Snow, ice play havoc in area

Travel, schools disrupted

First snow, then freezing rain and ice played havoc with driving and disrupted schools and businesses last week in Cooke County and throughout the area.

Snow began last Wednesday, with up to four inches accumulating in some areas by Thursday. Frigid north winds whipped the dry, powdery snow into drifts on highways and county roads, shutting down some school districts Thursday and almost all area schools Friday.

After a weekend in the deep freeze, the area was treated Monday morning to a freezing rainstorm that made driving extremely hazardous and caused several accidents — although apparently no one suffered serious injuries.

Snow, ice cause wrecks

An accident north of Lindsay just after midnight Friday night was blamed on snowdrifts across FM road 1199, and two mishaps on U.S. 82 occurred during Monday morning's freezing rainstorm.

Darrell Joseph Dieter, 21, of Denton, and Jeffrey Craig Parsons, 18, of Gainesville, both refused medical treatment after their pickups were involved in an accident 2.1 miles north of Lindsay on FM 1199 at 12:45 a.m. Saturday.

Dieter, who was northbound in a 1982 Chevrolet pickup, told Highway Patrol officers he hit a snowdrift in the roadway, turned sideways and was stopped when Parsons' 1983 Ford pickup, also northbound, hit him in the left front panel.

Neither Dieter nor Parsons required hospitalization, and they were able to drive their vehicles from the accident scene.

Monday morning at 8:30, an empty tractor-trailer rig hit a slick spot four miles east of Muenster on Highway 82 and jackknifed into the median, barely managing to avoid rolling over.

The driver, Willie Clifford Craver of Floydada, was not injured although both the cab and trailer were damaged when the rig jackknifed into itself. The truck, owned by Babe Jones Trucking of Floydada, had just delivered a load of cottonseed near Sherman and was heading back to Lubbock when the accident occurred.

Craver was jailed in Gainesville after a driver's license check revealed several outstanding traffic warrants on his record in the Lubbock area.

A TRACTOR-TRAILER RIG was slightly damaged Monday when it jackknifed just four miles east of Muenster on U.S. 82 during a freezing rainstorm. The driver, a resident of Floydada, was not injured, but was jailed in Gainesville after several outstanding traffic warrants were found on his record.

City drivers slide into mishaps

Three minor accidents Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Muenster were blamed on icy streets and poor weather.

The first occurred at 5:30 p.m. last Thursday when Alice Hellman, 41, driving a 1983 Cadillac, tried to stop on Oak Street where it intersects with highway 82. Mrs. Hellman's car slid out into the highway, hitting the back end of a 1983 Kenworth tractor-trailer rig driven by Melvin Cooper, 37, of Colorado.

Neither driver was injured in the mishap and no tickets were issued by city police.

Friday at 10:45 p.m. two cars collided at the entrance to St. Richard's Villa on highway 82 just west of Muenster.

According to the police report, Cathy Martin, 29, of Myra, was going to work at the nursing home and had stopped her 1982 Ford preparing to turn left. James Conover, 27, of Bowie, was following Martin's car and lost control of his 1976 Chevrolet when he tried to pass her.

Conover's vehicle hit Martin's in the rear, causing minor damage to both. Neither driver was injured.

Saturday at 6:15 p.m. Michael Lewis was eastbound on E. 4th Street in Muenster when he lost control of his 1981 Chevrolet pickup and hit a parked 1956 Chevy belonging to Pat Hoedebeck of Gainesville. The '56 Chevy was parked on the north side of 4th St.

Although the accident was blamed on slick streets, Lewis was ticketed for leaving the scene. No one was injured and damages were minor.

Chamber luncheon Tuesday

The monthly luncheon meeting of the Muenster Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for Tuesday at noon.

The meeting is held at the Center Restaurant on Highway 82 in Muenster, and all interested persons are encouraged to attend.

According to Chamber president John Fisher, Germanfest coordinator Louis Stephenson will give a brief update on planning for that annual event, and Gary Fisher will have a slide presentation on Main Street project ideas.

"I'll make a special effort this year to keep the luncheon meetings short, interesting and informative," Fisher said. "We are striving for 100 percent attendance at these luncheons."

Benefit set for county Reserves

A benefit country-and-western show has been scheduled for February 22 in the Gainesville High School auditorium.

The show will raise funds for the Cooke County Sheriff's Reserve, a group of eight licensed peace officers who assist the sheriff's department on a volunteer basis.

According to Reserve member Glen Fisk, tickets for the event are being sold by telephone solicitation county-wide. Those desiring ticket information may call 665-2939 in Gainesville to make reservations.

In charge of the entertainment will be Ken Fowler. Fowler's group has performed in Denton and throughout the area, raising funds for various organizations such as the Sheriff's Reserve. Fisk said they got high praise from those who have seen the show.

The Sheriff's Reserve donates their time and equipment to aid deputies from time to time. They work with regular officers under the direction of the sheriff.

All reserve members are licensed peace officers, Fisk added.

"We're just lacking some equipment," he noted. "We thought this might be a good way to bring some top-quality entertainment to the area and raise some money at the same time."

Stenholm says rules to change

The sounds of confusion and complaints concerning the Internal Revenue Service's automobile record-keeping requirement have been heard in the nation's capitol, according to Congressman Charles Stenholm of the 17th District of Texas.

Stenholm reports the controversial regulations are already undergoing a facelift.

"The intent of this statute was to discourage abuse of vehicles and other personal property tax writeoffs," Stenholm said. "But the intentions were misinterpreted when the law was written, and the regulation resulted in unnecessarily strict requirements. As so often happens in Congress, instead of taking a rifle and shooting the target, we took a shotgun and shot everything in sight."

Stenholm, who co-sponsored three bills to repeal the law, said

Felderhoff, Wimmer, Henscheid terms expiring

City council elections set for April 6

Muenster mayor Ronnie Felderhoff and city councilmen Willie Wimmer and Ted Henscheid will see their terms expire this spring.

City elections were set by the mayor for April 6 at the council's meeting Monday night in Muenster. City voting will be held along with school board elections on that day throughout the state.

In Monday's meeting, the council disposed of a routine agenda in just under an hour before going into an executive session to discuss personnel.

