County sale nets good profit

As garage sales go, it turned out to be a pretty profitable event. If everyone pays up and hauls their merchandise away, the county will have earned more than $11,700 from its surplus merchandise sale. Bids were opened on the more than 100 items during Monday's commissioners meeting, which turned into a marathon. "I thought we might get 10 bids or so," county judge Jim Robertson said. There were 39 sealed bids, and several bidders submitted proposals on dozens of items. Altogether, only 14 items did not get bid on. The commissioners rejected another seven bids, but 77 items which were not being used will be moved out of the courthouse and precinct barns. The highest-dollar item in the sale was a Hobbs dump trailer at the precinct one barn in Callisburg. The trailer brought $1,651 from the highest bidder. The county's used jury wheel went for $1. The money from most of the items will go into the county's Please see SURPLUS, page 3

One of the absurd developments in last week's news was the ruckus related to President Reagan's plan to visit one of the Hitler's prison camps of Germany. Nazi haters and Jews were horrified at the thought of honoring the murderers who had operated the hell hole. Likewise millions of people over here, urged on by unfavorable comment of the media and well organized demonstrations by leftist leaning foreign inspired groups, joined in the clamor.

It was another matter of sound and fury signifying nothing. In the first place it's ridiculous to say Reagan's motive was to show approval of the Hitler atrocities. Anyone who knows his reaction to similar hideous crime at so many times and places in modern history is well aware that he has no intention to endorse the horror. The more likely explanation is that he wished to honor the memory of the victims and to have the personal satisfaction of seeing the scene of the crime. It could reasonably be said that the fault finding Jews themselves were at fault. They completely missed the point that Reagan's motive possibly and probably was entirely respectful.

As regards some of the other howlers and demonstrators, this column's opinion is less generous. It's getting tiresome to hear and see those characters lambast criminals of forty years ago but ignore communist atrocities that happened at the same time and all the years since then, and still continue at this time, and before all of the world. As we compare the Nazi and Marxist systems we have to wonder whether we chose the better ally back in the war days. Both were evil systems, we know, but we wonder whether Nazi influence on civilization would have been as degrading as Communism.

This long-time denunciation of Hitlerism has all the appearance of a smokescreen repeated over and over to divert public thought from Communist crime. Russia, the every day violator of human rights and freedom, the operator of a prison system which confines all behind iron curtain, which has murdered and persecuted millions of dissenters as criminals, is the worst offender at covering up present crimes by denouncing an old enemy. And the deplorable fact is that much of the world, including US, accepts its disinformation.

Man burned in truck rollover

A 37-year-old Gainesville man was seriously burned Friday evening when the gasoline tank truck he was driving was apparently run off the road by another truck. Gary Joe Conner was listed in stable condition Wednesday night in the burn unit at Dallas' Parkland Hospital after receiving gasoline burns on his back during the accident.

Conner, who was driving a gasoline truck for Red River Farm Co-op, was northbound on the west I-35 service road just north of Gainesville when the accident occurred at about 7:40 Friday evening. According to the report by the DPS trooper who investigated the wreck, an unknown vehicle was eastbound on FM 1202 and did not yield to Conner's truck at the intersection. When Conner swerved left to avoid a collision, the shifting of his load caused the tanker to turn over on its right side. The truck slid off the northwest corner of the intersection and came to rest, then caught on fire. The other vehicle did not stop. The officer said it could not be determined whether the other driver knew the accident occurred, and noted it was unlikely he could be identified from the scarce information available. The unknown vehicle was described by witnesses as a conventional cab truck with sleeper, and aluminum trailer — possibly a grain-type carrier — with amber lights down the side of the cab and trailer. During the crash, Conner was apparently thrown from the truck and crawled or was dragged farther away from the burning Please see WRECK, page 3

Cleanup readies town Muenster sparkles for Germanfest visitors

By B. J. Fenton

More than three and one-half tons of trash was cleared from the streets of Muenster Saturday in five hours.

Approximately 40 people joined in the volunteer efforts to clean up the town. Most of the volunteers were children, and most were from Cub Scout Pack 664.

Police Chief Helen Tompkins said, "There were lots of adults who helped last year. I was surprised that there were so few adults helping this year."

According to both Tompkins and City Administrator Joe Fenton, this year's efforts covered more ground and in less time than was covered last year. However, there were 120 bags of trash picked up Saturday and last year the figure was 158 bags.

Tompkins said this was due to the fact that last year was the first time the streets were cleaned. "We worked until dark last year. There were more adults helping then, but there was a lot more trash to pick up, too," Tompkins said. "It was solid beer bottles out north of town. We had 86 bags of bottles alone last year."

Tompkins wanted to remind citizens that there is a city ordinance which provides for a $113.50 fine if people are caught littering "glass containers." She said, "$100 of the fine goes to the city, $13 is court costs and 50 cents is state tax. And we will enforce the ordinance."

According to Fenton, Saturday's trash route covered approximately eight miles of roadway. The route extended from Country Korners on West Hwy. 82 to Ash Street. From Ash Street a square was made running from Ash to Eddy Street, from Eddy Street to Mesquite, and from Mesquite to Hwy. 373 North out to the triangular intersection joining up with Ash Street again.

Fenton said concentration was placed along streets where there were vacant lots and heavy traffic. Residential areas have been left to the residents.

According to Chief Tompkins, neither Ash or Eddy Streets were covered last year.

Both Tompkins and Fenton said the Scouts worked well and did a fine job. "Anyone can drive over the streets and tell where we've been," Tompkins said.

The only city employee to volunteer his time aside from Tompkins and Fenton was James Harrison. He and his wife, Gladys, helped pick up and bag the trash, which was left along the side of the road.

New to the town and to preparations for Germanfest, Fenton said he was impressed with the efforts put forth Saturday. He said the turnout and the effort was "indicative of the kind of community spirit that exists here. I'm just very pleased that we were able to do this," Fenton said.

Activities got underway at 9 a.m. as workers gathered in front of City Hall, were given their assigned areas, and started work. Work was going so well and moving so quickly that the hot dog party originally scheduled for 4 p.m. was moved up to 1 p.m.

Becky Fenton, coordinator for the picnic, was aided by Loretta Felderhoff in serving the food to the hungry workers.

Henry Weinzapfel, clean-up day coordinator, said, "I feel like Saturday's clean-up was just terrific. Joe and Helen and the Scouts did a great job. The only thing I might add is a reminder for merchants and residents to take a look at the curbs around their businesses and homes to see if they need some cleaning. Just remind everyone to take one quick look at their yards and curbs to see if they need any finishing touches."

Festive weather?

Germanfest fans are currently sweating out the weather. It was encouraging at midweek but showers are likely at the weekend the weather men are saying. Temperatures and moisture of the past week were recorded as follows by Steve Moster.

Blood drive set here May 8

Another blood drive for the Muenster Hospital District is due Wednesday May 8, according to an announcement this week by David Bright, community chairman and hospital administrator. As usual, it will be in the K of C hall from 2 to 7 p.m. under supervision of Bloodmobile nurses and technicians from the Red Cross Blood Center of Wichita Falls with assistance of personnel from the local hospital and hospital auxiliary. The goal's drive, again, will be 100 pints of blood, the quantity based on normal need between drives by local hospital patients and district residents receiving transfusions in other hospitals. Muenster Memorial participates in a blood bank program whereby each district at regular intervals provides blood for all districts of the center and draws on the center for its needs. It is a money saving arrangement in which the cost of a transfusion does not include a charge for the blood because it is donated. Rather the charge is limited to the cost of collection processing, packaging, storage and transportation. Efforts are under way to notify the community of the collection date.

clusive that the Reds today are determined to wipe out Afghanistan, murdering women and children in a horrible orgy of treachery and savagery. They have carried on the same uncivilized methods of wiping out entire nations of Asia. And their constant intrigue is making shambles of civilization in Africa.

The red method has been uniform in all of its destructive program. Regrettably, we have to admit that they have received a strong assist from many old world governments with extremes of wealth and poverty. The poor had miserable lives, exploited by colonialism or local barons. Marxist infiltrators had fertile fields for discontent and eager acceptance of their leadership in overthrowing the old ways.

It's a fact that the masses of Cuba and Nicaragua, for instance, had legitimate grievances, and widespread support of rebel leaders was understandable. US, too, was sympathetic. But the real color of the heroes became apparent after victory. They announced they were Marxist, joining the long list of Communist satellites and proceeding to establish their evil system. People who fought for freedom discovered that they were ruled by a worse tyrant than before.

This is the situation today in Nicaragua. Sandanistas are the forces who pretended to be freedom fighters in revolution to depose Somosa, and then turned on their own people and their pretended motive. Contras of today were those of the original conflict who retained the original identity of freedom fighters.

Relative to their conflict with the Sandanista traitors, Congress is debating whether to follow President Reagan's request of aid to the Contras. And the Congress as well as our public is divided on the issue. Ironically, our country, whose proud heritage includes our fight for freedom and independence, apparently is split on whether to favor freedom or misery to the patriots of Nicaragua. Our fervent hope is that in the end US will be true to the ideals which motivated our freedom fighters.

As for now it's interesting to note that the demonstrators and the Contras' foes in our media, obviously influenced by Red disinformation, are those howling the most about Nazi atrocities forty years ago. What can be the reason except to divert world thinking from the communist longer and more savage record of crime?

A timely thought in these matters is that next Wednesday, May 1 is Loyalty Day, reminding us of the bravery, sacrifice, and high principle associated with our country. It's also the occasion to appreciate our blessings and stand firmly behind our ideals — especially in support of other freedom fighters with the same dreams our forefathers had.

Old timers of this community can remember May Day as a religious feast honoring Mary, the mother of Jesus. Next, as if to flout their contempt of religion, Communists proclaimed May 1 as their May Day to glorify the greatness of their evil empire. And now patriotic Americans choose to disregard the Red motives and associate the day with ideals that are sacred to us. Let's hope it will become ever more sacred to us and more meaningful to the world's freedom fighters.

Why do we do it?

Once a year, this little town rolls out the mat and welcomes thousands of strangers inside its peaceful boundaries. Even though I've yet to experience a Germanfest, the trial of putting together a special edition already has me asking what hundreds of workers must ask themselves every year at about this time; that ageless, eternal, infernal question:

Why do we do it? Why would anyone voluntarily disrupt such a pleasant routine, take on such a seemingly impossible task?

