The Russians give us a big pain with their announcement not to send athletes to the summer Olympics in California. Their excuse is the insulting charge that US cannot assure safety to their athletes.

The statement is absurd to anyone who has not learned that Reds need not fear terrorism because terrorists are so much under their control. Since so much of modern murder and destruction are traced to Moscow's KGB cut-throats and their underlings all over the globe, security looks like a simple matter to USSR subjects. A mere order not to harm their people is equivalent to protection no matter where the Reds are.

From the viewpoint of US athletes, the Russian pull-out is an unfortunate development. Our contenders, too, have ambitions of winning the highest honors and they specially relish the thought that victory is sweeter when Russia is among the losers. To win when Russians are not there is less gratifying.

Another thought is that Russians, as professionals, are cheaters in the first place. The nation's best among them are regularly selected and paid handsomely to train for the nation's team. Over here the opposite applies. Anyone who gets paid for training and playing loses his amateur status and eligibility for the Olympics. Here's a condition that baffles most Americans. Why does the professional status rule them out, but not the Soviets? How can the Olympic committee allow this double standard?

Of course it's possible that Moscow's Olympic pull-out is mostly a retaliation for America's withdrawal from the Russian show in 1980. But they don't seem to know or care that reasons this time are much different. President Carter proclaimed that occupation and atrocities by Russians in Afghanistan identified the Soviets as barbarians, unfit to participate with civilized people. The charge was completely true, more than ample justification for our action. But how about Russia's present attitude? It can't be more than a weak excuse based on absurd assumption.

At this writing, Olympic heads of this country are coaxing the Soviets to change their minds and get into our games. It makes us wonder what's being considered by way of pampering the pouters. One can reasonably assume that Reds now have an upper hand in the negotiation, and they expect concessions if they reverse the pull-out. They'll come back with some sort of advantage if they change their minds. Well, let's hope it will not go that way. After all, they don't qualify for the big contest anyway. And we don't relish the air of superiority usually flaunted by the Reds.

Local vote favors winners

A Democratic primary election campaign reached its climax Saturday in a strong voter turnout resulting in several close races, some of which will require run-offs on June 2. Muenster votes favored the winners.

Hottest of all was the contest to select the party's nominee for the U.S. Senate seat vacated by John Tower. There were six contenders, with three of them each receiving slightly more than 31 percent of the vote, and the top two heading for the June run-off. Those two are Hance and Doggett, Krueger failing by a slim margin and indicating he may seek a recount. Hance beat Doggett by 2869 votes and Krueger by 3042. In Muenster the counts were Hance 138, Krueger 86, Doggett 70; and in the county Hance 1553, Doggett 1439, Krueger 1317.

The run-off winner will face Phil Gramm, who won the Republican primary by a 73 percent landslide of 247,280 while Ron Paul received 55,771.

Another landslide winner was Charles Stenholm of U.S. District 63. The eventual reading in this race was Williamson 8,299, Worcester 7,788. The count in the county was Williamson 2250, Worcester 1932; and in Muenster Williamson 192, Worcester 102.

Of other contested races Eddy Henry and John Aston were front runners for sheriff while John Wilson and J.C. Bullard also ran. The end result was that Aston beat the trio 2609 to 2519 narrowly escaping a run-off. Henry received 2069, the count in Muenster was Aston 261, Henry 109, Wilson 15, Bullard 3.

The contest for Justice of Peace, Precinct was more decisive than expected, Freeman leading Province 2871 to 402 in the county and 259-32 at Muenster.

In another one-sided contest Crawford beat Doty 1946 to 1189 in the county and 197 to 73 in Muenster for the office of Constable, Precinct 1.

Some other results of Muenster voting were: Chief Justice Supreme Court; John Hill 361, Noel Dowling 19, State Senator, Dist. 30, Farabee 259, Judge Dist. 235, Sullivant 311, Dist. Attorney, Adams 293, County Attorney, Schiller 270, Tax Assessor-Collector, Zwinggi 343, Commissioner Precinct 3, Jerry Lewis 59, County Democratic chairman, Woodlock 246, Democratic Precinct Chm. No. 17, Janet Fisher 61, Democratic Precinct Chm. No. 18, Christi Klement 284.

Muenster cast 390 votes, 316 in Precinct 18, 74 in Precinct 17.

A decision not determined by the election was Mondale's win over Hart and Jackson for the party's presidential nomination. In caucuses he advanced a step farther in the Democratic race with strong possibilities of assuring the nomination before the party convention.

Stenholm heads conservation banquet

Soil Conservation champions of 1983 along with all conservation farmers of the Upper Elm-Red District were praised Saturday night by Congressman Stenholm as the people who, more than any others, are right in the U.S. agricultural program. They serve as efficient producers and as good stewards of the land that has been entrusted to them by God.

He was more critical of the farm program on the government level, saying it must be revised to help farmers but avoid waste. An issue mentioned was the "sodbusters bill," the purpose of which is to limit the government assistance authorized for land improvement. Anyone who fails to improve adequately with the initial allowance is removed from the taxpayer assistance roll and left to operate on his own. Stenholm added the proposal involves problems and constituents are invited to send their opinions.

Regarding the much discussed deficit problem, Stenholm said it's a result of living beyond our means, just like in private life. The preferred solution, he added, is to reduce expenditure while increasing tax, to work on the debt at both ends, and above all to quit helping countries that are hostile to us or default on payments leaving us tax payers to pay their bill, even sometimes failing to pay but selling to other countries at a fat profit.

The conservation part of the program was different this year. Instead of individual presentation with narratives of each champ's soil stewardship achievements, followed by award presentation, the separate stories were combined into a composite district story, Pat Bolin synchronizing his narrative with the color slide projections.