Highlighting the meeting was the reappointment of three members to the board of directors of the Muenster Water District. Jim Roark, Ken McDougle and Al Walter were all asked to continue serving on the board, which is in charge of developing the Muenster Lake project.

City manager Joe Fenton reported on the condition of the airplane which is on permanent exhibit at the City Park. The city recently got a letter from the U.S. Air Force announcing their intention to repossess the jet fighter if the city does not maintain it properly.

Fenton told the council he had inspected the airplane and found 13 small aluminum panels needed replacing. After that is done, Fenton said, the whole plane should be repainted.

He was asked to look into the matter further, perhaps seeking donations of labor and materials from area firms.

Law firm offer discussed

The council spent some time discussing how to respond to an offer of services from a Dallas area law firm. The firm contacted the city recently and said they would provide legal services under a retainer fee at an hourly rate of $75.

City attorney Chuch Bartush had recommended the city line up additional legal counsel to deal with matters which might be outside his area of expertise or on which their might be a conflict of interest. The council discussed the Let's do something right!

THE FACTS regarding the current situation in Central America lead to the inevitable conclusion that the struggle for the conquest of the Western Hemisphere by the Communists has begun. Nicaragua is the beachhead.

The short-range targets are the neighboring countries in Central America. The first assault has been launched against El Salvador. The ultimate, long-range target is the United States, the last bastion of liberty for all the world.

What should be the course of action of the United States? Should we take no positive action aside from pumping financial aid into the region in the hope that somehow things will be better?

We say, "No!" We say it's time for all legal counter-measures to stem the Red Tide in this hemisphere. To fail to take these measures in our own defense would not only be foolish, it would be criminal. If we fail to take decisive action now thousands of American lives will pay the price in the not-too-distant future!

We have historically aided those struggling for their freedom in various parts of the world. We now have the opportunity to aid the people of Nicaragua who have lost their freedom but are fighting in the mountains and in the jungles against the Communists who have taken it from them.

It is absolutely imperative that we provide all possible aid, openly, to the Contras of Nicaragua. Contrary to communist propaganda being broadcast in this country, the Contras are not deposed Somoza National Guardsmen attempting to regain power. They are freedom loving citizens dedicated to restoring democracy to their land. Many were once leaders in the Sandinista movement which then claimed to be democratic and non-communist.

The Contras are composed of four major forces operating on two widely separated fronts. In the north near Honduras the Nicaraguan Democratic Forces (FDN) carries on interdiction with the aid of the Misura, composed of Indians from three tribes who have been brutalized by the Sandinistas.

In the south near Costa Rica the Democratic Revolutionary Allian ce (ARDE) carries on guerrilla warfare against the Sandinista regime with the aid of the Misurasata, also an Indian group.

The southern forces number about 4,000 guerrillas while the northern group has about 10,000. We should be aiding these freedom fighters because they are in fact our first line of defense in the battle for North America.

Wrote Esther Wilson of The Heritage Foundation: "Although politically diverse, the several elements of the Nicaraguan democratic opposition share the principal objective of achieving the democratic goals of the revolution of 1979."

"...The struggle is not between Somocistas Somoza supporters and the people; it is between democracy and communist totalitarianism. By supporting the opposition forces, the United States is squarely on the side of democracy."

Let America once more stand tall as a vanguard for the forces of freedom!

Enough of recent cowardice in the face of tyranny!

A new challenge

A disarming thing happened to me the other night, while my wife was at a meeting and I was taking care of our six-month-old daughter by myself.

She is a good-natured kid, given mostly to smiles and chuckles. We spent a long time playing ride-em-horsie and toot-your-tummy and generally enjoying ourselves in the armchair. We even sang a song or two.

But after awhile, for some reason, she started hollering like a tiny banshee. Though she is small, her screaming is full-throated and almost operatic. It is not only unpleasant to be around — it is actually painful to the ears. It's a habit she has developed in the last few weeks and one we are anxious to break.

My wife and I had decided this type of behavior, when not caused by one of the Big Three (hunger, sleepiness or a fouled diaper) was not to be allowed. We agreed that a mild swat on the bottom would be an appropriate response to such angry outbursts.

So, I swatted her. I got the usual look of surprise (as if to say, "What? Someone who's not absolutely captivated with what I'm doing?"). She quit hollering for a moment, but then took it up again with renewed zeal and at a higher decibel level.

The swat obviously hadn't worked, so I came up with another plan. I pulled her around to look right in my face, then lowered my eyebrows, frowned my deepest frown and said, in my deepest voice, "No!" That, I thought, would let her know what kind of guy she was dealing with.

She looked me in the eyes, flapped her arms and legs a few times, threw back her head and laughed. Never have I been so completely deflated.

The look that I gave that little girl would have had my dog grovelling in submission around my feet. The chilling thought I have to face now is that, at six months, my daughter is already a lot smarter than my dog will ever be.

The idea that this tiny person already has an intelligence of her own is mind-boggling. We deal with her now like the baby she is, cooing and making silly faces, trying to get a laugh or a new sound out of that little rosebud mouth.

But soon, she'll be exploring her world and challenging us with her questions. We'll be providing the answers that will shape her view of the world, of people, of morals and economics and social relationships and everything else.

It's a scary thought. Anyway, after the look didn't work, I got up and walked around the house with her, and that helped. Then I got the juice bottle her mom had left me, and that helped. A change of scene every five or so minutes helped after that, and before things could get out of hand again, Mom came home and I was off the hook.

The kid and I get along great, as a rule. But I can see already she's going to be a much bigger challenge than the dog.

But then, the dog can't laugh.

Africa affair. The real prize is an area of the world's most valuable real estate. Top reds all over know it, as do a lot of hypocritical devotees of human rights in this country. More of the fault finders are our own do-gooders too much influenced by the red propaganda line.

It's amazing and disgusting that prominent demonstrators of the cause over here include two Kennedy teenagers, three Maryland legislators, the dean of Columbia Journalism School, and Congressmen from Maryland, California and Connecticut. How is their attitude to be regarded? as ignorant or disloyal.