The answers are as different as the people who are involved in this undertaking — and believe me, some of them are extremely different. But there's a community at work here, a thread that unites us all, a little spark we all share that goads us into putting on the ritz for our annual festival.

It's the same spark that drives kids in school to sign up for the class play, the drill team, the football squad, the band and the UIL debate contest all in one semester, while they're taking their first algebra class and going steady.

It's the spark that drives men to remodel their houses while they're working two jobs and coaching a little league team. It's the drive that prompts women to go back to work on their college degrees three months after the baby is born, while at the same time learning to needlepoint, refinishing furniture, teaching a Sunday School class and presiding over a sorority.

If you don't understand it by now, you never will. You might as well quit reading.

But odds are, most of the people working on Germanfest, if they have time to read this, will smile a knowing smile. They swore they weren't going to volunteer this year, and look at them: up to their elbows in organizing, cleaning up, painting up, nailing booths together, baking strudel, stuffing sausage, sorting entry forms or oiling bicycle chains.

We have to go for it; we just can't stand the thought of missing out on anything.

People around these parts have always been the industrious, hard-working sort. Germans are a stern, hard-muscled, penny-pinching people who revel in the discipline and toil of a difficult job. They're also known to appreciate a good party. The two things don't necessarily conflict.

What better thing to work hard on than the biggest party in this part of the country?

Ah, but it's not that, either. It's not even an exclusively German thing, much as we hate to admit it. It's hard to define, but it's all wrapped up in a love of people, of music and color and excitement — of life.

It's a human thing, and the people of Muenster do it because they enjoy it, and that's what they're here for.

Welcome, visitors. We hope that's what you're here for as well.

Loyalty Day: A good idea

The first of May is Loyalty Day and as such it is a day filled with activities designed to involve the community in an overt display of loyalty to flag and country. Therefore, every loyal citizen should eagerly participate in the festivities in an effort to make this Loyalty Day the best observance ever held.

Loyalty Day has become a tradition with the Veterans of Foreign Wars. With the passage of Public Law 85-529 on July 18, 1958, the V.F.W. won a long hard battle to have Loyalty Day approved by Congress. However, this day does not belong to the V.F.W. alone, it belongs to all Americans.

Most Americans have heard the quote "Ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country." This is a sound principle to live by in a country such as ours, where the government is elected by the people and where the public is expected to participate in the governing process.

In these times of global political turbulence, Americans should pause and ask themselves, "What have we done and what are we doing now to demonstrate to the world just how we feel about our country?" After all, ours is a country that has held high the beacon of liberty and asked nothing of the other nations except that they send to her, in the words of Emma Lazarus emblazoned on the Statue of Liberty, their "huddled masses yearning to breathe free." Ours is a country that has taken the abstract ideal of "Freedom and Justice for All"

and made it into a way of life. We must pledge ourselves to maintain a free society in which loyalty is always encouraged and respected. For, without loyalty the United States, the world's best hope for a future blest with freedom, cannot long survive. And, if we fail, the flame of freedom will diminish and fade forever. So, join in and become a part of the Loyalty Day Celebrations, let the world know that Americans are behind their country and that America because of this is still a strong vibrant nation.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, The citizens of this city are extremely proud of this Nation's more than 200 year Heritage of Freedom and are loyal to the ideals, traditions and institutions which have made our nation so great, and

WHEREAS, Their dedication to our way of life is indicative of a strong, continued desire to preserve the priceless American heritage, and

WHEREAS, They will be proud to stand up and publicly declare their determination toward actively and positively safeguarding our freedoms against any foreign or domestic enemies, now

THEREFORE, I Richard Grewing, Mayor of the City of Muenster, hereby call upon all my fellow citizens to take full advantage of the special occasion known as LOYALTY DAY, celebrated annually throughout the nation on the first day of May, as an incentive for every true American to reaffirm his and her love of Flag and Country, and I urge that all individuals, schools, churches, organizations, business establishments and homes within my official jurisdiction display proudly the Flag of the United States of America and participate in public patriotic Loyalty Day activities which are to be co-sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, and others, on LOYALTY DAY, May 1, 1985.

State Capitol Highlights

AUSTIN—Legislation that would triple tuition at state colleges and universities beginning this fall moved a step closer to becoming law last week.

The Senate Finance Committee voted 8 to 2 to send the bill, which would raise some $283 million to offset proposed cuts in college funding, to the full Senate for debate.

The measure, which has received the approval of the sponsor of a similar bill that already has passed the House, would increase tuition for Texas residents attending state universities from the current $4 per semester hour to $12 per semester hour beginning this fall.

Resident tuition would increase again to $16 in 1986, to $20 in 1987 and to $24 in 1988. Tuition for out-of-state and foreign students also would triple beginning this fall, rising from $40 to $120 per semester hour.

Non-resident tuition eventually would be set at 100 percent of the actual cost beginning in 1987. Law, medical, dental and veterinary students also would see dramatic increases in their tuition under the Senate bill.

Resident law students would see an immediate increase from $4 to $24 per semester hour this fall, with resident law school tuition hitting $60 per semester hour in 1988.

The non-resident law school rate would go up from $40 to $150 per hour.

Medical, dental and veterinary students would experience increases from the current $400 per year to as much as $6,400 per year by 1987.

Non-resident students in those programs would pay four times those rates.

Gov. Mark White, who originally said he opposed any resident tuition increases, last week said he would sign the bill if it passes in its present form. White said he has been assured the bill provides adequate funding for loans and scholarships to ensure low income and foreign students will not be priced out of getting an education in Texas.

Horse Racing

While the Finance Committee was hammering out its version of the tuition bill, another Senate committee was trying to revive a proposal to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse and dog racing in Texas.

The Senate Committee on Economic Development heard testimony in support of the betting bill, which already has suffered a resounding defeat in the Texas House.

However, Senate supporters of the measure are hoping favorable action in that body might encourage House members to reconsider their earlier vote.

The House voted down the betting bill mainly because of provisions that would have required minority participation in track ownership and that minority firms get a share of the contracts for track construction and other related contracts.

House minorities held out for that provision after sponsors of the measure failed to include a provision to earmark part of the betting proceeds for social programs.

However, they say they now are willing to give up that provision to get the bill passed.

The measure has gone to subcommittee for further study.

Water Package

Meanwhile, progress on a compromise version of the proposed statewide water package still remains stalled because of a dispute over provisions to protect coastal bays and estuaries.

Members of a House-Senate conference committee trying to resolve the differences between the two houses' versions of the bill have been unable to find any common ground on the bays and estuaries section.

House conferees are standing behind the position of upstream water users that large amounts of freshwater should not be allowed to flow into the bays and estuaries when it could be used to meet growing demands for residential and industrial water use.

Senate conferees, however, are backing the environmentalist position that the freshwater inflows to the bays is essential to maintain the productivity of marine life in coastal waters.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Giff Lewis met privately in an effort to work out a compromise on the issue.

The same issue was responsible for seeking the proposed water package in the 1983 legislative session.

Hance Rumors

Former Congressman Kent Hance attempted last week to quash rumors that he is planning a jump to the Republican Party.

Despite efforts of Texas GOP Chairman George Strake and U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, himself a former Boll Weevil Democrat turned Republican, to recruit Hance to the GOP, the Lubbock conservative said rumors of a party change are "wild speculation."

Hance said it is highly unlikely he would switch parties and that he has made no decision about running for office next year.

Texas Republicans would like to see Hance join their ranks and challenge Democrat Mark White for governor in 1986.

Man pleads, gets 30 years

Steve Wayne Usleton, 24, pleaded guilty Monday to the March 30 escape from the Cooke County Jail and to a charge of burglary. District Judge Larry B. Sullivan sentenced Usleton to 30 years in the Texas Department of Corrections for the burglary and a concurrent sentence of 10 years on the escape.

Usleton was one of two men to escape from the Cooke County Jail March 30, and also one of two men accused of the December 1983 burglary of the Whitesboro residence of Betty Baker.

The men were accused of stealing money and collector guns from Baker while holding her to the floor at gunpoint.

Several witnesses later identified Usleton as one of the men trying to sell the guns.

Following extradition from the state of California, and while awaiting trial in Cooke County, Usleton and Carl Houston Boggess escaped from the jail.

Usleton was apprehended the next day just outside Lindsay, Boggess remained at large until April 2.

In other action, Gilbert Wayne Parsons, 22, of Gainesville, pled guilty to possession of marihuana on October 9. He received a fine of $500 and one year probation.

Samuel Henderson, 40, of Gainesville, pled guilty to misdemeanor charges of criminal mischief in the September 19 diverting of public water. He was sentenced to one day in the County Jail, a fine of $250 and $79.30 restitution.

County, companies meet in secret

The latest in a series of discussions between Cooke County officials and the phone company — make that companies — ended Monday on a much sweeter note than either side had expected.

County Judge Jim Robertson, who closed the meeting with the explanation that it involved "pending litigation," said later that no legal action was being considered by the county against either Southwestern Bell or AT&T.

An ordering foulup by AT&T threw a monkey wrench into the installation of the county's new phone system earlier this month. Despite the delay, the equipment was installed on time and is now working properly, but some additional equipment that Southwestern Bell must put in was also not ordered, and as a result the county's phones are operating through a switchboard instead of through the automatic DID (direct inward dialing) switch which was part of the system.

It appears the switchboard will remain in place until sometime in September.

AT&T's error in order equipment apparently kept Southwestern Bell from ordering its part of the county's equipment on time.

"The DID (direct inward dialing) lines will be installed in September," Robertson said. "Had the order gone in when it was supposed to, the equipment would probably have been in early this summer. They (SW Bell) have to change some hardware in their office here to handle the system, I understand."

But Robertson said the problems between the two phone companies will be worked out among them, with the county sticking to its original price and order.

"AT&T will resolve the problems with Southwestern Bell regarding lines," he said. "Both companies agreed to do surveys to see how many lines we need."

"What could have been major problems turned out to be minor ones."

The county now has 26 phone lines, but the DID system should allow them to get by with fewer — thus lowering the monthly phone bill considerably. AT&T originally recommended 20 lines, but Robertson said after the survey he expects the county can get by with as few as 12 or 15.

"Right now, there's no problem," he said. "The phone system is operating the way it should. They're going to do the survey the first two weeks in May and see how many lines we really need."