After that awards were presented to the five zone winners, the Clear Creek Watershed Authority, and the essay contest winner by sponsors of their respective zones. The champ farmers are H.A. Richardson Jr., Zone 1; Sammie Poe, Zone 2; Joe B. Hundt and Mrs. Gregory Hundt, Zone 3; Virgil Welch, Zone 4; H.H. "Rusty" Gray, Zone 5. The essay award winner was Vicky Thurman of Lindsay, who received a cash award. Others received the traditional hand carved wooden plaques. Other awards were a year of membership in the Soil Conservation Society of America, given by J.M. Weinzapfel.

Gene Davenport of Cooke County Electric Co-op was master of ceremonies; Pat Bolin of Radio KGAF was narrator; Clyde Hale, chairman of the Elm-Red District, made opening remarks; Gene Glasser of Gainesville's Hillcrest Church of Christ gave the invocation; the CCC girls choir accompanied by Glen Wilson of Gainesville High presented dinner music.

The banquet was the thirty fifth given to honor conservation farmers of the district to encourage conservation and modern farming practice.

Andy Schoech dies of coronary

Funeral service for Andrew Schoech, 69, a lifelong resident of the community, was held Wednesday May 9 at 10 a.m. in Sacred Heart Church with his son, Father Frown Schoech of Subiaco Abbey, Ark., officiating at a Mass of Christian Burial and Abbot Raphael Di Silva and Fathers Nicholas Fuhrmann, Cletus Post, Harry Fisher, Victor Gillespie, Denis Soerries and Jerome Kodell concelebrating.

Others participating in the ceremony were the Sacred Heart Choral Group and Sister Carmelita narrating on the presentation of mementos of Andy's life.

Father Victor in his funeral homily referred to the shock of sudden death with the added pain it causes, but continued it is a mystery which becomes peacefully acceptable through the goodness of God. Father Victor said that Andy lives on in the hands of God after having spent a lifetime near God.

Abbot Raphael was another participant in the service. He voiced the praises of Andy's friends at Subiaco then led in the prayers preceding departure to the cemetery.

Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery directed by McCoy Funeral Home with grandsons Melvin Jr., Arnold, Aaron and Ricky Schoech along with nephews Julian Walterscheid and Dale Felderhoff as pallbearers.

76 units given in blood drive

Though falling short of its 100 unit quota by 24, last Thursday's semi-annual collection by the Red River Regional Blood Center of Wichita Falls was adequate and gratifying. David Bright, chairman of the drive said that the Red Cross personnel were highly pleased.

The collection total was 76 pints, and the total number reporting was 83. Five could not be accepted because of physical condition or history and two arrived too late.

Included were five gallon donors, Peggy Walterscheid and Frances Bayer completed their third gallons, Victor Rohmer and Roy Fleitman completed two gallons each and Adeline Sicking completed her first gallon.

As customary, the bloodmobile used in the collection was set up in the K of C hall from 2 to 7 p.m.

and local personnel helped technicians of the blood center. They were R.N.'s Lillian Appel, Aileen Cler and Pauline Stelzer; technicians Herman and Gwen Carroll and Bob LaCoe, and nurse aides Shirley Endres and Florence Fisher.

Also helping were Hospital Auxiliary members Margie Starke, Janet Hess, Frances Bayer, Mary Lee Hennigan, Kathy Berres and Juanita Bright.

US more concerned than Europe about communism

Europeans, with communists as neighbors, are less concerned about communism than Americans are, and Russia fears us Americans. Those were opinions passed on to the Muenster High American History class by a Swiss journalist visiting in the US.

Roman Berger of Tages Anzeiger, Zurich, Switzerland, whose assignment is to study American opinions about Europeans in general and about current European topics in particular, was told by the students that America worries about the Reds. His response, without reference to troubles in Cuba and Central America, was that Europe, though surrounded by Reds, is not worried. He added that Russia fears America, and all of Europe is concerned about large numbers of missiles deployed there with possibilities of massive destruction.

Burger also presented his questions to Mayor Ronnie Felderhoff, Superintendent Charles Coffey and Editor R.N. Fette, receiving practically the same opinions:

that Russia is not trusted and the Red conquest in Central America receives prior interest at this time. The man also inquired about American politics and the coming election.

From here Burger headed for Phoenix, Ariz., seeking opinions of Spanish Americans on activities and concerns in Europe.

These and other studies are intended to provide material for an article about American thought, especially how it concerns Europe and the global issue of communism.

Daniel 3: 24-27

They walked about in the flames, singing to God and blessing the Lord. In the fire Azariah stood up and prayed aloud:

"Blessed are you, and praiseworthy, O Lord, the God of our fathers, and glorious forever is your name. For you are just in all you have done; all your deeds are faultless, all your ways right, and all your judgments proper."

Grain looks great

Grain is looking great and in condition to mature to a nice crop, but it can be improved by moderate rainfall. The week's measure was only .02 but .98 inch on May 2 accounts for a full inch, and the total of '84 to date is 9.96 inches. The year is more than one third completed but has less than one-third of a year's normal rainfall.

Low and high readings of the week are recorded as follows by Steve Moster.

Liquid Prayer

WHAT MADE Jesus such a powerful world-changer? Most certainly one of the greatest qualities of our Lord was His intense compassion. The shortest verse in the New Testament is one of the most significant — "Jesus wept" (John 11:35). Here we have the shortest trademark of Christ's ministry in all of Scripture. The Savior was not afraid of tears. He wept when His close friend Lazarus died.