Another thought! How can the objectors be so horribly shocked when they compare South Africa's apartheid with the many violations of human rights in so many places? As told by columnist Richard Viguere, one third of the population of Cambodia is wiped out by communists, later refugee children tell from memory in drawings about children beheaded and pregnant women bayoneted. In Tibet, Communist Chinese kill 80 percent of the population and demolish 30,000 monasteries.

In Afghanistan the Soviets expose villagers to poison chemicals, causing agonizing death. In Ethiopia the government deliberately creates one of the earth's great famines while squandering $200 million celebrating 10 years of red rule; and just lately it diverted famine relief from the starving people to loyal and well provided reds.

Who communists murder a million in Nigeria; Tutis kill a quarter million of the Hutu tribe; Idi Amin slaughters 300,000

Ugandans; Castro's troops kill tens of thousands of Angola freedom fighters; female infants are murdered in Red China; women are enslaved and sexually mutilated in much of the Arab world; members of minority tribes are casually murdered in parts of black ruled Africa.

Those atrocities, the worst violations of human rights, barely bring up a peep of protest from the people who are horrified by apartheid and so sadly unaware, or unconcerned, that in parroting the red propaganda live they are sabotaging their own country's interest. When can we hope for misled leaders of American media and public life to realize what's happening?

State Capitol Highlights

AUSTIN—Attorney General Jim Mattox last week urged a Senate panel to increase funding for his agency, and the next day news broke that Mattox had urged a probe of the district attorney who will prosecute his felony bribery indictment in two weeks.

Mattox is scheduled for trial Feb. 11 on a charge of commercial bribery stemming from a 1982 incident in which he allegedly threatened to put a Houston law firm out of the bond business unless they ceased attempting to question his sister in an unrelated legal matter.

He had asked the Senate Finance Committee last Wednesday to give him funds to recover outstanding court judgments owed the state, and told them: "If you take Jim Mattox, my personality, my political hangups out of it (your decision) and look at this and give it some money, I'll go out there and collect some of that dough." Abilene Sen. Grant Jones asked why he hadn't already been collecting the money.

The next day, House Speaker Gib Lewis confirmed he had received a letter from Dave Richards, Mattox's executive assistant, urging a probe of District Attorney Ronnie Earle's office.

Lewis said he was hesitant about starting an investigation just two weeks before the trial. "It was a spooky deal," Lewis said.

Speaker Lewis did not reveal the name of the individual who had complained to Mattox's office about the alleged misuse of state funds by Earle's office.

Taking A Risk

Most legislators are taking a hands off attitude on the affair, following Lewis' example, letting justice take its course in what promises to be an historical courtroom battle between Mattox and the Travis County DA.

Given the impact this case may have on the course of Texas politics, it's surprising that the controversy has waited until two weeks pre-trial to erupt again. A spokesman for the DA said they had been waiting for someone to create a diversion prior to the trial, and Lewis, himself, said the Mattox request "smelled a little bit of politics."

But Mattox's assistant Richards said he felt compelled to send the probe request to the House, and although the move might be misinterpreted by some, it was "taking a risk."

Standing In Line

Of course, Mattox's future is on the line. If found guilty, he will face pressure to resign, rather than appeal, even if he gets probation. If he doesn't resign, he will surely face primary opposition from his own Democratic Party in '86, a race he probably couldn't win under the cloud of a conviction.

If Mattox is acquitted, he will still carry the indictment in his political baggage, and he will surely draw opponents. Among the Democrats, there is already mention of '84 U.S. Senate candidates Kent Hance and Lloyd Doggett, state Sen. Kent Caperton and Tyler attorney John Hannal. Among Republicans, former AG candidate Bill Meier and state Sen. Buster Brown have surfaced their interest.

Observers note that people are standing in line to run against Mattox next year, despite his record as a highly effective, though controversial, attorney general. But although Mattox raised $750,000 early this year, his war chest will likely be decimated by legal fees.

Tuition, Horseracing

In other events last week, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby introduced his plan to avoid cuts in higher education funds by tripling tuition at state colleges and universities by 1987. The plan would still leave the institutions about $133 million short of current spending levels over the next two years.

Speaker Pro Tem Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, filed the parimutuel wagering bill but with changes that threaten its passage. Berlanga omitted a statewide referendum clause but gives veto power to voters in counties where racetracks may be located. Governor Mark White earlier this year said he would veto any bill without the statewide referendum clause.

Some minority legislators are considering withdrawing support unless part of the proceeds are dedicated to welfare programs. Berlanga thinks he can persuade them all, including Gov. Mark White, to support his bill which failed to pass by two votes last session.

Stacy Dam Agreement

Stacy Dam and Reservoir, planned for construction on the upper Colorado River, hasn't gotten a lot of publicity, but efforts to stop it almost ruined passage of the Texas Water Plan, the omnibus water legislative plan now undergoing debate.

Last week Central and West Texas water agencies agreed to terms for building Stacy Dam, and may have cleared the way for quick passage of the legislation. West Texas lawmakers, angry at efforts to halt the dam, threatened to bottleneck the legislation unless an agreement was made.

The dam will be built about 50 miles east of San Angelo, where water is a precious commodity.

Oil Price Drop

The decision by OPEC last week to drop oil prices by as much as $1.40 a barrel left state officials without much hope for averting the budget crunch. As the price drops closer to $25/barrel, they remember State Comptroller Bob Bullock's forecast of another budget estimate reduction being forced at that magic number.

Storm plays havoc with drivers, school schedules

Moments after that accident, DPS officers were called to investigate a two-car mishap on FM 678 7.2 miles northeast of Gainesville, near Callisburg.

In that wreck, a 1967 Mercury driven by David Weaver, 17, of Whitesboro, skidded through a stop sign and hit a 1976 Ford LTD driven by Vicki S. Thompson, 36, of Gainesville.

According to the officer's report, Thompson's car was southbound on FM 678 and Weaver was heading west on county road 136. When Weaver tried to stop at the intersection, he skidded out in front of Thompson's car and she struck his Mercury in the right side.

Two passengers from Weaver's vehicle, his cousin Michael Weaver, 16, and brother Derrick Weaver, 14, were taken to Gainesville Memorial Hospital by Cooke County EMS ambulance, along with Thompson's nine-year-old son Jamie. None of the injured were thought to be hurt badly.