Of course, the county is footing the bill for a switchboard operator now — an item that was not in the plans. Robertson said a three-day employee was simply boosted to five-day-a-week status to handle the extra load.

wreckage. It was not known whether someone rescued Conner from the truck or put out the flames on his back.

Cooke County EMS ambulance crews took Conner to Gainesville Memorial Hospital, then transferred him almost immediately to the burn unit at Parkland Friday night.

The Gainesville Fire Department responded by dispatching three trucks to the potentially disastrous accident. They found leaking gasoline on fire and a large amount of gasoline still in the tank, creating an imminent danger of explosion.

Nine paid firemen and nine volunteers who came to the scene used foam to extinguish the flames. They remained on the scene four hours until another tanker was able to remove the fuel from the wrecked truck.

Firemen estimate there were 1,200 gallons of gasoline in the truck.

Bike-a-thon to honor Keeling

Cooke County Friends of Kelly Keeling will be sponsoring a Bike-a-Thon on May 4th from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Gainesville.

All those wishing to ride in the Bike-a-Thon can get their pledge sheets from their schools or pick them up at area banks. Any wanting to help can do so by calling Patsy Henry at 668-8657, Peggy Voth at 665-6145 or Charlotte Sicking at 665-0273.

There will be many prizes provided by Cooke County businesses. These prizes will be announced later.

Proceeds from the event will go to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation to help find a cure for Cystic Fibrosis, the disease which claimed the life of the Gainesville 10-year-old on January 3 of this year.

Cystic Fibrosis is a fatal disease that affects over 30,000 children and young adults. It is a tragic disease that ravages through the lungs and digestive system, stealing away breath and eventually precious life. Kelly fought a 10-year battle and her friends want to carry on the fight to wipe out this disease.

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is a non-profit organization with 60 chapters and 100,000 volunteers across the country. It receives no government funds but depends on contributions to carry out programs of research, patient care and public education.

Clinical research has helped increase the life expectancy of CF kids. In 1955, when the Foundation was established, few children with CF lived beyond three years. Today, nearly half can expect to live to 21.

The theme from the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is "A child's tomorrow is just a breath away." Help the Cooke County Friends of Kelly Keeling continue her fight. A cure could be "just a breath away."

Grand jury hands down seven indictments

After reviewing 12 cases, seven indictments were handed down by the Cooke County Grand Jury on April 18.

Those indicted include Charles Edward Davidson, Teddy DeWayne Johnson, Jimmy Edward Meek, Joe Ray Miller, Randy Charles Rains and Michael Wayne Staten. Johnson was indicted on two counts. With the exception of Miller, of Whitesboro, all the indicted are from Gainesville.

Davidson is accused of the March 29 theft of a 1985 Yamaha three wheel motor vehicle valued at over $750 and belonging to Doyle Rogers.

Johnson faces two charges of aggravated assault reportedly occurring on April 7 and against peace officers J. D. Dutton and Ted Mordecai.

According to the indictment, Dutton was struck on the face by Johnson's hands, and Mordecai was struck on the abdomen and leg by Johnson's feet.

Meek is facing three counts: theft from a person, theft over $20,000, and robbery. The indictment states that on April 6, Meek struck Tommy Parkhill with his hands and fists and took from him a Rolex man's wrist watch and two gold and diamond rings valued at more than $20,000.

Miller faces charges of forgery on the March 21 writing of a $40 check in the name of Donna Helton.

Rains is accused of theft over $750. The indictment states that on March 29 Rains unlawfully took a 1985 Yamaha three wheel motor vehicle belonging to Doyle Rogers.

Sexual assault and incest charges have been brought against Staten.

TUEC purchases power

To fill gap created by delays at Comanche Peak plant

Texas Utilities Electric Co. has signed an agreement for purchase of 300,000 kilowatts of cogenerated power from Dow Chemical during the coming summer months.

The cogenerated electricity will come from a Dow facility near Freeport, Texas. It will be supplied from June through September to help customers of Texas Power & Light, Texas Electric Service Co. and Dallas Power & Light assure continued reliability of electric service.

The three companies are operating divisions of TUEC.

The contract calls for Dow to provide 300,000 kilowatts during peak-load periods and 200,000 kilowatts during some off-peak hours. Cogeneration is the simultaneous production of electricity with steam created in another industrial process.

TUEC announced previously that the company is purchasing 400,000 kilowatts of electricity from the Texas Municipal Power Pool and Lower Colorado River Authority during the summer months.

The additional power is being purchased because Unit 1 of the Comanche Peak nuclear plant will not be available during the summer. Without the unit, expected growth in customer demand for electricity would reduce TUEC's reserve generating capacity margin to 14.9 percent.

"That margin would be below what is generally considered adequate to maintain reliable service," said Harry Bomar, manager of the TP&L District Office at Gainesville. "The purchased-power agreements will bring our reserve margin to about 19.4 percent."

Muenster FHA represented

Representatives of the Muenster Future Homemakers of America chapter attended the 1985 state meeting of the Texas Association, Future Homemakers of America, along with the 7,000 members and advisors from Texas.

"FHA/HERO: Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow" is the theme of the 1985 meeting, which was held in the Albert Thomas Convention Center in Houston, April 12-13.

Attending from Muenster High School were Jana Hamilton, Jackie Farrell, Tracey Walterscheid, and Joni Sturm, local chapter advisor. This year commemorates the 40th birthday of an organization that has served over 7 million young people. Keynote speakers and presentations by Future Homemakers highlighted the two-day conference. Interest sessions on elderly, leadership skills, nutrition, self-improvement, and employability were held.

The business of the Texas Association was conducted during the House of Delegates session, Friday evening. Recognition of the proficiency-event participants and installation of the 1985-86 state officers was the highlight of the Saturday evening session. Those officers, elected by chapter participation throughout the state, were placed in office. The newly elected president received the gavel from Debra Allen, Abilene, outgoing president.

The Future Homemakers of America is an organization sponsored by Vocational Home Economics Education, Texas Education Agency, with Ms. Judith Hetherly, director, and Miss Sharon Reddell, state advisor.

Between sessions, the Muenster participants shopped at "The Park" downtown Houston Mall. They had their Saturday evening supper at the Hadley House which is a turn of the Century Victorian Home that is completely redecorated in the style of the late 1800s.

Candlelight Wedding

Valentine's Day in Las Vegas

The Candlelight Wedding Chapel in Las Vegas Nevada was the setting for the Valentine's Day wedding vows of Susan Lynn Winter and Larry Wayne Tidwell, both of Gainesville.

Rev. Noble G. Lavelle officiated for the 7 p.m. double ring ceremony attended by members of the immediate family.

For her wedding the bride chose a candlelight jacquard crepe-de-chine, tea length dress designed with a bias flounce that fell in soft cascades from the shoulder to the hem and encircled the hemline. A matching self-fabric belt was tied at one side. Cream pumps complimented her dress.

She wore cream pearl earrings and a matching pearl necklace, a gift of her co-workers.

In her hair she wore ivory silk flowers entwined with tiny heart-shaped ivory pearls and ivory ribbon streamers.

Her bridal bouquet was a silk colonial arrangement of pale pink carnations and rosebuds, burgundy roses and greenery entwined with burgundy ribbon, and small heart-shaped rhinestones, with ivory lace and ribbon streamers.

Attending her daughter as matron of honor was Nancy Winter who was attired in a burgundy tea-length dress designed with a jeweled V-neckline. She carried an ivory lace fan with greenery, baby's breath, silk burgundy and light pink roses entwined with burgundy ribbon bows and matching streamers.

Serving as best man was the groom's father, Billy F. Tidwell.

In addition to immediate family members who were guests of honor, were the bride's grandmother, the groom's grandmother and the groom's sister.

The groom is a graduate of Boyd High School and a 1981 graduate of Tarleton State University with a Bachelor's degree in Business and minor in Computer Science. He is district manager with Crutcher Resources Corporation in Gainesville.

The former Miss Winter is a 1976 graduate of New London Community High School of New London, Iowa. She has been employed in the Department of Adult Corrections and Child Care and at present is employed by T and L Shoes in Gainesville.

Since returning from their wedding trip in Las Vegas, the couple is at home in Gainesville.

Reception

A wedding reception honoring the newlyweds was hosted by the groom's family on Sunday, Feb. 24 for 35 guests, in Decatur.

The two tiered ivory butternut wedding cake was decorated with pastel peach and yellow roses, ivory doves and tiny gold wedding bells. The top keepsake layer held a miniature porcelain bridal couple.

The cake, placed on a pastel yellow and white keepsake cloth, was served with peach punch, coffee, peach and yellow mints and mixed nuts, by Mrs. Peggy Jernigan and Mrs. Cheryl Austin. The groom's chocolate, horseshoe shaped cake was served from a peach-covered table, with decorations of peach candles and peach silk flowers.

Gifts were opened and displayed by the couple. Gail Schuett, a friend, presided at the guest book and recorded gifts.

Among pre-nuptial courtesies for the couple was a surprise supper-shower hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Steve Stroud of Gainesville on Feb. 7.

Vocational needs stressed by Father Igor Koch

Relative to the annual Clergy Appreciation dinner sponsored by the District 47 Knights of Columbus, Father Igor Koch of Arlington stressed the Catholic need for more vocation.

The church faces a crisis, he said, in the changing attitude of parents who are not offering the traditional encouragement to sons and daughters showing an interest in the religious life. Rather they are inclined to point out the hard work and the absence of normal family life.

He further stated that youth is not essential to making a start, that seminaries now have many who formerly were in professions and trades, that the median age of priests now is 52 years. Also the diocese has one ordination booked this year and another 1987. The number is declining. Current estimate is that it will be down to 25000 in US in 20 years.

Father Koch himself is one of the late comers to the priesthood. Now in his late fifties, he was ordained in 1984. A native of Iowa and a Lutheran, he was converted at the age of 21. His activity included the florist business, extensive travel as a designer and representative of the industry, also participation in county, state and national politics. As a Knight of Columbus he held all local offices except chaplain. Father Koch is assistant pastor of St. Vincent de Paul Church of Arlington.

Special guests of the appreciation dinner were nuns of Muenster, Lindsay and Gainesville along with priests of the district except Fathers Denis of Muenster, Cletus of Lindsay and Nicholas of Gainesville.