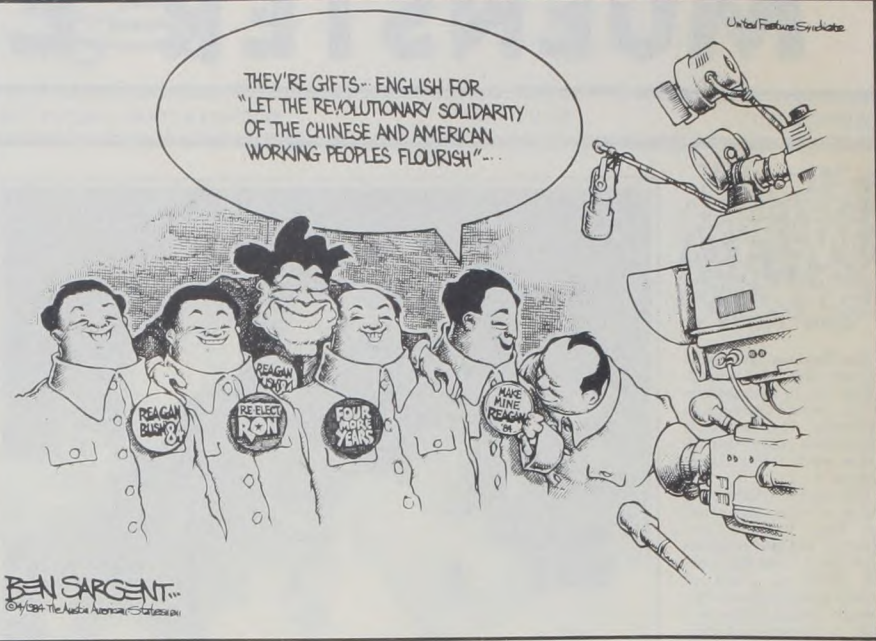

The Scriptures reveal that "In the days of His flesh, He offered up both prayers and supplications with loud crying and tears to the One able to save Him from death... And having been made perfect, He became to all who obey Him the source of eternal salvation" (Hebrews 5:7-9). In the Garden of Gethsemane, Jesus "being in agony...prayed more earnestly..." (Luke 22:14). It was from this garden of tears that Jesus went on to change the world through His death and resurrection.

Perhaps we Christians need a new exposure to this kind of praying that Charles Spurgeon so aptly labeled "liquid prayer." The psalmist said: "They that sow in tears shall reap in joy. He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him" (Psalm 126:5-6). "But tears seldom flow when I pray," someone is quick to confess. True, tears may not necessarily be the mark of genuine prayer, but there is a secret to having a broken spirit. It comes when we truly "identify" with someone else's need.

Identification is the key to compassion. Jesus was moved when He saw the multitude. He put Himself in their place. In fact, He literally did put Himself in their place when He died on their cross. No wonder Jesus wept! We will, too, when we see the world through the eyes of our loving Lord. Jesus set the example that we are to follow, that liquid prayer flows only from a heart of compassion.

John Tower Capitol Update

FARMERS ALWAYS have been the backbone of this nation. Today agriculture is vital to a healthy American economy as well as necessary for our sustenance.

Considering the difficult time our farmers and ranchers have been experiencing, it is more important than ever to reaffirm our commitment to a healthy agricultural industry. Farmers have met the adversities with courage and can be proud of their accomplishments.

Modern agriculture requires an understanding of a multitude of scientific skills, business principles and sophisticated techniques. American farmers and ranchers have built an industry in this country unsurpassed anywhere in the world. Meanwhile, productivity rates in other nations continue to decline.

American agriculture produces almost one-twelfth of the total output of the world's major agricultural commodities. We feed not only our own population but also much of the rest of the world.

Agriculture is this country's largest industry. It is estimated that 2.4 million farmers and ranchers across the country have assets of more than $1.1 trillion committed to agricultural production. More than one-fifth of the nation's total workforce — 23 million Americans — is employed in agricultural production.

As a Texan, I am proud of the vital role our state plays in this nation's agricultural industry. Texas is America's largest producer of beef, cotton, sorghum, sheep, goats, watermelons and pecans. It also ranks among the top ten states in the production of 16 of the nation's top 25 commodities, supplying 37 percent of the nation's cotton, 17 percent of the cattle on feed, 30 percent of its grain sorghum and 24 percent of its onions.

Texas is a unique agricultural state because of its many soil types, climatic conditions and available water levels found across the vast Lone Star state. Texas places second among states in diversity of agricultural products. We have significant production levels in 18 different crops, 16 major vegetables, all types of livestock and four major fruits.

The value of farm assets in Texas totals more than $62 billion. This amount is equal to about three-fourths of the total assets of all of the state's banks. In fact, every dollar in farm sales puts more than $3.40 into the Texas economy. The total estimated economic impact of agriculture and agribusiness on the Texas economy is about $3.4 billion a year.

But it is all Americans who have benefited from the talent and hard work of the American farmer and rancher. Because of them, we spend less of our income for food than people in almost any other country in the world. Americans now spend 14 percent for food — a decrease from 20 percent in 1960. Our farmers have teamed up with food processors and distributors to give American consumers a wider selection of fresh and packaged food than can be found anywhere else in the world.

So the next time your family sits down for dinner and thanks God for his blessing, also say a word of prayer for the American farmer.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,
After last year's 'Germanfest' and bicycle tour I promised myself to make a return visit. I have found from experience that sometimes a repeat event that is looked forward to for so long loses some of its fun and satisfaction the "second time around". Not so with your 'Germanfest', I enjoyed myself every bit as much on my second visit.

The bicycle tour was a challenging one, on good hilly roads with scenic countryside (even buffalo!) and adequate rest stops and emergency vehicles. On bicycle tours the "sag wagons" are of the utmost importance. They are emergency vehicles staffed with experienced people to help bikers who have mechanical trouble, or who have personal problems such as heat exhaustion, illness, thirst, fatigue or accident. Never have I seen such fine sag wagon coverage as on your ride! Thank God I had no need for their help, but their presence gave me and all the riders a feeling of security.

From my first contact with the helpful, friendly and happily registration ladies, to my last goodbye at the Fair, I once again was impressed with your ability to please a visitor with hospitality and fine food, well planned events, and the obvious "we care for you" attitude.