Highway crews get workout
George Rosson, maintenance supervisor with the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation in Gainesville, said Tuesday his crews had been working around the clock since last week's snowstorm iced up the highways.

"There doesn't appear to be much in the way of permanent damage to the highways right now," he said. "The first snow was dry and the wind pretty well blew it off the roadways."

Rosson said his crews, who maintain I-35, highway 82 and all the farm-to-market roads in the area, have used about 400 yards of rock and 350 to 400 bags of salt during the last few days. Sanding, salting and scraping operations have been going on 24 hours a day in an effort to prevent ice buildup on road surfaces.

But Rosson said this year's winter weather, unlike last winter, appears to have done little permanent damage to the highways.

"When ice gets down in the cracks and freezes, it can cause the pavement to buckle up and create real problems," he noted. "There doesn't appear to be much of that kind of damage right now."

TP&L distribution superintendent James Friddle said the weather had created only minor problems with power lines, as ice buildup never got to the critical stage Monday.

"We had a few car accidents where people slipped into guy wires, things like that, but no more than half-a-dozen real problems," he said. "There's been nothing major that we could blame on the weather."

No letup was in sight at mid-week, with the National Weather Service predicting continued cold weather and the chance of more snow before the weekend.

Schools juggle schedules

Schools throughout the area were juggling their schedules early this week, looking for ways to make up one or two missed class days without cutting into students' spring breaks or summer vacations.

In Muenster, school officials were awaiting a letter from the Texas Education Agency regarding makeup days. Muenster students missed classes last Friday and got out early Monday after the icy rain created hazardous conditions on the roads.

The TEA letter was likely to allow schools to forego scheduled teacher in-service days and make up classes during the week. Teachers will make up those days on Saturdays or after school is out in May.

Lindsay students missed school Friday, while Era and Valley View classes were dismissed Thursday and Friday. Sacred Heart schools lost three days to the bad weather.

The weather also disrupted sports schedules throughout the area, and games were being rescheduled this week or moved to the end of the regular schedule.

IRS rules due change hearing had been scheduled Thursday (Feb. 7) to discuss revision. The hearing in Washington, D.C. was called at the request of the Small Business Committee, of which Stenholm is a member.

"The way this measure was written, it clearly created a heavy burden for many honest taxpayers and small businesses," he said. "I am confident we can make the appropriate changes, those that will not force honest taxpayers to keep needless detailed logs, and still arrive at a workable law to crack down on this abuse."

The IRS regulation, which became effective January 1, originally required strict book-keeping measures from every citizen with a vehicle used for business. This included a log, journal, diary or similar record that had the dates, names, mileage and purpose of each use of the vehicle.

A new version has been temporarily adopted until a final revision results from the hearings.

The law now reduces the book-keeping burden on the average citizen, Stenholm said. The IRS will not require taxpayers to keep logs if the vehicle is kept on business premises during non-business hours and is not used for personal purposes.

When it is used for personal purposes, taxpayers could make a single entry, rather than several.

Regulations are also being proposed that would allow most citizens not to keep records if they meet certain conditions, which have not been announced.

Farmers who receive more than 70 percent of their gross income from farming would have the option not to keep records if up to 20 percent of the vehicle's use is personal.

Stenholm promised to release further details about the guidelines after they are adopted in Washington.

WITH AVERAGE BILLING, YOUR ELECTRIC BILL WILL BE ABOUT THE SAME EACH MONTH.

Everyone knows electric bills go up and down throughout the year. Some months they're low. Some months they're higher, depending on how much electricity you use.

But for most of us there aren't any highs and lows in our monthly income. It's pretty much the same from month to month. So, balancing the monthly budget can be a problem.

Well, Texas Power and Light Company has an answer. It's the Average Billing Plan. And each month after you join, you'll pay an average of your monthly electric bills over the past twelve months. No more ups and downs.

Of course, you're still paying for all the electricity you use. But with average billing, your electric bills will be about the same each month. So budgeting will be that much easier.

If you want to know more about our Average Billing Plan, call your local TP&L office today.

FHA Week slated Feb. 10-16

The Muenster High School FHA chapter is joining in a nationwide celebration of FHA/HERO Week, Feb. 10-16.

This annual event gives members an opportunity to reveal their background in home economics and their participation in Future Homemakers of America.

Theme of the national week is "Future Homemakers of America: 40 Years of Real Learning." Members will participate in various activities to show the expanding education in the area of home economics.

To emphasize the week's theme, this chapter's 60 members, including 18 young men, are planning a child care day on Monday, Feb. 11, 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Parents are urged to feel free to let their child join the special FHA activity. The parents of a newborn or very young baby must please notify Joni Sturm, FHA sponsor, or Judy Biffle and Rhonda Bayer, chairmen of the activity. This notification is necessary for special instructions and preparation needed by younger infants.

Other activities planned for Monday are drawing names for secret pals, and decorating the lockers.

On Tuesday, Feb. 12 members will have Teacher Appreciation Day. Members will dress semiformal to show respect and gratitude to teachers. Dolle Pagel and Connie Klement are chairmen.

Wednesday's activity is crazy day—a new idea not practiced in the past, but carrying hope for success in the next years. Chairmen are Tracy Walterscheid and Terri Whitley.

A baking contest is planned for Thursday. In previous years this contest was very successful and this year promises more success with wide member participation. Jackie Farrell is chairman.

Members plan to dress in red and white on Friday; and to have a birthday party for the 40th anniversary of FHA. Secret pals will be revealed. Intention for a secret pal project is to have members surprise other members with small gifts and special kindnesses or courtesies. Jana Hamilton, Melody Klement and Meredith McDaniel are chairmen.

Jana Hamilton, president, pointed out that members are enthusiastic about the planned activities for FHA Week 1985. She said "...We have incorporated many new ideas with several old traditions." FHA chapters encourage personal growth leadership, family/community involvement and understanding of the role of homemakers. Anita Meurer is chapter reporter.