Grand Knight Bob Knauf introduced Sisters Carmelita, Fidelis, Monica, Romana, Cecilia Marie and Cabrini, and Father Victor.

Past Grand Knight Buster Bezner introduced Father Gerald Conway of Valley View; Sisters Andrew, Rose, Ferdinand and Dorothy of Lindsay; and Sisters Dolores and Gabriel of St. Mary's School.

District Deputy Tony Lewis of Denton presented Fathers Mitchell and Medina and Deacon Larimore, all of Denton.

Grand Knight Knauf extended the council's thanks to persons who had a part in hosting the dinner. They were the Sacred Heart Choral Group; Knights and Ladies and daughters who prepared and served the food; and the Catholic Daughters who arranged the decorations featuring hurricane lamps surrounded by springtime silk flowers created by Mrs. Arnold Knabe.

The bride, presented at the altar by her father, wore a formal white wedding gown designed and created by the bride. The dress was made of bridal satin covered with chantilly lace and featured a sweetheart neckline encircled with venise lace. The fitted bodice was encrusted with sequins and tiny seed pearls. The puffed lace sleeves were gathered at the elbow and featured long fitted cuffs closed with pearl buttons, and a long row of matching pearl buttons closed the back of the bodice. The chantilly lace apron effect ruffled skirt was designed with multiple scallops rising at the instep gathered with large satin bows. The skirt, encircled with Venise lace, was trimmed with white bows and adorned with seed pearls. Beneath the apron were cascades of lace ruffles adorned with sequins and pearls sweeping into an aisle-wide cathedral length train.

Her fingertip length bridal veil was edged in Venise lace. The tiered veil was attached to a lace headpiece covered with bridal pearls. The entire bridal attire was designed and made by the bride.

She carried a cascade of pink and white roses surrounded by baby's breath with satin and lace streamers.

For "special sentiment", the bride carried a crystal rosary that belonged to her late grandmother, Mrs. John J. Hess, and a prayer book that the groom's mother carried in her wedding. For "something borrowed", the bride wore a gold cross necklace that belongs to her mother. She also wore pearl earrings which were a gift from her parents. All floral arrangements used in the wedding and at the reception were arranged by the bride.

Attendants

The attendants were attired in the bride's chosen colors of light pink and white. They wore pink satin off the shoulder gowns which featured a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and full skirts enhanced by five lace tiers. They wore flower wreaths in their hair and carried flower bouquets made by the bride.

Casey Metzler, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed similar to the bridesmaids with the multi-tiered lace dress being specially designed and made by the bride. David Metzler, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer and was attired in a tuxedo to match the groomsmen. Neices of the bride, Jennifer and Sherry Metzler presented scrolls to the guests.

Ushers were Lloyd Reiter, brother-in-law of the bride, Doug Hess, cousin of the bride, Dale Bezner, cousin of the groom, and Jeff Dieter. The groom escorted the mothers prior to the Mass.

Joel Metzler and Ronnie Dieter, cousins of the bride, were mass servers. Lector was Rudy Dieter, uncle of the bride.

In the special liturgy, the bride's aunts, Marcella and Ann Hess presented Offertory Gifts at the altar.

Reception

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Gainesville. The dinner was catered by the Colonial.

Lisa Hess and Beverly Neu, cousins of the bride, presided at the guest book.

Guest tables were decorated with ceramic doves and votive cup candle holders, mint dishes, and pink crepe paper carnations, all of which were made by the bride.

The three-tiered angel food wedding cake and horseshoe shaped chocolate groom's cake were made by Mrs. Della Voth of Lindsay. Cake servers and reception assistants were Sandra Hess, Julie and Janelle Fuhrmann, and Doris Voth.

Music for the dance was provided by the Johnny Reed Band.

After returning from a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will make their home in Sherman.

A family gathering followed in the Paul Fisher home, where the chicken dinner was prepared by David Fisher. A decorated christening cake, made by Betty Rose Walterscheid, was the table centerpiece.

Dennard baptism held in Sacred Heart

A trip to Washington, D.C. to attend the Cherry Blossom Festival and tour historic areas in and near the capitol was the special privilege of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wolf who were guests of their children and grandchildren recently, and traveled with James and Carolyn Wolf and Julia Klement.

They attended the Cherry Blossom Festival on Saturday when the trees were at their magnificent peak of bloom. Yellow and red tulips were blooming all over the city. The group also enjoyed seeing the Cherry Blossom Parade.

At the Vietnam Memorial they viewed the monument of names and found the name of Jimmy Ray Cain, brother of Mrs. James Wolf, who died during the Vietnam war.

Tours of many areas of Washington, D.C. included the Smithsonian Institute, the Space Museum, the National Gallery of Art, National Aquarium, Museum of American History, Crystal City, Lincoln Memorial, Vietnam Memorial, Washington Monument, Jefferson Memorial, Mount Vernon, the Lee Mansion, Arlington National Cemetery and the J.F.K. Grave Site, the White House, the Pentagon, and the Grant Memorial. The Wolfs attended Mass on Sunday morning at the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception and marveled at this most impressive building.

They also toured the restored Ford Theatre, the National Archives, Library of Congress and the National Botanical Gardens where the display of orchids was outstanding.

Bernard Wolfs visit D.C. historic areas

The baptism of Lyssa Jean Dennard was held in Sacred Heart Church of Muenster on Sunday, April 21, 1985 at 3 p.m. Lyssa Jean is the infant daughter of Ronnie and Doris Dennard of Burleson. She is also the granddaughter of Henry and Betty Felderhoff and the great-granddaughter of Mrs. Millie Fleitman, all of Muenster.

Father Victor Gillespie officiated for the sacrament and the baptismal sponsors were an uncle and an aunt, David and Barbie Felderhoff.

Lyssa wore a family keepsake christening gown made by her great-grandmother Fleitman 57 years ago for her own children and used by all of her grandchildren and now the great-grandchild.

Following the church service, the godparents hosted a hamburger supper at their home. A special, decorated christening cake was served for dessert.

Ruth Needham visits cousins

Mrs. Ruth Needham's guest during the weekend was her cousin, Mrs. Lois McMackin of Wichita Falls. On Saturday they visited old friends and a cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gay of Willis Point, who at present are residents of a Pilot Point Nursing Home.

The 350 mile-round trip was made more pleasurable by the wildflower vistas along the highway, especially of Bluebonnets and Indian Paint Brush.

Mrs. McMackin returned to Wichita Falls Sunday evening.

Muenster girls repeat as district champions

Muenster's girls won all three relays, Tammie Reiter swept the shot and the discus and Dana Dankesreiter won the 200-meter dash to give the Hornets a repeat district championship in track and field here Saturday.

Reiter's individual wins made her one of three girls in the district meet to win two events. Laurie Lewter of Era dominated the distance events, winning both the 3200 and the 1600-meter runs, and Valley View's Lori Donnelly was the top jumper with championships in both the long jump and the triple jump.

For Muenster, it was truly a team effort as relays were the key to the district championship.

Melody Klement, Rita Walterscheid, Judy Biffle and Meredith McDaniel combined on the 400-meter relay for the Hornets' first win of the day, running a 53.4. Valley View was second at 54.7 and Krum came in third at 56.8.

On the 800-meter relay, Muenster coach Charles Meurer used Rita, Judy, Melody and Dana Dankesreiter. They breezed past the field with a 1:54.73 with Valley View a distant second at 1:59 and Lindsay third in 2:01.

The final win of the day came on the 1600-meter relay as Rita, Melody, Dana and Meredith combined for a 4:28.29, ahead of Valley View and Gunter with times of 4:34 and 4:41, respectively.

In between, there was a lot of effort and excitement as the Hornets pulled away from Valley View for the girls' championship.

While Muenster compiled 168 points, the Lady Eagles came up with 112. Gunter, Era, Lindsay and Krum followed with 60, 57, 54 and 51 points.

Tonya Fisher was a two-event qualifier for Muenster, finishing second behind Era's Lewter in both the distance events. She ran a 13:22.19 in the 3200 meters and turned in a 6:02.81 in the metric mile.

Walterscheid, while running on all three relays, still found time to qualify for regionals in the discus, finishing second behind Reiter with a toss of 86 feet even.

Reiter's toss of 91 feet put her solidly in first place in the district, and she repeated the feat in the shot with a 32'7" effort — a good three feet better than runner-up Christie Privitt of Valley View, who notched a 29'6 1/4".

Dankesreiter, in addition to running on two of the relays, blazed to a 27.8 in the 200-meter dash to edge Valley View's Donnelly at 28.5. She was only a quarter-inch short of Donnelly in the long jump, as the Valley View girl jumped 16'1 1/4" to Dankesreiter's 16'1".

Judy Biffle earned points on two relays and finished second in the 100-yard dash to Krum's Kerry Chism. Chism ran a 13.24 while Biffle finished in 13.60, a mere hundredth of a second ahead of third-place runner Tonya Reed of Gunter.

The Muenster girls qualifying for the regional meet, which will be held May 3-4 at Kilgore College, included:

- Dankesreiter, in the 800 and 1600-meter relays, long jump and 200-meter dash;
- Reiter, in the shot and discus;
- Walterscheid, in the 400, 800 and 1600-meter relays and the discus;
- Biffle, in the 400 and 800-meter relays and the 100-yard dash;
- Klement, in the 400, 800 and 1600-meter relays;
- Fisher, in the 3200 and 1600-meter runs;
- McDaniel, in the 400 and

SPORTS

1600-meter relays.

Valley View's girls took second to Muenster in all three relays and had Donnelly's two individual firsts to help boost their point total, but the point spread was too much for them to overcome.

Gunter got a first from Kristie Banner in the 800 meters, and took third in the 1600-meter relay.

Era made an impressive showing with Lewter's two first-place finishes and another win by Kelly Yarbrough in the 110-meter hurdles, but lacked the depth needed to compile a lot of team points.

Lindsay's Jolanda Wimmer won the 400-meter dash by 36 hundredths of a second over Valley View's Paige Clark. It was the Knightettes' only top finish of the day.

Other wins in the district meet went to Krum's Kerry Chism in the 100-meter dash (13.24), and Collinsville's Lara Reed in the high jump (4'11").

Four to make trip to regional meet

Klement paces MHS boys

Distance runner Keith Klement carried Muenster's banner in the district track meet last weekend here, as he ruled in the 3200 and 1600-meter races.