My wife didn't come, but as last year, she enjoyed the sausages and stroudel I brought home. I enjoyed your 'Germanfest' and once again am looking forward to next year in Muenster!

Very Truly Yours

"My name's Bob Welch. And I'm alcoholic. I used to think you had to be real old to be an alcoholic. It doesn't matter how young or old you are, or what shape you're in, alcoholism is a disease that can hit anyone who drinks. But at 23, I'm the one who got the disease. It could have killed me. I've learned how to live without alcohol, and I've learned how to live. Now I have something that nobody can ever take away. And that's my sobriety. If I stay away from alcohol, I'll win!"

Richard Viguerie Bay of Pigs, Part 2

THE KENNEDY Resolution repudiating U.S. support of the Nicaraguan freedom fighters may go down in history as "Bay of Pigs Part 2." And Senate Republican who abandoned the President will bear much of the responsibility.

In 1961, Cuban patriots backed by the United States invaded Cuba in an attempt to liberate that nation from communist tyranny. President John Kennedy, by refusing to provide adequate air support for the Bay of Pigs invasion, doomed the invasion to failure. Kennedy was afraid that open U.S. support for the Free Cubans would hurt the United States' standing in "world opinion."

The failure to liberate Cuba in 1961 set the stage for the current conflict in Central America, in which the communist government of Nicaragua (with the aid of Cuba and the Soviet Union) attempts to overthrow neighboring democracies.

Today the junta that rules Nicaragua imports Soviet tanks, aircraft, guns and ammunition for use against Honduras, El Salvador, and other nations in the region. With U.S. help, courageous anti-communist forces in Nicaragua have been mining harbors to disrupt the importation of these instruments of death.

Then Senator Ted Kennedy introduced a resolution calling for the U.S. to cut off support for the harbor-mining project, and it passed.

It might be expected that partisan Democrats would oppose the Administration, but it is inexcusable for members of the President's own party to stab the freedom fighters in the back. The Kennedy Resolution was supported by the Senate Republican Leader, Howard Baker of Tennessee, and the Deputy Leader, Ted Stevens of Alaska. Only 11 Republicans and one Democrat (Senator Russell Long of Louisiana) opposed the resolution.

As usual, most Republican Senators caved in to the political establishment. But their failure to stand behind the President isn't just bad for the country. It's also politically bad judgment.

On the issue of Central America, Republicans should draw the line against the liberal Democrats. When liberal Democrats are soft on communism, Republicans should confront them at every opportunity and force them to go on the record with their views.

If, Heaven forbid, the communist junta in Nicaragua is successful in its effort to create a string of Soviet colonies throughout Latin America, let the blame fall on the liberal Democrats who opposed the President. When tens of millions of refugees cross the Rio Grande and start taking American jobs away — when the Panama Canal and the oil fields of Latin America fall into Soviet hands — when we face not one, but a dozen, Cubas — let the blame fall on those responsible.

Republicans have no reason to become accomplices to the murder of freedom in Latin America. But perhaps the Republican Party has been losing so long that it has forgotten how to join together and win. Perhaps the GOP is incapable of providing serious opposition to the Democratic Party.

On issue after issue, from crime to taxes, there are three competing policies in Washington: the Democrats' policy, the Republicans' policy, and the Presidents'. In most election contests, the only difference the average voter can see between a Republican candidate and a Democratic candidate is that each wants the other's job.

Republicans seem to have forgotten that the only time in a generation when the GOP took control of either house came in 1980, after Ronald Reagan stood on the Capitol steps with Republican candidates and asked voters to send him a Congress that would support his policies.

The Republican candidates spoke with one voice as they supported the Kemp-Roth tax cut, denounced the federal bureaucracy, and condemned the Carter Administration's weakness in the face of the Soviet threat. It was the GOP's unity behind conservative principles that convinced the American people that their votes could make a difference, that Republicans were actually capable of governing.

Today, despite the President's popularity and despite the rightness of his cause, Republicans are crawling over one another to disassociate themselves from his policies. The President could win re-election in a historic landslide, and it wouldn't help the Republican Party because people know the party does not stand behind its President.

Services preceding the funeral were a rosary Tuesday at 4 in the funeral home chapel and a wake service at 8 p.m.

Andy died about noon Monday, apparently of a heart attack, while repairing a fence on his farm a mile east of Muenster, the farm on which he was born. When last seen a few hours earlier he was in his normal good health.

Andy Schoech was born in Muenster on December 19, 1914, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius A. Schoech, early residents of the community. He was married to Mathilda Spaeth on Oct. 23, 1937 in Lindsay.

He was a retired farmer, also a carpenter involved in construction of church, school, business houses and many homes of the community. Also he was a member of the Muenster KC council, a eucharistic minister of Sacred Heart parish, a past member of the parish building committee, an honorary member of the Subiaco Alumni Association.

Survivors are his wife, Mathilda; two daughters, Marjorie Wall of Dallas and Karolyn Cooley of Irving; four sons, Father Frown, OSB of Subiaco, Ark., Melvin of Kingsville, Richard of Arlington and Glen of Irving; nine grandchildren; and six sisters, Marie Walterscheid, Eleanore Wiesman, Margaret Cler and Regina Wolf, all of Muenster; Harriet Yosten of Fort Worth and Pauline Ita of California.

MRS. GARY PORTER

Brenda Zimmerer became the bride of Gary Porter in a Catholic wedding ceremony and double ring vows on April 24.

Father Michael Duca officiated in St. Patrick's Church in Dallas at 7 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Zimmerer of Dallas. She is also the granddaughter of Mrs. J.J. Haverkamp of Muenster and Mrs. Lena Zimmerer of Lindsay.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Porter of Dallas.