San Antonio rites read for Sr. Frances Helen

Funeral service for Sister Frances Helen Mosser, 86, of the Sisters of Divine Providence, was held at Our Lady of the Lake Retirement Center chapel on January 31 with Father Charles Borgers, OMI, officiating at a Mass of Christian Burial and Father Roy Rihn, a former student, giving the funeral homily. CCC offers 'pass-fail' class option

For students more interested in course content than in earning a grade, Cooke County College has issued a reminder that selected courses may be taken on a special "pass-fail" basis.

Students taking courses on this basis will not be given a grade, but they will receive full college credit if course requirements are satisfactorily met.

Whitten Williams, CCC dean of instruction, points out that the college makes no provision for "auditing" of courses, but he says that the pass-fail option offers the same learning opportunities and is also more advantageous in many ways for both students and the college itself.

"A student who merely audits a course receives no college credit," he explains. "Neither is the college allowed to count such students toward its 'contact hour enrollment,' the basis upon which the amount of state funding we receive is determined."

Williams also maintains that students who take a course on a pass-fail basis are much more likely to get more out of the course than students who audit.

"This is because students auditing a course are not required to take exams or do other work required of those who are working for credit," he says. "Despite their good intentions, they are therefore less inclined to study as diligently outside the classroom."

The law firm offers a service in which they go through city ordinances and spot potential trouble-makers, recommended updated versions to the council for approval and codify them in a book designed for easier reference.

The city will look into that service, the council decided.

Other action

In other action, the council: — approved a bid for police liability insurance that was somewhat lower than last year's;

— tabled acceptance of the Chamber of Commerce's new Muenster flag, when Chamber president John Fisher could not attend the meeting to present it for council approval; — heard a report that the city had bought three sets of police pursuit radial tires for the patrol cars, through a special state contract, for $39 each.

matter at their January meeting, but tabled it until Felderhoff could be present to take part in the discussion.

The upshot of Monday's discussion was that the city does not wish to place the firm on a retainer, but would like to be able to take advantage of their services under certain circumstances. The hourly fee, without the retainer, would likely be higher according to Bartush.

One of the things the council may have the firm look at is a host of outdated ordinances now on the city's books. City ordinances still prohibit things like spitting or riding a horse on the sidewalk, and require all males over a certain age to work on the streets one day a year.

Outdated ordinances could get the city in trouble, Bartush suggested, as they did several years ago when a group of "Moonies" was denied permission to solicit

Tigerettes earn tourney berth

Sandra Hess hit a 15-foot jumper with three seconds left to send Saturday's game between the Sacred Heart Tigerettes and Wichita Falls Notre Dame into overtime, tied at 41-all.

While the Tigerettes had struggled with a hot-shooting Notre Dame team throughout regulation play, overtime belonged to the Muenster girls. Sandra Walterscheid, who led all scorers in the game with 21 points, got five of those during the three-minute overtime period and led Sacred Heart to a 46-41 victory.

The win clinches a district championship for the Tigerettes and puts them in the state semifinals, to be played February 15 at HemisFair Arena in San Antonio.

The Tigerettes' opponent for the 10 a.m. game is yet to be determined. They lost in last year's state finals to Incarnate Word of Corpus Christi. This is the team's fifth straight trip to the state TCIL tournament.

"We were down six points with two minutes left," coach Jon LeBrasseur said. "The girls showed a lot of heart at the end, when it would have been easy just to give up since we knew we had another shot at them at our place. They showed a lot of desire."

The Tigerettes won the game without the services of point guard Rose Felderhoff, who sprained an ankle in Friday morning's workout session. Sacred Heart's early foul trouble and hot shooting by the Wichita Falls crew made the game close throughout.

The Tigerettes led 10-7 after one quarter, but Notre Dame narrowed it to 20-19 by halftime and took a one-point lead at 31-30 into the final frame.

"We just dug ourselves a hole with fouls early in the game," LeBrasseur said. "They hit something like 11 free throws in the first half, a lot of them one-and-one's, and we had to pull back. We couldn't play our man-to-man and we couldn't press."

In addition to Sandra's 21 points, Lydia Walterscheid added 10 and Sondra Hess wound up with eight for the night. Tammy Hess added another five and Kelly Hennigan, coming off the bench to fill in for Felderhoff, hit two while doing "an excellent job" in the clutch according to LeBrasseur.

Notre Dame's Barbara Kajs and Carolyn Davis tallied 12 apiece to lead their team, while the squad went 14-for-16 at the free throw line. Sacred Heart's free shooters were accurate as well, hitting 12 of 19.

The win left the Tigerettes' record at 23-3. They will play Chico here Friday in their last regularly-scheduled game of the season, although LeBrasseur hopes to book another game next week to keep his team sharp for their assault on the state title.

Boys lose, 92-35
Sacred Heart's boys, suffering through a vastly different kind of season, lost a 92-35 decision to the powerful Notre Dame squad Saturday.

It was 31-8 after one quarter, 54-15 at the half and 65-24 going into the final frame.

Craig Voth led Sacred Heart's scoring with 11 points, followed by Ken Hesse with nine and John Nasche with eight. The loss left the boys with a 1-22 record, with only the Chico game remaining on their schedule.

MUESTER ENTERPRISE SPORTS

Tourney pairings revealed

District 3-A tournament pairings were determined in a meeting of coaches Wednesday morning at Slidell.

Muenster's girls and Slidell's boys both won district titles outright this year, Muenster with a 7-3 district record and Slidell with a 9-1 district mark.

The champions will bypass the tournament and begin preparing for the first round of bi-district play.

Hornette coach Charles Meurer said his team will likely play Krum in the first round, although they still have to go through a tournament to determine their district's runner-up.

The Muenster girls will host Bells in a warmup game Saturday at 2 p.m. in the MHS gym, prior to entering the playoffs next week.

Muenster's boys won a coin toss Wednesday to earn a bye in the first round of the district tournament, which will determine who will advance in the playoffs as runner-up to Slidell. The winner of the tournament will play the champion of the district to the south.

In the first round of tournament play Thursday, Forestburg will host Alvord in both boys and girls contests, with the girls game getting underway at 7 p.m.

Friday, Lindsay and Era will square off in a similar double-header at Lindsay, with the action to begin at 7 p.m.