Klement ran away from the pack in the 3200, clocking a 10:37.12. His closest competitor, Leroy Hermes of Lindsay, finished 25 seconds later at 11:02.88.

In the metric mile, Klement's advantage was nearly five seconds as he ran a 4:54.5. Prosper's Jesse Jones clocked a 4:59.3 for second.

Klement was one of three Muenster athletes who qualified for the regional meet. Rodney Hess was second in the shot with a toss of 47'9 1/4", finishing behind Era's Richard Zanchetta, who won both the shot (50'3 1/4") and the discus (127'3").

In the 800-meter run, Hornet John Anderle was second to Victor Schmidkofer of Lindsay to earn a regional berth. Anderle's time of 2:06.13 was just three-tenths of a second slower than Schmidkofer's 2:05.85.

Muenster officials learned this week that Ronnie Fisher, who finished third in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles, will get a shot at the regional meet due to an injury to the second-place runner.

Kenneth Luker of Gunter edged Fisher by a tenth of a second in that event after Fisher fell down just shy of the finish line and literally crawled across. An injury to Luker in workouts this week, however, will make it possible for Fisher to compete at regionals as the alternate.

Valley View's John Grussell was the individual high-point man Saturday, winning the 100 and 200-meter dashes and the long jump, and anchoring his team's winning 400-meter relay squad.

Grussell's Eagles won the meet, amassing 150 1/2 points to outdistance the second-place Era Hornets. The Eagles won both relays in addition to Grussell's individual events.

Era was not without heroes, as weight man Richard Zanchetta won both the shot and the discus, Mark Knabe won the pole vault and Kevin Ford won the high jump. The Hornets were second in the 400-meter relay and third in the 1600-meter relay.

Collinsville's James Ragsdale had a busy day as well, winning both the 110-meter high hurdles and the 300-meter intermediate hurdles and finishing second in the high jump.

Other individual winners were Victor Schmidkofer and Kenneth of Fuhrmann of Lindsay. Schmidkofer won the 800-meter run in 2:05.8, while Fuhrmann won the 400-meter dash by .06 seconds over Valley View's Michael Bridges, with a time of 53.18.

Lindsay took third in the meet with 90 1/4 points, while Muenster was fourth with 66 1/2.

Complete results of the meet looked like this:

Muenster spikers win meet

Bud Light of Muenster won first place in the men's division of a week-long volleyball tournament sponsored here last week by Tops & Teams Sporting Goods and Muenster Drilling.

The tournament wound up Saturday with consolation and championship finals at Sacred Heart gym.

The local men's team defeated Irick of Pilot Point in their opening round game and then won a bye into the final match Saturday, where they downed the Swatters of Thackerville for the tournament crown.

In the women's division, First Realty of Gainesville emerged as the champs with a finals win over Red River North of Thackerville. They had to win three matches to make the finals, as the women's division was more populous than the men's.

Consolation in the men's division went to IYFD of Lindsay, while Chandler's Custom Cabinets of Pilot Point took women's consolation honors.

Tee-shirts were awarded to the first and second-place winners in both divisions, and the consolation winners got trophies.

The next competition for area volleyball teams will begin May 6 in Whitesboro.

German-Texan connection sought

Heritage Society compiles directory

The German-Texan Heritage Society has announced as one of four Sesquicentennial projects the creation of a special "Registry of German-Texan Heritage."

Among the categories to be included are the old businesses founded by German-speaking immigrants before 1887 which are still in existence. To qualify, the businesses need not still be under the original owners; if only the building remains, that alone may be registered.

Stores, banks, newspapers, mills and other businesses are invited to submit a full resume of their history — including pictures, pamphlets, newspaper clippings, old advertising and other related information. The society will prepare a permanent file on each entry, and those qualifying will be listed, along with a historical sketch, in the 1986 Registry.

Churches and other buildings, organizations such as singing societies and shooting clubs, schools, farmsteads and ranches will also be registered. To qualify, these organizations or their buildings must be 100 years old by 1986, and must have been founded by German-speaking immigrants.

Three additional categories of German-Texan heritage will register cemeteries (public, church, and private), Fachwerk construction, and museums and historical societies. A special section of the Registry will list all markers, monuments and statues pertaining to German-Texan heritage, giving the full text of the marker and the exact location.

The public is invited to submit entries in all nine categories as soon as possible, giving as much information as possible — including the exact location, name and address of the owner, pastor or director. Entries should be sent to GTHS Registry, Box 35, Warda, TX 78960.

Founded in 1978, the German-Texan Historical Society is a non-profit organization devoted to building pride in the heritage of German Texans through historical research and cultural preservation. The society numbers around 1,000 members and is headquartered at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

LOUIS STEPHENSON
... first-year 'Fest coordinator ...

'85 'Fest is first to have coordinator

This year's Germanfest is the first to benefit from the services of a full-time coordinator.

Louis Stephenson, a retired Gainesville school teacher and administrator, had been active in the Muenster Chamber of Commerce for several years and was involved with Germanfest from its beginning. Last summer, the Chamber board of directors agreed to hire him to coordinate activities surrounding Germanfest.

The purpose of the plan was to allow the Chamber directors and members to carry on other duties, rather than being completely absorbed with Germanfest planning and staging for several months of each year.

Stephenson's hiring was one of several measures adopted by the Chamber board to give Germanfest a new look. They also voted to take the festival back to its original theme, sticking more closely to the area's German heritage, and shelved plans to build a permanent pavilion in the park.

Music, dancing to highlight '85 'Fest

Music and dancing have always been a big part of Germanfest, and this year's entertainment selection will be by far the biggest and best ever.

Musical groups involved in this year's Germanfest include Sonny and Norma, accordionists; Mike Otts, record-spinner who will provide music for a dances on Friday and Sunday nights; one-man band Billy Roy, an ever-popular 'Fest attraction; an authentic "Alp-horn" player from North Texas State; the big-band sounds of Carl Jones and his orchestra; the Blue Star Line Dancers from Garland; the Brave Combo; the Denison Cloggers and of course, Helga and the Bavarian Woodchoppers, without whom no Germanfest would be complete.

The addition of several musical acts to the already rich fare means music and dancing will be going on non-stop from opening to closing at the Germanfest park. Both the West Stage and the Pavilion will be the scene of activity, and mimes, clowns, puppets and magicians will entertain on stage and around the grounds throughout the festival. Johnny Brown, magician deluxe, has several shows scheduled on the West Stage.

Dances are set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. Friday's hoedown will be held in the pavilion with Mike Otts providing the music. Saturday, Helga and the Woodchoppers will pump out the live tunes for dancing in the pavilion, and Saturday Otts' sounds will again dominate the pavilion for a final dance to close down the festival.

Polka lessons will be both educational for those taking part and entertaining for those who watch. They are scheduled at 6 both Saturday and Sunday evenings, with Gina Walterscheid of Gina's Dance Studio in Muenster in charge of the instruction.

Gina's students will take the stage for a talent show Friday night from 6 to 8, giving the mostly-local audience a chance to see what they can do.

Booths offer variety

Germanfest will be a browser's paradise

Those browsing around at Germanfest can find an almost infinite variety of booths and concessions to provide everything from beer to strudel.

Thirty-three booths will be inside the grounds at this year's 'Fest, including 22 under the big tent and 11 others scattered throughout the park.

Some of the items for sale will be: beer, cotton candy, popcorn, soft drinks, funnel cakes, hamburgers, french fries, nachos, sausage, sandwiches, wine and cheese, pretzels, cakes, strudel, chicken, hot dogs, onion rings and other assorted sweets and German food.

Also on the menu, of course, will be non-edible fare such as ceramics, Germanfest souvenirs, paintings and other types of art, crafts and hand-blown glass.

In addition to the smorgasbord inside the gate at Germanfest, an Arts & Crafts Fair will be going on Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Main St. in downtown Muenster.

In only its second year, the fair promises all kinds of homemade crafts such as glassware, dolls, paintings, ceramics and, of course, food galore.

Muddy water loser

Special events to involve beef, brawn and babies

Among the special events going on at this year's Germanfest, a few are worth special notice:

Tug-of-War

A battle of strength in the finest German tradition will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday when the tug-of-war takes place in the south park area.

The entry fee is $50 per team. Men's teams have a 1,400-lb. weight limit with no limit on the number of men. Women's teams have no weight limit, but are limited to eight members. First and second-place teams in the men's divisions will get individual trophies, while only the winners in the women's division will receive individual trophies.

Registration begins at noon Sunday.

Herr and Fraulein contests

The Herr and Fraulein Germanfest contests will be of an entirely different nature, pitting, not strength against strength, but rosy dimple against toothless grin in a beautiful baby competition.

The girls contests will be held at 11 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday, with boys following at 1 p.m. both days. Prizes will be awarded and all entries will be showered with oohs and aahs.

Sausage, brisket cook-off

Still another feature of the 'Fest will be a sausage and brisket cook-off sponsored by the Miller Beer distributor in Denton for members of the North Texas Cook-off Association.

The cooking will get underway at 3 p.m. Sunday for the judges' benefit, with teams paying a $25 fee for the privilege. At 4 p.m. the fruits of the teams' labor will be auctioned off on the West Stage.

Germanfest will supply the German sausage for the cooks, ensuring it will be of the finest Muenster quality. The succulent offerings should bring top dollar at the 4 p.m. auction.

Eat, eat, eat

North Texas hills challenge bikers

More bikers than have ever ridden in the Germanfest Bicycle Rally had already entered the event by Tuesday prior to Germanfest.

According to rally organizer Monica Hess, about 530 advance registrations had been received Tuesday, meaning a lot of bikers will be on the roads in and around Muenster on Germanfest Saturday.

The event starts at 11 a.m. Saturday in front of the Knights of Columbus Hall on Third St., in the first block east of North Main. In its fourth running, it has already become a part of the Germanfest tradition and one of the favorite events of the three-day festival.

The rally began in 1982 as a project of the Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers Club. Former resident Milton Fette, along with Mike Pluto, another avid biker from Denton County, suggested a bicycle rally. They helped organize the first 1200-meter rally for the 1982 Germanfest.

Only 145 bikers entered, but the 63-mile route drew a lot of comment for its challenging hills and scenic beauty.

The next year, Stroh's Beer donated t-shirts and bikers caps and funded posters to help promote the rally. More than 460 bikers entered. Last year, the bikers enjoyed perfect weather and had their biggest success ever.

