8-14 years of age, with a maximum enrollment of 20 students. Cost of the class is $5 for children of members of the Heritage Society and $7.50 for children of non-members.

Kastl also noted that Museum exhibits are rotated on a frequent basis to maintain public interest. "If you don't change your exhibits, people won't come more often than once," Kastl said.

The Museum is becoming more involved with youth programs, Kastl said. The NEH Youth Group recently completed a project started last year in which youths traveled throughout the county. The information they collected is being put into an informative pamphlet giving tours of the entire county including maps and pictures of historical points of interest.

This presentation will also be put into slide form, Kastle said, and available for public presentation.

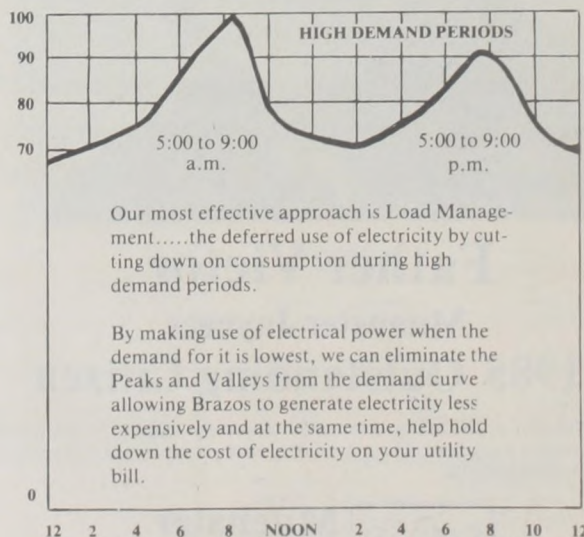

Kastl ended his program with a statement of why he was involved in the business of history. He said that while societies may change, throughout history there is a recurring set of problems. "I don't want to live in the past, but I do want to understand it as it was," Kastl said.

"Society's undergoing rapid changes which have an impact on all facets of our lives. History provides an anchor," Kastle said. "We want to collect to find, to display, to inform."

4-H'ers organize computer class

An important goal in 4-H is the acquisition of subject matter skills in certain areas of science and technology. This goal is in keeping with the mission of 4-H to assist youth in developing life skills and in forming attitudes which enable them to become self directing and productive citizens.

To meet this goal, the 4-H organization has developed a Computer Education Program to assist young people in learning about and learning to use computers. This Computer Education Program had its first testing in Cooke County with the Muenster Senior 4-H members. Sixteen 4-H'ers from the local club participated in 13 hours of the Computer Education Program entitled BOCS. BOCS stands for Basic Operator Computing Skills. Muenster 4-H Junior Leader Sam Fleitman assisted in teaching the BOCS Course of Study which was made up of 12 lessons.

Completing the course of study were Alethea Brawner, Jerry Brawner, Darwin Sicking, Darren Cheaney, Mike Armstrong, Bobby Don Thornhill, Michelle Kleiss, Amy Davidson, Valerie Vogel, Keith Vogel, Jon Fleitman, Stephen Becker, Wayne Becker, Peachy Switzer and Janet Reiter. The Muenster Public School allowed the 4-H'ers the use of nine computers for this seven-week project.

Upon completion of this course of study, the participant understood the function and uses of computer systems in a variety of settings, became aware of the effects computers have on society, and began to develop a sense of control over computers and learned to exercise that control.

MUESTER 4-H JUNIOR LEADER Samuel Fleitman assisted in teaching the BOCS course of study in 12 lessons. He is shown explaining a computer command in one of the lessons.

Joe Hoenig flew by Delta Airlines to Atlanta, Georgia on May 22 to visit his son and daughter-in-law, Jerry and Ceci Hoenig. They live in Douglasville, where they manage a trailer court of 211 homes on 23 acres.

Together they went on a tour of Atlanta visiting places of tourist interest, and on another day saw the Cyclorama of the Battle of Atlanta July 22, 1864. It measures 50 feet in height, 400 feet in circumference and weighs over 18,000 pounds. It was painted in 1885-86 by German-Polish painters.

One day they visited the tallest hotel which is round, with its revolving top floor making a complete circle every 15 minutes for a full view of Atlanta. They also went to Stone Mountain, Georgia to view the carving larger than that in the Dakotas. By ski lift they reached the top, to walk on the massive solid stone mountain that has no cracks and no seams.