Before an altar decorated with seasonal flowers and candles, the bride was presented by her father. She was wearing a white wedding gown of polyester organza designed with high lace neckline, an English net inset yoke accented with Schiffl lace and pearls. A ruffle of Chantilly lace defined the deep V yoke. Long, sheer bishop sleeves were caught to wide lace cuffs and a lace ruffle fell over her wrists. The full A line skirt was edged with layers of Chantilly lace ruffles cascading into a chapel length train.

A Chantilly lace bandeau accented with pearls held her tiered fingertip length illusion veil that was banded with matching lace.

She carried a bridal cascade of silk roses in white with shades of mauve and burgundy.

In keeping with tradition she wore a gold cross and chain that has been in her mother's family for five generations, worn also by her mother at her wedding. And she had a birthdate penny in her shoe.

The honor maids were burgundy and the bridesmaids wore mauve. Their polyester gowns were designed with spaghetti straps and pleated skirt. A lace peplum accented the waistline with a tie belt. Each wore a matching chiffon jacket with lace trim.

Their flowers were long stemmed roses to match their dresses.

David Poulston of Dallas, a friend of the groom was best man. Jeffrey Pollitt of Dallas, a friend, Alan Zimmerer, bride's brother of Denton, Mark Porter, groom's cousin of Little Rock, Ark. and Michael Porter, groom's brother of Austin were groomsmen.

Anthony Luke, uncle of the bride was organist, offering traditional wedding music, and Suzanne Richroath of Gainesville, a friend of the bride was vocalist.

Mothers of the couple lit two candles on the altar preceding the ceremony and the couple lit their Unity candle following the vows. Readings during the ceremony were given by the bride's father. The bride placed a floral tribute at the Blessed Virgin's statue while Suzanne Richroath sang "Mother, At Your Feet We're Kneeling."

Mother's Day observance approaches one century

Long before it was recorded in history, mothers day must have been felt in the heart of loving families without benefit of ceremonies, or direction or prescribed times, but only in deeply personal informal ways evoking treasured memories.

Many years ago in England, Mothering Sunday was observed in mid-Lent. Yugoslavs have long observed similar days.

The first known suggestion for a Mother's Day in this country was made by Julia Ward Howe, author of The Battle Hymn of the Republic, who chose June 2 as a day dedicated to peace. A Kentucky school teacher began conducting Mother's Day celebrations in 1887.

In 1907, Anna Jarvis began a lifetime of effort to establish the nationwide observance of this day. She selected the second Sunday of May and originated the custom of wearing carnations to honor mothers.

Mother's Day received national recognition in 1914, when Congress passed a joint resolution recommending observance by the legislative and executive departments of government. In 1915, by presidential proclamation, Mother's Day became a yearly national observance.

With these Photos From The Past, The Muenster Enterprise salutes all mothers, recalling in particular when these great-grandmothers were on the threshold of the earliest observances of Mother's Day.

Mrs. Anna Henscheid, mother of two sons, Rufus Henscheid and Ted Henscheid and four daughters Verena Metzler, Florence Kelly, Lu Rose Schumacher and the late Janie Grewing; also counts 19 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren in her family.

There are three daughters in the family of Mrs. Victoria Gremminger. They are Dolores Howell, and Marian Stebbins and the late Geneva Pagel. There are twelve grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

A TRIBUTE TO MOTHER ON HER DAY

THE MEANEST MOTHER -

I had the meanest mother in the world. While other kids ate candy for breakfast, I had to have cereal, eggs or toast.

When others had Cokes or candy for lunch, I had to eat a sandwich. As you can guess, my supper was different than the other kids' also.

But at least, I wasn't alone in my sufferings. My sister and two brothers had the same mean mother as I did.

My mother insisted upon knowing where we were at all times. You'd think we were on a chain gang. She had to know who our friends were and what we were doing. She insisted if we said we would be gone one hour that we were gone one hour or less — not an hour and one minute. I am nearly ashamed to admit it, but she actually struck us. Not once, but each time we did as we pleased. Can you imagine someone actually hitting a child just because he disobeyed? Now you can begin to see how mean she really was.

The worst is yet to come. We had to be in bed by nine each night and up early the next morning. We could not sleep till noon like our friends. So while they slept — my mother actually had the nerve to break the child labor law. She made us work. We had to wash dishes, make beds, learn to cook and all sorts of cruel things. I believe she laid awake at night thinking up mean things to do us.

She always insisted upon our telling the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth even if it killed us — and it nearly did.

By the time we were teenagers, she was much wiser and our life became even more unbearable. None of this tooting the horn of a car for us to come running. She embarrassed us to no end by making our dates and friends come to the door to get us. I forgot to mention, while my friends were dating at the mature age of 12 or 13, my old fashioned mother refused to let me date until the age of 15 or 16. Fifteen, that is, if you dated only to go to a school function. And that was maybe twice a year.

My mother was a complete failure as a mother. None of us has ever been arrested or beaten his mate. Each of my brothers served his time in the service of this country. And whom do we have to blame for the terrible way we turned out? You're right, our mean mother. Look at all the things we missed. We never got to march in protest parade, nor to take part in a riot, burn draft cards, and a million and one things that our friends did. She forced us to grow into God-fearing educated, honest adults.

Using this as a background, I am trying to raise my three children. I stand a little taller and I am filled with pride when my children call me mean.

Because, you see, I thank God He gave me the meanest mother in the whole world.

-Author Unknown.

Victor Hartmans have Yard of the Month

The Muenster Garden Club has announced the selection of the home of Victor and Margaret Hartman for "Yard of the Month" in May.

Selection was based particularly on the back yard where bluebonnets, irises and poppies are dominant. A fine spring garden added extra points. A huge, old-fashioned white rose bush, known to be at least 50 years old, lends true rose fragrance. Ajuga is used as ground cover in defined spots. Red roses bloom in the front yard. On the north side of the house a wide bed of lilies of the valley still holds a few blooms.