Saturday, the riders will leave the KC Hall at 11 and head out onto Main Street, where they will break up into three groups for those riding the 35, 65 and 100-kilometer courses. The 35K course is about 22 miles long, the 65K course is 40 miles long and the 100K follows a 63-mile course through the rolling hills.

The route follows the big loop from Muenster south on FM 373 to the intersection with FM 922, then west to Rosston and Forestburg and back north on 677 to Saint Jo. From there it goes on north toward the Red River on 2382, then loops back around on 373 into Muenster.

The 65K riders will go to Rosston and Forestburg, then cut back across on 1630 and return to Muenster from the south, while the 35K riders will simply go to the intersection with 922 east of Rosston, turn around and come back. Only the 100K bikers will make the complete circuit.

Pre-registration by mail ended Thursday. By Tuesday evening, 530 bikers had signed up — more than have taken part in any of the previous three events. Pre-registration was to be available Friday at the Germanfest grounds as well.

Late registration will be held at the KC Hall on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 10:30. The race starts at 11.

Bikers are encouraged to carry their own pumps, tubes, tools and water, and are urged to wear helmets. Continuous "sag wagon" service will be provided, manned by the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department, to aid bikers who break down and cannot continue, and four aid stations with water and fruit for weary riders are located along the route.

Bikers off to the races

The Cooke County EMS ambulance and the services of Muenster Memorial Hospital will be available in case of accident or injury.

Everyone who finishes the rally will receive a Metric Century Bicycle Rally certificate, a rally cap and two Germanfest ticket stubs, which are needed for entry into the Germanfest grounds and the party which will be held after the rally.

The party will start at noon after the rally, south of the Germanfest grounds across the creek. Free beer and soft drinks will be provided for those who finish the rally, and late arrivals needn't worry — there will be plenty left.

Proceeds from the rally enable the Bluebonnets to finance many worthwhile community projects for youth, families and senior citizens.

College booth previews Sesquicentennial idea

Cooke County College will offer its first preview of promotions planned for the Texas Sesquicentennial with its theme for the CCC booth at this year's Germanfest.

The booth will pay tribute to the spirit of Muenster's pioneer women in particular, and Texas' pioneer women in general.

In a series of photo posters that will be displayed in the booth, the spirit of hope, courage, determination, hard work, love and faith of these early women will be explored. CCC's booth, "Early Days in Muenster" with a pictorial history of the early town, won first place for best theme in last year's Germanfest.

A full slate of activities has been scheduled for the three-day 'Fest. CCC horticulture instructor Doug Robison and students will open the booth Friday evening beginning at 6 p.m. for an evening of information about gardening and landscaping. On display in the booth will be a collection of a variety of plants of interest in this area.

The CCC cosmetology department will offer free haircuts and answer questions about hair and skin care from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. Children's faces will be painted free by the CCC art department from 3 to 5 Saturday afternoon.

Saturday evening, the CCC photography department will take the spotlight, as instructor John Boykin and students will provide 4x5 color photos as mementos of the Germanfest to interested individuals or families. Boykin will also provide information and advice on the technical aspects of photography.

Sunday, beginning at noon, CCC paramedicine students will demonstrate their skills and provide information about careers in paramedicine.

Ex-students of the college are asked to make a special visit to CCC's booth to register and join the newly-formed Cooke County College Alumni Association. The booth will be in the main Pavilion.

Early celebration had military theme

Germanfest began with a bang

(Editor's note: Visitors may be interested to know the story of the origin of Germanfest. This story was gathered by Enterprise lifestyle editor Elfreda Fette for the 1983 Germanfest, with much of the information coming from older local residents who actually attended the original fests.)

Muenster's first big community party was celebrated in May 1899 in the old Muenster park, and it was attended by everyone in the new town.

Families came in wagons and on horseback from a wide rural area, and friends and relatives came from Lindsay and Gainesville, prepared to remain more than one day.

Known as "Maifest" (German for May Feast) between 1889 and 1899, it came to be referred to as "Schutzenfest" because the three-day party was planned and controlled by members of the Schutzen Verein, a social organization of marksmen — a "gun club" in modern terms.

It was the main social event of the year, marked by reunions, fellowship and camaraderie.

In its hey-day, the Schutzenfest was celebrated with gusto and a bent for hijinks. As generations passed and interests changed, the big event faded in observance and practice, but it retained its aura and appeal for the re-telling.

The Schutzenfest was a time for Muenster's first settlers to recall their love of military training, marching and discipline in their native Germany and the old army under Bismark. Only members of the Schutzen Verein participated in the contests, the marches, and the brass band, but the whole community and surrounding areas entered with enthusiasm into the spirit of the celebration.

"The Schutzenfest was a time for Muenster's first settlers to recall their love of military training, marching and discipline in their native Germany..."

For early settlers in Muenster, life was not easy. Money was tight, work was demanding and conveniences were sparse. Times for leisure were few and far between. Travel was slow and distances seemed greater than they really were.

People came to the celebration mostly in wagons or on horseback, but come they did — from all over the country — to share the fun and feast that the local townfolk had spent months preparing.

One of those who prepared was Joseph Markowitz, who, many months before the Schutzenfest, scouted the woods for a chunk of the toughest elm wood he could find.

From it, he carved an eagle. It was an ornate bird, having a wingspan of more than three feet, with a crown on its head, a sphere in one claw and a spear in the other claw. Markowitz was a master craftsman, with a shop on Main St. near the present location of Knabe Tire & Radiator.

He secured the bird atop a high pole, awaiting the opening of the festival, to become its focal point.

In the true German tradition, the celebration was preceded by a religious observance. Following Sunday afternoon vespers in church, there was an opening parade with military or martial overtones, pomp and ceremony — as elaborate as possible.

Led by the uniformed brass band, marching proudly down Main St., the marksmen of the Schutzen Verein in military formation carried the carved eagle. Going before them were four uniformed officers on horseback, with gold braid and shoulder epaulets, sabres at their sides and plumes on their hats.

At the park, the eagle was mounted on a 60-foot pole. On Monday, the marksmen returned with their families, all marching ceremoniously to the music of the band. The eagle was their target in a show of marksmanship to name the Schutzenkoenig, King of the Schutzenfest.

The contest was strictly disciplined and conducted according to established rules. Competition was keen — the honor was coveted because there were two prizes: the winner received $25 and got to name his Schutzenfest Queen, who reigned with him for two days.

Marksmen first took aim at the eagle's crown, then at the wing tips and then progressively chipping away until one of them succeeded in shooting the wooden bird from its perch. The contest usually took most of the day.

The winner was carried on the shoulders of his friends to the bar, where it was his duty to treat everyone and his privilege to name his Queen. They were they honored ones at the dancing that followed on both days. The Schutzenfest Queen and her ladies-in-waiting always wore white dresses, with silk red, white and blue banner and sash. The King was expected to wear a black silk top hat and black suit, along with a similar patriotic silk banner.

The celebration continued into the night and lanterns and kerosene torches were used for lighting. People came in wagons, with loose hay in the bed — some to be used for feeding the horses and some to be used to bed down the weary children as the parents drove home.

The second day of the festival, there was another contest. This time the target was a wooden star measuring four to six feet and mounted on the same 60-foot pole. The prize was a more modest $5, and this winner's queen was chosen by chance.

The third day of the festival, also in true German tradition, was clean-up day.

Generations ago, marksmanship competition and membership in a gun club faded from the observance. Now the fun-filled salute to the German heritage and hospitality attracts thousands of visitors who dance the polka, consume tons of sausage, strudel and cheeses, drink kegs of beer and enjoy a weekend in a town that has not lost sight of its roots.

Schutzenfest was the forerunner of today's Germanfest, but only in Gemutlichkeit — fellowship, good food and drink, music and dancing — are the two related.

Fun Run could be biggest ever

Runners split to complete two races

Organizers say "weather means everything..."

German Fun Run organizers had received about 2,500 entries by Tuesday, indicating that this year's race could be the largest ever.

That is, if Mother Nature smiles on North Texas Sunday.

"Weather means everything," race organizer Ronnie Hess said. "Some people are going to run no matter what, but a lot of people will wait until the day of the race to see what the weather's like. We usually get about 50 percent of our entries on race day."

That may not hold true this year, Hess said, since so many are pre-registering. He expects 3,000 to 3,500 will have pre-registered by the time race day rolls around Sunday.

Late registration will begin at 9 a.m. Sunday in the Sacred Heart gym and continue until 15 minutes before the starter's gun goes off at 2 p.m.

Hess said some excellent runners out of the Dallas/Fort Worth area are calling in and letting race officials know they are coming. Among those are last year's winners in the men's and women's divisions, Mary Schilly and Rusty Hageman, two-time winner Hector Ortiz of Fort Worth, Jeff Roth and Stan Vernon of Dallas. Roth is a strong entry in the 15K race, while Vernon is a top international-class runner expected to compete in the 5K race.

"It's coming along real well," Hess said Tuesday. "We should have some good runners out."

Trophies will be awarded to the top five finishers in each age group, men's and women's divisions, in the 15K run, and to the top five men and women in the 5K run regardless of age.

Entry fee is $8 for pre-registration and $10 on race day. The first 4,500 runners who register will receive tank tops and badges to get them into the beer garden, and all runners will get two Germanfest tickets and a pass to get into the post-race Anniversary Party.

More than 200 volunteers are expected to help stage the race, which is sponsored by the Knights of Columbus.

Police Chief Helen Tompkins, ready for security patrol

Alcohol, fisticuffs main problems

Security beefed up for 'Fest

By B. J. Fenton

Over 500 man-hours, four separate agencies of up to 30 men and women, and approximately $3,500 will go into security for the three days of Germanfest '85, according to Police Chief Helen Tompkins and Germanfest Coordinator Louis Stephenson.

Stephenson said that while the four agencies will be working in unison, each will be specialized in its security function. Constant radio contact will be maintained between all of the agencies and selected 'Fest officials.

Chief Tompkins will head security for the area outside the park gates.

"Both of my regular officers (David Boyd and Robert Stovall) have volunteered to pull double shifts for the weekend," Tompkins said. "In addition, I've hired two county officers and one former police officer to help. I'll handle it (town security) pretty much like I have in the past."