Joe Hoenig returned to Dallas the following Tuesday morning, to be met by his daughter, Rita Cottle, and came to Muenster Tuesday night.

Robert Kralicke celebrates first

An early birthday party, in advance of his first birthday of June 15, was celebrated by Robert Kralicke and his parents, Steve and Jill Kralicke, on Friday, June 7. Robert is the grandson of Mrs. Bob Swirczynski and Dr. and Mrs. Martin Kralicke.

They all spent an evening together at White Water as guests of American Airlines, where Jill is employed, and were together for supper before departing for their homes.

Al Yostens attend grandson's graduation

Mr. and Mrs. Al Yosten spent last weekend in Dallas as guests of their daughter and family, Judy and Dan Phillips. On Saturday, they attended the commencement ceremony when their grandson, Kary Phillips, graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School. He was a member of a class of 231. The event took place at the Dallas Convention Center at 12 noon. Kary plans to attend NTSU, majoring in business.

Saturday evening the men in the family went to watch the Texas Rangers play the Boston Red Socks at Arlington Stadium. Kary's parents hosted a graduation dinner in his honor on Sunday. A specially decorated strawberry cake, made by his Great-Aunt Sue, was served.

Guests for the barbecue dinner included Al and Dorothy Yosten, and Kary's brother, Paul. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Savage of Garland; Mr. and Mrs. Justin Jezek of Celina; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Phillips and Billy, Daniel and Jessica of Arlington; and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Rimando.

The electric company can help me take care of myself. (If I ever need any help.)

Let's face it, at my age things can sneak up on you, and you may need some help. The electric company understands that.

That's why they'll arrange it so your bill payment can wait until your social security check arrives. And their Special Friend Program makes sure someone doesn't overlook monthly bills. There's even a program to help provide essential energy services in a real emergency.

Right now, I don't need all this help to take care of myself. But I get a kick out of knowing it's there.

Bowie wins championship in Bud Light ball tournament

The Steers of Bowie are the champions of a slow pitch softball tournament sponsored by Gilbert Endres Distributing Company Friday and Saturday in the Muenster park. They sewed up the title in a 13-10 win over second place Silver Bullet in the second of two showdown games.

Entering the finals of the double elimination tourney, the unbeaten Steers faced the once-beaten Silver Bullets in an extra-inning classic and came out the losers. That made one loss for each and required a playoff in which the Steers survived.

The tournament was a dandy with 12 participating teams playing the total of 23 games, mostly in blistering heat.

Other front runners were winners of places three through six, two of them being Muenster entries, Bud Light and Miller Lite, which ended as five and six respectively. One of Bud's wins along the way was over the second place Bullets, and the losses were to Gilbreath and Six Packs. Miller won a big one from Six Pack and lost to both the Steers and the Bullets.

Place three was won by Gilbreath and place four by Six Pack.

RICK SWIRCZYNSKI, above, is at bat for the Gainesville K.C. ball team as Steve Henscheid of the Old Milwaukee team catches. Action takes place in the bottom of the first inning. K.C.s have bases loaded and Old Milwaukee retires the side with the score 2-1 Old Mil's favor. At right, Chris Stoffles comes into third base, as third base coach Dale Hellman watches the action on the field. No. 8 is an unidentified player on the Gainesville K.C. team.

Kiwanis Club looking for baseball space

At Wednesday's weekly luncheon, the Muenster Kiwanis Club unveiled their most ambitious project to date: to find adequate practice and playing space for kids baseball.

Member Adam Wolf says, "I don't think finding sponsors for teams will be a problem, but finding a free playing field for practice or a game is a scheduling headache."

Several other clubs in the Kiwanis Texas/Oklahoma region have organized efforts and were successful in building fields and sponsoring teams. "Our purpose as a club is to provide help, organization, and assistance where it will be the most benefit to all our citizens, and I can't think of a more worthwhile project for a more worthy group said member Tom Flusche.

Under discussion at this time is the availability of suitable land for the project. The club feels the funds can be raised once possible sites are located. Choices seem to be limited, because the best suited land for ballfields is also prime real estate for commercial or residential development. Land prices in these areas, are prohibitive for purchase for ballfield use, but may be available for leasing. The tax benefits for donation of land to such a project, or donation of the lease cost might make the idea attractive to some land owners.