Not all is visible from the street. Visitors or passers-by must get out of their cars to see the flowers. Mrs. Victor Hartman was a charter member of Muenster Garden Club.

Lindsay Hotel preservation event features June Welch talk

On Tuesday, May 15, at 2:00 p.m., Dr. June Rayfield Welch, chairman of the department of history at the University of Dallas, will be the principal speaker at a ribbon-cutting ceremony at the Powell-Lindsay Hotel building in the 300 block of East California Street. This event will highlight National Historic Preservation Week, May 13-19, 1984.

Dr. Welch was reared in Gainesville and holds degrees from Texas Christian University, the University of Texas at Arlington, Texas Tech University, and George Washington University. He practiced law for 15 years, and was an assistant city attorney at Fort Worth and city attorney at Grand Prairie. He was academic dean at the University of Dallas for two years and since 1969 has been chairman of the history department. He has written fourteen books, including TEXAS: NEW PERSPECTIVES, which is used in the high schools of 500 Texas districts. Another, THE TEXAS COURTHOUSE, is a fixture in lawyers' offices. Two of the books are novels, DAVE'S TUNE and AND HERE IS CHARLEY BOYD.

The Powell building is the latest Gainesville building whose facade improvement has been effected in cooperation with the Gainesville Main Street Program. It consists of the remaining portion of the Lindsay Hotel, which was built in 1882 by J.M. Lindsay at a cost of approximately $80,000. According to a 1927 report, the key to the building, which was given to Mr. Lindsay by the contractor, became misplaced from the day of the building's opening, and the front door was never locked throughout the next 45 years.

The three-story Lindsay Hotel was an elegant structure, and was famous as one of the best hotels in Texas. (The third story and the east half of the building have been removed.) It was the headquarters for the wealthy cattlemen of that era, and its bar and dining room were the locales for many important business deals, with thousands of cattle and acres of unmarked range land changing hands. In 1882 and again in 1888 the Cattle Raisers' Association, now known as the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, held its conventions in the hotel's grand ballroom.

The deal for the land to establish Muenster was worked out here in 1889 between the Flusche

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wolf attended the First Communion of their grandson, Jason Wolf on Sunday May 6 at 4 p.m. in St. Patrick's Church of Dallas. Jason is the son of Truman and Pat Wolf of Dallas.

Also attending were the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zimmerer and a great-aunt, Sister Miriam Dorothy all of Lindsay.

There were 85 second grade children in Jason's First Communion class.

Preceding the Mass, a family dinner was hosted by the Truman Wolfs in their home. The table centerpiece was a beautiful cross-shaped cake baked by the honoree's mother.

Preservation Week is sponsored nationally by the National Trust for Historic Preservation and locally by the Cooke County Heritage Society, the Main Street Advisory Committee, the Cooke County Historical Commission, and the Historic South Gainesville Neighborhood Association.

Its theme this year is "PRESERVATION IS TAKING CARE OF AMERICA," and all Gainesville citizens are encouraged to cooperate by taking account of the City's "Clean-up Week." Proclamations designating Preservation Week have been issued by Governor Mark White, County Judge Jim Robertson, Gainesville Mayor Harry Roark, and Muenster Mayor Ronnie Felderhoff.

The public is invited to the ceremony at the Powell building in the 300 block of California Street at 2:00 p.m. on Tuesday, May 15.

Free Clinic scheduled May 6

The Texas Department of Health Regional Office in Arlington announces a hypertension and diabetes screening clinic to be held at Sacred Heart Community Center meeting room on Wednesday, May 16, 1984, from 9:30 to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

The screenings will be performed by Public Health Nurses at no charge. Public awareness and an increased citizen participation has tended to decrease fatalities due to heart problems. The so-called "silent disease" of diabetes is receiving increased attention by public health personnel in an effort to discover early warning signs of the disease. "Since each of these diseases can prove to be fatal or cause other health problems, each adult should visit his or her private physician or the public health clinic on a regular basis," said Hal J. Dewlett, M.D., Director, Public Health Region 5.

40 year grads have reunion

Classmates from first grade in 1932 through high school in 1944 and graduates of both Sacred Heart High and Muenster High held a reunion during Germanfest weekend, commemorating the 40th anniversary of graduation. Opening the festive weekend was a dinner party at River Valley Country Club on Friday, April 27, preceded by a cocktail hour at 7 p.m. Leo Felderhoff and Clara Endres registered guests. Johann Bezner gave the welcome and Imelda Rohmer led the invocation before dinner. Following dinner, Alvin Fuhrman and Dollie Laviolette introduced all those attending. Each ex-student stood to give a brief personal resume. Imelda Rohmer remembered teachers and classmates who are deceased.

Lorene Sandmann gave the benediction after dinner. A photo session followed and plans were made to meet again on Germanfest Sunday near the vintage airplane in the City Park, for more visiting and reminiscing. In an attempt to coax wide attendance at the reunion, special invitations were sent to all who were enrolled in first grade in September 1932 and anyone who was a classmate during the twelve years until graduation in May 1944. It's Little League Baseball time Calling kids and parents and any others who are interested in a Little League baseball program this summer. Chris Sicking announced this week that a planning meeting has been set for Sunday, May 13, 1:30 p.m. in the baseball park.

The purpose is to find out who wants to play, to assign them to teams, and to hold try-outs to help assign any who did not play before.

The league had three teams last year and wants 4 or more this year.

Games are to be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Hopefully the schedule will allow open dates for two weeks of June so players can attend a summer camp.

Little League is limited to boys aged 9 to 12. The requirement is to be 9 years old on or before August 1, but not older than 12 on that date.

An older team, ages 13-15, is also being considered, hopefully to play teams of the same age from area towns. Boys who fit in that age bracket are invited to come and see what can be done.

The application shown is provided for the convenience of boys who wish to sign up. The completed form should be presented at Sunday's meeting.