According to Tompkins, there will be three cars with two officers each on patrol at all times during the weekend's activities. One car will patrol residential areas, one will patrol businesses and one will help with traffic.

"We will be patrolling the entire town. If we are needed inside (on the festival grounds), we will go in," Tompkins said. "We will also be available to escort any and all persons to the bank to make deposits."

Tompkins has arranged to have one dispatcher on duty at City Hall starting from about 10 a.m. "until the tanks are cleared at one, two or whatever hour in the morning," Tompkins said. "Anyone in the community who needs an officer should call City Hall during those hours." The number to call is 759-2236.

Tompkins said the most common infringement of the law during 'Fest time is intoxication and fisticuffs. In the five years that Tompkins has been in Muenster she said there has been no notable increase in crime directly related to Germanfest activities.

"The crime rate during Germanfest is about normal or maybe even less as it is the rest of the time," Tompkins said. "In the last five years no buildings have been burglarized; only three cars have been burglarized in the last five years; and only three automobile accidents have occurred which have been related to Germanfest. One of the accidents was serious. The other accidents were minor."

Stephenson said inside security (on the grounds of the festival) will be handled by reserve officers with the Cooke County Sheriff's Department. "There will be eight men inside the grounds and patrolling at all times," Stephenson said. "They will begin at approximately 6 p.m. Friday night and continue until midnight. Saturday morning they will begin at 12 p.m. through 1 a.m. Sunday.

Germanfest security a cooperative effort

They will begin again Sunday at 12 p.m. and stay on duty until 11 p.m.”
BJR Security out of Gainesville will handle night security for the festival grounds after closing. “Two uniformed patrolmen will be on the grounds from closing until opening each night,” Stephenson said.

In addition, both Chief Tompkins and Stephenson noted that the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission will have from five to 15 officers patrolling the festival grounds at “any given time.”

“Any adult found making alcoholic beverages available to a minor will be facing an automatic $100 ticket and is guaranteed to spend some time behind bars,” Tompkins said. “Anyone suspected will be taken directly to Cooke

County Jail.”
While there is concern over some looseness in the observance of liquor laws in past years, officials say there is a new man at the helm of the Commission this year who intends to separate the minors and the alcohol.

ATV races to attract pro riders

Germanfest Sunday, those not inclined toward running sports can find an outlet for their enthusiasm at the Germanfest Weekend ATV races.
The races, for motorcycles and all-terrain vehicles (ATV's), will begin at 1 p.m. Sunday on a track just north of Glenn's Paint & Body shop on North Mesquite, on the east side of Muenster.

Admission to the event is $5 for adults, $3 for youngsters ages six to 12 and free for those under six and over 60.
Glenn Hess, himself a professional three-wheeler rider in the 200cc class, said a purse of $1,000 has been put together to draw some of the top pro racers from this area to Muenster in what he hopes will become another Germanfest tradition.

Races for ATV's will be held in eight different divisions, including a Youth-Stock division with two categories: for riders 11 and under on bikes up to 70cc's; and for riders 15 and under on bikes up to 200cc's; an Amateur-Stock division with categories for bikes under and over 200cc's; an Amateur-Modified division with races for bikes under and over 200cc's; and a semi-pro division, also broken into two categories for bikes under and over 200cc's.

There will also be races for super-stock Odysseys, stock and modified four-wheelers, and motorcycles in three divisions: youths 12 years and under on bikes up to 75cc's; and amateurs on bikes under and over 200cc's.

Pre-entry fees are $10 for amateurs and $15 for semi-professionals. Entry fees on race day will be $5 higher in both categories.

Stands and concessions will be set up at the location, and Hess has constructed a track to challenge all types of vehicles.

Notice!

There will be no can-recycling conducted east of the Community Center on Saturday, April 27 to avoid conflict with Germanfest. The regular schedule will be resumed on Saturday May 4.

Members of the senior team are Darren Cheaney, Mike Armstrong, Deano Bayer, Bobby Don Thornhill and Alternate Darwin Sicking. SENIOR SPOTLIGHTS

Chris Dangelmayr, 17, of Route 2, is the son of Patsy and Paul Dangelmayr.

He has lived on a farm all of his life, and has moved only once about six years ago. It wasn't much of a move though, "It was only about 50 yards out of one house and into the other," Chris said.

During his senior year, Chris participated in All District basketball as a guard. In track, he was a state qualifier in the two-mile, one-mile and mile relay.

Chris said he has learned a lot of important lessons in school but the most important is that, "You almost have to be friends with everybody to get along." A lesson he says he will carry over into life.

The funniest thing Chris says he will remember about school is, "We only won one basketball game my senior year."

While Chris likes farm life and helping his father with some 400 hogs, he is considering going into a technical field after graduation from Sacred Heart.

"I'm thinking about going to Waco to Texas State Technical Institute. That's where my brother went. He's a T.V. repairman for Curtis Mathes in Gainesville," Chris said.

Chris Dangelmayr

Donna Wolf, 18, is the daughter of Billy and Sharon Wolf.

Donna participated in volleyball for two years, FHA four years, band four years, and was nominated Most School Spirit and Chat-a-lots.

The best thing about MHS for Donna is that, "It was a fun time. You had to learn a lot of new things," she said. "I think the most important thing I've learned in school is how to be around people, doing things with different people and meeting new people."

For Donna, her senior year has been her best year in school. "I got to do more things than usual," she said.

After graduation Donna plans to attend Cooke County College before training to be a flight attendant with Delta Airlines.

Her future plans include marriage. "I like children and plan to have four. It doesn't matter whether they're boys or girls," she said.

Donna Wolf

Ronnie Fisher, 19, of Route 2, is the son of Pauline and Clyde Fisher.

Ronnie's favorite sport, and the one he participated in most at Muenster High School, is football. That participation includes All District and Most Valuable Defensive Player.

"I've learned a lot in the shop program that has helped me. It teaches a lot of patience," Ronnie said.

He is putting that patience to use as he completes his second rolltop desk. This one is a gift to his brother. "He let me stay in his house one summer," Ronnie said. "I guess you could say it's kind of a way to thank him."

Woodworking has become one of Ronnie's favorite pastimes. He said he has been working at the craft for five years and has made a lot of gifts for family and friends.

School holds a lot of good memories for Ronnie, and he can't single out one time over the others. "I'll think of all the fun times we have had over the years," Ronnie said.

After graduation, Ronnie plans to attend North Texas. He hasn't decided on a career but said "I think I will probably go into the beer business with my father and brothers."

Ronnie Fisher

Kimberly Mechelle Eldred, 18, of Route 2, is the daughter of Shirley and Clifford Truebenbach.

Kimberly participated in cheerleaders three years; was in Student Council two years; earned area honors in basketball; has been class treasurer for four years; has been a member of Spanish Club for two years, and is currently vice president of that group; has been a member of FHA four years; and was MHA Homecoming queen.

"I think I have learned something important in each area of school, in each class," Kimberly said. "But, maybe the most important thing I have learned is always to be myself, and never to try to put on an act for anyone."

Among her fondest memories of her high school days will be "...fun times cheerleading and in sports and at basketball games," Kimberly said.

After graduation Kimberly said she hopes to attend college and become a dental hygienist. "I have been accepted at and will probably attend Texas Womens University," Kimberly said.

Kimberly Eldred

Micheal Lee Hess, 18, of Route 1, is the son of Arthur and Emma Lou Hess.

Micheal has participated in basketball from his freshman through part of his senior year and says it is his favorite sport.

Aside from his interest in basketball, Micheal said he likes to hunt and fish every chance he gets. Some of his favorite fishing holes are on the Red River and Lake Texoma.

During his years at Sacred Heart, Micheal says he believes the most important knowledge he has gained is that of economics. "A knowledge of economics will help me make decisions in the future, especially knowing about stocks and bonds and how they work," he said.

"Classmates, cousins and my friends are what I will remember most about school," Micheal said.

After graduation, Micheal plans to expand on a business he already has working at his home - welding. "I've been welding for four years. A year ago I bought my own welder. I've only done small jobs like barbecues, but this summer I have two barns to build. If the welding doesn't work, I always have the oil fields to go to," he said.

Micheal was raised with a knowledge of the oil fields. "Dad has his own drilling rig. I've worked in the fields for three years so I pretty well know what to do there," Micheal said.

Micheal Hess

Connie Bayer, 18, of Route 1, is the daughter of Regi and Patsy Bayer.

She has lived most of her life on a farm where wheat and cows are the mainstay.

Connie has been an officer in Sacred Heart Student Council since her freshman year. She has served as treasurer, secretary, second vice president and this year is president. As a senior she is also a member of the National Honor Society, Thespians, Drill Team and A honor roll.

"My highschool experiences have really helped me prepare for my life," Connie said. "I have learned to relate to people better, to talk to them and be more open."

The thing Connie said she will remember most about high school is her junior year. She said, "I had my first prom and got my senior ring my junior year. It is where I started becoming an adult."

After graduation, Connie plans to get married, take basic courses at Cooke County College while determining a career, and some day have two girls and two boys.

Connie Bayer

Tammy Grewing, 19, is the daughter of Linda and Anthony Grewing.

Tammy served as a lieutenant for Sacred Heart Drill Team her senior year, was a homecoming queen candidate, and served as president of the Mission Club.

She has been a member of Drill Team for four years. As a junior she served as second lieutenant and as a freshman and sophomore was named Tigerette of the Week.

During her sophomore and junior years she served as a Student Council representative.

Tammy says her favorite hobby is dating. Her second favorite hobby is working in the afternoons and evenings after school.

"Trying to get along with people," Tammy says, is one of the most important things she has learned in school. "I want everyone to like me. But I don't want people to run over me."

Tammy said, "Being with my friends is one of the things I will remember most about high school. After graduation, I'll go my way and they'll go their way. We probably won't see each other for a long time. That's why I'm getting to know my friends better each day."

Tammy's post graduation plans aren't definite. However, she says she will probably work for a year and then go to college.

Tammy Grewing

Jackie Farrell, of Route 1, Forestburg, is the daughter of Don and Judy Farrell.

Jackie has been an active participant in FHA, attending District convention in Dallas three years and state conventions in San Antonio and Houston, two years. Her senior year she has served as recreational director for the MHS chapter.