The Muenster Kiwanis club is soliciting suggestions and comments from residents, land owners, and anyone that may be able to help in the project. The club hopes to make the project a community-wide endeavor involving many of the civic groups in Muenster. "It important that we get the people's input on a task this size" said Gary Fisher, "And I suggest we open the matter for public discussion at our meetings or invite letters to the editor in the paper."

The Kiwanis Club meets every Wednesday at noon in the Center, for a luncheon and short informative program on various topics. The meetings are open to anyone.

Greens top winners in co-ed tournament

The Greens are the champs of the co-ed slow pitch softball tournament held Sunday. The benefit event raised $450 for the families of Archie Hess, Tony Hess and Jim Hoedebeck, and was sponsored by Tops & Teams.

The tourney was an all-day double elimination event with more than 100 men and women participating in four games.

In winning the title, the Green team sailed through the bracket and ended by demolishing the Whites 15-0.

Additional games are in the making and plans for them will be announced at a later date.

OBITUARIES

Anna McDaniel, 83, dies

Funeral service for Anna V. McDaniel, 83, was held Saturday, June 8, 10 a.m., in Sacred Heart Church with Father Victor Gillespie officiating at a Mass of Christian Burial and the Sacred Heart Choral Group participating.

Mrs. McDaniel died suddenly Thursday, June 6, in Muenster Memorial Hospital after an extended illness.

Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery directed by McCoy Funeral Home with Dan Wilde, Greg Wilde, Rufus Bezner Jr., Sam Bezner, R.C. Turnbow and Wilfred Bindel as the pallbearers.

Services preceding the funeral were a rosary Friday at 4 p.m. and a wake service at 8 p.m. in the funeral home chapel.

In his funeral message, Father Victor referred to Anna's consciousness of dependence on God as her creator, and her responsibility to Him in all she did, and her acceptance of the Lord as her salvation in the land of the living. She died as His servant and merits a place with souls of the just in the Hands of God. Also, Father Victor recalled the Savior's promise "who eats my flesh and drinks my blood shall have life everlasting."

Anna McDaniel was the former Anna Wilde, daughter of community pioneers Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilde, who lived here at its founding in 1889. She was a lifetime Muenster resident, born on Aug. 3, 1901, and was married to Herbert McDaniel in Marietta, Okla. on March 30, 1940.

She is survived by her husband and a number of nieces and nephews. The last of 14 children in her family, she was preceded in death by eight brothers and five sisters.

Wilda Adams, 76, dies

Funeral service for Wilda P. Adams, 76, of Saint Jo, was held Tuesday, June 11, at 2 p.m. in the McCoy Funeral Home chapel with Brother George Thompson officiating, and burial was in Mountain Park Cemetery directed by the McCoy Funeral Home.

She died of a heart attack Sunday in Gainesville Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Adams was a native of Saint Jo, born Feb. 9, 1909, lived there all of her life, and was married to C.H. (Orb) Adams in 1931. She is remembered here as a nurse in Dr. Antonetti's office from 1968 until 1983, when she retired.

Survivors are one sister, one brother, two granddaughters and seven great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband, her parents, one sister and one son.

Second interruption hits local harvest

As of Tuesday afternoon, grain farmers have fingers crossed again wondering how long they will need to sweat out the second interruption of their harvesting.

If the weather cooperates with sunshine and breeze, they can return to their fields Wednesday and hopefully finish this crop by the end of the week. Grain dealers Dolphy Joe Hellman at Tony's Seed and Feed and Ronnie Felderhoff at Muenster Milling Company estimate that 20 to 25 percent is still in the field. After the rains, some of those areas are muddy and may keep combines out a few more days. At this time the muddy spots are being skipped.

Meanwhile, the crop is deteriorating in quality. Grain kernels are bleaching with consequent drop in test. At the same time, weeds and grass are thriving and increasing quantities of them go through the combine in the threshing process, thereby increasing the grain's moisture content.

The season's first halt came last week Wednesday after some 10 days of good weather. The rain developed into a gully washer during the night, ranging from four to seven inches and flooding lowlands in various parts of the area.