Anyone interested in coaching the boys is urged to attend this meeting.

SCHOOL NEWS

From the Principal's office

by Eddie L. Green

Please excuse my absence for the past two weeks. I have been literally inundated with work that just won't go away. But I slowly dug my way out and am now able to write some more.

By the time you read this, one of my favorite activities of the entire school year will have been done. That is the awarding of honors to our high school students and tonight we shall do the same for our junior high boys and girls.

In theory, we sometimes think that just making the grades in their subjects or attaining an education is reward enough. Baloney!! There is an innate need in all of us, young or old, to be recognized by our peers, family, and friends for things we accomplished. A pat on the back or a sincere well-done is a very positive, stimulating thing.

There are kids in every school who simply attend. They may get their education but choose not to leave anything behind when they go. They participated in nothing outside the classroom and therefore left no memories of things they did. Many of these go on to make excellent citizens. But I can't help but believe they missed something. Then you have kids at the opposite end of the spectrum who participate in everything, sometimes to the detriment of their education. There are always extremes. Who we honored last night and tonight are kids who gave of themselves in both time and talent to their school. They put in long hours and lots of hard work. They accomplished some of the goals they set for themselves and missed some others. But they left their mark and will not soon be forgotten by their teachers and classmates. We honor the athletes who train and suffer pain to perform for their school. We honor the organizations who do good for the community and inspire leadership among the student body. We honor band members and cheerleaders for their tireless contributions. We honor clubs who strive to extend the learning of various subjects. We honor class officers who again learn leadership and responsibility. We honor the academic performers who perform with their mind instead of their body in literary U.I.L. and finally we honor those chosen as the best in their fields of endeavor: The Who's Who.

We hope that these kids know that we appreciate their efforts and that somebody does care. We, as educators, should live for moments like these when those that parents have entrusted us with meet and exceed our expectations. Thank you students. You are our reward.

Muenster Kindergarten kids enjoy field trip May 3

The Muenster ISD Kindergarten class enjoyed a field day trip by school bus on Thursday, May 3.

First stop was at the Leon Klement Dairy, where Mr. Klement explained each step of the milking process. He milked four cows while the children watched. He also fed a calf and the children enjoyed petting the calf.

Next stop was at Bayer's Kolonialwaren where Charles Bayer demonstrated steps in making a loaf of bread, in this order: Mixing a batch of dough; demonstrating a machine that forms the dough into French bread loaves; demonstrating a machine that cuts dough into little rolls; showing how loaves are placed in a rising cabinet; he then baked some of the loaves. He was able to show all these steps by having dough in the different stage of readiness.

While the Kindergarten pupils waited for the bread to bake, they were served a large tray of "doughnut holes." The tray was nearly emptied as 22 eager children reached for seconds, thirds and more. Overheard were remarks like "He makes them good just like grandma does."

Last stop in Muenster was at the Fire Station. Fire Chief, Herbert Knabe showed the Kindergarten pupils the fire truck's equipment and dressed in the Volunteer Fire Department's protective clothing. He then demonstrated the force water spray from the big hose. To the delight of the children, Chief Knabe gave them a ride on the fire truck.

The bus load of children was then taken to Gainesville, Leonard Park and the Frank Buck Zoo and the rest of the day was spent picnicking, playing in the park and visiting the zoo.

Accompanying the Kindergarten pupils were Mmes. Christi Klement, Mildred Biffle, Roxie Russell, Cathy Sicking, Dina Sicking, Kathy Riggs, Shirley Endres, and Mrs. Florence Williams, the teacher.

Mrs. Patsy Walterscheid drove the school bus. Mrs. Judy Hess and Clifford Sicking joined the group for lunch.

After returning to Muenster, the pupils each received gifts of a pencil, a balloon and a bumper sticker from AMPI.

BUSINESS

Charm Shop is a charmer

Customers from a wide area of North Texas and Oklahoma have learned to trust and depend upon The Charm Shop in Muenster for quality merchandise and famous name brand apparel for girls and women.

Says Pearl Evans, owner since 1946 and Queenie Walterscheid, long-time employee of 18 years, "The image of The Charm Shop is reflected in its impeccable good taste and in the quality of the garments we sell. That's what women of the area have learned to trust and depend upon."

On October 7, 1946 Pearl Evans bought The Charm Shop from Ruth Herr, who originally opened it two months earlier as a children's clothing store. When Mrs. Herr decided to move from Muenster she called Pearl to come in to discuss purchasing her small amount of merchandise and some costume jewelry. The store area then was only about 30x24.

With her decision to buy, The Charm Shop became the first store in Muenster to handle ladies ready-to-wear. Eventually she added fabrics, piece goods and patterns. But before that time became reality, Pearl recalled recently, there was a period of "buy a little, sell it and buy a little more," dependent partly upon the economy, but dependent mostly upon availability at Market.

Presenting the greatest difficulty in October 1946 was the fact that Fall Market was completely sold out and few garments could be found. For Christmas selling that year costume jewelry was the big item.

"In that post-war holiday season, new, bright costume jewelry looked mightily good," said Pearl. Accompanied by Bertha Hamric the two made trip after trip to Dallas to re-stock for Christmas sales. Customers wanted the pins, necklaces, ear rings and bracelets for gifts. "I have always felt that the acceptance of The Charm Shop by the community and our first success were due partly to the release of the jewelry at the right time.

Spring Market Showings were scheduled for November 26, 27, 28 in 1946. Mmes. Evans and Hamric

Those were the years also when "General Calls" were put on party lines by the telephone company, operated by the late Mrs. Jake Horn, Sr. Cost of an announcement was usually $1.00. Announcements covered almost any item out on Main Street, clerks remained inside and rode along down to the corner of First and Main, site of the present Mid-Park. Within hours a portable steps was pushed up to the front door and business went on as usual.