During her high school years, Jackie has been head majorette, one year; majorette state qualifier, one year; has earned many awards at both local and state twirling competition; UIL, four years; UIL regional qualifier in informative speaking, senior year; UIL one act play; VFW essay second place; 4-H county citizenship award; county 4-H Gold Star Girl award.

Jackie's other activities include basketball, track, Spanish club, the annual staff, and marching band. She also enjoys cooking, sewing crafts and community work.

"Being myself, being a good Christian and being helpful to others is the most important thing I think I have learned in school," Jackie said.

According to Jackie, her best school memories are those involved with FHA, UIL and twirling.

Jackie's summer plans include trip to Europe. "I do a lot of traveling. It's one of the things I like best to do," Jackie said.

When the travels have come to an end, Jackie hopes to obtain a degree in nursing from Kilgore before becoming a flight attendant for Delta Airlines.

Red River Rental expands ability to serve

THE AKINS FAMILY is building a reputation for quality and service at Red River Rental.

Inventory growing fast

In just seven months of doing business in Gainesville, Red River Rental has already established a reputation for selection, quality and service.

And on top of that, they're just good people to do business with.

John and Louise Akins and son Randy have expanded the inventory of the rental shop tremendously since they moved here last October. With a strong background in rentals and small-engine work, the Akins are providing a much-needed service to the people of this area.

"We've added many, many pieces of rental equipment," John says. "We buy top of the line products, so people know they get a good product when they come here, whether they're renting or buying. There's still many things we plan to purchase."

Red River Rentals has all kinds of equipment, but right now is the big season for gardening and yard-working equipment. Lawn mowers, edgers, trimmers and tillers have been the hottest items since the weather warmed up — both for rental and sale.

The shop deals in Snapper lawn mowers and tillers, Robin trimmers and brush cutters, Stihl and Sachs-Dolmar chain saws in both sales and rental.

Besides having good equipment to start with, the big plus at RRR is service.

"I believe the way to make it in business is to sell a good product and service what I sell," John says. "We don't charge high prices, but we get people who come back year after year because we don't try to get rich off one sale, and we can service what we sell."

John rebuilt, repaired and serviced small engines in his shop at El Reno, Oklahoma for more than 20 years — he even taught classes in small-engine repair at a local vocational school. He works on most major brands of small engines and keeps a good parts inventory.

Their oldest son, Randy, also works on engines and helps out with other things, and Louise keeps the books in order.

In addition to small-engine items such as lawn mowers, trimmers, tillers and chain saws, RRR has a wide and varied list of equipment available for rent to individuals and contractors for specialized uses. If you need a specialized tool, but can't justify buying it for limited use, chances are they'll have it at Red River Rental.

They rent:

- trenchers;
- a Kubota backhoe and front-end loader;
- electric jackhammers;
- high-pressure water strippers;
- three different types of concrete cutting saws, for all types of jobs;
- pumps of all sizes and types, such as sump and trash pumps;
- soil compaction equipment;
- floor and carpet cleaning equipment;
- carpet laying equipment;
- moving equipment such as piano and appliance dollies and hand-trucks;
- several sizes of generators;
- plumping equipment;
- all types of concrete tools, from small hand tools all the way up to power trowels;

— a huge assortment of hand tools like sanders, grinders, polishers and specialized tools;

— many specialized automotive repair tools such as transmission jacks, etc.;

— much, much more.

"We're planning to make a complete list and send it out to contractors in the area," John says. "A lot of them are already using our equipment regularly."

Red River Rental also recently added an extremely high-quality modern wood-burning stove to its selection as well. And don't forget that they rent Ryder trucks for large or small moving do-it-yourself moving jobs.

"It takes years to build up the kind of inventory you want in a rental business," John says. "We've added a lot of items, though, and there are still a lot of things we plan to purchase."

So, before you buy a tool or a piece of equipment you may only need once, check with Red River Rental. You can be sure the equipment you rent will be in good working order, and the rates are extremely reasonable.

As more and more people are learning, whether you're looking to rent or buy, Red River Rental is the first place you should stop.

County Agent's Report

Spring is the time when many homeowners discover they have termites because winged forms appear and swarm.

Winged termites outdoors are a natural occurrence, so usually there is no problem. But if they are found indoors, usually on a window sill, chances are good that an infestation has established in your home.

Termites can cause extensive damage to wooden parts of your home, so take some precautions. Quite often termites and certain ants swarm at the same time and it's important to be able to tell the difference between these two insects. Carpenter ants swarm in the springtime and can cause some structural damage to wood. However, termites are much more destructive and require different control measures.

Termites have a broad waist — ants have a narrow, constricted waist; termite wings are the same size and shape — winged ants have a front and back pair of wings of different lengths and shape; termites have straight antennae (feelers on their heads) — ants have elbowed antennae.

Termites may be attracted to your house by dead tree limbs, stumps, old lumber and other sources of termite food. These should be removed. If soil is above the point where wood or brick meets the foundation, termites have easy access to your home. Anywhere that wood meets dirt (siding, wooden steps) is a potential spot for termite entry into the home.

Termites also have the ability to build mud tunnels over non-wooden structures to reach a food source. These tunnels (about 1/4-inch wide) may extend several feet up concrete surfaces. On a slab home, these may be seen on foundation concrete between soil and brick. On homes built above the ground, these tunnels can be found on piers or pipes that go from soil to structure. The bait trap in homes built on a slab is another source of entry. Plumbing in this situation has contact with soil under the slab, and termite tunnels may be found in this area.

Although a thorough inspection is best done by a professional, a homeowner can make a quick check for termite infestations. If termites or damage is found, contact a local pest control company. This is one insect pest that should not be handled by a "do-it-yourselfer." Commercial pest control companies have the necessary equipment and experience to effectively rid a home of termites.

This illustration helps show the differences between ants and termites.

Legumes

Soil building forage

Legumes for grazing are becoming more popular in the Upper Elm Red Soil and Water Conservation District, according to Ray Svacina, District Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) at Gainesville. For highest net returns from grazing legumes, natural reseeding should be encouraged.

"With proper grazing this spring, most legumes will make a seed crop that will sprout again next fall," Svacina said. "This will save the time and expense of reseeding, and often results in better stands."

Svacina said that rest from grazing during the time of seed development is usually the key to a good seed crop. The exact time to rest varies with type of legume, weather conditions, and past grazing use. A good rule of thumb is to remove stock when heavy flowering starts, and keep them off until seed is mature.

"For example," Svacina explained, "crimson clover is among the earliest of the legumes to form seed. To permit a good seed crop to make, stock should be removed from crimson clover for about a month, normally beginning about mid-April."

"The rest period for crimson clover may be later this year because cold weather slowed plant development. In mind winters, the rest period may need to be two to three weeks earlier. You have to watch the progress of the clover and adjust rest periods accordingly."

Peak seed forming period for vetch and singletary peas is usually about May 1 to June 15, according to The Conservationist. Therefore, rest periods should normally be started in May to improve seed productions.

Arrowleaf clover is the latest seed developer among commonly grown legumes, and dates will vary according to the variety grown. The popular yuchi variety usually develops most seed in June. The meechee variety is two to three weeks later, and the amclo variety about two weeks earlier than yuchi.

Some legumes, such as white clover and arrowleaf clover, are able to make some seed even though grazed rather short. Nevertheless, all of them will make a better seed crop if allowed to rest a the proper time. And many types, such as crimson clover, will not maintain a stand unless the rest periods are followed.

After the rest period, grazing may be resumed, or the legume and grass cut for hay. Either way, many ripened seed fall to the ground to sprout later.

"If possible, a producer should grow more than one kind of legume," Svacina explained.

Add up what a 9-month John Deere finance charge waiver means to you

Are most advertised "low-rate" finance offers the big deals they're made out to be? Not compared to John Deere's 9-month finance charge waiver on new tractors, 40- to 300-hp.* As the chart shows, the John Deere 9-month waiver is more attractive than most of the low-rate offers you've read about. And, as you can see, paying off the John Deere contract early could result in an effective rate as low as 3.38%.

Don't be misled — compare real finance charges

Actual rates and finance charges will vary depending on payment schedules and rate changes on variable-rate JDFP contracts.

And the John Deere Finance Plan also includes physical damage insurance and, for qualified individuals, credit life insurance. All that on a tractor with proven high trade-in value. A John Deere tractor with a warranty backed by a solidly established manufacturer. A John Deere tractor we'll treat like our own when it comes to supplying parts and giving shop service. Added together, the 9-month finance charge waiver and the John Deere tractor deliver more real value to you.

Children celebrate baptism anniversary

On April 18, the children of the kindergarten class of Sacred Heart School participated in the celebration of the Mass to honor the anniversary of their baptism. The event took place in the Convent chapel with Father Victor Gillespie as the Celebrant. Music was sung accoppello by the children. Gregory Flusche gave the first reading from St. Paul to the Romans. Michael Flusche read the responsorial Psalm, taken in part, from the 43rd Psalm. Prayers of the Faithful were given by the following children: Tanya Knauf, Bart Sicking, Greg Flusche, Tara Yosten, Becky Endres, Jacob Luke, Brad Schilling, Leslie Grewing, Joel Schilling, Jill Hess and Paul Swirczynski. During the ceremony the children renewed their baptismal promises, lead by Father Gillespie. The children also held symbolic paper candles during the ceremony. Gifts for the Eucharist were brought by Glen Dangelmayr, Jennifer Campbell, Corey Hess and James Felderhoff. At the conclusion of the Mass, the children stood in front of the altar, facing the congregation, to sing "This is My Little Light of Joy." Parents of the children were invited to attend. Ann Poole is the children's classroom teacher. She was aided by Michelle Knauf. Sister Cecilia Mare is the religion teacher for the children.

Rohmers go to celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Rohmer attended the First Communion celebration of their granddaughter, Jeanie Marie Mosman, daughter of Barbara and Jim Mosman, in St. Peter's Church of Lindsay on April 14 during the 10 a.m. Mass.

Also attending were Jeanie's great-grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Voth, and uncles and aunts and a cousin, David and Helen and Lorenda Whitecotton of Montague, Betty and Stephen Tyler of Plano and Carol Weatherread of Gainesville. David Whitecotton made pictures and Mrs. Rohmer recorded the event.

All gathered for dinner at the grandparents' home, where a decorated First Communion cake by a great-aunt Della Rose Voth, was the table centerpiece. After dinner, the tape recording was viewed and more pictures were made.