Tuesday, Muenster will play the winner of the Forestburg-Alvord game and the winner will advance to the tournament finals next Friday against the Lindsay-Era winner.

Tuesday's game will be at Muenster if Alvord wins, on the strength of the Hornets' better district record. If Forestburg wins, the game will be played at a neutral gym since both teams have identical district marks.

The coin toss Wednesday was among Muenster, Lindsay and Forestburg, who all finished the district schedule with identical 6-4 records. Although Muenster won, earning a bye into the second round, Lindsay actually got the preferable position, since a win over Era will put them in the tourney finals.

In the girls bracket, Forestburg and Slidell tied for second place and Slidell won the tournament bye in a coin toss Wednesday. The slate looks like this:

Lindsay will host Era Friday in a first-round game, while Forestburg hosts Alvord.

Slidell will play the winner of the Lindsay-Era game Saturday at Slidell, and the final will be played

Bus charter arranged

A chartered bus will take Tigerette fans to the state tournament in San Antonio for the February 15 state semifinal game. To reserve a seat, call Monica Hartman at 759-4225 or LeAnn Mollenkopf at 759-4484, by Saturday, February 9.

All minors will need a permission slip signed by their parents before they can make the trip. The fee is $35 per person, cash in advance. The bus will leave at 2 a.m. Friday, February 15 and will return late Saturday night.

Hotel rooms at the Menger Hotel, just a block-and-a-half from the Convention Center, may also be reserved by calling Monica or LeAnn by Saturday. Rates are $60 for four people, $55 for three and $50 for two. For reservations, the rooms must be paid for along with the bus trip by Saturday.

Lindsay slips up on MHS in district finale

Strange as it sounds, Muenster's basketball teams could have used a little more snow Monday night.

Maybe more snow would have kept them out of Lindsay's gym.

As it was, the district champion Hornets lost a 25-19 effort and Muenster's boys, needing a win to sew up second place and a first-round bye in the district tournament, fell instead into a three-way tie for second with Lindsay and Forestburg.

Monday's game were held to make up for a cancelled slate of games Friday night. It was the final regular-season outing for both teams, and it did little to build their confidence going into post-season play.

The Hornets, with the district championship in the bag, scored but two baskets in the first 16 minutes of their game, trailing Lindsay's Knightettes 15-4 at halftime. They came back to make it respectable in the second half, but still trailed 20-12 after three quarters and were down by six at the buzzer.

Dana Dankesreiter hit seven for Muenster, and Rita Walterscheid scored six points. The girls were five-for-nine at the free throw line.

Brenda Haverkamp led Lindsay's scoring with 11 points, while Gina Arendt hit six and Sherry Anderle added five. Lindsay's girls got seven points on 16 trips to the free throw line.

In the boys' game, Muenster again started out cold and never warmed up, trailing 12-4, 28-12 and 42-20 at the quarters before losing by a margin of 61-30.

Lindsay's balanced attack was complimented by deadly accurate free throw shooting. The Knights hit 15 of 17 on the night and were 11 of 13 in the final quarter. Muenster, went to the line just nine times and converted four of those.

Jay Mollenkopf and Ronnie Fisher each hit seven points for Muenster, while Ryan Klement and Kevin Wolf got six apiece. Jeff Hellman led Lindsay with 13 points.

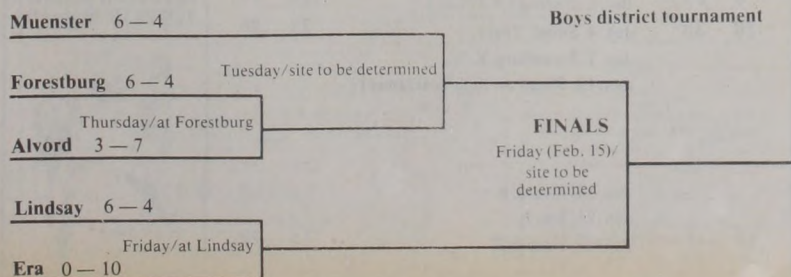

Tim Carpenter added 11 for the Knights, going seven-for-seven at the free throw line. Kevin Fuhrmann hit 10, Wayne Fleitman added nine and Leroy Hermes and Scott Fleitman scored eight points apiece.

The losses did no actual damage to Muenster's records, as the girls had already clinched a championship and the boys wound up winning the toss and drawing the first-round bye in the tournament anyway.

Shults hits 43 as 'Horns blast Alvord, 95-73

Forestburg's Brent Shults hit 43 points to lead his Longhorns to a 95-73 win over Alvord Tuesday night and send a message to the teams in the district tournament:

The 'Horns can hit the bucket. Forestburg started "cold" after missing a couple of school days and not being in the gym for workouts due to the weather. Alvord led 18-16 after one quarter and 39-36 at halftime.

But coach Hollis Adams must have had some fiery words in the dressing room, however, as eight minutes and 30 points later his team had an 11-point lead. They scored 29 more in the last quarter to complete a 22-point win.

"We just got hot in that last half," Adams said. "They're really a running team, but we got running too, and just started hitting. They would come down and get one shot, and whether they made it or not, we had the ball and were heading down the court."

Adams said Shults got about 30 of his 43 points in the second half, and although the big senior made his mark as an outside shooter, he got a lot of layups in the late going as defense became almost non-existent.

"That's probably a career high for him (Shults)," Adams said. "To be honest, there wasn't a lot of defense played in the game — it's the kind the crowd likes to watch, but coaches would rather see it more controlled."

But Adams wasn't complaining about the 59-point outburst in the second half.

"We started out real cold, not having been in the gym for several days," he noted. "Getting 59 points in the second half really helped us. Alvord has shown the ability to score a lot of points."

Tommy Souther had 24 for the Longhorns and Kendall Holland hit 20. The team was 17 of 31 from the free throw line.

James Becker led Alvord with 28 points, and his team shot a deadly 17 of 21 at the line.

The win, combined with Lindsay's win over Muenster, put the three teams in a tie for second place in district and forced a coin flip to see who drew the bye in the first round of the district tournament, which starts Thursday (see separate story).

Forestburg girls win

Forestburg's girls survived a comeback attempt and hung on to win 43-41 over Alvord, moving into a tie for second place with Alvord's girls.