That week The Muenster Enterprise carried a bold headline "Charm shop gets new home."

Construction on the new Weinzapfel Building was designed to accommodate two businesses under one roof, The Charm Shop on the north and Hamric's Men's Wear on the south.

On October 13, 1956 the grand opening was held for both in the modern, handsome new building.

Since then both stores have been enlarged and both businesses have grown steadily, attracting not only local trade but customers from a wide surrounding area, and both are well known over North Texas and Oklahoma for quality merchandise. Both started with top name brands and both have consistently maintained that top level of quality.

An asset to Muenster, both bring in their customers who also shop with other local merchants and businesses. Owners of both added: "Muenster and the entire area have been good to us and we are deeply grateful."

Reminiscing again, and reaching once more into her happy memories, Pearl Evans said "In the years since 1946 I have been blessed with competent, pleasant, helpful employees. Queenie Walterscheid has been with me for 18 years. And Bertha Hamric and I have walked in the same footsteps..."

"With me now for 15 years is Anna Prather; and Cecilia Schilling for many years. I recall Ruth Cain, Florida Golden, Faye Fette, Irene Wimmer, Angel Endres, Peggy Hammer, Jo Wimberly, Frances Hudspeth, Jan Cain, Gladys

"Some of the very first Name Brands we handled" said Pearl were Youth Craft coats, Mary Lee dresses, Mary Lane coats, Nellie Don, Butte Knit suits and dresses, Toney Todd, Vicky Vaughan, Koret of California, Betty Rose coats, R & K dresses, Ship and Shore blouses, Lillian Russell, Lillie Ann, Ann Murray.

"IN hats, we started at the TOP also selling Mr. John's Hats," she said proudly.

The day of the interview, Queenie, Anna and Cecilia took delight in showing some of their top labels, including DW3, David Warren, Warren Petite, Schrader Petite, Schrader Sports, Eileen Scott, Willi of California, Loubella Extendables, Evan-Picone, Howard Wolf, Periwinkle, Pedestal, Personal, division of Leslie Fay, Graff, jo har-were determined to attend in both Dallas and Fort Worth. Pearl recalled how they cajoled suppliers and exhibitors to accept a new account. "With tenacity" she said, "and with nerve."

We bought spring coats, summer dresses and hats, hats, hats. At that time, every female, young or old, wanted, really needed, a new hat for Easter. We made at least one, sometimes two trips a week to the millinery houses for more hats." Wistfully she added "I wish we would all wear hats again. They're so beautiful."

Spring merchandise, bought at the November market arrived on the Katy railroad. It was delivered from the depot to the store by John Eberhart, in a familiar two wheel pull cart.

from invitations to a wedding dance, notice of auction sales, a shipment of new hats, on meat for sale by someone willing to share, even a plea for help at a grass fire, or notice of stock for sale, for help to find lost cattle, etc.

After reminiscing, Pearl quickly returned to relate more history. Business, she said, increased steadily, and the store outgrew its building. "By 1953, I guess I had convinced everyone that The Charm Shop and I were here to stay."

It was necessary to move the old building, clearing the site for the new proposed construction, but business didn't stop inside. The building was jacked up by the moving company, rolled

County Agent's Report

Once again farmers and ranchers are in the process of controlling weeds in pastures and crop land. If you have not obtained certification from the Texas Department of Agriculture, you will have a problem in obtaining many herbicides. The law reads as follows:

2,4-D, 2,4-DB, 2,4-DP, 2,4, 5-T, MCPA, silvex, dicamba, propanil and arsenic acid, alone or in mixtures, when distributed in containers of a capacity larger than one quart for liquid material or two pounds for dry or solid material (if marketed using metric measures — containers larger than one liter or one kilogram, respectively) have been classified as state-limited-use pesticides by the Texas Department of Agriculture (TCA). Specialty fertilizer mixtures containing one or more of these active ingredients packaged in containers of 50 pounds or less that are labeled for ornamental use and registered with the Texas Feed and Fertilizer Control Service for sale and distribution in this state are exempt from the classification as state-limited-use pesticides.

Products for home use containing one or more of these active ingredients requiring no further mixing or dilution before use and packaged in containers with a capacity of one gallon or less for liquid formulations or four pounds or less for dry or solid materials are also exempt from the classification as state-limited-use pesticides.

State-limited-use pesticides may only be sold to certified applicators, persons acting under the direct supervision of a certified applicator, or a licensed dealer. Cooke County producers who anticipate use of a state-limited-use or restricted-use pesticide and who do not currently hold a private applicator certificate need to obtain a certificate from the Texas Department of Agriculture.

A person is a "private applicator" if the person uses or supervises the use of a restricted-use or state-limited-use pesticide for the purpose of producing an agricultural commodity 1) on property owned or rented by the person or the person's employer or under the person's general control; or 2) on the property of another person if applied without compensation other than the trading of personal services between producers of agricultural commodities. Persons meeting these qualifications may obtain certification as private applicators from the Texas Department of Agriculture through completion of home study using materials available at the County Extension Office.

Dealers are required by law to get your certification number before selling you any of the products listed. We have had a problem in the past of getting these certifications, but now the TDA is working to have your certification within a week of receiving your test at the Austin office.

Again, we have a supply of these TDA Application for Private Applicator Certificates at the office. So, if you don't currently hold a certificate, you need to drop by or we will send you one.

It pays to topdress pastures.

Pastures are too often overlooked in an otherwise comprehensive fertility program. The fact is, proper fertilization of pasture will greatly increase meat and milk production. You'll see faster weight gain, more pounds of gain per acre, a longer grazing season and greater carrying capacity. It can also dramatically increase your milk production. Begin with a soil test. Then apply the fertilizer shown to be needed. Add lime, if your soil is found high in acidity. Let our Fertilizer Specialist help you. He has the know-how and we have the materials. Come see us soon.