Damage to the grain was moderate, however. Little of it was beaten down. Satisfactory drying weather followed, allowing many farmers to start again Sunday and put in a good day Monday. Then came the Monday night rain ranging up to an inch in some parts of the community. At mid-afternoon Tuesday, clouds are still hanging around, but farmers see possibilities of getting the breaks and returning to work Wednesday.

County Agent's Report

1985 has been a poor year for wheat production in Cooke County. Many of the fields are yielding only 50 percent of last year's harvest.

This year saw soft wheats outyielding most hard wheat varieties. Most of our soft wheats were very resistant to diseases that were so prevalent this spring and soft wheats just tend to do better in a wet year.

William Hermes assisted in evaluating five soft wheat varieties on his farm at Hood. These wheats were all treated identically. Seeding rate was 70 pounds, and they received a total of 40 pounds of phosphorous with the seed at planting and 120 total pounds of actual nitrogen. All the wheat plots were grazed with stocker calves during the growing season up until the end of February. Three Coker wheats, 983, 916, and 68-15, were planted with two Rohn and Haas Hybrid wheats, 3007 and 3022. Observations during the growing season showed little to no difference in forage production. Straw strength on all wheats was good and the following yield results were taken on June 4.

During this past cropping year, these soft wheats outyielded many of our hard varieties. Producers should consider all the wheat variety alternatives that they have along with price at the mill of soft and hard varieties in making their cropping decisions.

We want to thank William and Gary Hermes for their interest and help in this evaluation study.

Variety	Moisture	Test Weight	Adjusted - 14% Yield/Acre
Coker 983	12.1	63	61.73
Coker 916	11.9	62	55.35
Coker 68-15	10.4	63	50.34
Rohn & Haas 3007	12.3	58	50.09
Rohn & Haas 3022	13.4	62	34.76

Coming to Rosston

Something different and big for the annual Sam Bass get-together at Rosston on July 20 is an old-fashioned trolley. Jim Penton said Thursday that the trolley is ready awaiting completion of the track he is installing.

He said that about 100 feet of the track is finished and the total length depends on how much track and/or real estate is available.

Guy Griggs, 87, of Rosston dies

Funeral service for Guy Griggs, 87, of Rosston was held Thursday, May 30, in Rosston Methodist Church conducted by Geo. J. Carroll & Son Funeral Home, the Rev. David Dunson and Rev. Paul Blanchard.

Burial was in the Rosston Cemetery directed by the Carroll funeral home and pallbearers were Dave Griggs, G.W. Griggs, Steven Griggs, Carroll Barnett, Wallace English and Kenneth English.

Mr. Griggs died the previous Tuesday at his home in Rosston.

He was born June 27, 1897 in Cooke County, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Griggs. His first wife, Mary English, preceded him in death in 1976, and he was married to his second wife, Sibyl Wise, on Sept. 29, 1979.

He was a 37-year employee in the production department of the Exxon Company until his retirement in 1958. He also had an interesting career in baseball, having played as catcher for several years with the Gonzales Club which organized in 1934, also with the Luling Redwings and a Humble team at Cisco. His outstanding record qualified him for induction in 1974 into the Hall of Fame of Semi-Pro Baseball.

Survivors are his wife; one son, Rube, of Rosston; three grandchildren, Guy W. Griggs of Spring, Susanne Barnett of Alvin, and F.D. Griggs of Rosston; four great-grandchildren; one sister, Belva Olney of Temple; a stepdaughter, Winifred Wink of Austin; and two step-grandchildren.

Richardsons have reunion at Rosston

The 34th annual Richardson reunion was held at the Ross Point Community Center on June 2. This is the annual gathering of the descendants of the late Tom and Ella Clark Richardson, who settled in Cooke County near the Rosston Community around the turn of the century.

Four generations attended with much visiting, picture taking and catching up on current events. Special gifts were presented to Mrs. Delia Sutton of Gainesville for being the oldest family member present, to Teresa Jenkins for the longest distance traveled and to Clint Sicking for the youngest in attendance.

A buffet luncheon followed, attended by more than 100 family members. Travis Sutton gave the invocation and prayed a special prayer to God from the entire group for the privilege to be able to attend, a prayer for those family members who were unable to attend, and asked for continued good health for the entire group until next reunion time which will be the first Sunday in June 1986.