The Lady Longhorns led 12-11 after one quarter and 22-15 at halftime before Alvord fought back to tie it at 26-all going into the fourth period.

"We had a nine-point lead and I pulled some of our girls out," Adams said. "They got a rally going and nearly beat us."

Nancy Traylor led Forestburg's scoring with 23 points, while Tammy Mitchum hit 16 for Alvord. Forestburg was 13-of-28 at the free throw line, and Alvord hit eight of 14 free shots.

Slidell sweeps Era Tuesday

Era's girls put up a tough fight before falling to Slidell by a score of 40-39 Tuesday night, in a makeup of a game cancelled by weather last Friday.

Slidell, the district runner-up behind Muenster, pulled out to an 11-4 lead early in the game before Era charged back to lead 16-15 at halftime. Slidell pulled back ahead at 28-24 going into the final period and held on to win by one.

Kelly Yarbrough and Amy Young each hit 11 to pace Era's balanced attack. Mitzi Mitchell added 10, and the team was three-for-10 at the free throw line.

D'Lynn Schertz led Slidell with 18, followed by Dana Wilson with 10. They hit just two of eight free throws.

Boys fall, 63-49
Era's boys also put up a fight before falling to district champion Slidell by a score of 63-49.

Mark Knabe led all scorers with 29 points. Mark Humphreys had 15 for Slidell, Rhet Wilson added 12, Mike Kelley and David Schertz each hit 11 and Randy Freeman canned 10.

Slidell led 16-8 after eight minutes and 34-15 at the half. Era outscored them 18-13 in the third quarter to trail 47-33 going into the final frame, in which the two teams matched each other bucket-for-bucket.

Era hit only one of their five free shots, while Slidell went to the line 22 times and hit 11.

Both Era teams were to face Lindsay in the first round of the single-elimination district tournaments which started this week. Both the girls and the boys were to play at Lindsay Friday.

Tournament set

Monday night.

Should Forestburg and Slidell wind up in the finals, they would play at a neutral court since both teams finished district with identical 6-4 records.

NOTE: At presstime, school officials were still trying to determine if the Lindsay-Era doubleheader would be held Thursday or Friday, depending on the availability of officials. In either case, the action was to begin at 7 p.m. in the Lindsay gym.

County Agent's Report

Supplemental feeding means providing those nutrients to livestock which are not provided by forage or obtainable from the animal's body store.

The following "commonsense" approach to supplemental feeding is provided by Dr. Dennis Herd, Texas A&M.

1. Feed salt and an 8-12 percent phosphorous supplement of similar calcium content free choice year round unless the mineral is included in a complete supplement. Other minerals including magnesium and certain trace minerals may be needed in certain areas.

2. Inject or feed vitamin A if in doubt. More than four to six months without green pasture or green pickings is cause for doubt. The drier the climate, the more attention vitamin A deserves.

3. Always feed enough protein to maintain a 6 percent plus protein ration for maintenance of rumen function and stimulation of forage intake. Additional protein will be needed for milk production or rapid growth. When in doubt about the amount and type of supplement to feed with low quality forage, feed a dry, pregnant cow the equivalent of 1-3 lbs. of 40 percent protein supplement and a lactating cow the equivalent of 2-4 lbs. of 40 percent protein supplement.

4. Use cow condition or fatness as a guide to additional feeding. Loss of weight or condition suggests more energy, so pounds of supplement are needed. For example, feed 6 lbs. of a 20 percent protein supplement instead of 3 lbs. of a 40 percent protein supplement. Protein content can be decreased in proportion to the increased level of supplemental feeding. Because of negative associated effects on digestion when added grain to forage diets, energy supplementation is seldom as financially rewarding as protein supplementation alone. However, energy supplementation may be necessary for survival if forage is limited in amount, cows are in extremely poor condition or weather is unusually severe, or where a combination of these factors exist.

AMPI supports extension

Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI) is advocating interim legislation that would extend the current Milk Diversion Program and eliminate the 50 cents per hundredweight price support cuts scheduled for April 1 and July 1 of this year.

AMPI operates the Muenster milk processing plant which produces cheese and whey, drawing on milk supplies from a vast area.

AMPI is the nation's leading dairy farmer cooperative, with over 31,000 members located in 20 states. AMPI members produce about 12 percent of the nation's milk supply.

The decision to advocate legislation extending the program was made at the AMPI board of directors meeting January 16-17 in San Antonio.

"The milk diversion program track record provides tangible evidence that dairy farmers respond positively to individual incentives to reduce production," AMPI president Irvin Elkin, a dairy farmer from Amery, Wisconsin, said. "It merits continuation until the 1985 farm bill takes effect."

"On the other hand, price cuts would serve no constructive purpose, but would only aggravate the hardship felt by dairy farm families who are already being squeezed to the point of foreclosure and bankruptcy."

Under the milk diversion program, dairy farmers themselves are totally financing the cost of diversion payments that are being made to producers who contracted to reduce their milk marketings by up to 30 percent. Elkins pointed to the following achievements in 1984:

- national milk production has dropped three percent after 57 consecutive months of increases;
- government purchases of surplus dairy products went down nearly 50 percent;
- government costs for the dairy program were cut by over $1 billion.

Under current legislation, diversion payments end March 31 of this year, while provisions of the 1985 Farm Bill cannot take effect until October 1. Several measures have been introduced in the 99th Congress to extend diversion payments and eliminate the April and July price cuts.

Steps encouraged to reduce brucellosis

Livestock producers who are planning to restock pastures and ranges this spring should include this basic management practice, according to the Texas Animal Health Commission:

Make sure those cattle are free of brucellosis. Dr. John Holcombe, executive director of the TAHC in Austin, lists these suggestions for producers to follow:

- Make sure you know the brucellosis status of cattle you buy. Ask the seller to provide you with proof those cattle are tested and found to be free of brucellosis.
- When you get the cattle to Participation advised

In government wheat, feed grains programs

Faced with plentiful supplies of wheat and feed grains, farmers need to give careful consideration to participating in the 1985 wheat program.

That is the advice of grain marketing economist Dr. Ed Smith of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Grain producers have until March 1 to decide whether or not to participate in the government's farm program, which offers some income and price protection for those agreeing to cut base crop acreage by 10 percent in the case of feed grains and 30 percent for wheat.

"Due to increasing surpluses of wheat, corn and grain sorghum, farmers can expect average prices for their 1985 crop to be at or near the national loan rate," Smith said.

For instance, the United States is boasting a 1.4 billion bushel carryover of wheat — enough to satisfy about 55 percent of the market needs during the 1985-6 marketing year even if not a single bushel of wheat was produced this year.

While stocks of corn and grain are less bountiful — experts are predicting about a 21 percent carryover — feed grain producers also face average prices for their 1985 crop that will be near support price levels.

"Confronted by less than glowing market prices, producers taking part in the farm program may receive near maximum deficiency payments (the difference between target prices and loan rates)," Smith said. "This makes the program fairly attractive and worthy of farmer consideration. Studies have shown that added returns from farm program participation in Texas would range from $8 to $24 per acre for dryland production and $33 to $41 per acre in irrigated areas."

"The decision, as always, revolves around the cost and benefits of the choices and the level of risk one is willing to take," the economist added. "It all boils down to whether or not the benefits and risk reduction associated with the acreage reduction program outweigh lost net revenue from the idled acres."

The Extension Service has budgets and worksheets available to aid producers in making farm program decisions. Interested farmers can contact county agent Craig Rosenbaum at the Cooke County office at 665-4931.

At Grayson County College

Ag conference set Feb. 21

The 14th annual Texoma Agricultural Conference will be held Thursday, February 21 on the West Campus of Grayson County College in Sherman-Denison.

Theme for this year's conference is "The Challenge of Change." It is sponsored by the Texoma Bankers Association and Texas Power & Light Company.

Speakers for the program include Bob Darst, southwest director for the Potash and Phosphate Institute in Stillwater, Oklahoma; Don Cawthon, president of Fin-castle Nursery and Farms in LaRue, Texas; Clay Wright, livestock specialist with the Noble Foundation in Ardmore, Oklahoma; and Dr. Luther Tweeten, agriculture economist with Oklahoma State University in Stillwater.

Registration begins at 9 a.m. in the Silver Wings Club, with the fee of $6.50 per person covering all expenses including the noon luncheon.

Speaker for the luncheon will be George McKinney, manager of community development for Texas Power & Light in Dallas. Layne Ballard, district TP&L manager for Sherman, will serve as master of ceremonies.

The program gets underway at 9:30 a.m. with a welcome from Dr. Jim Williams, president of Grayson County College. Darst will speak first on the topic, "Fertilizing Wheat for Grazing and Grain," followed by Cawthon's presentation on "Beginning a Fruitful Experience!"

Wright will discuss the topic, "Grazing for Gain: Can Your Bull Pass the Test?" and Tweeten will end the program with a message on "The 1985 Farm Bill: The Great Debate."

Those desiring reservations may contact the college.

Cost-share deadline is Friday

Farmers and ranchers interested in filing a request with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) for cost-shares on grass planting, waterways, terraces, gully shaping, ponds, structures and diversion terraces have until next Friday, February 15, to do so.

County executive director Tim Gilbert has announced that the county is no longer permitted a continuous sign-up for these projects. Those who plan to apply for cost-sharing must do so before February 15 to be eligible for funding. Requests received during this sign-up period will be approved on a priority basis and not a first-come, first-served basis, Gilbert added. Conservation needs will be the determining factor for approval.

Seedbed preparation is a requirement before approval will be granted on grass planting requests, he said, and inspections will be made on seedbeds.

The farmer's certification, upon completion of any approved practice, will contain a statement that he will refund any cost-shares paid if he voluntarily relinquishes control of the farm during the lifespan of the practice, unless the new owner agrees in writing to maintain it. Practices must be maintained for 10 years or cost-shares must be refunded.

Gilbert added that any conservation practice started prior to COC approval will not be eligible for cost-shares.

Those desiring more information may contact Gilbert's office at 321 E. California St. in Gainesville, 665-4397.

Representative supports cuts

In "Housekeeping" budget allocations

by Ric Williamson
State Representative
63rd District of Texas

One aspect of becoming a freshman member of the Texas Legislature involves the learning process of how government works on a daily basis. For example, while campaigning and until immediately after the elections, I had no idea that the office of State Representative was provided with a monthly budget to cover the expenses of maintaining a staff in Austin.

Part of my education is the subject of today's article, the fifth in a series.

Every two years, the Legislature meets in regular session in Austin for a period of 140 days (January through May) beginning the second Tuesday of January in odd-numbered years. Traditionally, on the first or second day of the session, the House approves its "Housekeeping Resolution."

This resolution is essentially a budget plan and confers upon the Speaker of the House the authority "to make any expenditures ... deemed necessary (by him) for the effective and efficient operation of the house of representatives..." The resolution does not give any specific dollar figure for the Speaker.

The resolution also allocates funds to the other 149 representatives for such things as staff, office supplies, equipment, postage, telephones, etc. — the exact amount of which was $6,500 per month during the 1983 session and $5,500 per month when the House was not in session. The 1983 housekeeping resolution provided $1,000 more to House members each month than did the 1981 resolution.

The expense budgets of House members have risen dramatically over the last decade. In 1975, they were fixed at $4,000 a month when the Legislature was in session and $3,000 a month when it was not in session. That was the same in 1977, then was raised to $4,800 and $3,750 in 1979 by the 66th Legislature. In 1981 it was raised again, to $5,500 and $4,500, and in '83 it was hiked to $6,500 and $5,500.

It is widely known that the State of Texas is facing a budget crunch this year. In its December 12 meeting, the Legislative Budget Board in Austin recommended across-the-board cuts in virtually all areas of state government. The Legislative branch must bite the bullet, like all other state agencies, and suffer its fair share of cuts and/or freezes.

Therefore, when the full House convened on January 9 to consider this session's housekeeping resolution, I voted to freeze the 1985 budget at $5,500 per month including the opening month of January. This is in keeping with my commitment to you to seek the lowest possible cost for the highest possible efficiency in state government.

In invite every citizen of District 63 to comment on this or any other issue of concern.
